HORACE MANN IS ORGANIZED

Officers Are Chosen and Program Given Plans For Year Made

ALEXANDER PRESIDENT

The Horace Mann Literary Society completed its organization Thursday night, September 29. The following officers were elected: Chester Alexander, president; Luther Skaggs, vice president; Lillian Goodpaster, secretary; P. W. Duncan, sergeant-at-arms; Ira Bell, chorister. We are fortunate in having Mr. Smith Park as faculty advisor.

A very delightful program was rendered Thursday, October 6. Many of the old members are back in the ranks of Horace Mann this year. The Horace Mann is the oldest and largest literary society in Eastern. The new students of Eastern are urged to unite with this organization.

A constructive program is planned for the year. Special emphasis will be placed on public speaking, debating, various kinds of music and dramatic reading. A male quartet has been recently organized which will add to the variety of the programs. Every college student is cordially invited to attend the Horace Mann Thursday night, October 13, and get a sample of the work offered by the organization.

Maroon Grid Team Meets Wesleyan

Tomorrow the Maroon football team will go to Winchester to meet the Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers in the third game of the season. Arrangements have been made to take as many students as care to go.

The business office has arranged to send the local Exchange Band to this game. This band is made up of some thirty boys that know how to coax music from their respective instruments. The double attraction, a football game and such a splendid band, is sufficient reason to cause every red blooded football fan to be on hand for the initial kick off.

This game will likely be as interesting as the Centre game, altho the Eastern entry intends to bring home the "pig skin". Coach Hembree and the boys have been putting all they have into practice this week. Tomorrow they will give all to win the game.

Leave off your courting and school work for three or four hours, load into one of the cars and go over and show some of the same brand of pep that was liberated last Saturday. With that kind of backing the Maroon squad will tame the Wesleyan Panther.

TRIP TO WEST PINNACLE

Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock several cars left the campus bound for West Pinnacle. The party reached the top of the pinnacle about 5:30 and left it at 7:30, reaching home by 9 o'clock. Those who enjoyed the trip were Misses Corynne Lowe, Maye Waltz, Augusta Daugherty, Isabel Speaks, Bess Moore, Frances Hoover, Mary Floyd, Marian Weber, Katherine Roberts and Grace Veale; Messrs. James Saunders, Roy Gaud, Swepton Clayton, N. G. Durr, A. J. Lawrence, William Keene, Reed Walby, Roy Staton and Dr. Russell Todd. The out of town members of the party were Mr. Roy Gaud and Mr. Reed Walby.

Yankee Star

Earl Combs

Earl Combs, star Yankee center fielder, is an Eastern product. He came to Eastern along back in 1917 and spent some time here as a student. While here he was a member of the Maroon basketball and baseball teams. It was here that he played his first baseball under the direction of a coach.

Earl was born in Peabworth, Owsley county, May 14, 1901. He lived there until he came here as a student with the intentions of making a teacher. After he started playing professional ball he built a fine home here in Richmond and has lived here since.

Thru the summer months of 1919 he played semi-professional ball in the coal fields of Eastern Kentucky.

Earl was found in the Blue Grass League, since disorganized, in a Lexington uniform. In 1922 he started his career as a Louisville Colonel. From there his climb was fast but sure. The Colonels sold him to the New York Yankees. He made the grade and stuck in the big show from the very first. For the last two years he has been known as a regular, playing between the far-famed "Babe" Ruth and Bob Meusel.

Earl played very consistent ball thruout the world series that has just closed and was the outstanding star of the last game. The Yanks won the last game by a 4-3 count. Earl made three of the Yankee scores, coming in with the winning run on a wild pitch made by the Pirate pitcher. His fielding average for the series was perfect. His batting average was .312.

School Orchestra Outlook is Bright

Eastern's Orchestra has begun rehearsals and is meeting Tuesday evening of each week at 6 o'clock in University Building. The outlook for this work is very good indeed; a number of last year's members are back and these together with some very promising new talent augurs well for the years work. A part of the school orchestra is furnishing music for the school picture shows and it may be possible that they will assist in supplying the music for the Friday evening games in the gymnasium.

GOES TO STANFORD

Miss Nancy Mae Elliott of Somerset a former student at Eastern and who finished the course for Music Supervisors at the Louisville Conservatory of Music last June has been appointed Supervisor of Music in the Public Schools at Stanford, Ky. Miss Elliott will be remembered by former students as a very talented musician; besides having unusual ability as a pianist she possessed a very fine contralto voice. While at Eastern Miss Elliott had a number of positions in the department of Music and was an active member of the Madrigal Club.

Y. W. C. A. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

May Kenny is Chosen As President; Designates Cabinet Personnel

MORNING WATCH AT 7

The Young Women's Christian Association, which is one of the largest and most wide awake organizations on the campus, held its regular devotional service in Sullivan Hall Sunday evening. The service was opened with scripture reading by Lorene Payne, the leader. A special feature of the evening was a solo by Miss Williams with Mary Kathryn Burns at the piano. After prayer by Louise Conrad a business session was held and the following officers were elected:

May Kenney, a favorite with all the girls, was chosen president. May has had wide experience in Y. W. work and is very capable of holding the office of president. She spent the summer at a Y. W. graduate school at Blue Ridge, N. C., and is anxious to start the work here with the new ideas which she has.

Another former student and Y. W. worker, Susan Helm, was elected vice president. Susan is already making plans for this year's work, and we who know her well are looking forward to them with eagerness.

The responsible position of treasurer was conferred upon Louise Conrad. If there is anything which Louise does better than anything else it is keeping the keeping of accounts, so we know we have a capable and dependable person to see after the pecuniary interests of the organization.

Carrie Kirk, a new student, was elected secretary and Mrs. H. R. Sale, a woman whom everyone admires, was chosen as under-graduate representative.

The following persons were designated by the president to serve as cabinet members:

Ruth Kanarr, chairman of program committee; Lorene Payne, chairman of membership committee; Mary Daniel, chairman of social committee; Hallie Payne, chairman of publicity committee; Doris Spellman, chairman of world fellowship committee; Mildred Redding, chairman of visitation committee; Alma Douden, Evelyn Davis, pianists.

Morning Watch, which is held every morning at 7 o'clock in Sullivan Hall, has been well attended the past week. Every girl is cordially invited to be present each morning.

USE SONG SLIDES

The Sims Song Slides that were recently purchased by the school and which were so well received by the students at the summer session will be used at frequent intervals during the school year. These slides contain the words and music of well known songs and are projected on the screen, doing away with the necessity of using song books. For community singing they are unexcelled as the singers are able to see the words without difficulty and to follow the music without handling the music score. They are widely used in a great many of the schools over the country. Eastern is to be congratulated on adding these to their musical equipment.

Eastern Dean

HOMER E. COOPER, A.B., A.M., PH.D., Dean of Faculty

In the summer of 1924, on the resignation of Mr. Donovan as dean, Dr. Cooper was elected to that position.

Dean Cooper's experience and schooling had served admirably as preparation for the work of the deanship. He had been reared on a farm among the kind of people with whom he works at Eastern. All of his elementary schooling was obtained in a one-room country school. In this school he was fortunate enough to have teachers who taught well and at the same time had enough scholarship to give him a good start into some high school subjects. Moreover because of being about the middle of a large family, in point of age, he learned much from both his older and younger brothers and sisters. When he left this rural school he entered a county examination for teachers and obtained a First Grade certificate, the best certificate obtainable by examination at that time. He then taught four terms in the country schools and spent a part of the time studying in a state normal school, where he was graduated in 1902. It seems odd to think of the schools of those days. The term was just then lengthened from four to five months, and the salary was never more than twenty-six dollars per month.

After graduating from the normal school Mr. Cooper taught one year as principal of a village system comprising five teachers. At the end of this term he entered the state university and continued his studentship for that spring, and summer and the following year, when he withdrew to take another village principalship for two years to earn enough money to finish the work for his degree.

In his senior year at West Virginia University Mr. Cooper was elected to the superintendency of schools for the following year in Point Pleasant, West Virginia, a school system of about 600 children. He held this position from 1907 to 1911, when he was elected to the superintendency at Bluefield and Beaver Pond District, West Virginia, a system comprising approximately 3600 children. He served this system until 1915, when he entered the graduate school of Columbia University, New York, where he studied for two consecutive years and again in 1921-1922. He was awarded by Columbia the degree of Master of Arts, 1916, and Doctor of Philosophy, 1924, and by Teachers College of Columbia a Certificate as Superintendent of Schools, 1916.

Since he entered Columbia his activities have been varied and some of his successes have been conspicuous. In 1916 he made the major part of the survey of the school plants of Nassau county, New York, and wrote the part of the report pertaining to the school plant. In 1917 he assisted with the school survey of Saint Paul, Minnesota. In 1920 he directed a school survey and publicity campaign for the city of Kittanning, Pennsylvania. This report was published in the newspapers of Kittanning and brought about a transformation of the school system of the city. In 1920-1921 he was a

EASTERN WINS FROM UNION

Maroon Grid Machine Runs of Score of 39 to 0 Over Barbourville Team

Eastern Teachers College football team was seen in action here the first time Saturday when they scored an easy victory over the Union College eleven of Barbourville, the final score being 39 to 0. The Teachers were slow to get started, and it was not until the third quarter that they launched an attack that Union was unable to cope with. The Maroons scored three touchdowns in short order during this period.

Eastern made their first touchdown in the latter part of the first quarter when H. Moberly slipped thru right guard after the Maroon team had made a steady march down the field. Brock then made a second touchdown for the Maroons in the second quarter when aided by perfect interference he circled the right end for a touchdown. Gentry's try for extra point failed and the first half ended with the score 12 to 0 in favor of the Hembree men.

The offensive machine of the Maroons worked much smoother in the second half, Gentry plunging over center for a touchdown after the ball had been carried to the 12-yard line by a series of line bucks and end runs by H. Moberly, Brock and Gentry. Brock again scored when he intercepted a Union pass in open field and ran 30 yards for the touchdown. Gentry drop kicked for the extra point. With the ball on the 30-yard line, the Maroons were again able to score when Brock plunged over from 4-yard line after the Maroon backs had carried the ball to this distance.

Eastern gathered 25 first downs while the visitors were able to collect but seven. Fumbles were numerous during the contest, due to the muddy field. Union resorted to a passing attack, but out of 18 tries only six were completed. Eastern tried 12 and completed five. Both Pieh and Saunley ran the team in excellent style. Pieh, who has been handicapped by an injury, (CONTINUED ON PAGE FOUR) member of the staff that made the building survey of the school system of Philadelphia. In this survey he was charged with the study of school room lighting and prepared the report on this subject. At the present time, 1926-1927, he is engaged in a complete survey of the schools of Maysville, Kentucky.

For four years Mr. Cooper was head of the Extramural Institution Department of the University of Pittsburgh and from small beginnings built up that department to an enrollment of 1800 students working for regular credit. At the same time he advanced from the work of Inspector in Education to that of Assistant Professor of Educational Administration in the University.

At one time or another Mr. Cooper served on the success school staffs of East Carolina State Normal School, North Carolina State College for Women, and the University of Maryland.

Dean Cooper came to Eastern from Baltimore where in 1922 he became the first Superintendent of a training school just then established by the Maryland Casualty Company for the training of its employees and agents.

Dr. Cooper is the author of a number of magazine articles, reports, and pamphlets. He has published one transformation of the school system book—The Cost of Training Teachers of the city. In 1920-1921 he was a

SCHOOL SPIRIT

It is very gratifying to note the change in school spirit at Eastern. More spirit has been manifested during the last three weeks of school than was shown all last year.

School spirit is one of the vital factors, the very soul, of a school. It is the unseen foundation upon which traditions are reared. It tends to unite the student body. It is the connecting link between the present study body and those that have gone ahead.

When Eastern met Centre College in the opening football game of the season, several students and faculty members made the trip to Danville to cheer the Maroon warriors on to their best efforts. They did a good job and are to be complimented. When Eastern met Union College on the home field, the whole student body and many town fans turned out to back Eastern.

Such loyalty speaks well for any school. Such loyalty will not only help the boys to come thru on the football field but will help the whole student body to come thru as students, their main objective.

Now that the student body has been organized "spiritually," there must not be a let up. That it will continue so without each student's attention must not be taken for granted. Instead, every student must see to it that the student body of this year puts Eastern on the map as a school with lots of school spirit, until students in the years to come will feel that a tradition has been established that cannot be allowed to die.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS

During the past three weeks the re-organization and election of club officers have taken up a large measure of the student body's time.

The Little Theater Club, in which so many of the new students are taking much interest, held its first meeting September 27. Miss Pearl Buchanan, the former excellent faculty advisor, was chosen again this year. Decision that a "try-out" for those students who are desirous of becoming members would be held Wednesday evening, October 12, was made. The following officers were elected:

Miss Mary Arnold, president; Miss Frances Seary, recording secretary; Mr. Hallas Matherly, corresponding secretary; Mr. Charles Ray, treasurer.

A number of the clubs have not had their organization meetings as yet. A list of such societies and their officers will be found in a later issue of the Progress.

CAMPUS GOSSIP

(The Organization of the Neon)
 Have you heard the latest? The Neon Krypton Literary Society met last Thursday night and elected their officers. That Graham boy—what's his name?—Oscar, I believe—was elected president. Mae Kenney is vice president. That little old Helm girl was elected secretary, and that Broadus girl that runs around with her, corresponding secretary. How it happened I just can't see. I believe they call Jimmie Cornett sergeant-at-arms, but Janitor is his every day name. Evelyn Davis is going to play the piano and Mr. Keene is going to give the much-needed advice.

They tell me that there is a pretty live bunch in Neon this year and I've heard that there's going to be something doing. I can't hear much about it, but there is some vague talk about moving to the gym because Mr. Stewart's room won't hold them all. I don't know what you think

EASTERN LOSES GALLANT FIGHT

Although defeated 7 to 0 by the Centre College Colonels in the initial gridiron game of the season, the Eastern Teachers College team fought their highly tutored opponents to a standstill, repeatedly halted their most vicious onslaughts and missed a scoreless tie only thru the intervention of lady luck. So gallant was the stand of the Maroons, so determined their defense, that their followers are enthusiastically forecasting a successful season.

The lone touchdown was made in the third quarter when O'Neill, Centre end, recovered a fumble, raced to the two-yard line before being downed. In the next two plays Laurer went over tackle for the touchdown. Goings made good the try for extra point. The playing of both teams on the offense was weak and the Colonels tried many passes in attempt to gain their yardage. Out of twenty tries only seven were perfected. The teachers attempted five passes and were successful in one, which resulted in a gain of five yards in the final quarter.

The Maroons presented a strong defense and at no time were the Centre backs able to penetrate the teachers' line. Both teams failed to gain any territory in the first period and in the second frame the teachers outplayed the Colonels. The break of the game came in the third quarter. Saufley, Maroon quarter, called signals and due to a misunderstanding in the play there was no one back to receive the ball as it was snapped back from center. The ball was recovered by a Centre man in open field. The unearned touchdown failed to dishearten Hembree's men and they battled with a stubbornness that was noteworthy. During the final quarter the Colonels got the ball on Eastern's three-yard line, due to a 15-yard penalty. The Maroons' line held fast, repelled the onslaught and the ball went over after four unsuccessful tries at the line which held like a stone wall.

The punting of Tom Clouse, Eastern tackle, was outstanding during the entire game, averaging well over 40 yards. Every Maroon player deserves credit for the splendid fight and spirit shown. Coach Hembree's cohorts played the entire contest without a substitution. The teachers' Maroons was hard and vicious, several warriors of the Gold and White leaving the game on account of injuries.

A large band of supporters accompanied the team to the Boyle capital. Coaches Hembree and Gumbert were well pleased with the showing of the Maroons and state that the football fans can expect some victories from the teachers during the coming season.

The lineup and summary of the Centre game is as follows:
 Centre (7) Pos. Eastern (0)
 Thompson L.E. Clayton

Chorus Work Begun At Eastern Chapel

For the past few years Wednesday of each week at the chapel period has been given over to the department of music. At these periods community singing is conducted by Mr. Stewart with Miss Campbell as accompanist. The programs are planned to be both entertaining and recreational and to afford all students at Eastern the opportunity to become acquainted with vocal and instrumental music suitable for use in the school room. Part of the program is usually given over to special numbers by musical talent from the school and from Richmond. Wednesday, October 4th Miss Telford our Piano Teacher gave four very delightful Harp solos which were well received. On Wednesday September 28th Mr. Stewart sang two numbers Shipmates O'Mine and the popular ballad success "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise."

about it, but it sounds good to me. I don't want to miss anything, so I think I had better get into Neon, for I seem to be missing something now. It's a mighty good suggestion. Why don't you try it, too?

Faculty At Eastern

It is an old and true saying that "As is the teacher, so is the school". Hence, we may say that "as is the Faculty, so is the institution". The faculty at Eastern is selected by the Board of Regents and the President with great care regardless of where the teacher may come from. It is the settled policy at Eastern to select a majority of the teachers from Kentucky if they can be found equal in ability, scholarship and training with those from other states. The salaries of the teachers are determined by personality, scholarship and experience. No difference is made between men and women in the matter of salary.

The excellence of the teachers selected at Eastern may be measured by the demands made by other institutions upon us for teachers. A few years ago H. L. Donovan was our Dean. Peabody College took him from us to put him at the head of work in education. We selected J. R. Robinson at Waco, made him our Registrar. Peabody took him from us for the same work at a larger salary. We selected R. A. Foster as head of our English department. The University of Ohio took him from us. W. J. Grinstead was with Eastern for 20 years. He left us recently to go to the University of Pennsylvania. We selected R. Dean Squires as head of Extension Department. He left us to go to Whitesburg as Superintendent of the City Schools. These men were all receiving good salaries at Eastern; they left to take far better ones.

These facts show the type of teachers Eastern selects. It is our policy never to stand in the way of the advancement of good men. We go on the theory that there are as good fish in the sea as have ever been caught yet. These places have been or will be filled by equally as good teachers as those are who have left us. This has already been done with the exception of the head of the English department. Mr. Donovan's Mr. Robinson's by Mr. Mattox; Dr. Grinstead's place by Messrs. Mesner and Farrell; and Mr. Squires' place by Miss Pollitt.

TRIP TO NATURAL BRIDGE

Prof. G. D. Smith says that he intends to take a party of students to Natural Bridge, Saturday, Oct. 15. Other trips which Mr. Smith intends to sponsor this semester are to East Pinnacle, Payton's Cave, Frankfort, and a barge trip from Boonesboro. Definite dates have not been set for any of these trips.

PERSONALS

Dean Marie L. Roberts expects her sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie C. Roberts of Ashland, Ky., as her guest this week end.

Misses Grace Veal and Dorothy Smith spent the past week end at their respective homes in Lexington, Ky.

There were several visiting on campus this week end that were former students of Eastern. Among these were Harold Bennett, Cy Green, Floyd Gaines, "Red Headed" Sam King, and Charlie Cobb. If you noticed how these boys spent their time you may be able to guess why they were here. That is, leaving Sam out, of course—he's married now, so he must have been merely looking things over.

Those Ashland students spending the past week end at home were Misses Ruby Castle, Thelma Messersmith, Pauline Maggard, and Mrs. T. E. Fairchild.

Miss Carmen Shivel of Grayson, Ky., who was a student at Eastern last year, was guest of Miss Anna Bailey Kirby, also of Grayson, this past week end.

Mrs. H. R. Sale was visitor of her parents and little daughter at Carlisle this week end.

Miss Lula Johnson spent week end at her home in Moreland, Ky.

Mr. Josh Cosby makes the school a visit occasionally. Josh is not in school this year.

Miss Esther Elliott and Frances

Mason spent the week end with their parents at Brea, Ky.

Miss Ora Kelly has as guest Friday Mr. Alexander Yelton.

Miss Edna Mentor was at her home, which is about eight miles from Richmond, near Red House, for the week end.

Miss Betty Massey had as week end guest Mr. Raman S. Howard.

Among the Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wallman and their daughter who were visiting their daughter, Miss Mary Catherine Wallman; and Mrs. Mattie Pollock, Misses Noreatta Fowler, and Frances Jones, and Mr. Stanley Hickey of Germantown, Ky., visiting Misses Mildred Pollock and Ethel Miller.

Home Economics Department Moves

For several years the Home Economic Department was located in the little brick building known as Cottage No. 1. On completing Burnam Hall it was found necessary to tear down cottages one and two. The Home Economic Department was moved to the first floor of Sullivan Hall.

The room, formerly used as a dining room, has been remodeled to provide a model sitting room and a model sewing room where students may see the things necessary to make a comfortable home. The old kitchen that was used in connection with the students' dining room has been worked over into a neat kitchen to be used by the Home Economics classes.

The Home Economic teachers seem to be very well pleased with the new arrangement. It may not be possible to utilize the space allotted there and make the surroundings as home like as was possible in cottage one.

played only part of the game. Two passes of the "sleeper" variety were completed by Saufley to Nard. Saufley intercepted a pass and ran for 30 yards before being downed in the final minute of play. Tom Clouse again demonstrated his ability to boot the ball and never failed when called upon. Combs and Nard played outstanding ball in the line. Union relied upon R. Lawson, E. Jarvis, and Large. They were unable to penetrate the Maroon line and were able to gather their yardage by passes from Lawson to Large.

The game, play by play, follows:
First Quarter
Union kicked off to the 30-yard line. Gentry hit right tackle for two yards. Union recovered Peh's fumble on 25-yard line. Union fumbled and a Maroon fell on the ball. H. Moberly made four yards off tackle. He made it first down on a fake line buck. An attempted pass was intercepted. Grigsby made six yards on a completed pass. Peh intercepted a pass and returned the ball 12 yards. It was the Teachers' ball on the 35-yard line. H. Moberly circled right end for 25 yards. He carried the ball out of bounds on the next play. Gentry hit center for three. He made it first down thru guard on the next play. Saufley made eight yards thru left tackle. Eastern fumbled but recovered. Gentry plunged thru right guard for six yards. Moberly made it first down around left end. Peh hit tackle for three. Gentry failed to gain and Peh punted to midfield. An attempted pass failed. E. MUSIC SUPERVISOR HERE

Miss Mildred Lewis, State Supervisor of Music was a visitor at the school last Friday and was very much pleased with the splendid work that is being done at Eastern to further the work in music over the state. Miss Lewis is visiting the Normal Schools and Teachers Colleges and some of the public schools where music recently has been included in the curricula. She reports a rapid growth in this line of work and in a great many communities music is now receiving the proper recognition it deserves in the public school systems over the state.

College Men Find Correct Style Here

Elder Leads--Elder is the cheerleader of smart clothes Doggy Style with Dogged Service

THE UNITED STATES LEADS THE WORLD WHEN IT COMES TO STYLISH APPAREL

You hear much about the style leadership of some of the foreign cities. Perhaps some of the men are wearing imported shoes, hats, possibly their suit, and affect to believe that we cannot originate really stylish wearing apparel in this country. Well, the joke is decidedly on them.

A man recently back from an extended trip abroad declares he saw nothing in the way of foreign made goods that compare with those sold in this country. He was advised to purchase one or more fine imported suits when in England, but the only suits he found were shapeless and utterly lacking in style.

The more places he visited the greater was his surprise at his inability to purchase goods with style.

He told us the next time he was going on a shopping tour he was going to buy what he needed in Richmond. He says "there is more style in your windows on Main Street than there is in all Europe."
