A STEP FORWARD

Student government has finally come alive on Eastern's campus. The first effective, student-originated legislation has been put into effect.

The newly passed rules concerning float construction for Homecoming are reasonable and fair. In the past, the conduct of students at the warehouses has certainly left much to be desired, and the owners were both disgusted and worried about the apparent risk of damage.

They also prove that our student government is ready to move forward and accept its responsibility. Let's hope that it doesn't stop now, but proceeds to establish the full machinery of effective student government, including an honor court.

THE TRASH DEPOT

The condition of the grill is a disgrace to Eastern after the noon hour. Judging from the amount of paper thrown on the floor, the students are either too lazy to put their trash in the containers or too dumb to know what the containers are for.

We realize that perhaps the containers are too small and there are not enough of them, but the fact still remains that the ones that are there, regardless of their faults, are not being used.

We agree that it would be nice if the Student Council or the administration would get more open-topped containers but the responsibility of using the trash receptacles remains with the individual student. So, how about it, people?

The administration is planning changes for the grill but until then let's act like mature college students and keep the grill clean—Remember, only trash throw trash!

ROCKET PLANS REVEALED

by Once A Paranoid

The army rocket orbit training corps has announced a new multi-program at Eastern that will result in thousands of students and good money. We feel so fortunate that we may bring you these top facts.

The army has been building a tremendous rocket that will be located in the vicinity of O'Donnell Hall. The army feels that anything this large could not be concealed.

So, we question the fact that it is being built so close to the dorm. It is dangerous. I assure you it is. If something went wrong at blast-off, many students could be drowned in their beds in O'Donnell. I forgot to explain that we will be using a form of water for fuel. It is quite similar to water except our scientists have made it wetter.

The construction in interior design is being supervised by that famous rocket expert, Hot Dog Von Brown. It will be incased in a large orange shell with long stilts supporting it. The apartments and control centers will be in the very center which will water condition anything outer space may offer.

The ROTC has not announced yet when blast off date will be or completion date but we are sure it will be 0-9000, what else. It is figured to take 5 hours to complete blast off, considered by most a fast start. Once in orbit it will circle the earth and romp off to outer space to bring glory to good old ROTC, the army and that glorious bunch of unsung heroes, the astronauts.

Hot War Or Cold War

by Charles Klonne

Events at the U. N. have been running as scheduled. Everyone felt that there would be trouble with Castro, Khrushchev and of course, Red China, angrily screaming, we want in!

Many new nations were recognized, running up the membership to 98. These nations are countries that have broken away from colonial domination.

President Sakarno of Indonesia, speaking for four other neutral nations, called for more summit talks. He felt that this would be the only possible way that we could help ease the cold war. Being a neutral nation, he felt that his advice would be the solution to our dilemma.

Speaking of the cold war, what will Khrushchev have to say to Red China at the Moscow meeting? Will Red China end this cold war with a hot one? The main trouble seems to be that Khrushchev has been working more towards national communism than his international communism.

Things have quieted in the Congo. Colonel Mobutu, the 27-year-old army officer seems to have regained complete control. Chances for the return of Lumumba seem very unlikely now.

Correspondents interviewed Mr. Khrushchev trying to ascertain his feeling on the summit feuds between he and President Eisenhower. Mr. Khrushchev with usual platitudes said that he was ready to talk of a better future at the summit. Then on the day we were to meet the U. S. sent a plane which we were able to shoot down. Then we tried to administer justice. Instead of apology he received replies that made him feel that they were to blame for shooting down a spy plane.

Later on that night Prime Minister MacMillan called on Khrushchev. In their discussion Khrushchev said that he felt that nothing could be settled with this administration but there would be a good chance with the next administration.

However, Mr. Khrushchev said that talks might resume. If President Eisenhower would make an apology for sending the planes. It is very doubtful that meetings could be set up at this time. In all probability there will be no reunions of the two leaders.

CAMPUS COMEDY

"I'M GOING TO GO AHEAD AND GRADUATE ANYWAY JUST FOR THE HECK OF IT."

TOUCHE'

by BARRY BRENNEN

Some years ago the educational world received a great shock. Namely that a revolutionary grading system, formulated by the noble Dean in an obscure southern college, failed to gain national acceptance.

It seems that the good dean was called upon (by members of the faculty who were frightened out of their minds) to formulate a new system of grading after a particularly dedicated assistant professor of biology was hanged in Effigy (the college, and it hardly needs to be mentioned here was located in Effigy, Virginia) by vote members of the football team, one member of which had flunked comparative anatomy because, no doubt, it was less than he had expected (the football player eventually took up annual husbandry, but then, it figures).

The dean, of course, was horrified, and when she heard that plans were afoot to burn the remainder of the particularly dedicated faculty at the stake (with the exception of the co-educational wrestling coach and an English instructor who taught a course in conversation and took the dictionary definition much too seriously) he took positive actions. Sooo the following notice was posted:

Attention Faculty: Section I The students who came under the following classifications are to be passed, with honor, regardless of class room performance. The office of the dean will accept no excuse from the faculty for the failure of these students (see notes for further instructions) Classification 1.) All students who attend the institutions on a sports scholarship and/or all students who are members of student council, house councils, or hold office of equal importance in the student body.

NOTE: Students who fall in this classification have been asked to have the name of their activity and/or number totaled on either their forehead or elbow in one of seven adorable pastel colors. The business office will perform this task when I.D. cards are made at a cost of 25 cents per student. In the case of a sports scholarship however, the cost is absorbed by the college. But only one of two colors is available for the tattoo: Either black or blue.

Classification 2.) Group A) Students whose parents are alumni. Group B) Students whose parents are rich alumni.

NOTE: In dealing with class B try to give them seats in the front of the room, if necessary more comfortable chairs, and, if possible, mention how badly we need a new gym, girl's dormitory, and student union at least twenty times in one class period.

Classification 3.) All students who have ever expressed any desire to become ministers, priests, nuns, or librarians. Classification 4.) Daughters of Daughters of the American Revolution.

NOTE: Exempt students. The following students must, repeat, must receive a grade of D or below. This is regardless of faculty prejudice or results of freshman classification lists. Classification 1.) Students who, in a foreign language class, are not as adept at the foreign language as they appear to be with their native. Classification 2.) Students who make public remarks about cafeteria food. Classification 3.) Students whose parents are not member of a labor union. NOTE: Exempt students who fall under group B, classification 2, Section 1. Classification 4.) Students who speak to the faculty on the street (be particularly careful if he speaks to the professor in class). So much for a perfect system of grading. The failure of this plan drove the dean, previously referred to, to drink and he spent the remainder of his life writing ballets for Sadler Well's reject. "But," as Mahatma Ghandi was fond of saying, "you win a few, lose a few, and a few get rained out."

Letters To The Editors

Dear Editor:

I think the subject of grass is a very interesting one. Mr. Webster defines grass as a green herbage affording food for cattle, or other grazing animals. Our administration defines grass as a very tender plant that students shouldn't walk on because the tender little plant will pick up its small delicate leaves and die.

On our campus cows don't walk on our grass, but football players run back and forth on it, band members march up and down on it, and cars can park on it.

The football players only leave holes in the tender small leaves. The band members only stomp the tender small leaves into the ground, and the cars only tread the hell out of it.

So my conclusion is, if all the above can run, march, and park on the grass, why can't the men of Keith Hall walk on the grass?

Berry Wireman President of Keith Hall

Mr. Charles Klonne Mr. Larry Stanley Co-Editors Eastern Progress Campus

Dear Charles and Larry: I want you to know how delighted I was at the "new look" in the Progress. We were all quite proud of it. When we realize it represents something of a break from the past, I think it augurs well for the future. Congratulations.

Cordially yours, Robert H. Martin President

BEWARE OF THE THESPIAN

by Elmer Banks

You, the typical Eastern student, will soon be exposed to the dangerous menace of dramatics. Just remember, though, that plays cannot harm you if you stay away from them. Adopt the attitude that drama is unnecessary, unimportant, and generally superfluous, and you will be safe. If you are obstinate enough to disregard my warning (which is unlikely), and decide to attend a play anyway (which is even more unlikely), then let me warn you of some specific dangers which you will face.

First, there is a grave danger that you may learn to think, especially if you see a serious play. Drama, like human life, is either tragic or farcical. But as I was saying, the serious plays are more likely to cause you to think, and when you begin to think, you become unhappy. You may realize for the first time that this is not the best possible of all possible worlds. You may even learn to weep over Jerusalem.

The comedies (funny plays) are not so dangerous as this, but they can sometimes cause embarrassment. It is sometimes difficult to know when to laugh and when to refrain from laughing. Some perplexed play watchers take the easy way out and laugh when everyone else does. This usually works, but occasionally when the audience is laughing uproariously, it is possible to discern an expression of faint contempt on the face of some reasonably intelligent drama critic. For several years now, I have thought about this problem of to laugh and not to laugh, and I believe I have found a solution. When one is undecided, he should smile in a superior sort of way. Then, if the lines are really funny, well and good. If they are not, then the other intelligent people will believe you to be smiling at the stupidity of the audience for laughing at lines which are not funny.

So, let me warn you again. Stay away from plays. Right now, they don't affect you, but as soon as you go to one, you will begin to either like or dislike them. If you dislike them, you really haven't gained much because there are already a sufficient number of things to dislike. If you should enjoy plays, you will have to face all of the dangers mentioned above, and in addition, you'll find yourself in the disagreeable position of being in a minority.

If you ever feel a faint urge to attend a play, don't succumb to the temptation. Instead, do something else, anything else. Read a comic book. Go see a Western. Organize a sex orgy in the Ravine, or a poker game in the dorm, or do anything else which will win you the esteem and affection of your peer group, but stay away from plays.

If you do go to one, you may lose forever the beautiful bliss of complacency.

What Do You Think Of Eastern?

From time to time the Progress will run the opinions of students, selected at random, on campus issues. The questions will deal with many facets of student life. The Progress staff believes that such coverage is necessary to insure that the paper remains the voice of the student body.

The question this week concerns the opinions that freshmen have about the campus.

Suggestions regarding questions to be asked may be left in the Progress office. Remember, this is your paper.

LARRY MADDOX, Wurtland, Ky. Physical Education major: "I think it's a pretty good college... I like it here."

JOE CAYWOOD, Ravina, Ky. Commerce major: "It's really very nice... I like it here... though I haven't been here long enough to form any opinions."

WANDA LASATER, Tennessee. Elementary Education: "I like it quite a bit. I think I am going to enjoy going to school here... It's a beautiful campus."

NANCY BOWLES, Richmond, Ky. Home Economics major: "Eastern is everything that I thought it would be. I have always wanted to attend Eastern... it has one of the best Home Ec. departments in the state."

FASHION TIPS

by Gretchen Wuerdeman

Legs are definitely coming back in style with the raising of hemlines to new and glorious heights again this year. My Lady will show more of her calves by wearing dresses of the new sheek design. Fashion dictators are scratching frills and fluffs from their drawing boards and replacing them with a very simple design. Collars, if any, on these new creations are more rounded and growing larger and larger.

To this basic design, a woman can add extra attractions by choosing accessories according to her own taste.

Accessories, too, have seen some changes. Purses have become thinner and longer, and shoes have become more unbecomingly pointed. But the eye-catchers are now brightly colored gloves, ropes upon ropes of multicolored beads and hats that put 18th century plumage to shame.

Once again nats are becoming a woman's crowning glory. Velvet is replacing felt; Pheasant feathers and Ostrich plumes are being used instead of what used to resemble left overs from a sick chicken. Jewels are also being added to the already somewhat lavish headdresses. It may take time for a female's mind to kindle, but now, at least, her head can sparkle.

For the campus, there are some new entries. The square cut blazer has a new competitor in one that has a rolled tux collar with three buttons at the bottom of the coat. This design lessens the strictly masculine cut of the usual blazer.

As for collegiate coats, the bulky camel's hair coat is being shoved to the back of the rack by the trim chesterfield coat. The best feature of this coat is that when worn off campus it does not give the appearance that its owner still wears sweat socks and sneakers as does the camel coat.

Last but not least, the most cosmopolitan article that can be carried with a chesterfield is a swagger stick. However, this is strictly an off campus fashion, unless one's boy friend is less than a gentleman.

ROTC Honors Past Commander

The Eastern Cadet Officers Club of the Military Science Department voted unanimously to change the name of the club from The Cadet Officers Club to the John Nick Combs Memorial Company.

John Nick Combs, a graduate of the class of 1958, was commissioned a 2nd Lt. upon graduating from Eastern. While at Eastern Lt. Combs was Cadet Corps Commander and Pershing Rifles Commander, the only cadet in the history of the school to hold both offices. He was the outstanding cadet in his sophomore, junior, senior class, captain of the Cadet Officers Club, elected to Who's Who, and graduated a Distinguished Military Student.

Lt. Combs was killed last year, along with three of the top men in his class, in an airplane accident.

New Officers

The John Nick Combs Memorial Company has elected Bobby Smith, Cadet 1st Lt., executive officer of the company. Josh Portman was elected as 1st Sgt. secretary. The company commander, Don Axom, presided at the meeting. Plans for the coming year were discussed. They included: the budget, float for home-coming, band committee for the Military Ball the finance committee and the election of the corps sponsor.

Civil Service Exams Announced

"Career Opportunities in the Federal Civil Service" for college seniors and graduates will be discussed by Alonzo Nelson and Courtney Whitaker, Employee Utilization Representatives, Blue Grass Ordnance Depot, Richmond, Kentucky. They will reveal the very wide variety of positions available to students who pass the Federal Service Entrance Examination.

The Federal Service Entrance Examination is designed to bring into the Federal service each year the best of the nation's young college graduates into positions which offer them advancement and career opportunities. Mr. Nelson and Mr. Whitaker stressed that seniors should take the examination now, before their graduation. On graduation they may have a federal position awaiting them.

Mr. Nelson and Mr. Whitaker stated that Federal agencies in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, and West Virginia have indicated their needs to fill over 500 vacancies within the next year from this examination alone. Students appointed to positions filled from this examination will receive training in or perform administrative, professional, technical, or other specialized work in such fields as general administration, economics or other social sciences, business analysis and regulation, social security administration, organization and methods examining, production planning, communications, personnel management, budget management, automatic data processing, library science, statistics, investigation, information, records management, food and drug inspection, recreation, customs inspection, and inspection and supply. Appointments will also be made to positions in agriculture and natural science.

Mr. Nelson and Mr. Whitaker also stated that the entrance levels or trainee rates for college graduates with no experience or a minimum of experience range from grade GS-5 ($4345 a year) to GS-7 ($5355 a year). Many Federal agencies provide special training programs to accelerate the advancement of college graduates to higher grade levels. For example, if a college graduate enters employment under a formal training program, he may expect to be promoted from GS-5 to GS-7 within six months to one year, or from GS-7 to GS-9 ($6435 a year) within a similar period—depending upon the specific terms of the training program. If he does not enter employment under a formal training program, he may expect to be promoted after having served one year in grade. Most promotions are at two-grade intervals, that is, from GS-5 to GS-7, from GS-7 to GS-9, from GS-9 to GS-11 ($7560). Beyond GS-11, advancement is at one-grade intervals up to the maximum grade, GS-17 ($18,500).

Seniors may obtain a copy of the Federal Service Entrance Examination announcement, of application card Form 5000AB, and of Form AN 2301 showing where the examination is held, from College Placement Officer, Room 7, and on the bulletin board, Administration Building. Forms and additional information may also be obtained from Mr. Nelson and Mr. Whitaker on Oct. 19, 1960, Recreation Room, Student Union Building. The application card may be given to Mr. Nelson and Mr. Whitaker or mailed directly to the Sixth U. S. Civil Service Region, U. S. Post Office and Courthouse, Cincinnati 2, Ohio.

To take the examination to be given on Oct. 15, 1960, students should file by Sept. 29; for the Nov. 19 examination, by Nov. 3; for the Jan. 14, 1961 exam, Dec. 22, 1960; February 11, 1961, file by Jan. 26, 1961; April 15, 1961, by March 30, 1961; April 13, 1961, by April 27.

Academic Responsibility

College students need to learn that acquiring an education is a do-it-yourself project, according to President J. Ralph Murray of Elmira College. He advocates that every freshman be given the opportunity of having one independent study course.

Professors may object that freshmen are not ready for this undertaking, Dr. Murray said. "They would be," he added, "except that professors in America think their students cannot, and will not learn without professors as the source of most wisdom."

"I submit that many students at all levels in higher education would receive more meaningful educational experience, with better net results, if they were given good course outlines, mimeographed copies of many lectures and suggestions for broad reading; attended a few lectures, had infrequent conferences with the professor, and were to make a full accounting of their experience both in a paper and through an oral examination. Thus, they would be encouraged—and even forced—to share the responsibility for the acquisition of their education."

Points Out Responsibility
He pointed out that many educators want students to have individual and group responsibility in student government and the social areas and in choice of courses; but that these same educators demand "prescribed reactions, stereotyped methods and limited content in what they call the last stronghold of freedom in the classroom."

Dr. Murray suggested decreasing the number of courses taken by the student, eliminating much of the time spent in class and requiring that all courses on a student's program be interrelated. This, he said, would make possible greater depth and breadth in the educational experience.

"The best qualified students and faculty could pursue excellence to the extent of their capabilities," he added, "and all other students and faculty would have the freedom and opportunity to pursue their interests in programs full of individual potentialities."

FRIDAY! THE GREATEST SIXTY-ONE DERFUL CHEVROLET

Here's the car that reads you loud and clear—the new-size, you-size '61 Chevrolet. We started out by trimming the outside size a bit (to give you extra inches of clearance for parking and maneuvering) but inside we left you a full measure of Chevy comfort. Door openings are as much as 6 inches wider to give feet, knees, and elbows the undisputed right of way. And the new easy-chair seats are as much as 14% higher—just right for seeing, just right for sitting.

Once you've settled inside you'll have high and wide praises for Chevrolet's spacious new dimensions (in the Sport Coupes, for example, head room has been upped as much as 2 inches, and there's more leg room, too—front and rear). Chevy's new trunk is something else that will please you hugely—what with its deep-well shape and bumper-level loading it holds things you've never been able to get in a trunk before.

Yet, generously endowed as this car is with spaciousness and clean-etched elegance, it holds steadfastly to all the thrifty, dependable virtues Chevrolet buyers have come to take for granted. Your dealer's the man to see for all the details.

There's never been a trunk like it before! The floor's recessed more than half a foot and the loading height is as much as 10 1/2 inches lower.

STUDENT GOV. ENACTS RULES

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (I.P.)—The Student Government Association on the campus of the University of Pittsburgh has adopted minimum standards of eligibility for student participation in student organizations. The standards follow:

1. Membership is open only to registered university students. (This may be interpreted to mean those who are regularly registered, that is, registered for two out of three trimesters.)
2. Chairmen or other major officers shall be required to have a 2.0 cumulative QPA (on a 4.0 system) or a 2.25 QPA for the previous term. (The committee is aware that 2.0 is not the current cut-off point for academic probation in all schools, and that a student may be below a 2.0 or other cut-off point without being placed on academic probation by his school. (While it was assumed that a 2.0 will become the standard below which a person would be placed on academic probation, the eligibility requirements are not, as passed, related to academic probation.)
3. Only registered students in good standing shall be allowed to represent the university in intercollegiate activities. A student on academic or disciplinary probation may not participate in tours, trips, delegations or other activities in which he officially represents the University or a university organization. SGA emphasizes that these are considered minimum standards and that any organization has the right to maintain or establish higher standards, academic or otherwise, for its own membership.

Tennis Courts On Way

President Martin announced yesterday, Wednesday, October 5, that plans have been made for the construction of six new tennis courts adjacent to Mattox Hall.

Eastern's "Marching Maroons" form their famous "Big E" in practice session. The band will perform during the halftime at Homecoming.

the new men's dormitory now being erected. "We hope to have the courts lighted," Martin said; "it will cost about four thousand dollars, but we would like to do it."

The construction of these courts brings the existing number up to eight. A number of courts, as you may realize, were destroyed last year when the building program got under way.

With the President's announcement, plans were being made for the revival of the tennis team which was discontinued when the courts were destroyed.

NEW '61 CHEVY CORVAIR

More space... more spunk and wagons, too!

The newest car in America: the CORVAIR 700 LAKEWOOD 4-DOOR STATION WAGON.

CORVAIR 700 CLUB COUPE. Like all coupes and sedans, it has a longer range fuel tank.

CORVAIR 700 4-DOOR SEDAN. Provisions for heating ducts are built right into its Body by Fisher.

Here's the new Chevy Corvair for '61 with a complete line of complete thrift cars.

To start with, every Corvair has a budget-pleasing price tag. And Corvair goes on from there to save you even more. With extra miles per gallon... quicker-than-ever cold-start warmup so you start saving sooner... a new extra-cost optional heater that warms everyone evenly. Riding along with this extra economy: more room inside for you, more room up front for your luggage (sedans and coupes have almost 12% more usable trunk space).

And our new wagons? You'll love them—think they're the greatest thing for families since houses. The Lakewood Station Wagon does a man-sized job with cargo, up to 68 cubic feet of it. The Greenbrier Sports Wagon you're going to have to see—it gives you up to 175.5 cubic feet of space for you and your things.

Corvair's whole thrifty lineup gets its pep from a spunkier 145-cu.-in. air-cooled rear engine. Same rear-engine traction, same smooth 4-wheel independent-suspension ride. See the polished and refined 1961 Corvair first chance you get at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Spare tire is in the rear in coupes and sedans—leaving more luggage space up front.

Even middle-seat passengers sit pretty, thanks to Corvair's practically flat floor.

Now in production—the GREENBRIER SPORTS WAGON with up to twice as much room as ordinary wagons (third seat optional at extra cost).
