THIS YEAR'S OVC CHAMP MIGHT NOT HAVE A CLEAN LOOP SLATE

If the 17-14 loss to Murray had come in any of the last few seasons the Maroons would be automatically out of the Ohio Valley Conference picture, but this year it looks like the champ could have one loss, and for our hopes to remain alive a triumph in Murfreesboro tomorrow is highly important.

Middle Tennessee and East Tennessee are the only undefeated teams remaining in conference play. They have yet to play each other and when they do, if they are both still undefeated their game will probably determine the champ.

But, it's a long time until the Raiders and Bucs clash on November 10, and chances are that one of them will lose a loop encounter before then.

The Maroons have a crack at the Raiders tomorrow night. Middle Tennessee won impressively over Austin Peay, then edged Morehead 7-0, and Western Kentucky 17-0. The Blue Raiders have yet to be scored upon.

Eastern will be out to get revenge for a close loss to the Tennesseans here last season that came as a result of a circus pass play in the closing seconds of the game.

A glance at the conference picture shows that Western with two losses is the only team in a hopeless situation. Eastern, Murray, Morehead, and Tennessee Tech all have lost one game, but after tomorrow the list of one game losers will be cut to at least three, and maybe just one.

Murray and Morehead clash at Morehead, Tennessee Tech and East Tennessee battle in Cookeville, and of course the Maroons meet the Blue Raiders.

The Murray-Morehead game is the only encounter that a one game loser is bound to emerge victorious, while Tech and Eastern could be eliminated from the picture if they were both to lose.

Right now, the Maroons have more to say about how the conference race is going to run than anybody else.

Besides the game with Mid. Tenn. tomorrow, East Tennessee invades our campus next week, which gives us a shot at the top two teams in the conference in two straight games.

The next few weeks will go a long way in determining who wins the Ohio Valley Conference, and if the Maroons can emerge victorious in their next two games the crown will be won by a team defeated in conference play.

EASTERN, MURRAY TAKE TURN ABOUT IN DEFEATING EACH OTHER AT HOME
Since 1958 the home field advantage in Eastern, Murray clashes hasn't been worth a hoot.

In that year Eastern beat the Racers here 14-6 and since then neither has been able to win at home since the other.

The Maroons journeyed to Murray the next year to hand them a 7-0 loss, then the Racers came up here and walked away the winner, 19-21. Last season Eastern edged Murray 14-13 there, and of course, Friday Murray shocked the Maroons 17-14.

Maroons Shocked By Murray Racers 17-14; Take On Favored Blue Raiders Tomorrow

Fioravanti Paces 'Breds

The Tony Fioravanti-sparked Murray Racers combined pass completions and Eastern fumbles into a 17-14 victory over the Maroons here last Friday night in the Eastern home-lid lifter.

Eastern, too, was led by its quarterback, as Larry Marmie passed for 87 yards and ran halfbacks Bill Goedde and Jimmy Chittum at the Racers like an old experienced hand.

Eastern held a slight 14-11 lead with about five minutes left in the contest when they went off course, and underdog Murray took the upper hand.

A five-yard pass to end Gary Foltz in the end zone, climaxing a Murray drive from midfield, ruined Eastern's victory hopes.

Fioravanti relied upon Jackson and end Bob Chapman on a series of aerial plays which started at midfield.

Murray snatched an early advantage when Harry Kotagides booted a 30-yard field goal, giving Murray a 3-0 lead. Murray grabbed possession of the pigskin when Eastern fumbled on their own 30. Murray moved to the Eastern 13 in six plays.

The Maroons retaliated in the second quarter when Chittum sneaked over from one yard out, ending a 69-yard march.

Tom Stapleton kicked the extra, giving Eastern a 7-3 lead.

But the underrated Thoroughbreds weren't satisfied. They sprang back in the third frame to take an 11-7 advantage.

Two-Point Extra
Jackson slipped over for the TD from the five yard line with about five minutes left in the quarter.

Fioravanti tossed to Foltz for the two-point extra.

Murray began this scoring drive by punching on an Eastern fumble on the Thoroughbred 22.

Undaunted Eastern rallied to push across another tally in the early moments of the fourth frame.

Fioravanti's coolness chilled ESC fans in the final minutes when he snapped a pitch to Foltz for a TD. A pass attempt for the extra point went awry.

★ ★ ★ Intramural Sports ★ ★ ★

By NICK ZANE

The new men's intramural program swings into action this week and you can be sure there will be a lot of excitement.

Dr. Jess Waite of the Physical Education Department has set up a new system that promises some real keen competition.

The teams are to be made up of units, with one floor of a dormitory per unit. There are 38 units so it should be quite competitive.

Each unit is urged to get up a team in every sport. Some of the activities to be offered are: flag football, volleyball, badminton, handball, softball, horseshoes, bowling, all school field day, tennis, golf, and cross country.

Football and bowling are now in progress with 18 football teams and 22 bowling teams being represented.

Every team has a chance to win because each sport receives a certain number of points. At the end of the semester the team unit with the highest accumulation of points will be the "All Intramural Champion."

Football competition is 5 p.m., Monday-Thursday and in the intramural field, and Bowling is at 4:15 on Monday and Tuesday.

Next week: Scores, top players, and events to come.

Middle Tenn. Undefeated

Glenn Presnell's Eastern Maroons, jolted 17-14 by surprising Tony Fioravanti-led Murray in their initial Ohio Valley Conference battle last Friday, tackle league favorite, Middle Tennessee tomorrow in quest of their first loop victory.

The Maroons will be seeking to keep alive any title hopes they might have when they invade the Blue Raider nest in Murfreesboro. Middle Tennessee is unbeaten and unscored-upon in three outings, having toppled Morehead 7-0, Western 17-0, and Austin Peay 23-0.

Murray Game 'A Hoopie'

The home opener for the Maroons was a repeat of the 1960 Eastern-Murray clash in Richmond when Fioravanti, then a freshman, guided the Racers to a 21-19 upset. Again it was a fourth down touchdown pass in the closing moments of the game that gave Murray its first OVC win. And, again it was the same Fioravanti, more experienced and showing poise throughout the contest, that dealt the decisive blow to Eastern.

"There were just too many Fioravanti passes completed," said Coach Presnell in reviewing the loss. "He did a real great job, both passing and running. In fact, that boy can play for anyone," he remarked.

"Murray is a lot stronger than people give them credit for." "They lost to East Tennessee by 6-3, but the Bucs are a very strong club, as they have proven since then in beating Western decisively and narrowly losing 14-13 to tough Chattanooga last weekend." Presnell said that Fioravanti's fourth down pass was well covered, defensively. "We had three people covering the receiver," he said. "But we couldn't bat it down."

The Eastern coach cited the play of sophomore quarterback Larry Marmie, halfbacks Bill Goedde and Jimmy Chittum, and end Ed Spenk. Marmie, who didn't start the contest, came into his own in the Murray clash, completed five of 13 passes for 87 yards and running for 49 yards on 13 carries. Goedde, a 165 pound junior from Cincinnati, was highly praised for his effort. The little speedster gained 57 rushing yards and snagged four passes for 74 yards.

The Maroons came out of the Murray tilt in good physical condition, which will permit Presnell and his staff to conduct rough contact drills this week. "We had a relatively light week in getting ready for Murray," he said, "because of the weather and the fact that it was a Friday game, but we'll bump heads this week to get ready for Middle Tennessee."

He said that the Raiders have the same "hard-nosed" team they have had over the years. The Maroons' coaches have scouted the Tennesseans twice and report that they are extremely versatile on both offense and defense.

Presnell reported that co-captain Ken Goodhue, who has been injured and saw no action in either of the Maroons' first two games, will be ready to play some tomorrow night. The senior guard has been recovering from a leg injury.

Marmie probably will be moved up to the number one quarterback post, he said, and senior Willard Davis has been moved up at center to the starting slot.

The Blue Raiders were nosed out last year by Tennessee Tech for the loop championship on the basis of a 7-6 loss to the Golden Eagles, but the Raiders appear to be the stronger team and a solid favorite to gain the crown this year.

All-OVC end, George Dykes, who set a Blue Raider pass receiving record last season, leads a long list of lettermen. Dykes led the Raiders in their 22-15 come-from-behind victory over Eastern at Richmond last year.

Other all-conference players back are fullback Phil Grammer, tackle Wayne Winters, and Bill Settle, and guard Joe Dressman.

The Eastern traveling party will leave Richmond Friday morning by chartered bus for Murfreesboro. They will return Sunday.

The Maroons return to Hanger Stadium next week, meeting East Tennessee in a Band Day attraction. Some fifty high school bands are expected to be present for the 2 p.m. kickoff.

CKEA Elects Officers Here At Covention Last Friday

Leonard Taylor, superintendent of Danville city schools, was chosen president-elect and Douglas House, superintendent of Madison County schools, vice president-elect of the Central Kentucky Education Association, meeting at Eastern last Friday.

About 4,000 Central Kentucky teachers and school officials attended the morning and afternoon sessions of the 33rd annual meeting of the CKEA.

Mrs. Hollis O'Neal, a Lexington teacher, assumed the presidency of the CKEA after Friday's meeting, succeeding Roy N. Walters, Berea. Mrs. O'Neal was Secretary-treasurer of the CKEA is C. R. Hager, Nicholasville.

At the first general session that morning in Brock Auditorium, Chariton Hummel, state president of the Kentucky Education Association, urged the assembly to take the initiative and establish a program of high conduct among all teachers.

In discussing the Professional Practices Commission, Hummel told the educators that two words are important in the establishment of a Professional Practices Commission — autonomy and self-determination. He said, "They are action words, but are useless unless performed with responsibility." When we established the Professional Practices Commission, we accepted responsibilities and the risk of being misunderstood. "But," he pointed out, "nothing is worthwhile that doesn't bring with it responsibilities and risks."

Must Have Platform

He told the group that in order to set our aims and goals we must have a platform for education in Kentucky. And he stated that no platform was worthy unless all members are involved.

He pointed out two problem areas that the program faces: (1) that of community transfer of people in the system without just cause; and (2) the inability of teachers to recognize sanctity of contract.

Meetings from 10 a.m. to noon were conducted by the 11 CKEA sections which presented the following program:

Classroom Teachers—Mrs. Alice M. Strange, presiding.
Superintendents—Lloyd Patterson and Clyde Lassiter, discussion leaders.
Secondary Principals—Ned Breathitt, speaker.
Elementary Principals—Dr. Dorothy Simpson, speaker.
Higher Education—Sidney Simandie, speaker.
Directors of Pupil Personnel—Planning session and meal at Ben-auld Inn.
Teps Committee—Miss Beulah Fontaine, discussion leader.
Librarians—Mrs. Emily Peel, presiding.
Guidance Counselors—Jack M. Conner, presiding.

Elected to the CKEA Board of Directors were: Mrs. Pauline Wall, Danville city schools; Leslie Kitchen, Lexington; and Mrs. Helen Langford, Garrard County.

Delegates elected to represent the CKEA at the NEA Convention in Detroit are: Mrs. O'Neal, Lexington; Charles Barrett, Franklin County; Paul Sebastian, Richmond; John Vickers, Eastern; Carl Ford, Berea; Sedley Stewart, Lee County; Conrad Haynes, and the Classroom Teachers' president, to be elected this afternoon.

KEA delegates are Miss Nancy Caywood and Miss Vivian Burke. Dr. Carl S. Winters, former crime commissioner of Michigan, was the speaker at the afternoon session. He is a member of the lecture staff of the public relations department of General Motors Corporation and his topic was "What's Right with America."

WEKY Expands; Reorganizes

Richmond's radio station, WEKY, is being reorganized and the programming is to be expanded. J. J. Franke Fox, station president announced earlier this week.

Al Weaver, former program and sports director of WEKY Radio, has been named General Manager. Mr. Weaver will continue to do a play by play broadcast of all Eastern football and basketball games. James Kincaid, better known as Jimmy "K", a senior at Eastern, has been appointed program director and chief engineer of the station.

WEKY To Be Powerful

WEKY Radio will soon increase its power to 1000 watts which will allow it to cover more territory. It is planning to devote more time to college and community affairs. Furthermore, it presently plans to broadcast the World Series, and it is one of only three stations in Kentucky to be awarded a contract for the games.
