SURVIVOR is a special publication of The Eastern Progress and is distributed in August 2000 to new and returning students. Information for this special section was compiled by staff writers Amy Banks, Sam Gish, John Hays and Rob Jordan. Cover art was created by Arny Campbell and Corey King.

Campus media

Thursday starts with Progress

Smoke signals aren't the best way to keep up with what's happening on campus. For all your survival needs, check out the media opportunities Eastern has to offer students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

Thursday starts with The Eastern Progress, a student-run weekly housed in the Department of Communication. Be sure to pick up a copy each week—it's FREE. This 10,000 circulation newspaper is published during the academic year, with the exception of university vacation periods. The Progress is distributed on campus and at high-traffic points around the city. Look for it in maroon boxes and racks in classroom buildings, dorms and in the Powell student center.

Look for the first issue of Fall 2000 on Aug. 24.

Progress leadership

This year, veteran Progress staffers Dena Tackett and Shane Walters will lead the editorial staff.

Tackett is a senior journalism major from Pikeville, Ky. She has worked on the staff since she was a freshman and has had internships at the Lexington Herald-Leader and the Appalachian News-Express.

Walters, a senior journalism major from Mt. Sterling returns to the staff as managing editor. Walters has worked as sports editor at the paper and interned for six months in design at the Lexington Herald-Leader.

Students run radio station

WXII, better known as "The X," is your source for "Today's Best Music" on campus.

Broadcasting from Donavan Annex, "The X" plays all of today's hottest music 24/7 over EKU Cable channel 60. With such artists as Britney Spears, N'Sync, Vertical Horizon, Eminem, and Destiny's Child, WXII is considered a Top 40 Contemporary Hit Radio station.

"The X" also has a DJ service available for businesses, groups, and organizations to hire for dances, parties, or other events.

This semester also brings the introduction of a new show to "The X" called, "Studio X." "Studio X" is a dance show made up entirely of dance mixes and party

Chris Guyton, a graduate student in sports and administration from Thomasville, Ga., will return to the staff as advertising manager.

What's on Tap?

"What's on Tap" is the Progress' weekly listing of campus and community events. To get your event listed, mail or e-mail us the information by noon on Mondays. Be sure to label it: What's on Tap.

Web site

The Progress also is developing some additions to its Web site at http://www.progress.eku.edu. Plans are under way to add interactivity to the site with the addition of polls, chat rooms and email. In fact, the staff is recruiting students who want to participate in our new commercial online adventure that will also feature streaming audio and video.

Staff jobs

In addition to providing coverage of breaking news and campus events and offering a forum for campus opinions, the Progress serves as a training ground for student journalists, photographers, artists and advertising sales people

Students from all majors are welcome to apply for paid editori-al, art and advertising positions.

Salaries range from $90 a week for the editor to $15 a week for entry-level writing positions. Advertising representatives earn a healthy commission and mileage while working with local business-es and gaining sales experience. Students can earn academic credit in JOU 302 Newspaper Practicum or can enroll in cooperative education credit hours (Coop) while they work as photographers, designers, artists or adver-tising representatives. Contact faculty adviser Libby Fraas at 622-1880 or comfraas@acs.eku.edu.

classics. "Studio X" is designed with students in mind so they can host their own private party in their rooms. The show will air on Thursday nights starting at 10 p.m.

For further information concerning WXII check out their Web page at www.wxii.eku.edu. The Web site gives information about the shows, staff, dj ser-vices, upcoming events, and how to advertise with the "The X."

Academic survival requires knowing how things work

Academic survival requires hard work. Below is vital information Eastern students need to know in order to make their learning experience an easy and pleasant one.

Who CARES?

Students must consult with an academic adviser before registering for classes. The Advising Office assigns advisers and this person's name is on the first page of your CARES (Colonel's Advising & Registration Equals Success) report, a blueprint of what classes you have taken and what you need to graduate. Take the CARES report with you to adviser meetings. To make changes on your CARES report or to change your major, go to the Advising Office in Keith 129.

If you forget your adviser's name (and have lost your CARES report), or if you re having trouble making an appointment with your adviser, call your department chair's office

Drop-Add/Withdrawal

Not happy with the classes you registered for? You can drop or add classes using The Colonel Connection telephone system (622-2020) or in person at the Registration Center in Combs 218. To use the phone system, first obtain a Registration Access Code (RAC) from your adviser. Aug. 26 is the last day to add or register for a full-semester course. Partialsemester courses can be added to a schedule until the first day the class meets and dropped through the halfway point of the course

The last day to drop a full-semester class without a grade of "W" is also Aug. 26. To drop a course after that date, meet with your adviser on or before Oct. 13 to avoid receiving an "F."

To withdraw completely from the university, report to the Registrar's Office in Coates 15. Call 622-2410.

Library Services

The John Grant Crabbe Library and its Thomas and Hazel Little addition are located on University Drive. On the second (main) floor, visitors will find the circulation desk, the reference room and the Kentucky Commonwealth Virtual Library computers, providing electronic access to popular and scholarly publications.

The Learning Resources Center is on the third floor and the Law Library and Documents

Room are on the fourth floor. On the first floor are periodicals, including popular magazines, academic journals and daily newspapers from across the nation and the world, as well as Kentucky weeklies.

Also on the first floor is the University Archives and Special Collections and an extensive collection of microfilmed and microfiched publications.

To search for something among the more than 420,000 items the library holds, use the eQuest Catalog. Computers are located in the circulation room of the library. eQuest can also be accessed via the Internet at http://www.library.eku.edu.

Other libraries on campus include the White Law Enforcement Library (Stratton Building) and the Baker Music Library (Foster Building). (See library hours in box at right.)

Meet our newest administrator

A key tool in surviving Eastern's waters is knowing where to go when you need help.

Dr. Micha

Marsden

Dee Cockrille was named this summer as the vice president of student affairs for the university after a search in May.

Cockrille was at Marshall University in Huntington, W.Va., for 12 years most recently in the position of dean of student affairs, their highest level position in that area

Her office is in Coates 211, or call her at 622-2642.

Cockrille, 55, earned her bach-elor degrees in education, Spanish, and social studies, a master's degree in counseling, and a doctorate in education.

Her decision to come to Eastern was an easy one, Cockrille said, because she said she felt she was at a new stage in her life and needed a new experience in a new location.

She wanted to stay in the local region because of family, including three children and two grandchildren. She weighed her options and Eastern seemed the perfect place to come.

So far, Cockrille said she has enjoyed her new experience. "People are very friendly and have a great warmth and the students are the same kind I love working with. Everyone has been very supportive," she said. Cockrille said she wants to increase student creativity and innovation while creating programming that helps students academically and socially. Cockrille said she hopes to build a strong student advocacy base and wants students to feel supported while developing all aspects of their education.

"I want students to come to Eastern because it is a very spe-cial place to be," she said.

There are lots of services and support so students can be successful," she said.

But she added, it's up to students to take advantage of them and get involved in campus activi-

Orientation fee pays for survivor book for frosh

First-year students got an early start on academics with their first assignment, the reading of Jon Krakauer's book "Into Thin the Air: A Personal Account of Mount Everest the Disaster.

The book was supplied to first-year students by the Enrollment Management Division at Eastern. Rita Davis, associate

Jon Krakauer vice president of enrollment management, hopes the book will be a guide for students on how to survive many of the new challenges they will face. "One thing we wanted to accomplish in giving students this book was to get them to understand that Eastern is about academics, courage, and taking respon-sibility for your actions," Davis said.

The Enrollment Management Division ordered 2,400 copies of the book for first-year students and for faculty. The proceeds for the book came in part from the $25 summer orientation fee.

Davis advises students to set priorities and look for opportunities that will help them succeed as college students.

She also suggests that students bond with the faculty and make friends to ease the adjustment from their previous life to their new one.

Last night a participant of the Everest expedition spoke on cam-pus about his experience.

Can Kidd's Colonels get him #300?

If so, Kidd will be the seventh coach to do so in NCAA

Football fans will have a chance to catch the Colonels at Roy Kidd Stadium six times in the 2000 football season. The Colonels look to give Coach Roy Kidd his 300th career victory and improve on last season's third-place finish in the OVC

The Colonels welcome back 15 starters among 35 returning letterman and hope to improve on last season's 7-4 overall record and 4-3 standing in the conference.

Eastern kicks off its millennium season facing Glenville State College of West Virginia Aug. 31.

The 2000 Homecoming game will be a test when cross-state rival Murray State Racers come to town Nov. 4

All full-time students with a valid student ID will be admitted free to home football games. Tickets for family members and friends can be ordered through the Eastern Athletics Ticket Office in Alumni Coliseum 126, or by calling 622-2122.

Reserved seats are $10 and general admission tickets are $8. Special rates of $6 general admission seats apply to senior citizens.

Coach Kidd Shoots for 300th Coach Roy Kidd begins his 37th season as head coach of the Colonels, just seven wins shy of 300 career victories. Kidd will become only the seventh coach in NCAA history to reach this covet-ed plateau. Kidd begins the 2000 season with an overall record of 293 victories, 112 defeats and 8 ties, all coming as head coach at Eastern.

Volleyball team aiming high

Lady Colonel volleyball head coach Lori Duncan heads into her third season at Eastern hoping for the same improvement she saw in last season's squad. Duncan led the volleyball team to a 13-19 record overall and 8-10 in the OVC, up from just three wins the previous year.

The Lady Colonels take on the Lady Boilermakers from Purdue in their season opener, Sept. 1.

Outside hitter Courtney Bowen and Becky Galati received recognition on the All-Ohio Valley Conference teams for 1999. Brown, 5-11 senior from Orange County, Calif., was named second-team All-OVC, while Galati, a 5-10 freshman from Pittsburgh was chosen to the All-OVC Newcomer Team for 1999

Seniors Kristen Campbell and Mary Lee Keranko will add experience to the team.

The Lady Colonels season opener pits them against the Lady Boilermakers of Purdue.

Sports Shorttakes

The baseball team capped off an outstanding 2000 season by win-ning the OVC Regular Season Championship with a record of 30-27 overall, 18-6 in OVC play. The team finished up the season by placing third in the OVC Tournament. Coach Jim Ward recorded his 900th win as a college coach and his 600th win at EKU, and was named OVC Coach of the Year.

The softball team wound up the year with a record of 28-34, with a 14-10 mark in OVC play. The team finished fifth in the regular season standings and captured a fourthplace finish in the OVC Tournament. Senior Catcher Kim Sarrazin was named OVC Player of the Year, winding up her stellar career.

Rugby is an aggressive sport that requires a fierce determination to win. Rugby originated in England, but has gained tremen-dous popularity in the United State

EKU offers both Men and Women Independent Rugby Leagues. Rather than being associated with the Intramural office, rugby is known as a club designed, maintained, and ruled by student organizers

To get more information on how to join either the men or women's rugby club keep your eyes peeled for rugby flyers that will be distributed throughout campus sometime in the early fall.

WALKING

Only a few students know about the wood chip trail located south of campus past the Stateland Parking Lot. The trail is kinder on your bones than concrete or even the rubberized Samuels Track. The track winds a little more than a mile near the Law Enforcement complex, and walkers and joggers can expand their exercise with a trip around the Stratton Lake.

Students who jaywalk on Lancaster Avenue may find themselves in the hospital. Use the crosswalk.

Computer labs offer around the clock availability

BY SAM GISH Contributing Writer

Eastern has provided some important tools of survival to students by recently upgrading and improving its computer systems. But students who don't have a VAX account won't survive the electronic waters.

For security reasons, Eastern now requires everyone affiliated with the university to have a VAX account (Virtual Address Extension) before being allowed access to any university computer labs, including the 24-7 lab in the library and the 230 Combs Building lab.

VAX is a computer program that gives students, faculty and staff access to e-mail on campus. By restricting access to computer labs to the campus community only, the university will be better able to serve Eastern's population. To sign up for a VAX account, go to the Information Technology and Delivery Services (ITDS) office in Combs 207, or call 622-1986. It only takes minutes to sign up.

Upon entering Combs 207, you will be asked to read the VAX code of conduct and fill out an application. Within days, the account will be set up and ready to use

For those who can't wait to have the account opened, show your valid Eastern identification card and temporary access can be granted. All incoming freshman will have VAX accounts automatically assigned to them upon registration.

Wendell Wilson came to campus with a boatload of equipment in his dorm room. Others use the computer labs.

Student e-mail addresses consist of username (STU followed by five letters of the last name for most students) with @acs.eku.edu following.

To check your e-mail using a Web browser on or off campus, just go to webmail.eku.edu and log in. You can also pick up information in Combs 207 on how to access your mail using VAXmail or Pine programs and Telnet.

Already have an e-mail account elsewhere? You can have your VAX e-mail forwarded to another account, such as Yahoo or Hotmail, using these four steps:

Log into your vax account using VAXmail (does not work in Webmail) Type: mail

Then type: set forward. An address prompt to come up.

Then type: IN%, three quote marks, the forwarding e-mail address, and one quote mark. For example: IN%"""jonsmith@hot-mail.com"". From this point, your mail will be forwarded to the new address

Students can also access VAX through their personal computers using ResNet ResNet ( The Residential Computer Network Service) is located in all dorms on campus. It links students directly to the university's computer network and is faster than the conventional modem connection. Students only have to purchase an IO base-T Ethernet card, which ranges from $45-$60, and then access to the university network is free. The ResNet office is located in Room A of Burnam Annex (at the rear of Burnam Hall). Call 622-3050 for information.

For students without computers, labs are available across cam-DUS.

The 230 Combs Building has three rooms of labs with 80 computers. The lab is open from 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Crabbe Library has 20 battery-powered laptops that can be checked out for four hours at a time. The ITDS 24-7 computer lab at the front entrance to the library has 100 computers and a classroom with an additional 34 computers. During fall and spring semesters, the lab stays open 24 hours a day, with the exception of university vacation periods.

Powell has a lab with 21 computers. Monday through Thursday the hours are 8 a.m.-11:45 p.m., Friday and Saturday 8 a.m.-9:45 p.m., and Sunday 11 a.m.-11:45 p.m.

PERSONALITY-PROFILE

Shawn Fanning The man who shook the music world

In January 1999 Shawn Fanning and some friends began writing a file-sharing program to help them find music online. A year later 20 million people were using Napster, the program they created. Napster's popularity divided the music community in two: Courtney Love, B-Real and Limp Bizkit were a few of the artists who supported free music sharing; Dr. Dre, Metallica, Eminem and others fought it. Claiming copyright infringement, the RIAA filed suit to shut down the company.

Here's a profile of the 19 year old who turned the record industry on its head. For the complete update on Napster, go to steamtunnels.net.

Mac Randall contributes a review of the Seattle band Sunny Day Real Estate's new album to this issue of Steamtunnels. Mac's first book, Exit Music: The Radiohead Story. is due out this September from Delta, a division of Random House. Mac is the East Coast editor of Launch (launch.com), the music web site. "I wrote a book about Radiohead because I find them fascinating both as musicians and as people. They tap into a powerful spiritual vein that's hard to find in most rock music." A graduate of Harvard in June 1998, Randall was also a senior editor at Musician magazine, and has contributed to Rolling Stone, Time Out and Guitar World as well. His band, Fuller, plays "predominantly instrumental art-rock/jazz."

SURPLY DAY REALESTATE SERVICE BRIDD'S DEW THE RESIDENT OF THE BRIDD'S DEW THE RESIDENT OF THE RESIDENT OF THE RESIDENT

By Mac Randall

STOP THE PRESSES: Sunny Day Real Estate's

fourth studio album. The Rising Tide (Time Bomb), recently debuted at No. 97 on the Billboard charts. OK, so Shania Twain is not scared. But it's SDRE's first Top 200 appearance, the culmination of eight strange years together.

So far. SDRE has been through two labels, four bass players, one religious awakening (singer/guitarist Jeremy Enigk had a born-again experience in 1995), one breakup (a result of Enigk's conversion), mass defections (drummer William Goldsmith and bassist Nate Mendel to the Foo Fighters), and one reunion (Goldsmith returned in 1997: Mendel stayed with Foo Fighters).

Publicity shy and firmly iconoclastic (for some reason, they play concerts in California), SDRE is also responsible for three remarkable albums on Sub Pop: Diary (1994). Sunny Day Real Estate (a.k.a. "The Pink Album," 1995). and How It Feels To Be Something On (1998).

"A LOT OF THE POWER IN THE MUSIC COMES OUT OF WHAT'S BEING SAID—AND HOW."

The Rising Tide, however, is Sunny Day's sharpest attempt yet to emulate the passionate guitar powered rock anthems of bands like the Clash. U2, and Jane's Addiction. Produced with muscular finesse by Lou Giordano. Rising Tide is confident, radio-ready, packed with soaring melodies, and, says guitarist Dan Hoerner, the band's most meaningful work to date. Treally want people to check out the lyrics." he says, "because that's the most important thing about this record. A lot of the power in the music comes out of what's being said—and how."

As stirring as the words can be, with images of crippling addiction ("Killed By an Angel") and government paranoia ("Snibe"), it's the playing behind them that really transports. The fearsome combination of fury and precision in Goldsmith's drumming complements the textural intricacies of Enigk's and Hoerner's guitar parts. And Enigk has concocted a peculiar yet gripping vocal style, nasal and almost unnaturally high, tossing off graceful melodic curlicues that owe a great deal to traditional Indian music.

Perhaps the most notable thing about SDRE is that, in a pop era ruled by irony, they dare to be sincere. Onstage at Manhattan's Irving Plaza this past July, they took several opportunities to express their thanks to the enthusiastic audience. "You guys always treat us so great when we come to New York." Hoerner gushed. "There are no words for this, so all we can say is "Thank you." Unctuously showbiz as this may sound, in person it was completely heartfelt. Just like the music of Sunny Day Real Estate.

Playing music on your computer

By Aaron Bell and Brendan Picha

aybe you've seen it before: a friend retrieves a song from the Net, and cues it to play in a matter of seconds. Or clicks on an online radio station—in Australia. It really is as easy as it looks. Here's the Steamtunnels guide to playing music on your computer—easy steps that turn your dorm room into a stateof-the-art entertainment system.

Overview

Just a few years ago, online music was impossible. Raw music files were just too large to store or transfer. Then MP3 came along.

MP3 (mp3.com) technology compresses music files to a fraction of their original size. The result: a 4-minute MP3 song is a manageable 4MB large.

The program Napster was synonymous with finding MP3s—until the record industry got involved. If the industry lawsuit succeeds in killing Napster, programs like Gnutella (gnutella.com) and other "freeware" programs are still around for sharing files. These programs link you to a community of music fans sharing and trading music. Installation of these programs is simple and straightforward—just go to their web sites and follow download instructions. After installation, just type in a song's artist or title and they will search for it in each community member's collection.

Getting Started

Before you search for and download music, you need to download a music player. Both sites coax you through this process. WinAmp (winamp.com) and Sonique (sonique.com) are the most common MP3 players for the PC. WinAmp stands out for its simplicity and power, but Sonique has a sleeker interface. Mac users also have quali(soundjam.com) are hugely popular.

After you've downloaded a player, open it up and begin to search. Online, you can find free music (both copyrighted and not), and of course, music for sale.

How to Find MP3 Songs

If you can't find a song converted to MP3 on Napster, there are other directions to take your search. Good search engines to start with are filequest.com, scour.net, or palavista.com.

Listeners who have a beef with pirated music should check out MP3.com, a site that features thousands of MP3s provided by artists showcasing their music. Advanced MP3 seekers may enjoy the anarchist thrills of Hotline client (hotlinesw.com) or mIRC client (mirc.com). Like Napster, these programs link you to vast libraries of shared media.

Practical Download Tips

Depending on connection speeds, downloading a song can take anywhere from a few seconds to a few hours. Napster and Macster both categorize users by connection speed: Green dots mean fast connections (T1, Cable, DSL), yellow means midrange speed connections (56k modem), while red means slow connections. Even more useful is their "Ping" number, which measures the time it takes for data to make a roundtrip between computers. The best bet is to download from the user with lowest "Ping" number.

Party Time

You can't throw much of a party with those tiny computer speakers. If you have access to a decent stereo, make a trip to the local Radio Shack and buy a "Y Splitter: Male to Dual RCA Male Jacks" cord.

Locate the line-out jack behind your computer—it should look like an ordinary headphone jack. Next, locate the various auxiliary line-in jacks behind your stereo

Online Radio Links

Select "Listen" from the menu at the bottom of the screen, and within seconds you'll be tuned into all types of groove-oriented music.

Select "Music" or "Today's Web Cast Schedule" and make your choice. Offers hip-hop and soul, with a bit of reggae and world music thrown in the mix.

Tons of stations—talk radio, rock. rap, country. Select by genre, station whatever you choose.

Live broadcasts of club/dance/trance from top DJs.

A lot of underground hip-hop acts from New York.

Exclusively mainstream "alternative" bands like Archers of Loaf, Juliana Hatfield. Radiohead, Sunny Day Real Estate, with a little bit of Cure and David Bowie mixed in just for good measure.

Avoiding the Freshman 15 By Gina Fraone Think gaining weight in college is a myth? Think again.

Talk to many upperclassmen, and you're likely to hear lots of tales of freshmen gaining 15 or more pounds that first year.

Why do freshmen get fat?

Simply put, you gain weight when you take in more calories than your body needs. Most men and women require between 2000-2500 calories a day, according to the Food and Drug Administration (fda.gov), a total that is regularly exceeded in the land of keg parties and late night pizza.

Typically, students have a meal card that gives all-you-can eat access to foods from low-calorie veggies to fatty french fries and burgers. So after a stressful three hours in the chemistry lab, what's it going to be? The grilled fish and a green salad? Or the cheeseburger and spicy curly fries? And if you start making desserts and soft drinks a daily habit, you'll find pounds piling on.

Think of it this way: Twelve ounces of soda (one can) typically

When the cafeteria is closed, and students are hungry, there is a tendency to gravitate toward fast-food joints because of the cheap food. But check out the fast food calorie guide (right): Some fast foods are belly busters—check out the calorie/fat content of some of the salads in the chart.

FIRST TIME BUYER'S GUIDE

By Michelle Silver

When to be as close to a movie theater as possible—except for the sticky floors and hundred-dollar candy bars. You've heard a DVD player will get you the purest image, sharpest sound and cool extra features. Where to start? Right here with Steamtunnels' First Time Buyer's Guide to DVD players. (Keeping the floors clean is up to you.)

The basics

DVD (Digital Video Disc) is actually a bigger, faster CD player that holds cinemalike video. Eventually DVDs will replace audio CD, videotape, laser disc, CD-ROM, game cartridges—everything you've been blowing Eventually DVDs will replace audio CD, videotape, laser disc, CD-ROM, game cartridges everything you've been blowing cash on the past five years.

cash on the past five years. (See dvddemystified.com to learn more details about how they work.)

Why DVD-Video rules

DVD players support wide-screen movies on standard or wide-screen TVs, up to nine camera angles (different viewpoints can be selected during playback), interactive games and guizzes.

instant rewind and fast forward. You can also choose languages (with subtitle tracks) and special effects playback. Plus, DVDs are durable and compatible with audio CDs, easy-to-handle, and you can store them in less space than videos.

A few DVD bummers

It's still going to take a while for movies and video programming to become widely available on DVD (dvdboxoffice.com lists what's currently available on DVD). DVD players can't yet record. They use digital compression, so audio that has been poorly compressed may translate fuzzy and vague image and sound. Only a few players can play in reverse at normal speed. And DVDs are expensive—most movies cost $20 to $30.

Shelling out the bucks

Players can range anywhere from $200 to $4,000, depending on the features and components. For the average Joe, a player that costs between $300 to $500 is perfectly fine. (See productopia.com for great bargains on top DVD players.)

Make a wish list

The first step is to make a list of the features that are important to you (see dvdresource.com/features/dvdplayer. shtml for explanations and list of components). Do you want to be able to play Video CDs? Are you going to want to use a headphone jack (so as not to annoy a roommate)? Do you want a player that offers other languages (so you can refresh your French)? Do you want to be able to zoom in on details of the picture (say, Julia Robert's teeth?) Do you want to be able to use a universal remote (because you're prone to losing everything)? After deciding on these options, try out a few models in your price range, and see which players are easiest for you to use.

or you to use.

Top Picks

Sony DVP-C670D ($499)

All the features you need for quality viewing—vibrant color, crisp sound.

Pioneer DV-302D ($545) A top-notch 3-disc DVD player that also handles most CD-ROMs, as well as video and music CDs.

Pioneer DV-525 ($425) A good entry-level player with easy-to-use on-screen menu.

Toshiba SD2200 ($349) Excellent quality picture, plus Surround Sound, 4X picture zoom and other features.

RCA RC5220P ($329)

Not a lot of frills here, but it's a standard, quality player that will allow you to be able to pay your bills.

PAPER OR PLASTIC?

Don't let credit cards get out of control. By Melanie Farmer ncoming freshmen are bombarded with credit card offers. At first glance it seems harmless: anyone could handle a $15 minimum payment, right? And students who use credit cards wisely will have good credit ratings when they're ready to buy a car or a home.

"Establishing credit is necessary," says Howard Shapiro, a spokesman for the Federal Trade Commission (ftc.gov). "Using it responsibly is a terrific tool." In other words, charge your textbooks—but don't pick up the happy hour tab.

Shapiro says most students forget about interest rates and fees. "It can happen fast. You hand over the card today, you get a bill three weeks later. For some it's a vicious cycle."

Ken Scott, a spokesman for Consumer Credit Counseling (debthelpnow.org), says, "Most students get credit cards for the wrong reasons." CCC handles negotiations between consumers and collection agencies to come up with a manageable payment plan. The agency charges $35 on a pay-if-you-can basis. Scott suggests students seek out budgeting programs, like Quicken.com (quicken.com), or investigate consumer rights information at Credit Card Freedom (creditcardfreedom.com) or Consumer Aid (consumeraid.org).

Smart card seekers should log on to the Credit Card Menu (creditcardmenu.com), where you can browse different cards and apply for them online. And CardRatings.org (cardratings.org) compares credit card interest rates and annual fees.

In the end, the message is simple: If you don't have the cash, don't buy it.

riven by their own competition, webbased bookstores are offering extraordinary deals to attract students-and their money. Here's a comparison of textbook sites and services.

PERSONALS

eCRUSH

ecrush.com

Like Charlie Brown and the little girl with the red hair, we all know the fun and furor of the crush. If only there were a way to find out if the feelings are mutual, without the risk of rejection. Well, leave it to the Internet to convert love to a science. eCRUSH provides an ingenious service—it will send a line out to your crush, to see if you get a response. If not, you can read the success stories (and traumas) of fellow crushers—and the database of weird pick-up lines is worth a visit in itself. Who knows, maybe it'll even inspire you to make some offline revelations of your own. SShackford

WHAT'S WITH THE NAME?

Steamtunnels refers to the network of tunnels that runs beneath most college campuses. Originally created by three Stanford students to offer an alternative to mainstream college informational web sites, steamtunnels.net has grown into a national web site with over 230 affiliated colleges and almost 2 million readers of our weekly magazine.

WHAT'S AT www. steamtunnels.net?

For starters, select your school to check out local events calendars, campus photos, restaurant guides and more. Try our online book buying engine—it will make your textbook shopping experience a breeze. Type in the books you're looking for and we'll tell you what sites will offer you the best deal. Inspired to purchase a DVD after reading the First Time Buyer's Guide to DVD Players? Then go to our site for a complete listing of all available models and services. Steamtunnels.net also features tech news, a Web Guide with dozens of useful site reviews. links to radio stations and live web casts from around the net.

WANT A GREAT PART-TIME JOB?

Steamtunnels is inserted every week in your college newspaper. We're hiring campus representatives and sales associates at each of our affiliate colleges to help us create local web sites.

If you're interested in becoming part of the Steamtunnels team send a brief cover letter and your resume to campusjobs@steamtunnels.net

Beginning officials will make $7.00 game/hour. No prior knowledge or experience needed. Officials will be trained in rules, mechanics and positioning. You will be paid for attending meetings.

How to Enter a Team

- Each team captain or intramural representative is responsible for forming their own team.
- Stop by the Intramural office and pick up a team roster.
- Go to Billings and Collections Office and pay a $20 ENTRY FEE.
- Bring your paid entry fee receipt and your completed roster to the Intramural Office by the deadline date and choose the league you wish to play in.
- Attend the team captains meeting so you can pick up your schedule.

Player Eligibility

- All EKU students, faculty and staff are eligible to participate in the Intramural Programs.
- A person may compete for only one team per league. Once the person has played for a team, he/she may not transfer to a different team. (Exception: Fraternity "B" team players may move up to the "A" team but once they have moved up they many not move back down.)
- Varsity athletes will not be eligible to compete in the sport in which they hold varsity status or any counterparts to that sport.
- Ex-varsity athletes must sit out one year before they are eligible to compete in the sport they lettered in.
- No more than two (2) members of a Sport Club team may play for any team in that intramural sport.
- Professional athletes are ineligible for intramural sports in the sport, or associate sport, in which they are engaged professionally.

Any violation of an eligibility rule will result in the forfeit of all games in which the player participated.

Team Captains Meetings

A team Captain's meeting will be held the Thursday after the sign-up deadline. See the front of this pamphlet for exact dates. At this meeting, schedules will be distributed and Intramural rules, policies and procedures will be explained. Teams attending this meeting will receive a "Win" that will count towards playoff eligibility.

Playoffs

Teams must win 50% of their regular season games and have a satisfactory sportsmanship rating to be eligible for the playoffs. Teams playing in a Monday-Wednesday league may have playoff games scheduled for a Tuesday or a Thursday and vice versa.

Sportsmanship

Integral to the philosophy of the Intramural Sports Program is that fair play and good sportsmanship are vital aspects of participation. Inappropriate conduct will be monitored before, during and after all games as well as during any free play hours. Students not conforming to the standards of conduct, as outlined in Section IV of the EKU student handbook, may be suspended from the Intramural Program.

Forfeits

Any team that does not have enough players for a game to be played will forfeit the game. If the team wants to continue to participate it must pay another $20 ENTRY FEE within two days or the team will be dropped from the league. A second forfeit will result in the team being dropped from league play.

Employment Opportunities

The Division of Intramural Programs is always looking to recruit individuals to serve as sport officials. Pay ranges from $7 to $8.00/game. No experience is necessary in order to officiate but you must be willing to learn and hustle. If you are interested in becoming an Intramural Sport official, call the intramural office and attend the workshop for the sport(s) you are interested in working. At the beginning of each semester Facility personnel are needed to staff the weight rooms and gyms. If interested please visit Begley 202. You must have work-study to be employed in the facilities.
