Miss Eastern Will Receive Title Tonite

Miss Eastern 1965 will be crowned tonight at the annual Miss Eastern Dance.

The dance, sponsored by the Milestone and Student Council, will be held from 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. in Walnut Hall. Tickets are $1.50 per couple, and will be sold at door and in advance.

The dress is semi-formal. Music for the dance will be furnished by the Bourbonaires.

Miss Eastern will be crowned by Mrs. Carolyn King Christian, last year's Miss Eastern, with President Martin and Mr. John Sullivan assisting. The crowning will take place at 10 p.m.

Miss Eastern will be introduced to the College at pregame ceremonies of the Eastern-East Tennessee game tomorrow.

Although she will be asked to participate in certain activities for the College, the climax of her reign will be to serve as Eastern's representative in the Mountain Laurel Festival which will be held at Pineville next spring.

Miss Eastern was chosen in an all campus election held Wednesday. The candidates for the title are: Misses Betsy Stafford, senior from Ashland; Gloria Gray, a Louisville junior; Sandy Underhill, a junior from Erlanger; Jeanie Gail Ashe, a junior from Rogersville, Tennessee; and Dianne Hendricks, a Louisville junior.

MR. JOE JOHNSON Addresses Assembly

Johnson Warns Of Socialism

State-wide Republican chairman Mr. Joe Johnson told Eastern students Wednesday that a strong federal government could lead to socialism.

Speaking before an audience of about 2,300 on behalf of presidential candidate Senator Barry Goldwater, Mr. Johnson said that we are in the process of returning to the feudalistic government of our forefathers.

"Our form of government has stood, because the founding fathers thought a strong central government was detrimental," he stated.

"We do not need socialism. We became great because our system of government is a combination of state and local government with certain powers delegated to the federal government."

Republicans Sponsor

The program, held in Alumni Coliseum, was sponsored by the Young Republicans Club, John McNutt, New Albany, Ind., president of the club, introduced the speaker.

He criticized President Lyndon B. Johnson in his dealings with the Communists.

Policy Goes Right

He said that our whole foreign policy was moving toward the left, and we hope that by appeasement the Communists will move to the right. "This is Utopia," he declared.

Barry Goldwater will not bring war, but he won't appease the Communists. He stands for a balanced budget, support of the allies of the United States, a return to moral leadership in the White House, and the rebirth of the system of free enterprise."

Student Instructors Save Life In Monday Swimming Incident

Quick action and level-headedness by two Eastern students and their instructor saved the life of a Louisville freshman Monday at the Alumni Coliseum indoor pool.

Darrell W. Robinson, 18, was pulled from the pool in the closing minutes of a swimming class by Gene Francis Pettit, a Lexington junior, who was a student assistant instructor during the intermediate class period.

Pettit, and Miss Janice Huffman, also a Lexington junior, took turns applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation until the Louisville youth was revived about seven minutes later.

Miss Dorothy Kirkpatrick, instructor of the class, meanwhile cleared the pool area and telephoned for an ambulance.

Doctors say they believed some illness, perhaps pneumonia, caused Robinson to faint in the pool and remain unconscious. They said yesterday normal breathing had been restored.

Pettit and Miss Huffman, both of whom hold Red Cross instructors' ratings, and Miss Kirkpatrick, were praised by

Seventeen Coeds Selected ROTC Brigade Sponsors

Eastern's Reserve Officers Training Corps has chosen seventeen campus lovelies as sponsors for the 1964-65 school term.

Heading the list as Brigade sponsor is Miss Martha Arbuckle, a junior elementary education major from Kirksville.

Miss Arbuckle is a 1961 graduate of Madison Central High School. She served as a company sponsor last year, and at the present is the reigning Queen Athena. Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Arbuckle.

The First Battalion sponsor is Miss Paula Bunton, a junior from Jacksonville, Florida. Paula, a graduate of North Central High School, Indianapolis, Indiana, is an English and math major. She is active in the Canterbury Club, Kappa Delta Tau, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Bunton.

The Second Battalion sponsor is Miss Betsy Stafford, a senior from Ashland. Betsy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Stafford, is an English and physical education major and a graduate of Ashland High School. She is active in Kappa Delta Tau, Women's

Requirements Higher

Enrollment Shows Drive For Quality

The enrollment news story in last week's issue of the Progress did more than indicate that Eastern is a growing college with a higher enrollment than ever before. If one read deep into the article he would see that it also indicated Eastern's drive for quality.

An unprecedented high figure of 979 students were denied admission, approximately doubling the same figure for last year. This is a result of new, more strict, admission policies adopted by the Faculty last spring.

Largest proportion of those not admitted was out-of-state freshmen who were not in the upper half of their graduating class. A total of 262 students were denied admission because they could not re-enter the college from which they were transferring, 251 students were denied re-admission to the College due to poor performance last year. Only eight in-state freshmen were denied admission.

It stands to reason, that as a result of stricter admission standards, Eastern has not only its largest student body ever, but its best, since only those people that have demonstrated the ability to do college work have been admitted.

Tuition Hike Will Be Protested

From The Louisville Courier-Journal
For reasons that baffle psychologists, there is nothing more infuriating to the college student than increase in tuition. He will accept soaring costs of food, housing, books, beer, madras jackets and sports cars as facts of economic life, but a ten-dollar rise in tuition is a clear case of bureaucratic arrogance, designed merely to complicate life. And unless things have changed since our college days, announcement of higher tuition rates will send moans, groans and cries of outrage echoing across campuses at the University of Kentucky and the five state colleges.

Part of this attitude traces to the fact that many students at state schools are there by the skin of their financial teeth, and hardly able to survive a drastic increase in costs. And there is a feeling, of course, among parents as well as students that since they have already paid for the state colleges with their taxes they should not have to pay again with higher tuition.

Unfortunately, the cost of education rises at state-supported schools as fast and as inexorably as at private institutions. And the tuition raises that will take effect in the next two years—from $110 to $140 per semester for residents, from $280 to $360 for non-residents at the university, and from $75 to $100 for residents and $150 to $225 for non-residents at state colleges—reflect directly and almost in direct proportion, the increase in the cost of individual education.

Even at these rates, however, four years of education at a state college or university still constitutes the biggest bargain in the world today. Not only does the student get an education for a fraction of what it actually costs to keep him in school, but he gets an education of constantly improving quality.

The day is fast disappearing when state schools are automatically considered inferior in facilities, faculty and standards to private colleges. On the contrary, the advantage of tax support for the state schools, and the economic pinch on private schools depend on tuition and endowment are rapidly resulting in relative superiority in both equipment and the caliber of teaching at state schools.

This continuing and almost inevitable development may cause for some a painful change in educational traditions, but it is probably going to prove better for everyone concerned. For as the college population continues to grow, an increasing proportion of the student flood must be accommodated by the public colleges with access to the public treasury to finance their expansion, and on the public colleges must depend, to an increasing extent, the level of our future broad education.

Training, Alertness Help Save Life

First aid training paid a huge dividend for two Eastern students this week when they alertly saved the life of another student in a freshman swimming class. The quick action of Gene Petit and Miss Janice Huffman is a tribute to themselves and to Eastern's Physical Education Department.

When Darrell Robinson, a student in a swimming class taught by Miss Dorothy Kirkpatrick, went under water near the end of the period, he was immediately taken from the pool by Petit and Miss Huffman, who applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the victim.

Student instructors in the freshman swimming class, Petit and Miss Huffman, demonstrated that knowledge of first aid principles is something more than just "nice to know."

They also demonstrated that the training offered in our Physical Education Department does more than give book training to its students, but prepares them psychologically to administer their knowledge.

The first sign of recovery by a drowning victim is regurgitation. When this happened Monday, it forced Miss Huffman to relieve Petit in administering resuscitation. Later Petit took over again. Swimming Coach Don Combs said, "These kids had to reach down real deep to be able to do this. It is gratifying to see that our training has been fruitful."

An incident of this type occurred at another State institution several years ago, but the absence of trained instructors resulted in the loss of life. We are fortunate at Eastern to have student assistants with Red Cross instructors' ratings helping to supervise swimming periods.

Going still deeper, it is also an indication of the fabric of which these students are constructed. Many people are concerned about what is happening to America when its citizens stand by and watch others die. Incidents are in papers almost daily about a group of people standing by while an accident victim helplessly gasps for life.

True, a large part of this may be due to lack of training. But is it also not possible that a frightening proportion of our populace has lost its sense of value for human life? We are proud to say that this is not the case at Eastern.

How About A 'V Day'?

Band Day Means A Lot To Eastern

For the fourth straight year Eastern will host the largest number of high school bands and musicians ever to participate in any High School Band Day in the Commonwealth.

Besides the publicity and obvious public relation value of Band Day to Eastern, there are also thousands of high school students that get their first glimpse of Eastern each year at Band Day.

Apparently Eastern makes a good impression upon these students, since Dr. Charles Ambrose, dean of admissions and registrar, has said that Band Day is one of the year's busiest for his office. High schoolers and parents flood the office all day asking information about Eastern. It is safe to say that Band Day is one of the reasons for Eastern's soaring enrollment.

The almost unheralded task of organizing the countless details of an operation as large as Band Day has belonged to Mr. John L. Vickers, executive assistant to President Martin, since the attraction's conception in 1961.

Making arrangements for over

4,000 musicians is no small task. In fact, Mr. Vickers starts making plans for one Band Day almost before another is past.

Mr. Vickers is a man of great personal appeal, and it is no doubt that much of the success of Eastern's Band Day is due in large part to this.

Eastern has been known to set aside days in honor of people before, so it would not be breaking precedent to designate next year's Band Day as "V-Day" or some other appropriate title in honor of Mr. Vickers. Last year's Band Day was called "K-Day" in honor of Mr. Nick Koenigstein, director of the Marching Maroons, who leads the massed bands in their half-time presentation each year.

Coed, Or Not Coed

Allowing Girls Creates Problems

(ACP)—THE XAVIER NEWS, Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio, this spring campaigned editorially for a coeducational school. But the newspaper had a columnist who seemed to be campaigning against this campaign.

Fred Bernstein wrote: "Some people have decided, after much careful consideration, that it might be a good idea to make Xavier a coeducational institution. It would be advisable to consider some of the drawbacks.

The immediate problem is a lack of facilities. Xavier, for instance, has no golf course. Another very practical consideration is that the ceilings in almost all the corridors are a bit too low to accommodate the ever-uplifted feminine proboscis — presuming, of course, that we might be able to draw a few of the regulars from Cincinnati's two "higher education" finishing schools.

Quite a few additions would have to be made to the curriculum here. Academic courses would have to be replaced with courses such as Home Economics, Elementary Education and sundry other courses usually grouped under the title of "art."

Armed guards would have to be stationed in the library in an attempt to secure silence. A new telephone center would have to be established. A mental health clinic would have to be built.

Pet rats and cockroaches would have to be allowed in the rooms of all transfer dorm students from any of the more ancient girls' to prevent any homesickness for the old alma mater.

If these considerations would not persuade one to abandon so impractical a plan, I could only point out that things would never ever be the same at Xavier again. And a better reason to adopt this plan I do not think could be found."

The Nation's Best Twirler

Majorette, Mary Jo Holl, Will Lead 4,000 Tomorrow

The best baton-twirler in the country, a pretty redhead from Fairborn, Ohio — will perform for her biggest musical audience when she leads 4,000 uniformed bandmen tomorrow to kick off Band Day activities.

Miss Mary Jo Holl's expert twirling as chief majorette for the Maroons, will be part of the pre-game and big half-time show at Hanger Stadium in the afternoon. Eastern meets East Tennessee on the football field and the massed bands of some sixty high schools will perform at the half, fronted by Eastern's own band, the Marching Maroons. Nick Koenigstein is band director.

Mary Jo outpointed 3,000 contenders in the Grand National baton-twirling competition in August, 1963, at Jackson, Miss. She has since performed to audiences in New York and Philadelphia, taught twirling at summer camps in Main and Long Island, and appeared on the National TV show, "To Tell the Truth."

"Butterflies" Don't Leave

The 18-year-old freshman, nonetheless, admits to "butterflies" before each performance, in spite of 14 years of practice.

Daily solo workouts of at least an hour, plus rehearsals with her six twirling colleagues and with the Eastern band, fill up time left from her studies.

Mary Jo is majoring in physical education, with a minor in psychology, and the glamour of performing is unlikely to lure her from her aim of teaching high school. In fact, it was her high school teacher, a former featured twirler with the Eastern band, who pointed her toward Eastern and teacher-training. She is Joyce Alexis, who teaches business at Fairborn High School, where Mary Jo graduated last June.

Eastern, says the pretty freshman, is "big enough for me." She notes the friendliness of the campus, some 290 miles south of her Ohio home. Fellow students, she says, were "so very thoughtful and complimentary" after her first performance with the College band two weeks ago.

Glamorous and Serious

On the field, Mary Jo is as graceful as any professional dancer, and as glamorous. Out of spangled uniform, she is a shy and serious freshman, not given to talk about her achievements.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee Holl, have always encouraged her interest in twirling. Early skill led to her choice as chief majorette with her high school band, leadership in a twirling corps, and ultimately to the national championship. She has been a baton teacher, too, and feels youngsters haven't proper coordination for the art, "much before the age of eight."

Mary Jo's own superb coordination gives her skill in sports; she is especially adept at basketball and swimming. She's also a clarinetist, but band directors have always preferred to star her as a majorette.

Forgot Baton

The worst moment in Mary Jo's twirling career came when she drove off with her parents to a contest, forgetting her baton. She has, like all majorettes, dropped a baton occasionally, but, lately, these occasions are rare.

Such is her skill that she has handled flaming batons in many performances.

Mary Jo's trained eye sees a new trend in twirling: the emergence of some masculine stars like Guy Allen of the basketball Globetrotters, in a field long dominated by girls. Still, most of her young admirers — attracted by the glamour and excitement of leading the band — will probably continue to be little girls, the sort who have made up her following for years.

She takes this adulation seriously and feels that, as an object of admiration to youngsters, she is obliged to observe the highest standards of conduct at all times.

After tomorrow — Band Day at Eastern — Mary Jo is certain to have at least 4,000 new fans, the members of sixty high school bands who will watch her half-time show on the football field.

TIPS ON TOGS

By "LINK"

FOR THE— Past several columns I have been mentioning an item called "Shirt-Jacks" (a combination of a sport shirt and light weight jacket) these are now available in cordurey and are so comfortable, plus being real sharp looking. — owe one to your sport wardrobe.

SHORT SLEEVED— Cardigan sweaters made of 75% wool and 25% mohair are really something different in sportswear. They are great for loafing with female who like boys sweaters.

REAL KICKS— To see "Bobby S. Pace," again (after about five years) Bobby is enrolled at Eastern and doing assistant coaching at Transylvania, (busy bee) Booby, chose one of the popular "dirty camel" shaded blazers, a pair of dark, rust brown slax, a yellow (or rather butter colored) shirt with button down collar by "Sero," and a tie of dark brown with yellow stripes — As I said before it was real kicks to see him again!

TWO OATS— From I. B. M., namely "Mike Frazier" and "Bill Watts" had themselves a ball picking out some new fall threads; "Mike" latched onto one of the above mentioned "dirty camel" blazers and with these he will wear navy blue "slim trim" slax of cotton and wool. Pale blue (a collar) shirt, a tie of dark blue and light blue stripes and now by "marum" of navy. "Bill" draped himself with a sport coat of olive, black and rust in hopsacking weave. Slax of dark olive "slim trim" styling, a light blue shirt with B. D. collar (also by "Sero") and a dark olive tie (solid color) with matching sox by "Marum". I saw them last Saturday night wearing their new duds and they looked plenty neat—nice guys.

HAPPY— to announce that "Bill Evans," at Eastern has been chosen as my campus representative on that campus. He is quite active there and I feel he will do a good job.

BEAT SUAVE— Is a Lothario on U. of K. campus. He sends out long stemmed American Beauty roses to each girl he dates for the first time. I suppose that is a form of insurance for future dates cool this Romeo.

SPECIALIZING— Have received an invitation to re-visit the "Lambda Chi Alpha" fraternity at Georgetown College. They want me to hold one of my informal round table discussions on the current trends and fashions. I have always enjoyed my meetings with them and am looking forward to this return engagement. Any fraternity or group interested in one of these non-commercial round table visits—just contact me and I will be honored to visit you.

NOTE— To someone I do not know, I know this sounds confusing and it is confusing to me. I understand that someone came to the store the other day to invite me to their fraternity, but I never got a chance to talk with them, and I am in the dark about who they were and what fraternity. I assure you it was no fluff-off on my part and I would like to get it set straight— If it was you or your fraternity will you please call me?

MONDAY the 19th—I visit the "Zeta Beta Tau" fraternity and that as always will be a pleasure.

INCORRECT RUMOR— I have not left the "Kentuckian Shop," and moved out to the new "Maxon's" in the "Southland Shopping Center." I am still on Main Street—and still in the "Kentuckian Shop."

CATS—you can't win 'em all—that's life—you're still present in mine and everyone else's books—

Tomorrow "our" Maroons play East Tennessee in their second home game of the year. A large student turnout for the game would be appropriate for two reasons. The first, of course, is because the team needs student backing and the second pertains to Band Day.

If you don't already know this Saturday is Band Day at Eastern. Sixty high school band and 4,000 musicians will be camped for the game. Many of these band members are seniors and next year they will be choosing a college. If the band would show hospitality, enthusiasm and spirit it would certainly influence some of these freshmen of '65 to attend Eastern.

Go to the game and support the Maroons. They have been steadily improving and they might just pull a little upset this week. AROUND THE OVC: The top offenses in the league are the Maroons tomorrow afternoon at Morehead when Austin Peay, the offensive leader, takes on the Morehead Eagles. Western, last year's OVC champion, is still having trouble getting into the top column. Western was expected to be the best team in the league, but all they have to show so far is a 6-9 tie with Austin Peay. As for surprises, Austin Peay ranks first in that department. Austin Peay was supposed to be the doormat of the conference, but they have a 2-1 record and are in second place in the league play. Some people regarded Austin Peay's 26-0 slacking of Eastern a "fluke." However, since their encounter with Eastern, Austin Peay has made believers out of a lot of teams and they aren't through yet.

MAROON BASKETBALLERS OPEN PRACTICE: Coach Baechtold greets 15 varsity candidates today as the Maroons open practice for the 1964-65 basketball season. Eastern finished second in the league last year and is looking forward to even better things this season. The Maroons lost only one game last year, and are regarded in many camps as the team to beat in the OVC. Coach Baechtold reports that the boys are in very good physical condition and that he is pleased with their mental attitude.

LINE-UP CHANGES: Herbie Conley will be running the team fullback when the Maroons take the field tomorrow afternoon. Coach Kidd is looking for someone who can pick up a first down on a third and short yardage play; he thinks Conley will fill the bill. Bob Wester, a hard-running freshman, is also slated to see action at the fullback slot. Sal Verini II is rested a little this week and Jim Ratliff, a University Tennessee transfer, will fill in at wingback.

East Tennessee Outlook
The Buccaneers of Coach Star Wood have posted a 2-1 record in loop action this season. They hold wins over Tennessee Tech and Western. ET's only loss was to Murray, the Eastern team in their last home encounter.

The Maroons will run up against an outstanding pass defense that allowed only 18 pass completions in the Buc's first two games while intercepting 7 enemy aerials. The Bucs will be the largest team the Colonels have faced. However, the Maroons are not as quick as MT's linemen. According to Eastern's scouting reports, the Maroons will face the top rusher in the OVC in David Holtsclaw. The Bucs also use the "flip-flop" offense for the first season.

Coach Kidd said that he thinks that the team can beat ET, but he added that it will take a tremendous effort by the players to do that they can't afford to let up.

DOLLAR ADMISSION IS TOO HIGH: It certainly is a shame that Eastern students aren't allowed to get in the Madison Central football games on 50c and an ID card. Madison Central High School admits Eastern students on this arrangement. Since the games are played in Hanger Stadium, it looks as if Eastern students should be given a "break."

Maroons Lose To Middle On Bad, Strange Breaks

The Maroons lost the "hard way" last Saturday as Middle Tennessee defeated them 20-13 at Murretsboro.

On the opening kickoff Eastern's freshman halfback Aaron Marsh received the ball three yards deep in the end zone and returned it 103 yards for the touchdown, only to have it nullified because of a clipping penalty. Then, on the first play from scrimmage, Larry Marmie went back into the end zone to pass, where he was rushed by the charging Blue Raiders and fumbled. MT's tackle Ron Camp recovered the fumble in the end zone for a touchdown. Duane Brown added the PAT and the Blue Raiders went into the lead with only 38 seconds remaining.

With three minutes remaining in the half the Maroons gained the ball on their own 38 yard line and started a touchdown drive. On a third down and seven situation Marmie completed his first pass of the night to halfback Sal Verini. The play went for 32 yards and placed the Colonels on the MT 27 yard line.

A six yard run by Marmie and a defensive holding penalty moved the ball to the nine. Marmie crashed over to score after three plays and Mike Angelo kicked the extra point and tied the game 7-7.

Break Plays in 2nd Half
The second half was frequented by break plays. After the ball had changed hands several times, the Maroons had the ball first and ten on their 20. Here, Marsh, on a tackle slant was hit hard after gaining 5 yards and the ball squirted from his hands. Raider Louis Alford caught the ball in the air and ran into the end zone for the second MT score.

Brown's kick was wide and Middle Tennessee went in the lead 13-7 with 6:46 remaining in the third quarter.

With around seven minutes left in the game, MT was forced into a punting situation on their 42. Eastern guard Roscoe Perkins blocked Bill Walker's punt; the ball was fielded by Wendell Wheeler, who sprinted 35 yards for the TD. Angelo's kick was wide and the score was again tied, 13-13.

Begin Air Attack
The Raiders began an air attack on their 27 and MT quarterback Teddy Morris completed six straight passes to the Maroon five yard line. Morris then went around the right end for the tally. Brown's conversion put MT on top 20-13 with 3:58 remaining in the game.

The Maroons began an air attack on their own and moved the ball to MT's 40. Here, Marmie was injured and freshman Floyd Hatfield came in to direct the Maroons. Hatfield completed a pass for seven yards and had an incomplete. His third aerial was intercepted by Larry Whaley with 22 seconds left and MT stalled out the clock.

The loss left Eastern with a 0-3-1 record and an 0-1-1 OVC mark. Middle Tennessee is undefeated and has a 2-0 record in loop play.

Starters Head List
Heading the list of returnees are Eddie Bodkin, a 6-7 junior All-OVC forward; Lee Lemos, 6-4 senior guard; Bob Toland, 6-8 senior center, and Dennis Bradley, 6-5 senior forward. Only vacant starting spot on the team is the guard position left by graduating Herman Smith.

The other two returning lettermen are Jerry Bisbey, a 6-8 junior forward, and Bill Walton, a 6-1 junior guard, who is the prime inheritor, at this point, of Smith's starting position.

The rest of the squad is filled by three returning squadmen, 6-9 center John Carr; 6-2 guard Carl Westerfield, and 6-0 guard Jim King; two redshirts, 6-3 guard Richard Clark and 6-5 forward Don Granowicz; and four freshman team graduates, 6-6 center Jerry Jones, 6-1 guard Fred Johnson, 6-1 guard Doug Clemmons, and 5-11 guard Larry Hobson.

The Maroons, Kentucky's tallest cage outfit in 1963-64, may be the biggest again this season with an average team height just under 6-5, and a tentative starting average of almost 6-6.

Height Returns
The return of this height may help the Maroons retain their high national rebounding standing (7th in NCAA statistics last year) during this season's firing.

BUDDY PFAADT
Back of the Week
ROY EVANS
Lineman of the Week

Kidd Praises Evans, Pfaadt For Saturday Performance

Coach Roy Kidd has named Roy Evans and Buddy Pfaadt as his picks to receive the Players of the Week honors this week.

Evans, who was the outstanding Eastern lineman against Middle Tennessee, did a great job of defense against the Blue Raiders after missing the Murray game with a head injury. The 6-5, 215-pound Evans junior got ten individual tackles and was in on six others. He was especially effective in catching Middle Tennessee quarterback Teddy Morris for key losses.

Pfaadt, a defensive secondary star, is Coach Kidd's backfield choice. He said that Eudy, a 6-1, 185-pound Louisville sophomore, did a better job than any of the Maroon offensive backs. Pfaadt had six individual tackles and helped on five others. He was particularly alert in stopping sweep plays around Middle's right end.

Baechtold Optimistically Welcomes 15-Man Squad To Cage Drills

Coach Jim Baechtold optimistically welcomes a 15-man squad that includes six lettermen and four returning starters today when the Maroons begin practice for an ambitious 23-game, 1964-65 campaign.

Yesterday was the official opening day of practice, as permitted by the NCAA. However, the main arena inside Alumni Coliseum was in use last night for the performance of Peter, Paul and Mary, which forced the Maroons to postpone their preparations a day.

Coach Baechtold said that today's session will be devoted mainly to picture-taking and that his first full day of practice will be held tomorrow.

He plans to put his players through the paces six days each week until a week prior to the Dec. 2 opener against Transylvania.

The Maroons, runner-up in the Ohio Valley Conference last season with a 15-9 record, will be tagged one of the teams to stop in the eight-team circuit as successor to the crown held by Murray.

Heading the list of returnees are Eddie Bodkin, a 6-7 junior All-OVC forward; Lee Lemos, 6-4 senior guard; Bob Toland, 6-8 senior center, and Dennis Bradley, 6-5 senior forward. Only vacant starting spot on the team is the guard position left by graduating Herman Smith.

The other two returning lettermen are Jerry Bisbey, a 6-8 junior forward, and Bill Walton, a 6-1 junior guard, who is the prime inheritor, at this point, of Smith's starting position.

The rest of the squad is filled by three returning squadmen, 6-9 center John Carr; 6-2 guard Carl Westerfield, and 6-0 guard Jim King; two redshirts, 6-3 guard Richard Clark and 6-5 forward Don Granowicz; and four freshman team graduates, 6-6 center Jerry Jones, 6-1 guard Fred Johnson, 6-1 guard Doug Clemmons, and 5-11 guard Larry Hobson.

The Maroons, Kentucky's tallest cage outfit in 1963-64, may be the biggest again this season with an average team height just under 6-5, and a tentative starting average of almost 6-6.

Height Returns
The return of this height may help the Maroons retain their high national rebounding standing (7th in NCAA statistics last year) during this season's firing.

Win-Hungry Maroons Host East Tennessee During Fourth Annual Band Day Attraction

Eastern's hungry Maroons take another crack at breaking into the win column tomorrow afternoon when they host East Tennessee during the fourth Annual Band Day.

Breaks went against the Maroons in their last outing against Middle Tennessee. Eastern lost its third game of the season, giving the Maroons a 0-2-1 Ohio Valley Conference worksheet.

Most decisive break in the 20-13 loss was a clipping penalty against the Maroons on the opening kickoff following a 103-yard return by freshman tailback Aaron Marsh. The ball was brought back to the four-yard line, Eastern fumbled on the next play and Middle recovered for a touchdown.

Effort Praised
Coach Roy Kidd praised the Maroons for their effort against the Blue Raiders. "They played their best game of the season," he said, "and Middle Tennessee is the best team we've played."

Looking ahead to East Tennessee, Coach Kidd said, "We'll just have to work harder, and not have a mental let down. 'Everybody is wanting a win real badly,'" he remarked.

He said East Tennessee is a bigger team overall than Middle, but the Blue Raiders are quicker than the Buccaneers.

Changes Made
The Middle Tennessee game brought two changes in the Maroon offensive backfield. Herbie Conley, who has carried the ball only nine times this year, will be moved to starting fullback against the Bucs. "I know we're taking a chance on hurting Herb's knee," Kidd said, "but we just have to get more punch in our offense."

Conley has been primarily defensive action this fall. One of two sophomores, Mike Smith or Jim Ratliff, will replace Sal Verini, a freshman, at wingback. Verini suffered a hand injury during warmups before the Middle Tennessee game.

Malins Behind Marsh
Fred Malins, who was shifted to fullback last week, returns to tailback this week, but will be playing behind freshman sensation Marsh. Pete still, starting fullback in the first three games, will be seeing action at both tailback and wingback.

Both Eastern and East Tennessee will be running the flip-flop offense Saturday. Chief threat in the Buc running attack is tailback David Holtsclaw, who has ran well against the Maroons for the past three seasons.

Marmie Leads State
Eastern quarterback Larry Marmie continues to lead the team in three statistical categories. The junior field general has gained 152 yards in 49 attempts for a 3.1 yard per carry average, completed 24 of 47 passes for 287 yards, and has scored two touchdowns.

Verini leads all pass receivers with eight receptions for 105 yards. Malins has now punted 23 times for a 38.9 yard per boot average. Eastern and East Tennessee will clash before about 60 high school bands and over 4,000 musicians at the Band Day attraction, which begins at 7 p.m. in Hanger Stadium.

Statistically, Coach Baechtold needs only to replace the 18.2 points per game lost with the graduation of Smith and reserve Kay Morris.

Appearing here for the first time will be Syracuse, winner of last year's Hurricane Classic in Miami, Fla., and a participant in the National Invitational Tournament at Madison Square Garden. The Orangemen, coached by former Eastern All-America great, Fred Lewis, were defeated last year by the Maroons 90-72 in New York.

Another newcomer to the Eastern home schedule is Kentucky Wesleyan, also coached by a former Maroon star — Guy Strong.

Included in the 23-game schedule is the OVC Tournament, scheduled for Dec. 21, 22, and 23 at the Convention Center in Louisville.

The Maroons will have nearly eight weeks of practice before opening their schedule against Transylvania Dec. 2 in Alumni Coliseum. In all, 11 games are scheduled for the 6,500-seat arena.

Assistant Coach Jack Adams will also welcome a 12-man freshman squad, including five scholarship players. Ronald Wierwille, a 1962 Eastern graduate, will serve as graduate assistant coach.

Lady Manhattan

Lady Manhattan® is the name. Shirt-making is the game! And a very serious "game" it is—making man-tailored shirts that keep a girl looking like a girl! This one, as you can see, has a pleated bosom, spread collar that looks equally smart worn open or closed, long sleeves with double-buttoned barrel cuffs. Plus the Lady Manhattan detailing that makes all the difference—contour shaping and long shirt tails that stay where they belong. The wash-and-no-iron fabric is 65% Dacron® polyester, 35% long staple cotton. And the collar has a 100% Dacron® polyester lining to make it truly wash-and-wear. Altogether, a most desirable shirt! Don't you agree?
