The recent coal strike threats have no doubt stimulated many people to wonder if coal companies will ever have to advertise in order to sell their wares.

It would be unique to hear a radio announcer say, in a colorful baritone voice, "For good heating, it's fine bituminous that counts. Yes, sir! That's right! Everytime! Go to your dealer tomorrow and get a ton of our coal . . . feel its texture . . . take it home and burn it . . . smell the fumes . . . if you get a single whiff of sulphur, take the ashes back to the dealer and your money will be cheerfully refunded."

Even if atomic power becomes practical, coal will be used in large quantities for many chemicals are derived from coal tar, but the amount used would be so small that there would be very few mines in operation.

Maybe the coal companies had better start convincing people that coal is here to stay.

It appears that the unions are determined to alienate the sentiments of the public. They are playing their cards wrong. They were on the verge of being the most powerful faction in the world, but by pulling such acts as striking for contracts, striking for sympathy or striking just for laughs, they are rapidly gaining the dislike and distrust of the rest of the nation.

Maybe it is a good thing that they are falling into disfavor. They are too powerful and represent a serious threat to our form of government and our mores.

The new Congress will probably throw quite a scare into the unions even if it doesn't do away with them altogether.

One of the union leaders is on the carpet now, and by the time this is printed he will either be in jail, fined heavily, or both; or he will be free.

School Spirit

Many students of this school have heard someone say, in classes or at football games, "What the devil is the matter with everyone here? Ya ain't got no spirit!"

Before the war, we were going to high school in this town. We got around town a little and we even got as far as the Student Union on several occasions.

In the fall of 1946 we decided that our previous summer in college had been a lot of fun and that we had penetrated pretty deeply into the degree territory, so we registered again.

But they were no longer youths. Some of them had been working in defense plants, most had been in the service, but none of them were immune to the effects of existing a few years . . . Yes, they were a few years older, astounding as that may be.

The whole point is that the average age of the college student is higher than it was before the war. Besides, the years spent by most of our students were fraught with worry and very tangible danger—two things that catalyze aging.

One Day Only for Thanksgiving

Students at Eastern and at most other colleges and universities in Kentucky will enjoy only a one-day vacation this year during Thanksgiving week.

Blaze Damages Arts Building

There was much stir and excitement on Eastern's campus shortly after ten o'clock on November 19. The occasion of this excitement was brought on by a fire of undetermined origin that occurred in the right wing of the Arts Building.

The fire began in a storage room in which paint and other supplies were kept. Firemen were forced to tear out a partition of the basement in order to control the flames.

A student passing by the building was the first to notice the flames and immediately reported it to Mrs. William Ault, who in turn called the fire department.

President W. F. O'Donnell has announced that thus far the exact damage has not been determined, but did state that two sanding machines were lost.

The floor of the Home Economics Department was blistered to some extent and some portions of it will have to be replaced.

Classes were resumed in the building as usual.

State Y. M. Meet to be Held Dec. 7

Plans are near completion for the Kentucky Y.M.C.A. conference to be held at Eastern Dec. 6, 7, and 8th.

The principal speakers for the conference will be Dr. Raymond B. Drukker, Berea College, and Henry T. Ware, Southern Regional Y.M.C.A. secretary.

The Presbyterian Church has been turned over for Conference use for Sunday morning worship, due to the whole-hearted co-operation of Rev. Olof Anderson.

Meals for the delegates will be provided by the Eastern cafeteria, and lodging in the stadium, made possible by the combined efforts of Mrs. Keith, Mrs. Case, and Mr. Ault.

Registration will begin at 3:00 p. m. Friday, and the meeting will adjourn at 1:00 p. m. The Y. M. C. A. cordially invited all those interested in Christian work to be present at any or all of these sessions, and sincerely hopes that you will make an effort to attend.

Stock Company To Be Organized Next Summer

John P. Payne, actor and director from New York, was a guest on the campus last Monday, Nov. 18.

Mr. Payne served as technical adviser of Soldier Show Workshops for six and a half months in the ETO. He has studied in the Embassy Academy of Dramatics in London and also in New York.

A stock company will be opened in the vicinity of Richmond next summer by Mr. Payne and a nucleus of professional actors.

An original play, written by someone in the vicinity of Richmond, will also be presented and interviews will be given late in the year for all those who would like to act in the stock company.

Dr. Smith Heard At College Assembly

Dr. Leslie R. Sith, minister of the Central Christian Church, Lexington, was the speaker at the Eastern State Teachers' College assembly held Wednesday morning in Hiram Brock Auditorium.

Dr. Smith spoke on some certainties in a world of doubt and uncertainty.

Mr. Thanksgiving!

R. O. T. C. Enrollment is Largest in School History

Ninety-one students are enrolled in the Advanced Course ROTC at Eastern, it was announced today by Major Frank E. Willard, PMS&T.

The advanced course consists of formal instruction for five hours per week for two academic years, plus a summer camp of six weeks duration.

Prota Decca, Honorary Sorority For Sophomore Women

Prota Decca is an honorary scholastic sorority for sophomore women and members are chosen after they become a third quarter freshman.

Prota Decca is relatively new at Eastern. At the present it is only a local organization, but the club is striving to become a member of the Cwens, a national scholastic sorority.

At the last meeting, Mrs. Emma Y. Case, sponsor of the club, reported the sorority would be given the opportunity to present programs for such organizations as the American Association of University Women, Delta Kappa Gamma, and other organizations.

Eastern Holds Both Football and Basketball Championship Cups

"Messiah" To Be Given December 8

The annual presentation of Handel's Messiah is to be given Sunday evening, December 8, in Hiram Brock Auditorium.

The chorus this year is rather large, composing approximately 220 persons. This chorus is made up of students, faculty members and town people availing themselves of the opportunity provided by the college to participate in an undertaking of such magnitude and worth.

Many visitors are expected to be here for this occasion, particularly Eastern alumni who have sung in the chorus in times past.

Caduceus Club is Reorganized

The Caduceus Club met on November 14 for the purpose of reorganization.

The president appointed the following to serve on committee: Program, Guy Fortney, James Becknell and Alice Gholson; membership, Barbara Lehmann, James Hutson and Bill Griggs; corresponding secretary, Carl Scott, with Bill Cox as alternate.

The purpose of the club is to arouse a greater interest in medicine, dentistry, nursing etc., and to learn more about the work in this field.

Game Played In Mud, Rain; Moore Scores Lone Tally

The Eastern Maroons of Rome Rankin defeated the Hilltoppers of Western Saturday night at Bowling Green 6-0 and wrapped up the KIAC football crown for the second successive year and left them open for a possible bid to the Lexington Tobacco Bowl.

A slippery gridiron restricted the offense of both teams and kept both squads playing for breaks throughout the game.

The only marker of the game came when the Eastern line partially blocked a Western punt that traveled 23 yards to the Western 41 where the Maroons took over. Jack Ley heaved a pass to Frank Siphers that was good for 11 and a first down on the Western 30. Moore advanced the ball to the Western 26 and Nowakowski passed to Bahman that was good for another Eastern first down on the Hilltoppers' 18.

Paul Moore, who has played brilliant ball for the Maroons all season, scored his ninth touchdown of the season to bring his total to 54 points for the eight games he has played.

In winning Saturday the Maroons gave Rome Rankin the distinction of being the first coach in modern KIAC history who has tutored both a basketball and football team to conference crowns in the same year.

The triumph was the Maroons' first over the Hilltoppers on Western terrain. Western has won 13 of the tilts and one ended in a tie.

Basketball Clinic To Be Held Here December 6-7

In an effort to re-instate Kentucky in the National Section of Women's Athletics of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, a basketball clinic is to be held at Eastern December 6 and 7.

The tentative schedule of events is: Friday 6:30—Registration at Health Building. 7:00-10:00—Basketball Clinic. 7:00-7:45—Demonstration of Zone Defense and Plays. 7:45-8:30—Discussion and Demonstration of Fouls. 8:30-10:00—Rating of Basketball Officials. 10:00—Informal Gathering. Saturday 8:00-11:30—Tournament Play-Off. 11:30-12:30—Lunch. 12:30-1:30—State WAA Meet. 1:30-4:00—Tournament. Swimming, ping pong and badminton facilities will be available from 8 until 4 for those not playing basketball.

The schools which will be represented here are: Ursuline, Nazareth, University of Kentucky, Union and Kentucky Wesleyan. Miss Gladys Heyman, chairman of Central Ohio Board of Women Officials, will help the Physical Education department conduct the clinic.

AS WE SEE IT

OUR FOREFATHERS' THANKSGIVING PRAYER

Dear Father: Today we would give thee thanks for all of the many blessings which thou hast given us.

Today dear Father, we especially are grateful for the harvest which thy earth has yielded and for thy watchcare over the crops until harvest time was past.

Help us to live peacefully with those into whose homes and country we have entered—not ruling or dominating, but living so that each person's rights and individualities may be respected.

those who are less fortunate than we. We have so much—good homes, warm clothes, and enough food—while others have so little.

Father, a prayer cannot be uttered verbally that can express the gratitude which we feel at this harvest time, but thou knowest the feeling that is within us.

Help us to be not selfish with thy goodness but to share it with others. Amen.

OUR PRAYER TODAY

Our Father, at this Thanksgiving time we pause for a few seconds to give thee thanks for what we have received during the past year.

We won the war, but we had to suffer so many hardships during those war years. Now we can't get meat and when we do find some it is so expensive we can't buy as much as we'd like to.

We have such a terrible housing shortage. I know there people in the world without a shelter of any kind, but it so terrible having to live in the same house with two families.

I thank thee for letting me live in America, Dear Father, but we are so mixed up politically and economically that I dread to think about the future.

Even though we've won the war, I'm afraid we've lost the peace because all of the other countries are refusing to do just what we want them to do.

Give us peace at any cost because we cannot suffer through another war.

Help us to keep this prayer of Thanksgiving in our hearts throughout the entire year. Amen.

MAROONED

Of all the strange things we have here at Eastern, the strangest, next to the students, of course, is the campus over the weekend.

Now, what to do? The local Chamber of Commerce has several times attempted to lure Lana Turner and Gregory Peck to residence in Richmond.

We won't say we have exciting weekends for you if you stay. In fact, some of them are darn likely to be downright dull.

Of course, we all get homesick now and then, but we should keep busy enough so that we don't feel it too often.

In a short time we shall begin another quarter and another year. Let's take it from there.

ON THANKSGIVING

Now we know we all are thankful
For the gifts that God gives to us
But most of all we're thankful
For not being John L. Lewis.

KAMPUS KALIEDESCOPE

Those charred sections of the Arts building, testimonial to someone's dislike for Georgian architecture. Students with packed suitcases awaiting the Thanksgiving weekend.

Well, most of us are going home or to a friend's home for Thanksgiving, or the weekend. We'll catch the first train or bus or have a car waiting for us as soon as our last class is over.

FAITH

The sort of faith I have in you
Is very strange and very strong.

I need no promise that you'll be
Forever keeper of my heart,

I'll never doubt that faith is there
To warm me with its afterglow

A gift of flowers often causes a budding romance to blossom.

"A woman's a puzzle to mankind at that,"
Soliloquized old Daniel Dubby:

Our idea of an improbability is a woman who could talk back and wouldn't.

Letter to the Editor

Editor: Eastern, with its 1200 students, should have many talented people. Much of this talent has been expressed in the classrooms, on the campus, and in various social activities.

In past years Eastern has had a very active "Little Theatre Club." It has functioned to give good dramatic entertainment, as well as giving dramatic enthusiasts an opportunity to develop their talents.

Why can't we have a "Little Theatre Club" this year?
Bill Kearney.

Kappa Delta Pi Initiates

The Delta Alpha Chapter of the Kappa Delta Pi on our campus held a formal initiation ceremony in Walnut Hall, Tuesday evening, November 26, at 5:30 p. m.

Following the initiation ceremony in Walnut Hall, the old and new members of the organization went to the Old South Inn at Winchester for their initiation banquet.

"Just The Other Day" "Pig Foot Pete" walked through the grille and stopped by some luscious blonde and drawled "I Love You For Sentimental Reasons."

Did you include "Linger In My Arms A Little Longer, Baby?" Or what about "The Whole World is Singing My Song" or "Buttermilk Skies"?

Bass Soloist In "Messiah" Selected

Sherwood Kains, of Cincinnati, will again be the bass soloist in the annual presentation of Handel's "Messiah."

Mr. Kains is the director of the University of Cincinnati Glee Club, director of the May Festival Chorus and director of the Deerwood-Adirondack Music Center.

The "Y's"

By ELIZABETH PENNINGTON

Plans for the state YMCA conference to be held at Eastern are being completed. About sixty delegates from all Kentucky colleges will be here to plan the state program for the coming year.

A special vesper program will be given at seven o'clock on Thanksgiving evening in the Little Theater. The service will be presented by the special programs committees of the YMCA and YWCA.

At the meeting of the YWCA cabinet Thursday, November 20, the cabinet members chose from the list of membership those persons who were to serve on their committee.

Miss Ford To Teach In Army School

Miss Edith G. Ford, member of the commerce department faculty at Eastern State Teachers College, school in Germany, probably in has been given a leave of absence to teach in an Army-conducted Frankfurt-on-Main.

The school in which Miss Ford will teach is one of those in the American zone in Germany organized by the U. S. Army for members of the armed forces who wish to continue their education while with the Army of Occupation.

Miss Ford has been a member of the faculty at Eastern a number of years. During her absence her classes will be taught by Miss Margaret Moberly, of Richmond, a graduate of Eastern.

ODDS AND ENDS

By JOHN MAYHALL

What does Thanksgiving mean to you? This year it should be the greatest Thanksgiving most of us have ever had.

Enclose a check in a letter and it will say more than 10 pages of typewritten matter.

VISION OF HOME

A home to me means fresh, warm loaves of bread,
A yellow cloth beneath a bowl of blue,

Overheard: "What do you mean—you haven't got white shirts? The Republicans won, didn't they?"

John D.: "You've never kissed like that before, Mary. Is it because we're in a blackout?"

First Mother: "Has your son learned anything at Eastern?"

The clinging she-wolf is one who says, "Oh, you great, big, strong wonderful man. I need someone like you to protect me from the wolves and the cold, cruel world."

A letter a day to your O. A. O.
Will keep him yours by remote control.

TYPICAL SAILOR'S MARRIAGE CEREMONY

"Wilt thou, John D., have this woman as thy wedded wife, to live together insofar as the Bureau of Navigation will allow?"

"Wilt thou, Dot, have this sailor as thy wedded husband, bearing in mind liberty hours, boat schedules, watches, and sudden orders, life?"

"I John, take thee, Dot, as my wedded wife from 4:30 p. m. until 8 a. m. as far as permitted by the commanding officer, liberty subject to change without notice, for better or for worse, for earlier, for later, and I promise to send thee a weekly letter when on cruise."

"I, Dot, take thee, John, as my wedded husband, subject to the whims of the officer-of-the-deck, changing residence whenever the ship moves, to have and to hold just as long as my allotment comes regularly, and therefore, I give my troth."

Young Economist

By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

I MET a young economist in England. His thinking revealed that he would like to see the complete crumbling of the present order and the ultimate nationalization of England.

Notable thing about this young man is that he is very influential in the Labor government. He talked freely and with spirit, and the enthusiasm he exhibited shows conclusively which school of thought in England is on the defensive.

Influence I ASKED this young economist the secret of the growth of the Socialist party in the United Kingdom. Displaying political acumen which is engendered only from a thorough understanding of reality and a knowledge of facts, this economist said that victory in the last election in close districts came because of the vote of the young people.

"In fact, the percentage of young people who voted the Socialist ticket was greater than the percentage of older people in the ranks of Labor," he told me, adding a fact I knew already: that the growth of Socialism has been more rapid among young people and among skilled workers.

I did not encourage him in this regard about America, but the parallel was clear. I found myself wishing that our own high schools and colleges were doing a better job of building into the very fiber of American youth a deep appreciation for the fundamental principles of our American way of life, lest our youth someday lead this nation down that same unfortunate road.

Unlimited STRANGE irony in Riches? is, that wealth created by honest work is used in the form of taxes and in grants as means to destroy the philosophy which begot our freedom and our wealth.

Failure of the private enterprise system in America, our young economist said, would soon come because of the inability of business to operate at a loss. This thing the government could do indefinitely, just for the sake of maintaining employment, he affirmed, insisting there is no limit to deficit financing available to government-owned economy.

I have never been able to convince myself that Socialistic and Communist minded economists could be sincere in advocating this philosophy, characteristic though it is of their thinking. If the principle were workable, why does not some Communist nation issue a million dollar credit to each of its citizens and let them all enjoy wealth in a nation that cannot go broke?

EXTRA-CURRICULAR

By RUBY MONDAY

The Photo Club held its last meeting on November 14 in the Student Union Building with a total of 21 members present.

At this meeting, Dr. LaFuze showed several rolls of negatives which had been developed by the members and gave a discussion on making pictures with the flash camera.

The social functions of the club were also discussed and a party is being planned for the beginning of next quarter.

The next meeting of the club will be on Thursday, November 28, at 5 p. m. in the S.U.B.

The Canterbury Club, which meets regularly on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month, held their last meeting on November 13, at 5 o'clock in the Blue Room. Freshman English majors were invited to attend this meeting in order to acquaint them with the functions of the club.

After dinner, the club, which is under the sponsorship of Dr. Roy B. Clark, carried on its regular business meeting and social program. Jack Talbott spoke to the group on his experiences while serving with the Army in the Hawaiian Islands.

The Home Economics Club had a supper meeting in the Blue Room Tuesday, November 19. Lula Thurman, who was the delegate at the club section of the Kentuck Home Economics convention in Lexington November 8 and 9, reported on the meetings which she attended. It was voted to support the Foreign Fellowship project in which each of the nine affiliated clubs in Kentucky will contribute $8.75 to help bring a foreign student to this province. It was also decided to send a Christmas Festival box to needy children overseas.

The most interesting part of the program was a talk by Miss Eleanor Jerner. She told about some of her experiences in New York as a student at Columbia University.

Miss Jerner is a new faculty member in the Home Ec department. Her home is in Illinois.

The Methodist College Youth Fellowship, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Needham, had its regular meeting on Monday night, Nov. 18, in the Blue Room. There were 24 students present with Mrs. Case and Rev. Johnson as guests.

Virginia Strohmeier gave the devotional. Mrs. Severs was the guest speaker and she kept the group in a lively mood by leading them in the singing of hymns. She emphasized the proper way of singing a hymn and spoke of the great contribution which John and Charles Wesley have made to Methodist hymns.

ALUMNI NEWS

Major George M. Lewis Killed in Air Crash in France

The body of Major George M. Lewis, member of a prominent Vanceburg family, is to be returned to the United States and will be brought to his Kentucky home for burial.

His mother, Mrs. Beulah G. Lewis of Vanceburg, received official notice of her son's death October 7 from the War Department.

Major Lewis was one of the 11 members of the crew of the ill-fated B-17 Flying Fortress which crashed Aug. 29, 1946, in the Orbiou mountain pass, 8,800 feet above sea level, near Grenoble, France. Major Lewis, pilot of the plane, was on a flight from Frankfurt, Germany, to Casablanca. He would have been 27 on September 13.

In January, 1942, he enlisted in the Army Air Corps as an aviation cadet. The flier received his commission as second lieutenant in January, 1943, while stationed in California. He served a while as an instructor in aeronautics before leaving for the European Theater of Operations.

Upon arriving in England, he was assigned to Bury St. Edmund as operations officer. A captain then, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for 17 successful missions over Germany as pilot of a B-17.

At the close of the war, he was reassigned to the Army Air Transport Command in Germany. He was stationed at Echborn, near Frankfurt, as assistant chief of operations and acting commanding officer. Last June 22 he received a commendation for meritorious service for the period from Nov. 15, 1945, to April 30, 1946, and was elevated to the rank of major.

Major Lewis was a graduate of the Lewis County High School and attended Eastern in 1937-38 and 1938-39.

He was on leave in early April and was planning to visit his mother and sister, Miss Clara Elizabeth Lewis, this fall.

WAA To Have Tournament

Beginning Monday, November 25, the WAA will hold a basketball tournament in the "little gym." The teams will represent the various sections of Burnam Hall and there will be approximately seven teams which will enter. The games will start at 5 o'clock and there will be two games each evening until the winner is determined.

Gifted Pianist Delights Audience

By FREDERICK P. GILES

Katherine Johnson, the gifted pianist from Aberdeen, South Dakota, who was presented in a piano concert in the Little Theatre Wednesday afternoon, gave a most brilliant performance of classic and modern piano music. Her playing of the Chopin numbers delighted the audience and set the musical mood for the appreciation for the rest of the program. She interpreted these numbers in true Chopin spirit.

The Caesar Franck number, which was really the meat of the program, and which is a difficult composition to play, held the audience in intense interest and pleasure. Probably this Franck number is not as pianistic as it is orchestral, but all the dramatic power required to interpret its musical message, Mrs. Johnson had at her command.

"Legerdeinain," composed by Merritt Johnson, husband of the pianist, delighted the listeners in its almost sleight of hand work as well as its lightness of tone.

The excellent tonal quality Mrs. Johnson brought out of the Rachmaninoff Prelude which is strongly colored by the spirit of the quaint and serenely minorish Russian folk airs enhanced interest in this composer's work.

There seemed to be no end to the program. Even though many were standing in the lobby and in Walnut Hall off the Little Theatre stage, they still applauded the pianist back to give more. She was most free and gracious with her encores from Liszt, Sauer, and Debussy and the same fine musical quality continued to characterize the playing of these numbers.

Calif., has a secretarial position in Los Angeles. She studied foreign languages two years in Washington, D. C., at King-Smith School and George Washington University and held various legal positions in Washington four years, was with the Reynolds Metals Co. in Washington one year, with the Office of Military Attaché, American Embassy, Havana, Cuba, one year, in civilian military intelligence, and served with the United Nations R.R.A. in Washington last year. Miss Million served with the Women's Army Corps for sometime, taking her basic training at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., and Air Corps training at Westover Field Air Base, Mass. She received her discharge May 13, 1944.

Mrs. Noel H. Kaylor (Alliegordon Park), Box 383, Benham, was librarian at Benham high school from 1933 to 1944, was serials librarian at Berea College two years and returned to Benham as librarian the second semester of 1946. She received the B. S. in Library Service at Peabody College in 1932 and has done additional work there and at the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. C. A. Bolling (Julia Anne Peters), Flat Gap, Va., is a primary teacher in Wise county, Va. VOX VETERANI

By ALLAN WHITE

The last meeting of the Eastern Vets Club was held November 19, the usual time, the usual place. The details are not available. I went to the fire. Regretful as the circumstances were, I still have not seen so many looks of curiosity since the boys took Sullivan Hall without firing a shot.

Comment of the occasion: The art students will be devoted to charcoal drawing the remainder of the week.

Arsenic And Old Ice Cream Cones

As you fine people shall recall, just to change the subject, we have lately been involved in the process of being "taken" for commodities purchased in the local refreshment commissary in the SUB. A tragic case, indeed.

Being presented with the advice of "ner" to speak without the views in mind of the organization which I represent . . . I speak. There are several factors which must be kept in mind in consideration of the issue; they are, all rolled into one, the Student Union Building is not paid for and is so being done with profits of said structure. Now the problem in mind is merely this, must the students now attending Eastern pay off this debt in their short time here? Regardless of what you think, that seems to be the general idea.

Upon investigation of these reasonable facsimiles of ice cream sundaes now being sold in the grill (this pertains not to the Book Store, friend) we find the exact operation running true to form with suspicion. Would you care for a few figures, hmmmnn? Numbers, that is. Well, you all know that the prices of these grill articles are outrageous. For instance, a five gallon container of ice cream is purchased from the Dixie people for $6.25. Selling at a scant 5c per dip, a small scant at that, an underestimated approximate is 250 dips from one of these five gallon containers. If you are too busy to stop and figure it out, I'll tell you that the profit on each container comes close to a minimum of $5.00 (that ain't no misprint.)

Now, that is just an incident. Let's take for another instance the flavored syrup which is spread so lavishly over your ice cream. I found from a soda fountain in town the price paid for a gallon of chocolate syrup is $1.65. On the contrary, the local cashab elaborately parts with $2.50 for a gallon jug of this s'urrp.

Just to establish a basis of comparison, a second's calculation would show that this gallon, on a non-profit scale, would have to be spread over 25 sundaes at 10c a squirt. Fantastic, isn't it? However, we find it far from non-profit. Instead, it is divided among more than 100 of those delicious ice cream appetizers. Even at the underestimated 100 sundaes the profit would only be $7.50 for every gallon jug. See what we mean? They're taking us to the cleaners.

I can easily remember my freshmen year back in '39 when that grill was operated as a place of refuge and relaxation for the students. At that time Wait Kleinstuber, Harry Lucas and other boys issued that ice cream and Coca-Cola without throwing a dagger at your midriff as you reached for the cone. What has caused this tremendous change? More questions. Why can't we have students behind that soda fountain as before? It's very evident they could use the money . . . all of the 35c per hour.

I've just thought of something else which was discussed. This matter of cider, orange drink, and doughnuts beats everything else. The veterans bought a jug of cider for 85c from the concerned establishment . . . the same sort of jug which will yield close to 40 glasses of cider in the grill. It sells for a mere 10c a glass, and even though I am dull at math, I can see a $4.00 sign involved over an 85c sign.

I'll leave the rest of the inquiry up to you. You know those doughnuts go over the counter at 5c each . . . do you know what a package of them costs? I do. The same for the rolls. People, if you want to visualize yourself as a pauper take heed to the above . . . Now you know the facts; suit yourself.

GARY-HAYES

The marriage of Miss Ann Gary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Gary, and Mr. James Winburn Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otho Denuzil Hayes, was solemnized at 7:30 p. m. Friday at Auburn, Ala.

They were married by the Baptist minister, Rev. Hoyt A. Ayers in his home.

The bride wore a white wool dress with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Walker were their only attendants.

Mrs. Walker wore a two-piece green wool suit and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mrs. Hayes was a member of the Hopkinsville Girls Cotillion Club, attended Eastern State Teachers College and Bethel College.

Mr. Hayes served for two years with the Marines overseas and after his discharge he was employed at Major-Dray Drug Store and Boyd's Clothing Store. He is now a student in the School of Pharmacy at Howard College, Birmingham, Ala., where they will make their home.

Miss Buchanan of the English Department will give a reading of Dickens' Christmas Carol Sunday afternoon, December 4, at 4 o'clock in the Little Theatre. Miss Buchana gives the reading every year at the Christmas season and anyone is invited to come.

Mrs. Cecil Noland and Miss Louise Rutledge, members of the library staff, attended the Kentucky Library Association conference in Ashland Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 16.

The Kyma Club and Veterans Club will give a Championship Dinner on December 4 at 6:30 p. m. in the main dining room of the cafeteria. Tickets are $1.35 and will be on sale through November 27. All men of the faculty, administrative staff and men students are invited to come.

On Saturday, November 16, Mrs. Emma Y. Case attended a meeting of the Beta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma in Lexington. Mrs. Case is president of this chapter.

The Sporting Thing

By JACK TALBOT

Coach Rankin should be the coach of the year. He is the first coach to win both the KIAC football and basketball crown the same year in recent history of the conference.

We think you should know how we won the title. It took a lot of strategy and a big gamble.

When the Maroons traveled to Morehead, the star back, Bud Moore, went along but he did not play in the all important game. Here is the reason. Moore has a bad knee which the doctors said would be good for one more game. Rankin had the choice of using Bud in that game or saving him for the U. of L. game. Rankin knew he could lose one conference game and win the last two and still have the crown.

So he decided to let Moore rest his knee one more week.

The strategy paid off as Moore scored two touchdowns in the U. of L. game and one in the Western game before he was carried off the field because of his knee.

To Coach we can give nothing but praise for a coach who thought first of the welfare of one of his boys, and then of a defeat at the hands of Morehead.

We quote from U. K.'s publication, the Kentucky Kernel, of November 15:

"One possibility is that of pitting Kentucky against KIAC all-stars. From the seven member colleges—Eastern, Morehead, Centre, Louisville, Murray, Georgetown and Western—a better than average eleven could be selected to face the 'Cats'."

Next, we quote from Earl Ruby's report in the Courier-Journal: "It seems to me that the winner of the KIAC would be a logical opponent."

If either of these suggestions is carried through by the committee, there is one thing certain, Coach Rome Rankin would be the mentor.

The tallest basketball team in the country—that's what they say about Akron's Zippers who Eastern will face on opening night, Dec. 7, at Music Hall arena in Cincinnati.

Six-foot, eleven-inch Harry (Giraffe) Scriber is the tallest man on Akron's squad, if not the tallest man in college basketball this year. Backing him up are such elongated dribblers as Neal Burk and Bill Mohr, who hit the six-foot, seven-inch mark.

The Zippers are led by All-American Fritz Nagy, a senior, who totaled 549 points in 1944-45. Nagy was in service last season.

The game will be doubleheader with the University of Kentucky going up against the University of Cincinnati. Student tickets are 80 cents.

The annual athletic dinner will be held this year as the KIAC Championship Dinner honoring the coaches and the 1946 football squad. The dinner is to be stag and will be in the main dining room of the Student Union Building on December 4 at 6:30 p. m.

This dinner is sponsored by the Veterans Club and the Kyma Club in cooperation with our boosters, the citizens of Richmond, and the support of our men students.

Mr. Don Black will be one of the principal speakers, along with some of the top sports writers of the state. Among the prominent guests to be introduced will be our new basketball coach, Paul McBrayer.

Reorganize Vets' Intramural

The intramural basketball tournament will be played, starting November 25, and the finals will be played December 5. With seventeen teams entered in this year's competition, it is one, if not the biggest, intramural basketball tournament ever to be held at Eastern.

The drawing for the tournament were held at the Health Building, November 21. It was decided that ten players plus a coach would be allowed for each team.

There will be no admission charge and the public is urged to come. The games will be played at 7 p. m. in the big gym of the Health Building.

Fred Darling, Eastern's assistant line coach, is the able director of this program. Helping Coach Darling with the refereeing will be other members of the Physical Education Department. The results of the games will be posted on the bulletin board in the Student Union Building.

Coaches Name All-KIAC Team

Coaches of the Kentucky Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference voiced their preference today for eight members of an all-conference football team.

In appraising the ability of league players for the Associated Press, the mentors left deadlocked two candidates each for a tackle, guard and a backfield position.

Among the eight clearly selected were three from Morehead, two each from Murray and Eastern and one from the University of Louisville.

Big Paul Adams, hardworking Morehead center, accumulated the most points in a second poll to determine the outstanding player in the KIAC. The voting was on a first, second and third basis. The tutors picked:

ENDS

Ivan (Buster) Maggard, Eastern
Jack Coleman, Louisville

TACKLES

Mark Lohr, Eastern
*Pete Pawlowski, Morehead
*Raphael (Boots) Abell, Western GUARDS
Powell Puckett, Murray
*Leslie Dyehouse, Western
*Delmas Freeman, Eastern

CENTER

Paul Adams, Morehead
BACKS
Larry Workman, Morehead
Tom Walker, Murray
Joe Lustic, Morehead
*Benny Vaznellis, Morehead
*Joe Trabue, Louisville
*—Tied in voting.

Players who also received one or more votes:

Ends—Jim Caudill, Morehead; Jack Wyatt, Murray; Chubby Hietlauf, Louisville; Louis Ellis, Centre.

Tackles—White, Murray; Arnold, Western; Hetman, Morehead; Todd, Louisville.

Guards—Mojo Hollowell, Louisville; Haines, Western; Chuck Leistener, Georgetown; Jim Cadie, Morehead; Briscoe Inman, Centre.

Center—Keys, Western.
Backs—Paul (Bud) Moore, Eastern; Wallace McBrayer, Centre.

Rome Rankin, Eastern coach, called Maggard the "best defensive end that has ever played for me." The 195 pound Richmond, Ky., senior, also was called "one of the best blockers Eastern ever had."

Coleman, playing his first year at Louisville, is a big, rugged fellow who stood out as a pass receiver. He is from Burgin, Ky.

Lohr was described as a hard, vicious tackler with a rare ability to diagnose plays. He is a 200 pound sophomore from Logan, O., and Rankin called him "the best tackle we saw all year."

Pawlowski is a 210 pound junior from South River, N. J., and Abell, weighing 190, is a Morganfield, Ky., senior.

Small for a guard, Pucket was called a good blocker and excellent tackler with "plenty of fire and enthusiasm" by his coach, Jim Moore. Puckett weighs 178 and is a junior from Shelbyville, Ky. Tied for the other guard spots were Dyehouse, a 230 pound senior from Crab Orchard, Ky., who formerly played at Lancaster High and Southwestern College, and Freeman, a 185 pound first year man from Everts, Ky.

Adams, a defensive powerhouse, is a senior from Coal Grove, O. The 205-pound pivotman intercepted four passes in one game this year, turning all into tallies.

Workman, a 170 pounder from Ft. Gay, W. Va., was a unanimous choice for one backfield spot. He posted five votes along with teammate Joe Lustic, a senior 185-pound fullback from Gary, W. Va.

Tom Walker, triple threat Murray back, was the state's leading collegiate scorer. Walker is a junior from Brownsville, Tenn., tipping the scales at 175.

The other backfield spot was shared by flashy Joe Trabue, Louisville back, and Benny Vaznellis, 175 pound senior from New Britain, Conn., described as "very tough to keep from scoring."

Local ROTC Receives Artillery Weapons

Three artillery howitzers were recently received by the Eastern ROTC for instructional purposes. The three cannons received include 105 millimeter howitzers and one 155 millimeter howitzer, all of the latest design.

The 105 howitzer, because of its light weight, mobility, flexibility, high rate of fire, and rapidity of going into and out of position, has been adopted as the basic field artillery piece in the infantry division. It is capable of shooting a 33 pound shell a distance of about 7 miles.

The 155 howitzer is the general support field artillery weapon of the infantry division. It's capable of firing a 95 pound shell more than 9 miles.

The issue of these weapons to ROTC Field Artillery units enables students to become familiar with the two types of weapons used as field artillery in the infantry divisions.

From Louisville comes the word that U of L will have its greatest team in the history of the school. Even little Georgetown reports that it is really ready for all comers. Such must be the case with teams like Baylor and other top notch teams on the schedule. Just what Coach McBrayer and his family of boys will do about this remains to be seen. However, my guess is that with the fine coaching they are receiving day in and day out the freshmen can not help but look like veterans of the hardwood by tournament time; and the veterans from last year's championship squad—Bill De Venzio, Gerald Becker and Gobel Ritter—not to mention Stretch Hudnall, back from the Maroon squad of 1942, will be molded into one of the finest combinations in the South.

With only 10 days remaining until Eastern opens the most difficult basketball schedule the Maroons have ever tackled, Coach Paul McBrayer has 20 fast and rangy boys going through intensive drills daily in the Weaver Health Building.

Defending the K.I.A.C. championship won by the 1945 squad will be without the services of All-American Fred Lewis. (For those who have never heard—Fred was third high scorer in the nation last year and Eastern's greatest all-round ball player.)

The competition for this year's starting positions is keen. After observing the way a dozen or more candidates are fighting it out in the daily scrimmage, one would be placing himself out on a limb by predicting who the starting 5 will be against Akron University Dev. 7.

Whatever the outcome, Coach McBrayer is certain to place on the hardwood one of the smoothest drilled teams in the Southland. With a squad composed of 17 inexperienced freshmen and 4 upper classmen, one only has to glance at such inter-sectional and international opponents as Akron, Pepperdine of California, Baylor, Toronto of Canada, Tulsa, Davis-Elkins, and Manhattan to see that Coach McBrayer and his boys have long hard days of practice ahead.

Close at our heels with an eye on our K.I.A.C. crown will be Ed Diddle's Western Hilltoppers. Mr. Diddle has 9 boys returning from his 1942 squad who paced Western to the invitational finals at Madison Square Garden that year.

Morehead opens up with Texas A. & M. and reports that it that Ellis Johnson's Eagles are loaded with more talent than ever before.

From Louisville comes the word that U of L will have its greatest team in the history of the school.

Even little Georgetown reports that it is really ready for all comers. Such must be the case with teams like Baylor and other top notch teams on the schedule. Just what Coach McBrayer and his family of boys will do about this remains to be seen.
