Plea For 'Responsible Power'

Wilborn Issues Call To Unite Forces

By ALLEN TRIMBLE

Managing Editor

Student Government President Steve Wilborn released a nine-page proposal yesterday that, he hopes, will produce $15,000 for the Student Activity Fund.

In outlining plans for the year, Wilborn said: "The theme this year is "Responsible Power." The purpose of the proposal is to serve as a guide for the acting president, Mr. John Harris, and will be published in the Student Union Building.

Preliminary work on the plan will begin after the Student Council meets Tuesday night. Wilborn said: "We'll be working closely with the student council because the theme is "Responsible Power.""

In preparing the proposal, Wilborn said: "We're planning to do something about parking, including the possibility of reducing the number of parking spaces on campus."

The proposal will also include suggestions for the distribution of parking permits, the cost of which will be paid by students.

"We're also planning to have a more active role in campus safety, including the possibility of installing a campus security system," Wilborn said.

"The theme is based on the idea that we have a responsibility to the community, and that we should be responsible in our actions."

Wilborn said: "Our goal is to make people aware of the need for responsible power, and to encourage them to be more responsible in their actions."
Is Western Placing A Burden On The Taxpayers?

Opportunity came to one of its greatest heights two weeks ago when Western Kentucky University authorized bonds totaling $42 million to aid Kentucky Southern in an effort to stay alive.

Kentucky Southern is a Louisville-based liberal arts college of about 1,000 students that had been struggling with financial problems of huge dimensions in its study, eight-year existence. Last year, Kentucky Southern almost merged with the University of Louisville, but an all-out campaign by the students there raised $13.2 million and gave the school a new lease on life.

But again this fall there was doubt as late as early September as to whether or not the school could afford to open its doors to students. Attempts to refinance the $75.5 million debt had not been very successful, but the school officials did finally decide to start classes.

According to Kentucky Southern officials, attempts were made to get the University of Kentucky to underwrite a bond issue similar to the one Western just approved. But UK decided that such a move would not be feasible.

So, the move was made to attract Western's and was successful.

Why it succeeded is obvious. The terms of the arrangement call for Western to take over Kentucky Southern and its debts and assume any debt anytime during a five-year period of the Louisville school's failure to meet payments. If that were to happen, and it very well could.

Not only does Kentucky Southern boast a unique curriculum that attracts many state students, but it also has on a large base of ground that in addition to having attractive buildings, has extensive room for expansion.

State Finance Commissioner Albert Crum has raised the highest question: Christia said he didn't see how West ern's plan could be carried. He expressed the belief that only the legislature can legally obligate the state to a commitment to a private school. Another official said he thought the present plan violates Sections 177 of the Constitution which states that 'The credit of the Commonwealth shall not be given, pledged or loaned to any individual, company, corporation or association."

What about Western and its students? How could they possibly spend $2.1 million borrowed in one year, on income from the sale of $1.1 million of their programs? If they can do so, may be some state funds should be repaid at a later date.

Hanlon's Courage Spurs Thought

Too often, thoughts are generally gone unnoticed, especially in a war that has grown as ugly as is Vietnam. Those who give their lives, and by their deaths, help keep a war fromaper, are greatly appreciated by the general public who, though not always meaning to show it, does it.

Hanlon's story, of course, was one of the 'old regiments,' neither of which could lay claim to much support from the students who had seemed to study care about the important issues. And the thought that this was an evolved saga, stirred even less support from the young.

What was most apparent during these last months was that college students cared enough about what direction the country took to give their talents and in exchange courage to the candidate they felt was the right one. What was even more important was that the purest thought to bear upon the decision-making was that it was sufficient to show new directions in foreign and domestic policy.

But also, the candidates whose very candidacy had been sparked in students' minds. What is even more ironic is the apparent position of the student of the political scene. They have existed for the past 20 months only more quickly than they entered.

For those who wish to demonstrate but do nothing else to improve existing situations, the college student seems to have removed himself from politics simply because his candidate lost the nomination. That, as I see it, is the real tragedy.

While many of us may not agree with the general philosophies of the two candidates, they are qualified, respected men; they couldn't have gotten where they are any other way. That, too, wish to see an end to the (Continued On Page Three)

The Eastern College product who was named the outstanding player in Saturday's 6-0 victory over Austin Peay in the opening game of the regular season at Stone Stadium in Kingsport, Tenn., was Western's quarterback, John Thomas Pullins.

The Tennessee Valley's highest-scoring college team took its 1-0 mark on the road with a 23-20 victory over Austin Peay in the conference opener.

The game was marred by a total of 20 penalties and 441 yards of yardage gained in the contest.

The Colonels invaded the state of Tennessee for the first time in their history.

The Colonels, who are 0-1-1 in their history, scored their first touchdown of the season on a 31-yard scoring jaunt by senior fullback, Pat Hauser.

In the first game against Hillsdale College (Mich.), Pullins opened third quarter to Elke—Don Beuhler 61 pass.

Bob Veale led the Bucs with 18 tackles. He is also an accurate field goal booter. To be a good place-kicker, a player must have excellent timing. By this is meant, he must have perfect timing between the man holding the ball and himself. In this way, he can put his foot on either the long or short side of his kicking foot to get the ball rolling correctly.

The Colonels' defensive line held Austin Peay to a 2-0 mark in the first game of the season. The Colonels' defense did its job and stopped the Peay offense for most of the game.

The game was a low-scoring affair, with the Colonels winning 23-20. The Peay offense was held to 0-0 in the first half.

Autumn Wear

Wool Fashions For Fall Attire

By CAROL LAIRD

Wool is coming into view again for the chilly autumn nights.

For casual wear the pant suit is back to give a sophisticated touch to slacks. There's a hint of men's wear influence in tux, pant suits and blazers, but even the tailored looks have feminine overtones.

The tailored blouse with over-all reversibility is a top seller. Greens and browns are favorite color choices of red, green, brown and blue. Pants and shirts include a blouse and a suit jacket and skirt or pant or pants.

The suit jacket is made as a tailored coat or a casual jacket with a solid collar that can be given a represented style that is popular at this time. The lining can be solid or a color that is repeated on the body of the jacket. The suit jacket can be made to have a soft collar without a collar point or a more tailored look. The suit jacket can have a solid color or a color that is repeated on the body of the jacket.
