McPherson Gives Concert; Spain Marvelous Country

Frances Marie McPherson, member of the music department, will present a piano recital Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in Walnut Hall. Miss McPherson has resumed her position at Eastern after a year's leave of absence which she spent in Barcelona, Spain, studying composition and piano at the Academie de Marshall.

Frances McPherson recalls memories of her recent visit to Barcelona.

The program will include 'Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue' by Bach, 'Sonatine' by Ravel, 'Etude Opus 25, No. 3' by Chopin, 'Cancion Danza' by Mompou, 'El Pelele' by Granada, and 'Theme and Variations' and 'Pastorale' both original compositions by Miss McPherson.

Since she was studying, most of her European trip was confined to Spain. She describes the Spanish people as 'marvelous, un-hurried, and very generous'. Their country is very clean, even the port cities.

The day for the Spanish does not begin until 9:30 or 10:00 at which time most everyone begins work. Lunch is at 3:00 followed by tea, consisting of tea, sandwiches, and pastries, at 6:30. Dinner is served at 10:00 p.m. Concerts, theatre productions, and shows begin at 11:00 p.m.

Catholicism is the predominant religion. In Barcelona, there are

Play Tryouts For "Juno and the Paycock"

Mr. Glenn Wilson will direct an Irish play by Sean O'Casey entitled "Juno and the Paycock" in November. Tryouts for the play were held Thursday night at 7:00 in Brock Auditorium. There will be another opportunity to try out for parts in the play tomorrow, Saturday, October 8, at 11:00 a.m.

At the same time Mr. Wilson is selecting a cast for "Juno and the Paycock", he intends to pick a cast for a one-act play which will be presented at Berea College and for an assembly program here. This will give all who try out a better chance to get a part in one of the plays.

Famous 'Tune Detective' Appears In Concert Tuesday

Sigmund Spaeth, America's most popular speaker and writer on music, will be presented at a concert, sponsored by the college, on Tuesday, October 11, at 8:00 p. m. in Hiram Brock Auditorium.

Admission is free, and all students are urged to attend the concert, which is also open to the public. Dr. Spaeth uses a piano to illustrate his talk, which can be called "Music for Everybody", "Music for Fun", or "The Art of Enjoying Music".

For twelve years Sigmund Spaeth has been a regular member of the Metropolitan Opera Quiz, and radio listeners remember him as the famous "Tune Detective", whose unusual career has brought him into intimate contact with all branches of music. He is listed in "Who's Who in America" as a "Writer, Lecturer and Broadcaster", and these are still his most important activities. He has written twenty-eight books; composed the choral setting of Jabberwocky, A Song for Freedom, and many others. His lyrics have contributed to the success of such popular hits as Down South, My Little Nest, and the Donkey Serenade. He now writes a syndicated newspaper column, Music for Everybody, and has a series of television films and educational recordings.

While seated at the piano, talking, playing, and occasionally singing, Dr. Spaeth fully lives up to the implications of his topic, "Music for Fun". He often answers questions from the audience. His program has never failed to stimulate, instruct, and entertain his listeners.

Constance Beaty, Woman's Club of Rye, New York, says "Dr. Spaeth is so versatile, so entertaining and instructive, his humor so refreshing, his personality so dynamic that his audience is completely captivated".

The movie, "Green Fire", regularly scheduled to be shown on

SIGMUND SPAETH

Tuesday, October 11, will be shown instead on Wednesday, October 12.

26th Annual C. K. E. A. Meeting Held Here Today

The 26th annual meeting of the Central Kentucky Education Association is being held on Eastern's campus today, Friday, Oct. 7. Visiting educators from twenty-two counties and nineteen cities in central Kentucky are present for the one-day meeting.

General sessions were held at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in Hiram Brock Auditorium. Sectional meetings were held in the Little Theatre and various classrooms on the campus from 8:30 to 9:15 a.m.

F. D. Wilkerson, principal of Frankfort High School and president of C.K.E.A., presided at the morning session. The principal speaker was Ernestine Gilbreath Carey, author of Cheaper by the Dozen, who spoke on the subject "Did We Say Cheaper?"

Greetings were extended by W. F. O'Donnell, Eastern's president, and Miss Audrey Renfro, of Ravenna, gave a report on the annual NEA meeting to which she was C.K.E.A. delegate. The invocation was given by the Reverend E. N. Perry, minister of the First Baptist Church, Richmond. A brief organ program and group singing, led by James E. VanPurse, music director of Eastern, preceded the general meeting. The business session and election of officers for the coming year was held after the address.

Speaker at the afternoon general session was Willie Snow Ethridge, Louisville author, whose subject was "Future Imperative". Presiding was C. R. Hager, superintendent of Jessamine County schools and vice president of C.K.E.A. The benediction was given by the Reverend W. E. Poore, minister of the First Methodist Church, Richmond.

Curriculum Contracts

All Juniors and Seniors who have not had curriculum contracts prepared should attend to the matter of preparing them this semester. The Dean's office in the Administration Building is now receiving applications for the preparation of these contracts.

Women's Dorms Receive Social Directors

Mrs. Pauline Allen and Mrs. Inez Claxton have been named social directors for Burrum and Sullivan Hall respectively.

Mrs. Allen comes to us from Ashland, Kentucky, where she has been active in civic and church affairs. She is a member of the Christian Church and lives up to her Christian ideals. She served as secretary for seven years in her favorite charitable organization "Friends of Children" whose purpose is to clothe the needy children of Ashland. She was also one of the directors of the Needlework Guild of America whose purpose is similar to the other organization mentioned.

Mrs. Allen attended Berea College for one year and was graduated from Battle Creek College, Battle Creek, Michigan, as a Graduate Dietitian. She served as dietitian for one year in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C. She also held positions in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Stubbenville, Ohio. For the past eleven years, she has been employed as Collector for Magazines with Periodical Publishers Service Bureau, Columbus, Ohio.

To discover Mrs. Allen's main interest or hobby, one only has to take a look at her apartment. She has it beautifully furnished with antiques.

When asked her impression of Eastern, she replied "The girls are so nice and their boy friends are even nicer". Mrs. Allen has one son, Joe, 15, who is now attending the Foundation School at Berea.

Sullivan's Social Director

Mrs. Claxton's home is Clinton, Kentucky, and she also has been very active in church and civic affairs. She is a member of the Baptist Church and has worked actively in P.T.A. and charitable organizations. She served as chairman of the Cancer Fund for five years and was Secretary of the Kentucky Music Teachers Association for two years.

She is a graduate of Union University, Jackson, Tennessee, with a degree in music. She has taught in California and Tennessee and has been a private music teacher for a number of years in Clinton, Kentucky.

Mrs. Claxton has three children, Ann, who is a sophomore at Model High, Bill, a senior at Murray State College, and Mrs. James G. Diener, Honolulu, Hawaii, a Sergeant in the Marine Corps, whose marriage she attended this summer.

When asked her impression of Eastern, she enthusiastically stated "No one can be a stranger at Eastern. The friendly atmosphere both on campus and in the business district is the friendliest I've ever known."

Friday . . .

You remember what I told you at lunch. I was wrong. I almost saited my sandwich with tears because Friday without football or a date or anything is bad. I nearly went home. I'm glad I didn't.

I was standing in line for supper when he came up and stood behind me; you remember I told you about him. I almost dropped my mealbook because you know how much I like him. After the line I went over to the table by the door so I could see people as they came up the stairs; my roommate had gone home so I was eating alone. But I saw him approach and all at once I became terribly interested in my salad.

"May I join you?" he asked. I nodded and he sat down. I can't remember everything said or what the food was like. I just remember his voice and his warm eyes and the way he held his fork.

He didn't really ask me to go out with him. He just took me to the dorm and waited until I signed out. A few leaves floated down in front of us as we walked; a cool wind blew gently; and a dog ran beside us barking. It was dark and the streetlights were like paper lanterns at a party—made the night dim and near to us. A car passed and we waited until it was gone to cross the street. He took my hand and held it warmly in his.

The drug store was almost deserted when we went in. A waitress took our orders indifferently as if she didn't know this was the happiest day of my life. The coffee was in thick white cups and its sugared warmth intoxicated me. King Cole sang from somewhere behind me and time rushed by like a flowing stream, passing too quickly.

We walked back slowly. He gave me his jacket to wear in the cool wind, and he told me about his summer job and the time he won a letter in tennis. Then the porch of the dorm loomed before us and his hand tightened around mine.

When the clock stopped chiming, the door closed behind me as I lifted—minus my heart—up to my room.

What Are Good College Standards?

"When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child—but when I became a man, I put away childish things."

It is very obvious that the majority of the men of Eastern's campus have yet to become men. As young people we all want to be treated as such. In fact, our little egos drop, and a feeling of resentment swells within us all when we are treated as children.

College students are regarded as young adults and are expected to act accordingly, but at times we fail to live up to these standards.

Take the attempted "panty raid" Monday night as an example; rather boorish, wasn't it? To say nothing of the fact that it is beginning to get a little old. Do you place such a demonstration high on your list of good college standards? If so, you have no business here, and actually this collage would be better off without your kind.

Have you stopped to consider the danger involved when a mob goes berserk? Obviously not—otherwise the idea of the "raid" would have never left the men's dormitory.

It all started out in fun, or so it has been rumored, but whenever a gathering as large as the one Monday night goes on a rampage, it is oftentimes difficult to draw the line.

Mobs are not classified as democratic nor do they have a place in the American way of life. Here in this country we get along very well without a disorderly element of the populace.

On Eastern's campus we would like very much to do without this same rabble. It has no place here.

CLASS OR CLUB!

After only three weeks of classes, the typical day for the typical student is something like this: classes from eight until three, committee meetings from three until five, and club meetings until the housemothers of the girls' dormitories begin herding their flocks in for the night. Then the typical (we hope) student tiredly sits down at his desk and for a few moments, conscientiously tries to prepare for the next day's eight to three session. However, the many activities and confusions of the day seem to clutter up his mind so much that he simply cannot concentrate on such complicated things as the binomial theorem or the Battle of Hastings. After an hour or so of staring glassy-eyed at his textbook, he falls into the pattern of all typical students and stumbles wearily to bed.

A student cannot make the most of his college life if he does not participate in some extra-curricular activities. For this reason, Eastern offers a program of many and varied clubs and activities. There are religious groups, honorary societies, and interest organizations. Students may take part also in class activities, service clubs, and be on the staff of the publication groups. To take care of its group of over two thousand students, Eastern has over forty such organizations. They are all worthwhile and merit student participation.

However, the thing we, as students, fail to realize is that we cannot possibly be a part of each of these activities. Life is made up of choices, and this is certainly one area in which we must choose. Some may be able to be active in more activities than others. The amount of extra-curricular activity in which we can participate is determined by the size of the class load and the abilities of the individual student. The thing we must remember is that "there should be moderation, even in excess."

The Journal

The sometime splendor of September is gone, and the almost occult austerity of October nears us on the campus. The world is dying into the harvest for a year. The ends of things, the trifling snuffing out of summer life is in process. The campus will gray and become cheerless. The endless autumn winds will lash the buildings and the trees, scudding leaves into hurried piles at corners and rough edges of things. Fall is with us.

We have seen, now, other campus autumns descend and felt the end breath of the living things around us. At first we were sad. We felt in ourselves the end. But then we also have seen in late March and early April the beginning again of everything that was. So we are no longer sad. We see fall simply as the time it is—the time for change, for rest, as the campus glides itself for its bout with gaiety, come Spring.

But still, October is now. October's bright blue weather and dull gray weather are now. We see fewer people on the Student Union steps, fewer people on the patio, fewer couples snuggling across the lawn. We see and will see more of weeds and heavy clothing. We see the preparation for the agony of winter.

The routine of college life is now getting into swing. The registration campaign is past. We begin to see the points and goals in our classes. The routine of getting up and eating and being in class and sleeping is upon us with the autumn.

We're happier. And perhaps we fail to see what is happening on the campus, except in a fleeting moment, except for that single second when we stopped in front of the library and saw the chilly rustle of the trees in the ravine.

But college cheers us. We move the cheerfulness indoors.

Nine ball; Corner pocket

The air was tense with excitement. The gallery of awed onlookers were silent except for the rustle last week's racing forms and the clank of watch chains against the tile walls. Eastern Recreation Room, Saturday, October 1, 1955.

The betting had been going strongly against the challenger. She had strength and courage, but she lacked the champion's steel nerves and years of experience.

The official blew the warning to call the opponents. The champion appeared from the grille. She had been calmly drinking a glass of tomato juice and chatting with the gentlemen of the press. She was dressed for work—black bermuda shorts, an old tee shirt, and she wore her lucky chalk on a chain around her neck. She looked cool and collected and ready for the battle.

The tense spectators made way as the challenger appeared out of the women's lounge. She was nervous. She left a trail of bitten fingernails in her wake.

The crowd closed in behind her as she walked up to the table and dropped her cue stick.

"Now you both know the rules," said the official. "I want a clean break; don't tear the felt; no coaching from the audience; shake hands; come out fighting; and may the best shot win."

The champion flipped a coin for the break. She dropped it, crawled under the table after it, and came out yelling. Someone on the challenger's side had slipped her a two-headed nickel.

The official produced an official quarter and she tried again. Again she dropped it, but a man in the gallery stepped on it. The official ruled fair. The challenger called tails; it was heads.

The champion wiped the cue ball on the seat of the bermuda shorts and placed it on the table just so. She put her stick into position, took careful aim, shot and missed the triangle of brightly colored balls completely.

The challenger made the number one ball in the corner pocket. Cheers broke out in the gallery. The battle raged. Twenty-seven minutes later the champ made the two ball. Every other ball had been made at least twice; there were thirty-four scratches on record; they lost the cue ball twice.

The match went on and on. Slowly the spectators dribbled away. When the game was 5 hours and 14 minutes old, the determined players and disgruntled officials remained alone in the shadowy "rec room."

Finally the challenger made the eight ball, tying the match and the official stopped the game. Both players were tired and his left flat foot hurt.

The game was over. The embattled champion and challenger retired to the showers.

No decision. The game will go down in history—if not the worst, certainly the longest game of billiards on record.

We take our joy of living into the campus—the different rooms but the people—we are Eastern—the people will remain.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Sibley

"THIS IS THE MOST IMPORTANT CLASS YOU'LL BE TAKING—SO I'LL EXPECT A LITTLE EXTRA WORK FROM YOU THIS TERM."

BEDTIME STORY FOR SMALL CHILDREN

There was a child went forth with nearly one-third of the others who lived with him in that place. They ran about making noise unto the skies and finally came as elephants and charge across the fields to two large buildings in front of which they stopped. They stood there on one foot and the other, staring at the buildings, hurling shoutings at the sky and then went home to be tucked into bed.

World at Eastern's Door

FOREIGN LANGUAGE FOREIGN STUDENTS FOREIGN RELATIONS

The romance and interesting study of foreign languages await Eastern students behind three doors on the campus. Eastern's foreign language teachers tell why the knowledge of foreign languages is useful and pleasant to know. They did deep into this matter of studying foreign language.

Two corners of the world send students to Eastern this semester. Japan and Cuba send young ladies to work beside American students; to learn our language and our customs; to speak of their native cultures and ours and perhaps a mingling; to enrich our campus experience by just knowing each other.

Tedious assignments in your social science, government, geography, foreign language or economics class? Do you lack sufficient material or information? Danderuff?

This may not be the complete answer to your prayers but here is one suggestion that might help. Take a few hops over to the International Relations Center and you will find material that concerns practically every phase of life in every state, nation, or island in the world. And all the material is free for the using.

One of Forty . . .

The Center was established here a year ago last May by the Foreign Policy Association of New York. There are forty such Centers located throughout the country, but Eastern's is the only one that distributes material to the teachers of Kentucky simply for the asking.

During the past year, the main purpose of the Center was to act as a distribution center; however in the anticipation that it will soon receive grants from other foundations, the Center has undertaken several projects that are unusual in the country.

First, plans are underway to set up several centers throughout Kentucky on the high school level. The first center of this type will be set up in Harlan County.

Another project, which should be of great concern to Eastern, is the establishment of a research library. This job concerns the collecting and filing of all types of materials for future use. This material will be accessible to all students.

Such projects as the two just mentioned present many problems and complications but they are slowly being worked out by a staff of capable students under the guidance of the Center's director, Professor Glenn McLean.

Where to Find It . . .

The Center is located on the basement floor of the Library, facing the Student Union Building.

The Center is proud of its accomplishments but it still has a long road to travel before it can gain all its goals. Everyone at the Center is doing his best to make it a success, but it will only be a battle half-won unless we have your support and suggestions. So, how about coming over and browsing around? We're certain you'll enjoy it!

(Editor's Note: The conformance and editorializing are the work of Betty Mitchell, author of the story, and Progress staff reporter on international affairs.)

Maroons Surprise Murray

Eastern's Maroons, aroused after having their 15 game undefeated string snapped a week ago by Middle Tennessee, came roaring back Saturday night to down the favored Murray. Thoroughbreds 21-6 at Carlisle Cutchin Stadium in Murray before an estimated audience of 5500.

Glenn Presnell's Maroons, young and inexperienced, again displayed determination and—for the first time this season—teamwork, in copping this important Ohio Valley Conference tussle. The Maroons took advantage of Thoroughbred miscues and unleashed an impressive aerial attack to surprise the partisan crowd on hand at Murray.

Horace Harper, junior halfback from Elberton, Ga., sidelined with a knee injury until last week, probably could be termed Eastern's brightest star. Harper, last year's leading punter, was outstanding on defense and superb on the limited offense he played.

Tom Schulte, sophomore end from Newport, a second team all-conference choice last fall as a freshman, tallied two of the Maroons' trio of touchdowns, while the third was scored by signal-caller Bobby Lenderman.

The Thoroughbreds threatened twice in the first half, getting to the 10 once and the 24 of Eastern the other time. But, the Maroons' aggressive defense thwarted both mild threats.

Eastern Leads 7-0 at Half

Eastern scored with 1:52 remaining in the first half when Tom Schulte gathered in a Bobby Lenderman pass on the 14 and raced across for the score, the pass play covering a total of 31 yards. Ernie Rigrish kicked the point and the Maroons led by 7-0.

During the first half action, Eastern's rushing offense was held to a mere seven net yards. But, with Lenderman and Polly's accurate passing and the hard play of a number of linemen, the Maroons managed to hold onto that 7-0 halftime advantage. Murray, meanwhile, racked up 56 yards on the ground and 119 yards via the passing route, connecting on 8 of 9 passes during the first half.

Sebest Intercepts Pass

The Maroons iced the contest early in the third period when John Sebest, "Old Reliable", grabbed a Murray pass on the 31 and (Continued on Page Five)

Last Saturday night at Murray, we saw a new Eastern football team battle the favored Thoroughbreds sixty minutes and emerge 21-6 victors in the important Ohio Valley Conference game.

By now, we mean that the Maroons, for the first time this fall, showed teamwork and organization in downing the good team of Murray. In the two previous games, Presnell's athletes have shown determination and plenty of fight, but they, being a young and inexperienced club, played more as individualists and not as an organized unit. We are happy to see that the Maroons have found themselves this early in the season. Now, we're ready for the rest of the giants on our schedule.

THE MAROONS' LOSS to Middle Tennessee a couple of Fridays ago was Eastern's first in regular season play since October 16, 1953, when Youngstown downed the local eleven by a 21-19 margin at Hanger Stadium. It was the first defeat suffered at the hands of a conference opponent since October 10, 1953, when Tennessee Tech, the Maroons' opponents tomorrow night, won by a 7-0 count. The Middle Tennessee win was their (Tennessee's) first in the three year rivalry of the two teams and also was Glenn Presnell's first regular season loss in his two years at the helm of the Maroons.

FOR THE BENEFIT of you good people who may not know Coach Presnell personally, we thought it would be a good idea to briefly introduce the popular Maroon coach to you and give a little background on him.

"Press" received his B. S. degree from the University of Nebraska in 1928. In '27, he was named All-American halfback, and at the close of the season, played in the East-West All-Star Game.

After graduation, Presnell was player-coach of the pro Ironton Tanks for the seasons of 1928, '29, and '30. In 1931, he joined the Portsmouth Spartans of the National Football League and stayed there through the season of '33. In '33, he led the league in scoring and was voted a unanimous choice for All-League halfback. In 1934, Presnell joined the Detroit Lions and played three seasons. He kicked a 54 yard field goal in 1934, which stood as the record for 19 years in the pro leagues. In 1935, the Lions won the National League championship and played the College All Stars at Chicago.

Presnell began his college coaching career in 1937 when he was backfield coach at the University of Kansas. In 1938, he returned to his alma-mater, Nebraska, as backfield coach and served in that capacity until 1942, when he was named head coach. During his stint as backfield coach, the Cornhuskers played in the Rose Bowl. In 1943, and '44, he served as a Naval officer, coaching the backfield at North Carolina Pre-Flight.

In 1946, Presnell returned to Nebraska as backfield coach before coming to Eastern in the fall of 1947 to coach the backfield and served under head coach Tom Samuels. He remained backfield coach at Eastern for seven years before being named head coach in 1954. In his "rookie" year, Presnell's Maroons went undefeated and played, for the first time in Eastern history, in a post-season bowl game, bowing to Omaha 7-6. Glenn Presnell has made many friends in and around the Blue Grass State during his stay at Eastern and has gained a reputation that very few coaches ever achieve.

We would like you to join with us as we wish Coach Glenn Presnell, truly a great coach and a greater man, all the luck in the world.

AN INTERESTING FACT that you people may not know is that the Maroons are very popular away from home. Last fall, attendance records were broken practically everywhere Eastern played as football fans came in doves to see the Maroons, one of the top small college clubs in the country, display their powerful brand of football.

Here are some of the attendance figures of last year's away-from-home games. Over 6500 turned out at Murfreesboro, Tennessee; at Youngstown, Ohio, over 12,000 braved a record rainfall to see the Maroons in action; 4,000 packed Morehead's small stadium; at Bowling Green, Ky., when the Maroons clinched the conference crown, a record-breaking 8,000 watched; and, the climax of a great campaign came when over 13,000 jammed into the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida, to see the Maroons edged out by Omaha 7-6.

In the two games played away from home this fall, about 16,000 fans have watched the Maroons in action, knowing they are an inexperienced team.

We are pleased with the showing of the college students at the Maroons' home opener against Middle Tennessee, but many of you stayed away—or went home. If our football team can be so popular away from home, why not even more popular at home??? Of course, our stadium seats only 4,000, but there is no reason why we cannot pack folks on both sides of the field. Again, may we say, when the Maroons return home for four consecutive games at Hanger Stadium, "Let's Support Our Maroons."

EASTERN'S BIGGEST AND LITTIEST—Bobby Lenderman, diminutive 5 ft. 6 in., 148 pound senior quarterback, is pictured talking over the prospects of the Maroons in their remaining seven games this fall with Earl "Tiny" Knight, who tips the scales at 268 pounds, exactly 120 pounds more than Lenderman. Lenderman, a native of Mobile, Alabama, who now makes his home in Pepsacola, Florida, is the Maroons' leading passer and ball-carrier, while Knight, a freshman from Waverly, Ohio, is a valuable second string tackle who has seen considerable action in the games thus far in the young season.

Maroons Meet Strong Tenn. Tech Tomorrow Night

Another Upset Sought By Eastern

Eastern's Maroons, after finally finding the range last week against Murray, have a mighty big job on their hands tomorrow night when they meet a powerful Tennessee Tech eleven at Cookeville, Tennessee.

Tennessee Tech, loaded down with lettermen back from their good 1954 team and many transfers, have run roughshod over their three opening opponents, Florence State, Murray, and Morehead, and will be seeking revenge over last year's 14-7 defeat handed them by the Maroons. Last Friday night, the Golden Eagles trounced Morehead 55-0 to prove to other members of the conference that they are aiming for the title this year.

The Maroons, who own a 1-1-1 mark for the season, will go into the contest as the underdog, for the fourth straight week. But, Coach Glenn Pressnell's Maroons will shoot the works against Tech, hoping to disappoint the expected crowd of 8,000 who will pack the stadium in Cookeville for the Eagles' homecoming affair.

Eastern Leads Series

Tomorrow night's game will mark the tenth time these two teams have met on the gridiron. The Maroons lead the series by a wide margin—seven games to two for Tech. The Tennesseans downed the Maroons by a 7-0 score in 1953; one of the Maroons' two losses that season, and that marked the last time, until this year when Middle Tennessee beat the Maroons, that a conference foe had defeated the local gridders.

The Eastern-Tech rivalry began back in 1937 when Eastern took a 7-0 decision. In 1942, the Maroons won again by 13-0 and in '45, Eastern nosed out the Eagles 14-12. The Maroons won by 13-0 in '46, and in 1950, the highest score in the series was rung up as Eastern walloped the Golden Eagles by a 47-7 margin. In '51, Eastern won again by 15-14 and in 1952 Tech tasted their first win over the Maroons by a 28-14 count. The 1953 score was 7-0 and, in 1954, Eastern's conference champs edged out the Eagles 14-7 at Hanger Stadium.

Pressnell Pleased With Maroons

Coach Pressnell was very much pleased with the performance of his gridders in last week's 21-6 upset victory over the Murray Thoroughbreds. The popular Ma-

Murray Shocked

Continued From Page Four, returned it 24 yards before being pushed out of bounds on the seven. Rigrish moved to the one, from which point Lenderman sneaked over for the score. Rigrish's kick was again true and the Maroons led 14-0 with 10:58 left in the third period.

Murray fans were brought to their feet early in the fourth period when Carl Walker returned an Eastern punt 68 yards for apparently, a touchdown. But, the officials ruled that Walker stepped out of bounds on the 44.

Schulte Scores Second Touchdown With 6:25 to go in the game, a 19 yard Polly to Schulte aerial climaxed an 81 yard drive by the Maroons. After Stripling had punted to the Maroons' 19 and Ronnie Polly had picked up six to get to the 25, Horace Harper broke loose and scampered 52 yards before being pulled down from behind on the Murray 23. Two rushings attempts then netted a minus-five yards and Polly tossed to Schulte for nine to the 19. Polly then heaved a perfect strike to Schulte in the end zone for the score. Rigrish's kick was again true and the Maroons led 21-0.

The Thoroughbreds' lone touchdown came as a result of an intercepted pass, a 15 yard roughness penalty against the Maroons, and a pass interference penalty. Phillips intercepted Lenderman's pass on the 49 and ran back to the 41. A 15 yard penalty moved the ball to the 26 and interference was called on a pass play on the 18. Three plays later, Utley, Racer halfback, went six yards for the score. Daniels' kick was wide and, with 1:32 remaining in the game, the score read 21-6.

important conference clash earlier this week. At the flanks will be sophomore Tom Schulte, 185 pounder from Newport, and Paul Thomas, 184 pound sophomore from New Boston, Ohio. Freshman Jim Patton, 200 pound husky will open at a tackle while junior Don Hortman, 214 pounds, will start at the right tackle. Ernest Marchetti, 198 pound sophomore from Mobile, Alabama, and Don Boyer, 205 pound senior from Ironton, Ohio, will be the guards and Castle, a 205 pound junior from Paintsville, will open at center.

Senior Bobby Lenderman, 148 pounder from Mobile, Alabama, will again call the signals. At left half will be 187 pound sophomore John Sebest, from Duquesne, Pa., while Horace Harper will start, for the first time this season, at the right half. Harper is a 5 ft. 8 in., 160 pound junior from Elberton, Georgia. At fullback will be Ernie Rigrish, 178 pound senior from Portsmouth, Ohio.

The Maroons left this morning by chartered bus for Cookeville. They are expected to return late Sunday afternoon.

Next week, the Maroons journey to Omaha, Nebraska, to meet their January 1st Tangerine Bowl opponents, the Omaha Indians. They return to Hanger Stadium on October 21st to meet the Morehead Eagles in the battle for the "Old Hawg Rifle."

The Maroons should be in good physical condition for the important conference contest. Fullback Roy Hortman, who missed the Murray game, due to a bruised shoulder, is expected to be ready for action tomorrow night. Guard Jerry Boyd, who had had back luck from the start this fall, will be ready for some action. Boyd has been nursing an injured knee for the past couple of weeks, which sidelined him from the Murray tilt, but may possibly be ready for Tech.

Coach Pressnell was hoping this week that Randolph Consiglia, an experienced guard who saw considerable service last fall, will be ready for some limited duty. Ralph has been out for the season so far with a bad knee. "Bozo" Costle, rugged center, received a bruised chest last week, but will be ready for the contest.

Probable Lineup Announced

Coach Pressnell announced his probable starting lineup for the Eastern's young Maroons, undefeated in 15 consecutive regular season games, dropped a 21-14 decision to Middle Tennessee's Blue Raiders Friday night, September 23, in an important Ohio Valley Conference encounter at Hanger Stadium.

The Maroons lost no time in scoring their first touchdown as John Sebest, left halfback, climaxed a 70 yard drive by going over from the 8. Quarterback Bobby Lenderman hit Sebest with a long aerial which covered 57 yards, to set up the score. Two plays later, Sebest scored. Ernie Rigrish booted the extra point and the Maroons led by 7-0 with 10:40 left in the opening period.

Middle Tennessee tallied their first marked with 4:54 remaining in the second canto when the Raiders recovered an Eastern fumble on the 22, and took advantage of the miscue. Eight plays later, quarterback Sid Corban sneaked over from the one. George Hayel's kick was true and the score was deadlocked 7-7.

With only 25 seconds remaining in the first half, Middle Tennessee scored its second touchdown. A pass interception on the 21 set the stage, five plays later, Corban flipped to Akin for 11 yards and the score. Reynolds kicked the point and the Raiders led 14-7 to account for the first half scoring.

Maroons March 80 Yards

The Maroons came back strong in the second half when they marched 80 yards in 14 plays to tie the game up with Roy Hortman, second string fullback, going over from the 2. The drive was featured by a pair of Lenderman to Schulte and Thomas passes good for 16 yards apiece and Hortman's 22 yard dash which set up the score. Rigrish's kick was again true and the score was tied up at 14-14 with 3:36 left in the third quarter.

The Blue Raiders iced the contest late in the fourth period when Sid Corgan caught the Maroons in a 9-2 defense on the Middle Tennessee 33 yard line and sent three receivers out for a pass play. Corban spotted G. E. McCormick in the open and hit the left end on the 40, from which point McCormick simply ran the remaining 40 yards to paydirt. Haley kicked the extra point and the score read 21-14 with 6:25 left in the game.

Eastern Threatens

The Maroons brought their followers to their feet when, with only seconds to play, halfback Bobby Thompson got 22 yards to the 43. The Raiders then drew a 15 yard roughness penalty, placing the ball on the 25.

WHAT'S THIS?
For solution, see paragraph below.

A FLIGHT OF IMAGINATION prompted the Droodle above—it's titled: Flying saucer with Lucky-smoking crew. But it's a down-to-earth fact that Luckies taste better than any other cigarettes—and for down-to-earth reasons. First-of all, Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that light, mild tobacco is toasted to taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, "Glurg shrdlu!" (In saucer language, that means, "For taste that's out of this world, light up a Lucky!")

NEWS from our ALUMNI

SUMMER SOJOURN

Miss Connie B. McAuley, Kona, Kentucky, class of 1953, spent the summer in Europe visiting England, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Monaco, and France. Connie is employed as an algebra and geometry teacher in the Fleming-Neon High school, Fleming, Ky.

Miss Doris Ann Horn, class of '54, Saco, Ky., is now employed by the Letcher County Board of Education in the Hemphill Graded School.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE SEEKS 'LOST' ALUMNI

Eastern has now 5,830 graduates. Of these approximately 1,000 are "lost" to the alumni office, their mail having been returned marked "address unknown."

To Publish Directory

Last summer the Executive Committee of the Alumni Association undertook a search for the "lost 1000", in preparation for the publication next January of a complete "Directory of Eastern Alumni" as a part of Eastern's 50th anniversary celebration next year.

The Committee first directed the nearly 5,000 alumni whose addresses are known to fill out a questionnaire giving accurate and up-to-date information about themselves and their families. It then appropriated funds for postage, envelopes, and clerical help to aid in the search for the lost 1000.

Search Committees Set Up

A chairman was appointed in every Kentucky county where there were as many as five alumni. This chairman was furnished a list of the alumni who were thought to be in that county, and was asked to choose a committee to serve with him or her. These committees were asked to do three things: first, to contact all graduates in the county and to ask them to be sure to fill in and return the questionnaires being sent to them by T. C. Gilbert, president of the Alumni Association; second, to take the list of the lost 1000 and help the Alumni Association locate them; and third, to get a news story of their search in their local paper or papers.

Results Gratifying

The results have been gratifying beyond the fondest hopes of the Executive Committee. More than 200 of the lost 1000 have been found. Hundreds of other addresses have been corrected, names of married women changed, and junior alumni listed. In fact, the office staff is convinced that Eastern alumni either do not pay their rent or else receive promotions very rapidly. Nothing else could account for the numerous and frequent changes in address.

The staff is also convinced that more Eastern alumnae marry than women from any other group of similar age.

Letters Mirror Enthusiasm

The following sample comments from members of the search committees mirror their satisfaction at the results achieved:

"I've had wonderful help and have really enjoyed it"—Mrs. J. G. Howard.

"Our committee met on Friday at my home. Everyone present was most cooperative and willing"—Mrs. Ruth Knarr Yerkey.

"Just when is the deadline on this? I want to keep working until I have exhausted all possible sources of information"—Inez Henry.

"The names checked have been contacted. We have mailed cards to those out of the county and shall keep working on the few we have not located"—Mary Rice Cox.

"Have personally contacted all graduates in Bath County and found one lost alumnus. Thank you for asking me to serve as chairman. I've enjoyed being able to do something for Eastern. Wish I could have been more help"—Mrs. Ewell Arrasmith.

"I know every creek, gap, or wide place in the road from Jenkins to the Perry County line—I hope we get results"—Mrs. Lundy Adams (Mary Ann Patton).

"At our Teachers' Work Shop each graduate of Eastern was asked to fill out and return the questionnaire from Mr. Gilbert. Twenty-two alumni were visited, and the families of others who have moved have been contacted"—Mrs. Ethel Chestnut Owens.

"My best wishes to the entire staff on this work. If I can be of any further service, don't fail to let me know"—Neil Wilson.

"I am having lots of fun talking to so many old friends on the list you sent. The response has been fine"—Mrs. E. Dick Roberts (May Kenney).

"I certainly hope our lost alumni have been and will be found. I have enjoyed helping in this work and thank you again for the honor of being asked to do so"—Mrs. James O. Brewer (Virginia Arnold).

"I have contacted all Fleming County graduates whose names you sent. I hope the information I am sending will be of some help. There are two more people to look over the 'lost' list. I will forward any clues that they can give"—Mrs. Bernard Dorsey (Martha Eubank).

"I have surely enjoyed helping with this project"—Mrs. E. E. Elam (Fern Feltner).

One Black Sheep

Perhaps the most interesting report was from O. L. Mullikin, 1910, retired superintendent of Vanceburg Independent School. Three of his quotes will illustrate:

"Mr. .... is a good man wherever he is. His father was a Presbyterian minister. No, Miss ..... did not marry me, but she did move to West Virginia. Our friend ..... robbed a bank a few years ago. Is that the game you trained him for?"

Many committees wrote or called every member on their lists. Some, like Mrs. Miller of Boyle County, Miss Herbst of Boyd County, Mrs. McNamara of Montgomery, and Mrs. Crossfield of Anderson County, were especially helpful in locating lost alumni from outside their own county lists.

DORMITORIES SELECT GOVERNING BODIES

The men's dormitory council is being organized under the direction of the Dean of Men, Martin Keen. The council is to be the governing body of the five dormitories—Miller, McCreary, Beckham, Memorial, and the barracks area. It consists of one member from each dormitory, Miller, McCreary, Memorial, two from each floor, and one from each barracks. Dean Keen feels that "any dormitory should be an organized body and that the Men's Dormitory Council should organize them and help them to realize that they have a voice in governing themselves."

Newly elected officers of the men's dormitory for the year are: president, Ronnie Pellegrin; vice president, Jack Adams; secretary and treasurer, Brooks. According to president Ronnie Pellegrin, the purpose of the organization is "to bring harmony and mutual understanding among the men of Eastern." The principles of the governing body will be similar to those of the University of Kentucky. At the moment the ground is being developed, but it has been proven by other institutions. Paul McBrayer, football coach, is acting as advisor of the group. Officers of Burnam Hall's dormitory for upperclass women, House Council for this year are Virginia Baker, president; Reggy Baker, vice president; Nellie Whalen, secretary; and Wilma Brammel, treasurer. The first meeting was held Monday night, October 3. The purpose of the organization is "for the government and the social direction of the residents of the halls and to promote better friendship, citizenship, and citizenship at large." Mrs. Emma Y. Case, advisor of women, is advisor, and Pauline Allen, social director, is sponsor.

The present time the house council for Sullivan Hall, dormitory for freshmen women, is under development. It will be similar to the council of Burnam Hall.

Harrison County Club Elects Officers

Harrison County Club recently elected officers for the school year. Morris Gross was elected president; Joe Cloud, vice president; Barbara Bad, treasurer; and one McKendrick, secretary. Johnson was elected chair of the social committee.

Officers of the club for the year are: president, Morris Gross; vice president, Joe Cloud; treasurer, Barbara Bad; secretary, McKendrick; and Johnson, chair of the social committee. The program was broadcast on Friday, October 6, over WEKY. There are 125 members in the club. Dr. L. G. Kennamer, geography department, is sponsor of the club.

Meet The World Through World Affairs

Eastern meets the world through the World Affairs Club, which was founded in 1927 by Dr. L. G. Kennamer, professor of geography and geology, and is the oldest club on Eastern's campus.

The main purposes of the World Affairs Club are (1) to promote understanding and good will among the nations and people of the world and to extend knowledge of international relations to the students of Eastern, and (2) to bring to our campus and this community outstanding authorities on international problems.

During the year, the World Affairs Club sponsors many speakers from foreign countries, who address the students in assembly.

October 28 and 29 are the dates for the World Affairs Club Convention, which is to be held on Eastern's campus. Invitations have been sent to all the colleges in Kentucky. The World Affairs Club extends a hearty invitation to all students to attend the convention meetings. The theme of this conference is to be "The United Nations—Its Past and Future in World Affairs". The convention will include a tour of The International Relation Center, directed by Glenn McLain, member of the history department; a round-table discussion; a dinner at the Glydon Hotel, at which Christopher H. Phillips, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for International Organizational Affairs, will be the speaker; also there will be a tea in Walnut Hall, supper in the Blue Room; a welcome address by W. F. O'Donnell, president of the college, and a coke session.

Qualifications for membership are a 1.5 scholastic standing, six hours in geography or nine hours in social science, and a vote of the club members. Also, associate membership may be obtained by attending five successive meetings. Honorary membership may be given by a majority vote of the club. This year Setsuko Hayashi and Michiko Kanno from Japan; and Angela "Leta" Diaz from Cuba are honorary members.

The officers of the World Affairs Club are: president, Patti Foyma; vice-president, Don Redford; secretary, Virginia Fugate; treasurer, Carl Weddle; reporter, Billy Jane Osborne; and social chairman, Sara Bishop.

Music Notes

James E. VanPeursem, orchestra conductor, announces that last year's ensembles have been combined into an orchestra. Last year, it was necessary to break the orchestra into ensembles because of a lack of strings sufficient for a full orchestra. A large number of this year's string players are from a string class conducted last year by Jane Campbell, member of the music department.

Music Club

The Music Club, an organization for music majors or minors, has elected John Mayer, president, John Largent, vice-president, Bonnie Osborne, secretary, and Branch "Chuck" Carty, treasurer. Plans have been discussed for the presentation of both an operetta and a variety show given by music students. Definite plans and dates will be announced at a later date.

Messiah Rehearsals

The first rehearsal for the 24th annual presentation of the Messiah, to be given in Hiram Brock Auditorium on December 11, met with enthusiastic response. James E. VanPeursem, director, announced that a membership of 200 is expected. The Eastern orchestra, assisted by members from Berea, will accompany the group.

Mr. VanPeursem urges all freshmen to attend the Monday night rehearsals, and to make the Messiah a regular part of your activities while at Eastern. A cordial invitation is also extended to the upperclassmen and town people.

The soloists will be announced at a later date.

Resolve To Join Debate

The debate team meets every Tuesday at 4:00 p.m., in room 19 of the Roark Building, under the guidance of Victor Venetozzi, a member of the English department. Membership is open to all students desiring to participate.

Resolved: That the non-agricultural industries of the United States should guarantee their employees an annual wage. That is the intercollegiate resolution this year and practice sessions will be open all semester to anyone wishing to learn fundamentals of debate. Actual participation is not required.

McPherson Visits Spain

four Protestant churches, two of which have English speaking services and two Spanish speaking services. The Protestants conduct their services very much the same as we do but they cannot advertise their program outside the church.

Parisian Styles

The dress of the country is very similar to ours. Their designs are Parisian and are slightly advanced to the United States in the latest styles. Ready-made clothing is not very well constructed and since tailoring is very reasonable, a larger percentage of their clothes are tailor made.

They don't have steady heat and at least two days out of the week, they are without electricity. Because of lack of heat they have 'brazeros' sitting on the floor of the rooms. These are filled with carbon and crushed olive seeds to provide a terrific heat.

Street Music

Miss McPherson also states that Spain is 'the most musical country I have ever seen'. Guitar players are on almost every street corner and street dances, in which everyone dances in the street, take place at least once a week. The dance bands are composed of wind instruments very similar to our own instruments. There are four or five musical concerts every week.

The food is similar to ours except a larger variety of sea foods are served in varied and fancy dishes. The meals are fabulous and much cheaper than ours. The national dish is 'paella'. This is a casserole composed of rice, chicken, sausage, pork chop, quib muscle, shrimp, and olives. This is usually served as a first course and is considered a 'poor man's dinner'. They have little or no frozen or canned food.

The Spanish people and customs so impressed Miss McPherson that she recommends Spain as a 'marvelous place to study or vacation'. She also adds, 'I hope someday to return to Spain'.
