Cwens Convene At U. of K.

The campus of the University of Kentucky was crowded last weekend. The Kentucky chapter of the National Society of Cwens was hostess for the first National Convention since 1938. Miss Sarah Blanding, president of Vassar College, was the principal speaker at their formal banquet.

Jane Wilhoite, president, and Vivian Pelley were elected official delegates from Eastern's chapter. They left the campus on Friday, October 29, to attend all activities scheduled and to cast their votes in all important decisions.

Eastern is most fortunate in being so close to the site of the convention. This gave other Cwens members the opportunity to attend the convention as unofficial delegates. They attended the Saturday events only.

Big Soshul E-vent

By now, ah reckon you'uns have heard tell of the big sellybrashun Kyma Club is putting on in honor of Sadie Hawkins Day. Since this hyar dance is gonna be the main affair of the Dogpatch soshul season, you'uns are asked not to brang any pet hogs or howling baby chillun. Fiddling and other fancy musk will be provided by Don Hacker and his Skunk Holler Boys.

The hostess, Miss Effie Mae Slopheimer will wear a lovely creashun fum Paris made fum re-processed burlap. Rumor has it that she will also ware part of her fabulous collection of jools—fashioned by Woolworth.

Miss Lena Pearl Hogwaller, age 68, who has jest returned fum finishing school up North will ware a pare of gen-u-wine store bough-ten shoes.

This hyar e-vent has also attracted many out-of-town visitors including Mr. Hankerburger Rappunian and his 47 lovely debutante daughters fum Punkin Run.

Price of vittles weel be included in the ad-mishun (we ain't got no presarved turnips but thar will be plenty of Kick-a-poo-joy juice setting around fer all you city fellers).

Leave your shooting irons to home.

Hallowe'en Party

BY DOROTHY WASH

The Social Committee of Eastern Kentucky State College entertained with a Hallowe'en Party, for the students and faculty members, Thursday night, Oct. 28.

The fun began at 7:00 o'clock when the students were admitted free to the movie, "Nightmare Alley", shown in Hiram Block Auditorium. After two hours of tension, suspension and apprehension, many students felt as if the whole thing were a "nightmare," and were extremely glad that it was not necessary to walk back to the dorm alone.

If the residents of Richmond heard weird voices and wild screams around 9:00 o'clock, we hasten to assure them that the town was not being invaded by strange people from a far-away planet, but that the Hallowe'en Party was getting well underway in the Recreation Room at Burnam Hall.

The recreation room was filled with gay, rollicking, frolicking, boys and girls, and faculty members, all wearing colorful paper hats, and blowing or rattling every type of "noise-making" device known to man. Autumn leaves were used to decorate throughout the room. Delicious refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served by the faculty members. Attractions during the evening included various games, the "House of Horrors", and several musical selections.

The party in the "wreck room" ended at 10:00 o'clock, but the Student Union Building Recreation Room remained open for dancing until 10:30 o'clock.

Both students and faculty members reported the party a huge success.

Home Ec Club

BY SHARLINE MULLINS

The Home Economics Club is underway with a very active program for the year.

An installation program for the members was held Tuesday Evening, October 19, in the Blue Room. Miss Sarah Sheets was elected secretary for the club.

The Home Economics department is open every third Tuesday night for the club members. So girls bring your dates and entertain them instead of going to the movies every week. The new radio-phonograph we saved for last year is just waiting to be played. It is your club and your department, let's use and enjoy it.

David "Lil' Abner" Rush chased by Daisy Maes Pat Lackey, Dottie Hancock, Elaine Allen, Betty Jane Shannon and Helen Parks, anticipating the Sadie Hawkins Day Dance.

Post Road To Be Staged

"Post Road," a mystery comedy by Wilbur Steele and Norma Mitchell will launch the Little Theatre Club's program for the year, when it is presented in Hiram Brock Auditorium November 18. The play was a Broadway hit of 1935, when Lucille Watson and Percy Kilbride appeared in it. The business end of the production is being handled this year by the Commerce Club. Tickets may be obtained from its members or at the Administration Building's Information Window.

Jane Thomas heads the cast of eighteen members. She plays Emily, who becomes an impromptu mother of a kidnapped baby after gangsters take over her home. Others participating are Walter Greene, Marianella Thompson, Bill Wilson, Kenneth Wall, Joanne Joyce, Doris Smith, Leon Pearson, Betty Blair, Beverly Sanders, James Barrickman, Joe Spratt, Carroll Raam, Joan Willenbrink, Myrtle McDavid, Jack Raymond and James Hanna.

The production stars under the supervision of Joseph Graham, director and faculty advisor of the Little Theatre Club, includes Rebecca Ramsey, bookholder; Mrs. Leonor Adams, set properties; Nancy Henderson, Myrtle McDavid, hand properties Charles Purkey, lighting; Mr. Graham, Paul Cox, Walter Green, Moody Howard, Joanne Joyce, James Barrickman, scenery; Edward Strohmeier, Marjorie Combs, costumes; Carroll Raam, James Hanna, sound effects; and Miss Pearl Buchanan, ushers.

Legion Lizards

The American Legion Post of Richmond announced the formation of an independent basketball team recently. The team, to be known as the "Legion Lizards," is composed of ten men, nine of them being from Eastern. The squad is coached by Ivan "Buster" Maggard, former Maroon star athlete.

The Lizards will play a twenty-two game schedule using the Madison High gym as their home base. Eastern boys in the squad are Blaine Clark, Alonzo Nelson, Cecil Simmons, Art Seesholt, Bobby Paynter, Ollie Raymond, Ote West, Ray Coy, and Joe Henderson.

Outstanding independent and Legion teams have been scheduled, and Coach Maggard states that he looks forward to having a successful season.

WRHO Officers Installed

The installation of the officers of the Burnam Hall Residence Organization was held Monday Evening, October 18, in the lobby of Burnam Hall.

During the candlelight ceremony the outgoing vice president, Charlotte Newell, administered the oath of office to the new president, Joan Everling. Miss Everling, in turn, installed her fellow officers and the floor representatives.

The music for the occasion was furnished by Emily Richards, Shirley Tracey, Doris Smith, Norma Keese, and Peggy McGuire. After the installation an informal reception was held in the recreation room of Burnam. The girls enjoyed sipping punch, eating cookies, and rousingly singing their school songs.

Fielder Pitzer Named Editor

Fielder Pitzer, a social science major from Waynesboro, Virginia, has been elected to edit the 1949 edition of the Milestone.

Mr. Pitzer is also president of the World Affairs Club. He is employed as film projectionist at Eastern Auditorium. He has served in the Veteran's Club, on the Progress staff, and as student athletic trainer in 1942.

John Bussey, from Covington, Kentucky will be assistant editor. The business agent for the 1949 volume is James Bunton.

Charlotte Newell and Joe Yanity are editors of the feature material. The sports section will be planned by Glen Garrett and Ted Raymond.

Jack Creech and Millar Gregory will make up the Club pictures. The composers for the senior class are Julian Shaw and Glen Cummins. Class composers for the Juniors and sophomores are Nancy Henderson and Herb Condon. John Deering, George King and Pauline Ritter will make up the freshman class pictures.

The pictures for this year's annual will be made by Ed Froste with Stanifer and McGaughey Studios.

The typists are Mary Lou Ford, Gerald May and Martha Sharp. R. R. Richards will serve as faculty sponsor.

The staff has already begun work and for the next few months there won't be a busier spot on the campus than Room 101 of the Student Union Building.

Student Dietician Examinations

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Student Dietitian from which appointments will be made to courses in Veterans Administration Hospitals in Los Angeles, California; the Bronx, New York City, New York; Hines, Illinois; and Memphis, Tennessee.

The salary for Student Dietitians is $1,470 a year, including subsistence, quarters and overtime. The courses will last for 12 months. To qualify, competitors must have received a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. Their study must have included courses in chemistry, biology foods, institution management, nutrition and diet in disease, social sciences, and education. Applications will be accepted from persons who have not completed the required education, but their study must be completed not later than the beginning date of the course for which they are applying. Applicants must have reached their 18th birthday but must not have passed their 35th birthday at the time of reporting on their first assignment as a student. These age limits do not apply to persons entitled to veteran preference.

Interested persons may obtain information about the examination, as well as application forms, from most first- and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices, and from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will be accepted until further notice by the Executive Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, in the Veterans Administration hospitals in the above-mentioned cities. See examination announcement No. 126 for the appropriate addresses of these hospitals.

Campus Personalities

BY BETTY SHANNON

Edward Richard Lewicki, "Slats" to you, hails from Stamford, Connecticut and is the tall, blonde and blue-eyed possessor of one of the most engaging grins on the campus. Ed is a sophomore, and is majoring in physical education and social science.

The outstanding shortstop on Eastern's baseball team, Ed is also one of the most outstanding players in Kentucky collegiate circles. He hopes to play pro ball after graduation and we predict he will go far.

Ed spends much of his spare time punching the bag at the gym and last year, played basketball on the unbeaten Vet's team. His favorite dish is grits "n" gravy and his favorite saying is "I know only one thing and that is nothing."

He's not taken, girls! One of the most active and attractive gals on the campus is Charlotte Newell, a five feet four, brown eyed, red-haired miss from Maysville. Besides being a senior and a commerce major, she has been Mrs. Case's right-hand woman for three years.

Last year, Charlotte was president of the House Council and in the college choir. This year she is in Sigma Tau Pi, Senior Advisor of Cwens, Member of the Social Committee, President of Senior Women's Honorary Society, and Feature Editor of the Milestone. Charlotte, who was a cheerleader for two years, worked at Wright Field for a year as a colonel's secretary. While there, and also during her senior year in high school, she sang with an orchestra.

Charlotte's hobby is sewing and her favorite song is "Body and Soul." As for favorite food, she loves steaks and french fries. Anybody going to Johnny's?

THE BYSTANDER

While standing by:

A little girl said to the entomology professor, "Where can I find some bugs, Professor?"

With a puzzled expression, he replied, "Search me."

The old, bald-headed professor of chemistry said, "There are great futures in the field of chemistry if one will take advantage of them."

"Is that right?" said an eager student. "I'm a chemistry major, sir. Tell me about some of these opportunities."

"Well," the aged instructor answered while taking an envelope from his coat pocket, "only yesterday I received a letter from a business man who said he could use a man like you on his team, a man with your strength and leadership and personality."

"That sounds good, sir. What kind of business is he in?"

"Borax business. He has a twenty-mule team," the old professor replied with a twinkle in his eye.

About the pinkish ones From the latest reports old Nosmo has discerned from the latest reports that the New York Communists are planning to cut off the Bronx from the rest of New York. First they'll deny citizens the right to use the subways.

The chiropodist business must be very slack. They've just hired Henry to raise hybrid corns. A note of thanks to those who teach

When the first atomic bomb was dropped over the city of Hiroshima in the year 1945, we all sighed in relief, for we had been the first nation to discover one of nature's hidden secrets - atomic energy.

Little did the majority of the people of our nation realize the mental preparation and ingenuity required to perfect the atomic bomb. Many did not know, nor could they comprehend, that our brilliant chemists, physicists, and special researchers had smashed the final grain of matter, the finite, into millions of pieces.

Yet, there is an answer to the how and why of our being the first to unleash this devastating power; it is education. There is one thing that these learned men of our nation had in common; it is education. Had it not been for their mental training, the knowledge that they had acquired in schools throughout the nation, and the teachers that had taught them, New York or Los Angeles might have been the first to experience what Hiroshima shall never forget.

Mr. Edward Eades and Edwin Carter:

I received your letter of the 22nd and feel it my duty to answer it in this column. I would like to say that none of us are completely original. We have all heard the old proverb, "Nothing is new under the sun." We each form our opinions by compiling material from various sources including discussions, experiences, and writings.

First, I appreciate greatly your high compliment paid me in comparing my column to that of one of the nation's outstanding, "Fair Enough," by Westbrook Pegler, also I wish to thank you for associating my style with that of Thomas Wolfe, the writer of several high-selling and firmly established classical works, a writer considered by many to have been a literary genius.

I am highly pleased with your extreme concern of the welfare of the Progress. I also deeply regret your misinterpretation of the purpose of my column. Any columnist would be grateful indeed, however, to receive from his readers, a letter as you have written, one which laboriously undertakes to point out in minute detail my numerous foibles in writing. I have made a mental note of and studied others who influence me, such as Mr. Thomas Wolfe, Westbrook Pegler, Walter Winchell, Drew Pearson, Noah Webster, Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, Sir Walter Scott, Geoffrey Chaucer, Isaac Newton, James B. Conant, Thomas Hobbes, Francis Bacon, Sigmund Freud, Charles Darwin, John Locke, Alexander Pope, Sinclair Lewis, Ernest Hemingway, St. Thomas Aquinas, Erasmus, Albert Einstein, Rene Descartes, Democritus, Abraham Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt; however, I will be compelled to categorize your influence upon my future composition in accordance with the respective attainments and accomplishments of you and the afore mentioned.

I shall now list and comment on some of my literary and philosophic faults, which you mentioned.

1. I "chant in adolescent tones." This is a college newspaper and the age group of the staff members is 15-22. You can hardly expect to find octogenarian wisdom in this age category. But I am sorry that this is so.

2. My "semi-literate ravings are unbecoming to the Progress." With my diminutive power of comprehension I must interpret your coined phrase, "semi-literate" in a less elevated manner, half-wit. I am pleased to know that you have accredited old Nosmo with half his wits. Formerly I have been accredited with only one-fourth. With your bit of encouragement I hope to someday climb into your stratum of high intelligence, thus being capable of mitigating the pressure of the great burden of the world, which evidently rests on your shoulders.

3. I use "high-sounding" words. In your second point you accuse me of lacking one-half my solidified myelinated nerve fibers in the cephalic region, and then in the next sentence you suddenly bestow upon me the power of using "high-sounding" words. Gentlemen! You relieve me of clarifying this statement by contradicting yourselves. Thank you.

4. I "draw quick generalizations" (in the layman's language, rapidly derived general conceptions or principles from particulars).

Thank you again. 5. You say, "John Doe is as far from free enterprise as steak is from the average table."

You speak of steak and free enterprise as if they were non-existent. It is generally understood, in America, that one can go into enterprise without government interference provided that form of enterprise is not a predatory one. Old Nosmo is certainly average, if not below, and he manages to consume a steak whenever his appetite or metabolism calls for it. Incidentally, can you sail a boat down the road of life?

Each of us is born with certain aptitudes and specific inclinations. Both of you are, I know, artists and linguists. I am a chemistry major and realize that I am invading a new field in journalism and, naturally, do expect certain literary imperfections to be called to my attention. Therefore, since you have been so kind as to criticize me, as you are so well qualified to do, I feel it my duty to inform you of an error in the use of chemical terminology. "Distillation" refers to the process of distilling, not to the product, known technically as the distillate. And too, it might be well for you to know that some miraculously beautiful and useful things can come from a "foul smelling" distillate. It was a young boy by the name of Perkin who dipped his hands into the "foul smelling" coal tar and brought forth the colors of the rainbow, the fragrance of orange blossoms, and a sugar that surpasses the sweetness of the honeycomb five-hundred times.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I believe it would not be too critical to say that your letter and political ideas correspond remarkably well to your type of art known as surrealism, a modern movement which purports to express the subconscious mental activities by presenting images without order or sequence, as in a dream.

Respectfully yours, Nosmo King

Listening through keyholes, I found these pet expressions used by:

Fred Kelly, our drum major from Bellevue: "You tell 'em, Ammonia, you've got the spirit."

Carolyn Stamper, Beattyville, sophomore: "I luv you, too. (Ain't that touching?)"

Jack Bahlman, Ft. Thomas junior: "How low can a mn get?" Phyll Wardrup, KoKo McGuire, and Jan Truman: "Want to see my ring?" (Engagement, that is.)

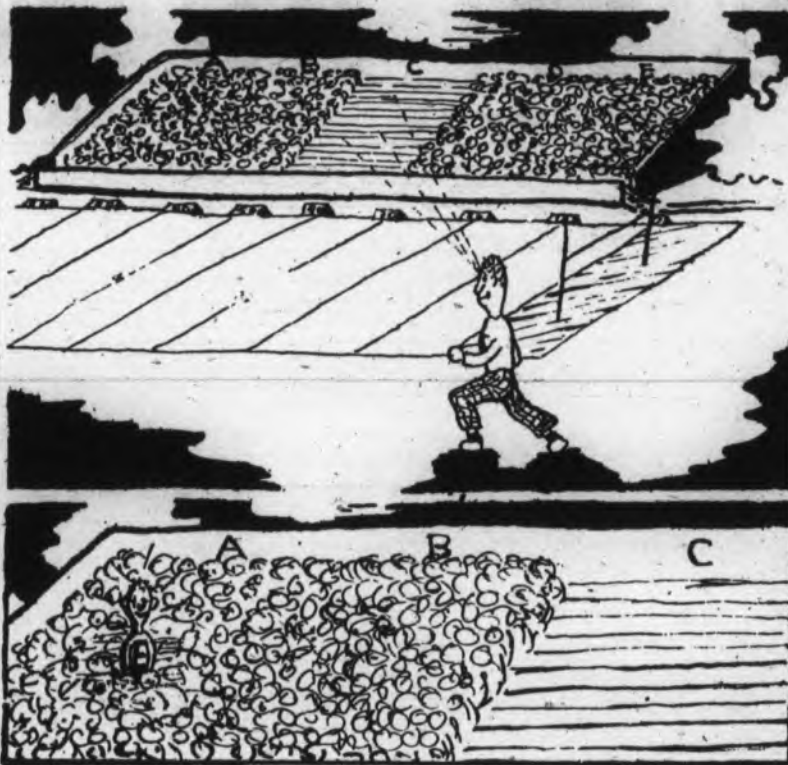

Dr. Keith: "I will, said the little red hen, and she did."

Roger Geyer, Vallonia, Ind. freshman: "Unsinita-Unsinita-Unsinita! (Dr. Cox's brain chid! And he's cute, too!)"

Jess Walter, Harrodsburg, sophomore: "What 'cha doin', lil boy?" (Dedicated to Bill Barbecue.)

Jack Stidham, Hazard, senior: "No kidding!"

Jim Dupree, Vicco, sophomore: "Just whatever you think."

SANGUINE SAGE

BY DR. I. N. STEIN

After my superb effort of last week in solving all of the presented problems in magnificent fashion, I am once more at the service of you students. Naturally, I do not believe that any of you can put forth any questions which are truly worthy of my honest consideration. But, nevertheless, I shall render decisions and criticisms on any of your trite problems. The motto for this week is "Try to stump Stein". Only a fool would think this possible, but as usual a fool wrote in to your dear doctor and here is his letter as received:

Dear Dr. Stink (Some persons misspell my name): Since you are the world's most profound thinker, (this is a bit conservative) my questions will seem rather elementary to you (what question would not?). The question that perplexes me is why did the chicken cross the road? One of our chickens attempted to cross the highway yesterday and was killed by an automobile. Why was that chicken willing to sacrifice its life in order to reach the other side of the road? What is the answer, Dr. Stench (this individual has a terrible time in spelling my name!) ("Chick" N. Trax)

Answer: The question is as old as man himself, and is just about as silly. In the first place who cares whether or not a chicken crosses a road? Dogs, snakes, camels, and other animals far too numerous to name have crossed avenues, and nothing has been said concerning their maneuvers. If a whale crossed a road, you would have something to write about, but almost any chicken is capable of lane-spanning.

If the chicken ventured across the thoroughfare merely for the thrill of so doing, he should have his neck rung. Since chickens are animals and have no power of abstraction, their motive for crossing streets must be one which is tied in with the senses. They evidently gain some pleasure through the senses by such escapades. But if these short excursions end in death for some of them, the price of pleasure is extremely high. This brings up an interesting point. If the chicken stays on this side of the road, he gets his neck rung; but if he crosses it he may be hit by a car.

The answer to the question now unravels itself. Rather than face sure death by having his neck broken, the chicken scurries across the highway, taking his chances with the oncoming automobiles. If you were in his place, wouldn't you do the same?

I have been advised by the contest editor that "Whutzizname" was not identified last week. There fore additional prizes have been added to the already overflowing list. These prizes include:

- 1. A chance to be a stowaway on a slowboat to China.
2. Two links of chain from the Iron Curtain.
3. A Hoover button.
4. An unused ticket to last year's Rose Bowl game.
5. A date with Whutzizname.
Additional clues are as follows:
1. Whutzizname eats (occasionally).
2. Whutzizname is not Dr. Keith.
3. Whutzizname voted for Virgil Cooper.

These clues should put an end to any doubts which have lurked in your mind since the last issue concerning Whutzizname's identity. Send in your answer as soon as possible. In case of ties, duels will be fought.

THE PLAGUE

Browsing through a Progress of the past, we found this parody (written by Bob Ryle, a former editor of the Progress) which we feel would appeal to the hungry students at Eastern who are still plagued by line cutters.

Line-Cutters—A Parody
A line-cutter is my plague. I shall not eat. He maketh me to stand at the bottom of the line, he passeth me with a smile. He enrageth my being, he goeth to the front of the line. Yea though I wait through the long hour of noon. I shall not eat, for he rusheth before me. He eateth his food before me in the presence of mine hungry eyes. He sitteth at a table. His plate runneth over. Surely line cutters and other pests shall not be here all of my days Or I fear I shall go in hunger forever. —The Thin Man by her father. Mrs. Jack Fraley, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Guy Fortney of Harlan served as best man.

The couple left for a wedding trip north and are making their home in Louisville, where the bridegroom is a student at the School of Medicine, University of Louisville.

The bride was graduated from Eastern in June, 1948. Mr. Brashear graduated in the class of 1947.

Juett-Bush

Mrs. Reed Juett of Richmond announces the marriage of her daughter, Ada, to Mr. Stephen Bush of Newport on May 29. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bush teach in the city schools of Newport. Mrs. Bush graduated from Eastern in 1937.

Allen-Deaton

Miss Helen Allen and Mr. Mitchell Deaton of Jackson were graduated from Eastern August 18 and were united in marriage Thursday morning, August 19, by the Reverend Perry L. Stone in the Christian Church, Berea. The Reverend Stone baptized the couple several years ago at Jackson and was their pastor.

Bruner-Turpin

The marriage of Miss Rosemary Bruner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bruner, to Billy Joe Turpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jack Turpin, all of Richmond, was solemnized July 24 at the Danforth Chapel on the campus of Berea College. The Reverend Roy Barnett, minister of the Union City Christian Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Morris Todd, organist, presented several traditional wedding selections. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ashcraft.

Broyles-Kearney

The First Presbyterian Church of Richmond was the scene of the wedding of Miss Joyce Elaine Broyles, daughter of Mrs. E. F. Broyles and the late Mr. Broyles of Plato, and William Corley Kearney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kearney of Jellico, Tenn., which took place at 7:30 o'clock last Friday night. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Olof Anderson, Jr.

The church was decorated with autumn flowers, baskets of white chrysanthemums and fern and candelabra holding white tapers. Miss Peggy McGuire of Ashland, organist, presented a program of nuptial selections. Philip Corey of Rahway, N. J., sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The "Bridal Chorus" from Lohrengin was played for the entrance of the wedding party and Mendelssohn's "Mid-Summer Night's Dream" was the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Glenn Broyles, of Somerset, wore a moss green slipper satin dress with dark accessories, and a shoulder bouquet of lavender orchids.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. William Dorna, Newport, and Miss Virginia Strohmeier of Frankfort. They wore identical emerald green moire frocks with black accessories. Their shoulder bouquets were bronze chrysanthemums.

William Gravely, Harrodsburg, served as best man. Ushers were Edwin Carter and Deward Eades of Richmond.

Following the wedding, a reception was given in the church parlors. The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a bowl of gladioli and fern flanked with white candles in silver holders, and held a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The couple left for a wedding trip North, after which they will return to Jackson where both are members of the public school system.

The bride, a graduate of Berea Academy, received her bachelor of arts degree at Eastern Kentucky State College in August. While there she was a member of the Young Women's Christian Association, Photo Club, Pulaski County Club, the Eastern Progress staff, Little Theater Club and Westminster Fellowship.

Mr. Kearney is a graduate of Jellico High School and was graduated in August from Eastern where he was affiliated with the Mathematics Club, the Progress staff, Canterbury Club, Little Theater Club, Westminster Fellowship, Veterans' Club and Alpha Psi Omega.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served 36 months in a combat engineers battalion of the Third Army. At the close of the European war, he studied with artists from the Barbizon Art Colony, Barbizon, France.

Buchanan-Osman

The marriage of Miss Ruth Jeanne Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buchanan of Rockhold, to Mr. William L. Osman, son of Mrs. Veva Osman of Clearwater, Fla., was solemnized August 21 in the First Methodist Church of Norwood, Ohio, with the Reverend Otto Jensen officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Betty Still, '46 of Bellevue, was organist and Mrs. William Schulte (Elizabeth Plessinger, '46) of Lexington, sang "At Dawning" and "Because." The bride's attendants were Mrs. Ollie Leathers (Ruth Kalb, '45) and Mrs. Earl Insko, of Norwood, sister of the bride. Mr. Warren Brown of St. Louis was best man and ushers were Mr. Insko and Mr. Leathers. The bride graduated from Eastern in 1946, and for the past two years has been teaching home economics in the Franklin county school system. The groom served three years in the Navy as an ensign and is a senior engineering student at Washington University in St. Louis. The couple are making their home at 11 Schultz Road, Kirkwood, Mo.

Hiatt-Younce

Miss Virginia Ruth Hiatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hiatt of Wildie, became the bride of Mr. Robert Claude Younce, son of the Reverend and Mrs. W. C. Younce of West Liberty, June 19 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Hiatt-Younce.

Miss Virginia Ruth Hiatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hiatt of Wildie, became the bride of Mr. Robert Claude Younce, son of the Reverend and Mrs. W. C. Younce of West Liberty, June 19 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Hiatt-Younce.

Evansville, Western Are Varsity Foes

MAROONS HAVE COPPED SIX STRAIGHT CONTESTS

Heading into the back stretch of the 1948 football season, Eastern's Maroon gridders will be seeking their seventh straight win here Saturday night when they play host to a big and rugged Evansville College squad from Indiana. One week later, Big "E" will travel to "foreign soil" at Bowling Green for a traditional clash with Western's Hilltoppers.

Since bowing to Xavier University 31-0 in the season opener, Coach Tom Samuels' pigskin charges have downed Eastern Illinois 25-14, Marshall 20-7, Murray 6-0, Emory and Henry 35-6, Michigan State Normal 20-0 and Morehead 7-0. All seven tilts have been on successive weekends with only one a daylight battle.

Aces High
The highly touted Evansville Purple Aces, no doubt, will take to the field here Saturday night with but one purpose in mind—to knock the Maroons out of the top spot in the newly formed Ohio Valley Conference. To date both Eastern and Evansville are undefeated in league play. The Aces boast a victory over Western while the Maroons have downed Murray and Morehead.

Dads' Game
Sponsored by the Varsity "E" Club, Saturday night's game has been designated as the annual Dads' Game. The respective fathers of the varsity gridders will be guests of the team and will be seated next to the Maroon bench during the game. "Honor Dad" for the game will be Earle Combs, of big league baseball fame. Years before the "Silver Thatched Colonel" starred for the New York Yankees, he was a letterman on Eastern's varsity baseball squad. Stressing the importance of the Evansville game, Coach Tom Samuels warned his charges this week of the coming battle. Samuels said, "We will have to be at our best against Evansville and we can't afford to make any mistakes."

Rough Road
Coach Samuels and backfield coach Glenn Presnell have been working their charges extra hard on improving their scoring punch. On several important occasions the Maroon drives fell short and failed to score points which would pad their lead.

Last week in the Morehead game, the Maroons were in possession of the ball deep in Eagle territory as both halves ended but failed to cash in on those opportunities. The same condition existed in the Eastern-Murray game earlier in the season. In this tilt the Maroons failed to cash in on at least three scoring chances and as a result bowled over the Thoroughbreds by a mere 6-0 margin.

Eastern's gridiron road for the remainder of the season will be a rough one. The Maroons face four stiff opponents in 19 days. Following the Evansville date, the Maroon and White gridders will trek to Western for an afternoon game. This will be Western's Home-coming game and will mark Eastern's third Home-coming engagement of the year. In addition to their own "graduate game" in Richmond, the Maroons took part in Morehead's Home-coming festivities last week.

"E" DEFEATS MOREHEAD 7-0

By the Sports Editor

A hard fighting Morehead State College eleven held the Maroons to a 7-0 victory margin in a bitter battle at Morehead last Saturday afternoon. The varsity chalked up its sixth straight conquest and maintained possession of the coveted "Old Hawg Rifle."

Thoroughly sprinkled with spotty officiating (with the Maroons by far on the worst end) the game was a hard fought battle from start to finish. In topping the Eagles, Eastern remained the pace setter in the Ohio Valley Conference and the KMAC.

Rough Start

The Maroons got off to a bad start when Morehead kicked a short kickoff and recovered the ball in the opening minute of play. For the next two quarters both teams played conservatively as a punting duel took place between Eastern's Joe Hollingsworth and Morehead's big highly touted Ray Niblo. Hollingsworth bettered the Eagle booter in the punting average with 44 yards per try, however, Niblo kept the Maroons deep in their own territory most of the afternoon with his long kicks out of bounds.

Eagles Threaten

A serious Morehead scoring threat fell short on the 1 yard line in the first quarter when the Maroons recovered an Eagle fumble on a quick play which began with a pass from Niblo to Mouser.

Following the halftime intermission, the Maroons came back strong to score. It was quarterback Billy Emmett who galloped 57 yards to score the only touchdown of the afternoon on a quarterback sneak. Bud More Kicked the placement to put the Maroons in a 7-0 lead which they never relinquished.

Morehead threatened late in the third quarter on a sustained drive which with the help of penalties took the Eagles to Eastern's 1. A penalty pushed Morehead back to the Maroon 6. On the next play Eastern's line held and the Eagles were stalled, losing the ball on downs.

The fourth quarter saw Eastern using only power plays to run the time out. Morehead tried desperately to score on passes, end sweeps and line bucks to no avail. As the game ended, Eastern was in possession of the ball deep in Eagle territory by virtue of recovering an enemy fumble.

As previously predicted, the victory was a tough one, but nevertheless an important one.

VARSITY WHIPS MAROONETTES HURONS 20-0

Chalking up their third home win and fifth victory of the season, the varsity gridders trimmed Michigan State Normal 20-0. The tilt was staged in Hanger Stadium on October 23.

Coach Tom Samuels' charges got rolling in the second quarter and scored when halfback Chuck Hertzler fired a pass to Pete Nonnemacher who snagged the aerial and dashed 10 yards to pay dirt.

The Maroon and White scored again in the third period when scatback Paul Moore knifed off tackle and galloped 49 yards for the tally. Seconds later, Moore calmly kicked the extra point to give Eastern a 13-0 lead.

The varsity put on another touchdown drive in the final period. Climaxing the march, Chuck Hertzler plunged over from the 1-yard line.

THE SPOTLIGHT

BY FRED ENGLE, JR.

The Spotlight shines its radiant beams this week on three Freshmen footballers, Egge Lewallen, Ray Lindenfelser, and Don Franklin.

Lewallen is a twenty year old end from Harlan, Kentucky. He stands 6' 1 1/4" and he weighs 195 pounds. In 1947 he was all-CVC and made the All-State second team for Harlan High. He has seen quite a bit of action for the Maroons this year. He is majoring in Physical Education and Business.

Ray "Crazy Legs" Lindenfelser is a 19 year old half-back from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. While playing for Central High of Pittsburgh he was named on the All-Catholic teams of 1945-46. He is majoring in History and Phys. Ed. He is one of the most popular freshman players on the Eastern squad and should develop into a fine back.

Don Franklin is a 19 year old tackle from Covington, Kentucky. Don weighs 200 pounds, and stands 6' 4 1/2". He hails from Covington Holmes High. He plans to be a Commercial Artist. Don's size should make him a tough man in the Eastern line for the coming years.

MAROONETTES AGAIN TIE U-K

By DODO WALKER

Eastern's girl hockey team journeyed to Lexington last week and opened the campaign with a 2-2 deadlock in a tough battle with the University of Kentucky lassies.

It marked the third consecutive time that the Eastern-UK games ended in a deadlock. The Maroonettes will try to break that record here Friday afternoon when they play host to the Wildcat girls squad.

Speedy Jane Wilhoite started things rolling for Eastern early in the first half when she drove through the Kentucky defenses for the first goal of the game. Late in the first half, the Kentucky girls knotted the count.

At the beginning of the second half, the Wildcats showed strength in moving ahead 2-1. However, Wilhoite again broke through for Coach Betty Harris' crew to even the count.

For the remainder of the game most of the action took place near the Kentucky goal but the Maroonettes could not score.

Faced by Ginny Strohmeier's brilliant play, Eastern's halfbacks did a wonderful job of maintaining the defensive and aiding the offensive. With a little more improvement on the front line along with the strong support the backfield offers, Eastern can look optimistically toward giving future opponents a real battle.

Station WKLX To Broadcast

Radio station WKLX of Lexington will broadcast a play-by-play account of the Eastern-Evansville game Saturday night from the press box at Hanger Stadium.

Claude Sullivan, one of the state's leading sportscasters, will be at the mike. WKLX will also broadcast a description of the Eastern-Western battle from Bowling Green next Saturday afternoon.

When asked what grade he made on the Spanish test, the confused student replied "SI, senior!"

SPORT SHOTS

By PAUL DUNCAN, Sports Editor

Hats off to the Maroon gridders for winning a tough ball game from Morehead's Eagles in the "Old Hawg Rifle" traditional battle last Saturday afternoon. Hats off also to the loyal gang of rooters who were able to make the trip to Morehead and give the varsity plenty of needed support. The small band of Eastern followers really put out in rooting the Maroons to victory against terrific odds on "enemy soil."

We're not kidding when we say enemy soil. The varsity had to contend with anything from spotty officiating to rowdy hecklers near the bench and spectators along the sidelines of the playing field.

First of all let's review the officiating of the game. Eastern was penalized a total of 115 yards as compared to only 60 charged to Morehead. According to Coach Samuels this was the highest amount ever called on an Eastern team in his 17 years of coaching here. Included in these penalties were seven calls of 15 yard setbacks. On a few of these penalty calls it was noted that the Morehead coaching staff "suggested" the charges to the officials while the plays were in progress. The worst call of the afternoon came when Eastern was called for tackling the Morehead ball carrier out-of-bounds. No consideration was allowed to the fact that the boundary lines were lined with Eagle spectators and players.

Movies of the game show numerous instances of "dirty play" which officials overlooked. The films also show a Morehead student manager acting as a target and waving his hands high in the air while standing on the out of bounds markers for the convenience of punter Niblo.

Yes, Morehead did play their best game of the season as Coach Ellis Johnson said this week. But, we believe that the game would have been a different ball game with better officiating. For the benefit of our Morehead readers, we repeat - "motion pictures taken of the game verify our statements."

You can't beat good clean sportsmanship. And, that's the best term for the current relationship of Eastern and Murray. Don't take our word for it. Following is the text of a letter written to Coach Tom Samuels by the athletic director of Murray State College shortly after the Maroons handed the Thoroughbreds their first and only defeat of the season:

"I want to congratulate you on a fine game. Your team deserved to win. It was a well coached outfit, especially your defensive maneuvers. On the return trip our boys commented on the clean play of the (Eastern) team. We were also extremely satisfied with the officials."

Try and top that for sportsmanship.

PS... Coach Samuels replied and expressed the feelings of the Maroons, in congratulating the Breds on a fine, clean ball game.

—Beat Evansville—

Goebel Ritter, leading scorer on the varsity basketball team here last year, is doing quite well for himself these days as a professional cager. Goebel is a member of the New York Knickerbockers, Madison Square Garden's entry in the pro loop.

He also played baseball and golf here in addition to being one of the leading members of the varsity team.

PETE NONNEMACHER, popular Maroon quarterback, will no perform on the local gridiron. Pete, a speedy runner and a long distance place kicker, was forced to the sidelines last week with a serious back injury.

A great guy with many friends on the campus, Nonnemacher will concentrate his efforts upon future years of coaching and teaching. On behalf of his many Eastern friends and KMAC fans, we say "Good luck to you, Pete."

"OLD HAWG RIFLE"—Coach Tom Samuels and Captain Paul "Bud" Moore are shown examining the coveted relic which annually goes to the winner of the Eastern-Morehead classic. This season marks the second that Moore has captained the varsity to a win over Morehead for last year he led "Big E" to a 34-7 victory. (Photo Courtesy Courier-Journal)
