Eastern Concludes A Perfect Season With A 48-0 Win

Maroons Score
Four Touchdowns
In First Half

OHIO TEAM

Completing the first perfect season for an Eastern football team, Rome Rankin's rampant Maroons romped over the Trojans of Bowling Green University by a score of 48 to 0 Saturday, November 16, before a shivering Dad's Day crowd in Hanger Stadium.

Striking twice in the first quarter, the Marauding Maroons lost no time in showing the Trojans just how matters stood.

With Ordich taking Brudzinski's kick on his own 24 and bringing it back to the 34, Eastern, with straight power plays, marched up the field in 13 plays had tallied on a pass from Thurman to Schuster. Chuck split the uprights to make it 7 to 0.

Bowling Green received kickoff but failed to make any progress and booted to Bert Smith who brought it back to the enemy 43 yard stripe. Ordich, Smith and Thurman alternated in the carrying assignment and Eastern again had scored, this time by Ordich on a buck from the 3. Schuster again converted to end the scoring in the first quarter.

The Ohioans perked up in the second quarter, packing up two first downs, only to have Brudzinski's pass intercepted by Thurman who lugged it to the Trojan 30.

Rankin's boys again got under way, this time Bennedett, sophomore fullback, getting loose on a reverse to go 30 yards for the tally. Smith passed to Larry Lehman for the extra.

In the same period Eastern, after an exchange of punts, rolled up three first downs and another marker, again by Bennedett, this time from the 2. Siphers kick was no good.

Coming back after the intermission Rankin's ravagers scored on Thurman's pass to Schuster for the only score in the third period. Schuster converted.

With substitutions numerous, the Maroons tallied twice on passes in the last canto, Thurman to Dressman and Thurman to Schuster. Combs kicked one extra and Schuster the other.

Playing their last game for the Maroon and White were nine seniors, all of whom played magnificent ball. They were Spider Thurman, Bill Cross, George Ordich, ravis Combs, and Bob Mowat, backs, and Ora Tussey, Nelson Gordon, Walter Mayer and Harold Yinger, linemen.

Eastern Clubs In Kentucky Choose Officers

Turley and Pille
Chosen Prexies
Of Two Clubs

BECKLEY ATTENDS

Two very prominent chapters of the Eastern Clubs which are scattered throughout Kentucky met during the week of November 4 and chose their new officers for the year.

About forty Eastern alumni and former students attended a dinner meeting of the Louisville Eastern Club the evening of November 6 at the Puritan Apartments in Louisville and selected J. D. Turley president. Other officers elected were Miss Ann Stiglitz, vice president; Miss Grace Champion, secretary, and Mrs. Nancy Lohn, treasurer. Keith Dicken, retiring president, presided. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Stiglitz, 190 Bellaire avenue.

Roy Pille, Dayton, was elected president of the Northern Kentucky Eastern Club at a luncheon meeting at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newport November 8. Mr. Richard Evans, Erlanger, was elected vice president; Miss Lucille Thomas, treasurer, and Miss Virginia Jones, Erlanger, corresponding secretary. About 120 Eastern alumni and former students attended the meeting. Arrangements for the luncheon were in the hands of George Martin, retiring president.

In addition to these two clubs, an Eastern Club has recently been formed in Franklin county. About twenty alumni and former students attended the organization meeting. Officers elected were Wilson Ashby, president; Mayme Frances Bales, vice president; Emma Osborne, secretary, and Lucile Litsey, treasurer.

Eastern representatives at the Louisville meeting were Mr. Sam Beckley and Dr. Charles A. Keith. At the Northern Kentucky meeting, the representatives from Eastern were Mrs. Emma Y. Case, Mr. Beckley and Dr. Keith. At Frankfort Eastern's representatives were Dr. Virgil Burns and Mr. Beckley.

COACH ROME RANKIN

Buchanan Chooses Official Ushers For School Year

Catlett, Johnson
Are Head Ushers
For Second Year

VALUABLE AID

Miss Pearl Buchanan, faculty head of the Ushering Staff at Eastern, has recently announced the selection of the official staff for the year. Members of the staff were selected on the basis of personality, scholarship and cooperation.

The Ushering Staff is an organization that has received little recognition from the students because of the fact that they have never had a Milestone picture and because they hold no official meetings. However, there has been a good deal of official attention paid to them as a group. They usher at all public or private programs which are held in connection with the school, and constitute a very decorative, as well as useful, aid to the attending public.

In the balcony the following will be ushers: Ralph Crawford, Al Dressman, Henry Flynn, Vernon Kalb, Charles Lake, Nelson Lamkin, Gayle McConnell, Carl Risch, Robert Yeager, Guy Whitehead, Roy Floyd, Lawrence Carlson and Phil Bevins.

The next event at which the ushers will be required will be the first concert of the year, which is being held tonight.

Paul Brandes Wins Third in Peace Oratorical Contest

Western Senior Wins
First and Berea
Speaker Second

HELD AT BERA

Paul Brandes, Fort Thomas, junior at Eastern, took third prize in the annual state peace oratorical contest held on the Berea College campus Wednesday night, November 27, with his oration on "The Peace That Passeth All Understanding."

Paul Rutledge, Louisville, senior at Western, defeated 10 other Kentucky college speakers and was awarded $50 as first prize. The manuscript of his oration was entitled "The Second Pillar" and will be forwarded to national contest headquarters for judging with other state winners.

Second prize of $30 was won by Berea College's speaker, Jesse Allen, whose topic was "Too Little Too Late."

Judges of the contest were the speech coaches from the 11 participating colleges, including Miss Rena Calhoun, Georgetown College; Miss Stella Ward, Union; Ford Messamore, Kentucky Wesleyan; J. W. Sattler, Berea; Y. D. Westfield, Asbury; W. R. Sutherland, University of Kentucky; Saul Houchell, Eastern; J. Reid Sterrett, Western; Edward Saxon, Transylvania; A. C. LaFollette, Murray; and Charles Manning, Centre.

Other contestants in the eliminations to determine Eastern's representative were Ralph Crawford, Arnett Mann and Claude Rawlins.

Eastern Hopes To Join Guild As Listening Group

Spratt In Charge
Of Preparations
For First Opera

TEA THIS P. M.

In connection with the music program that the Student Union Building will sponsor throughout the year, the committee announces a plan whereby those who are interested in good music, and especially in hearing this music, may get some very special advantages by it.

The Metropolitan Opera Guild was organized five years ago to help the opera audience far and wide get all possible pleasure from the Saturday afternoon and other performances of the Metropolitan Opera. The Guild now wishes to help listening groups throughout the country to know more about opera, and it is prepared to send special Guild material about the broadcast. Several hundred of these listening groups have already been formed.

It is the hope of the Music Committee that such a group may be formed at Eastern. There is no fee required for registration and upon registration, descriptive material especially prepared for the first Saturday broadcast of the season will be sent, plus a bibliography. Names may be given to Jack Spratt or to Mrs. Chenault, and should be done immediately, since the first opera will be broadcast on the 7th of December.

The regular Friday afternoon tea will be held from four o'clock to five this afternoon in the Walnut Hall. The members of the band will be host for the occasion.

Kappa Delta Pi Initiates Nine At Banquet, Nov. 26

Kappa Delta Pi held its formal initiation Tuesday night, November 26, at 5:30 o'clock in the Student Union Building. After the initiation the new members were honored with a dinner in the Blue Room and a recital by Mr. Giles. Marie Hughes presided and the speaker was Dr. Glover who spoke on the work of Kappa Delta Pi at George Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn.

The nine initiated were: Ruth Catlett, Dora Allen, Susan Biesack, Hansford Farris, Vera Maybury, Jean Porter, Evelyn Sic, James Squires and Vivian Weber.

Former Eastern Student Graduated From Air Corps Flying School At Kelly Field, Texas, Nov. 15

JOHN SAAD

John Saad, Pikeville, Kentucky, was one of the two hundred and twenty-one Flying Cadets who graduated from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School at Kelly Field, Texas, on November 15. John was one of Eastern's most popular students during his two years' stay here. He was a letter man in football, a member of the office force in Beckham Hall, and treasurer of the Sophomore class two years ago. John was one of the few students who passed the exam and worked his way through finally to graduate in the seventh class of Uncle Sam's Flying School since the first of 1940.

Each of the 221 received a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve and the highly coveted silver wings which is the distinctive badge of the military aviator. All of these new officers will begin active duty with the regular Army Air Corps. One hundred of these new officers will be assigned to the Air Corps Training Center as flying instructors for the continually increasing classes of student pilots for the Army. The balance of this class will be assigned to the many fighting units of the Army Air Corps which are now located throughout the

"Our Town", L. T. C. Play, Is Well Done

Unique Stage
Adds Interest
To Unusual Play

ALLEN, GRIBBIN

The Little Theater may well tally up another hit on its score card for its presentation of "Our Town," Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer prize play. The cast, headed by B. E. Allen and Owen Gribbin as the juvenile leads, gave a performance that has been rated by critics as one of the best ever given by the Little Theater Club.

"Our Town" was unique for Eastern. The near-bare stage seemed queer at first, but as the play proceeded, actually added to the effectiveness of the dialogue by eliminating the bonds of time and space. If the stage manager wished to present a country scene, he notified the audience, who, taking the cue, adjusted their imaginations and mentally changed scenes.

Even though the juvenile leads held the major roles by virtue of interest, the character players came near to stealing the show. They were Ann Thomas, Georgia Root, Mary Cook and Orville Byrne.

The Little Theater plans to present at least one other play this year in addition to the Shakespearean drama.

Iota Alpha Gamma Holds Meeting On Thursday, Nov. 7

Iota Alpha Gamma, local industrial arts club on the campus, held its regular meeting on Thursday, November 7. Charles Karnes and Jesse Lewis were taken in as new members.

An educational program was presented in the form of three interesting short talks and discussions. John Garth spoke on "Safety in the School Shop," Calfee Colson told something of "Glue and the Glue Industry" (a sticky subject but well managed), and Homer Davis explained some of the Advantages of "Visual Aids in the High School Shop."

Eastern can be proud to have this practical and active organization on the campus. Many of the club members are among the personnel of the production department which builds many pieces of furniture and equipment for the college.

Artist For First Of Concert Series

ROBERT MARSHALL

Robert Marshall Is Here Tonight In First Concert

Concert Artist
Is Star of Radio and Concert Stage

TO BEGIN AT 8:00

The Madison County Cooperative Concert Association presents its first concert of the season Friday, November 29, with Robert Marshall, tenor, as the artist.

Robert Marshall was born in Freedom, Pennsylvania, and is nationally known on concert stage and radio. He has appeared on Columbia network, WTAM and WHK, has made tours through the East, South, Middle West, New England and Canada, and once had an engagement at the governor's mansion at Albany, New York.

On the concert stage he has taken the part of Prince Charming in the New York premiere of the opera, "The Sleeping Beauty," by John Erskine; Rindolfo in the opera, "La Boheme," and the Singer in "Der Rosenkavalier."

This is the first in a series of three concerts to be presented this year. It will be held in the Hiram Brock Auditorium at 8 p. m. Special guest cards may be secured for out-of-town guests from the secretary, Mr. C. D. Oldham, for $1 per concert.

Through reciprocal agreements members may attend concerts in Frankfort and Danville. Because of limited seating capacity the Danville agreement has been granted subject to available seats. Members should attend the Danville concerts with the understanding that admission will be granted where there are any vacancies the night of the concert since the local membership there entirely fills the auditorium.

Membership cards have been sent out to the different members of the association. They must be presented at the door for admission.

Orchestra Trouble Causes Mix-Up In Military Ball

The Military Ball was officially postponed today after a period of indecision as to whether the dance would be given on December 13, the date formerly set or would be postponed indefinitely.

It has always been the custom to have the Military Ball the second semester, but this year because of the large number of dances that always crowd the calendar during the second semester, the committee on the Military Ball decided to have their dance the first semester. Arrangements were accordingly made and the news was spread about that Carl Deacon Moore's orchestra would furnish the music.

Monday, November 25, the news reached Eastern that the orchestra of Carl Deacon Moore would not be able to play for the dance. It has been found impossible to make arrangements for another good orchestra in the short time that was left, so the Military Ball will not be given until sometime in March, according to latest reports.

Eastino Club Elects Cecille Simmons as President for Year

On Wednesday, November 27, the Eastino Club elected the following officers for the year: President, Cecille Simmons, Richmond; vice president, LeMonne Miller, LaGrange; secretary, Arlena Turner, Hazard, and treasurer, Melba Clark, Dayton. These officers will serve for the remainder of the year.

The Eastino Club is directed by Mrs. Robert Seavers and is primarily for freshmen girls who eventually desire to become members of the Madrigal Club.

Eastern To Send Four Delegates To KIPA Meeting

School Selected
To Judge Contest
Is Northwestern

MEET AT TRANSY

Representing the Eastern Progress at the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association convention to be held at Transylvania College, Lexington, on Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14, will be four Eastern students. Those who have selected as delegates of the college are: Ruth Catlett and Jim Squires, co-editors of the paper; Dick Dickerson, business manager, and Mary Agnes Finneran, who serves as vice president of the K. I. P. A. and as chairman of the college peace front.

The Northwestern University School of Journalism has accepted the invitation to act as judge of the semi-annual college newspaper contest. Results of the competition will be announced at the banquet on Friday evening, December 13. At this time, the cup will be awarded to best college newspaper of the state. Awards will also be given for achievements in writing editorials, news stories, features, columns, cartoons, advertisements and in the technical divisions of newspaper make-up.

Representatives of the various Kentucky college presses will be the guests of the Crimson Rambler staff of Transylvania. The proposed program includes a business meeting on Friday afternoon, following the morning registration, which will be presided over by 1940 president, James Caldwell, University of Kentucky, assisted by Miss Carol Patrick, secretary-treasurer, of Morehead College. On Friday evening, delegate will be entertained at a banquet, the feature of the evening being the presentation of the contest awards.

College papers to be represented will include: University of Kentucky, Western, Eastern, Morehead, Georgetown, Union, Centre, University of Louisville, Murray and Transylvania.

Baptist Church Holds Student Day On November 17

Petty Presides
As Superintendent
During Morning

STUDENT USHERS

Student Day at the Richmond Baptist Church was held Sunday, November 17. The program was especially prepared to appeal to the young people, with all the boys on Eastern's undefeated football team as honored guests.

The recent act of Congress makes it increasingly essential that every effort be made to reach the young men before it becomes necessary for them to go away even for a year. The program Sunday was planned with that idea in mind. To make it even more appealing, students replaced the regular officers in charge of conducting the Sunday School and Church services.

Bud Petty assumed the position usually taken by Dr. Sory as the Superintendent of the Sunday School for the day. The Sunday School program consisted of a solo by Jack Loper; a talk by Willa Sue Richards on developing one's personality, and a trumpet solo by Jiggs Walters. Dr. Saul Houchell ended the program with a prayer.

In the worship service, the young men from the high schools acted as ushers. Bud Petty opened the service and took the place of Dr. Hewlett till it came time for the sermon. Preceding Dr. Hewlett's sermon was a talk by Nelson Lamkin on "Honoring Our Athletes."

Those men who usually act as deacons were replaced by young men from Eastern, Herschell Coates, James Farris, Hobart Hansard, Raymond Hogg, David Allen, Thomas Wettig and Denver Sans.

Band Gives Music For 2 Draftees On Monday, Nov. 25

On Monday night, November 25, the band of Eastern State Teachers College provided music at the ceremony in honor of the draftees of Madison county, who left for a year's training on the 26.

The band will also play at the ceremony downtown on December 4 which will be given to honor the Christmas season by the Richmond merchants.

PROGRESS PLATFORM

- A modified form of student government. A weekly school publication. A more active alumni association. Continued expansion of college departments. Continued thoughtfulness in regard to college property. A greater Eastern.

WE SUGGEST

This season's Maroons are our first undefeated, untied group in the school's history. The Athletic Department does its part in outfitting both the football and basketball men with sweaters, jackets, and blankets during their playing days.

Sweaters and jackets are serviceable while they last and should be given to athletes. However these gifts don't last over a year or so and are soon gone. It is the contention of this paper and many of the students that the student body should donate enough money to buy gold football charms for our undefeated, untied senior boys.

If every Eastern student would donate a dime these footballs would become a reality. This idea of the footballs is only a suggestion, but if the students show enough interest in a movement of this kind the Progress will do all possible to see that our graduating Maroons have a football which will show our gratitude for their work.

OUR TEAM

It isn't often that we have the opportunity to gloat, the opportunity to beam at the general public from a cloud bank, so it may be excused in us now. Such opportunities are too few to allow them to slip by unheeded.

There has been all too few ovations given to our team during the entire season. Now when the season is over, and over in such a blaze of glory, it is almost lamentable that the student body is showing so little appreciation of the great team it possessed this year. The ovations that they have received are no more enthusiastic than the usual ones we accord to our team when they had a very mediocre season.

At any rate, editorials in the papers of neighboring schools have loudly upbraided the student body for their lack of enthusiasm when they failed merely to turn out en masse to meet the team when they returned from the season games.

Seeking for some explanation of this apathy, we must give the one excuse that serves for almost every error of this sort. Eastern has never had the sort of spirit that exudes in cheers and hurrahs. When a rah-rah student comes here from high school, it is almost disgusting to him to have to sit in the midst of a group that does not rise to its feet and applaud every play of the team.

To explain this, we would have to venture almost into the realm of metaphysics. But it is interesting to conjecture as to the cause of a thing, even if there is no basis at all for the conjecture. And so for this. There is no logical reason why we should not be a rah-rah college. But we cannot blame this generation of college students that we are not. If there is an atmosphere of pep and enthusiasm for sports in a college when the students enter that college, and thus the spirit of the thing becomes hereditary.

The conclusion that one would reach from this reasoning, if such it may be called, is simply that we have merely fit ourselves into a pattern which we have inherited. Certainly, this conclusion is supported by the evidence of the past three years. It is always convenient to blame deficiencies on the preceding generation.

But even if we are not a school whose spirit comes forth in spontaneous cheers every time touchdowns are scored, there is a spirit there. Yes, you disillusioned Cheer-leaders, there is a spirit there.

It may take you four years to see it, but you will finally agree that it is better to accept things as they are and to take it for granted that the cheerleaders of the future will continue to attempt to pull forth cheers from an indifferent audience with a pair of forceps. And you will learn that the spirit, which seems so invisible at athletic events, is made up of emotions that have no convenient mode of expression sometimes.

Whenever a spirit is needed, the spirit of Eastern will be there. A thing made up of cooperation, assistance, warm-hearted friendliness, and understanding. The surface trimmings won't be missed much later on. And so it is with this knowledge that we are not condemning the attitude of the student body toward the team. The students did attend the games this year, and they do appreciate the altogether splendid work of the team all season.

OUR TOWN

There are small towns everywhere where just such events go on as were represented in OUR TOWN. Most of us are familiar with such towns and such happenings, for we are not a metropolitan college. The greater part of our students are from small towns and villages and not from cities.

There was another reason why this play should have been one of deep interest to all of us. It dealt with the emotions of human beings that are common to each one of us. Perhaps a more graphic portrayal of these emotions has never been given than in Thornton Wilder's play.

It has been said that anything is worthwhile if it makes one think. If that is so, then certainly OUR TOWN is the most worthwhile thing that has come our way for a long time. There was not one of us who failed to go home with a deeper appreciation of the common, ordinary things that we had come to take for granted in our lives after seeing the play.

A large part of the credit for these qualities goes to the selection of the play, of course. OUR TOWN is a great play. But it is our belief that an even larger part of the credit goes to the cast and the director of the play. At the first reading of the play, it would seem that it was a play that had too heavy potentialities and too deep emotions for a group of college students.

The school as a whole should have been proud of the people who gave OUR TOWN. All of those who saw it are intensely so. To the others, that group of students and faculty who spend most of their time in some sort of a blissful fireside torpor, in which they ignore all the events of the college, we have only this to say. Missing OUR TOWN was your loss.

RESPONSIBILITY

Wendell Phillips once said that responsibility in itself educates. If responsibility does do most of the educating for Eastern students, there are a very few of them who come near having an education or who will ever get an education. The biggest majority of those who attend college here shrink from any kind of the "happy-go-lucky" type who never feel a care in the world.

The members of Eastern's faculty have been much perturbed at the fact that there are only a few students upon whom they can depend. We students might realize that our faculty friends will be the ones to write our recommendations for us when we leave college and on every recommendation blank the question is asked, "Does he or she accept responsibility or can he or she be depended upon?"

A year or so ago some of the students on the campus were griping about the fact that there was no form of student government at Eastern. A vote was taken by the students and the majority voted against student government, mainly because they were satisfied with the present set-up and because some students would have very much responsibility in carrying out student government.

Every Eastern student should begin now to jump at every opportunity to take the lead, accept responsibility, and be labeled as one of those students upon whom one can depend and who will make some business firm a good, wholesome worker.

The Rebel Yell

By SPEED FINNERAN

At random for a column lead, a friend suggests that we head off upon the weather. "You can't go wrong on that," sez he, "it's always with us." So . . . we come to remark as how it's very coincidental that at this time of falling leaves, everybody's grades do. Changes in the temperature have a peculiar effect upon certain of the species.

RADICAL NO. 1

Non-orthodox procedure is that of Jim Squires who reports to Burnam Hall desk and gets checked in on Sunday evenings.

THE MOUTHS OF BABES

Now to record the recent embarrassment of the student teacher who, in the attempt of fulfilling her ethical duties, sought to interrupt a couple of high school students bent on unethical procedures. To her tactfully-meant remark that teachers were supposed to stop necking, young America snapped back with the quip that it would probably be a good thing for them!

QUOTABLE QUOTE

Our friend remarks that America may not be the most prosperous country in the world but it certainly is the most God blessed. Whenever two or more people get together nowadays, someone soon leads off with "God Bless America."

INSINUATION?

Hickman, drawing pictures of sponges in Zoology Lab, remarks that it certainly did remind him that he had a lot of friends.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

We are reminded constantly from here on in that we have only a set number of shopping days till Christmas. All of which falls under one classification of the ironic remark. Time will be to us but one long mathematical calculation on transpiration. Mortality rates will no doubt rise due to the number of those remarkable "Platonic friendship" explosions in an effort to avoid the Christmas rush.

IT SMELLS!

Once upon a time there was a Mama Skunk and her three Baby Skunks who were on their way to the grocery store. They swam across the river but just when they were coming up out of the water there came a big ferocious dog! So Mama Skunk, being a very Christian skunk, gathered her little skunks around her and said to her children, "Now let us spray."

SERIOUS ITEM

We don't wish to finish this column without expressing our thanks to those members of Eastern's music department who have been giving their time in the presentation of the Sunday afternoon musical programs. The recent student recital in Walnut Hall was a worthwhile as well as unique innovation. We say congratulations and that we're ready for more of the sort.

Wherein I Am Accosted by Odd Female Bearing Strange Name of Bell Lettres and Learn Much of Interest Thereof

By PAUL BRANDES

I had been concentrating on some American literature for about three hours and was getting rather sleepy. So hard were my endeavors to fathom the printed pages that my eyes blinked perceptibly and the print began to slip by in blurred visions. I was in that kind of condition when the door to the Progress office opened and a peculiar thing walked in.

"Is this the Progress office?" a distinctly feminine voice inquired. "Yes," I muttered, as politely as I could, considering my surprise. "Is there something I can do for you?" I guess my voice sounded funny because I'd really never seen such a thing move about before. She looked more like a book than a human being.

"I do," she answered. "Mind if I sit down?" "No, certainly not," I replied apologetically. "Now what is on your mind, mam?" "Don't 'mam' me, young fellow," she began. "I'm no grandmother. My name is Bell Lettres, and I'll be seven my next birthday. I've come here to see if the Eastern students won't get busy and turn in their creative writing to Miss Finneran, my beauty parlor operator of this year.

"Yes," I stammered, grabbing for a pencil and paper. I had been so busy looking and listening that I hadn't even thought of taking notes. Gosh, this was the real Bell Lettres I had heard so much about! If it had been any other time but the present, I would have thought it peculiar that a book could talk. But, heck, nowadays— "I suppose that you think that I talk old for my age," she interrupted, reading my thoughts.

of Eastern who have matriculated in either semester are eligible to submit their original poems, essays and short stories to Miss Mary Agnes Finneran, this year's editor. There is plenty of time yet, until about the end of March to get the writing in.

"By the way, what is an anthology and who judges these writings?" I asked, since I had always wanted to know the answers to those questions. "An anthology is simply a collection of writings, and the material in the anthologies is judged by Dr. Roy B. Clark, sponsor of the Canterbury Club, the editor, and her assistant. I know it's a little early to be bringing this up," she admitted, "but I wanted everyone to know about it so that they could get busy writing. They call me by my French name, Belles Lettres, when they print my name on the anthology. Copies may be obtained for twenty-five cents and it is considered quite an honor to have something in me."

"Yes, indeed," I agreed. "Quite an honor. I hope that all of the students will submit things this year." "I think they will, because things get a little better each issue. Well, I'd better be going." "Going where? What's your hurry?" "I've got to see Miss Finneran, her assistant, Miss Maybury, and Mr. Goodlett, the business manager, about getting things started for them. Then to Dr. Clark for some details. So long."

Quite miraculously, she picked up her peculiar rectangular form and disappeared into the recreation room. After recovering from the shock of meeting the true, one and only Belles Lettres, I dove for my typewriter to transcribe my notes. "Yes, sir, Belles Lettres is all right," I mused. "I hope the students support her this year."

Rivard Returns From Murray Meet On World Affairs

Miss Marguerite Rivard, Eastern senior and president of the World Affairs Club, attended the Ohio Valley Conference on world affairs held at Murray State Teachers College, Murray, Kentucky, November 15 and 16.

Approximately seventy-five delegates representing fifteen Ohio Valley colleges attended the conference. Miss Rivard attended two roundtable discussions on the Western Hemisphere, and presented a paper, "The Foreign Policy of Japan, at the meeting on Powers and Policies in the Orient." Miss Rivard stated "this annual conference is held for the purpose of bringing to college students a better understanding of international relationships by discussing world problems and finding a solution for them."

Dr. Joseph L. Kunz, from the University of Toledo, was one of the main speakers, and his topic was "Pan-American Developments since 1933." In this very interesting talk Dr. Kunz favored the good neighbor policy for America.

FOOTBALL SWAN SONG

The final gun sounded. The crowd cheered. The winners trotted from the field, possessors of an untarnished record. Inside the stadium dressing room, nine uniforms were taken off for the last time. Seen in action for the last time here were: Ordich, Thurman, Gordon, Mowat, Cross, Tussey, Yinger, Mayer and Combs. Sentimental? Maybe—yet deeply appreciative of the thrills, the excitement, the exultation of victory, all the result of the efforts of these men. We can only wish that they carry into the even tougher gridiron of life the drive, fight, and the sportsmanship characteristic of their football playing for Eastern.

SATURDAY-NIGHT CYCLE

Nancy-Club Madison-tricky, unscrupulous revolving doors—beefsteaks—alibis and excuses—remorse and retribution—no more, no more!

MEDITATION

We are in school enjoying many opportunities and advantages. We have our ideals, dreams and ambitions. Our parents devoutly wish for our success. Yet do you ever wonder if they in their youth had dreams and ambitions and if they have realized them? Have we by our blind, unappreciative acceptance of their sacrifices forwarded our happiness at their expense? I don't know—just wondering.

NOTES FROM OUR BOOK OF ETIQUETTE

Subject: How to Get a Cherry Out of the Bottom of a Glass.

Sinuously push your spoon down through the myriad particles of ice and fruit toward the cherry. Having reached the bottom of the glass, give the previously mentioned spoon a forward shove. This will cause much of the ice to jump out of the glass onto the floor. Disregard that. Next have the spoon approach the cherry cautiously, so as not to arouse the cherry's suspicion. Then make a sudden lunge. If you don't have the cherry this time, try the following: Drink the lemonade, orangeade, coke, or whatever the h—ll is in the glass. Then take each piece of ice out of the glass individually. Next thrust your two longest fingers down among the fruit peelings until you encounter the cherry. After you have squashed the cherry beyond recognition, you may get it out. If not, try the following: Eat all the fruit skins in the glass. Then turn the glass upside down with the mouth touching your lips. Give the bottom of the glass a healthy tap. The cherry will probably bounce out land on your nose and then on the floor. If not, and it still remains in the glass, try the following: Break the glass. Somewhere among the shattered remains, you will find the cherry. —Contributed.

Reporter Presents Answer To Plea For School Spirit

By NATALIE MURRAY (As this is in the nature of a serious article, everyone is requested to remove his hat)

The school spirit at the Friendly College is, if not defunct, at least seriously anemic. This little homily will attempt to point out ways and means of reviving aforesaid spook.

First, at football games, there is a deplorable lack of spontaneous rising and cheering. To remedy this situation, wire the grandstand seats with electricity, controlled by a button near the cheerleader's bench. At a touchdown or other event requiring enthusiasm the cheerleader, pressing the button, electrifies the crowd who rise to their feet in a wild burst of jeers—pardon me, cheers.

Next, to provide continued surges of frenzy, equip the cheerleaders with large pictures of Roosevelt and Willkie. If the crowd is largely Democratic, use Roosevelt for cheers and the Willkie sign for boos, hisses, pop bottles, etc. To help with the jeers, pictures of Hitler, Stalin, or Mussolini might be used.

Other devices might be used such as raffling off a set of dishes at each game or some snazzy new yells.

It would be advisable to equip the cheerleaders with full suits of armor . . . and a physician between acts.

If a member of the student body has any ideas to add to these, frankly, I don't know what to suggest.

Natalie Murray, Evangelist for Revival.

Donovan and Jones in Frankfort

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern and Dean W. C. Jones are attending a meeting of the Council on Public Higher Education in Frankfort Wednesday in the office of John W. Brooker, state superintendent of public instruction.

Library News

This year will see the expiration of the Carnegie Corporation Fund of $2,000 annually to be spent for books of general reading for the Eastern Library, according to an announcement by Miss Mary Floyd, librarian. Eastern has received this annual grant for the past three years, and by this means has added many desirable books to the already acquired 80,000 volumes. Eastern was one of the twenty-nine teachers colleges in the nation to have received this three year grant in 1938.

The method of selecting the Carnegie books is to be the same this year as in the previous two years. In this plan the student has an opportunity to take an active part in book selection. Any Eastern student or member of the faculty has the privilege of going to the main desk in the library and filling out a card for a book in which he is interested and would like to see in the library. The student should list on the card the author, the title, edition, copyright date, publisher, list price, and source from which he secured information about the book. The student's suggestions will be carefully considered and in all probability, according to its merit, the book will be purchased and put in use. Students are urged to take an active part in the selection of the books this year, as this plan offers a magnificent opportunity for individuals to see books of their choice placed on the shelves of the library. An interesting part of the program is that each book in the order is reserved for the person who was instrumental in having the book placed in our library. All Carnegie books are put on a special display case in the Reference Room as they are checked in. Students may find them and check them out from there.

The library is continuing the policy of the Dormitory Reading Rooms again this year. A committee from each hall selects fifty books of light reading to be placed in their respective hall. These books are changed every two weeks. Many standard novels and plays are placed in the dormitories, enabling a student to read in the hall rather than go to the library for reading entertainment.

GROGER-MORGAN WEDDING ANNOUNCED

Kampus Knews

By IRA SNEAK

Last week when everyone was so busy naming the things for which he could be thankful, we joined in the game and tried to think of some things for which we could be thankful about this column. After hours of deliberation, we succeeded in naming the following: 1. We are thankful that the Progress has one column that everybody reads. 2. We are thankful that the paper comes out only every other week. 3. We are thankful that only about three-fourths of the student body know who writes this column, and that not more than one-half have revengeful minds. 4. We are thankful that Thanksgiving came around. Otherwise, we would probably have gone on thinking this was a thankless job. . . . Speaking of being thankful, Sue Biesack was certainly thankful when that boy friend of hers from Miami University came up. There was a positive radiance about her all weekend. . . . Allen Zaring should be thankful that he has the dope by which he can blackmail half the couples at Eastern. It certainly saves his own neck. . . . And we're all thankful that nine-weeks' exams come only once a semester. . . . Some very educational situations went on at Eastern during the past week. The best one was undoubtedly the one in which Delin Partin was placed by the arrival on the campus of the very lovely Ethel Blanton. No foreign diplomat ever managed a ticklish situation between two potentially-hostile countries with as much finesse as Delin used last week. . . . They tell us down at the office that Guy Warming can't get Indiana off his mind. . . . And that Ruth Thompson is very, very sad these days. Why the draft had to get Ben Farmer of all people. . . . Maybe it's the draft—maybe it's love, but at any rate, there have been marriages and rumors of marriages at Eastern in the past few weeks. The thwarted marriage of Billie Clark, drum majorette, and Whizzer White, erstwhile football star, is still a subject for discussion. Why anyone would be taken, sent, or removed from school simply for wanting to get married is a thing none of us understand. . . . And the frenzy at the Club the Saturday night after the Bowling Green game culminated in a lot of rumors of marriages that we are authorized to announce were only rumors. Lorraine McKinney and John Kalb's joke about being married almost backfired. . . . And Mary Bates Walker had a lot of explaining to do to her mother about her rumored marriage to Porter. . . . Why is Billy Bright a Lone Wolf this year? His nature doesn't seem to fit in with solitude very well. . . . And does Mac Childers have a girl at home? A lot of girls would like to know the answers to both those questions. . . . Bob Neal has an admiring gleam in his eyes these days when he gets around Betsey Castor. If there didn't happen to be a girl back home for Bob and a boy back home for Betsey, this is a romance that could be interesting. . . . The boys in the Rec Room have certainly banded against Jitterbug Curcio. His persistence in the face of such odds is nothing short of remarkable. . . . The twosome of Hickman and Goosens gets more tofrid every day. . . . Ber Rasmick, who has been a question mark to a lot of people all year, was seen at the Club the other night dancing. He should do more of it. . . . The entire school was in sympathy with Bob Mowat, whose injury in the last game of his last year was the toughest kind of luck. . . . David Barnes, one of the best all-around boys at Eastern, is always a problem child as far as his romances are concerned. Sometimes we think it's Alice Gray Burke this year, and then W. T. Farmer comes along to dispel that supposition. . . . One of the most disgraceful events that have been brought to our attention this year was the way the students and faculty turned out for the production of "Our Town." A play such as this deserved the cooperation of the entire student body and the faculty and received neither. . . . Marie Hughes isn't the only one who is proud of Chuck Shuster. All the school honors him for his wonderful record during the past football season. . . . Maybe this isn't the place to talk about sports, but since we mentioned football, it won't be too incongruous. This is the first year for most of us that we have seen a team like the one we had this year, and we are very proud of every member on it. A letter from the sports editor of the Western college paper says that they want a post-season game as bad as we do. He said they would welcome an opportunity to "shut us up" once and for all time. All the retort we can make would necessarily be mere conjecture, but there is no doubt in the minds of any of us as to the result of that game. . . . All the eligible males cast envious eyes on Dave Lumsdon's new gal friend, Hazel Lee Bassham. It is whispered that Dave is almost serious this time. . . . De Vall Payne was heard to say the other day that he had turned over a new leaf. Same old Payne, never serious! . . . Bob Yeager has cheerfully appropriated little Blanche Trivett, and the young lady doesn't seem to mind at all. . . . Mary Katherine May is tops with Harry Lucas and Buddy Fitzpatrick, if appearances can be trusted. Her own preference seems to lean the Fitzpatrick way. . . . Kenneth Perry, whose only interest in the fairer sex last year was the petite Mary Helen Caywood, has at last found a new interest in Shirley Kimball. . . . Harold McConnell met that little blonde tornado from Charleston in Lexington when she arrived on the train from home over the Thanksgiving vacation. . . . Fred Darling goes walking in the afternoons with that little redhead from down town. . . . There are several events that we could talk about, but that would bring this column to a monotonous length. Just for example, that party that Allen Zaring gave one Friday night when his family was away—or that breakfast at Charlie Floyd's, reported to us as happening at all hours, varying from three o'clock in the morning on up to eight o'clock—or the story of the people who mistook the Student Union Building for a hotel, because there weren't any signs out—or the Thanksgiving vacation that the Prestonsburg crowd had for themselves, but it would probably just be a lot of headaches anyway. Oh, well! Murder will out, and if there is anything worthwhile in any of these things, you can read it in the next issue.

Mrs. Emma Y. Case Entertains With Tea

Mrs. Emma Y. Case honored the women students of the college with a tea, given in the Student Union Building November 14th from 4 to 6 p. m.

The receiving line was formed in Walnut Hall and was composed of Mrs. Case, Mrs. Blanton, Miss Wingo, Vivian Weber, Mary Bates Walker, Emogene Lucas, Mary Stayton, Mabel Walker, and Phyllis Robertson.

Those presiding at the tea tables included Mrs. H. L. Donovan, Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mrs. Smith Park, Mrs. M. E. Mattox, Mrs. Mary Congleton, Mary Billingsley, Elvanda Brinkley and Vera Wabury.

Ann Scott Maher, Helen Hall, Betty Griffith, Margie Crites were soloists during the afternoon. They were accompanied by Martha Cammack and Mary Emma Hedges.

Others assisting with hospitalities included Christine Proctor, Louise Catlett, Nancy Bruner, Dorothy Chase, Charlotte Haynes, Susan Biesack, Thelma Mathewson, Nora Mason, Esther Dillman, Margina Stevenson, Jessie Holman, Jeanne Sumner, Louanna Noe, Marie Hall, Rosalind Young, Margaret Muncy, Virginia Lee Droughon, Jayne Jones, Lyda Bell Shepherd, Mary Kathryn May, Ethus Gillis, Mary Ann Rodgers, Shirley Kimball, Peggy Wilder, Georgie Petty, Katherine Williams, Belle Gish, Charlotte Schneider, Lorraine Stevens, Annabelle Gosney, Mildred Yates, Marilyn Trautwein, Madge Jones, Mary Agnes Finneran, Sally Hobbs and Vivian Dickson.

Bob Mowat is Recovering From Recent Back Injury

Bob Mowat, flashy Maroon back, received a painful nerve injury during the Bowling Green game. Bob was playing his best game of the season before the Dad's Day crowd when he was tackled and injured. At first it was thought that the injuries might prove serious but as we go to press Bob is steadily improving and will be around in a day or so.

BURGIN-GIBSON MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Burgin announce the marriage of their daughter, Garnette, to Mr. Garnice Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Gibson, both of Lawrenceburg, Ky. The marriage was solemnized Sunday, November 3, at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

Mental Blackouts

By BILL HICKMAN

Most everyone who writes a column has a definite aim in view. Perhaps its news, perhaps its sports or simply dishing up the dirt, but they always have some idea as to what they're writing about. Therefore, as a new twist, this column will be dedicated to absolutely nothing at all and everything in general.

I don't know but maybe I put myself out on the limb with that prediction, but since people probably won't read it anyway, I feel pretty safe.

Maybe I ought to start off on the past election but my roommate doesn't approve of that because he's still paying off on London. Anyway if Eastern can take its opposition in basketball like Rosevelt took Alabama, Mr. Rankin won't have a worry in the world.

By the way—did anyone realize that Nov. 11 was Armistice Day? Somehow or other I've never met that wonderful person who can get jello to look like it does in the ads.

A job I'd like to have is one as an assistant to this guy Hurrell who makes all these photographs of the movie stars. My! My! After taking a quick look at the latest one he made of Hedy Lamar, I'll pay him a salary!

A word to the wise should be sufficient, but I doubt it. Anyway, you gals living on the campus had better turn down those radios or Miss Case is going to pull a blitzkrieg on the pesky things. I ain't foolin', that's on the level. Just imagine, no Glenn Miller!

From my own private Gallup Poll—Out of every ten customers who visit American drug stores, six are men, three are women, and one is probably a kid after an ice cream cone.

Is there any doubt that the Physical Education Club dance, to be sponsored in the near future, will be one of the best on the program this year? It never misses!

I liked this—

DEAR TRACKS
I do not mind the powder marks
You leave on my lapel;
I don't object when cherry lips
Reveal our love too well.

But, oh, my sweet, I must record
In bold and sweeping letters,
My very strong antipathy
To white-angora sweaters!

Winter is definitely here on the campus since they took down those beautiful fly catchers that hung so artistically over the Grill. Personally I've grown to love 'em. Besides they save me money—one look and I can't eat!

My roommate met some of my old friends when he visited Greendale with Dr. Schlieb's class. Two of them are due to graduate any day now.

How come that when that guy is passing out free samples of Chesterfields I always have a class?

Mr. Rankin had a most successful season in football this year but he didn't do so good trading remarks with Haas at dinner after the final game.

Incidentally just what does Eastern have to do to get any recognition from the press. Our football team was the only undefeated and untied outfit in the state and what happens? They give Morehead, a team we beat 27-13, a three-column spread for licking Transy 6-0. We couldn't get a write-up if we had the Supreme Court playing for us!

A good description of the girls who wear these knee-length socks:
A bunch of hockey players.
Lest we forget—Do your Christmas shopping early.

Chuck Schuster Clinches State Scoring Title

Mullins From U. K. and Ordich Tie For Second Honors

KIAC STANDOUT

Charles (Chuck) Schuster, Eastern's great end clinched the state's scoring honors going away, with no other star even close behind. Chuck has a total of 78 points which came from scoring ten touchdowns and kicking 18 extra points after touchdowns. The closest opposition is Noah Mullins from U. K. and our own George Ordich. Both have racked up 42 points during the season and are still 36 points behind.

Time and again Chuck made some catches which were nothing short of sensational. The passing combination of Thurman to Schuster and Smith to Schuster pulled Eastern far out in every game. It was our Chuck, too, who added the points after touchdowns. All in all Schuster was a standout in every game.

The fact that Chuck is playing end and is still leading the scoring is another thing which is seldom seen. Very few ends score more than once or twice during the year.

Last year, as a sophomore, he was chosen as an all-state end on the KIAC team and this year he will be sure to keep this spot. Playing the type of ball that he has, Chuck should be a standout for Little All-America honors also.

The Sporting Thing

By GUY HATFIELD

The season is over and the record is unblotted, unmarred and in fine shape. First came the Northern Illinois game, we won; then came the second, third, fourth, we still were undefeated. Then as Morehead came we crossed our fingers and held our breath. We won, and then click, click, and bang we took Bowling Green 48-0. The season is over, the game are won, and all is through except the shouting and the receiving of laurels such as being chosen on the K. I. A. C. and Little All-America teams. Eastern will be represented on both.

To Coach Rankin as head coach, Coach Samuels as line coach, Coach Hughes as scout, Buf, Bill, John, Gale, Buss, as managers, and to the boys who are called the Maroons, thanks for the undefeated season, for the outstanding performances, for the sportsmanship and for everything. As Aesop said, "Ability proves itself by deeds." WELL DONE!

Eastern's Maroons have scored 273 points. This makes Eastern the highest scoring team in the state, and the third highest in the nation.

As far as individual scoring in the state is concerned, Eastern has first place clinched, tied for second, and tied for third. Schuster is far ahead with 78 points, Ordich and Mullins (U. K.) are tied for second, and Bert Smith, Spider Thurman, and Joe Lustic (Morehead) are tied for third. Chuck Schuster, Eastern 78
George Ordich, Eastern 42
Noah Mullins, Kentucky 42
Bert Smith, Eastern 38
Spider Thurman, Eastern 38
Joe Lustic, Morehead 36
YEA EASTERN !!!

Just to remind you how much our team has improved during the years: Eastern was once beaten 99-0. That is not fictitious, dog-gone it. Wittenburg College was the team. BOYCOTT THEM.

Hoping to see you out soon, Bob.

They laughed when we started the season—how were they to know we could win them all.

Up in Illinois there is another school called Eastern. On their team is one Bill Glenn, quarterback, who has set a record for someone to shoot at. This year he completed 71 out of 109 passes, for an average of 65.14%. Nine of his passes were touchdown plays, and only three times were his passes intercepted. Not bad at all—no, not bad.

Our Rome Rankin.

Paul Brandes Presents Program At Canterbury

The Canterbury Club held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening, November 27, in the Blue Room of the Student Union building.

Paul Brandes presented the program, a group of piano selections which included: "Moonlight Sonata," by Beethoven; "Prelude in A major," and "Prelude in E flat major," by Chopin; "Leibestraum," by Liszt; "None but the Lonely Heart," by Tchaikowsky; and "Prelude in C sharp minor," by Rachmaninoff.

There was some discussion then about the yearly literary publication of the club, Belles Lettres. It was emphasized that any student could submit material to Belles Lettres, regardless of that student's rank or major.

Student Open Forum Is Scheduled For Tuesday Night

On Tuesday, December 3, at 7:30 p. m. in the Little Theater, Alpha Jeta Kappa and the Student Union Committee will sponsor an open forum for the students.

"How are We to Live in a World on Fire?" has been selected as the topic to be discussed at this time. Elmore Ryle has been chosen as chairman and other committeemen are Charles Stamber, A. J. Hauselman, Vera Maybury and Marguerite Rivard.

All students are invited and even urged to attend this wide open discussion dealing with the education, religion, economics, and politics of tomorrow. The time will be taken up with questions and everyone will be given a chance to express his or her views. Remember—Everyone is invited!

Lorentzon, Russell Organize Team With Plans for Year

To Include Stars Ineligible for Play on School Team

RUSSELL MANAGER

With plans of scheduling games with neighboring independent teams, an independent basketball team, under the head of Charles Russell and Andy Lorentzon, is taking shape on the campus.

Lorentzon, former Centre ace and All-K. I. A. C. last year, and Russell have a squad formed already with a few more select players to be taken in later.

Plans have been made to schedule games with teams within a 75 miles radius with several games with traveling teams also.

Squad preparations so far include Lorentzon, Bob Abney, a star on last year's Maroons but ineligible this year, Ralph Gambrel, transfer from Union, Elmo Head, former U. of K. player now coaching, Howard Bartlett, freshman from Hazard, Johnny Stator, sophomore from Brooksville, Raymond "Red" Stuart, sophomore from Maysville, and Russell, who is a junior from Harlan. Russell is also business manager and coach of the aggregation.

Games are being arranged with the House of David and the Olsen Redheads, both top notch cage teams; Edentide of Louisville and the Harrodsburg Independents.

The Central High School gymnasium will be used for the home games.

Richards, Houtchens to Attend Meeting

R. R. Richards and Max H. Houtchens, of the commerce staff of Eastern Teachers College, and C. C. Dawson, head of the commerce department at Berea College, will attend the 18th annual meeting of the Southern Business Education Association in Nashville, Tenn., November 28-30.

Mr. Richards, vice president of the association, will preside at the opening fellowship dinner Thursday evening the 28th. Mr. Houtchens will take part in a roundtable discussion of consumer education on Saturday morning, the 30th. T. Henry Coates, of State College, Montgomery, W. Va., formerly of Richmond and an Eastern graduate, is the leader of that section.

Grant is Made to Give Eastern New Tennis Courts

Two Men Left From Last Year on Tennis Team

BEGIN WORK SOON

A new era for the minor sports of tennis and track is in sight. Recently a WPA grant calling for the building of eight hard-surfaced tennis courts and a new track around the football field was appropriated. No definite date has been set for the beginning of this project but it is hoped by all interested parties that the work will begin soon enough to enable the use of these new additions by next spring.

The tennis team of last year was victorious in only one of its six matches. This is no commendable record, but the chance for the entire team to practice every day should bring a much better record in the coming seasons.

Only two of the first five of last year's team are eligible to play this spring. Bud Petty and Claude Harris are the returning men with Harold Mills, who saw some action, also available. There are no doubt many other tennis players who will make valuable assets to the team this year. The addition of the new courts will enable all to try out for the team and from these try outs, with much practice, there should be a very successful season when the spring sports begin.

Annual Messiah Is Ninth Chorus Given Since 1931

Performance To Be Given December 17 By 265 Voices

NEW BARITONE

The ninth annual program of Handel's "Messiah" will be sung in Hiram Brock Auditorium on Tuesday evening, December 17, and in Berea on Wednesday evening, December 18.

Nine years ago a combined chorus of fifty-seven voices from Richmond and Berea sang the "Messiah" at the Christmas season. Every year since then the oratorio has been presented jointly with Berea.

This year the chorus, under the direction of Mr. James E. Van Peursem, will be the largest ever assembled at Eastern. At the first rehearsal of 1940 over three hundred men and women of Eastern faculty, students and citizens of Richmond showed their desire to sing in the chorus. The number has been decreased by cuts and unexcused absences from rehearsal to approximately two hundred and sixty-five voices.

Donovans Host To Students On Committees

Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Donovan entertained the students on the faculty committees at Eastern with a reception at their home Monday evening at 8:15. During the evening there was a discussion of plans for the year and of the work the committees have done this year.

The faculty committees that were represented at the reception were the Evaluation Committee, Faculty Committee, Committee on Plans and Programs, Social Committee and Rural Education Committee.
