FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN

The Progress staff extends its best wishes to the student body and members of the faculty for a most enjoyable Thanksgiving. It might be said that the things for which we are most thankful is simply that we are Americans.

MAROONED with ED CARTER

WE KNOW THAT THIS IS KENTUCKY, BUT . . .

... is that any reason to behave like characters out of Lil Abner? Of course, one can easily tell Eastern students from Al Capp characters because Eastern students wear shoes. It seems logical then that the Dogpatch boys didn't leave hoofmarks all over the walls of the men's lounge a few weeks after it was painted.

Of course it must have been a couple of Skunk Hollowers who did some rather loud courtin', accompanied by lip-smacking terbaccer (or was it chompin' gum?) chawin' at the Helen Jepson concert.

HOW TO WRITE A COLUMN

Those awe-struck rubes who think that this column is either divinely or diabolically inspired are wrong.

This column is the result of hard work, one hundred percent American ingenuity and traditional private enterprise.

To start with, we foll up our sleeves, spit on our hands, and sit down at the typewriter. After hours of labor, we finally get a new ribbon in the infernal machine.

We then decide that a scholarly atmosphere is needed. After several hours of serious study, we have soaked up enough of the culture patterns of western civilization. We take our hat and tiptoe out, dropping "Life" as we go.

Back in our cosy little garret, we beat our brains out for an hour or so. No inspiration. Also the walls are getting the worst of the beating. We are desperate. We search the bookcase; catastrophe has struck! Some low cur has purloined our copy of "Forever Amber!"

We gaze at the pictures of Robert Ruark and Westbrook Pegler with the burning candles under them. No inspiration.

We must commune with nature. After an hour standing on the street corner, we reluctantly conclude no one is going to the Dinner bell in a car tonight.

We stagger back to the room, to sleep, perchance to dream. Early in the morning we take the Courier-Journal from the doorstep, after chasing away the wolves.

We stare at it with glazed eyes. Then—Eureka!—inspiration has struck. We have our column. Dipping our vulture's quill into rattle-snake venom (courtesy of Mr. Hopp), we take scissors, paste and the "Courier" in hand and write our column.

THE SHOW MUST GO ON

Scene: The Little Theatre. "Hay Fever" is being rehearsed. The actors are Mr. Graham and members of the "Hay Fever" cast. All the cast is present except Ed Strohmer and Cieta Jennings. Mr. Graham and Ed Carter are pacing back and forth knitting their eyebrows. As Cieta enters, they throw aside the needles.

MR. GRAHAM: All right, she's here. Where's Strohmer?
CASEBOLT: I haven't seen him. (This was the night Casebolt came to rehearsal.)

GRAHAM: Oh, darn! (Strohmer enters.)

GRAHAM: Where have you been?
STROHMER: I had a date.

GRAHAM: Indeed. And how is Dr. Schnell this evening? Everybody get on stage and rehearse.

(The cast goes to the stage, leaving behind various milk-shakes, cokes, cigarette butts and rattle-snakes. Suddenly in the midst of the dialogue, there is a very pregnant silence.)

GRAHAM: Where's Cieta? That's her cue.

STAGE MANAGER: How the ——— should I know? (He flexes his golden vocal chords and yells: CL-E-E-TA! There is a silence so dead that it should be buried immediately. Further on the dialogue Ramsey and Casebolt get lost backstage. Corey, Gravely and Henderson get lost while searching.)

GRAHAM: ———!! Get on stage! ———!

STAGE MANAGER: Oh, Ibsen! Oh, Shakespeare! O'Neill!

Oh, ———!

GRAHAM: ———!

CAST (IN UNISON): ———!!!

AH, BASKETBALL

At the game the other night, we took or tried to take, a walk around the stadium to warm our feet. During our little peregrination, we counted the freshly-killed bodies of four beer cans and 15 whiskey bottles. Our passage was impeded by bottles "falling" from the top of the stadium and by the recumbent forms of some people who must have thought the sidewalk a wonderful place to sleep.

Well, the football season is about over and Hoop-Happy Time will soon be here. Having purchased a suit of armor and a catcher's mask, we look forward with drooling anticipation to the forthcoming basketball games.

SCRIBBLES

By C. G.

THE VOICE . . .

Eastern's victory over the Eagles caused Dr. Keith to lose his voice for nearly a week. However, he has regained the use of the vocal cords. He continues to tell his classes "it is now time for the whistle to whistle."

JOKE OF THE WEEK

At a recent movie the other night, the plot was about the Company Commander who ordered one of his men to cover with his body a live hand grenade in order to save the other members of the outfit. Quipped John "Suitcase" Finnegan: "The Company Commander would not have ordered me to do that because my body wouldn't cover a grenade."

COURTESY . . .

Yours truly would like to remind the student body again that it is rather rude to cut into the cafeteria line. Why the rush!

Campus Personalities

By KATHERINE SIZEMORE

I would like to present this week one of the campus' most popular redheads, Edna Truesdale, of Trinity.

Edna, a senior, can be seen most of the time with "Tish," her best girl-friend. Her range of extracurricular activities keeps her busy as it includes the Photo Club, Kyma and the presidency of the House Council.

Edna's pet hate is alarm clocks but her likes are many. Her favorite orchestra leader is Guy Lombardo, and her song is "Near You." Men take note. Her favorite dish is a hamburger with onions. I am sure that you will like Edna, so get acquainted with her.

I don't believe our next "guest" hardly needs an introduction as he is the editor of The Progress, Sam Fife. His personality makes him well known to all the students.

Sam is twenty-two, 6' 1" and has (another one!) red hair. He is a native of Richmond and has been on the campus since 1931.

Sam's major is Social Science but he hopes to do newspaper work after he graduates in June. We feel sure that he will succeed in this vocation. However, we understand that he dislikes "to work." But his good points will cover up this fact.

His likes, too, are many. No doubt he will be happy next week for his favorite food happens to be the traditional Thanksgiving menu.

He holds membership in the World Affairs Club, Kyma, the Little Theater Club, The Messiah Chorus, the Westminster Fellowship and other organizations. While a student he has served on several student committees.

Good luck to you, "Editor" Fife, all Eastern is behind you.

A Word To The Y's

By ELIZABETH PENNINGTON

The Rev. Frank N. Tinder, minister of the First Christian Church of Richmond, is presenting a lecture series of the Bible at Thursday evening vespers which are held at 6:30 o'clock in the Little Theatre. The student body is cordially invited to hear the Rev. Mr. Tinder.

The Y's will again sponsor the Hanging of the Greens. It will be presented at 4 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 7, in Walnut Hall of the Keen Johnson Student Union Building. Nearly 70 persons will assist in its presentation. No student should miss this program as it is one of the most impressive of the year.

The girls of Burnam Hall are invited to meet at 9:15 o'clock each night in the recreation room for Evening Watch. The Y girls hope that these short devotions may benefit many.

The YWCA is happy to announce that it now has a membership of 203 which is one of the largest enrollments in the history of the organization.

As a part of its Community Service, the Y is planning to present a program in the near future at the Big Hill Avenue Christian Church in Richmond. The Rev. A. C. Duncan is minister.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE Miss Areva Burton, freshman, of Somerset, has been appointed campus representative of the Church of the Nazarene, it was announced today by the Rev. Kline F. Dickerson, pastor of the church. Services are held at the church each Sunday and each Wednesday night.

For Cats Only

By BILL GRAVELY

Well Clip My Whiskers—

Once again the Veterans Club has moved to enliven local activities by bringing in some good live entertainment. The appearance of Baritone John Mulberry on December 4 will mark another good deed on the records for this on-the-ball outfit. Mr. Mulberry has planned a program of familiar works and will probably perform before one of the largest audiences of the season.

Just Call Me Tom—

That young cello player who attracted so much attention at the orchestra chapel concert a few Wednesdays ago is Jimmy Shannon, son of Representative-Elect J. J. Shannon of Richmond. Jimmy is a student at Model High and is a real credit to his teacher, Miss Jane Campbell of the Eastern music staff.

The Student Union Music Committee has come through with two very good reasons for staying around school weekends. Sunday, November 9, it presented Tom Stone and Miss Frances McPherson of the Eastern music staff, and Sunday, November 16, they offered Miss Mary Anders, xylophonist, and Richard Warner, pianist, of Berea College's music faculty, in Walnut Hall concerts.

Mr. Van Peursem, director of that traditional Eastern Christmas event, The Messiah, has announced the professional soloists who will join this year's chorus on Sunday evening, December 7. Heading the list is Carlton Eldridge, blind tenor from Lansing, Michigan. In the soprano role will be Miss Elenor Pugh, daughter of last year's tenor soloist, from Ohio State University. The bass will be Mr. Hubert Kackritz of the Cincinnati Conservatory, who will also sing at Berea, and the alto soloist will be Miss Louise Boggs from Louisville.

Fassssssssssst—

Say, if you should happen to investigate the source of some of those tones you hear emitting from the Telford Building these Wednesday afternoons you would probably be well rewarded. Two of Eastern's lovelys can be frequently found hard at work at such a time on their program for a spring two-piano and two-violin recital. Peggy McGuire and Margaret Holden are planning to do the entire program themselves, and if you don't think that takes lots of hard work and patience my friend, you should try it.

Band Director Harold Rigby reports no casualties from that organization's yearly football journey that took them to Louisville to entertain Fall City sports fans.

Eastern sent quite a representation to hear Tommy Dorsey at Lexington's Joyland Park last night. As usual after hearing a band of such caliber, they may be spotted today by the wearing of that dazed expression. Incidentally a group of students and faculty members were in Winchester Tuesday night to hear David Lloyd, tenor.

Call The Claw—

Vaughn Monroe—great, great, great grandson of Former President Monroe—has decided to send his son to medical school in order that he might continue the Monroe Doctrine.

MAROONS TO CLOSE AT LOUISIANA

SPORT SHOTS

By PAUL DUNCAN, Sports Editor

Western's coach, Jesse Thomas, sat in the press box high up above the playing field at Parkway Field in Louisville, watching Eastern lose a heart-breaker to the University of Louisville. As he looked at his assistants who helped him scout the Maroons in action, there was a smile on his face. There was also a smile on the faces of his aides, including Ed Diddle, the Hilltopper cage coach.

Those smiles appeared to be smiles of approval to the fact that Eastern was behind. Perhaps the Westerners were thinking of what their team was going to do a week later at Hanger Stadium when they met Eastern.

Whatever those smiles meant, they were not evident after the game here last Saturday night. No, Coach Thomas (who appears to be a likeable gent) was not smiling. He merely looked at the ground and walked off the field after the Hilltoppers had taken a 27-7 drubbing from the Maroons.

That same night, the Western football squad boarded their bus and headed back to Bowling Green. No doubt, it was a long and silent ride back to the Western campus. They had played a clean and hard game but the Maroon attack had succeeded.

Members of the varsity "E" Club are to be congratulated on their fine handling of the "Dad's Game" activities. Many of the dads expressed their hearty thanks to the students and members of the faculty for the friendly reception extended to them.

Another group deserving a word of praise is the hard-working Maroon band. Mr. Rigby's musicians put on a fine halftime display spelling out the big E and W, and Hi Dad.

Throughout the gridiron season the band has gained many admirers because of their inspiring halftime shows.

Freshman Halfbacks Harry Sweesy and Billy George attended the pre-game pep rally at a Richmond theater the night before the Western game. After the pep rally, the screen attraction shown at the theater was "Spirit of West Point," featuring Army's great backs, Blanchard and Davis.

That movie must have made quite an impression on the two speedy freshmen, for the next night they both made beautiful long runs. George dashed 78 yards a touchdown and Sweesy followed later in the game with a 55-yard touchdown gallop.

The press box at Hanger Stadium was filled to capacity on the night of the Western game. In addition to the three announcers, there was a galaxy of radio engineers, spotters and newspapermen.

Peck Hickman, Louisville University's basketball coach, on a radio broadcast last week predicted that Eastern and Western would be the two toughest teams in the KIAC this year. He also added that the thought the Maroons "practiced basketball all year."

To Mr. Hickman, we say: "We'll be seeing you at the Health Building on December 17!"

NET SCHEDULE IS RELEASED

Meet S. M. U. Dec. 6, Louisville Here Dec. 17

Eastern's varsity basketball squad is scheduled to play twenty-two games this coming season with the possibility of an additional home game, according to an announcement this week by Charles T. Hughes, Director of Athletics.

The Maroon cagers, under the direction of Coach Paul McBrayer, open their campaign against Southern Methodist University on December 6 at the Louisville Armory. Then on December 12, they take on Denver University at Louisville and the next night they battle Furman at the Cincinnati Music Hall.

It is one of the toughest schedules that an Eastern team has ever taken on.

Heading the list of seven home games already scheduled, is the battle with the University of Louisville on December 17. Other home attractions will be Kentucky Wesleyan, Murray, Western, Berea, Georgetown and Morehead, in addition to the home game being sought for the night of January 3.

Leading Candidates

A roster of ten leading candidates for the team has been released this week by Coach McBrayer. These men have shown the most promise in the rigorous practice sessions which have been underway at the Health Building gym. The roster includes: Joe Fryz, Goebel Ritter, Chuck Mrazovich, Ed Shemelya, Paul Hicks, Gerald Becker, Joe Harper, Harold Moberly, Walter "Speedy" Reid and Carl Egle.

Girls Hockey Squad Wins Two, Ties One

By CAM MORRIS

Coach Jane Landers' girls hockey squad traveled to Louisville on the weekend of November 7 and daddled two wins and a tie to their impressive record.

During their stay in Louisville, the Eastern girls trounced the University of Louisville lassies by a 3-0 tune and trimmed the Nazareth squad by a 5-0 shutout before battling to a scoreless deadlock with Sacred Heart.

The Louisville game was played on a wet and muddy field. The Eastern girls took an early 1-0 lead which they maintained throughout the first half. Then they added two more tallies in the second half for a 3-0 win.

In topping the Nazareth girls squad, the Maroons ran up a 5-0 victory after leading 3 to 0 at halftime.

Playing the Sacred Heart hockeyettes the same day of the Nazareth game, the Eastern squad battled to a scoreless tie with the undefeated girls of Sacred Heart.

A total of twenty-three dads sat on the bench at "Dads' Game" last week. This squad should make just enough for two teams and a coach.

U. OF L. WINS 14-13 THRILLER

Extra Point Kick Is Margin Of Victory

Louisville University's luck held out as playing time ran out to give the Cardinals a 14-13 verdict over Eastern at Parkway Field on Friday night, November 7.

Trailing by the margin of an extra point, the Maroons threatened deep in Louisville territory throughout the closing minutes of the battle. However, Louisville's good fortune held out as the final whistle sounded and a shaky Cardinal team trudged from the field knowing, no doubt, that they had been "saved by the bell."

Earl Ruby Agrees

Earlier in the fourth quarter, U. of L. scored a touchdown on what Earl Ruby called "a gift of the Gods of fortune." Mr. Ruby, who is the sports editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and recognized as a sports authority in this area, stated in his widely-read column that Louisville was glad the game was over. The highly touted Cardinals were in a real battle, and by the time the game ended, they looked it.

In the opening minutes of play, Louisville scored when Don Shelton took a short pass and ran three yards for the score. Stu Gibson's conversion made it 7-0.

For the remainder of the half, both teams battled up and down the field with neither team being able to score.

HARRY SWEESY

After the intermission, the Maroons came back strong and looked like a different ball club. Moving the ball up to their own 43-yard line Eastern got back into the battle when Halfback Harry Sweesy smashed through the line and ran 57 yards for a touchdown. Pete Nonnemacher's placement kick was wide as Louisville led 7-6.

Penalties Hurt

In the fourth quarter, the Cardinals moved to the Eastern 17-yard line aided by generous penalties. In a desperation pass attempt, a Louisville back heaved a high wobbly pass to a receiver on the five-yard line. On this play, a host of Eastern backs leaped into the air and batted the ball down. But as Louisville's "good fortune" would have it, Jack Coleman accidentally caught the ball near his shoetops after it had bounced from the backs of the leaping players. He crossed the goal line for the home squad's second TD. Gibson's important placement kick gave Louisville a 14-6 lead.

Eastern's speedy backfield immediately went to work with razzle-dazzle plays which had the Louisville defense in a fog. The payoff of the Maroon drive came when Harry Sweesy scored his second touchdown of the evening by taking a pass from the hands of two Louisville defenders in the end zone. This time, Nonnemacher's placement split the uprights to narrow the Louisville lead to 14-13.

With time running out, Eastern kicked off to the Cardinals and held, forcing them to punt. The Maroons then took the ball mid-field and marched for a first down into Louisville territory. But, before the maroon and white could register into the scoring zone, time ran out and that was the ball game.

Meet Southeastern Lions In Baton Rouge Tomorrow

Eastern's varsity football squad packed its gridiron togs and boarded a train for Baton Rouge, Louisiana, yesterday. Coach Tom Samuels' lads will clash with the Lions of Southeastern Louisiana College tomorrow night at the Louisiana State University Stadium.

This game is the final contest for the 1947 Eastern varsity. The entire squad has been working hard all week for this important battle which is reported to be a sell-out in the land of the Mardi Gras and the Strawberry capital of the world.

Newspaper reports from Louisiana indicate that the Lions are going all out this week in preparing to stop the "invaders from Eastern Kentucky."

Lion Coach Ned McGehee has an experienced lot back from last year's squad which won the "Burling Bowl." Outstanding of these returnees is Bill Parnell, ace long distance punter. In addition to Parnell, Coach McGehee has a flock of returning lettermen.

The Maroons had workouts this week against the Lions' defensive and offensive formations. Backfield Coach Glenn Presnell had his charges spending a lot of time on pass defense while Line Coach Fred Darling worked his linemen on quick charging and hard blocking.

Meanwhile, Head Coach Tom Samuels was coordinating the activities and planning a strategy which would close his first season as Eastern's football mentor with another victory.
