Having settled the question of the war in the last issue of this now we can devote our selves for a moment to a few of the finer things.

The immediate reaction of every reader: "Huh! What does he know about the finer things of life?" That's the way those things are usually phrased.

Well, phraseology and the correctness of it, according to our English department, is one of the finer things.

That, as you will notice, is not one of the finer things that affect us here.

So, let's on to poetry; the mental music of the birds. The field is limited here at Eastern. No more so than any other college I dare say, but the production of poetry, either good, bad, or indifferent, is, as even the casually candid will admit, very limited. In fact, the production of meaningful poetry is nil.

How can anyone write good poetry when the too glib critics and even poets themselves, can not give an adequate definition of what poetry is?

That's not getting us anyplace. What about painting and the graphic arts?

It's a little bit easier for the layman to judge works of this kind, because centuries of work in those tightly circumscribed media have established certain rules and standards. Any variation from the traditional laws can therefore be easily recognized by the comparatively uninitiated, thus prolonging the length of time during which the academic in art may be influential.

The trouble is, the layman does not learn the basic facts of the arts, and is (of course, not competent to decide what is good and bad, but goes ahead and says what he thinks is good and bad in spite of insufficient knowledge. That's the theory of art criticism that is expressed by the words, "I don't know much about art, but I know what I like"—possibly the stupidest statement ever made.

Usually the person who has the courage to make such a damning admission reveals himself to be a boor of the first class, and that's an over-rating!

There's a lot of that at Eastern, unfortunately, but from the positive side, there's a lot of improvement being made: Dr. Giles' classes, and the whole art department; and especially such things as the Southern Art League exhibit of last fall; there ought to be more of that—and more student exhibitions; something that will keep the galleries in the Fitzpatrick building occupied and open all the time.

The same thing is true in the field of music—to get the most out of it, we should be exposed to it more often. More than that, there should be more active participation in music by all of us on the campus; both in the performance and audience ends of the racket. But there's a word of warning in that lousy pun—the music should be without the racket or the performers shall be without the audience.

We are told that the student body is apathetic to such stuff, but I doubt very much if it really is: more of them will support anything that isn't worth the effort. We're in college for what really is a depressingly short time, so we should make as many minutes of that time mean as much to us as possible.

But don't misunderstand—I think that loafing gracefully is an art to which ought to be cultivated. As a matter of fact, the charge most frequently shouted at Americans by Europeans and South Americans is that we don't know how to relax. Since college is the place to learn conduct to live by, college is the place to learn to loaf and dream. It's not a waste of time, either when you remember that some of the greatest expressions of the human mind were the result of gracious loafing.

Among them, the Simmons mattress.

The French know the art of ease; or did, perhaps better than anyone else. If you look into the average pre-war French house, you would find that all the furniture was singularly uncomfortable, except for the beds, which were deep and luxurious, and designed for as much rest as the human frame could require.

Of course, Katherine Mansfield contended that that had nothing to do with it, but that it did explain the prevalence of adultery in France.

But a discussion of French morals, and the lack of them, is "rambling" too far afield. All right, set the ram in the field and see if I care.

This can be quoted in English classes from one end of the campus to the other as the greatest example of "non sequitur" ever to appear in print.

Not including Gertrude Stein, "Pigeons on the grass, alas"; indeed! We've got rams in our fields; heigh-ho!

NOTED AUTHOR ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

Sherwood Eddy Speaks to Eastern Audience

Sherwood Eddy, noted writer and lecturer, spoke to a special assembly Sunday, January 16, at 4:15 p. m. in the Hiram Brock Auditorium. Dr. Eddy is now lecturing and speaking constantly before many types of audiences in all sections of the country, and has spoken in several hundred colleges in all parts of the United States, Europe, and Asia.

Sherwood Eddy was born in Leavenworth, Kansas, January 19, 1871. He graduated from Yale in 1891, receiving his Ph. D. from that school, an honorary M. A. from the College of Wooster and LL. D. in 1916. Dr. Eddy has long been connected with Y. M. C. A. work. He went to India in 1896 as National Secretary of that organization; he worked there among students until 1911; when he was appointed secretary for Asia work of the International Committee, working among students of Japan, Korea, China, Russia, and the Near East as an honorary worker without salary. Dr. Eddy was for many years associated with Dr. John R. Mott in his work for students throughout Asia.

He is a world traveler and was present at the capture of Mukden in Manchuria by the Japanese in 1931. In Berlin in 1933 he challenged the Nazis for their treatment of the Jews, Liberals, and radicals. He has come to know the leaders of many nations, including various Prime Ministers of Great Britain, Premiers of France, Viceroy of India, and such men as Mahatma Gandhi and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

In 1939 and 1940 Dr. Eddy conducted American Seminars which are composed of educators, social and religious workers.

He is the author of The Awakening of India, The New Era of Asia, The Students of Asia, Suffering and the War, With Our Soldiers in France, Everybody's World, The New World of Labor, Makers of Freedom (with Kirby Page), I Have Seen God (with Kirby Page), Revolutionary Christianity, Creative, Pioneers, Europe Today, A Pilgrimage of Ideas, The Challenge of the East, Maker of Men, The Kingdom of God and the American Dream, Man Discovers God, Why America Fights.

PENN STATE GETS EASTERN STUDENTS

Bishop and McClure Accept Hamilton Scholarships

Miss Mary Anna Bishop, Covington, Kentucky, and Miss Nancy McClure, Irvine, Kentucky, both juniors at Eastern have received and accepted Hamilton Standard Propellers scholarships to Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pennsylvania. The course in aeronautical propeller engineering is to last twelve months, and the students will be granted full college credit for the work done in that field. Upon completion of the course they will begin work for Hamilton Standard Propellers, East Hartford, Connecticut, at a salary of not less than one hundred forty dollars per month.

The scholarships cover tuition, board, lodging and college fees, and, in addition, a monthly allowance of fifty dollars to cover incidental expenses such as textbooks, instruments, etc.

Major Crech is Graduated from Fort Leavenworth

Major Robert Morris Crech was graduated last Thursday from the Command and General Staff at Fort Leavenworth, Fla., and he and Mrs. Crech and their daughter are visiting relatives here and in Nicholasville.

Major Crech, veteran of 107 combat missions in the Southwest Pacific, will report to the Alexandria Army Air Base at Alexandria, where he was stationed before being chosen to attend the Command and General Staff School.

Major Crech, Eastern Teachers College graduate, is the holder of the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross with one Oak Leaf Cluster and the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters.

COL. STARKEY TO RETIRE

Commandant of Local Units Leaves Work

Col. John R. Starkey, FA, USA, commanding officer of the ASTP-ROTC units at Eastern will retire from active duty on the 30 April, 1944; after more than forty-two years of continuous active service in the U. S. Army.

Col. Starkey has been in command of the local units since he replaced Lt. Col. Hugh P. Adams in 1940, and during his tour of duty here many radical changes have been made in the nature of the work, especially the arrival of the ASTP.

Col. Starkey entered the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1901, and was graduated. In those days they didn't grant a degree upon graduation; the cadets were simply commissioned 2nd Lieuts, and they let it go at that, so that it was not until 1935, as the result of an act of Congress, that graduates of the Military Academy were granted the BS degree.

Upon his graduation in 1905, Col. Starkey was commissioned a 2nd Lt. of Infantry, and subsequently served with troops that quelled the Philippine Insurrection, and the Cuban Pacification. In 1907, when the Army Artillery was split into two arms, Starkey transferred to the Field Artillery, and soon saw action on the Mexican Border in 1915-16 during the Villa Punitive Expeditions under the then Brig. Gen. Pershing.

At the time, (then) Capt. Starkey had "C" Battery of the 6th Field Artillery, and went to France with that organization. In spite of various claims by Marine Corps publicity agents and the boasts of certain individuals, it was this Battery that fired the first shot fired by American troops in the last war.

Col. Starkey was in France with the first troops over, and stayed with the Army of Occupation until 1919, when he returned home, a Captain again. During the years of peace he graduated from the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the School of Fire, at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and served as an instructor in both schools.

Duty with troops followed until 1928, when he organized the Northern California district of the Ninth Corps Area Organized Reserve Corps, and when Mr. Roosevelt was elected, the same district's Civilian Conservation Corps.

In 1936 Col. Starkey was Chief of Staff of the 79th Division with Headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa. He commanded Fort Bragg North Carolina, the largest Field Artillery post in the world, in 1940-41 until the arrival of Maj. Gen. Rene E. DeRussey Hoyle.

Col. Starkey came to Eastern in June of 1941.

In 1912, Col. Starkey married Anne Muhlenberg Kress, the daughter of the late Gen. Kress, and had five sons, four of whom have seen service in the nation's armed forces in the present war.

Col. Starkey has not yet announced any definite plans for the immediate future.

Administrators Confer in Washington

President O'Donnell and Dean Jones were in Washington the early part of last week conferring with officials in the college training section of the War Department concerning the possible enlargement of Eastern's A. S. T. P. unit in Basic Engineering. Although it is probable that the unit will remain at Eastern, the exigencies of war may make it impossible to enlarge the unit in the near future.

EASTERN TO LEND RANKIN TO U. OF K.

To be Assistant Wildcat Coach for Duration While E. T. C. Not Having Grid Teams

BE GIVEN LEAVE

Eastern Teachers College is lending to the University of Kentucky for the duration, Rome Rankin, head coach here since 1935. He will serve as assistant coach at the University, it was announced today by Dr. W. F. O'Donnell, president of Eastern.

"At the request of Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, I will recommend to the Board of Regents that Coach Rankin be given a leave of absence for 12 months, beginning with the spring term which begins March 5," Dr. O'Donnell said.

A letter from Dr. Donovan stated that the university desires Rankin to aid in obtaining boys for a football team this fall and wishes him to have supervision over the players at times other than when they are practicing or playing in games.

Rankin has lived close to his players at Eastern, sleeping in the stadium-dormitory with them and taking his meals with them at the college cafeteria.

Coach Rankin has been successful at Eastern, directing his football team to an undefeated and untied season in 1940 and piloting them to records which contained only single losses in 1941 and in 1942. Eastern had no team in 1943.

Rankin came to Eastern from New Boston, O., where he was a successful high school coach.

Chenaults Hear from Son, Prisoner in German Camp

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frewitt Chenault, Sr., of High street, Richmond, have received a letter from their son, Lieutenant Joe Frewitt Chenault, Jr., who has been a prisoner of war in Germany since his plane was shot down over the continent on October 8.

The letter, dated October 29, 1943, is the first word his parents have had directly from him since he left England on October 8th.

Lieutenant Chenault, a bombardier on a heavy American bomber, informed his parents that he was all right and that splendid medical care is available at the camp. He told of taking college courses and that college credit is given for the work.

Informing his parents of the best method of sending boxes of food, et cetera, he told them that chocolate is the most-craved of all things. If sweet chocolate is not available, send bitter chocolate, he told them.

Generally speaking, conditions in the camp are good, he said.

The letter was hand printed, a requirement made by the Germans.

Seventy-One Eastern Students on Honor Roll First Semester

Names of 71 Eastern Teachers College students who made the scholastic honor roll during the fall quarter with a standing of B or better were given by President W. F. O'Donnell this morning at the regular assembly program. Lt. Sam C. Beckley, of the Army Air Forces, Miami Beach, Fla., was introduced. Lt. Beckley is a member of the college staff on leave of absence.

The following students were included in the fall quarter honor group:

- Seniors: Frances Azbill, Sarah Barker, Elizabeth Cox, James Gregory, Lucia Bennett Harris, Dorothy Shawhan, Louise S. Williams, all of Richmond; Roy Buchaus, Chicago, Ill.; Rudolph Collins, Eminence; Mabel Griswold Cynthia; Lucy May Griggs, Union City; Jerry Hacker, Bond; Margaret C. Hamilton, Lancaster; Evelyn Hunt, Louisville; Eunice Jackson, Benham; Mary Kathryn Jasper, Somerset; Olive Littleton, Grayson; Julia Markham, Middlesboro; Ethel Slade, Covington; Betsy Ann Smith, Shelbyville; Frances Smither, Frankfort; Betty Strachan, Corbin; Mary Ellen Wiley, Hazard.
- Juniors: Jean Anthony, Frankfort; Bourbon Canfield, Richmond; Juanita Clinkinbeard, Covington; Louise Cosby, Richmond; David Frey, Georgetown, O.; Margaret Hollyfield, Middlesboro;

VIOLINIST IN CONCERT

Dushkin Presents Varied Program of Violin Music

Samuel Dushkin, noted violinist presented a concert before an audience of music lovers in the Hiram Brock Auditorium, Friday, January 14. Mr. Dushkin has justly been called "one of the few really fine violin masters" of our time. During his extensive concert career he has performed virtually all the great concertos of the Classical and Romantic periods with the leading orchestras here and abroad. He has given many concerts with Stravinsky, who wrote the concerto for violin and orchestra especially for him and has collaborated with him in the creation of a new repertory of music for violin and piano. He has also collaborated with Ravel and other modern composers. He studied violin with Kreisler, Remy and Auer, and has made numerous recordings for HMV, Columbia, and Polydori. He has published more than fifty transcriptions from classical and contemporary compositions. Although born in Russia, Mr. Dushkin is a citizen of the U. S. where he has lived since childhood. He includes in his programs all types of music—modern, classical, and romantic.

Mr. Dushkin has the record of having presented three New York recitals during a single season. He presented a Profile of Three Centuries of Music for the Violin at Town Hall.

Clarence D. Harmon Added to Faculty

Clarence D. Harmon, Eastern graduate, had recently been added to the college faculty to teach math to the men of the A. S. T. P. unit here. Mr. Harmon graduated from Eastern in the class of 1933, receiving his B.S. degree. He then took graduate work at the University of Kentucky. Since then he had been engaged in educational work, both instructional and administrative, at schools in Maysville and Pine Knot, Kentucky. In 1939 he entered N. Y. A. work in Lexington as Area Supervisor of Student Work and superintended the N. Y. A. Project at Lake Reba.

FIVE WEEKS TERM BEGINS FEBRUARY 9

Courses Designed for Teachers and Mid-Year Graduates

Eastern Teachers College will offer a special short term beginning February 9 for teachers in county and independent systems which will close in January or early February and for mid-year high school graduates.

A complete program of instruction will be available during this term with special emphasis on courses designed to meet the needs of teachers.

Included in these special classes will be public school art, reading in the elementary school, junior high school education, child development and psychology, freshman English, American history history of western civilization, mathematics, public school music, rural sociology, and other courses.

Teachers who have been teaching on special permits are eligible to take work in the college on the same basis as other students. Some classes will be provided for those who expect to teach for the first time next fall.

Registration for the short term will be held February 9, with classes scheduled to begin the next day. The term will close March 18, at the same time the regular winter quarter ends.

The spring quarter will open the following Monday, March 20.

BURNAM HALL TO REOPEN TO CIVILIANS

Dorm Will be Available After February 9

Burnam Hall will again be available to women civilian students after February 9, when the War Department turns the hall back to the college. This announcement was made officially from the administrative offices of the college. For the past eleven months Burnam Hall has served as the barracks for the Women's Army Administration School. The dormitory is the best of the women's residence halls on Eastern's campus, containing 185 rooms and accommodating 370 girls.

The work of redecorating the rooms has already begun and should be almost completed by the beginning of the mid-quarter term, February 9.

Former Eastern Student Now Air Corps Major

Gerald W. Johnson, Owenton, Ky., with a combat record of eight enemy planes destroyed and three damaged, and the holder of the Distinguished Flying Cross with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Distinguished Service Cross and the Air Medal with three clusters, has been promoted to major at an Eighth Air Force fighter station in England, according to a dispatch from there Thursday. He has completed more than eighty combat missions.

A graduate of Owenton High School, he later attended Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and Bryant & Stratton Business College in Louisville.

THEY ARE GOOD SOLDIERS

The women of Eastern are to be congratulated upon a fine piece of work which they did well and promptly. Eastern's women decided at the beginning of the school year to take as their special project the donation of at least one hundred dollars to the Blood Plasma Drive.

CHIPS OFF MY SHOULDER

Now I ask you how can anybody beat out a column with the (I can't think of a printable adjective) strains of Artie Shaw's record of St. Louis Blues blaring in his ears?

Well, after three weeks on the campus after the holidays, it is difficult to remember that we have ever been away. At least three weeks ought to be long enough to recover from the holidays. There are a few familiar faces missing around the campus.

It seems that the Navy quite invaded the campus recently. Several sailors from Corbin came back to see how things were going on since their departure.

Also back for a few quick furloughs was Bill Berger, now stationed in Oregon. We've said hail and farewell to "Cpl. Johnny" Wood, who left last week for Indiana.

A new crop of diamonds and Viv Garnett's wedding have had the gals buzzing in the dorm. Looks like Cupid is doing his Valentine sharpshooting early; or has he picked up a machine gun this year?

four dollar question only for the week. The standing one is: When is the Progress coming out?

This column started out to be a column of rather informal editorial comment, but it seems to have deteriorated to a rambling monologue of the goings and comings on the campus.

Then about a week ago came a letter from Clark Farley, president of the senior class of 1943, and a campus light while he was here. The letter was dated Dec. 29, 1943, and was date-lined Italy;

"I am in a crack outfit, which has seen plenty of action. The men and officers are a swell bunch, and are on the G.I. ball. Ask the Engineers what the G.I. ball is. Your engineers are really lucky people.

"Please give my regards to all the Faculty and my friends at Eastern. Thanks a million to the staff, Miss McKinney, and anyone else responsible for sending me the paper."

We aren't plugging the paper by reprinting these letters. They are to you. We have the complete addresses of all these fellows if anyone should want them.

THE HOLIDAYS

Another year has rolled around but the old one went out with a week of quiet and deadness on the Eastern campus. For the past few days, the campus had been alive more than ever with the fellows and gals wishing Happy New Year's.

Busses and trains were packed and jammed but no one seemed to mind, for school was out. Those home-cooked meals; sleeping late, sitting lazily in the drug stores catching up on all the gossip of the town—it was Heaven.

The last minute shopping was the real fun. Stores were so crowded it was almost unsafe to try to beat a path thru the throng of people that blocked the aisles.

Before long, the packages were opened. Paper, ribbon, tags—all of them went flying through the air. Then that big dinner—turkey with all the trimmings—there was nothing like it. Now it was time for the gang to arrive and more fun just going around seeing the presents and the buddies that had been away for so long.

The entire week was packed with parties, dances, spending a day out of town, and cokes in the hangout with the other kids who were home. Then New Year's Eve brought with it that so-called "progressive party."

of all the pleasures that college life can offer.

Yes, this is the way in which Jane and Joe College spent their holidays. Now that they have returned to Eastern to further their education the New Year's wish for them is for 365 days of joy and happiness.

A Word from the Y's

The "Y's" wish to greet all students, extending our best hopes and wishes for the New Year. We hope that you may find the "Y's", this New Year, an even more helpful and pleasant organization.

Both the new and old students who haven't yet joined the Y. W. or Y. M. C. A. are urged to do so, now. You can be of service to the organization as well as the organization being of service to you.

Everyone! start the New Year right by attending the Vesper service this Thursday evening at 8:30 in the Little Theater.

Another Christmas has come and gone. It was a special joy for us, as an organization. Our "Hanging of the Greens" program and the Christmas Party were two very bright spots in our Christmas.

It was given on Christmas Eve at 4 o'clock in Burnham Hall. There were about ninety children present.

Papyrus, Parchment and Paper

So you're looking for something to read tonight, to while away the hours you should be studying?

Well, get hold of Jean Helion's book, They Shall Not Have Me, or, as it is in French, Ils ne m'auront pas. Don't get excited by the French title; the book's in English, and one of the most readable of recent works on the present war.

It tells of a French soldier's experiences in the war; the apathetic fighting spirit of the French poilu; the sense of underlying defeat ingrained in them, and the attitude of confusion that was inherent in the Staff of the French Army, probably the attributes that made the resultant military defeat possible.

Helion, after having been captured by the Germans, was transported to Germany; to Stettin, where he was kept in slave labor. His subsequent resistance, spiritual and physical, to the brutality of his captors permeates the whole book, and makes it a moving document.

The book is propaganda, of course, but almost all good literature is of one sort or another. It's hard to believe, as most writers insist that ALL Germans are bad and untruthful and stupid; that's why they usually include one or two characters in the story who are in sympathy with the readers' views, but are victims of the Hitlerian system.

I think everyone can recognize the evils of the warped Shopenauer-Neitsche-Wagner philosophy that has contributed so much to modern German thought, without having the propagandists resort to stock statements, which happily, Helion does not.

ABOUT POETRY

Is there enough or too much poetry in our library? How many people read it for enjoyment nowadays? The chief complaint voiced against it is that's too hard to understand. That's certainly not true of Dorothy Parker, but her critics say she is insincere, and therefore valueless.

And that takes care of the poetry department. If you want to read contemporary Eastern poetry (with a capital 'P'), look elsewhere in these pages.

What a way to end the column: Harry Hopkins! Next thing you know I'll start praising Henry Wallace. But probably not.

The children were brought to and from the party in army trucks. Several delightful children's games were played and then Santa Claus came. He brought each child candy, oranges, either a pair of socks, a scarf or mittens, a doll or a game, and a bar of soap.

We wish to thank each person for his contribution, that made this party possible.

We are happy to announce that we will have on our campus February 21 and 22 a very distinguished personality—Rev. Claude L. Picknes, Jr., of China. He will be here as a representative of the Student Volunteer Movement, which is an inter-denominational organization interested in promoting Christian work in foreign lands.

Mr. Picknes was a Fellow of the Royal Capital Society of the Mission District of Hankow. He was also in charge of the All Saints Church in Hankow. He was forced to return to the United States on the S. S. Gripsholm in August, 1942. He served in China from 1926-1930. In 1930 he took a year's leave in the United States, returning to China in the Autumn of 1931, where he stayed until he was forced to evacuate, because of the war, in 1942.

Mr. Picknes is a native of Virginia. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and of the Theological Seminary of Virginia. He is also an Episcopalian minister.

Mr. Picknes wishes to meet with everyone interested in Christian work in foreign lands and will be glad to talk with each one personally or in small groups. A more detailed program will be in a later issue.

ALUMNI NEWS LETTER

The Alumni Association is grateful to a number of Eastern graduates who have contributed to the fund to keep the News Letter going to the men in the service. Miss Kathleen Clark (42) gave $4.00, Sally Hervey Foster (42), $2.00, Judson S. Harmon (28), $2.00, and the following contributed one extra subscription each: Joyce Hermann (39), Bonnie Birt Ledgerwood (38), Ruth A. Knarr (28), Ethel Brockman Brumback (39) Ruby Burrus (39), Betty Sturm Arnold (40), Stella Hall (39), Viola J. Corman (40), E. C. Mullins (25), and Marliou Lea (41), Mary Billingsley (42).

News About Alumni The Service

Promotion to major of Robert Morris Creech (37), of Richmond, now a student at the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., has been announced by the Army Air Forces, as has the awarding to Major Creech of a bronze Oak Leaf Cluster for his previously received Distinguished Flying Cross. He was cited for his skill and determination as pilot of a heavy bomber in the South Pacific area in an action in which his ship was damaged by enemy Zeros to such an extent that the return trip was made at an altitude of not more than 200 feet.

Major Creech is stationed at the Army Air Base, Alexandria, La., although temporarily at the Army Air Base, Alexandria, La., although temporarily at Fort Leavenworth. He returned in May after two years of duty in the South Pacific. In addition to the two D.F.C. awards, he has also received the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Clusters and the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

Mrs. Creech (Lucy Teater, '39) and their daughter, Betty Louise, live at 394 Cook Ave., Alexandria, La.

Lt. Edward E. Eicher (39), Fort Thomas, has returned to the states after serving seven months with the Transportation Corps in Canada and Alaska. He is now attending Military Government classes at the Provost Marshal General School, Fort Custer. His address is F.M.G.S. Lt. Eicher was editor of the Eastern Progress during his senior year at Eastern.

Major Keith O. Dicken (36) is an army classification officer in England. We have his mailing address, received from Mrs. Dicken (Elizabeth Hancock, '39), who is teaching at Finchville.

Capt. Morris M. Garrett (41), of Richmond, was recently promoted to the rank of captain in the Marine Corps. For the past year and a half he has been on duty in the South Pacific area. We have his address.

Lt. Eldred E. Cole (39), Heidelberg, is stationed near Colon, Panama, with a bombardment squadron. He reports seeing Glyn W. Davis, a sophomore in 1939-40, who is with the Navy at Colon.

Ensign Harvey Douglas House (40), Lexington, formerly of Richmond, graduated from the basic training course at Princeton and has reported to Harvard University for further training. His address is N.T.S. (Comm.), Harvard Univ., Mower B-11, Cambridge, 38, Mass. Ensign House was for more than two years with Mason-Hanger Constr. Co. at Radford, Va.

Lt. Allen Zaring (41), Richmond, has written giving us his new APO number in the Aleutians and thanking us for the Progress. Lt. Zaring has been with the field artillery in the Alaskan area for the past two years.

Major Harold L. Douds (29) is executive officer with the 10th Armored Group, APO 185, Los Angeles, Calif.
