Memorial Held For Eastern's Missing, Dead

O'Donnell Speaks In Service

A special memorial service was held at Eastern Wednesday morning, December 6, at 10 o'clock in honor of graduates and former students who have been killed in action, died in the service, or are missing in action. The speaker was President W. F. O'Donnell, whose subject was "A Tribute to Youth."

The service included music by a trio composed of Miss Mariette Simpson, violinist, Miss Brown E. Telford, harpist, and Miss Marie McPherson, organist, all members of the Eastern music faculty. W. L. Keene, professor of English, read an original poem, "Our Unreturning," and the invocation was asked by Dr. P. M. Grise, professor of English.

The Madrigal club sang two selections with soloists Miss Jean Harrison, Miss Elizabeth Plessinger, Miss Dorothy Curtis, and Miss Le Faun Maggard, all college students. The Roll Call by President O'Donnell was followed by the Seven Fold Amen; Stainer, and Taps, played by Jack Buchanan of Berea.

"These young men shall not have spent themselves in vain if we accept their cause as our own and add their strength and devotion to our strength and devotion," said President O'Donnell in his tribute. "We must love our country more if we match the devotion of those who have risked or given all for it."

"Out of this struggle should come a great America to lead and bless the world," the speaker continued. "We must see to it that the peace which our young have bought shall be made as secure and permanent as American leadership, good will and military might can make it."

"These young men would ask us not to be sad today, at least not in this place which has known their laughter," he said, adding that their lightheartedness concealed the sturdy qualities of which they were made. They have proved that they had reserves of patriotism, fortitude and courage beyond any measure attributed to them by their elders, the speakers continued. "They have shown that the unifying and driving force of a great cause is more dynamic than even the love of life."

During the years when our young men were preparing themselves to live in a land of peace and good will, men in other parts of the world had already prepared their youth for war, he stated. "Only the courage of the English people, the iron will of suffering Russia and the might of America stood between a free world and a world of slaves three years ago."

CONFERENCE FOR TEACHERS HELD HERE

Approximately one hundred supervisors and helping teachers attended a conference held at Eastern, November 30 and December 1. Mrs. Naomi Wilheit, Supervisor of Elementary Education in Kentucky, was in charge of the program.

Dr. R. E. Jagers discussed the History of Supervision in Kentucky, and Dr. Maycie Southall of George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, spoke on the Purpose of Supervision. The dinner meeting was in charge of Dr. Mary I. Cole of Western State Teachers College.

Group discussions were led by Miss Edna Neal, Morehead State Teachers College; Mrs. May K. Duncan, University of Kentucky; Dr. Charles Graham, Berea College; Dr. Anna Ray, Murray State Teachers College; Miss Katherine Evans and Miss May C. Hansen, Eastern State Teachers College. The discussions centered around the following topics: Evaluation of Work Done by Helping Teachers This Year, What Changes Should Be Made in the Curriculum of the One-Room School, What Criteria Should Be Used in Evaluating the Elementary Schools.

The statewide supervisory program in rural areas is a new movement in Kentucky, and this was the first conference to be held. At a business session, the group decided to have a permanent organization affiliated with the Kentucky Education Association. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Naomi Wilheit; vice president, Dr. Mary I. Cole; secretary, Miss May C. Hansen; and treasurer, Miss Edna Neal.

Y's Give Two Parties For Christmas

The YWCA and the YMCA gave two parties this afternoon as their Christmas project. The first was at 2:30 o'clock at the Rural School for the Rural School pupils, and the other was at 4 o'clock at the Trachoma Hospital for the children in that hospital.

Each of the children was given toys, fruit, and Christmas candy. For entertainment the children sang, played games, and read stories.

Emily Mayfield, chairman of the Social Service Committee, was in charge of the party. Those assisting at the Rural School were Edith Gwartney, Pauline Amburgey, Emma Nash Bevasqua, and Elgeva Boyles. At the hospital Edith Gwartney, Katherine Mullins, Dorothy Conley, and Rose Matthis helped.

These two parties are being given instead of the Christmas Party held at Eastern for the needy children of Richmond each year since 1910. Because of difficulties in transportation and because of shortages of other materials, the regular large party is not being held this year.

Dean Jones Attends Conference

Dean W. C. Jones last week attended a conference at the University of Georgia. The topic of the conference was Education of Rural School Supervisors Today and Tomorrow.

Representatives at the conference were from Kentucky, Alabama, Florida, Arkansas, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

State supervisors and superintendents will participate with the students in training as supervisors in the planning of apprentice program and supervision in college centers in Georgia for the Winter Quarter.

Exhibition Of Student Art

An exhibition of student art work has been on display in the Fitzpatrick Arts Building. The exhibit is composed of oil paintings, of pastel, water color, and tempera.

Eastern has a number of talented art students who have their work in this display.

MESSIAH IS PRESENTED

Thirteenth Annual Presentation

Hubert Kockritz, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, and Robert Fitz-Gerald, Chicago Opera Guild and radio singer, were soloists in the thirteenth annual presentation of Handel's oration, "The Messiah," at 7:30, Sunday evening in the Hiram Brock Auditorium. Contralto soloists was Miss Janet Schumacher, of Berea, and the soprano role was sung by Mrs. Blanche S. SeEVERS, of the Eastern voice department.

Mr. Kockritz, bass, has studied at the Leipzig Conservatory, Salzburg, Mozarteum and the American Conservatory at Fontainebleau. He is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory and at present is head of the Opera department there, where he is also in charge of the radio department and teacher of voice culture. In recital, radio, opera, and oration he has been enthusiastically received both in Europe and the United States.

The tenor, Mr. Fitz-Gerald, sings regularly over NBC and WGN networks and for two years has been soloists with the famed Paulist Choir of Old St. Mary's Church in Chicago. He has leading tenor roles in operas presented by the Chicago Opera Guild and has toured the eastern, southern and mid-western states heading a troupe of artists known as "The Blue Danube Singers," singing over four hundred concerts since 1939.

For the past two years Miss Schumacher has sung in the Messiah performance here. She has sung in light opera, recitals, and orations. The recipient of various scholarships, she has studied at the Julliard School of Music in New York City, in the Berlitz School of Languages, and more recently with Mile. Estell Liebling.

Mrs. SeEVERS has sung the soprano role in "The Messiah" here for the past five years. She is voice instructor and director of the women's glee clubs at the college. Her bachelor of music and bachelor of arts degrees received from the University of Kansas and the master of music from Northwestern University.

"The Messiah," given annually at Eastern during the Christmas season, is under the direction of James E. Van Peursem, head of the college music department. The chorus is composed of Richmond citizens, college faculty and students. Accompaniment was provided by the college orchestra and Miss Brown E. Telford, organist, of the music faculty.

Eastern Students Attend Conference

Five Eastern students attended a district meeting of the young people of the Christian Church held at Berea on Sunday, December 3. The theme of the conference was Recreation.

Those from Eastern who attended were Marjorie Boone, Jane Hester, Tommys Rankin, Nora Grubbs, and Helen Rice.

FACULTY HEAR EVANS AND SLUSHER

William Slusher, Superintendent of Bell County Schools, and Miss Katherine Evans, member of the Eastern faculty who has been assisting in the Bell County workshops as a supervisor, were speakers at the regular faculty dinner held in the Blue Room of the College Cafeteria on Wednesday, November 29. Miss Marjorie Chambers, who has assisted Mr. Slusher and Miss Evans in their work, was also present at the meeting.

Under the sponsorship of the Teacher Education Program a number of colleges in the state are cooperating with some of the counties or school systems in a definite effort toward improvement of that specific system. In this program, Eastern has been cooperating with Bell County for the past two years. Eastern faculty have been conducting workshops for five weeks in length for the teachers in that county. These workshops were intended especially to aid those emergency teachers who have no special training for that work. Mr. Slusher in his talk pointed out some of the objectives that have been set for Bell County in this program and also some of the accomplishments.

Supt. Slusher discussed the county transportation system, which is in Bell County operated, except for one bus, completely by the County. They have installed their own gas station, and can buy gasoline for much less than if they bought it from privately owned stations. They own their own store room, conduct special workshops, and participate in the teacher helping program.

Miss Evans outlined many of the points of her work. She described some of the experiences which she has had in Bell County. She pointed out the need of academic training of teachers for those teachers who have not had teacher education. Miss Evans emphasized the importance of the school and community relationship in the school system.

Paintings Exhibited By Art Department

An exhibition of oil paintings by Mrs. Bessie Lasky, wife of Jessie Lasky, the movie producer, is now being shown in the art gallery in the Arts Building, according to Dr. Fred P. Giles, head of the Arts Department.

This exhibition is sent out by the Studio Guild of New York City and will travel through the United States.

Mrs. Lasky has received high praise for her work, especially her flower pieces, Dr. Giles said. Among some of the well-known galleries where she has been invited by juries to show her work are: National Academy of Design, New York; Buffalo Fine Arts Academy; Corcoran Gallery of Art; Spring Salon, Paris, France; Detroit Institute of Art. Thirty of her canvases were included in an International Invitation Exhibit held at the Brooklyn Museum of Art.

The gallery is open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. daily, Dr. Giles said, and all interested persons are invited to view the exhibit.

Mother Of Athletic Director Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Hughes, mother of Charles T. Hughes, physical education director, who died at her home in Repton, Kentucky, November 30, were held Friday afternoon, December 1, at 3 o'clock.

Mattox Is Present At Meeting

M. E. Mattox, registrar and director of extension, attended a meeting of state teachers college registrars and extension directors in Louisville on Friday, December 1.

The meeting was for the purpose of maintaining college standards during the emergency period, planning an inservice program for teachers, and formulating plans for returning veterans.

WARMINGHAM SPEAKS AT SERVICE

Fifteenth Annual Hanging Of Green Given Sunday

Dr. O. W. Warmingham, a member of the staff of the American Youth Foundation, was speaker at the fifteenth annual Hanging of the Green, given by the YW and YMCA in Walnut Hall at 4 o'clock Sunday. Music was furnished by the girls' octet and Elizabeth Plessinger, accompanied by Betty Still.

The program was opened with the candlelight procession and the Hanging of the Green by one hundred girls. Janet West, Herbert Searcy, and Norma Raybourne read from the Scriptures.

The main speaker was born in Madras, India, of British and Indian parents, where he received his early education in English schools. He later attended Oxford University, and in America attended Ohio Wesleyan, the University of Wisconsin and Boston University. For more than fifteen years he was Professor of Biblical History and Literature at Boston University.

Since 1937, Dr. Warmingham has given full time to the work of the American Youth Foundation, where he has become affectionately known by his Indian name of "Kodaya" to many thousands of Christian young people and leaders of youth, who have sat in his classes or come under the influence of his personality. Dr. Warmingham is a poet, writer, musician, and lecturer.

Members of the octet were: Jean Brooks, Betty Jo Barnett, Jo Curtis, Kathryn Sifers, Dorothy Curtis, Margurite Hunter, Marie Wiley and Virginia Van Hook. The program was directed by Evelyn Tritsch and Herbert Searcy, presidents of the Y, Madeline Corman, Blanche Colyer, and Ralph Haddix, Special Program chairmen, Miss Mary Frances McKinney, sponsor of the YWCA, and Dr. Fred Giles, sponsor of the YMCA.

Red Cross Hears Pacific Veteran

James W. Balzeck, who has seen about one year of service in the Pacific as a Red Cross director, spoke to members of the Madison County Chapter of the American Red Cross and members of the college unit at a general Red Cross meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the Hiram Brock Auditorium on Thursday, November 30. Mrs. Blanche SeEVERS, accompanied by Jean Harrison, sang, "I Am An American," and members of the executive committee of the college unit were introduced.

Mr. Balzeck related to the group a few of his experiences while on a South Sea island, the dimensions of which were three miles in length and nine hundred yards in width. Almost one-half of this space was used as an airstrip.

The director described the island as white coral shimmering in 150 degrees of sunshine where white men become exhausted after four hours of work. Mr. Balzeck was the only Red Cross worker on the island, and in his position he had many experiences and much work to do. One of the projects undertaken was a canteen. The C.B.'s started from scratch and built a canteen where they served, free of charge, sandwiches, doughnuts, coffee, and other such commodities.

Mr. Balzeck narrated some of his experiences in the two Navy hospitals, which were his primary interest. To the patients in these hospitals he furnished candy, tooth brushes, stationery, soap, towels, and cigarettes. One of the chief works of the Red Cross director was to take care of the problems of the men. He assured his audience that the men always have many problems, usually concerning their families.

The speaker said that entertainment on the islands was scarce. Movies at night were the only form, and these were often very nearly ruined from having been shown so often. The men devoured books or anything else in print.

The cost of running the Red Cross is great. The organization employs 27,000 people, 20,000 of whom are serving with the military. Last year the Red Cross spent seven dollars a second. This year it is spending twenty dollars per man in the armed forces or six dollars per second.

DR. MOORE NAMED DEAN OF EASTERN

Dr. Thomas Ferrell Appointed Acting Dean At Meeting Of Board Of Regents

State Revenue Commissioner W. J. Moore, professor of economics on leave from Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, was elected dean of the college yesterday by the board of regents.

He succeeds Dean W. C. Jones, who has resigned to become dean of the graduate school at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., effective Jan. 1.

Pending Moore's release from his duties with the revenue department, Dr. Thomas Ferrell, associate professor of education at the college, was chosen acting dean.

Dr. W. F. O'Donnell, Eastern president, who recommended Moore's election as dean, said he did not know when he would be able to return here. Dr. Ferrell's selection as acting dean becomes effective with the departure of Dean Jones Jan. 1.

Dr. Moore, who obtained his Ph. D. at the University of Kentucky, had been professor of economics at Eastern since 1928 when he obtained a leave of absence last winter to accept the state appointment.

Before going to Eastern, he served as superintendent of schools at Midway two and one-half years and before that was principal of schools at Manchester and Corinth, Ky.

Dr. Ferrell, a graduate of Duke and Peabody College, served as associate professor of education at Eastern since 1927 and previous to that was an assistant in education at Duke and professor of psychology and education at North Carolina Teachers College, Raleigh.

Dr. O'Donnell said no other names were considered for election as dean of the college or acting dean. He presented both names.

Christmas Tree Party Tonight In Walnut Hall

For the first time in the history of Eastern, a Christmas tree party will be given for the entire student body. The party will be held tonight at 7:30 in Walnut Hall. Faculty and administrative staff and their families are also invited.

A huge Christmas tree will be the main attraction. Each student will be admitted when he presents a ten-cent gift in Christmas wrapping. The gifts will be tagged and given away by Santa Claus.

The party is sponsored by the Student Union Music Committee and the Student Union Committee, under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Chenault.

SECRETARY WSSF HERE

Miss Alicia Coffin, a traveling secretary for the World Student Service Fund, was on the campus on Wednesday, November 29, for an assembly speech at chapel hour and a vesper service in the Little Theater that evening at 4 o'clock. Following that vesper program the YWCA entertained with an informal tea in Walnut Hall.

In her talk at the vesper service, the secretary reviewed the work of the World Student Service Fund, which deals with students in China, Europe, and in America with the Japanese-American evacuees.

According to Miss Coffin the WSSF works through and with three other organizations, the National Student Relief Council in China, the European Student Relief Fund in Europe, and the North American Affiliated Committee in the United States.

The secretary said that the organization does work in Canada, United States, Sweden, Netherlands, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Spain, Germany, Switzerland, Greece, India, China, Russia, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and the Middle East. In Germany and Japan its work deals entirely with the prisoners of war. The contact of the WSSF with the prisoners of war is through the United States Relief Organization, the International Red Cross, and the War Prisoners Aid of the YMCA. The organization furnishes notebooks, books, paper, pencils, fountain pens, and even in some cases food, clothing, and other comforts to the prisoners of war and evacuated students.

The WSSF is supported by students in several countries. Last year 643 colleges in the United States contributed $250,000 to its support. This year the goal is set at $500,000.

Miss Coffin showed to the group pictures taken of the work of the WSSF in many parts of the world. She also showed them a list of the prisoners of war who are being contacted by the WSSF. Listed among these was the name of Lt. Joe Pruitt Chenault, a former Eastern student.

OUR CHRISTMAS CAROL

To all of you, the staff of the Progress wishes a very, very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. May your vacation be a glad one and your Yuletide blessings many. May the festivities of the season add eternal joys to your lives, for this is the holiday of the year. This is the Holy Day of the year. This is the time which has more real meaning and significance than any other. This is the season when men like to forget their hatreds and enemies and call every man their friend. And it is our Christmas wish and prayer that soon men the world over will forget hatreds and be of kindred spirit.

We, who are students of Eastern, whether we are here now or away, are all one family. Christmas will find this family separated and scattered into the far corners of the earth, but may each one of us, wherever we may be, give one Christmas thought to all the others.

"May the gladness of Christmas, which is Hope, the spirit of Christmas, which is peace, and the heart of Christmas, which is love," be yours in this Holy season.

MEMORIAL

(The following lines, dedicated to the young men of Eastern lost in the war, were written by Mr. W. L. Keene, of the English Department, and were read at the memorial exercises held in the College Auditorium on December 6, 1944.)

OUR UNRETURNING

Our unreturning—who will come no more
 To see the redbud blooming in the spring,
 To sing the carefree songs they used to sing,
 To open again some well remembered door—
 Our boys—our men—our young men of quiet worth,
 The friendly souls who here have walked together,
 Who raced the playing fields in autumn weather,
 Our laughing lads whose hearts were set to mirth,
 Are missing on the ocean, in the air,
 The hedgerows, desert, jungles, and the snow,
 With farewell thoughts of home, we well may know,
 Our unreturning ones have fallen there.

We see them as we knew them, see
 Their faces eager, wistful, gay, profound;
 Their voices linger with us like the sound
 Of vanished music held in memory.
 Their names live on among us, still we hear
 Them spoken softly in the quiet day;
 And deep beneath the many things we say,
 Insistently they linger in the ear.
 These men will not grow old as we grow old.
 (So speaks a poet of our English tongue);
 They will be still a memory brave and young
 When children's children hear their story told.

They went from home, as still their brothers go,
 In faith, believing they were called to save
 The land that gave them life. For this they gave Beyond all recompense that words bestow.
 May we, the living, in this time of pain
 And anguished loss and tragedy and tears,
 Hold fast in treasured memory down and years
 These well beloved who will not come again.
 May those they loved, who mourn them, find release
 At length as promised in those words of light:
 Though sorrow may endure for the night,
 There will be with the morning, joy and peace.

EASTERN NEWS LETTER

An Open Letter to Eastern Alumni in Service

Dear Eastern Joes and Janes:

I want to tell you about the four girls in the picture you will find on the first page of this issue of The Progress. They call themselves the E.S.O. (Eastern Service Organization). They volunteered last summer to help your Alumni Office Staff (which is perpetually rushed in its work of getting publications out to you) do anything they could do to serve the men and women from Eastern who are serving all over the world for us.

Each two weeks they appear as soon as The Progress is off the press, and stay until very paper is folded and put in its envelope, properly sorted and tied in bundles and ready for the post office. Five pairs of hands can do that job in much less time than one—and they don't do it in exactly three minutes flat!

Then each girl has taken a special assignment for herself. Caroline Willis can write shorthand as rapidly as I can dictate, believe it or not! More than that, she can take dictation directly on the typewriter. So, lads and lassies, if you get a letter initialed CW, you'll know Caroline was responsible for your getting that letter. Gerry Igoe (Geraldine on the college records) can't take dictation, but she is really good at taking a scribbled pencil note and turning it into a real, honest-to-goodness letter, and she spends more time than anyone else in writing form letters, like those to you whose addresses we have lost. So those "GI" initialed letters are not "Government Issue" but Gerry Igoe.

Juanita Clinkenbeard has taken as her special duty the responsibility of keeping posted the big leather Chaidex record books on the table underneath the Service Flag in the Student Union Building. Each time one of your addresses changes or another Eastern man or woman enters the service, Juanita takes the Chaidex slips furnished by the Alumni Office and inserts them in alphabetical order in the service record books.

"Henny" Miller and Nina Waggoner Shriver can operate the Addressograph machine to address envelopes for your mail. By the way, Nina isn't in the group picture. She was ill the day we had to have it made in order to get it into The Progress before Christmas, but you needn't worry too much about that, boys, because Nina was married this fall to QM 2/c Frank Wynn Shriver, also a former student at Eastern, and she won't be expecting any fan mail. Confidentially, I am not sure that the other girls aren't.

In addition to the ESO girls, the Alumni Office Staff consists of Miss Lois Colley, assistant to your secretary, and Herbert Searcy, a senior student from Carrollton. Miss Colley does most of the work keeping the records, writing the News Letter, etc. She can give only part of her time to the work of the Alumni Association, since she does publicity stories and much other work for the college. Herbert's work is faithful and invaluable, since he can do all phases of the work in the office, except take dictation.

For the ESO girls who work gratis, and for the Alumni Office Staff, as well as for myself, I am wishing you the most satisfactory Christmas that is possible under the present circumstances and am joining your families and friends in the prayer that next Christmas will find you at home with your loved ones.

Sincerely,
 Mary F. McKinney,
 Alumni Secretary

The usual cramming (one kind) that comes at the end of every quarter

Five feet four from the ground, two big, beautiful eyes of brown, and there you have vivacious Doris Marie Nesbitt. Those large, rolling eyes with her other pleasing characteristics have won for her many friends not the least of whom are men.

Marie, a native of Frankfort, Kentucky, is a chemistry major. In past years she has been a member of the Caduceus Club, Science Club, and the Young Women's Christian Association.

When she completes her education tomorrow, she plans to work in Ashland as a chemist.

Along with doing her practice teaching at Model High School this quarter, Marie has also convinced her students that she is a "shark" at things other than teaching. Notice a certain pool table after the high school is dismissed. Seriously, though, we wish for Marie the best of luck in whatever field she may choose to enter.

Capt. Sam Beckley (35) and Mrs. Beckley (Elizabeth Robertson, '38) visited on the campus this week on their way to a new station. Capt. Beckley, who has been assistant classification officer at the Miami Beach Redistribution Center for the past year, will report to Santa Ana, Calif., after a leave. Mosquitoes are everywhere—and their traveling companion malaria. Our water is hauled for miles in tanks. Yet it's a very beautiful country." Lt. Hundemer has been in the Air Forces since August 1942 and left for overseas duty in September. Mrs. Hundemer (Belle Gish, '42) and their baby are at her home in Seco.

FUN! FOOD! FROLIC! Saturday night, Dec. 2, the members of the Photo Club wrapped up in the warmest of clothes and hoofed it down to a little white house on South Third street. As soon as they arrived a wonderful aroma seeped through the kitchen door. "Food!" was the battcry. Aha!—the usual procedure was reversed—we stuffed ourselves and then were entertained. But, first let me tell you what we ate—at least two big, juicy hamburgers with all the trimmings—such as pickles, mustard, onions, etc., luscious potato salad, ice cold cokes and then, and then—huge, fluffy, delicious yeast doughnuts—all this besides having it all arranged on Christmas decorated plates. We had napkins that also expressed the Yuletide spirit. Misses Verena Jane and Mary Jo La Fuze very graciously refilled our plates, and they, when we finished, nearly ran their legs off taking our empty plates and coke bottles. After dropping hamburgers, and spilling cokes on the new rug, we all decided that next time we have a party—if any of us are a little careless—we're gonna all go eat in the kitchen.

Miss Lema Aker took the spotlight and we were highly entertained by her gay and frivolous frolics. A candle was lit—a sucker blindfolded, took three steps backward, turned 'round an d'round, and then told not only to find the candle but to blow it out. Some people don't have the right sense of direction. After a good laugh here, pencils and paper were discovered. "What, a test?" we sighed—but, nay—we put down answers and then the questions were asked—what a fortune some of us had!!!

Again some of the negatives were projected on a screen and criticisms were given. Some of those pictures really were screams.

However hilarious we all were, we still achieved quite a bit.

Evidently someone thought we hadn't had enough to eat so chocolate candy was brought out—only one catch—the candy was in the center of a long string, two people had to compete—whoever ate the string, and got to the candy first, got to eat the candy. And, after all that work the candy was no good.

We all had a wonderful time—all fourteen of us—Jerry Igo, Ruth Rice, Betty Jo Picklesimer, Lema Aker, Alice Casteel, Margaret Anderson, Sally Leggett, Margaret Adams, Martha Hise, Marie Smith, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. La Fuze and Verena Jane and Mary Jo.

After filling our pockets with the rest of the food, we all trudged back to the dorm singing Christmas Carols. No doubt everyone thought we were crazy but nevertheless we had gobs and gobs of fun!!!!

with GABBY PRATTLE

Between crammings we snatch time to jot down a few words of the latest to all of you. One hectic mess is Burnam Hall, and the place has been just such for more than a week. Not even Mrs. Blanton on her nightly rounds could quell the tide of excitement that abounded for a week before Friday night's dance, and cramming followed the ball. Tomorrow is the day of days, so "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow you may" fail.

To Our Friend, Santa:
Here and there on the campus we have collected interesting notes to Santa Claus.

Dear Santa:
One marriage license, please.
Eileen and Fred.

Dear Santa Claus:
Please send me one baby silencer,
Yours in desperation,
L. G. K.

Dear Santy:
Four typewriters and one good night's sleep, and I'll not ask for another thing until next Christmas.
Tommye Rankin.

Please, Santa Clause:
Send me one non-sleep-talking roommate, who don't correct my English.
Le Faun Maggard.

A Suggestion:
Why doesn't someone hold a special Sadie Hawkins' Day Race for Charles Norris? Gene and Marie, go to it, and may the fastest runner win!

Our Praises, And Otherwise
To the person and persons we think the most of this week, we'd like to give, not orchids, but bunches of red carnations—To Coach Rankin and his Maroons, all the red carnations in Reichsfarr's Greenhouse. The wins they have chalked up are really great.

Thorns and thumb tacks to Ruby Owen, who last Sunday was seen with five "Gobs." This is war, and no hoarding is appreciated.

Rules For a Blackout

The Baptist Student had some good material this week and if too many don't mind I'd like to revise a letter to Santa Claus.

We appreciate criticisms of all types, especially those of former students. But—there is a limit—the ones who give us a blessing out when they've had no experience kinda get under our skin.

Lights out—and oh gee, all the screaming in the dorm almost drowned out the lovely serenades of the boys. That was Thursday, but Sunday night some kind soul at midnight serenaded any who might be awake cramming for exams. It was all very much appreciated, we assure you, but who had time to listen. Black coffee was and still is the predominant aroma in Burnam Hall. It's the only thing that can keep us awake until all hours.

For the same reason that nobody else has any time to do anything but study, I have to make this very brief. Until next quarter, so long And to every one of you, a very Very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

totally unexpected blackout was experienced in Richmond and particularly in Burnam Hall Thursday night. All would have been terrible, but Eastern's gallant men came to the rescue and serenaded the damsels. We really had no idea their voices were so beautiful. Especially do we wish to express our appreciation to the lone tenor.

From the Gift Box
For Harry Scalos—one fire truck red hat . . . For Jim Wade—one long tie . . . For Joe Todd—one book: Psychology For Radicals, by Dr. Herman Von Stross Swackhemmer . . . One chair and hassock, Student Union type, to Doty Hancock with our compliments as well as the Christmas wish that she won't have to go to the SUB to find one.

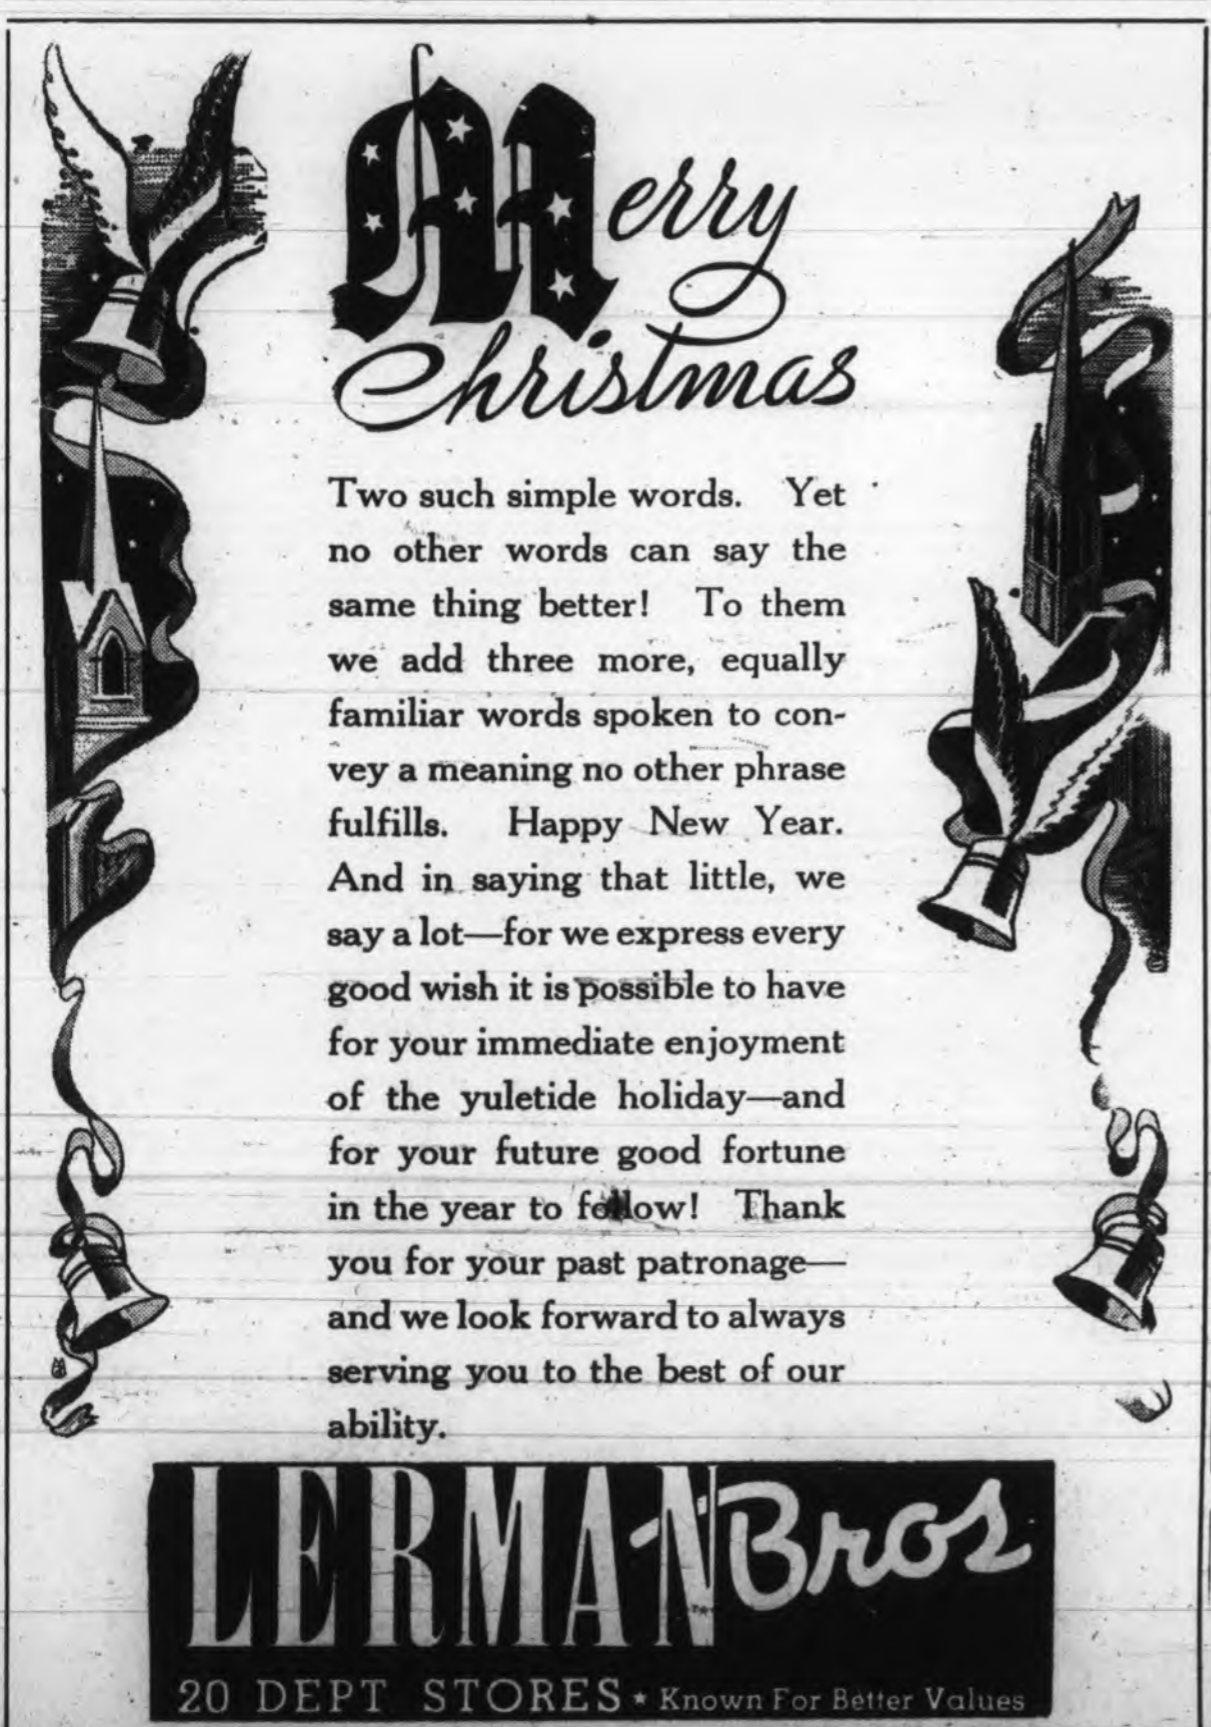

To the College, a new whistle regulator. The present one is two and one-half minutes slow, according to Dr. Keith's absolutely reliable watch . . . To Alyne Segraves—one pair number 10 boots . . . And Finally . . .
To everyone at Eastern, a very, very Merry Christmas with our best wishes and all the trimmings!

OFF THE BACKBOARD

by JIM WADE

If we may be pardoned for a slight distortion of the words of one Julius Caesar, we went, we saw, we conquered. The "We" refers to the Eastern basketball team which wandered around the north-east part of the sovereign state of Tennessee last week gazing at the fabled Smokie mountains, and also taking time to win three ball games at the expense of Lincoln Memorial, Carson Newman, and Milligan. . . . But all this may at this late time be classified as ancient history to those of you who follow the fortunes of the Maroons.

But the gang did have a heck of a lot of fun on the trip. That first night in Lincoln was nothing short of a nightmare. Freezing cold, a freely ventilated barn of a gym, and a harum-scarum ball game combined to put both coach and players in a rather sour mood, but it was an unusual experience, and one that will inspire laughs for months to come. . . . Carson Newman proved somewhat better equipped than Lincoln, both in basketball material and physical facilities. Yours truly even ran into a V-12 from "that town". . . . The Navy, defeated on the field of friendly strife, were nevertheless gallant losers and presented the local boys with a most memorable post game feast.

But take it from one who was stationed on the left end of the bench, an excellent spot from which to view a ball game, the first two games were only warm-ups for that Milligan affair. Those gents intended to send us back to Kentucky empty-handed and very nearly did it. They played a bruising, speedy game of ball that put our lads to a real test. After eleven minutes of play, Eastern was behind 23 to 7, and it looked as though we had met our Waterloo. . . . And then it happened. . . . Suddenly a big ex-Marine named Lewis decided that we had taken it on the chin long enough. And he proceeded to start a one man scoring tornado. . . . Milligan strove in vain to stop him, but the New Yorker would not be denied. At the half the score stood 28 to 27 for Eastern

Chalk one ball game up for Fred.

Eastern got the range then in the second half and played the Navy to a standstill to win by a comfortable twelve-point margin. . . . But it was a close thing, too close. Miller, who had his hands full with Milligan's six foot, five center, turned in a fine job, as did Moberley, Shryock and Maines who went all the way for the home team. Lovitt saw brief action in the first half and dropped in two points.

Miller, Lewis and yours truly stopped in one of Tennessee's most exclusive photography studios and had portraits made. . . . See this reporter for fine studies of Lewis or Miller. . . . Most of our spare time was consumed by sleeping or by some half-hearted card games. . . . Seven of us were jammed into Coachs Green Dragon, but in that icy weather it felt good. . . . Coach Samuels got on the wrong road and drove half way to Chattanooga on the way home.

We check out for home tomorrow. Everyone is anxious to see the folks again. . . . This is not a sob column. We try to make sports our business, but we can't help falling into a rather melancholy mood as we pack up for home. . . . We got news a few days ago of one of our best buddies. . . . His name would mean nothing to you. . . . The fact that he was a great guy and a fine athlete probably wouldn't either. . . . To make a long story short, the guy is dead now. The fine body that he spent his life developing is lying somewhere in France shot full of holes. He was such a fine physical specimen that they put him in a tough outfit—the Rangers. . . . He won't get home this Christmas. . . . Or any other Christmas. . . . Maybe we are getting a little too sentimental, but if you have any buddies over there this Christmas—and we all do—think about them for a little while as you gather with the folks on Christmas morning.

MAROONS DEFEAT BEREA V-12 TEAM HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

The Eastern Teachers College Maroons defeated the Berea College Navy V-12 basketball team Saturday night in the Weaver Health building by a score of 56-47.

Eastern led throughout the contest but could never pile up a safe lead and Berea was always in the game, especially in the third period when they cut the lead to four points. Their rally was stopped when Lewis, the high scoring Eastern guard, connected with two long shots from behind the four circle.

Lewis led local boys in scoring with 10 field goals and two free throws for a total of 22 points. Moberly connected for nine points and played a good floor game and Miller, the Eastern center, collected three field goals and five gratis shots for a total of 11 points. Maines scored ten points and Shryock and Smith played good defensive ball.

For Berea, Lindsey with 14 points and Cave with 13 led the scoring.

A total of 39 fouls were called,

Maroons Whip 3 Tennessee Fives

Team Is Undefeated After Five Games

The maroon-clad basketballers of Eastern, their appetites for victory whetted by triumphs over Georgetown and Wilmington roared down into Tennessee last week to seek more of the same. And the local boys got what they went after, three successful basketball games against Lincoln Memorial University, Carson Newman's V-12's, and the Milligan College Naval unit.

Eastern found Lincoln Memorial a rather easy mark and swept over the Lincolinites by a 71 to 33 margin. The entire squad had a hand in the affair. The starting lineup took care of the opening half and then Coach Rankin turned things over to his reserves. It was a wild affair from start to finish.

The next night the Maroons tangled with the Navy unit at Carson Newman, and the blue-clad lads found themselves outclassed by the sharpshooting Eastern five. Once again the starting team played the first half while the reserves kept things well in hand during the second stanza to win by a score of 58 to 19.

It was on the third contest of the trip that the Kentuckians ran into some real competition. The Milligan Naval trainees, big, rough and eager to win, gave the local boys a tough night of it. After trailing by sixteen points at one time in the first half, the Eastern team came back to win 51 to 39. It was a much closer ball game than the score suggests. It was in fact the only game of the year in which the Easterners have had to turn on full steam to win.
