The 2009 season was a memorable one for the Colonels as both the men’s and women’s tennis teams at Eastern Kentucky finished 16-8 overall.

During the 1994-95 season, Oertel guided the Sycamores to a second-place regular season Missouri Valley Conference co-championship and Missouri Valley Conference tournament. The Sycamores advanced to the final 24 in the 1995 NCAA tournament before falling to Arizona State.

As a collegiate tennis player, Oertel was one of the most decorated athletes to ever play for the Wisconsin-Stout Blue Devils.

Collegiate Coaching Experience:

- Wisconsin-Stout (Head Coach, 1989)
- Indiana State (Head Coach, 1990-96)
- Denver (Head Coach, 1997-2000)
- Eastern Kentucky (Head Coach, 2002-present)

Rob Oertel is entering his ninth season as the head coach for both the men’s and women’s tennis teams at Eastern Kentucky. The 2009 season was a memorable one for the Colonels as both the men and women went undefeated against OVC competition for the first time in program history. The EKU women went on to earn a berth in the 2009 NCAA championships.

In his eight years at EKU, Oertel has taken the Colonels from the cellar of the OVC to a consistent contender in the season-ending OVC tournament. He has coached 18 All-OVC players, two OVC Players of the Year, one OVC Freshman of the Year, one Academic All-American and one OVC Sportsmanship Award winner while in charge of the Eastern program.

Oertel has almost 20 years experience as a Division I head coach after previously serving four years at Denver and seven at Indiana State. He handled both the men’s and women’s programs at Indiana State during the 1989-90 season as well as at Denver in the 1996-97 campaign and spring of 1999.

“One of my primary goals when I took this position was to raise this program to national respectability,” Oertel said. “I can say with great pride that we are now at that level. I hope we can keep building on our achievements.”

The University of Denver was a Division II program when Oertel took the helm in 1996. By his fourth season, he lifted the Pioneers to a very competitive status at the Division I level with an overall record of 16-8.

Before joining the Pioneer staff at Denver, Oertel recorded an overall record of 95-73 with the Indiana State men’s tennis team. During the 1994-95 season, Oertel guided the Sycamores to a regular season Missouri Valley Conference co-championship and second-place finish in the conference tournament.

Oertel earned the 1995 MVC Coach of the Year award as ISU finished 18-9 overall with key victories over Tulsa, Purdue, Kansas and Marquette. In addition, Indiana State won its final 12 regular season dual matches to earn a berth in the NCAA team championships. The Sycamores advanced to the final 24 in the 1995 NCAA tournament before falling to Arizona State.

A native of West Allis, Wis., Oertel graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Stout in 1986 with a degree in business administration. In 1988, he began his coaching career at St. Mary’s Catholic School in Monroe, Mich., as the assistant coach. Next, he assumed the head coaching reins at his alma mater, Wisconsin-Stout, before moving to Indiana State.

In 1991, he earned his master’s of science degree from Indiana State in physical education with an emphasis in sports administration. Oertel has further enhanced his extensive coaching experience by working with players of all ages as a tennis pro in the Fiji Islands, Michigan and Wisconsin.

As a collegiate tennis player, Oertel was one of the most decorated athletes to ever play for the Wisconsin-Stout Blue Devils. He became the first tennis player in Blue Devil history to earn All-American honors while also playing on four consecutive conference championship teams.

Oertel’s NCAA Division III national ranking peaked at No. 13 in singles and No. 4 in doubles during his senior campaign. In 1996, Oertel was inducted into the Wisconsin-Stout Athletics Hall of Fame.

Rob Oertel
Title: Head Coach
Year at EKU: Ninth Season
Alma Mater: Wisconsin-Stout, 1986
Fred Goncalves is in his second year with the Colonel coaching staff after spending the previous four years playing on the EKU tennis team. Goncalves served as the 2008 team captain and helped the men’s team finish third in the OVC standings.

Now a member of the coaching staff, Goncalves is responsible for on-court coaching, handling administrative tasks and executing miscellaneous duties off the court. Goncalves is also working towards completing his master’s degree in sports administration at EKU.

In his four years on the Eastern tennis team, Goncalves was a solid contributor on a very deep team. Goncalves spent most of his senior season playing No. 4 and No. 5 singles for the Colonels where he tallied a 5-4 record against OVC opponents. As a junior, the lefty went 8-2 in dual matches including 5-1 against league competition.

Off the court, Goncalves enjoys listening to music and going to the beach. His future goals include owning his own tennis academy.

The Eastern Kentucky University men’s and women’s tennis teams enter the 2010 spring as the preseason favorites in the Ohio Valley Conference. The men return all but one starter from a team that went undefeated against conference opponents last year on the way to the 2009 regular season title. Meanwhile, the women hope to return to the NCAA tournament for the second consecutive year.

“This could be the most talented group of men I’ve coached in my time at Eastern,” EKU head coach Rob Oertel said. “We expect to build on last year’s run to the OVC tournament finals and make it to the NCAAs this year. I don’t see any reason why we can’t accomplish that goal.”

Leading the way for the Colonel men is junior Alex Das Izquierdo, who could be a serious candidate for OVC Player of the Year honors. Das, a two-time All-OVC pick, is 12-2 against OVC competition in his two years playing No. 1 singles. This past fall, Das picked up individual titles at the UTC Baras Fall Tennis Classic and the Louisville Winter Invitational.

Newcomer Hugo Klientovsky gives EKU a solid one-two punch at the top of the line-up. Klientovsky, standing at 6-3, has a big serve and likes to attack the net. His size and net play will not only help in singles, but solidify the doubles teams as well.

Sophomores Niklas Schroeder and Carlos Valdenebro will likely battle for spots in the middle of the starting rotation. Schroeder tied for the team lead with six OVC singles victories in 2009. Valdenebro split time between No. 2 and No. 3 singles as a freshman while finishing with 11 victories.

Sophomores Emilio Piriz, Carles Pons Escanilla and Parul Verma as well as newcomer Philip Janz give the Colonels quality depth. Piriz, Pons and Verma combined to go 13-2 against OVC foes one season ago. Pons clinched the 4-3 victory over rival Jackson- sonville State in 2009 thanks to a three-set triumph at No. 6 singles.

“Alex Das just breeds confidence for everyone else on the men’s team,” Oertel said. “He’s the whole package – student, leader and great tennis player.

“As for the women, it will be an exciting challenge to coach them this year,” Oertel continued. “All of the players are a little higher on the ladder than what their comfort zone has been.”

“This could be a transition year for the Eastern Kentucky women as the Colonels have to replace their top two players from the 2009 OVC championship squad. Candidates to fill the No. 1 position include juniors Myriem Mhirit and Anouk Faure.

Mhirit, a 2009 All-OVC first team selection, became the first Colonel to reach 30 victories in a season as she finished a combined 31-6 in the fall of 2008 and spring of 2009. The lefty put together a 14-match winning streak in the middle of last spring before tallying straight-set victories in both of her OVC tournament contests.

Faure split time between No. 4 and No. 5 singles as a sophomore, but won all nine of her OVC singles matches in straight sets. Faure is another lefty who plays a steady baseline game and can win points off both her forehand and backhand.

Newcomer Jessica Albuquerque de Brito could step into a top-three starting spot for the Colonels. Albuquerque is perhaps the best ball striker on the team and should be able to compete well in the OVC matches. The good news for EKU is that Albuquerque still has plenty of room for improvement.

Senior Anais Hamel, sophomore Alyze Pagal and freshmen Catalina Branco and Esmissa Cheisary will be in the hunt for the three starting spots in the line-up. Hamel, the lone senior on the team and 2010 captain, won both of her OVC singles matches last spring.

“We have a tough preseason schedule that should help us come OVC season,” Oertel said. “I think our season will depend on how well we play together and grow as a team. We could finish anywhere from first to seventh in the OVC standings.”
Das Izquierdo should compete for 2010 OVC Player of the Year honors … has the talent to compete with anyone in the nation … plays from the baseline, but mixes his shots extremely well … 2010 team captain … captured two singles titles this past fall – the UTC Baras Fall Tennis Classic and the Louisville Winter Invitational … led EKU with a 17 dual singles victories in 2009 … went 6-0 at No. 1 doubles with Carlos Pons as a sophomore … finished 6-1 in OVC singles competition in both 2009 and 2008 … became the first Colonel to ever win the OVC Freshman of the Year award … 2008 team MVP … went 15-3 in dual matches at No. 1 singles … won 14 of his final 15 singles matches in 2008 … won three matches on the way to the flight ‘A’ finals of the 2007 UTC Fall Tennis Classic … climbed as high as No. 352 in the 2007 Spanish national rankings … was a top-10 national player in the under-14 age group … also played soccer in high school … he enjoys watching soccer, the NBA and going to the movies … he wants to help the Colonels win the OVC title … after graduating, he hopes to become an airline pilot.

Dr. Doug Whitlock’s love affair with Eastern began when he arrived on his hometown campus as a first-generation undergraduate student in 1961.

It continued unabated throughout a 38-year career in various administrative and teaching roles at EKU, including a five-year stint as Vice President for Administrative Affairs, from 1998-2003. His last three years of service were as a half-time faculty member in the Department of Computer Science.

As he addressed faculty and staff at a campus-wide convocation on Aug. 15, 2007, just two days after being named President for the interim, Dr. Whitlock recalled the tremendous difference the institution he cherishes has made in his own life.

(The Eastern faculty) “largely made me what I was then and am now,” he said.

“I will admit to you that I love Eastern, and when my service in the presidency is finished, if I have helped more of you love her too, then I will have done my job.”

– President Whitlock –

On Oct. 22, 2007, the interim label was removed and now, as EKU’s 11th President, Dr. Whitlock is devoted to upholding the rich tradition of his alma mater while guiding her to even greater heights of excellence.

After earning two degrees from Eastern – a bachelor’s degree in history and social science in 1965 and a master’s degree in history a year later – Dr. Whitlock earned his doctoral degree in higher education from the University of Kentucky in 1981.

In February 2009, Dr. Whitlock was on hand at the State Capitol to announce the partnership between Eastern Kentucky University and General Atomics to examine the potential for a cellulose-derived biodiesel fuel industry in Kentucky.

After two years of active duty with the U.S. Army, Dr. Whitlock returned to Eastern in 1968 to serve as Director of Publications. Three years later, he was named Director of Public Information.

In 1976, he was tapped by President J.C. Powell to serve as Executive Assistant to the President, continuing in that role through the administration of President Hanly Funderburk.

As Vice President for Administrative Affairs, Dr. Whitlock was responsible for Facilities Services, Public Safety, Information Technology and Delivery Systems, Media Resources, and University Farms. For a portion of his tenure, he also served as the institution’s chief financial officer.

Dr. Whitlock has long been an active participant in community life, serving since 1999 on the Madison County School Board, including two terms as chair. He also has served as a consultant with the Kentucky School Boards Association. He is an Elder and past board chair in the First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).

He and his wife, Joanne, have been married 39 years and have two grown children, Robert and Janet.

At his first convocation as President, Dr. Whitlock offered faculty and staff one gauge by which his stint as President may be judged:

“I will admit to you that I love Eastern, and when my service in the presidency is finished, if I have helped more of you love her too, then I will have done my job.”

Did You Know . . .

… Dr. Whitlock holds two degrees from Eastern Kentucky University – a bachelor’s degree in history and social science as well as a master’s degree in history.
In four years under Mark Sandy’s guidance as Director of Athletics at Eastern Kentucky University, the Colonels have enjoyed success at both the national and conference levels while also achieving in the classroom.

During the 2008-09 school year, the Colonels captured their first OVC Institutional Sportsmanship Award, while four sports won their respective league championships – men’s cross country, women’s cross country, football, and women’s tennis. In addition, the football and women’s tennis teams earned a spot in their respective sport’s NCAA championships. Individually, two student-athletes qualified for national postseason tournaments and several Colonels received OVC Player of the Year honors.

“Success can be defined in many terms throughout the vast enterprise known as collegiate athletics,” Sandy said. “Team accomplishments and individual honors just begin to tell the story of what I am most proud of after my fourth year as EKU’s Director of Athletics. Success is our student-athletes developing into contributing members of society. Success is our coaching staff and their dedication to our student-athletes.”

In the most recent NCAA Academic Progress Report (APR) released in the spring of 2009,Eastern Kentucky boasted several quality rankings. Four EKU programs – football, men’s golf, women’s golf, and men’s tennis – either met or exceeded the national average in the multi-year APR, a measure of eligibility and retention of scholarship student-athletes. Meanwhile, football’s multi-year APR score of 968 was the highest among all Division I institutions in the Commonwealth of Kentucky and the Ohio Valley Conference. Men’s cross country, men’s tennis, and women’s golf received perfect scores of 1,000 on the APR for the 2007-08 academic year.

“Our department’s goal is to create a student-athlete experience worthy of the proud EKU tradition. We intend to win with class, achieve success in the classroom, and strive for NCAA postseason competition in every sport.”

– Mark Sandy –

Under Sandy’s guidance, Eastern Kentucky completed three facility upgrades within the last year. Synthetic turf replaced the natural grass football field at Roy Kidd Stadium. Gertrude Hood Field, the home for EKU softball, underwent a series of improvements which included a new scoreboard and a new backstop. Finally, the Colonel Golf and Learning Center opened for business next to Arlington Golf Course in the middle of June.

Alumni Coliseum received a facility enhancement in the summer of 2006 with a newly branded court and scoreboards, while a new series of athletics marks were created and unveiled in April 2006. In December 2005, the University and department of athletics announced the creation of an Athletics Hall of Fame to commemorate distinguished individuals and teams on their accomplishments and contributions to the tradition of Colonel athletics.

On May 31, 2005, EKU announced the hiring of Mark Sandy as Director of Athletics. Prior to Eastern Kentucky, Sandy served as senior associate athletics director for external operations at the University of Richmond for five years.

While at Richmond, Sandy secured commitments of more than nine million dollars toward a $20 million Spider athletics campaign, and increased giving by 94 percent, while serving as an administrator for the men’s and women’s basketball programs.

From 1997 to 2000, Sandy served as associate athletics director at Miami (Ohio) University, where he was responsible for marketing and major gifts. He began his career as a high school mathematics and history teacher, in addition to coaching basketball and baseball, and went on to serve as an assistant basketball coach at the University of Evansville, Wake Forest University and Virginia Military Institute.

Upon being hired, Sandy vowed that his priority would always be to enhance the student-athlete experience, adding that increasing financial resources through fund-raising, ticket sales and corporate partnerships would also be a focal point of the effort.

Sandy was an all-conference baseball player and captain of the basketball team at Concord College in West Virginia, where he earned a bachelor’s degree in 1974. He went on to earn a master’s of education degree from Lynchburg College.

He and his wife, Kitty, have two children, Kraig and Madison.
Eastern Kentucky University is known as the Campus Beautiful, and for good reason.

The EKU campus is one of the most scenic college campuses in the nation and it features several striking features. From the James E. van Peursem Music Pavilion and the Ravine, to the Chapel of Meditation and the Keen Johnson Building, EKU features some of the most diverse and attractive locales on any college campus anywhere.

However strong Eastern Kentucky University’s reputation is for its visual aesthetics, the real character of the University can be found in its students, faculty and staff, and outstanding academic programs.

EKU offers more than 160 degree programs and features an excellent 17-1 student-to-faculty ratio. The University serves more than 16,200 students, which represent almost all 120 counties in Kentucky, all 50 states and over 60 countries worldwide.

The University, which celebrated its centennial in the spring of 2006, had humble beginnings. EKU’s origins can be traced back to a conflict between the northern and southern branches of Kentucky’s Presbyterian Church.

A group of alumni and supporters from the Southern branch lost control of Centre College in Danville and set out to start their own institution of higher learning. From that conflict, Central College was chartered in 1873 and the school opened in September of 1874.

Financial problems led to Central College’s consolidation into Centre College in 1901, but Richmond’s place in higher education did not move with Central College. Walters Collegiate Institute offered a preparatory curriculum for college-bound men and served as a transitional institution between Central College and what would become Eastern Kentucky University.

In 1906, the Kentucky General Assembly approved a bill that would establish two normal schools in the eastern and western parts of the state in order to prepare teachers to enter the classroom. The eastern school, which was located in Richmond, was called the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, later evolving into the regional institution now known as Eastern Kentucky University.

Modern-day EKU now encompasses three branch campuses in Corbin, Danville and Manchester. The University also boasts one of the state’s strongest distance learning programs, giving students from around the world an opportunity to receive an EKU education.

EKU is also home to the College of Justice and Safety, which educates students from around the world. As EKU’s Program of Distinction, the College of Justice and Safety is involved in numerous worldwide research projects. It also educates a vast majority of the law enforcement officers in the Commonwealth.

The University also boosts 17 championship sports at the NCAA’s Division I level, competing in the Ohio Valley Conference. The Colonels’ history includes several national championships, conference titles and NCAA Tournament appearances. However, the best is yet to come as the school’s athletic department is committed to ensuring that EKU student-athletes are given the necessary resources to continue to compete at a national level.

All told, Eastern Kentucky University provides a safe and attractive environment in which its students can learn and become productive members of society. The lessons learned at EKU will follow students for a lifetime and the performance of its graduates will, in turn, continue to enhance the already strong regional and national reputation of the University.
Housed in the Moberly Building is Eastern Kentucky University’s varsity weight room, a state of the art facility which provides EKU’s student-athletes the opportunity to enhance their abilities by making use of top-of-the-line equipment.

The 5,000 square foot weight room contains 16,000 pounds of total weight. Built in 2001, the facility features Eleiko model Olympic weights, York dumbbells with two sets each from five to 150 pounds and Nebula power stations and racks. Tools such as bands and medicine balls are used as well to help round student-athletes into peak shape.

Head strength and conditioning coach Jon-Michael Davis, along with full-time assistant Chad Scott and graduate assistant Tony Sarver, oversee all of EKU’s nearly 300 student-athletes. Their efforts are supplemented by the training room staff, which is also housed in the Moberly Building, allowing athletes the opportunity for fast and convenient treatment.

Student-athletes at EKU come in and utilize the center for studying, requesting and meeting with tutors, checking their e-mail or stop by for advising. The professional staff is trained to work with student-athletes in advising, class scheduling, monitoring academic progress and assisting student-athletes with academic success strategies.

The Bratzke Center employs tutors trained to assist student-athletes in many different subjects. These tutors are a free service to EKU student-athletes and can be requested at any point throughout the semester. Tutors are trained to work with students and assist them in study skills, individual course instruction and encourage academic success.

The Bratzke Center is headed by Dr. Randy Kennedy.
Richmond is home to many interesting and convenient activities. Whether it’s arts and entertainment, recreation, or shopping and dining out you are looking for, Richmond has it all.

With more than 100 buildings in Richmond on the National Register of Historic Places and three areas on the National Register of Historic Districts, it is one of Kentucky’s finest restored 19th Century commercial districts.

Arts and entertainment take center-stage with the Eastern Kentucky University theatre program. They offer several shows each year from classical theatre to modern musicals. Local artistic talents are on display year round at Gallery On Main. This is a perfect showcasing of local talent and an opportunity for community involvement.

There is never any lack of recreational activities in Richmond. An array of parks and recreational centers across the city offers something for everyone. Lake Reba Recreational complex includes golf, little league baseball and softball fields, soccer, fishing and a water park which opened in the summer of 2008.

If it’s shopping you want, downtown Richmond can accommodate you. Locally owned businesses line the historic streets of downtown Richmond with everything from fine antiquities to exquisite jewelry. There is a wide variety of stores at the brand new Richmond Centre as well. The outdoor mall offers shoppers convenience and style.

Dining isn’t hard to find either. Family-owned and major chain restaurants give Richmond a unique variety of menus. Local hot spots include Madison Gardens, which is uniquely Richmond, to restaurants such as Applebee’s, Logan’s Roadhouse, O’Charley’s and Outback Steakhouse. Whatever your palate craves, Richmond dining offers a variety of tastes made to satisfy.

Never far from mainstream, Richmond offers the comforts of simplicity with the convenience of the city.

Only 29 miles from Lexington and the Bluegrass Airport, Richmond is easily accessible to all travelers. Interstate 75 is a major artery of both state and national motor transportation. Richmond’s location on I-75 makes it an important factor in making the city a commercial hub.

In fact, the ease of travel to and from Richmond makes the city an ideal spot for those who enjoy outdoor activities.

Fort Boonesborough State Park is located only 12 miles from EKU’s campus, while Natural Bridge State Park (63 miles) and Cumberland Falls State Park (100 miles) are located nearby.

Also within easy driving distance of Richmond are the Kentucky Horse Park, the state capital in Frankfort, Herrington Lake, My Old Kentucky Home at Bardstown, White Hall State Shrine and thoroughbred horse racing at Keeneland.

A Brief Richmond History

Richmond was founded in 1798 by Colonel John Miller, a Revolutionary War soldier. In 1798, the Kentucky Legislature authorized the moving of the Madison County seat from nearby Milford to land owned by Colonel Miller.

The move was bitterly opposed by about 300 residents of the Milford area and a fight to retain the seat resulted between Dave Kennedy, who represented the Milford location, and William Kearly, who represented the new site.

Although history does not record the results of the brawl, the county approved the move in March of 1798 and two acres of land were purchased from Colonel Miller. Court was held in his barn.

On July 4, 1798, the site was officially named Richmond in honor of Miller’s birthplace, Richmond, Va.

Entering its 62nd year, the Ohio Valley Conference continues to build on the success that has made it the nation’s eighth-oldest NCAA Division I conference. For only the second time in a decade, the Conference expanded by adding Southern Illinois University Edwardsville as the league’s 11th member in 2008. The move expanded the OVC’s geographical footprint to the St. Louis market and marked the first change in membership since expanding to the state of Alabama (Jacksonville State, Samford) in 2003.

The 2009-10 school year saw a change in leadership as Beth DeBauche was named the seventh full-time Commissioner in league history on July 28. She is currently one of just five females to be the head of a Division I conference, and one of just eight to lead a Division I conference all-time. The last three commissioners of the OVC have moved onto jobs as the commissioner of the Big Ten, Big 12 and the Mid-American Conferences.

The OVC’s proud past dates back to 1948, but seeds for the new league were actually planted in 1941. It was then that Roy Stewart, the athletics director at Murray State, Charles (Turkey) Hughes, the athletics director at Eastern Kentucky, and Kelly Thompson, the public relations director at Western Kentucky, first broached the idea of forming a new conference. Discussions were put on hold by World War II, but reemerged Feb. 27-28, 1948 at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville as the three original institutions combined with Morehead State, Louisville, and Evansville to form the OVC.

In the late 1970s, women’s athletics began somewhat of a rebirth on the national scene as the NCAA began sponsoring and marketing women’s sports. Recognizing the need to provide increased opportunities for female athletes, the OVC established women’s championships in the sports of basketball, tennis and track in 1977, with cross country and volleyball added over the next four years. Those sports were initially governed by the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW), but the overall strength of women’s programs in the league was demonstrated by the automatic bids the OVC instantly received when the NCAA became the governing body in 1982.

The league also had another historical moment in November 2008 when the NCAA awarded Nashville the 2014 NCAA Women’s Division I Final Four. The OVC will serve as the host of the prestigious event, which is one of the biggest sporting events in the country. The statement has become a model for others to follow across the nation, and has answered the challenge of the NCAA Presidents Commission to improve sportsmanship in collegiate athletics.

The playing field is not the only place where OVC athletes are working hard. The league also recognizes excellence in the classroom. Six Scholar-Athlete Awards are presented yearly to male and female athletes, while others are commended for their academic success by being Medal of Honor recipients or earning a spot on the Commissioner’s Honor Roll. Additionally, the league annually presents one institutional Academic Achievement Award, as well as separate team awards in each Conference-sponsored sport. Since the College Sports Information Directors of American (CoSIDA) Academic All-America program began, the Ohio Valley Conference has had 179 student-athletes honored with the award, including 25 over the last three years (2006-07 to the present).

Through the early years of the league, administrators wrestled with fan behavior due to the close proximity of the Conference members and the intense rivalries which developed. Just as it did decades ago, the OVC took the leadership role on what has become a national issue. In 1995, the OVC implemented a first-of-its-kind “Sportsmanship Statement,” a policy which promotes principles of fair play, ethical conduct and respect for one’s opponent. The statement has become a model for others to follow across the nation, and has answered the challenge of the NCAA Presidents Commission to improve sportsmanship in collegiate athletics.

Additionally, the OVC annually presents the Steve Hamilton Sportsmanship Award, in honor of the former Morehead State student-athlete, coach and athletics director, to a junior or senior student-athlete with significant athletic contributions who best exemplifies the characteristics of sportsmanship and citizenship. Most recently, the Conference has also implemented the OVC Institutional and Team Sportsmanship Awards, which are presented to one institution and 18 sport-specific teams voted by their peers to have best exhibited the standards of sportsmanship and ethical conduct as outlined by the OVC and NCAA.

The Ohio Valley Conference sponsors the following sports: baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, tennis and track for men, and basketball, cross country, golf, soccer, softball, tennis, track and volleyball for women. In addition, the OVC also sponsors the combined men’s and women’s sport of rifle.
