MAROONS DOWN AKRON

ROTC SPONSORS ELECTED

In the above picture are the four young ladies chosen by the Advanced Corps members of the Eastern R. O. T. C. to reign at the annual Military Ball, sponsored by the corps. The battalion sponsor is Miss Carolyn Miller, senior, who hails from Boone, N. C. Miss Miller came to Eastern at the beginning of her junior year, having transferred from Appalachian State Teachers College. Representing Battery A is Miss Ann Gately, a junior from Ft. Thomas, Ky. Sponsoring Battery B is Miss Mae Fawbush, senior, of Benham, Ky. Battery C has for its sponsor Miss Marjorie Crites, from Newport.

Pass Interference Sets Up Touchdown; Ley Crosses Goal

FINAL SCORE 6 TO 0

Eastern jumped back into the win column by defeating Akron University 6-0 Friday night at the Akron "Rubber Bowl" before a crowd of 5,000.

KYMA CLUB ELECTS 42-43 OFFICERS

Elsie Marcum
Named President

New officers for Kyma, Eastern's pep club, were elected Wednesday evening at a special meeting. Elsie Marcum, a senior, was elected president; Margina Stevenson, also a member of the senior class, was chosen to serve as secretary, and Jerry Keuper, a sophomore, was elected treasurer and business manager.

The club decided that new members would be chosen this quarter as in preceding years. Persons wishing to join the organization must apply by letter. The letters should be placed in a box which will be kept in the grill until the end of next week. New members will be chosen from those who apply.

Students are not admitted unconditionally into the club. Those selected must serve a term as neophytes at the end of which time they will be formally initiated and accepted into the organization. During the period of probation, neophytes are not allowed to vote on club business and must prove their worth to Kyma by constant cooperation with club projects.

The cheer leaders who are honorary members of Kyma, are chosen and sponsored by the group. The cheer leaders chosen this year are Ann Garey, Vivian Garnett, Lenora Haymond and Bob Siler. They are led by Lewis Kilgus, a member of the sophomore class who led cheers last year at Eastern's athletic events.

NO SERVICE INSIGNIA TO BE WORN

Civilians Warned
Of Military Law

A letter has been received by the Military Department of Eastern from the Fifth Service Command, Columbus, Ohio, stating that all civilians, including females, found wearing distinctive articles of the uniforms of men in the armed services are subject to a fine not exceeding $300 or to imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both.

In the interest of all concerned and especially to the young ladies of the campus, Section 2148 of the Military Laws of the United States reads as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person not an officer or enlisted man of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps to wear the duly prescribed uniform of the United States Army, Navy or Marine Corps, or any distinctive part of such uniform or a uniform any part of which is similar to a distinctive part of the duly prescribed uniform of the U. S. Army, Navy or Marine Corps."

Freshman Tea Given By Dean

A tea was given Thursday afternoon, October 8, for the women of the freshman class by Mrs. Emma Y. Case, dean of women. The affair, which was held from 4:30 to 6 in Walnut Hall, was attended by nearly 140 girls.

Mrs. O'Donnell, Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mrs. Blanton, and Miss Wingo assisted Mrs. Case, as did Katherine Sallee and Beulah Correll, the presidents of the Whro councils, and Betty Griffith.

ON TO MURRAY!

Eastern won the toss and chose to kick to the Zippers. Akron tried out the Maroon line but got nowhere and were forced to kick. Making over on their own 6 yard line the Maroons made four first downs on four successive plays but the Zippers toughened their resistance and took over deep in their own territory. For the remainder of the first half the game was played between the twenty yard lines with neither team threatening.

Eastern kicked off to start the second half and got the ball after Akron made three more unsuccessful attempts at the line. The Maroons got several drives under way but were halted just long enough to let the Zippers get the ball, then Tabor, star back of the Zippers, would send a tremendous kick downfield to keep Eastern in their own territory.

Late in the third period Eastern put on a sustained drive that would not be denied and the quarter ended as Siphers' pass to Maggard was ruled complete because of interference on the Akron 6-yard line. On the second play of the fourth quarter Jack Ley, freshman back, started the left end for the score. Siphers' attempted conversion was wide.

Eastern looked like the Maroons of old even though the score doesn't indicate as much. The big red machine piled up 17 first downs to the Zippers' 2. If we will all get together and give them the backing we showed at their send off for this game we will see the type of ball games that have made Eastern teared on the gridiron.

ANNUAL CKEA MEETING HELD AT EASTERN

Thirteenth
Convention

"Schools in Wartime" was the general theme of the thirteenth annual meeting of the Central Kentucky Education Association, which met on the campus last Friday, October 4, 1942.

Teachers and superintendents representing some twenty county school systems and twenty-three city systems in those counties heard President W. F. O'Donnell welcome the Friday morning session at 9:45. In this general session held at Hiram Brock Auditorium, the principal speakers were John W. Brooker, state superintendent of public instruction, who spoke on "State Program of Education in Wartime." Addresses were also given by Raymond F. McLain, president of Transylvania College, Lexington, and Dr. Willard E. Givens, executive secretary of the National Education Association.

The meeting was divided into nine conferences and the speakers in each were chosen because it was felt that each had a definite contribution to make concerning education problems growing out of war.

In the business session held Friday morning C.K.E.A. officers were elected for the coming year.

First Class Meeting To Be Held Oct. 21

The first class meetings of this quarter are scheduled for October 21. Officers will be elected and the class organizations set up. The freshmen are to meet in Hiram Brock Auditorium; sophomores; in the Little Theater, juniors, in room 20 of the Roark building and seniors in the administration building, room 23.

CLASS SPONSOR

It was announced recently, through the Dean's office, that the class sponsors for the year 1942-43 had been chosen. They are: Freshmen sponsor, Dr. Frederick Giles; ophomores', Miss Edith Ford; Juniors, Dr. P. M. Grise; and Seniors, Dr. Noel B. Cuff.

I was at a football game several weeks ago. It may have been the Cats vs. the Dogs it was so closely contested. However, it was West-Missouri playing Eastern Kentucky at two places about as far apart as Berlin and Paris. The game was on the field. Just as the kick-off a color guard with a flag marched to the front and the band played "Spangied Banner." As I stood listening to the anthem, many emotions crowded themselves into my thinking. "What's causing this?" I asked myself. All there is here is two football teams standing and waiting for the music to end so they can thrash the living daylights out of one another. The more I thought about it the more I realized that was an old American custom. Stand for a minute, listen to a bit of music that recalls some cherished memory, get mad because someone is trying to destroy the beauty of that memory, and then go out and thrash the living daylights out of someone.

Surely, I told myself, our enemies must have anthems that make them get emotionally aroused. And then I suddenly knew the answer to a great many questions. I knew that I could fight wholeheartedly if I were called. Yes, our enemies are aroused emotionally when their anthems are played.

According to Goebels there are great demonstrations when the pictures of the fall of Poland are shown to the Fuehrers. According to the promise of the Lord there are seared souls when the outward triumph wears off and the German wives and mothers think of the price it cost. Outwardly the fall of France, symbolized by the march through the Arch de Triumphe, calls for martial anthems, but who, even among the German people, can be proud of fettered labor, ravished women, starving children, and unquenchable hatred? Mighty anthems accompany pictures of the bombing of London, but who, even among the German people, can have happy memories recalled by the sight of a dirty little Cockney kid, with blood trickling down his mouth, gasping, "Gor blimy, wot 'appened," as he dies. Undoubtedly, the pictures of the bombing of Pearl Harbor are accompanied by everything in the way of triumphal anthems the Japanese can think of, but who, even among the Japanese, could be proud of a deed so deceitful and so treacherous that it will brand them forever in the history of an entire civilization?

With me, however, the story is a bit different. My anthem brings back to mind a series of little things that in the long run mean so much. Things like one hundred thousand people going collector named Whirlaway was winning a race, because some of them had two bucks on his nose, and because it was Kentucky. Things like some town people getting together and naming a town Lidice because a little town in Europe with the same name got a dirty deal, because the town people didn't like the guy that gave the town the dirty deal, and because we just do things that way here. Things like sixty thousand people reverently standing for the National anthem when they were all just itching for the game to get going so they could see if that bunch of kids from St. Louis could put it on the big boys.

When the football game was over, everyone went home happy. Even the ones that were disappointed knew that everyone had done his best, and there was fear to carry on the conscience. Yet there are those who will hear more terrible anthems in the future. Anthems that will destroy even the victor, for no man can shout down nor replace that awesome anthem that the archangels moan in the guilty heart.

SALUTATIONS PLEBES

Military Society Purposes Listed

We wish to take advantage of this opportunity to congratulate nine seniors and seven juniors on their having met the military and scholastic requirements of the Eta Morae Phalanx. The following Advanced Corps members have been considered and received written invitations to join this honorary military fraternity:

John Conners, William Mason, Francis Haas, Joe Bill Siphers, Gayle McConnell, Earl Stafford, William Buerger, Claude Williams, Roy Dawn, William Brashear, Malcolm Eads, Willard Kelly, Jerry Keuper, Edsel Mountz, Louis Fowler, and Gall Roberts.

To achieve eligibility the plebes must have had a scholastic standing of 1.5. All the plebes are subject to a 30-day period of pledge-ship.

The purpose of the Phalanx is to promote the interests of Military Training, to foster the spirit of fellowship among military men on the campus, and to implant in its members the discipline so necessary, not only in a military enterprise, but in every walk of life.

DANCE TO BE SPONSORED BY THE PHALANX

New Sponsor
Necessitated

The annual Homecoming Dance which is held each year in Walnut Hall for the Alumni and students of Eastern will be sponsored by the Eta Morae Phalanx.

Due to the expanded program of the Social Committee and the increased cost of orchestras, it will be necessary to charge admission to the dance. Although this is contrary to the custom of the past and the change in policy is regretful, it cannot be avoided. The price of admission will be approximately $1.10 per couple or stag.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed to secure an orchestra for the dance and the name of the orchestra will be announced at the earliest possible date. Tickets will be on sale as soon as is convenient and may be obtained from any member of the Phalanx.

Plan now to attend this first dance of the year on the college campus. Invite your friends and members of the Alumni now so that they may plan to attend. Let's all get behind this dance and give the Alumni an enjoyable Homecoming after the game with Western.

The dance is to be formal. R.O.T.C. boys are requested to wear their uniforms while Alumni may come as they choose.

Dr. Farris Called To Washington

Dr. J. D. Farris, college physician and head of the health and physical education department at Eastern, reported to Washington, D. C., today for two weeks service assisting in the preparation of a college physical fitness manual in collaboration with Army and Navy officials.

Request for the release of Dr. Farris for the two weeks was received by President O'Donnell through John W. Stuedeaker, United States commissioner of education.

PROGRESS MEETING

Students interested in joining the Progress staff please meet in the office of the Progress at 5:00 p. m., Tuesday.

Burnam WRHO

Floor representatives for the Burnam Hall W. R. H. O. were elected Tuesday night at a called meeting. Those chosen were Martha Long, Helen Mitchell, Todd Hinkle, Margie Crites, Anne Gately, and Edith Gibson. The delegates represent their specific section of the dormitory at the women's council.

DR. RUMBOLD RECEIVES COMMISSION

NAVY LIEUTENANT

Dr. Dean W. Rumbold, an instructor in the biology department of Eastern, has received a commission in the United States Navy Reserve as a lieutenant. He will be connected with Naval aviation in the capacity of a visual aide officer.

Lieutenant Rumbold has taught at Eastern since 1928. He has been a member of the faculties of the Seashore Summer School, Duke University and Culver Military Academy.

A graduate of the University of Buffalo, Lieutenant Rumbold attended the University of Wisconsin one year, received his Ph. D. from Duke University. He is a member of several nationally known science clubs.

Former Eastern Student Experiments With Eggs to Further Cancer Research

Many students here at Eastern remember Jerry Noland, especially the members of the Science Club and those taking courses in chemistry and biology. Jerry is now at Purdue and is one of the few students at the University who have tried laboratory research on an original project. The war being waged against cancer in the research laboratories of this country engaged Noland's attention some time ago. Since then he followed the work being done closely and recently began experimenting with a method of observing the growth of cancer in chick embryos.

His premise is this: Every fresh egg is a potential chicken embryo. If the embryo could be given cancer similar to that affecting man, it would make a readily accessible medium for cancer study. Furthermore, the rapid development of the embryo might accelerate the malignant effect of cancer.

Noland secured his first eggs from the University Poultry Department and began at once to experiment in the techniques of handling and making injections into the eggs and incubating the embryos.

NO-YONG PARK LECTURES IN CHAPEL

Chinese Lectures
On Far Eastern
Situation

Explaining methods of defeating the Japanese, and warning that it would be all too easy for the U. S. to slip to defeat No-Yong Park, brilliant Chinese lecturer and authority on far eastern affairs spoke to the assembly audience on its last Wednesday morning meeting from the stage of Hiram Brock auditorium.

Dr. Park advised that any military action taken by the United Nations should be directed at Japan proper by way of the northern route, meaning Siberia and the Aleutians, rather than retracing their steps through the conquered islands of the Southwest Pacific now well fortified by the Mikado.

The scholarly Chinese pointed out the importance of gaining the support of the Asiatic peoples and used the Battle of Bataan as a classic example. He also pleaded that a continuous line of supplies be sent to the beleaguered Chinese who are fighting doggedly for a common cause against a common foe.

With Scrap—Slap a Jap

A Scrap Drive was begun in Richmond Wednesday . . . a drive to convert every bit of otherwise useless material into war supplies. A drive in which we could all play some part.

Not all of us can do really essential war work. That is, essential in the sense that should it lag or stop, the effects would be immediate and disastrous. College students such as we are are necessary to the future of our country; but, at times, many of us feel that we are not doing enough, that going to school isn't helping Now and that's what we want to do. This drive gives each of us a chance to prove to himself that he is contributing something tangible to the Allies.

It's not a small or unimportant thing to collect so-called "junk" in these days. The smallest chunk of pig iron is more important to our country than a larger one of the finest ore. It costs more tax-dollars and many more work-hours to convert iron ore into steel than it does to recover it from scrap metal. That ore contains impurities which are costly and time-taking to remove. The scrap metal has already been processed. The same holds true for the tin in tin cans. Such tin is more valuable than any as yet unmined; its working is shorter and more economical.

Suppose some campus organization did undertake to launch a scrap drive. They could arrange with the cafeteria to collect the tin cans and perhaps, old kitchen utensils. The store rooms of the dormitories are likely places. Sullivan Hall, for instance, has a number of old irons used in the laundry before electric irons became popular. These suggestions are but a few of the possibilities.

How about it Eastern?

Freedom of the Press

By Dean Kenneth E. Olson
 Medill School of Journalism
 Northwestern University

You law down two or three cents for your home town newspaper as a matter of habit, expecting it to bring you the latest information from all over the world and never give a thought to how important this press is to you or your family. You never stop to think how much liberty and happiness is bound up in the fact that you can read this kind of a newspaper; you never stop to realize that today only in the United States and some parts of the British empire can men and women read the news of their neighbors and of the world without the blighting touch of governmental control.

Should you be denied that right you would soon realize that more and worse would be coming. You would know that soon your spare time would not be your own, that at any time you could be called out to a party meeting or to a parade before the local or national ruler, with terrific penalties imposed if you failed to obey that summons. You would know that you could no longer swap ideas with your neighbor without letting yourself in for trouble with the secret police. You would know that you could no longer go to your own church or send your children to your Sunday school. You would know that you would soon have no individual rights at all—you would be but the slave of a dictatorial state.

We may perhaps realize these things vaguely but few of us ever stop to think that the newspaper we take so much for granted is the keystone of liberties of all individuals. Once this free press of ours is muzzled it will be the signal for the suppression and persecution of religion, of the right to belong to a labor union, of the right to speak our minds.

Where the press is free it can function as a protector of the rights of our people and of our free democratic institutions. Where the press is enslaved, these rights of the individual and the free democratic institutions which Americans hold so dear, soon disappear.

Opportunity

Sunday before last an attempt was made to give Eastern's students a place to spend their Sunday evenings without going to town. The Student Union was kept open until 10 instead of being closed at seven as was customary. Walnut hall, the Grill and Rec Room were offered to the students.

Obviously, however, something was lacking. So few students took advantage of the Union that the building was not kept open again this Sunday.

If any student has some suggestion that might solve the campus-town problem, would he please make it and help an awkward situation.

I think he is a camouflaged soldier

CAPITAL to CAMPUS

A. C. P.'s Correspondent Reports from Washington

WORRY

WASHINGTON—(ACP)—Latest Washington figures show that college enrollment has fallen off at least 10 per cent; the final figure may prove to be much higher. Nobody knows yet exactly how drastic the drop.

War needs for technical and professional men have probably kept enrollment in such courses at a relatively high level. However, the liberal arts curricula have taken a kick in the face which, as an official in the Office of Education here put it, is "somewhat disturbing."

What's the answer? Apparently there isn't any while the war lasts. And it's a moot question whether an answer should be sought before the war's end.

Manpower Commissioner McNutt has said that "non-essential courses we have come to regard as essential to a classical education must be replaced. This war demands chemists, engineers, doctors, experts in nutrition, public health and agriculture."

Then there were Secretary of War Stimson's two contradictory statements of recent date which, once unraveled, seemed to echo McNutt.

Since there's nothing to be done about war-inspired curriculum changes, the attention of educators here is now focused on two problems: getting a specific policy on the Selective Service status of college men, and clearing the way for much more government-financed college training.

The former presents some knotty problems. Shall deferment depend entirely upon the courses taken? Then what courses shall be basis for deferment? How far along in his studies should a student be before he is considered for deferment, if at all? And what about the 18 and 19-year-olds if the age limit is lowered?

Some of these questions have been partially answered, but on the whole the answers have been inadequate and confusing. A clear-cut system is needed.

The question of getting more funds to finance capable students was answered in small measure last spring when congress appropriated $5,000,000 for student loans. The money is being loaned to students majoring in physics, chemistry, engineering, medicine (including veterinary), dentistry and pharmacy.

But sources here point out that the fund is not nearly large enough. Four millions have already been allocated to 240 colleges, and the balance of $1,000,000 will be parceled out soon. On the average, the schools got only half the money requested. And requests were presumably based on direct need.

In order to get a loan from this fund a student must be studying under the wartime speedup plan, a situation that makes it virtually impossible for him to take a job on the side, or to work during the summer. If he can't get a loan and must have help to get thru school, there is only one answer—get out! Which may mean that a man already partially trained for highly specialized work goes into military service to do a job that might be done by any one of thousands of untrained recruits.

Severe, wartime logic leaves no room for argument on the question of whether there should be more funds for this purpose. The question of who shall have an education should never be left to economic chance, or mischance. In wartime it cannot be.

An official here points out that "if need can be shown, supplemental funds may be forthcoming." It is congress, of course, that must be "shown." The question is do congressmen recognize "need" when it scratches their eyeballs?

JOBS

About all you have to do now if you can use a federal job is ask for it. Since the outbreak of war in September, 1939, the number of persons on the government payroll has considerably more than doubled.

Right now, for example, there are openings for technical assistants in engineering, metallurgy or physics for applicants who have completed one, two or three years of college. The pay ranges from $1,440 to $1,800 a year.

Dietitians are being sought for jobs paying $1,800 annually. Requirements have been loosened.

If, by odd chance, you want to come to Washington you can start work as a junior clerk the third day after you arrive. You need one day to put in your application and another to take a routine test. The pay is $1,440 a year. Because vacancies must be filled promptly the current call is limited to persons in or near Washington.

You can get information and blanks concerning any of the jobs mentioned at a first or second class postoffice. Or you may write the Civil Service Commission here in Washington, 501 E. Street, N. W.

EDUCATION ELSEWHERE

The Hupeh Provincial government in Free China will open a polytechnic institute next spring, in line with Chungking's policy of promoting technical education during the war. Later a medical college will be opened in the same province.

The Japanese are operating seven British and American church mission schools in Tietsin, according to the Japanese.

The pet project of all German schools this year will be the "heroic events in the East . . . where there is a wealth of inspiration for creative work," according to a Nazi mouthful.

CONTROL PLAN IS EXPLAINED

Civilian Defense Corps Meets at Courthouse; May Have Blackout TO SET UP CENTER

Some sixty or more members of the Richmond Citizens Defense Corps met last night for a practice demonstration and operation of a local civilian protection control system. The meeting was held at the courthouse.

The principal functions of a control system are as follows:

- (a) To provide the commander and his staff with a headquarters;
- (b) To keep the commander supplied with a picture of the situation in the field during an air raid;
- (c) To transmit his orders quickly and accurately.

The control center is the most vital point in the local civilian protection organization. It is the heart and nerve center of civilian protection in action. It is to serve as a headquarters for the commander, Citizens Defense Corps, and his staff and to provide facilities for the performance of protection services under emergency conditions.

At the Control Center air raid warning messages are received from the air raid district warning center and transmitted to proper recipients. Here orders are issued for the sounding of air raid alarms and reports are received of air raid damage from the various wardens. From this center operating units are dispatched to the various incidents which may occur during an air raid.

"Collective training such as was conducted last night is very important, because the whole control center staff needs to learn to work together as a team," the Rev. T. W. Beeler, chief air raid warden, said. "This can be accomplished best through a series of group exercises starting out with relatively simple problems handled at slow speed working up to more difficult problems," he declared.

The next demonstration will perhaps test the civilian protection organization as a whole, it was announced. At this time the various wardens and other officers will be at their regular posts. This will give the control center staff an opportunity to show how well it can function as an integral part of local civilian protection in action, and can discover what further improvements can be made to perfect the local control system, it was said.

"Esprit de corps is an important factor in the success of any organization. We are all new recruits in this important work and will make many mistakes. The thing that impressed me in last night's demonstration was the fact that, here was a fine public spirited people with an inner desire to give the best possible service irrespective of how difficult and trying conditions may be," said Mr. Beeler.

New First Aid Course to Start

The final class of a 20-hour course in Red Cross first aid was held at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at the First Methodist church.

Carlos Young, one of more than a score of Red Cross instructors in Richmond, said that a new course would be started at 7:30 o'clock Monday at the church.

Those completing the course ending tonight will be awarded certificates, Mr. Young said. Approximately 75 persons have taken the course, which is under the sponsorship of civilian defense.

Two-hour classes are held each Monday and Friday night with Mr. Young as instructor. Persons who desire to take an additional 10-hour course in advanced first aid will be offered classes at a later date.

College students are invited to attend.

New Superintendent of Pattie A. Clay

Miss Theo Clendene arrived Thursday from Glasgow, Mont., to take over her new duties as superintendent of the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary.

Miss Clendene, a native of Decatur, Ill., received her professional training at Champaign, Ill., and her post-graduate work at Northwestern University at Chicago. She is of Scotch-Irish descent and a member of the Presbyterian church. Miss Clendene was superintendent of the Deaconess Hospital at Glasgow before coming to Richmond.

Madrigal Club Elects Officers

At its October 14th meeting, the Madrigal Club, Eastern's women's glee club, elected officers for this school year.

Ann Allen was elected president; Helen Colvin, vice-president; Margarina Stevenson, secretary, and Sarah Brooks, treasurer. All four are seniors.

This year, for the first time since the club was organized, freshmen are being accepted for membership. The Eastino Club, a glee club for freshmen girls, has not been organized this year because of the drop in enrollment.

MAROONED

with BOB RYLE AND ROY GILLIGAN

HELL-O FRESHMEN WEEK:

Things happened thick and fast last week. Tears were shed and guffaws were guffawe and everyone more or less, had a good time of it. A fellow gal could make or break himself last week, as his college career is concerned. And it wouldn't seem to us that practically every body played ball and done what he orta have. Observations concerning the grand initiation of neophyte chapel-haters and class-cutters: Guy Field is not back this year, but Bobby West will be pleased to note that a reasonably exact facsimile (a sawed-off version) has appeared in the person of Frosh Scott Thompson. Believe us, on stiltis you couldn't tell the difference. . . . We are glad to record in this space that one Mr. Palmer, prominent freshman, has decided to cooperate to the fullest extent with the wishes of the "at Court." It took quite a bit of convincing but we think he'll find it was worth his while to do so. . . . Bon-bons at this time to "Rat" Guy Fortney for being the only freshman to succeed, at this writing, in performing the rigors of the "Candy Treatment."

KEEP ON THE RIGHT SIDE, BROTHER:

Last night I met with disaster;
 Had a date with a girl in Lancaster;
 Took the detour at night,
 Thought my left was my right,
 And be damned if I didn't go paster!

HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE

UPPECLASSMEN:

Probably the toughest thing for an incoming "Rat" to do is learn names. Not only the names of his fellow sufferers but of the saintly and honorable men and women of the superior classifications. A typical conversation between a couple of strangers (in this case, two Frosh) runs about like this:

- No. 1: Hi, bug. You freshman.
- Go. 2: Yep. You too, huh?
- No. 1: Yep. Whas'ya name?
- No. 2: Abercrombie from Fitch's Notch.
- No. 1: Mine's Fangwangle, Puckering Gulch.
- No. 2: Well, so long, O'Leary.
- No. 1: Nice knowin' ya, Holworthy.

And so it goes. But we gotta rush this thing and turn this copy in to Editors—what he hell are their names, anyhow?

NATURE IN THE RAW, or

RIGHT ABOUT FACE:

A girl can really cause clamor
 And make her boy friends stammer,
 If she goes through "Hell Week"
 With no paint on her cheek
 And retains her usual glamor.
 Anyway, figures don't lie.

ARSENIC AND OLD CAFETERIA NAPKINS:

It is the opinion of several upperclassmen that there are too dogged many musicians in this year's new bunch. At least they make a lot of noise when said three-year men are trying to sleep in the afternoon. . . . One of the best things in the list of freshman requirements is that answer "Beat Akron" to the question "Whaddaya say, freshman?" What we need is something like that to keep people thinking about the school as a whole and promote more spirit than has been shown in times past. Above all it helps the freshmen, who are still bound somewhat to their high schools, to break away from home ties and get into the game in a big way at college. . . . Casey (Practical Joker) Nowakowski has been having heap bee time with his exploding matches. We hate to think of what would happen if a freshman would get hold of them and give them to an upperclassman. Insubordination, by Gad! . . . We are under the impression that Dr. No-Yong Park felt velly velly much at home last Wednesday when he came riding into Richmond and saw the American version of the Burma Road.

THE INFLUENCE OF THE ARMED FORCES:

Something just a little old but nevertheless effective. Borrowed from the Reader's Digest is this quip, as funny an army story as we have yet heard:

Mess Sergeant: Who in hell put those flowers on the table?
 Orderly: The captain.
 Mess Sergeant: Purdy, ain't they?

A WORD TO DE WISE:

A tip to Mr. Van: Music stands 1 and 48 are now stationed in the lobby of Memorial Hall. To Dr. Farris: If you ever run out of supplies, some of these freshmen have veritable arsenals of pills and alkalinizing agents in their dresser drawers. Jeez kids, how did yez know we was from Northern Kentucky?????

WHY I RESPECT THE RAT COURT

(By Russell C. Weingartner)

I have changed my opinion of the Rat Court very much during the past week. Formerly, I thought of the Rat Court as a group of young men who were out to feel the thrill of authority which they had not earned. Now I know that the Rat Court is an admirable symbol of democracy in action. It is the training ground for future voters in a free country, a place where the participants are imbued with the Rights of Man, where they learn to avoid mob spirit. When an upper-classman has seen a close friend of his humiliated, he is prepared to go out and be a citizen in a nation where "All men are free and equal."

The words on my placard: "I now respect it," unquote (meaning the Rat Court) were suggested to me by another person. I would not have expressed my thought in just that way. However, there are a number of things about the Rat Court which I respect.

I respect the Rat Court for its sense of clean fun. The humor is never one-sided. Such emotions as humiliation, shame or embarrassment would be out of place in this court. The Rat Court is a fine thing because it adds to the sum of human happiness, never detracts from it.

I respect the Rat Court for its adherence to the nobler motive. When a gang has overpowered some freshman and clipped him bald, all that is true and generous in those men comes to the surface. In the Rat Court, fair play is the inflexible rule. The Nazis may enjoy tormenting their fellow humans, but no one here in America shares their view.

I respect the Rat Court for its justice. Every case is tried impartially.

I respect the Rat Court for its bravery. It takes guts, sheer valor, to strike at a man or a group of men who cannot hit back.

PISTOL TEAM
REORGANIZED

Manager Chosen, Election Of Captain Postponed

At a meeting on October 5, 1942, the remnants of the 1941-1942 Eastern Pistol Team elected John Lee Congleton manager and postponed the election of a captain. The members that remain are: Bill Barnett, Paul Houchell, Billy Mason and Bob Yeager, Seniors; Roy Kidd and Argyle Lowe, Juniors; and Neal Boyd, Max Reed, John Congleton and Charles Bernard, Sophomores. All of these men have had experience in the shoulder to shoulder matches with Ohio State, Kentucky and Xavier, but the five men, Bill Stocker, Prewitt Paynter, Charles Floyd, Bud Petty and Rodney Whitaker, that took first place in the B division of the Chief of Field Artillery Match, have all graduated or transferred.

The shoulder to shoulder matches were all victories for the Eastern team last year in which they defeated Ohio State twice, University of Kentucky three times and Xavier University of Cincinnati twice. Three trips were made last year to accomplish this, one to Columbus, one to Cincinnati and one to Lexington.

Xavier University and Eastern now have a trophy to shoot for in a Colt's Model cap and ball pistol of 1850 design. It was purchased early in 1942, was reconditioned and was put up at the matches between the two schools. In both matches Eastern retained the pistol only by the slightest of margins. This pistol will be displayed in the near future in the display case in the Administration Building.

Lieutenant Whitehead will be coach and director of the pistol team and will call for tryouts about the first of November and actual shooting will start as soon as the football season is over and the stadium is again available.

All members of the ROTC unit at Eastern are eligible for places on the team if they can qualify and will be welcomed at the first practice. All men who have any idea they can shoot a pistol should make it a point to try out for the team.

WHO—ME?

Hallucinations are such funny people! Everybody's got 'em! Everybodys from Elmer Davis who thinks there's a straight and narrow path through the dirty debris on the O.W.I. office floor, to Louis Kilgus who thinks this year's crop of Freshies are gonna fall down and worship him the day after Hell Week terminates. Me, oh my! How deluded the human race in general is!

The trouble with the world is—people just don't realize how much trouble there really is! If you get what I mean?

To some peaceful citizens, life is still a perpetual cherry marshmallow sundae. But their Mary isn't in the WAACs or their Johnny wasn't killed at Midway. It's Mary and Johnny's Mom and Pop who keep taking it on the chin, and bounce right back for more! They donate their front-yard iron fence to the scrap drive and conserve on rubber and sugar. The guy with hallucinations just keeps driving his car and eating triple-layer jam cakes. My theory about him is that he needs some Vitamins Plus! He just ain't all there! Before December 7th, lots of us were cat-napping, but since Pearl Harbor, only stuffed animals and their human equivalents are asleep!

Some people are still living in Fairyland. What a jolt some of these dreamers got when they "sailed away for a year and a day—in a beautiful pea-green boat" and it turned out to be the Yorktown!

Do you know, that in spite of all the patriotic panorama of the past ten months, there are actually some human being who pretend to call themselves Americans, who haven't even invested in one ten cent defense stamp!! Have you? You say, "Who, me?" Yeah, YOU!!!

These boys are some of the mainsprings in Eastern's team which some opponents say is the most underrated team to ever come to their institution.

EASTERNS
DEFEATED 7-0
BY MH EAGLES

Second Loss Since '39 Season

The Golden Eagles of Morris-Harvey lived up to their name and defeated Eastern at Charleston, W. Va., Friday night, 7-0. It was the second loss for the Maroons since the 1939 season.

The Eagles put a well-balanced team on the field—a backfield averaging 197 pounds operating behind a 198 pound line.

It was a scrap from start to finish and our boys put up one of the gamest fights in their career but finally succumbed to the attack of the Eagles in the third quarter when the only score of the game was made.

It looked as though Eastern would score early in the first period. On our opening kickoff Morris Harvey fumbled the ball on their own 20 yard line and Eastern recovered. On the first play Sifers hit right tackle for a four yard gain but his run was nullified and Eastern drew a 15 yard penalty for holding.

Several times when Eastern looked as if they were headed for pay dirt they were called back by penalties. Our boys were penalized approximately 85 yards during the fracas.

The Morris-Harvey eleven proved to be one of the toughest teams Eastern has encountered in years. In the third period they drove to the Eastern 20 yard line. Then one of their large backs scampered, with beautiful blocking, across the Eastern goal for the only score of the game.

This week Eastern will attempt to revenge this defeat when they travel to Ohio for a tilt with a new rival, Akron University Zippers. They plan to play this game Friday morning for the benefit of the defense workers in that locality.

SPORTS

LOOSE ENDS

In all of our talk we failed to mention some of the boy who have a big role in the success of our Maroon athletic teams. People can see the part done by the coaches and the players but the trainer and managers are often overlooked. Most schools have trained men whose only responsibility is to serve as a trainer or a manager. Here at Eastern we have some students who fill these jobs capably and they are the main factors that we put a well-gear and physically-fit team on the field.

Gayle McConnell, trainer, who is now a senior, comes to Eastern from Forks of Elkhorn, Kentucky. Gayle, or "Pendulum" as he is sometimes called, has been out there with the boys for the past three years trying with all his might to see that to boys are always in good physical condition for the game on Saturday.

Charles Dorna, or "Opal"—it doesn't matter which you call him—a senior comes to Eastern from Dayton, Kentucky. Charles is well known for his ability on the Maroon basketball team. During the football season, before basketball starts, Charles is out on the field with the boys as a manager. He has an important duty also because it is he who keeps the equipment and uniforms in good shape.

Nathan Moberly, or Nath, is a sophomore from Richmond. Nath is quite an athlete himself, playing in the role of a star at Madison high school. He is working as hard as the seniors mentioned above and when the time comes for their graduation, Nath will assume the responsibility of one of them.

Eastern is proud of these boys. When you begin to mention feats done by the team, don't forget the managers and trainer as a large part of the team's success is made possible by them.

During the sports world of last week we've had upsets and nothing but upsets.

Who in the world picked the Cardinals to win. The bookies didn't. Oh, around the campus there was a guesser or two who favored the Cards.

DID YOU KNOW?—
That Dr. Keith has picked the winners of the World Series for the last nine years.

That St. Louis did not pitch their best pitcher in either series games.

That every player on the Cardinal rostr gets $6,192.50 just for playing five games of baseball and the losers (Yankees) receive $3,351.76.

That the World Series netted the United Service Organizations $362,926.65.

That if the Yanks and Cards had played two more games, the U. S. O. would have received all the receipts of the sixth and seventh games.

That all the starting players for the Cards had never played in World Series competition.

That Lefty Norman, Maroon griddle, had two brothers on the Washington and Lee University gridiron who played the University of Kentucky last week.

That the ramblin' wrecks of Georgia Tech stopped Notre Dame for the first time in 13 years.

That 'Bama and Beorgia Tech

are tied for top place in the south-eastern conference.

That Johnny Beazley, the rookie hero of the World Series, who won two games, is going to his home in Nashville, Tenn., to join the U. S. Marines. If he can toss a hand grenade like he can a baseball, the Japs will be just like the Yanks. As you know the Yanks and the Japs won the first round; but what happened in the next rounds!

That Sergeant Joe Louis and Private Billie Conn will stage a relief fight in the near future.

That Billie Conn is confident that he will lick the Brown Bomber this time.

That the Chicago White Sox won the Chicago series from the National League Chicago Cubs.

That Earle omb, coach of the New York Yankees, is a resident of Madison county.

INTRAMURAL

Hughes Director

Keeping in step with the accelerated college program, the local Education Director Charles Hughes announced that the Eastern Intramural basketball tournament which is to be held in the Weaver Health building two afternoons weekly.

In an effort to get as many boys to participate as possible, Tourney Manager Graham has already planned on a twelve team league, with teams entered representing Beckam, Miller, McCreey and Memorial Halls and one team from town. Three games will be going on simultaneously beginning at 4:15 on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Individual team manager must enter their player roster to Graham before tomorrow noon in order to be eligible for play.
