The United Nations Organization has finally met to decide the fate of the world, and we were glad to hear that President Truman pledged the full support of this country.

We must confess, however, that we are somewhat confused over the reports of the parade of delegates: one radio commentator was disturbed over the calmness of New York when the officials streamed through, while another reporter complained of the noisiness of the procession. . . he wondered why everything official had to be so obstreperous, and was bemoaning the fact that the noise made babies cry.

But even though we are certain that the delegates will solve the world's problems calmly and justly, we hope that Molotov doesn't drop his hat.

CONCERNING CRIME—

We picked up a newspaper the other day and were startled to read that there is an estimated six-million criminals in the United States. This is an appalling figure for it represents 4.3% of the total population.

It is not at all comforting to realize that four out of every 100 people, in a cross section of the nation, make their living off of the rest of the hundred. It is even less comforting when we consider that there are not nearly as many law-enforcement officers as there are criminals.

There is a reason for everything, therefore there is a reason for crime. Crime is a very insidious disease that can only be controlled by education and force. It is up to the people and the government to see that the right kind of education is instituted. . . Force has and shall continue to fail. The world education is not used in the ordinary sense: criminals are not necessarily ignorant. The type of education must be psychological education.

Crime is born in the environment and is helped along by negligent parents and artificial pleasure gained by law-breaking. It also provides a form of recreation for the younger criminals who constitute the majority of the six-million.

So to prevent crime, we must start now to train young people to have healthy minds as well as bodies, and we must provide them with recreation centers. In towns that can't afford to build a recreation center, the high school gymnasiums could be used. Free movies on crime should be given. The movies should point out that crime is not a moral issue, it is one of the manifestations of a diseased mind.

The cure for crime should be altered. Our prisons and jails are recognized failures—even those that have modern facilities. When a man goes to prison, he is turned into an outcast for few people will associate with him when he is released. He has great difficulty procuring a job because employers (some of whom believe that prison is a "cure") know, subconsciously, that he is not cured.

The word "prison" should be made obsolete. When a man commits a crime he should be sent to a mental hospital and not released until he is cured. This might involve unusual sentences. . . in some cases, it would take longer to cure a petty thief than a murderer.

Upon his release, the patient should be taken into a civic club and be shown that the world is confident that he is a healthy and potentially useful citizen.

On the other hand, it is necessary to teach the world that a man with a mental disorder can be cured, even as a communicable disease can be cured. It should be taught that there is no danger of re-infection or contagion.

PRICES

Chester Bowles, former OPA administrator, gave this advice to housewives: "Don't buy." He made reference to the prices of meat that came after the release of controls on meat. He said that the meat industry was holding a gun aimed at the housewives and demanding that the housewives pay through the nose for the steaks we have been groaning about. He also advised people, who are planning to build, not to do so until building prices come down. Suggestions were made for the organization of consumers against high prices.

Laundry prices will soar about 15% when the controls are lifted in a few months, according to R. B. Nichols, president of the Kentucky State Laundry and Dry Cleaners Association. He said that when the controls are lifted there will be keener competition and higher quality work. We wonder if they will change the prices on double creases.

Another interesting development is the return of the full sized loaf of bread. It is not known how much it will affect prices. The reason for the return of the full sized loaf is that grain is more plentiful now than formerly. The requirement that bakers enrich white bread and rolls was removed, but authorities think that most bakers will continue to do so.

CLASS OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Guardsmen Quartette To Appear at Eastern

One of the main attractions for assembly programs for the coming year will take place at the regular assembly period Wednesday, Nov. 13 at 10 a. m. At this time, the student body is to be entertained by the famous Guardsmen Quartette from Hollywood. This famous quartette has been widely engaged in motion pictures, radio and concert. It has been their privilege, in addition to their innumerable appearances, to have appeared with very famous artists and conductors of the present day.

Their voices have been recorded in over a thousand motion pictures. They have been engaged for long series of radio broadcasts on such programs as Maxwell House "Show Boat" and "Good News," Chase and Sanborn Hour with Charlie McCarthy, Lux Radio Theater, Cavalcade of America, American Rhapsody, Shell Chateau, Rinso-Lifebuoy, with Al Jolson, Vick's Open House with Grace Moore and Nelson Eddy, Gillette Hour, and on many special event broadcasts such as motion picture premieres like Walt Disney's "Snow White," in which these four men played the part of four of the dwarfs.

This quartette was scheduled to have been at Eastern last March, but due to the fact that at that time they were making a picture, they had to cancel the date and agreed to come this year. Please don't forget this event. It will be well worth your attending.

The complete programs is as follows:

- Henry Iblings, first tenor
- Irl Hunsaker, second tenor
- Thomas Clarke, baritone
- Dudley Kuzell, bass
- John Winslow, pianist-accompanist
- Program
- I. Prologue—Ode to Music
- Old English Choral

Miss Floyd Attends Library Conference

Miss Mary Floyd, college librarian, attended the Southeastern Library Association twelfth biennial conference at Asheville, N. C., October 23 through October 26.

The meeting opened Wednesday, Oct. 23, with registration at 10 a. m. in the Asheville city auditorium.

Miss Floyd stated that she attended each morning the session, Books for Children and Young People, which was directed by Miss Nora Beust, of the Office of Education, Washington, D. C. Other important meetings which she attended were the County and Public Sections, the College and University Section, with Brainerd Cheney presiding, and the meeting of the Reference Section, at which time Mrs. Cheney spoke on the subject, "Present State of Reference Work in the South."

Among the important speakers at the conference were Hudson Strode, a noted author of books on Cuba, Bermuda and Mexico, who at the general session Wednesday evening spoke on the subject "A Traveler's Impressions of the Scandinavian Countries," and Mrs. Christine N. Govan, author, who spoke at the dinner meeting Friday evening on the subject, "My Life in an Ivory Tower." At the closing session Friday evening Miss Mary U. Rothrock spoke on Libraries and the South Today.

The officers of the conference were Ola M. Wyeth, Savannah Public Library, Savannah, Ga., president; F. K. W. Drury, Nashville Public Library, Nashville, Tenn., vice president, and Alfred Rawlinson, Centre College Library, Danville, Ky., secretary-treasurer.

Gooch Is Awarded Honorary Membership

Wilkie Gooch, a member of the junior class, has been given honorary membership to the Kentucky Junior Academy of Science, as recognition of her continued interest in the work of this organization.

Miss Gooch has served as president of the Kirksville high school Science Club, as secretary to the Kentucky Junior Academy of Science, and has held the honorary junior membership to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Mrs. Case Attends Deans' Meeting

Mrs. Emma Y. Case, Dean of Women, attended the meeting of the Kentucky Association of Deans of Women, October 18 and 19, at Murray State Teachers College at Murray, Kentucky.

Mrs. Case was appointed Program Chairman and presided in the appointed office at this time.

A panel discussion was led by Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, Dean of Women at the University of Kentucky. The many participants discussed the following topics:

- Campus standards
- Housing problems on the campus
- Newer techniques in counseling.

Dr. Ralph H. Wood, the president of Murray, was the speaker at the dinner meeting on Friday. Mrs. Wood was hostess at a tea for the guests in her home on Friday afternoon.

Saturday's program was featured by addresses given by Lt. Commander Samuel V. Thompson. Mrs. Weising, Dean of Women of Murray, entertained the guests in her home on Saturday afternoon.

W. A. A. Elects New Officers

The W. A. A. had its first formal meeting on Wednesday, October 16. The officers elected for the year of 1946-47 are: Elizabeth "Betsy" Tandy, president; Virginia Strohmeier, vice president; Pauline Phillips, secretary; and Kathryn Siphers, treasurer.

After an extensive practice period the first inter-squad game was played Thursday, October 24. The players of the winning team were Betsy Tandy, Gladys Noland, Curtis Smith, Pauline Phillips, Melva Heucke, and Garnett Isaacs, racking up a score of 46, while the opposing team, composed of Virginia Strohmeier, Dot Jansen, Lena Williams, Jerry Mullins, Irene Johnson, and Wanda Schwerin ended with a score of 31 points. The substitutes for both teams were Ruby Owen, Bonnie Rurdett, Doris Belcher, Rebecca Copher, Mildred Langan, and Jo Jo Glover.

To start the year off with a "bang," 21 members of the W. A. A. went to Boonesboro Beach for a cookout on Friday night, Oct. 25.

Plans are being made for a field day and clinic to be held here in the near future in which a number of colleges will participate.

Busses To Be Chartered For Morehead Game

The Kyma Club, which meets every Friday evening from 6:30 until 7:00 in the Little Theatre, held a special meeting Thursday, October 23, at 7:30 p. m. to discuss plans for the coming year and to select their officers.

As usual, the Kyma Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Allie Fowler, is sponsoring all the pep rallies before each game, and in order to "pep up" Eastern, plans were discussed for parties, dances, and parades. Committees were appointed for the decoration of goal posts, gathering of bonfire material, and the selling of cokes and programs.

Busses will be chartered for the Morehead game on November 2, and if enough students are interested, busses will be chartered for all games.

It was announced that Kyma "E's" would be awarded this year to those who earned them.

Officers for the year are: Edna Mae Truesdale, president; Nancy May, secretary; Glenna Frisby, treasurer; Maria Stergeos, reporter.

W.R.H.O. Coleman, White, Ott and Kennamer Are Presidents

The initiation of the new 1946-47 Burnam Hall House Council was an impressive event in Burnam Hall on Thursday night, October 24. The women students of the hall attended the service and witnessed the administering of the oath to the various officers.

Glenna Frisby, the 1945-46 secretary of the house council, gave the oath of presidency to the newly elected president, Mildred Payne.

Miss Payne then administered the oath of vice president to Viola Campbell; to Carolyn Sanders for the office of secretary, and to Mary Wood Lee for the office of treasurer. Miss Payne then gave the oath of office to Margaret Anderson, social chairman, and to the eight floor representatives—Mary Frandre Combs, Isabelle Green, Mildred Combs, Isabelle Green, Minerva Murphy, Anita Morgan, and Nancy Ransdall.

The program consisted of piano solos by Peggy McGuire and Anne Riley Cochran. The soloist, Betty Ferraut, sang the well known selection, "The Lord's Prayer," and "Ave Maria."

A candlelight service in which all present participated, closed the initiation service.

Strohmeier-Becker Win Ping-Pong Tournament

That spherical object called a ping pong ball has really been taking a beating in the S. U. rec room the past few weeks. Every night during that memorable week in October (except Tuesday, the annual blackout night, we hope) the battle of miniature tennis has been in progress in the form of a tournament. Much interest has been shown by both players and spectators, and a bigger and better tournament and possibly a pool tournament are being planned for the future.

About 45 players entered the tourney, 36 in the men's division and nine in the girls' division. The results of the girls' playoffs show Jean Crutcher, Ruby Owen, and Virginia Strohmeier, a left-handed backhand artist, winning.

In the men's division, Gerald Becker's brilliant defense brought him to the finals, while Russell Scalf's usual steady game and Wendy Tackett's forehead smash carried them through to the semifinals. Other notable players losing close decisions were Ray Tackett, Tom Agnew, Gordon Stephens, and Gerald May.

Report Made On Cooperative Study

At the regular faculty dinner, held in the Blue Room of the Student Union Building, Wednesday, October 23, a report was given to the faculty of the cooperative study which was started in 1943. Those participating in the discussion were Professor C. T. Hughes, Dr. N. B. Cuff, and Dr. W. J. Moore.

Early in 1943, the four state teachers colleges and the college of education of the University of Kentucky, the University of Louisville, and Berea, launched a cooperative experiment. The main purpose was to ascertain to what extent the schools of the community could contribute to the raising of the quality of living among the citizens of the community.

Each of the institutions selected a county for intensive study. Eastern's was Bell county. Later, Lincoln county was added.

During the early fall of 1943, a work conference was held on the campus of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College, when representatives from the various institutions and the seven counties met. The central theme at the conference was "The Improvement of the Quality of Living."

Similar work conferences were held on the campus of the University of Kentucky in the fall of 1944, '45, and '46. The conference of 1944 was devoted to a consideration of the characteristics of a good community school. The 1945 work conference considered the characteristics of the teacher for a community school. The problem for the 1946 conference was the curricula designed to prepare teachers for community school teaching. During the conference the committees made reports suggesting changes in the present curriculum.

Dr. Moore stated, at the dinner Wednesday, that the Advisory Council, which met recently at Mammoth Cave, recommended that these committees reports be stud-

Easternites Begin to Get The "Spirit"

Added zest and pep were present at Hanger Stadium last Saturday afternoon, October 26, as the mighty Maroons passed their way to a 12-7 victory over Valparaiso University of Indiana.

For the first time this season, an alive and wide awake student cheering section cheered the football team on to the first home victory of the season. Cowbells and a few ardent boosters were responsible for the great change in spirit at the game on Saturday.

This change resulted from the grouping together of a few young men and women who were determined to do something to improve the school spirit.

It was decided that a certain section at the stadium would be marked off for the students alone and that the Maroons would really be able to hear some cheering. Printed programs with yells and pep songs were handed to each student.

If the new school spirit which was manifested at the game Saturday is carried over into the other activities of the school, then the spirit which is supposed to permeate throughout the entire campus at Eastern will be back to stay.

Concert Pianist to be at Eastern

Mrs. Katherine Johnson, concert pianist, of Aberdeen, South Dakota, is to present a recital in Hiram Brock Auditorium, Wednesday evening, November 13, at 8:00 o'clock. Every student is cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Johnson was at Eastern last year, and played several selections for us in assembly. She is a very talented pianist, and everyone enjoyed hearing her last year. Mrs. Johnson's husband is professor of music at Aberdeen State Teachers College.

This program is sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee of the college, under the direction of Dr. Frederick P. Giles, professor of Art. This committee plans to give about two programs of this type each quarter, if it is possible.

Mrs. SeEVERS To Present Voice Recital

The Student Union Music Committee will present Mrs. Blanche Sams SeEVERS in a voice recital on Sunday, November 3, in Walnut Hall at 4 p. m.

The program is:

- I
- Lasciateme Marire.....Monteverde (Let Death Now Come to Claim Me)

- Brown E. Telford, accompanist.

The regular assembly period for Wednesday, October 23, was turned over to the classes for the purposes of electing their various officers.

Each class was to elect four officers: president, vice president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. In addition, each class was to have representatives on various committees such as the Library, Student Union, Social and Fine Arts.

The Senior Class, sponsored by Mrs. Mary E. Barnhill, voted on the following people to represent them the coming year: President: L. G. Kennamer, Richmond; Vice President: Helen Worthington, Maysville; Secretary: Mary Wood Lee, Millersburg; and Treasurer: Victor DeSimone, McRoberts.

The committees and the members elected to them were as follows: Fine Arts: Gene Elder, Richmond; Library: Mildred Langan, Irvine; and Bill Kinsella, Newport.

Social: George Hicks, Dreyfus, and Emilie Eaton, Corbin.

The Senior Class also nominated five persons for editor of The Milestone, one of which will be selected later for the position. The five nominees for the editorship of The Milestone were as follows: Jack Talbot, Dayton, Ohio; William Brashear, Irvine; Samuel Fife, Richmond; Mildred Langan, Irvine, and Jean Crutcher, Lawrenceburg.

The Junior Class, under the sponsorship of Dr. Fred A. Engle, has selected the following officers to lead them this year: President: Conrad Ott, Louisville; Vice President: John Collins, Manchester, Ohio; Secretary: Carolyn Sanders, Carrollton; and Treasurer: Charles Bernard, Hazard.

Committee selections were as follows: Fine Arts, John Ertel, Covington; Library: Bernardine Talbot, Frankfort, and Joe Todd, Richmond; Social: Anita Morgan, Monticello, and Bill Collins, Blackey; Student Union: Guy Fortney, Harlan.

For committees, the following persons were chosen: Social: Mary Elizabeth Moore, Richmond; Student Union: Pauline Caudill, Neon; Fine Arts: Nina Sue Herndon, Richmond; Social: Philip Corey, Rahway, New Jersey.

The Freshman Class, which is by far the largest, is sponsored by Miss Edith G. Ford and Dr. Emerson D. Jenkins.

Officers elected for this class were as follows: President: Bobby Coleman, Corbin; Vice President: John Joseph Finnegan, Trenton, New Jersey; Secretary, Sue Bailey, Ashland; and Treasurer: James V. Marcum, Louisa.

The following committees were appointed: Social: John Deering, Covington, and Eloise Roberts, Zanesville, Ohio; Student Union: John Mayhall, Covington, and Mary Alice Schisler, Portsmouth, Ohio; Fine Arts: Bill Combs, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Hallow'en Party Last Thursday

The College Social Committee sponsored a Halloween party Thursday evening, October 31 from 7 to 10 p. m. in the recreation room of the Student Union Building.

The party consisted of a House of Horrors, dancing, fortune telling, folk dancing, and various other types of amusement.

Student representatives for the College Social Committee are: seniors, George Hicks and Emilie Eaton; juniors, Anita Morgan and Bill Collins; sophomores, Mary Elizabeth Moore and Philip Corey; and freshmen, Eloise Roberts and John Deering.

Mrs. Case appointed the following committees for the Halloween party:

Dancing, Mary Elizabeth Moore and Bill Collins; decorations, Bill Collins and M. J. Cox; fortune telling, Emilie Eaton, Miss Fowler, and Eloise Roberts; House of Horrors, George Hicks, T. C. Herndon, Anita Morgan, John Deering, and Philip Corey; favors, Elizabeth Sorbet, Mr. V. E. Burns, Cora Lee, and Mr. Cox; refreshments, Mary Burrier, Gladys Tyng, Miss Sorbet, Miss Lee, Mr. Keith, Mr. Cox, and Mr. Hummel; publicity, Mr. Cuff, Bill Collins, and Miss Fowler. No admission was charged and all members of the student body, faculty, and administrative staff were invited to attend this party.

AS WE SEE IT

If a stranger were to drop in at one of our home football games in Hanger Stadium, his first impression would probably be that he was either in a home for the lame and infirm or in an institution for the deaf and dumb. Furthermore, I'm not talking about the playing manifested by the Maroons, but I'm talking about this low-spirited, droopy student body. Where in the world is the school spirit??? Surely, there is a smoldering spark somewhere on the campus. If because of some queer circumstance a Maroon rooter gets a little excited, stands up, and yells for the team, the looks given him by the other spectators completely smother that pitiful little spark of spirit. The cheerleaders stand on the sidelines and knock themselves out trying to lead yells and the only response is a low rumble that strongly resembles a dying man's struggle for the last breath. During our pep songs it would be very fitting for each of us to wear black and take off our hats because the songs sound like the most mournful of funeral dirges. Most of the students have been using the home football schedule to plan their week-ends. "Let's see, I'll go home this week-end since we're having a game." Football is not the only school activity where lack of spirit is glaring. In annual functions where you have always had to go early to get a seat, you are probably the first one there now if you are half an hour late. The only reason I can think of for this deplorable lack of school spirit is that each person is thinking too hard about what the school can give him instead of what he can give the school. True, one without the other is no good, but there must be a certain amount of each of these attitudes. If Eastern is no better by your having been here, then what you received from Eastern will do you little good. When you attend school activities you aren't doing the school officials a favor, but you are helping yourself. These extra-curricular functions mean a lot of work and expense and if they did not add to your development socially and mentally then they would be eliminated from college life. School spirit cannot be specifically defined but it is a mixture of a lot of small, relatively unimportant things—consideration for fellow students, a love and respect of tradition, cooperation with school officials, respect for the established code of conduct, full support of all school organizations, a good citizen of the campus in helping to keep it clean, the ability to see the school's faults and to criticize constructively, and a love for the school that will follow as a result of the other factors. Are you one of those lifeless, unspirited characters and if you are—what are YOU going to do to add to Eastern's glory???

MAROONED

with LESLIE NORMAN

Well, here we go again! To begin this week's little Hour of Horror, we'll begin by printing a little ditty which, if you concentrate on hard enough, might give you an idea for a sure-fire excuse for cutting class. Thus...

Willie
A little boy went forth to school
One day without his chum.
The teacher said, "Why you're alone!"
"Why doesn't Willie come?"
"O Willie," sobbed the little boy,
"There ain't no Willie now."
"What do you mean?" the teacher asked,
With puzzled, knitted brow.
"Please, sir," the little boy replied,
"We made a bet for fun,
"Which one could lean the farthest out
"Ours attic. Willie won."

SAY IT SIMPLY

In promulgating your esoteric cogitations, or articulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable, philippical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversational communications possess a clarified conciseness, a compact comprehensibility, coalescent consistency, and a concatenated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affectations. Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, pompous prolixity, psittacous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity and vaniloquent vapidity. Shun double-entendres, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscurant or apparent, and above all, don't use big words.

AGNES I LOVE THEE

I stood upon the ocean's briny shore
And with a fragile reed, I wrote
Upon the sand, "Agnes, I love thee."
The mad waves rolled by, and blotted out
The fair impression.
Frail reed! Cruel wave! Treacherous sand!
I'll trust ye no more,
But with giant hand I'll pluck
From Norway's frozen shore
Her tallest pine, and dip its top
Into the crater of Vesuvius,
And, upon the high and burnished heavens
I'll write, "Agnes, I love thee!"
And I would like to see any
Dog-goned wave wash that out!

KAMPUS KALEIDOSCOPE

Freshman still cringing when an upperclassman passes... Easterners heads still jerking back and forth from watching the ping pong tournament... The debut of "grrrrrrrrrr," the long, low growl which has replaced "hubba-hubba"... The newest fall chapeau, the freshman cap... Student rowing to class in the rain... The intense concentration of bridge addicts; perennial Eastern institution... The haggard, woe-begone look of utter despair on the face of a student coming from a test... The surprising number of students majoring in Grillology... The casualties from girl's basketball parading the campus with their scars... The Student Union on Sunday afternoon... The intelligencia of Eastern engrossed in the Courier each morning; comic page of course... The look of expectations on the faces of those who enter the cafeteria with memories of steak still lingering... For anyone who wants to know about the freshman elections, ask Bud Brown, he'll tell you.

THE OPPORTUNITY

He went into post office to get his mail. By the door a small boy stood crying bitterly. Naturally he asked the cause of such tears. The little boy lifted a tear-stained face to his. "I had two quarters, and a fella came along and took one away." "What! Right here in the post office?" he asked the child. "Yes sir." "Well, didn't you call someone?" "I did, I hollered, 'Help, Help.'" (in a weak voice). "Is that all the loud you can yell?" he asked. "Yes sir." So he took the quarter.

Rhythm Ripples

By DOT HURT

Right now I feel as if I know what Dinah Shore means when she sings "That'll I Do" and "I Can't Get Started," but as Perry Como says "If I'm Lucky, I'll Get By." Did you know that: As a result of her recording of "I'm A Big Girl Now," Betty Barclay is now getting star billing with Sammy Kaye's ork? The King Cole Trio is going out as The King Cole Duo rather than try to replace Oscar Moore who is confined to a hospital bed? Dennis Day's first single RCA recordings is "You Keep Coming Back Like a Song" and "Remember When You Sang 'Oh Promise Me'?" Spike Jones' recent appearance at New York's Strand Theatre was marked with precedent shattering events all along the line. Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C Minor has been recorded by the duo-pianists Whittemene and Lowe, also by Al Goodman and Freddy Martin? Look magazine states that Louis Armstrong is the top hot trumpet man around today? Charlie Spivak's parents had a medical career all mapped out for him, but the lad had different ideas. If you're interested in adding some real class to your record collection why not get the new Jerome Kern album as presented by Al Goodman and his archestra. It includes such heart-warming tunes as The Night Was Made For Love, Do I Love You?, The Touch of Your Hand, and 'Twas Not So Long Ago. Maybe you prefer some honest-to-goodness love songs so try Rise Stevens' Dearly Beloved, Lover Come Back to Me, The Man I Love, Lover, I Love You or I'm Falling in Love With Someone. To add a touch of the exotice, we recommend Andre Kostelanetz' Flamingo, Poinciana, Song of India, and Lotus Land or maybe Elsa's Dream by Helen Traubel and the Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra. I have it by way of the grapevine that if you'd really like to hear the latest, the best, (and the most) you'd be wise to contact Bob Rush or perhaps Buddy Gumm. Don't know whether they are selfish with their knowledge or their collection (haven't gone into the matter) but there's an outside possibility they might be willing to enlighten you. Campus favorites (as indicated by the slugs in the juke box) seem to be Who Do You Love, I Hope; It's Only a Shanty; Rika Tika Jack; September; Night and Day, and One More Tomorrow.

EASTERN SCRAPBOOK

Extra-Curricular

The Canterbury Club, sponsored by Dr. Roy B. Clark, head of the English department, is a club of significance and long-standing on Eastern's campus. Its membership is open to junior and senior students who are majoring or minoring in English and have a grade standing of B. The Canterbury Club held its first meeting, October 9, at 5 p. m. in the Student Union Building, for the purpose of electing officers, accepting new members, and to discuss the work which the club hopes to do this year. The officers are: Mrs. Jack Talbot, president; Love Clark, vice president; Sara Tribble, secretary; Virginia Blackburn, treasurer. New members accepted were Edwin Carter, Aldene Porter and Elizabeth Pennington. The second meeting of the club was October 23 at 5 p. m. After a dinner meeting in the Blue Room the members adjourned to Room 201 of the S. U. B. for the regular business session. Love Clark was in charge of the program which consisted of short current reading reports on any subject of interest, given by each member. At this meeting Juanita England was elected reporter for the club and possibilities for new club members were discussed. Mrs. Emma Y. Case entertained the girls of the Freshman class with a tea in Walnut Hall Wednesday, October 23, from four until six o'clock. The members of the Prota Deca sorority were the guests of honor. Vocal selections were rendered by Betty Perraut, Emily Richards and Carrie Lee Jones. Those assisting were Anne Reiley Cochran, Nina Sue Herndon, Betsy Tandy and Martha Lee List. A club reporter is an integral part of any active club and your club activities will be more efficiently taken care of when you elect that reporter! See that your club is represented by a loyal reporter!

The Home Economics Club had a supper meeting in the Blue Room on Tuesday, October 29. Because the old secretary and treasurer did not return to school this term, it was necessary to elect new ones. Gladys Rice was chosen as secretary and Lois Justice as treasurer. It was decided to hold regular meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of every month. Jewell Howard, president, gave a brief discussion of the aims of the club and duties of members. All Home Economic major are eligible for membership but before a new member is initiated as a full fledged member, she must earn three "stars." A star is given for each time a dinner is served or help is given in any other project.

The "Y's"

By ELIZABETH PENNINGTON The Fall Retreat will be held Sunday, November 3, at Pond Christian Church on the Barnes Mill Road. It was previously announced that the retreat would be October 20, but these plans had to be changed. All who are interested in YMCA and YWCA work are asked to attend. It will be an all-day-gathering with fun and recreation in addition to business meeting. Committees are at work planning the program and the menu. Religious Emphasis Week will begin on this campus Wednesday, January 29, and will end Sunday, February 2, in the various churches down town. This year all clubs and organizations on the campus will be asked to co-sponsor Religious Emphasis Week. In this manner the Y's hope to have very successful and beneficial programs. The YWCA will begin its work with a large cabinet this year. The following girls will serve as cabinet members: Judy Watkins, Margaret Graham, Norma Richards, Gladys Rice, Joyce Broyles, Mary Langan, Anne eRiley Cochran, Emogene Austin, Glenna Frisby, Nancy Ransdell, Lula Thurman, Nina Kalb, Mildred Langan, Peggy McGuire, Elizabeth Pennington and Ruby Monday.

ODDS AND ENDS

By JOHN MAYHALL

You all remember the Eastern Vet's big production of "Pep Parade," co-starring Malcolm Meers and Bill Kearney, who are both contracted to play in Hollywood after such wonderful performances. The chorus girls have been contracted by George White for his production of "White's Scandals In Slobovia," starring one other than Lena. For those who failed to see this famous production of Eastern's glamorous cuties ask those who split their sides and had hysterics in the aisle ways how it was and they'll tell you, we hope.

SORORITY SNICKERS

Betty T.: "How do you like the college pudding?"
Mary Alice S.: "I'm afraid there's an egg in it that should have been expelled."

"Was your girl pleased when she tried on her new bathing suit?"
"Oh boy—I'll say! You should have seen her beam."

Dode S. says it takes a man with lots of grit to think he's the only pebble on the Florida beach.

Deacon Rastus Jones was snoozing in the rear pew of the church as the minister was ending the sermon with the words, "Now, my brethren, we shall close wid a short prayer; Deacon Jones will lead." The snoozing deacon awoke with a start and sputtered, "Tan't my lead, I just deat."

The girls of today never let their boy friends drive them too far out in the country... They find they get less petting in the long run.

The Day You Turned Your Petty Head (And Sweetly said, "Hello")

I've always longed to speak to you when'er we chanced to meet
But just a little fearful that you'd think me indiscreet.
Yet ev'ry time I looked at you I felt so, oh, impressed;
To me you we a vision that was truly heaven blessed.
Your lovely cheeks were glowing in the tingling autumn air,
And the sun was lightly dancing in your golden hair.
Your voice was smooth as velvet, your brow was like the snow,
The day you turned your pretty head and sweetly said "Hello."
You spoke to me so graciously like songbirds in the spring,
I honestly believe, my dear, I heard an angel sing.
And then I whispered something, my darling, soft and low
The day you turned your pretty head and sweetly said, "Hello."
And as I gazed into your eyes of tantalizing blue
I must have looked quite startled as I smiled and answered you.
I tried to act so confident, my better self to show,
But the thing that most impressed me was your musical "Hello."
It rose so sweet and tenderly, its music touched my heart;
'Twass such a soothing melody I loved you from the start.
Just how you thrilled me, darling, someday I'll tell you know—
The day you turned your pretty head and sweetly said, "Hello."

Thou mystic morn upon whose shoulder sleepy summer
Lays its head in quest of three season's rest,
Unfixed and indefinable though you be,
Thou art perennially
The autumn's herald.

LOST LOVE

A flower bloomed a year ago;
It's fragrance lingers yet,
And though I try, full well I know
I never shall forget.

In Europe

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

LEAVING New York at eleven o'clock A.M., I flew to London in just 20 hours. A flight to London shows how the world is growing smaller. Our relations with other countries are becoming much more intricate as the globe shrinks, and our great need is better understanding which will beget wisdom.

For 20 years I have had a great personal interest in studying the secret of national prosperity, which of course is the sum of each individual's prosperity within the nation. This interest was first awakened when in 1925 I observed the poverty of China for the first time.

More Than COUNTRIES having Resources equal resources are not always equally prosperous. That is an axiom most of our people accept readily. They have come to know, sometimes subconsciously, that our democracy is mixed of more, and perhaps finer, ingredients than statistical reports of national resources will show.

Surely, what makes one nation happy, peaceful, wealthy, need not make another nation troublesome and ripe for revolution from within. Truly, there are many ingredients in the recipe for national well-being.

Today, when the popular catchword, even internationally, is "security," we know that one of the most valued ingredients is prosperity. If people everywhere could understand and achieve the conditions necessary for prosperity, every home - neighbor and every world-neighbor would benefit. This is like a good deed that pays off for everybody.

What is CURRENTLY, the Secret? writer is concluding a stay of eight weeks in Europe. On the itinerary are England, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, the Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, and France. The objective is to study political, economic, social, and religious conditions in each country, with a hope of arriving at definite and significant conclusions regarding the secret of individual and national prosperity.

If we can be sure why it is that American wage earners and farmers can purchase with their earnings two times as much food, clothing, shelter, and transportation as the workers on any other continent can purchase with their wages, we shall then understand the factors we must preserve as vital to all of us in our period of reconstruction.

For awhile, I would like to be your European observer, for it is my conviction that some important lessons can be pointed up by studying our continental neighbors. Ours is a great economy. If we in America can have enough foresight to cooperate for the sake of production, our land can long remain the land of freedom and plenty.

Beginning next week, this column will survey postwar England, and will then proceed with some significant observations of continental nations.

VOX VETERANI

By ALLAN WHITE

A rather vague phase of vaudeville moved into town last week, caught Eastern off-balance and gave the locals something to talk about for several days. For those of you that do not know, the veterans show labeled the "Pep Parade" (they didn't pick that title; they shucked it), was presented in affiliation with the Empire Producing Company of Kansas City.

The affair was scheduled last spring when an agent of the company stopped on the campus during a tour of this section of the country to sponsor such a show for colleges and civic organizations. With only one week rehearsal, the boys threw together a kind of program never before equaled at Eastern. You can take that any way you care to. And since then several of the artists, Bubbles Bell, Mable Meers, Goo Gumm and Toots Dorer have been offered tempting propositions with a Cincinnati vaudeville house located at 12th and Vine streets in that city.

Bowling Green Confab

The campus of Western State Teachers College at Bowling Green, Ky., was the scene of a statewide conference last weekend for Kentucky college veterans. Similar to the meeting held at the spring, the veterans congregated to iron out problems and plan future patterns for work to be carried out by the state college organization.

Eastern was represented by Paul Bunton, past president of our own club, and Bill Barnett, who now holds the presidency.

"The Bible of Democracy." The usually nonchalant professor showed his more serious nature with a plea to the veterans to sit up and take notice of this messed up world in which we live. A plea for world peace which we thought we had attained, but shall lose entirely in the near future.

This Bible of Democracy, as he suggested, should be of selected documents and to include such writings as Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the Declaration of Independence, and our national constitution. From a sincere study of such a concentration of democracy, the figureheads of this same messed up world might conceive a satisfactory solution to a far off world peace.

McBrayer To Coach Eastern Net Team, Assumes Duties Today

President W. F. O'Donnell of Eastern announced today that Paul McBrayer, of Lexington, has been named basketball coach at Eastern and that Mr. McBrayer will assume his duties this afternoon.

The annual battle of the two KIAC elevens for the possession of a memento of gridiron supremacy has both colleges keyed up for the clash.

The Eastern Maroons have never realized the potential power they have had, injury after injury has kept the Rankin-coached club from the prime effectiveness forecasted in the pre-season drills.

MAROONS TIP VALPARAISO

The Maroons of Rome Rankin scored twice in the second quarter and held off a determined fourth quarter drive of the invaders from Valparaiso University Saturday to win 12-7.

BOB GOOSEN Eastern Kentucky

The Maroons began to roll as the second quarter got under way when Paul Moore took a Crusader punt on his own 20 and returned to the Valparaiso 48.

Valparaiso threatened to take the game away from the Maroons in the fourth quarter when they recovered a Maroon fumble on the Eastern 29.

First Week Of Intramurals Is Rated Success

Eastern concluded its first week of intramural basketball program last week. The program was discontinued because of the lack of man-power during the war years.

The Maroons struck again midway of the second canto when Nonnemacker returned a Valparaiso punt from his own 45 to the Crusader 42.

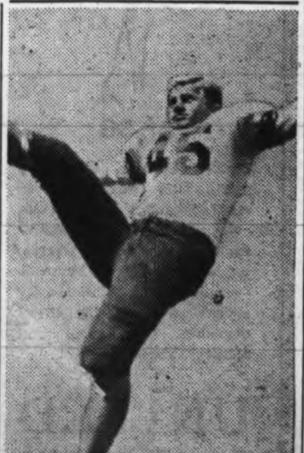

In the second half Eastern came back strong after taking the Crusaders kick on their own 10 and returned it to their 31.

During the first week of play ten games were played on the Health building hardwood courts.
