'Moorborn' Next Drama For Players

Here April 15

BY ANN HULKER Progress Co-Editor

"Moorborn," a drama about the Bronte sisters, is the latest production of the Eastern Players. Melvyn Douglas directed it for its run on Broadway in 1934. On April 15, at 8:00, the play will be given at Hiram Broock Auditorium. Admission is $.50 for students and $.75 for adults. Before presentation here, the play will go on a week's tour to various parts of the state.

The setting is in Yorkshire, England, 1845. As the Bronte sisters, Emily, Charlotte and Ann, are Jane Moberly, Lena Denham, and Joan Scholle. The Bronte sisters gained world-wide fame for their poetry and novels, especially Charlotte's "Jane Eyre" and Emily's "Wuthering Heights." Bill Greynolds plays their wayward brother who has taken to drinking and opium as an escape from the hard realities of the world. Joe Rich is the blind father who believes absolutely in his son's genius. Evelyn Rymer and Barbara Arnett are cast as Tabitha and Martha, the maids, and Edgar Hardin is Christopher, a York-

Chairmen of the backstage committee are: Chester Greynolds, set building; Ruth Ann Hulker, properties; Ann McGlone, and Bob Jewel, sound; Eagle Doty and Charlotte Hume, lights, Margaret Barryman, book holder, and Jimmy Burch, stage manager.

Attend ROTC Parley

Eastern's William R. Strong and Robert L. Elder were among 110 K. O. T. C. cadets who visited the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, from February 28 through March 2. Cadets from all over the country were there in the following four week ends. This program is part of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the academy.

The purpose of the gatherings was to let the future officers from R. O. T. C. get some idea of how the cadets at West Point get their training and to enable the cadets to learn about the R. O. T. C. program. The visitors lived with the academy cadets, stayed in their barracks, ate with them, and went to their classes with them. They also took part in various other activities of the post.

Progress Salutes

(Introducing a new feature—the Progress Salutes. In this corner our publication will endeavor to express a little bit of thanks to individuals and organizations that contribute to the advancement of Eastern).

Hats off to the students who attended assembly regularly. It isn't strange that many honor roll students can be seen at most every chapel meeting. Education comes not only in the classroom.

Many thanks to radio station WVLK of Lexington for its full cooperation with the college. The station not only keeps Kentuckians informed of our athletic program, but is also very willing to give Eastern air time for concerts, announcements and other items of interest to the college and its friends Congratulations also to the test at the University of Kentucky April 8. The winner of that contest will represent Kentucky at the National Contest at Northwestern University.

Those who are interested in entering the contest are asked to see Mr. Keith Brooks as soon as possible.

Congratulations also to the Richmond Press Club. This fine docal organization, composed of many of our own graduates, has been a tremendous help in moving Eastern up the ladder in national sports circles. The club's latest project is the March 27 banquet for our varsity football and basketball teams.

Progress' 30th Anniversary

February marked the thirtieth anniversary of an event which has perhaps had more influence in the destiny of this college than any other occurrence since its establishment as a normal school.

It was on February 9, 1922 that the governor of Kentucky signed a bill which made Eastern a degree-granting state colloge. At the same time as the Kentucky Legislature was considering this bill a movement was starting on the campus of Eastern which was to culminate in the launching of one of our college's best-loved institutions, the Eastern Progress.

The first issue of the Progress was published in February, 1922, under the editorship of Lucille Strother.

What was this first Progress like? The main event of the day, of course, was the new law. With an unerring instinct for news, the Progress gave it the front page:

"A bill permitting the two state normal schools to become colleges has been unanimously passed by the legislature and signed important event in the history of education in Kentucky has occurred than the passing of this bill."

Also on the front page of another article which has, in the light of later, years, gained a special significance, for it marked the beginning of a great career for one of Eastern's Students:

"Earle Combs, who has been a popular student here at Eastern for the rest for the past fe wyears, leaves for Pensacola, Florida soon, where he is to try for a position with the Louisville Colonels' baseball . . Combs has shown himself to be the best all-round athlete ever produced at Eastern."

Eastern was sorry to lose Earle, but the Colonels, and later the New York Yankees, were glad to get him. Earle played with such baseball immortals as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, back during the Golden Age of baseball. A few years ago he became coach of the Boston Red Sox, a position which he still holds. Another member of the class of '52, better known locally than Earle Combs, is Mr. Kearney Adams, of our History department. Kearney was treasurer of the Senior Class in 1922 and also the Editor-in-Chief of the Milestone. The Milestone says of him, "His

Look magazine recently named its All-America basketball selections. Following this, the PROGRESS received a letter from Bert Barkas of Look inviting us "to take issue with the results of the poll." Specifially, the letter implies that Kentuckians should be concerned because UK's Frank Ramsey and Cliff Hagan were not named on either the All-America or sectional teams.

Perhaps that fine magazine feels that mention of the article (just as we are doing here) will help the sales of that particular issue. Well, Mr. Barkas of Look, the PROGRESS will take issue with that article—in somewhat of a different manner.

This comment is directed specifically at sports editor Tim Cohane and basketball consultant I. R. McVay of your magazine. What chance does a great player on a small college team have of making an All-America team. Have you gentlemen ever given any attention to Eastern's Jim Baechtold? We know that you have heard of him for a representative of Eastern personally informed Mr. McVay of Batchtold's outstanding ability, at the 1951 NIT in Madison Square Garden. Most small state colleges are located in small communities where newspaper and radio facilities are very limited. In Baechtold's case, there is only one daily newspaper and no radio station in Richmond, Ky. What chance would he have in your poll where votes are taken form the members of the press and radio? Why don't the monguls passingly beautiful, and grows in who make these highly publicized selections go out and see some of the boys play. Oh, yes, they will be seen if they play in your back yard—Madison Square Garden.

Program Here

BY ANNETTE ENGLE

For its annual sacred program on the evening of Palm Sunday, the Eastern Choir has this year decided to select a work not pre-viously done in Richmond, "Re-quiem," by Gabriel Faure. The 'Requiem' occupies a unique position and certainly ranks with the finest religious music ever com-posed in France. The music is the expression of a man deeply sincere and tranquilly spiritual. It is not as dramatic a work as the "Seven Last Words of Christ of Dubois," but the music is sureffect with repitition.

A measure of the "Requiem's" present popularity is a fact that the entire American edition was sold in January, and the Eastern Choir is having to be content with States are also in use at the present time, and Mr. Van Peursem is not able to rent one for his own

Alumni Response Is Pleasing Here

The Executive Committee of the Alumni Association has been highly pleased with the response to the recent mailing of the statements for dues. To date the Office has received dues for 258 alumni who had not paid for the current year. A good percentage of these were alumni who are active—always keep their dues paid up—but who for some reason had overlooked doing so this year. But there was included also a large number of alumni who never have been active or whose active membership has lapsed for several years. We give a special welcome to these people and hope we can make your active mem-bership so worthwhile to you that you will never let it lapse again. We wish the following letter from Miss Bessie Henry, of 1412 South Main Street, Paris, Kentucky, who has taken out active membership after a lapse of too many years will be typical. Miss Henry writes.

"I want to tell you how very much I enjoyed my first copy of the Progress. I read every word in it—about people I knew and about many I don't know. I am very sorry about Miss Waltz. I see Miss Hood is still there. I've wondered so many times about all of you-how you are-where you are, etc.

"Would you please send me a recent catalogue of Eastern? Also f you have some back copies of the Progress-even one-I would like very much to have it. I read it all, but my special love is the Alumni News."

Usually when we get information questionaires in, we learn many facts that, while not recent events, are news to the Alumni Office and, we think, to many who read the Alumni News. That will explain some of the news items included in this issue. Some new addresses, gained from these questionaires are: Miss Margaret Johnson's address has changed to Mrs. W. C. Barber, 464 West 1 North, Ameri-can Fork, Utah. Mrs. Barber, class of 1933, formerly taught English at Advance Junior High School, Russell, Kentucky.

ALUMNI TO BALLOT

The Alumni of Eastern will be balloting within the next three weeks on the question of a new constitution for the Alumni As-

As time changes many things, so it has become increasingly ap-parent that our present constitution needs to be put in step with the time.

A constitution for the Alumni Association of Eastern was first written in 1908. In 1926, 1929, and 1935 it was rewritten and revised. The members of the present Executive Committee feel that the time has again come to make some changes. Of course, the members of the Alumni Association will decide whether or not these changes are to be made. Some of the reasons for desiring a new-constitu-tion are listed below:

1. The name of the Association needs to be changed to conform with the present name of the College.

2. Two amendments to the constitution and two amendments to the by-laws should really be included in the body of the constitution.

3. The present constitution provides for an officer of the Association to serve on the Executive Committee one year after com-pleting his tour of duty. The Ex-ecutive Committee feels it would be better for an officer to be officer-elect for a year prior to actually holding an office. This would permit his becoming familiar with his duties and the activities of the Association prior to his taking office.

4. Due to the fact that it is becoming increasingly more difficult to assemble a quorum to transact the business of the Association we also believe that the Board of Directors should be enlarged and their authority increased.

5. Presently, the College is underwriting many of the expenses of the Association. Just as we have to have higher income to cope with inflation, so is our Association going to have to make some different financial arrangements. This could-be done by a slight in-crease in Association dues.

These are some of the reasons why a new constitution is needed. If two-thirds of the ballots returned to the Alumni Office favor such a change in the constitution the president of the Association will appoint a committee who will reof the 1948 class) left Cincinnati write the constitution and then recently to drive to Seattle, Wash- the new constitution will be subington, where she will sail for mitted to all alumni for approval. ### Basketballers In Spring Drills a

BY BILL BALES

Although the 1951-52 basketball eason has just come to a close. Coach Paul McBrayer is already looking forward to next season. The Maroon hoopsters opened a 20 day spring practice schedule last week.

The Maroons lose only one player by graduation and he, of course, is Jim "The Cat" Baechtold. "Mr.. Popularity" has, through four years of college ball, been one of the mainstays of the team. He was captain of this year's team as well as making the all OVC tournament team and receiving

Gridders Begin Spring Drills

1951 has come and gone, and with that year some of the most valuable of Eastern's football team. In the coming Coach Tom Samuels will be without the services of such performers as John Dorman, Jim Dudding, Carl Eagle, Bob Faust, Brian Gibbs, Howard Gracey, Walter Green, Ross Herron, "Chuck" Hert-zer, George Pavlovich, Bob Rob-ertson, Dave Rogers, and Bob Shockley.

This means, of course, that Mr. Samuels, line coach Darling, and backfield coach, Presnell, have their hands full with starting the rebuilding of their 1952 team.

There will be additions to the team from high school graduation, but these boys will not start practice until late this summer. However, practice for the veteran members has already started.

At tackle position for these practices will be the following: Dick Wilson, Karl Bays, Tom Sam-mons, and Roy Perkins. At guards are Jerry Johns and "Hacksaw"
Mason. At ends are Charlie True, "Moon" Mullins, Alex Kolakowski, and Mathias Williams and transfer, Fred Wincher. Holding down the center position will be Bill Adams, Ben Southers, and Bill Palahunich. The backhonorable mention on the AllAmerican team of the United Press.
Although Coach McBrayer will greatly miss the "Big Cat," he will probably be able to rely on Such regulars as Elmon maken. ler, Ernie Rigrish, West Spain, Nick Tsangeous, Carl White, and Bill George. The Eastern team last season attained one of its best records and will be striving to better the record this year.
