Pat Stephens

Eastern Kentucky University, '83

2006 & 2008 OVC Coach of the Year

Pat Stephens is in his 14th year at the helm of the Eastern Kentucky men's golf program, having led the Colonels to unprecedented success in that time.

In 2006, the Colonels captured their first conference title in almost a decade and advanced to the NCAA regional as a team for the first time in program history. Along the way, Stephens was named OVC Coach of the Year. Two seasons later, Stephens and the Colonels repeated, winning the 2008 OVC title, advancing to a second NCAA regional and taking home coach of the year honors again.

Stephens, a former EKU player and later assistant professional at Arlington Golf Course, assumed the coaching reins prior to the start of the 1997-98 season and at that same time, took over the head professional duties at Arlington. Now, in addition to leading the Colonels, Stephens is one of the founders and a member of the staff at the new Colonel Golf and Learning Center.

Stephens has proven to be a strong leader for his team. During his tenure, the Colonels have placed in the top 10 at 140 events while finishing in the top five at 100 of those competitions. Eastern Kentucky finished among the top 10 at every event they competed in during the 2003-04 and 2006-07 seasons. During the past three seasons, the Colonels have 33 top-10 performances in 36 events.

In addition, Eastern Kentucky has finished first at 35 events under Stephens' guidance. Since the beginning of the 2007-08 season, EKU has captured 10 tournament titles while competing against some of the region's best teams. Stephens has also coached 23 individual tournament champions.

Thirteen Eastern Kentucky golfers have been named to the OVC All-Tournament team while 23 have been selected to the all-conference team under Stephens' watch. In 2003, he helped guide Brandon Brown into the 2003 NCAA regional tournament, giving the Eastern Kentucky golf program national exposure. In 2009, Stephens sent Trey Bowling to the NCAA regional tournament.

Under Stephens, EKU golfers have gained statewide recognition on the amateur circuit, winning two straight Kentucky Golf Association Player of the Year Awards in 2008 and 2009.

Stephens, a lifelong resident of Madison County, played on the golf team at Madison High School and was named a high school All-American after winning 12 tournaments throughout his prep career.

Stephens played for the University of Kentucky golf team for two years before transferring to Eastern Kentucky. He made an immediate impact on the team, as well as the Ohio Valley Conference, winning the league title in 1982. The following season, he finished second at the conference tournament but the Colonels captured the team title both seasons, beginning Eastern's run of five consecutive league crowns.

Following his collegiate career, Stephens extended his playing career, competing on mini-tours throughout the South and qualifying for several major competitions. He was a three-time runner-up in the Kentucky Open (1978, 1983 and 1995) and in 1996 and 2007 was named the Kentucky PGA Player of the Year.

Stephens qualified for the 1988 US Open, won by Curtis Strange in an 18-hole play-off against Nick Faldo and played at The Country Club in Brookline, Mass. More recently, he was selected to the Ohio Valley Conference's 40th Anniversary All-Time Golf Team. He qualified for the 2007 PGA Professional National Championship thanks to a second place finish at the 2006 Kentucky Section PGA Professional Championship.

Stephens' commitment to the game of golf has extended beyond the course as he and his wife Joni co-authored the book "Skills, Drills and Strategies for Golf".

Stephens spent two years as the assistant golf professional at Arlington prior to his stint at Gibson Bay. While at Gibson Bay, he was named the 1996 PGA Merchandiser of the Year for public golf courses.

The Stephens reside in Richmond and have three sons, Daniel, Ben, and Joseph; two daughters-in-law, Mindy and Leah; and one grandson, Carter Adam.

	Undergraduate Student Assistant Coach
	Trey Bowling
	First Season • Manchester, Ky.

Trey Bowling begins his first season as a student-assistant golf coach for ECU. The former Colonel was a two-time first team All-Ohio Valley Conference selection in four seasons. As a freshman Bowling was selected to the OVC All-Newcomer team.

The Manchester, Ky., native was a member of two Ohio Valley Conference championship teams. In four seasons as a Colonel, Bowling played in 45 events, 20 of which he finished in the top-10. He had 13 top-5 finishes and won three events. He shot par or under in 47 of his 130 career rounds and posted a 73.3 stroke average.

Bowling capped his career by being selected to participate in the 2009 Division I Men's Golf Championships as an individual.

	Volunteer Assistant Coach • Ninth Season
	Dennis Sprague University of Houston
	Richmond, Ky.

Dennis B. Sprague, Ph.D. serves as a volunteer assistant coach with the Eastern Kentucky men's golf team. A licensed psychologist and certified sport psychologist with more than 20 years of experience, Sprague now works primarily with amateur and professional golfers. The founder of HeadFirst Golf, Sprague works with golfers around the world through personal, phone and web camera consultations.

Prior to his founding of HeadFirst Golf, Sprague served as the Sport Psychology Consultant for the University of Kentucky athletics department for 10 years, working directly with the 1996 NCAA Championship basketball team, the 1993 Peach Bowl football team and the 1992 SEC Champion men's tennis and men's golf teams. Sprague is a member of the American Psychological Association, Division for Exercise and Sports Psychology, the Association for the Advancement of Sports Psychology and the National Institute of Sports. He has spoken and written extensively throughout the United States, contributing to Sports Illustrated, ESPN, CBS and the BBC.

A featured participant in the video "Sports Injury Concerns: The Female Athlete," Sprague also authored a chapter for the text "The Female Athlete." He presently serves on the Advisory Board for Head in the Game, a sports psychology group that provides instructional media for youth in sports and parents of athletes.

Sprague earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Houston and his doctorate from the University of Kentucky, where he currently teaches classes to graduate students.

ARLINGTON

Arlington, home to the Eastern Kentucky men's and women's golf teams, features a picturesque 6,686 yard, par 72 course located on the estate grounds. The multi-purpose complex, surrounding the Arlington Mansion, is designed to serve the social, recreational and academic needs of the university community.

The mansion, with its fine dining and social facilities, is the focal point of the estate and is located near the swimming pool and tennis courts. The "Mulebarn", a renovated horsebarn on the property, contains a stage area and large dance floor and is used for a variety of events.
