Band Day Attraction Draws 2,400

A colorful halftime show with nearly 2,500 band members participating was the climax of Eastern's first High School Band Day last Saturday. Led by the Marching Maroons, 2,400 high school musicians performed "Hail, Hail Eastern Maroons" and "God Bless America" during the half of the Eastern-Middle Tennessee game.

The high-schoolers had marched Saturday morning in a parade that wound through downtown Richmond and back to Hanger Stadium. A member of Madison Central band commented, "... it was refreshing."

About 2,500 sack lunches were distributed to the bands and the 275 accompanying sponsors and faculty at the Weaver Health Building. Over 300 went through the cafeteria lunch line. Soft drinks and potato chips were at a premium for the visitors.

A mass band rehearsal was held at 11:45 at Hanger Stadium. Collette Miller, drum major for Williamsburg, said in the heat of practice session, "It's been fun but I'm ready to go home for awhile."

The Jenkins band started for Eastern at 2:30 a. m. Saturday. The dark-circled eyes told the story of enjoyment, yet anxiety, to get the parade on the road.

These bands were here Saturday: Newport, Oldham County, Paris, Durrett, Somerset, Harrison County, Elizabethtown, Glasgow, Williamsburg, Lurie County, Boone County, Shelby County, Adair County, Bell County, Paintsville.

Rockcastle County, Shelbyville, Campbell County, Clark County, London, Bellevue, Nicholas County, Madison Central, Prestonsburg, Madison, Montgomery County, Breathitt County, Owsingville, Versailles.

Scott County, Russell County, Letcher, Cynthia, Putnam County, Owen County, Tompkinsville, and Corbin.

Dr. Orr To Attend Regional Program

Dr. Clyde Orr, Eastern State College, will be attending the Kentucky Regional group meeting of the Southern Mountains, Inc., October 28 in Barbourville, Kentucky.

The theme for the fall meeting will be, "Continuing Education," and special guest speakers will be Dr. Frank C. Laubach, world renowned educator. The meeting is designed for everyone interested in progress for Eastern Kentucky.

Also on the program will be Rev. Harvey Miracle, Manchester; Mr. Forrest Esham, Frankfort; and Dr. D. M. Aldridge, Clear Creek Baptist School.

A LOT OF MUSIC!

SEVENTY-SIX (HUNDRED) TROMBONES—Billy Davis, photographer chief of the Louisville Courier-Journal, obliged the Progress with this view of a packed Hanger Stadium football field at last Saturday's High School Band Day. The picture was made during the impressive halftime ceremonies of the Eastern-Middle Tennessee football game. About 2,500 musicians from 38 Kentucky high schools were present.

Progress Editors Assume New Posts

Marian Bazy, second semester sophomore from Lexington, was officially appointed editor-in-chief of the 1961-62 Eastern Progress by the newly created Board of Student Publications, at its first meeting last Friday. The meeting was held in the Board of Regents Room.

Ronnie Wolfe, junior from Falmouth, was elevated from news editor to managing editor, and Mary Ann Nelson, sophomore from Corbin, moved up from women's editor to news editor. She will continue to direct the women's news, in addition to her new duties, for the present.

Members of the new Board of Student Publications are to serve as an advisory board and, in some instances, a policy-making group. It consists of both student and faculty representation.

Members of the Board are President Martin; J. C. Powell, assistant to the president; Dr. Henry Martin, dean of students; Don Feltner, director of publications; C. M. Brock, business agent; Mrs. Linda Gassaway and Carol Caldwell, co-editors of the Milestone; Miss Bazy and Ronnie Wolfe, of the Progress; and Jim Showalter, president of the Student Council.

Associate Editor Approved James Farris, senior from Law.

Don C. Bales Urges Students To Choose Professions Carefully

Don C. Bales, head of the Bureau of Instruction, State Department of Education, told an Eastern State College audience of students and faculty on Wednesday that "a college degree may not be more of a key to a good job in the future than a high school diploma was thirty years ago," as he addressed the convocation in Hiram Brock Auditorium.

He told the students that they will be responsible for the educational programs as well as government and other facets of living by 1970, and that they should strive to do these things to make a success of themselves and of the society in which they live: (1) choose the job you like best; (2) use your leisure time well; (3) get along with others; and (4) contribute something to society.

"Society is not going to permit us to take those who have the opportunity to get a college education and not take advantage of it," Bales said, as he urged the students to get the most of their college education.

He said, "The biggest battle of a well-chosen profession lies in the satisfaction you get from that profession—choose the job that you enjoy, even though it may take some time to find that job."

"You should develop an attitude of understanding which will be beneficial to you and the people about you. We cannot live in a world of space unless we have an understanding of people—ideas, habits, customs, and tolerances," he said. "As you plan for your future, be resolved that you do all you can to promote understanding in people."

He said that the students "are going to become citizens in a highly industrial and changing world." "Be able to discharge an old outmoded philosophy for a new and better one."

He emphasized the proper use of leisure time as a very important part of a person's life. "Business engineers tell us," he said, "that all the work in the world could be done in 36 hours a week. This leaves us with a lot of leisure time that we should put to good use."

He quoted statistics from the Bureau of Statistics and said that by 1970 jobs will be increased by six million.

The speaker was introduced by Eastern president, Robert R. Martin.

President Robert Martin Announces Grad Council

The Dean of the Faculty and the President are ex officio members of the Council.

Pillsbury Sponsors Contest for Majors In Home Economics

Home economics majors graduating from college between January and June, 1962—will have the opportunity to win one of many awards offered by The Pillsbury Awards program: career opportunity with Pillsbury, a $2,500 scholarship for graduate study, cash awards, and Honor citations.

The winner of the top award, The Pillsbury Award for 1962, receives an "on-the-job" training fellowship. For one year, beginning July 1, 1962, she will be Associate Director of the Pillsbury Junior Home Service Center. This executive position has been carefully planned to give the Award winner first-hand experience in all phases of home economics-in-business.

The winner also receives an award of $1,000, in addition to her year's salary of $4,500. At the end of her year as Associate Director, she will receive a $2,500 scholarship for a year's graduate study in home economics. If, at the time, there is a suitable permanent position open with Pillsbury, she may have her choice between accepting the $2,500 scholarship or the permanent position.

Six finalists for the Pillsbury Award will receive grants of $250, and a two-day, expense-paid to Minneapolis.

All Applicants for the Awards, who have been recommended by their home economics faculty, will receive an Honor Citation.

Interested students may obtain an application blank and full information from the office of the Head of Home Economics.

Deadline for submission of applications is November 15.

Pattie A. Clay Campaign Moving

Volunteer workers for the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary fund-raising campaign received instructions last night at a kickoff dinner in the Student Union Building. About 400 members of Richmond and the surrounding communities were told how to begin canvassing to reach the $500,000 goal.

These workers are seeking pledges of cash, stock, bonds, real estate, or other property from citizens of Richmond, Berea, Ford, Kirksville, Paint Lick, and Waco. If the $500,000 can be raised, the Federal Government will match the amount, under the provisions of the Hill-Burton Act. The new hospital will include from 60 to 100 private rooms, improved laboratory facilities, a new obstetrical suite, a new surgery suite, and an enlarged pharmacy. The present buildings will be maintained as some type of infirmary.

The Advanced Gifts Committee has already received pledges totaling about $40,000.

A campaign victory dinner will be held at the college on Monday, November 6.

4,154 Official Enrollment; 20.3 Per Cent Over 1960

Record Broken For 10th Straight Year

President Robert R. Martin reported today that the official enrollment for the fall semester at Eastern State College is an all-time record of 4,154, an increase of 20.3 per cent over the total a year ago. This figure does not include about 1,000 students enrolled in the college's training school program and in the off-campus extension program.

The increase over a two-year period is over 40 per cent, or an increase of 1,187 students. The figure is 702 more than the 3,452 enrolled at Eastern last year. The most significant increase was in the freshmen studying on campus. Up 43 per cent over the 1960 freshman class, the 1961 total is 445 more than last year, 1,474 being enrolled this fall as compared to 1,029 last year.

The sophomore class represents the second largest increase, with 830 second-year students this fall, compared to 701 in 1960. This is an increase of 18 per cent.

The enrollment figure is computed under the standard method approved by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers. It includes only students doing class work on the main campus.

Eastern operates some thirteen extension centers throughout the state, in which some 500 students are enrolled. Several hundred others are enrolled in the extension program by mail. Nearly 500 students are also enrolled in the college's training school program on campus.

In all, more than 5,400 persons are receiving college instruction from Eastern.

The 1961 enrollment figure represents the 10th consecutive year that Eastern has had an enrollment increase. The 1961 figure represents an increase, since the 1951-52 drop, of over 222 per cent. It was earlier reported by Registrar, M. E. Mattox, that last year 5,280 different students attended Eastern. The total enrollment last year, including duplicates, was 9,059, including only those student taking on-campus instruction.

Fresh Beanie Brigade Starts Next Monday

Eastern's frosh will soon have a "New Look." On October 16, the wearing of maroon and white beanies, before seen only on the heads of freshmen, will become mandatory for all freshmen. They will wear them whenever in the presence of upperclassmen on campus.

The duration of the beanie wearing will be decided by the freshmen themselves. A sophomore-freshman tug-of-war is planned as part of the activities of Homecoming Week. A freshman victory will permit them to discard their caps during the halftime ceremonies at the Homecoming game October 28. A soph win will lengthen the beanie period to the end of first semester.

The move, planned to rejuvenate school spirit, was decided at the beginning of fall semester this year. The Student Council and KYMA club are coordinating their activities on the matter, working through the sociology classes. Fresh are responsible to the Student Council to wear their beanies. There will be a penalty, as yet undecided, for not wearing them.

The caps were ordered at the Student Council meeting of September 30 and should arrive by the fifteenth of October. They will be sold in the sociology classes.

Press Christmas Party, Writing Contest Prize

In conjunction with the First Annual International Press Christmas Holiday Party, December 15-18, the Flamingo Hotel is sponsoring a writing contest with the winner being flown to Las Vegas for this party.

Since the idea of the entire party is a salute to the free press of the world; the essay subject will be "The Need For a Free Press For a Free World," and must be limited to 300 words. This may be in the form of either an essay or a newspaper editorial.

Competition is open to any student taking journalism subjects and is not limited to journalism majors. Entries must be typed and there is a limit of ten from any one school with the journalism instructor being the judge of them to be submitted.

Those entries selected by journalism instructors will then be judged by an impartial panel of outstanding writers and editors.

The winner will then be flown to Las Vegas on December 15 to be the Flamingo's special guest during the four day party with all expenses for meals and accommodations being provided by the Flamingo. Entrants placing second through ninth will be awarded suitable certificates of merit.

Deadline for the entries will be November 12, with the winner being notified by December 1.

Attention Juniors and Seniors

All students with 58 hours or more must file their applications for curriculum contracts before 4:00 p.m. October 20, 1961. Any student failing to file his contract will be forced to wait an entire semester before graduating.

Open House To Be Held Sunday At Modern Case Hall

Open house will be held Sunday at Case Hall, new women's dormitory at Eastern State College, from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

The building, when a second phase is completed in January, will house 550 women students. The completed structure will cost $1,663,687.

The first phase of the structure was completed this summer and has housed over 300 persons during the summer session and this fall semester. Cost of the completed portion was $675,000. The addition will cost $988,687. When completed, the quadrangular-shaped dormitory will provide a large enclosed patio area in the center.

Named In Honor Dean
Named in honor of Mrs. Emma Y. Case, who has served as dean of women here since 1932, the dormitory is the largest dormitory for women on the campus.

On hand Sunday to serve as guides will be members of Collegiate Pentecost and CWENS, senior and sophomore women's honoraries, both of which Mrs. Case organized here. Serving as hostesses will be housemother, Mrs. Mary B. Hill and Mrs. Nell Pendley.

Several other persons with whom Mrs. Case has been associated

SUPREME COURT RULES U. S. COMMUNIST PARTY MUST REGISTER WITH GOVERNMENT

The U. S. Communist party must register with the Federal Government as an agent of the Soviet Union. So ruled the Supreme Court June 5. A move was made to obtain a reconsideration of the case. This the high court has refused to do.

Failure to comply with the registration would make the Communist party and each of its members liable to a $10,000 fine for each day of non-compliance. It is indicated that the order will be defied, which will be the Communist way of creating more discord.

The United States has been most tolerant of the Communists. They had the same protection of their liberties as the law guarantees all citizens. Despite sustained efforts, the Communist party has not grown. It has in fact lost adherents.

The defiance of the court order will be a plan to promote the phony idea that it is political persecution. Our feeling is that we as a nation have shown forbearance and patience to a degree in excess of reasonableness. We think the court decision is fortunate.

We are pleased that Attorney General Robert Kennedy has announced that the Justice Department is ready to prosecute, if the Communist party refuses to comply. The more tolerant we are of Communists the more they abuse and take advantage of the freedom which our laws provide.

There is no doubt but what they are our enemies and are doing all they can to undermine our form of government. So there is every reason why we should take steps to restrain them.

Civil Service Career Jobs Discussed Here

"Career Opportunities in the Federal Civil Service" for college seniors and graduates will be discussed Wednesday at Walnut Hall, Room 202, by Alonzo Nelson, Employee Development Officer, Blue Grass Ordnance Depot, Richmond, Kentucky. He will reveal the very wide variety of positions available to students who pass the federal service entrance examination.

The Federal Service Entrance Examination is designed to bring the best of the Nation's young college graduates into the Federal Service each year. They will fill positions which offer them advancement and career opportunities. Mr. Nelson stressed that seniors should take the examination NOW, before their graduation, and upon graduating they have a Federal position awaiting them.

Mr. Nelson said that Federal agencies in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia have indicated their needs to fill over 500 vacancies within the next year from this examination alone. Students appointed to positions filled from this examination will receive training in or will perform administrative, professional, technical or other specialized work in such fields as general administration, economics or other social sciences, business analysis and regulation, social security administration, organization and methods examining, production planning, communications, personnel management, budget management, automatic data processing, library science, statistics, investigation, information, records management, food and drug inspection, recreation, customs inspection, inspection and supply. Appointments will also be made to positions in agriculture and natural science.

Mr. Nelson also stated that the entrance levels or training ranges for college graduates with no experience or a minimum of experience range from grade GS-5 ($345 a year) to GS-7 ($5365 a year). Many Federal agencies provide special training programs to accelerate the advancement of college graduates to higher grade levels. For example, if a college graduate enters employment under a formal training program, he may expect to be promoted from GS-5 to GS-7 within six months to one year, or from GS-7 to GS-9 ($4845 a year) within a similar period—depending upon the specific terms of the training program. If he does not enter employment under a formal training program, he may expect to be promoted after having served one year in grade. Most promotions are at two-grade intervals, that is, from GS-5 to GS-7, from GS-7 to GS-9, from GS-9 to GS-11 ($7580). Beyond GS-11, advancement is at one-grade intervals up to the maximum.

'Fayne' Falls In Step With Expansion Program

Even the cows at Eastern are falling in step with the gigantic expansion program of the College. The Agriculture Department at Eastern reported recently that one of their cows, Eastern Footprint Fayne, in a 365 day lactation period, produced a total of 18,752 pounds of milk or 8,720 quarts, nearly four times the output of the average dairy cow in Kentucky for a one year period. The prize animal also produced 645 pounds of butter fat, according to Jack Taylor, of the Agriculture Department, more than double the average output of approximately 250 pounds by the average dairy cow in the state. The average for the Eastern herd, consisting of 31 cows, in 1960 was 12,064 pounds per cow, or about three times as much as the average Kentucky cow. Eastern's milk-rich herd moved into new quarters this fall with the completion of a model dairy. Other dairy and agriculture facilities are also being moved to the new location.

"WHAT DO YOU MEAN 'RUNNING AWAY NEVER SOLVED ANYTHING?'"

Views On The News

By MARIAN BAZZY

As the porches of Eastern remain cluttered until the final moments of women's curfew hour, the Communists continue their march and America continues to talk. Who will win the series is a plight to be treated lightly if one is a good loser. The bells still toll as if infinity were their destination.

West Berlin voices discontent, for it is unfair for United States troops to leave the fence unguarded. How could the U. S. allow such indiscretion? . . . How could anyone be stupid? . . . May more fall-out endanger more lives, for to commit an error is to admit human characteristics. Surely the East realizes this point; that is the reason for their purity and lack of emotion.

Number one on the list of best selling non-fiction could be the "Communist Manifesto." It seems that many people in the world are finding its format ingenious and its characters appealing. No doubt, a suitable translation will soon appear on the bookstands of the West. . . . Maybe a classic approach with paperback for easy reading and borrowing. . . . Meanwhile, Salingers has a new rage.

Andrei Gromyko and President Kennedy have given the world situation a backward shove. The two hour translation of the Russian's prepared paper left Kennedy with little hope that meaningful negotiations could begin soon. . . . Woe is upon us; when removed, progress will no longer be stifled. . . . The 1962 cars will make their appearances in an air of pseudo security. . . . The word t-i-c-k-e-t will be an even more important word in Cincinnati.

Still commemorating the great Civil War, the great state of Kentucky is hosting a reenactment of the march of Perryville—termed fateful. After all, old wounds need to be opened and aired periodically, like every one hundred years. It wouldn't do to leave well enough alone. Contentment breeds loss of memory. . . . 39 bands lead to music. . . . fewer floats ascertain a smaller parade.

Local school policies and poorly trained teachers are components of the disease that a Chicago firm has been hired to diagnose. . . . for the State Commission on Public Education. Research time is needed. In the fleeting moments, a salute to this firm. . . . a salute to the users of dictionaries. . . . a salute to Liz Taylor now back filming Cleopatra. . . . a salute to the fallen leaders and their followers.

Let's Talk It Over

By: JIM FARRIS

What is meant by an accredited school, college, or university? Before looking into the specific details of college entrance requirements and total cost, it is a good idea for the prospective student to settle these questions. What type of course curriculum is offered, and is the institution of question accredited?

Accreditation is a means of assuring at least a standardized minimum quality of education. There are two types of voluntary accrediting agencies in the United States.

1. The association of colleges, universities and secondary schools in specific geographical areas. (The United States is divided into six of these areas, each with its own regional accrediting association.)

2. Twenty recognized professional accrediting agencies specifically interested in one of the following fields: architecture, Bible, business administration, chemistry, engineering, forestry, journalism, law, librarianship, medicine, nursing, optometry, osteopathy, pharmacy, psychology, religious education, music, social work and teacher education.

The phases of college activities considered in awarding accreditation are: administration, faculty, curriculum, aims and purposes, finances, instruction, library, physical plant, student's extra-curricular activities, personnel services, experimentation and self-study.

Also included in the analysis of the school are such considerations as the number of books in the school library and the number of research projects participated in by the schools' faculties.

There are reference books like "American Universities and Colleges," and "American Junior Colleges" including accrediting information in the write-ups of the schools covered. "Lovejoy's College Guide" also has accrediting information on the schools and colleges listed.

The question you may now ask is: What has Eastern's record been through the years?

Founded in 1906, Eastern has offered a sound curriculum of study throughout its history. A student will find a curriculum suited to meet his interest. The faculty if of the highest caliber. All these factors have gone together to establish the reputation our school holds today.

Eastern is an active member in the following organizations: Kentucky of Colleges for Teacher Education, Association of State Colleges for Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, American Association of Teacher Education, Association of State Colleges and Universities, National Business Teacher Training Institutions, Association for Field Services in Teacher Education, American Association of University Women, and American Council on Education accredited by Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

From this extensive list we can easily see why Eastern has gained the reputation it has in the field of education.

Faculty Adopts Stricter Plan For Class Cuts

The faculty adopted an institutional policy and procedure for implementation of student absences from class at their faculty meeting Monday.

The policy will be enforced by Dr. Henry Martin, Dean of students.

The policy is not a new one, however, it will now be more strictly enforced. Regular attendance of class is required of all students. Faculty members are wholly responsible for handling class attendance except in cases of excess absences.

Each faculty member will keep a daily record of all absences in his classes. Unexcused absences are not permitted. (There is no certain number of cuts from classes.)

It is the obligation of the student to inform his teachers of contemplated absences from classes, whenever possible to do so. In cases where emergencies make this impossible, he should notify the Dean of Students, giving a list of teachers whose classes he will miss. The Dean of Students will notify each teacher. Students who give reasonable excuses before or after missing classes should be permitted to do make-up work, and to remain in class.

Students who are absent from classes for approved activities and off-campus trips will be given an opportunity to make up the work missed. Students are marked absent for such activities and these absences are reported at the end of each term on the official class card. Instructors sponsoring such activities will give the Dean of Students a list of all students who are expected to be absent.

Any student who has an excessive number of absences should be reported to the Dean of Students on a form provided by the office of the Dean of Students. The Dean of Students will take whatever action he deems advisable.

Readership Poll Varies In Six Items

Readership of articles in the Progress varies from a high of 87% to a low of 35% of the student body, according to a random sampling taken by a Journalism 201 class.

The poll, which tested readership of six items in the Progress issue of Friday, September 29, 1961, was taken last week. One hundred students were polled to give a 4% cross-section of the student body.

Those stories receiving most student attention were the news of the ROTC sponsors for 1961-62 and the poll of Case Hall. Of the students polled, 53% had read all the news of the ROTC sponsors; 14% had read part; and 33% had read none. Fifty-four percent of the students had read all of the opinion poll; 11% had read part; and 35% had not read any. Many commented that the pictures accompanying the article and personal interest in it attracted their attention.

Sports news was the third in gaining attention. Thirty-four percent had read all of the news of Eastern's forthcoming trip to Murray; 8% had read part; and 58% had read none.

Next was the editorial concerning TV sets for the men students. Thirty-six percent had read all of it; 3% had read part; 61% had read none. News of Governor Combs' delivering the dedication address of Donovan ranked fifth with a readership of 38%. Twenty-two percent had read all of it, and 19% had read none.

In letters to the editor, "Readers Write," 31% read all; 4% had read part; 65% had not read any.

"No hard and fast conclusions can be drawn from this poll because of the small percentage of the student body polled. These results, however, do show the readership preferences among students," commented Mrs. Dorothy Janz, teacher of the class.

"Should Cars On Campus Be Limited?" Students Asked

By Jerry Crawford

With the enrollment now over 4,200, the parking problem on campus has been intensified. Eastern is rapidly trying to alleviate the problem but in the meantime there has been some speculation on the proposal that underclassmen be banned from keeping cars on campus. Both approval and disapproval has been voiced by the student body.

Bob Newman, a freshman from Lexington.

Readers Write

Dear Editor:

Our band can do many great things such as march back and forth across the football field performing fancy feats and formations. But of all the great things our band can do, they can't play one little old song our students want to hear: "DIXIE!"

After going to the football games played here and hearing the students asking to have "Dixie" played, I have come to the conclusion our band has turned Yankee.

A song such as "Dixie" adds to the enthusiasm of the students and puts pep into a cheer. Apparently this is not seen or the band would oblige the students by playing Dixie.

I only wish if the band doesn't want to play Dixie they would at least play "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Dandy."

Oh well, so is life.

Sincerely,
"The Old Senior"

Commission Reports On Restaurant Integration

Racial integration is not hurting the business of eating places adopting this policy, the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights has reported.

Serving food to customers regardless of race has presented no major difficulties, 44 of 46 managers of non-segregated restaurants in nine Kentucky cities said in interviews for the commission's report.

Most managers said they had fewer Negro customers than had been expected, according to the report, prepared for the Commission by the University of Kentucky's Social Research Service. All except one, who is undecided, said they planned to continue the integration policy.

The cities and number of restaurants managers interviewed in each: Louisville, 19; Lexington, 9; Covington, 4; Ashland, 3; Owensboro, 3; Hopkinsville, 1; Henderson, 4; Richmond, 1; Paducah, 2. The restaurants were among the more than 135 in Kentucky known to be integrated. In each of the cities except Louisville, all the known integrated restaurants were chosen. They represented all parts of Kentucky except the south central and southeastern areas, where a few or no integrated places have been reported.

Lexington, believes that underclassmen should be allowed to drive cars. "If a freshman is going to goof-off, he will do so regardless of whether he has a car or not. The upperclassmen have all of the advantages as it is, and taking away our cars would do even more to relegate the freshmen to the role of observation."

Sharlene Russell, a sophomore from Liberty, views the proposal as having both good and bad aspects. "Banning cars from underclassmen would certainly help the parking situation, but a car is often necessary since it facilitates many everyday tasks."

unfair imposition on the personal lives of many. "In all cases, possession of a car on campus is a tremendous convenience, and in many cases, it is a necessity. I am sure that this problem, along with the many others which are a result of Eastern's 'growing pains', will be corrected without recourse to a ban on automobiles."

Jim Wells, senior from Paints-ville, considers such a prohibition a boost to academic standards. "Cars often lower the students' academic standing and, consequently, the school as well. Also, without cars more students would stay at school on week-ends, thus, solving the suitcase problem."

Some students felt that underclassmen should definitely be allowed to have cars but with some stipulation. Bill Allison, a sophomore from Louisville, was in favor of cars but said, "I believe that there should be strict law enforcement on the campus, possibly using a point system."

It is quite true that Eastern is suffering from "growing pains" but one can only wait and see what measures will be taken as a cure.

ID CARDS

There are about 150 ID cards which have not been claimed by students. All students come to Room 26 Coates Administration Building, and pick up ID cards if they have not already done so.

President of the junior class, Don Scherer, considers such a rule an

Shooting The Bull

By RAY AKERS

As special reporter, I was sent to Doodleburg University to get a first hand report on the first week of school.

Walking around the campus, I could tell that it was the beginning of school because of the smell. There was the distinct odor of new "bib overalls" and new "black leather jackets."

The day was very fair and some of the classes were being conducted out of doors. The put of door class must have been rather difficult because it lasted until after dark and then the students began comparing notes!

There was a great deal of construction going on at Doodleburg U., and I was informed that plans had been drawn and money appropriated for three new school buildings and three new dorms. The only delay in construction was names for the new buildings. Suggestions had been made to name the new school buildings after three popular eighth semester frosh. (Names are withheld to protect their careers.) Suggested names for the dorms were: Benedict Arnold and Alfred E. for all the freshmen who never made it. This dorm was to be equipped with maids and stenographers for the convenience of the students. Admissions to the dorm was to be made on personal merits and a stiff entrance examination. The exam consisted of riding a high powered motorcycle through a herd of stampeding elephants, blindfolded. Applicants were to possess excellent character traits. For example, bitterness at the world and always trying to develop the campus atmosphere into one comparable to that of a slave ship. Also, applicants were to have clean personal habits such as: smoking, cutting classes, abusive language, etc. Persons interested were to arrange their own transportation to Bombay, India, to take the test since Ozzie Hemflinger was the only one who had a herd of wild elephants.

While interviewing the students I found that the biggest complaint was parking, so I asked the college officials about it and received this answer from the chief engineer at Doodleburg U.:

"Students be patient!" he said. "Motorcycle spaces are being prepared, but I'm afraid that you people with multi-engine aircraft will have to wait until our prelat jet airport arrives. The mail is so slow these days with the shortage of ponies and hay, not to mention the Indian uprisings. So we must ask those students who have these multi-engine aircraft to refrain from landing on the grass since it is reserved for the pedestrians."

Little Theater Schedules Plays

"JUST A LITTLE MORE ACTION", says Mr. Gerald Honaker as he puts the Little Theater players through their paces in preparation for their first presentations of the year, "The Bald Soprano", and "The Lesson", two one-act plays to be presented Thursday, Oct. 19.

Casing The Clubs

MELVA GROOT — Clubs Editor

Bobby Robinson, Republican candidate for state representative, and Johnny Cox, Republican candidate for county judge, were guests at the meeting of the Young Republican Club last Thursday.

Officers at the meeting were Leroy Hall, president; Larry Jackman, vice president; Jo Ellen Chilton, secretary; Bobbie Gentry, treasurer; Muff Jennings, reporter, and Cecil Estes, parliamentarian.

Muff Jennings was chosen candidate for homecoming queen.

The next meeting will be October 19, seven o'clock, in room 202 of the S.U.B.

Harlan County Club Elections
Officers for the Harlan County Club are Jerry Wayne Simpson, president; Don Disney, vice president; Harold Floyd, secretary; and Sudy Peters, treasurer. The club selected Pat Dean as their candidate for homecoming queen.

Newman Club Bake Sale
Bake sales sponsored by the Newman Club will be held in the men's dorms beginning at 8:30 October 24 and November 7.

Baptist Student Union
Vespers at the Baptist Student Center Monday evening will be under the direction of the town young people. Billy Blount is president of the local group.

Rev. James F. Brewer will speak at vesper services next Tuesday and Wednesday at six-thirty p.m. at the Baptist Student Center, 328 South Second Street. Rev. Brewer, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Helena, Arkansas, will be in Richmond for a series of services at the First Baptist Church.

The BSU Greater Council, composed of all members of the Executive Council and their committees, will hold their monthly dinner meeting Sunday, at 5:00 o'clock at First Baptist Church. Jack C. Graves, BSU president, will preside over the business session.

The Photo Club met October 5 in room 120, Science Hall, at 6:30. A float committee was named to work out details on an approved float. Miss Jean Smith was elected as homecoming queen candidate. Plans for a picnic were further discussed. Refreshments were furnished by Dr. LaFuze and the club. New members will be accepted through October 19 at the regular time and place.

OAKS
Gus Franklin, Eastern faculty member and former member of OAKS, spoke on graduate school at the Omicron Alpha Kappa Honorary Society's first program meeting.

DWIGHT K. LYONS
BSU DIRECTOR

Mr. Dwight K. Lyons has assumed the duties of director of the Baptist Student Union activities at Eastern.

Lyons, a native of Elizabethtown, Tennessee, is a graduate of East Tennessee State College. He also holds a Bachelor's degree and a Master's degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyons have made their home in Richmond at 10 Wellington Court. Mrs. Lyons has joined Eastern's faculty as librarian at the Laboratory School.

All Freshman Cast Except Two Parts

"The Bald Soprano" and "The Lesson", two one-act plays written by Ionesco, will be presented by the Little Theater Club next Thursday at 7:30 in the Little Theater with an all freshman cast except for two parts. The plays deal with life in the satirical vein, a result of the Avant Garde school of France.

Placed in London, "The Bald Soprano" is an "anti-play" filled with comedy and interesting middle class people. The plot is simple yet funny as the nonsense sentences flow forth. The Smiths invite the Hartmans to dinner and what happens before and after their arrival reflects the genius of the French playwright.

The characters for this production are: John Rankin, Mr. Smith; Celia Craft, Mrs. Smith; Mayme Powell, Mrs. Martin; Pat Keller, Mary the maid; and Robert Bell, the fire chief. Ronald Lowe and Margaret Mayfield are male and female understudies.

"The Lesson" takes place in Paris and has a plot evolving about a mild, foreign professor who in his elderly dignity is a tutor. His pupils are young ladies and his main subject is algebra. His maid warns him not to deal with algebra when his first student steps on stage, but he creates a scene with addition and subtraction instead. The young girl has learned her math by memory and cannot subtract.

This satire on the academic fields features James Wyle as the professor. The other characters are Rita Spurlin as the young pupil and Charlene Roe as the maid. Rena Gulley is the female understudy.

The program, under the direction of Mr. Gerald Honaker, will include an entire act between each play's performance. The admission is free to the student body. John Rankin, the male lead in "The Bald Soprano", and Rita Spurlin, the pupil in "The Lesson", are the only old members in the casts.

The main difference between man and the lower animals is man's ability to think and plan ahead.

Canterbury Club Hosts Prospective Members

Cocoa and conversation were highlights of Canterbury Club's "Chocolate Hour" held Monday evening in Walnut Hall.

Faculty members representing the English department were: Dr. Rhodes, who sponsors the club; Dr. Grise, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Chrisman, Mr. Mankin, Mr. Brock, Mrs. Baldwin, and Mrs. McIlvaine.

Students present were members of the club, and sophomore, junior, and senior English majors, or minors interested in joining the organization.

The Canterbury Club plans to have a dinner meeting on the second Wednesday of each month. Each program will consist of slides or lectures on the humanities, or of discussions concerning Belles Lettres, a publication containing student writings.

President Kennedy on March 1, 1961, it was made a permanent agency of the United States Government by a law enacted on September 22, 1961.

In this law, Congress declared that its purpose was "to promote world peace through the Peace Corps, which shall make available to interested countries and areas men and women of the United States qualified for service abroad and willing to serve, under conditions of hardship if necessary, to help the peoples of such countries and areas in meeting their need for trained manpower, and to help promote a better understanding of other peoples on the part of the American people."

Requirements for service in the Corps include a minimum age of 18, American citizen ship, marital status to be either single or married with both husband and wife being volunteers and having no children under eighteen years of age. Other criteria are intelligence to meet the demands of the job; knowledge of United States history, institutions and values; health and stamina, and emotional stability.

Further, more complete information may be gotten from Peace Corps Headquarters, Washington, D.C. Application forms can be obtained from Dr. Lewis, campus liaison member on campus.

EASTERN PROGRESS—3

There are few earthly things more beautiful than a college. It is a place where those who hate ignorance may strive to know. Where those who perceive truth may strive to make others see; Where seekers and learners alike banded together in the search of knowledge. Will honor thought in all its finer ways. Will welcome thinkers in distress or in exile. Will uphold ever the dignity of thought and learning. And will exact standards in these things. — John Masefield

Doug's Sports Beat

with DOUG WHITLOCK
Progress Sports Editor

Although the Maroons lost Saturday to Middle Tennessee, we can't count them out of the OVC race yet. The way the conference football games have been turning out this year any team can beat another on a given day. Middle Tennessee still must play powerful Murray, who put on a show of offensive might as they beat Morehead 35-28 Saturday. If Murray were to beat Middle Tennessee a three way tie between Eastern, Murray and the Tennesseans could develop, providing they all won the rest of their conference games. In any event the loop race promises to be one of the most exciting in the history of the OVC.

It is obvious to all that halfback Jimmy Chittum has found his running legs. The scatback has made it clear that he is a scoring threat at any time and regardless of how hopeless the situation looks. In the Murray game he appeared to be down for sure on the five, where he took the ball on a punt, but he scored on an 85 yard sprint. Then against Middle Tennessee he shook off two would-be tacklers and eluded another to score on a 60 yard jaunt from scrimmage.

Well, the Cincinnati Reds didn't win the World Series, but the Rhinelanders are still the National League champs and deserve all the honor that is bestowed upon them. The Reds surprised a lot of people this year including one well-known baseball authority who said in a pre-season prospectus about the Reds, "... Have rising potential, on speed and power, but pitching and infield are not topflight. Hardly can hope to do more than lead the second division." The season records of Jay O'Toole, and Purkey are as good as they come and just ask any of the teams the Reds played this year about the quality of their "improvement" infield.

Injuries have taken their toll of Maroons this past week. Gene Blackwelder, end and Maroon punter, has broken his hand and will probably be out for the rest of the year along with Tom Sharp who injured his elbow against Middle Tennessee. Sharp's injury temporarily puts Eastern's combination of Ken Goodhew and Sharp completely out of the lineup as Goodhew, injured against Louisville, will still not see action for about two weeks.

Anyone present at the game Saturday will probably agree with this columnist that the halftime show presented by the massed bands was one of the most impressive performances ever seen here. Our only regrets are that they didn't play longer and that the Maroons didn't win the game, even though they surely provided an exciting one.

The play that Eastern scored its two point conversion to go ahead of Middle Tennessee, 15-14, was certainly a unique one. It appeared to all present that Eastern was playing for a tie when Dave Hatfield went into kicking formation with Tony Lanham holding. Just before Hatfield could kick the ball, Lanham picked it up, ran to the sideline and threw to George Lee in the end zone. Many fans were heard to voice disapproval when it seemed the Maroons were going to kick, but it turned out the "Big E" squad knew what it was doing.

George Dykes, Middle Tennessee end, could very well be one of the best pass receivers to play in Hanger stadium. The rangy end made several great catches including one touchdown pass. If all of his performances this year are as impressive, he should be a definite All-OVC candidate.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT TOUCHDOWN RUN—Scatback Jimmy Chittum (No. 44), is shown as he is hit by two Middle Tennessee tacklers and a third moving in for the "kill." The Lexington, Virginia, speedster, unbelievably got loose and raced 60 yards for Eastern's first touchdown in the first period, in Saturday's 22-15 loss to the OVC kingpins. Blue Raider players are fullback Phil Grammer (No. 42), end Bill Settle (No. 86), and halfback Jimbo Pearson (No. 20). Photos by Dan Webster

Middle Tennessee Nudges Eastern Maroons 22-15

Middle Tennessee staged another of its come from behind victories Saturday as they defeated the upset prone Eastern Maroons 22-15 after having trailed most of the contest.

The winning touchdown came with only 1:51 left to play in the game. The Blue Raiders took an Eastern kickoff on their own 25 with about four minutes left to play. Two plays netted 25 yards and moved the ball down to the Eastern 45 yard line. Jerry Pearson then hit George Dykes on the Eastern 13 with a 36 yard pass with 3:14 left to go. Two plays moved the ball to the nine from which Pearson threw complete to Frank Halliburton in the end zone. Jim Nabors ran the conversion to put the Raiders ahead for good.

The running of Jimmy Chittum was the brightest spot for Eastern fans again this week. The swift halfback equalled his 85 yard punt return effort of the Murray game as he scored Eastern's first touchdown with a 60

Dykes, eluded Nabors and outran the rest of the Middle Tennessee defenders as he went on to score. Dave Hatfield's kick made the score 7-0 and gave Eastern a lead that held until the Raiders went ahead 14-7 in the third quarter.

The sad story of the game is the same as in all Middle Tennessee's this year. The Raiders seem to just coast along until the pressure is put on them, then their devastating offense tears you apart. They accomplished a feat that neither Louisville nor Murray could do as they threw two touchdown passes, one from Pearson to Dykes and the other from Pearson to Halliburton that put the game on ice.

The best years of a woman's life are usually counted in man-hours.

Maroons Meet East Tennessee In Buccaneers' Homecoming

Having passed what was called the "Baptism of Fire" stage of their rugged 1961 schedule with more poise than had been predicted, Eastern Kentucky's scrappy Maroons now take on winless East Tennessee in quest of Ohio Valley Conference victory number two.

After dropping two of their first three games on a "killer" card, to the University of Louisville and to Middle Tennessee, the Maroons are confident they still have a chance to grab a share of football glory this fall. Only an impressive 14-13 win over the Murray Thorpebreck, preseason OVC co-favorites is in the credit column for the Maroons. However, they impressed enough people with their last second 22-15 loss to Middle Tennessee, picked to take it all, that they cannot be counted out of the running at this stage.

Although their Saturday afternoon opponent, E. Tennessee, has yet to taste victory, it will be homecoming in Johnson City, and the Buccaneers came within a hair (figuratively speaking) of whipping strong Tennessee Tech in their last outing. The Bucs were halted inside the one-foot line as they bowed to Tech 12-7.

Eastern scouts report that they are a good club and it will take an all-out effort to down the Tennesseans.

Goach Glenn Presnell and his hustling Maroons are working overtime this week on pass defense, a phase that has been weak in the first three contests. Eastern's opponents have completed two-thirds, or 32 of 48 aeriels against them thus far and Presnell figures it's about time something is done about this.

He has taken nothing away from his backs, saying that on many occasions his defensive backs have been in good position, but they were too small to battle the tall ends of Louisville, Murray, and Middle Tennessee. This was the case in the Maroons' disappointing setback to conference leader, Middle Tennessee, last Saturday. The Raiders completed two touchdown passes, both on fourth down plays. On both occasions, it was the case of a short man defending against a tall end.

Injuries continue to plague the Eastern grid camp. All-OVC Ken Goodhew is still out of commission with a leg injury, and Tom Sharp, who was expected to team with Goodhew to be a pair of the loop's top guards, is out of commission for an indefinite period with a dislocated elbow. This leaves Presnell with only senior Donald MacDonald, and freshmen at this position.

Halfback Larry McKenzie, injured in the Louisville opener, is still bobbling, although he was some limited service in the Middle Tennessee fracas. And, end Gene Blackwelder will be lost for the season with a broken hand.

Center Willard Davis, who didn't suit up last week, is lost for the East Tennessee game, as well, and quarterback Elvin Brinegar is not expected to be at full strength for another week.

"If we could get our injury situation straightened out," Presnell reported this week, "we would be tough for anyone to handle." "Our kids are confident they are a good club and I'll guaranteed that with this attitude, we will have a good club."

He praised the Maroons in each of the first three contests. "With a few breaks, we could have a fine season," he said.

The Eastern-East Tennessee series, that dates back to 1928, but didn't get into full swing until 1956, stands at 3-3-2. During Presnell's coaching, it is 1-3-1, with only a 13-6 win in 1958, and a scoreless deadlock last year the personal series between Presnell and "Star" Wood, of East Tennessee.

The Maroons will field their speediest backfield in recent years, with Tony Lanham at quarterback, Jimmy Chittum and either Bill Goedde or Richie Emmons at right half, and Tom Stapleton at fullback. In the line will be Ed Spenik and impressive Bill Elkins at ends, Jim Keller and Dave Hatfield at the tackles, Donald MacDonald and freshman David Grim at guards, and either Bob Goes or Dick Wallace at center.

The Bucs will counter with the conference's two top backs, statistically-speaking, in halfback Phil Morgan and Quarterback Jimmy Baker. Morgan is the OVC's leading rusher with an average of 5.8 yards on 41 carries and Baker is averaging 5.4 yards on 43 attempts. Baker has completed 22 of 32 passes for 231 yards and a touchdown. "Baker also is the loop's top total offense gainer with a total of 462 yards."

The Maroons will leave by chartered buses Friday morning for Johnson City. An afternoon workout is planned there.

Player Of The Week

JOSEPH DONALD MACDONALD

The Eastern Kentucky State College Player of the Week is Joseph Donald MacDonald, a 200 pound junior guard from Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Coach Glenn Presnell said about MacDonald's performance against Middle Tennessee, "He played a tremendous game." The stellar guard has played consistently since he came into the starting lineup to replace injured Ken Goodhew. Now that the other starting guard, Tom Sharp, is out for the rest of the year, MacDonald is expected to take over one of the guard posts permanently.

Don attended West Scranton High School in Scranton, Pennsylvania, where he was coached by Sam Donato. While in high school he was selected to the Dream Team of the City and was a member of the Eastern Conference Championship team, twice in each instance. MacDonald is the son of Cletus J. MacDonald of Scranton, Pa. and is a physical education major with a minor in history. He intends to be a football coach and teach upon graduation.

Bob Francis
Apparel*"Bob's"*Maroons Couldn't
Make "The Big Play," Middle Tennessee Did

"We just couldn't come up with the big play... they could," Coach Glenn Presnell said today after viewing movies of his Eastern Kentucky Maroons' narrow 22-15 loss to Ohio Valley Conference champion, Middle Tennessee.

"We were outmanned by an excellent Middle Tennessee team," Presnell said, but I think our kids really did a tremendous job in nearly upsetting those big Tennessee boys. The Eastern Coach said he thought the Blue Raiders who had to score with just 1:51 remaining in the contest to overcome a 15-14 deficit and win by 7 points, "was an outstanding club with good speed, superb passing, and great depth."

The Raiders scored their first and last touchdowns on a fourth down play, Presnell recalled, and if we could only have stopped their passing attack on those two plays, we could have won a big one. He said that his backs were not to be blamed for much of Middle Tennessee's passing success, but that the Raiders were to be praised.

"Our little boys just were not big enough to battle with those big ends of Middle Tennessee's," he said. He recalled that on several occasions, little Richie Emmons, a 5-8, 150 pound half-back, who played nearly all the contest, defensively, was defending against 6-3 George Dykes or 6-2 Frank Halliburton, or 6-2 Bill Settle. "He was really battling them," he said, "but they were just too big, and excellent pass receivers, at that."

Presnell said of the winning touchdown pass from Jerry Pearson to Halliburton, "we held him (Halliburton) up and had men on him when he made the catch, but the pass was good, and so was the receiver."

"I wish we had more boys just a bit about 6 inches taller and 35 pounds heavier."

Presnell cited the play of guard Donald MacDonald, 190 pound senior from Scranton, Pa. MacDonald turned in a tremendous performance. He's played consistently since he took over for Ken Goodhue, who was injured in the opener with Louisville," Presnell said.

He also praised the play of halfback Jimmy Chittum. Chittum, for the second consecutive week, came up with a long gainer, a 60 yard scoring dash, after he was almost stopped by three tacklers. Against Murray last week, the 170 pound sophomore punt return.

Although Chittum's effort on that long run was superb, Presnell praised the downfield blocking of Bill Elkins, Jim Kellar, and Bill Goedde.

Junior end, Ed Spenik, of Adah, Pa., also was singled out by the Eastern coach.

Injuries resulting from Saturday's narrow loss leaves the Maroons with only one veteran guard, MacDonald. Tom Sharp, a 210 pound junior from Cincinnati, suffered a dislocated elbow that probably will keep him out of action the remainder of the season. Goodhue still hurt, Presnell must turn to freshmen to team with MacDonald at the guards.

Center Willard Davis, who didn't suit up Saturday, is still injured and end Gene Blackwell, who received a broken bone, for the second time this year, in the same hand, is lost for the season.

"We're so small that we bruise easy," Presnell said, and not in a kidding manner. "Although I'm very pleased with our desire and aggressiveness, this still doesn't keep me from wishing we were bigger."

Again, the order of the week for the Maroons will be pass defense, as Presnell and his aides attempt to strengthen the weak spot. In three contests, Eastern's opponents have completed two-thirds of their passes, 32 of 48, for two touchdowns.

"I think, and the kids think, that we have a good club," Presnell said. "The boys were pretty low after their loss Saturday," he said, "but I told them in the dressing room that we (the coaches) were proud of their effort."

"If we could only get our injuries straightened out, we would give anyone a good run for their money," he added.

UNsung HERO — The unsung hero of The Maroons' important 14-13 win over the Murray Thoroughbreds was Dave "The Toe" Hatfield, pictured above getting ready for a practice kick. It was Hatfield's two bulls-eye conversions that actually spelled victory. His kicking, and an outstanding game as a tackle, was overshadowed by Jimmy Chittum's brilliant 86 yard touchdown run. Quarterback Elvin Brinegar is holding the ball in the photo.

AS WE PROGRESS ... Eastern's six new tennis courts meet their first real test as more construction proceeds in the background. These courts will give Eastern the opportunity to once again enter inter-collegiate competition in tennis.

Six New Tennis Courts Are A
'Welcome Sight' To Students

Six new "split-level" tennis courts, lighted for night play, were completed this week, and were welcomed by dozens of eager Eastern students who put them to use in mild autumn weather.

The new courts give the college regulation-sized tennis courts for the first time in three years. Three regulation courts were razed to give way to Case Hall. Two smaller courts behind Memorial Hall have been used until this fall. They are now used as a parking area.

Each of the two levels of the new courts have three courts. They are complete in every respect and suitable for intercollegiate competition. The courts are surfaced with green Laykold tennis court surfacing.

A ten-foot high fence of chain-link wire surrounds the courts and a concrete retaining wall separates the two levels, one of which is six feet higher than the lower level.

The courts will be used at night in the spring, with the completion of Martin Hall. The lights are installed, but the control panel will be located in the new men's dormitory.

physical education department has recommended three additional concrete courts to be constructed south of the present courts. These courts are thought to be built to the multi-recreation area. The facilities would be so constructed that the surface could be flooded in the winter to provide an ice skating rink. Roller skating, dances, and parties are other activities which Eastern students can look forward to in this construction area.

SWIMMING TEAM

The men's varsity swimming team will hold their 1961-62 tryouts on October 16 at 4:00 p.m. Coach Don Combs urges all men with or without competition experience to try out and support the Eels, one of the fastest growing sports at Eastern.

Cadet Of Week

ROBERT M. LEIGH

Meet and greet the ROTC Cadet of the Week. He is Robert M. Leigh, a staff sergeant for Company "E". Bob is from Danville, Ky., and graduated from Danville High School in the Spring of 1960. His double major consists of commerce and history, but he enjoys ROTC and makes top grades in this course.

This cadet works hard and obtains the best results from those he supervises. On the drill field Bob is one of the sharpest looking cadets. He is the first sergeant for Pershing Rifles and this is one of the biggest jobs a P.R. can have. He is on the drill team and has the respect of all cadets he comes in contact with during his duty. When Bob pledged P.R.'s he was selected as the best pledge because of his desire and enthusiasm for the military training.

Other campus activities include sophomore Student Council Representative, Cadet P.I.O. Council and N.C.O. Council. His hobbies are stamp collecting and dancing. When Bob graduates he hopes to continue his military training. Without a doubt the Brigade Staff knows he will stand out at this or whatever else he wants to do.

Jett Heads R.O.T.C. Band

The ROTC Band Company this year is under the command of Cadet Captain Jeff Jett, a senior from Fort Thomas, Kentucky. His command of forty men makes this one of the largest ROTC Bands in Eastern's history.

Emphasis is being placed on brass with fifteen trumpeters who will join with eight drummers in providing the volume of military music to Eastern's Corps of some 900 men.

An allotment has been granted to provide the best arrangements suitable for the drill field program. Cadets will find the addition of music will help not only their marching ability, but also the overall appearance of the cadet corps.

The Band Company is also interested in the National Band Association, a club for ROTC bands. This club will provide inter-school and individual competition each year. Action is now being taken to participate in this organization.

Co-eds Compete For Cash And Trip In Contest

An expense-paid, month-long trip to New York city and $500 cash awards are among the prizes offered in Mademoiselle's new College Contests for 1962. Coeds will compete in three contest divisions: the College Board, Fiction, and Art.

Open to women undergraduates under 26 years of age, the contests provide opportunities for those interested in magazine writing, art, fashion, promotion or advertising. In the College Board contest, students will submit a tryout assignment. If the work is accepted by the magazine's editors, they are then eligible to compete for Guest Editorships. These women will travel to New York in June, 1962 and spend a month there receiving salary, helping edit the August issue, and being featured in it.

The two winners of the Fiction Contest will receive $500 cash and publication of their stories in Mademoiselle. Each of the two Art Contest winners will be asked to illustrate one of the two winning stories for publication in Mademoiselle. Each will also receive $500 for her work. Winners and honorable mentions of both of these contests will be announced in the August issue.

Further information on how to apply may be obtained from the Progress office. The try-out deadline for the College Board Contest is November 30; for the Fiction and Art Contests, March 1, 1962.

MUSIC IN THE AIR—Climaxing the High School Band Day last Saturday was the mass formation in Hanger Stadium of the 2400 band members of 39 high school bands. Under the direction of Mr. Nicholas Koenigstein the mass bands played two selections, "Hail, Hail, Eastern Maroons" and "God Bless America."

2d Army R. O. T. C. Chief Praises Eastern Brigade

Lieutenant Colonel R. D. Danforth, who was recently assigned as chief of the Reserve Officers, Training Corps Branch, G3 Section, of Headquarters Second United States Army, Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, made an informal staff visit to Eastern on Friday, October 6.

Danforth handles all staff actions at Headquarters Second U.S. Army pertaining to the ROTC program.

The purpose of his visit was to become acquainted with our college officials and the ROTC program at this institution. After observing the performance of the Cadet Brigade during Corps, period, Lt. Col. Danforth commented that he was most favorably impressed by the progress made by the brigade in Drill and Ceremonies training in the short time since the opening of the fall term.

The President's Reception originally scheduled for September 28, will be held in the Student Union Building on Monday, October 16, from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Progress Editors

renceburg, was officially named associate editor of the Progress, a position he has held thus far. Other editorial staff members of the Progress include Melva Groot, clubs editor; Doug Whitlock, sports editor; George Dopp, Jr., business manager; Ed Oder, assistant business manager, and Chester Buchanan, student photography manager.

Other students who have joined the staff and assigned to the various editorial departments are Judy Wood, Eddie Fisk, Ben Cartinhour, Sandy Goodlett, Bruce Gosney, Sheila Gilbreath, Jerry Crawford, and Julie Rachford.

The Progress is still accepting applications for persons interested in joining the staff. In other business, the Board discussed proposed additions to the honors section of the Milestone. The co-editors gave the criteria by which the person should be chosen for proper recognition. These new honors will be announced by the Milestone soon.

Sound Off!

ROTC participation can be whatever you make it. The U.S. Army supplies its very best officers and noncoms as instructors and advisers. It furnishes not only the uniforms and textbooks but all the modern equipment that is needed to make lessons realistic and worthwhile.

ROTC training is not designed to produce second lieutenants meticulously trained in every detail of an arm or service, but rather to provide potential commanders and staff officers who have learned the basic principles of discipline, leadership and assumption of responsibility and are capable of development to meet the military demands of the future.

Congratulations to the P.I.O. council for the outstanding first edition of "EYES RIGHT". We wish it continued success in the voice of the corps.

The AUSA was formed in 1950 by merging the U.S. Infantry Association (1892) and the U.S. Field Artillery Association (1907).

There are 64 AUSA ROTC companies in the United States to date. Eastern's chapter is one of these 64 companies.

Advanced Course Standards: A student is elected for the advanced course on the basis of his college academic record, his score on the ROTC General Aptitude Tests, and his demonstrated leadership in ROTC and in other campus organizations and activities.

This is a question that most students ask, and it is important to know. In ROTC you are graded on your work in the classroom, on your performance on the drill field, and on your conduct. To be good in the classroom alone is not enough. To be good at both, but have too many unexcused absences or to fail to carry out orders properly is not enough. You must be good in all three.

The cadet Corps is organized as a Brigade, with two battle groups, each having three lettered companies (A.B.C. and D.E.F.). In addition the Brigade Commander has a Band Company. He will be assigned to one of the units in the Cadet Brigade and he will be responsible to all cadet commanders senior to him. The cadet commanders will expect the same high standards of courtesy and conduct as do the ROTC faculty and staff.

Our first two corps periods have been very gratifying as all cadets portrayed a positive attitude in their desire to learn. The continuance of this positive attitude will insure us success and preparedness for the first annual Military Day to be held on October 21st and 22nd the way for a successful year.

Last week the Brigade Sponsors were introduced to the cadets they will represent this year. New uniforms are being ordered for sponsors. These uniforms should make a very impressive addition to our corps.

Miss Evelyn Craft is the Brigade sponsor and will ride on the ROTC float in the homecoming parade which has as its theme "The Old South". All cadets are expected to help on this float and if everyone does his share, it should be a winner.

Pershing Rifles will sponsor their own float in the homecoming parade this month.
