Alumni Reunion To Begin Homecoming

Homecoming festivities at Eastern began last night and will continue through tomorrow evening in what is expected to be the biggest alumni reunion and most colorful homecoming in Eastern's 56-year history.

The annual homecoming dance, to be held tonight from 8 until midnight in Walnut Hall of the Keen Johnson Student Union Building, will kick off the 1961 celebration for the alumni. Twenty-six candidates for homecoming queen will be presented at this time.

The majority of the alumni will report to the campus early tomorrow morning for a full day's programming. Registration of alumni and friends is set for tomorrow from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m. in the lobby of the Student Union Bldg. Tickets for the remaining activities may be purchased at this time.

Parade At 10 A. M.

At 10 a. m., the colorful parade of 24 floats, the most ever, according to KYMA, the sponsoring organization, and two dozen other units will leave the campus for a tour of the downtown business district. The candidates for queen will be aboard the floats.

Included in the parade will be about two dozen marching units, including visiting high school bands from Lexington Lafayette High School, one of the state's largest bands with 156 members, Harrodsburg High School, Frankfort High School, Franklin County High School, Madison High, and Madison Central, both of Richmond, and perhaps others.

Nick Koenigstein's famed 99-piece marching band, "The Marching Maroons," will also march in the parade and the award-winning Pershing Rifles drill team, that wowed spectators at last week's Military Day at Eastern, will be among the other marching units that will include Roy Scout groups, thoroughbred riding group, and others.

The marching band of Western State College, Eastern's arch-rival homecoming opponent, will perform in halftime activities, along with the other bands.

A luncheon will be held from 11:30 until 1 o'clock in the cafeteria and pre-game activities will begin at approximately 1:30. Pre-game activities will include the crowning of the 1961 homecoming queen by President Robert R. Martin.

Game At 2 P. M.

At 2 p. m., the main attraction of the week-end celebration takes place when Coach Glenn Pressnell's Maroons meet the Western Hilltoppers of Coach Nick Denes in a crucial Ohio Valley Conference game at Hanger Stadium.

Business will be mixed with pleasure for college officials. A board of regents meeting is slated for 9 a. m. tomorrow and at 1 p. m., ground will be broken for two dormitories on the growing Eastern campus. The two dorms are Earle Combs Hall and Judge McGregor Hall. Combs Hall, a men's dormitory to house 238, was named for the vice chairman of the board of regents, and McGregor Hall, a six-story women's dormitory to house 448, was named for Judge Thomas B. McGregor, Frankfort, long-time member of the board. The two dormitories will cost about $3 million.

Athletic Director Charles T. Hughes announced today that although about 7,000 are expected for the game, tickets will be available at the gates. He said that several sections of bleacher seats were added so that no one will be turned away at the gates.

Closing out the gala festivities will be the annual alumni barbecue in the cafeteria, followed by a coffee in Walnut Hall.

Highway Chief Visits On Campus

Henry Ward, state commissioner of highways, told an Eastern State College audience this morning that "no other state in the nation will have better highways when the new systems are completed, but that now there is not a single highway in Kentucky that could be considered a good one."

He spoke at the assembly program in Hiram Brock Auditorium. The former editor of the Paducah Sun Democrat said that Kentucky must keep pace with other states in population if federal funds are to be made available for the kind of highway program the state needs. "We are losing federal funds for all of our programs, including the highway program, because we did not keep pace with other states," he said.

The top team reporting was that headed by Mrs. Wallace Maffett, with $6,779. Top division was led by Mrs. Jovette Walters with $9,355. Other peaks given were: top section, Mrs. Ernest W. Palas, with $17,382; top area town, Waco, with $1,837; top advance Gifts Division team, Mrs. Ray Salyer with $2,175; top area team outside of Richmond, Mrs. Rucker Baumstark with $1,010, and top individual report was that of Mr. Robert Begley, vice-chairman of the drive with $10,687.

The next Report Night will be Tuesday, October 31, in the cafeteria of the Student Union Building.

Lists Aims "We want the people of Kentucky to have a good life today and we want our children to have the opportunities in the future," he said in listing the chief aims of the administration. He stated that the sales tax must be supported for Kentucky to continue to progress and keep pace with other states. "I am a supporter of the sales tax and I believe it is absolutely essential to the progress of Kentucky. I supported the 1934 sales tax, and if we had kept it then, we would have a much better state today."

The commissioner received a rousing applause from the audience when he said, "If we are to accomplish our aims, of providing for the citizens of today, and the citizens of the future, we must keep the sales tax."

Ward said that there is greater need and less money than he (Continued on Page Seven)

33 Eastern College Seniors Selected For Who's Who

Thirty-three of Eastern's seniors have been selected for "Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities." This is considered the most coveted honor to be bestowed on a college student.

The selections were made by a committee of faculty and students on the basis of scholarship, qualities of leadership, and the student's contribution to the student body on the campus. These are our leaders of tomorrow.

The select students are: Chris Montgomery, elementary education major from Louisville; Evelyn Craft, English major from Frankfort; Carol Caldwell, social science major from Paint Lick; Linda Murrell, elementary education major from Irvine; Neil Bonny, elementary education major from Irvine; Joyce Halsey, home economics major from Eubank; Diana Munson, elementary education major from Frankfort; Ann Merritt, music major from Richmond; Linda Gassaway, English major from Richmond; Nancy Rodgers, math major from Carrollton; Margaret Barczuk, elementary education major from Frankfort.

Suzanne Marcum, physical education major from LaGrange; Brandt Coleman, social science major from Clevis, Ohio; Harvey Turner, elementary education major from Frankfort; Corliss Keese, music major from Greenview, Ohio; Don Stivers, math major from Middlesboro; Don Dix, chemistry major from Hazard; Jim Pearce, industrial arts major from Crestwood; Don Whitaker, math major from Cynthiana; Tommy Nichols, industrial arts major from Somerset; Bill Elkins, English major from Jenkins; Jim Showalter, physics major from Louisville; Hugh Bradford, commerce major from Raceland; George Depp, commerce major from Erlanger; Joanne Van Peursem, math major from Richmond; Barbara Sammons physical education major from Newtown, Ohio; Barbara Edwards, math major from Louisville; Ann Stanley Johnson, English major from Frankfort; Sandra Brinker, commerce major from Cynthiana; Jim Farris, physical education major from Lawrenceburg; Everitt Wayne Kendall, math major from Carrollton; and Mary Ellen Willis, commerce major from Scott Depot, West Virginia.

KYMA Lists 26 Queen Candidates

KYMA, Eastern's Pep Club and sponsor of the annual homecoming parade, today listed twenty-six candidates for homecoming queen. Miss Sissano Hale, Mt. Olive senior and president of KYMA, also said that there will be forty-three units in tomorrow morning's homecoming parade, including twenty-four decorative floats, eight bands, the Eastern Pershing Rifles drill team, and the Madison County Saddle Club.

The parade, to be the largest in the 56-year history of Eastern, will begin its tour of downtown Richmond at 10 a. m. The parade route shows the units marching from Lancaster and Park Drive, down Lancaster to Main, down Main to Collins, from there to Water and up Second Street and back to the main campus.

The best floats will be awarded prizes in pre-game ceremonies, as well as the best decorated building on the campus. The 1961 queen also will be crowned by President Robert R. Martin.

The candidates for queen:

These candidates will be aboard the floats during the parade. They will be presented tonight at the homecoming dance and again in pre-game ceremonies.

Fund-Raising Campaign Sears Above $130,000

Contributions to the Patti A. Clay fund-raising campaign, now in its fourth week, have reached $139,442.00. This represents 26 percent of the goal of $500,000.

The figures were given Tuesday night at the third weekly report night held in the Student Union Building. Volunteer workers present numbered 226.

The top team reporting was that headed by Mrs. Wallace Maffett, with $6,779. Top division was led by Mrs. Jovette Walters with $9,355.

Other peaks given were: top section, Mrs. Ernest W. Palas, with $17,382; top area town, Waco, with $1,837; top advance Gifts Division team, Mrs. Ray Salyer with $2,175; top area team outside of Richmond, Mrs. Rucker Baumstark with $1,010, and top individual report was that of Mr. Robert Begley, vice-chairman of the drive with $10,687.

The next Report Night will be Tuesday, October 31, in the cafeteria of the Student Union Building.

ATTENTION STUDENT TEACHERS

All applications for student teaching for the second semester must be on file in the office of the associate dean of instruction for teacher education, room 30, Coates Administration Building, not later than Friday, November 10.

Editors Journey South For Press Conference

Five editors of the Progress and Milestone will represent Eastern at the 37th annual Associated Collegiate Press Conference, to be held Nov. 2, 3, 4, in Miami Beach, Florida.

Delegates representing the Progress will be Marian Buzzy, Editor-in-Chief and Ronnie Wolfe, Managing Editor. Representing the Milestone will be Linda Gassaway, Carol Caldwell, and Jim Montgomery.

The delegation will leave Eastern Monday afternoon. Tuesday will be spent in Knoxville, Tennessee at the S. B. Newman Printing Company where the Milestone editors will see the opening section of their annual. The students will be the guests of Bob Walters, Company representative, and then will be given a tour of the publishing house.

Delegates attending the conference will stay at the Hotel Fontainebleau. Some informal discussion sessions are planned Thursday afternoon for early arriving delegates, but time will be available for sampling the many attractions of Miami Beach and vicinity. The conference formally opens with a general convocation in the main ballroom at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. The speaker will be Daniel DeLuca, noted war correspondent and now General Executive for the Associated Press.

Speakers will be selected from various metropolitan papers, magazines, publishing houses, and college campuses. Short courses in year book fundamentals, photography, advertising, and magazines, will be offered by experts in these (Continued to Page 7)

Dr. Gordon Ross stresses language at 1st round table

Dr. Gordon Ross, professor of philosophy at Berea College emphasized the relationship between language and mental balance at the first of a series of meetings with the Eastern Faculty Round Table held Monday evening in the Little Theater. This was the first of a series of four meetings of the Round Table whose theme for the semester is Human Quest for Mental Balance, or New Minds for the New World.

Dr. Ross referred to language as an instrument of power and stressed the dangers of unscrupulous persons using words and statements in a manner to further selfish ends at the expense of others. According to the speaker, the most significant functions of language are the pragmatic function, the poetic function, the human relationship function, the expressive function, and the truth function.

Language contributes to our mental balance or disbalance to the extent that we as users of language express or fail to express ourselves in a manner that we convey our true meaning, and to the extent that we as listeners interpret or fail to interpret what we hear accurately. Most of us, Dr. Ross believes, have acquired what he terms "flinch" and "fascination" words. Particular experiences in connection with particular words often cause patterns of response to be formed, and such crystallized responses will be made regardless of meanings intended by the speaker. This tendency often results in a disbalance in our thinking and causes us to become confused and frustrated.

Dr. Ross related practical experiences in his efforts to explain complex principles pertaining to language situations. By the illustrative method, he showed that "what you are affects your language." He further exemplified that a person's use of language affects him as an individual and that habit and custom characterize much of language usage.

In closing, the guest speaker referred to Helen Keller, and her struggle to conquer the language barrier. Mr. R. G. Chrisman of Eastern's Economics Department led the group in discussion. Part of the discussion was held in the Little Theatre, and the remainder was continued in Walnut Hall during a Coffee Hour.

The next meeting of the Eastern Faculty Round Table will be on November 29. Dr. Wendell C. DeMarcus, a noted physicist, will lecture on the subject Cultural Dynamics (Scientific Revolution) and Mental Disbalance.

New Radio Series, Voice Of Eastern, Begins On WEKY

The first installment of a new radio series, "The Voice of Eastern," was heard Wednesday night on WEKY, Richmond's radio station. Sponsored by the Student Council, the twenty-five minute program was aired at 10:55 a. m.

Anne Stanley Johnson, secretary of the Student Council, began the program by reporting the news from that organization. Ronnie Wolfe, Managing Editor of the Progress, then gave a resume of campus news over the past few weeks. Bob Sellers and Bill Goedde, half-back of the Maroons, discussed the football squad's preparation for the game Saturday with the Western Hilltoppers.

Next, Jo Ann Conley, baton twirler for the Marching Maroons, previewed the halftime show of the homecoming game. A rundown of general homecoming preparations was given by Jim Showalter, president of the Student Council. On the spot interviews of club members gave a spot check on the progress of floats. George Wilcox, Richmond sophomore, emceed the program.

Future shows will have such features as the preceding play of the week, discussions with students on topics of interest, club and campus news, and interviews with faculty members and assembly speakers.

'Pastels' To Play For Halloween Dance At Eastern

Eastern's College Social Committee will sponsor a gala Halloween evening of fun Tuesday, October 31.

The evening of fun will be initiated by a "mystery" movie in Brook Auditorium at 7:30 p. m., and will be free to the students of Eastern.

Immediately following the movie there will be an informal dance in the cafeteria of the Student Union Building. Music for the dance will be provided by the "Pastels," a 13 piece combo.

Cadets, Fathers Honored

Eastern held its Fourteenth Dad's Day and first Military Day last Saturday. This year's procedure was a departure from the old as all of Eastern's fathers were honored, as well as the football fathers.

The fathers registered and got their identifying lapels at the Student Union Building Saturday morning. The 24 dads of the Varsity E Club members were honored at a luncheon at 12:30 in the Blue Room of the cafeteria. All were admitted free to the Eastern-Austin Peay tilt, and were introduced before the game. The football dads sat on the sidelines, wearing their son's numbers during the game.

One thousand ROTC cadets marched on the field as part of the pre-game show.

Half-time featured the tuxedoed Austin Peay band with their high-stepping Governettes, 7 majorettes and 14 flag spinners. The Marching Maroons did a spanish arrangement and the crack Pershing Rifles drill team performed.

Other highlights of Military Day-Dad's Day were military displays in front of the Weaver Health Building. An Army Nike-Ajax missile, four 155 howitzers and prime movers, a replica of a fallout shelter, and a display by the Lexington Signal Depot and the Army Recruiting Station formed the show.

Welcome to Eastern... Judy Sheehan, an Eastern cheerleader, pins an identification tag on Richard Carr, father of Richard Carr, Jr., a member of Eastern's football team. Twenty-four football fathers attended the game and sat on the sidelines with their sons.

By PAT GRANT
For the second consecutive year, Eastern has on its campus reportedly one of the finest dance band groups around this area to play at the annual Halloween dance on Tuesday, October 31. This group, the Pastels, known as "the band with the color sound", is composed of Eastern students and led by Jack Horner, Band Director of Madison Central High.

Their 13-piece arrangements are said to have made a tremendous hit with many colleges and high schools during the past year. Members of the band include Jack Horner, John Witt, Lawrence Roberts, and Terry Cayton on the saxophones. Trumpet players are Danny Eberlein, Gary Holdsworth, and Steve Olson. Dwight Gatwood, Steve Stiger, and Bill Cain play trombones and in the rhythm section, Gus Franklin of Eastern's math department on piano, Arthur Eaves on bass, and Jerry Riches on drums combine to help give the band the sound which has earned its name.

Send Papers Home Says Edw. Canale

Mr. V. Edward Canale of the National Advertising Service, Inc., has come in contact with a number of advertising men and women having sons and daughters in college. They feel it would be a good suggestion to college students that they send the college newspaper home after they have read it, because the parents express a desire to know more about the happenings at their offspring's schools. Getting this information from the students themselves is not too easy or sometimes possible.

Public relations will be boosted for any school if the parents get a copy of the school paper. This will aid to establish a substantial parent-student relationship which has more advantages both to the school and certainly to the parents who receive the material.

Career Cues

"Hitch your wagon to a 'growth' industry—and grow with it!"

Douglas Leigh, President Douglas Leigh, Inc.

"A growth industry is a new industry that is on the way up — moving quickly, expanding fast. When you join a company in one of the growth fields you have something extra working for you . . . you grow up with it. To find out which industry is right for you, try this: Ask someone in a good investment office to give you a list of the industries he considers 'growth industries', Data Processing, plastics, and electronics are a few examples. Then pick the one you have a leaning toward, and get the names of the most progressive companies in that field.

One thing I'd like to point out from my own career is . . . a growth industry may also be an old business that's on the verge of new development. Shortly after leaving college I found this situation in the Outdoor Advertising field. What my associates and I did was to employ color, action and motion to dramatically personify the product, brand or services being advertised. In doing so, we developed the modern type "Spectaculars" that talked, blew smoke rings, soap bubbles, etc. . . signs that changed the face of Broadway and the famous Times Square area.

This is just one example. The really important thing to remember is this: When you set your sights on a career, aim for an industry that is going to grow, so you can grow with it. It's the difference between a rocket that blasts off, and one that just sits there. Good luck!"

It's homecoming time at Eastern and the Maroons couldn't ask for more perfect conditions as they host arch-rival Western. As if the fact that the Maroons and Hilltoppers are the hottest rivals in the country isn't enough, Eastern is facing its most important, remaining OVC game. Quoting an Associated Press writer, "Eastern Kentucky, with an outside chance to win the Ohio Valley Conference title, can take a major step in that direction with a victory tomorrow over Western Kentucky." A victory would send Eastern into November 4's game with Tennessee Tech with a 3-1 record, compared to Tennessee Tech's 4-0 and Middle Tennessee's 3-0.

"The Maroons are the only team left in striking distance of the league-leaders, as every other team in the conference has lost at least two games." Even though the Hilltoppers possess a 1-2 conference worksheet they can't be undersold. The facts that are not shown by figures are that the Hilltoppers lost to leading Tennessee Tech by 13-12 and to second place Middle Tennessee 14-6.

Too much importance can't be put on the game tomorrow and it is the duty of all Eastern students to stay on the campus this week-end and root the Maroons to a win.

When Western invades our campus tomorrow the Hilltoppers will try a new type offense on the Maroons. Eastern will be the first team that Western will use their "slingshot" offense on. The "slingshot" is a variation of the "shotgun spread" used by professional football, with the entire backfield except for the quarterback flanked beyond the spread ends on the line of scrimmage. This type of offense should be very interesting to watch, and let's hope that our defense can cope with it.

A very important fact almost went by without being noticed this week. Tony Lanham, Maroon quarterback and total offensive leader, broke two all-time Eastern football records against Austin Peay Saturday. Both records were in the field of passing and were 12 passes thrown complete in a single game and most yards passing in a single game, 167. The new marks eclipse the records of 11 passes completed by Bob Lenderman against Louisville in 1952 and of 146 yards set by Roy Kidd against Morehead in 1953. Lanham trails Kidd in three other passing marks, two of which he should easily break this season. They are the season records of 55 complete passes, 688 yards passing, and 11 touchdown passes. Lanham has already completed 37 passes for 468 yards and four touchdowns.

When Ed Spenik catches his next pass he will have accomplished quite a feat. That is of catching as many passes single-handed as all of the Maroon ends did last season. Three Maroon ends collaborated last season to snare nine passes and Spenik has already hauled down eight aerials this year. Spenik is a junior end from Adah, Pennsylvania.

The local high school football team, the Madison High School Royal Purples, have regained the No. 1 rating in Kentucky high school grid circles according to the Likkenous ratings this week. The Purples were in first place a few weeks ago, but were edged out by Louisville Flaget and Fort Thomas Highlands until this week. The basis for the jump back to the top spot is probably the 45-0 trouncing of Somerset Friday night. Anyone present at the game saw one of the best balanced attacks in Kentucky prep ball, a monstrous line and an air tight defense. Madison has strung together a 21 game winning streak dating to 1958 and has scored 245 points to 12 for its opposition this year. Madison is coached by Roy Kidd, one of Eastern's all-time greats.

There will be a Basketball Clinic held November 7, 1961, in room 204 of the Weaver Health Building. All Eastern students are invited to attend. Harry Stevenson, Athletic Director of Transylvania College, will be the guest speaker.

The corner has been asked to announce that anyone playing tennis on the new split-level courts, recently finished here, should wear either tennis shoes or basketball shoes. Any type of street shoe, even crepe soles, with heels will leave an impression on the specialized surface of the courts.

Any students planning to attend the Eastern vs. Marshall football game, to be held in Ashland, should buy their tickets here at the Athletic office. Prices at the gate will be $2.50 for reserved seats and $2.00 general admission. Students and faculty of Eastern may buy their tickets here for one dollar.

McBrayermen In Good Condition

Coach Paul McBrayer reported good and he reported in excellent physical condition today that his 11 varsity squad members, in their second week of practice in preparation for a 17-game 1961-62 campaign, are in "as good physical condition as any team I've ever had here, at this early stage."

"I am real pleased with the attitude of the squad," McBrayer said, "and the boys seem to be physically prepared to accept the big load they must accept this year." The Eastern coach, in his 16 year as head cage mentor, seemed more confident than one would suspect for a coach with only two letterman back.

"A lot depends on our ability to keep away from illness and injuries," he said of his eleven man squad. McBrayer, last week, after examining medical reports on 6-6 sophomore Orville Hamilton, announced that the Paintsville center will miss this season because of an operation on a knee injury.

Cites Pickett's Talent
McBrayer said that he was especially pleased so far with the play of 6-7 junior Ronald Pickett, Frankfort. "He has more talent than any pivot man we've had around here in a long while," he said. "His desire to play is very

Names Starters

As it looks now, the coach said, the starting lineup will be Gardner and Werk at forwards, Parks and Stephens at guards, and Pickett at center. Behind them, the Maroons are shallow. "I believe in substituting for strength," McBrayer said, "not for weakness. But, this year, we may not be able to do much substituting at all, unless forced to."

McBrayer had said earlier that the Maroons may have to modify their famous race-horse style of offense to go to the ball control type of offensive play, although "The Big Irishman" has been the chief advocate of the fast break since he began coaching. "I would not want to do this, if I had a choice," he said, "and I don't even know if the situation will permit me to do it, but if that is the proven way that we can get the job done best, we will do it."

The Maroons have six weeks before their Dec. 9 opener with Transylvania College. McBrayer summed up his prospects for the nearing season in this way: "Our strength probably will be good defense and strong rebounding, and our weakness, as I see it, will be lack of good speed and inexperience."

Maroons Defeat Austin Peay Governors 21 - 7

The Eastern Maroons of Coach Glenn Presnell scored 21 points in the first quarter to put themselves beyond the reach of Austin Peay as they defeated the Governors from Tennessee 21-7 in Hanger Stadium Saturday.

The Maroons executed all their scoring in the first period in their tilt with the Tennessee team, Bill Goedde and Jimmy Chittum, sophomore halfbacks, making the three touchdowns. Austin Peay was held scoreless until the fourth quarter when Ken Goad rammed through the Eastern defense to goal territory. During this season Austin has not scored in the first or third periods.

The victory gave the Presnellers a 3-2 slate. The loss was the fifth in six starts for the Governors.

The first score against Austin Peay was set up by Chittum when he took the ball to the Governors' 18 on a 37-yard carry. Tom Stapleton advanced three yards. A pitch-out from quarterback Tony Lanham to Goedde got the leather to the two. Goedde then bulled over on the next play. A bullseye conversion by Dave Hatfield made the score 7-0.

TD After Fumble
Midway of the quarter, Richie Emmons recovered a fumble committed by Austin Peay's fullback, Tommy Donnelly, on the AP 44. A Lanham-to-Goedde pass was good for short yardage, then Lanham heaved a 35-yard pass to Goedde for the Maroons' second touchdown. Hatfield's conversion kick was ruled wide.

Frank Nappi returned the Maroon kickoff to his own 47. After four plays, Eastern had slammed the Governors back to their own 30. Austin Peay punted and Eastern began a TD drive from its 36. The 64-yard march was highlighted by Lanham's 16-yard fling to Goedde. Lanham scored on a room fumble on the Eastern 34. After 13 plays and three penalties, the Governors had their only score when Donnelly dashed around right end six yards. The conversion try by Ralph Grant was ruled good.

The rest of the quarter was a see-saw affair with neither team creating serious threats.

Eastern piled up 338 yards in passing and rushing. Austin Peay's total offensive yardage was 282. Chittum was the leading ground gainer with 82 in eight carries. Goad was second with 69 in five runs.

Drive Stopped
The Eastern defense looked sharp when it stopped an Austin Peay drive which had penetrated to the ESC five. Passes by quarterback Cobb Parker and runs by Donnelly and Goad had advanced the ball.

Austin Peay's touchdown drive started in the third quarter and ended in the first minutes of the fourth. Parker recovered a Ma-

Coach Glenn Presnell's Eastern Kentucky Maroons have an opportunity to begin another string of homecoming victories Saturday when they entertain the team that snapped their last skin of consecutive wins two years ago.

It was arch-rival Western Kentucky, which provides homecoming opposition every two years at Hanger Stadium, that snapped the victory string at twelve in 1959 as the Maroons sought their "lucky" thirteenth win before the alumni. The Hilltoppers won 14-7.

Last year, the Maroons retaliated with a stunning 17-7 win over the "hippers" at Bowling Green, and Coach Presnell thinks it's about time the Eastern alumni was pleased. Last year, the Maroons and East Tennessee played to a scoreless tie in a homecoming game that saw most of the action packed into the last 54 seconds when each team attempted field goals.

The Maroons will shoot the works in an attempt to send the alumni and friends home with the high enthusiasm they bring to the 2 p.m. kickoff. Presnell reports that his charges will be in their best physical condition since the opener six weeks ago. Guard Ken Goodnow, out since the opener with an injury, is expected to be back in action and center Willard Davis is shaping up and expected to be ready for heavy-duty action.

The overflow crowd expected to jam Hanger Stadium should see an offensive-gearred game, with both clubs featuring exceptional passing attacks and good solid ground games.

Directing the Hilltoppers attack will be 6-4 Jim Daily, one of the Ohio Valley Conference's top quarterbacks, and a bulls-eye passer, Halfbacks Winton Boone, Buzzy Best and Bobby Mitchell are running better than ever before and fullback Billy Booker is a bull-dozing fullback.

The Hilltopper line is anchored by guard John Barriolo, a 200 pound junior who will be back in action after missing last week's 20-0 loss to mighty Louisville. From end to end, the Toppers are experienced, with flankers Jim Hughes and Danny McAtee, tackles Jim Taylor, Jack Foynter, Barry Poole and Bill O'Flynn, guards Ken Johnson, Joe Bugel, and Ollie Newell, and center Gary Kelly.

"They are a good club," says Coach Presnell, "and always dangerous with Daily throwing." "We fell," he continued, "that Western is better than they have been in recent years."

Presnell sees no reason why the Hilltoppers won't use their aerial game to full advantage Saturday. "After all," he said, "all of our opponents have found our pass defense weak all season, and unless we accomplish wonders this week, I cannot see Western sticking to the ground game Saturday."

The Maroons have allowed their opponents to complete 56 of 82 passes this season for four touchdowns and 694 yards, while finding the range themselves on 37 of 68 aerials for 468 yards and four scores.

Western stands 3-3 for the season, having lost to Middle Tennessee, Tennessee Tech, and Louisville. They have defeated South-east Missouri, East Tennessee, and Austin Peay. Eastern is 3-2, with over Murray, East Tennessee, and Austin Peay, and setbacks to Louisville and Middle Tennessee. The Maroons are Kentucky's lone hope to get the OVC championship away from the Tennessee stronghold. After Saturday's hoop contest, they meet Morehead and Tennessee Tech, both on the road.

Tomorrow's game will highlight what is expected to be the in Eastern's 55-year history. A Thursday night bonfire and pep rally was held on the campus to get the enthusiasm started, and it won't let up until after the game. The annual homecoming dance will be held tonight in Walnut Hall of the Keen Johnson Student Union Building and registration of alumni and friends will be held from 9 until 1 p.m. in the lobby of the Union Building Tomorrow.

The annual parade of floats and marching units, with a total of about 50 units participating, the biggest in history, will leave the campus for a downtown tour at 10 a.m. Highlight of pre-game festivities, which begin at 1:30, will be the crowning of the homecoming queen by President Robert R. Martin.

At 9 a.m. tomorrow morning, the college board of regents will meet, and, at 1 o'clock, just preceding the game, ground will be broken for two more dormitories, Earle Combs Hall and Judge McGregor Hall, named for members of the board of regents. Earle Combs Hall will house 238 men students, and McGregor Hall 448 women students.

Athletic director, "Turkey" Hughes, announced that plenty of general admission tickets will be placed on sale at 12:30 at the gates tomorrow. Tickets may also be purchased earlier in the morning in the lobby of the Student Union Building.

A record crowd of between 6,000 and 7,000 is expected for the homecoming celebration.

Player Of The Week

BILL GOEDDE

Player of the Week honors for this week go to Bill Goedde, 5-11, 160 pound sophomore halfback from Cincinnati, for his brilliant play in the Eastern Kentucky Maroons' 21-7 win over Austin Peay last Saturday.

Goedde scored the Maroons' first two touchdowns on a two yard plunge and on a 35 yard pass from quarterback, Tony Lanham. He had set up the first score on a 13 yard punt and went to the two yard line before stopped.

Goedde caught two passes for 51 yards and a touchdown, and in seven carries gained 49 yards. After enjoying an outstanding freshman season for the Maroons in 1959, Bill missed last season's action. He returned for spring practice this year and has been a big boost to the Maroon offense. Goedde ranks fourth in rushing yardage with 138 yards for 24 carries and a 5.7 yard per carry average.

EX-TOMCATS ARE IMPRESSIVE MAROONS—Richard Carr, standing, and Wendell Wheeler, Ashland, have come into their own as freshmen on the Eastern State College varsity squad this fall. Both ends, Carr, a 6-1, 195 pounder, has caught three passes for 39 yards, and Wheeler, in the first half of the campaign, has snagged one aerial for nine yards. They are considered two of the finest end prospects to play at Eastern in recent years. Both will see action tomorrow when the Maroons host arch-rival Western in Eastern's big homecoming attraction.

"We Don't Have Depth"; Presnell

"Saturday's game proved one thing to me," said Coach Glenn Presnell in referring to his Eastern Kentucky Maroons' unimpressive 21-7 win over Austin Peay. "We certainly don't have much depth."

"We got what we asked for," he continued. "We wanted an opportunity to give some of our freshmen an opportunity to gain experience and we got it. After building up that 21-0 lead in the first quarter and threatening again early in the second period, I thought things were going pretty well. But, our youngsters made mistakes that cost us touchdowns. After viewing the film, I now wish that I had sent the first team back on a couple of occasions, because another touchdown or two would have been much more secure. As it was, I never had an opportunity to really relax during the game, because three touchdowns aren't too hard to manage, especially when a team has a good passing attack, as did Austin Peay."

Presnell praised the Maroons for their first period outburst, but said that there was little else to be happy about the rest of the game. He said that Austin Peay played inspired ball the last three quarters and that his team was "just not serious the rest of the game."

The Maroons reported in pads for a scrimmage Monday. The Eastern coach said, "In a way, it's better for us that we didn't run up a bigger score, because this way we can get more out of our kids this week in preparation for Saturday's important game."

He was referring to tomorrow's crucial homecoming "atta with arch-rival Western Kentucky at Hanger Stadium.

Pass defense again will be the order of the week as the Maroons carries.

Quarterback Tony Lanham, who completed 12 of 18 passes last Saturday, has completed 37 of 68 passes for 168 yards, four touchdowns, and a completion percentage of .54.

Freshman Gene Stuber, who took over for the injured Gene Blackwelder in the punting department, is averaging 36.1 on eleven kicks. Blackwelder averaged 30.3 on ten punts before he was injured and lost for the season.

Women's Sports

Eastern's WBA Maroonettes won and lost their first field hockey games of the season.

If you've never seen an intercollegiate girls' field hockey game then you don't know what you're missing! It all begins with the girls themselves, when they get on that bus marked "Eastern Charter." School spirit, fight, sportsmanship and just plain ole fun rides that bus and participates in those games.

The first game played between the Maroonettes and the Berea girls was composed of girls with only one year of playing experience. The co-captains for the Maroonettes first game was Joenie Maggard, goalie, and Nettie Faris, wing.

Berea won the first game 3-2 in a completely scoreless second half. Scoring for Eastern first was Carolyn Hobbs who hit a nice drive that was untouched by the Berea girls. This was a welcome sight because Barbara Jones of Berea had already scored.

The next goal for Eastern was scored by Sandy Brown. Then Berea got one and tied the game 2-2.

It looked like a deadlock until Berea scored again with only one minute and fifteen seconds left to play.

The second game was captained by Sharon Munsen, and Barbara Sammons. Both girls are seniors.

I can't praise enough the beautiful team play of the Maroonettes during this second game. The first goal was scored shortly after the beginning of the game. Myrna Young received a beautiful pass from the right inner, Kay Whitaker, and drove the ball into the cage.

The offense of the forward line and the defense of the half backs was so well executed that most of the action took place on Berea's end of the field.

The second half got under way at extreme dusk, and play was a little slower.

Sharon Munsen, inner, scored once again making the score 3-0 in favor of Eastern. Not until the final minutes of the game did Berea make its only goal.

After the game Berea served refreshments in the lounge of their women's gym.

An eleven stick salute to the girls, their sponsor and coach, Mrs. Patti Boyd!

THE TRAVELING MAN

Eastern's Jack Adams (Darn Tootin' We Claim Him) Was Basketball's Top Traveler Last Year

(Editor's Note: Information for the following article was taken from an article that appeared in the Courier-Journal Magazine recently. Permission to use portions of the material was granted by the writer, Dave Whitaker.)

Basketball's No. 1 traveler last year was Jack Adams, former Eastern All-American. The all-time great cager, considered by Coach Paul McBrayer as his finest here, traveled an estimated 55,000 miles last year—or about 2½ times around the world—and was one of two men who not only played on the U. S. team during its swing through Russia and in Stockholm but also performed in a four-way meet in Turin, Italy.

The only other player to make both trips was Mike Moran of the Denver D-C Truckers and Marquette. The trip to the U. S. S. R. was sponsored by the State Department.

Adams averaged 22.3 points for the Cleveland Pipers of the National Basketball League (N.B.A.) last season, and finished second in league scoring. Morehead's Dan Swartz finished first in the league and Kentucky's Johnny Cox fourth.

Adams established a new league scoring record last year with 55 points in a single game. This year the league will be professional.

Holds Thirteen Records

Adams, who still holds thirteen all-time Eastern basketball records, related some of his experiences while in Russia. Among these were the following:

"Russian basketball fans don't boo, they whistle... they sound like a bunch of birds... However, Soviet fans are good sports and like to see scoring by either team."

"We played eight games in Russia—in Moscow, Kiev, Leningrad, and Tyblaisi (also spelled Tbilisi)—and they used a different size ball in each game... In one game, they used what appeared to be a volleyball with ridges on it and we found we couldn't dribble it so we just passed it around and still won."

"After one game, the Russians surprised us by wanting to play a second game the same night, so we did. They had a new team waiting for us, but we won it, too."

"During pre-game introductions the Negro players on our team always got the biggest round of applause. It's pretty obvious that the Russians are sympathetic with the Negro because they play up all of our integration problems."

Green Peas Scarce

Adams continued his interesting story-telling with, "Green peas must be scarce since they'd serve only eight to ten on a plate and we made a joke of counting them. Also, not long ago, I read that Khruushchev recommended horsemeat to the Russian people and it made me wonder if that wasn't horsemeat we were eating over there and not beef, as they said. I heard it was buffalo meat but it looked like horsemeat to me."

Adams, Swartz, and Cox all agreed that the Americans weren't restricted in their travels, could go anywhere they wanted to. "But, we must have had our passes checked 20 times while watching the May Day military parade in Kiev," Adams said. May Day decorations are more elaborate than our Christmas decorations.

"When on parade, Russian soldiers are sharp, neatly dressed," said Adams. "But on liberty, they're a sloppy lot... wear argyle socks with their uniforms and their brass is never shined."

The ex-Eastern great, who was in summer school here last summer, working toward a master's degree, recalled what he thought was the beginning of World War III: "About 2 o'clock in the morning, I was awakened by the sound of troops marching through the streets outside our hotel, so I woke up Dan (Swartz), who was rooming with me. We heard officers barking commands in Russian, heard guns rolling down the street and I thought, 'This is it.' We looked out and saw a unit about the size of a battalion drilling. No cars were allowed on the street and they drilled until about 4 a. m. on our first morning in Russia. Later, we found they were practicing for the big May Day celebration."

Cox said that he thought it was the beginning of a new revolution, according to Whitaker's interview with him.

Talks Peace

"In Russia, everyone talks peace. The little children would give us symbols in the form of badges, medals or even toy white doves and we'd give them chewing gum in return. Chewing gum they dearly loved because they can't get it over there. One time, when I was out of gum, I offered a little boy some money instead. He didn't want the money because he couldn't buy anything with it."

"There's solid evidence that the Russians idolize American athletes," said Adams. "In Russia, a little boy came up to me and asked, in the best English he could muster, about many of the big-name stars of our National Basketball Association. He couldn't understand why such players as Bill Russell, Wilt Chamberlain and Elgin Baylor weren't on our team."

"When I tried to explain that they were professionals and we were amateurs, it meant nothing to him because they pay their 'amateurs' good salaries the year round to play basketball."

All three athletes agreed that Russian cagers are getting tough to beat. They doubt if the United States' future college players could handle the older, more experienced Russians, who are classified as amateurs even though they are subsidized by the Soviet state. "Make no mistake, Russia is coming up in the world in basketball," Adams said.

None of the three will be eligible to play against the Russians when the Soviet sends its national team to the U. S. for a return tour in the fall of 1962, since all lost their amateur status when they signed on with pro clubs.

Basketball Rules Changed

There are three major rules changes for 1961-62, as decreed by the National Basketball Committee of the U. S. and Canada, at Kansas City last March 28. They are as follows:

1. Elimination of free throws on all offensive fouls. The offended team will put the ball into play from out-of-bounds.
2. The clock will be stopped after every violation to permit coaches greater opportunity to make substitutions, if they so desire.
3. A one-foot buffer zone will be drawn between the first and second players lined up for free throws. This is expected to lessen shoving and jockeying.

In other changes, the Rules Committee legalizes coaching from the sidelines but instructed officials to penalize coaches of players on the bench who persist in stomping, tossing towels or committing other acts considered unsportsmanlike. Referees are reminded they may also clear the bench, if deemed necessary.

The "sudden death" has been eliminated from high school overtime games. Tie games are to be decided by as many three-minute overtime sessions as are necessary. A minor change was made in regards to the center jump circle: Henceforth, a jumper may have only one foot in the circle; this should eliminate body contacts on jump balls.

Jo Ann Conroy, one of Eastern's majorettes, has reported that two red capes were lost last Saturday after the football game. If anyone knows where these capes can be located, please contact the PROGRESS office or any one of the majorettes.

Cadet Of Week

RALPH NEWMAN
By P.L.O. Council

Last Monday evening, the Brigade Staff chose second battalion commander, Cadet Lt. Col. Ralph Newman as the Cadet of the Week. Ralph has shown greatness in the performance of his duties and in improving the Cadet Corps. Being very skilled in command and leadership positions, he is very determined to make his last year in ROTC his best. Being a Battalion Commander, he is responsible for everything his command does or fails to do. A tireless worker, Ralph is very talented and receives full co-operation from those he commands.

Ralph came to Eastern from Ashland, Ky. High School where he was on the football and track teams. When he pledged Pershing Rifles as a freshman he was chosen "Best Pledge" because he showed great potential as a military leader. The next year he was the PR First Sergeant, and in his junior year he was the Pledge Officer. Last spring he finally reached his goal, Captain of the Pershing Rifles and since then, he has done an outstanding job in being drill master of the exhibition team. Under his able leadership the PR Lancaster House has taken on a new look both inside and out. Ralph announced the PR's will have an open house Saturday for homecoming and will also have a float in the parade Saturday morning.

Sound Off

By Jim Farris
Eastern's first Military Day was very successful! All those cadets who participated should be very proud of their colorful performance. Not only did it show the progress these cadets have made this year, but the enthusiasm shown by these same cadets added spirit to the occasion.

Congratulations to Commander Ralph Newman and his Pershing Rifle drill team for the excellent performance last Saturday. It was very easy to see why this team won the first place trophy for the best exhibition drill unit in the annual Millersburg Military Institute Homecoming Parade earlier this month.

Military displays draw much attention from fans. The added attraction of several military displays last Saturday was very noticeable. We wish to thank those people who made this display possible.

Advanced course cadets have two special awards that are of interest to them: the Distinguished and Military Graduate section. Distinguished Military Students are selected by the PMST and approved by the President of the College. This section is made at the completion of the Junior year and Summer Camp. Cadets so selected are authorized to wear a special badge of honor. These students represent the best of an already select group.

Last Friday, Colonel Joe M. Sanders, professor of Military Science, in an informal ceremony before the entire brigade announced the names of seven senior cadets who received the Distinguished Military Students award. They are as follows: Brandt Coleman, Cleveland, Ohio; George Dopp, Jr., Erlanger; James Farris, Lawrenceburg; Ralph Newman, Ashland; John Osborne, Russell Springs; Harvey Turner, Frankfort; and Ronald Wallace, Ft. Thomas.

Graduates of ROTC are candidates for appointment as second lieutenants in the United States Army Reserve. A limited number of outstanding graduates (designated as Distinguished Military Graduates) are selected for Regular Army commissions each year. The other successful candidates became Reserve Officers of the Army.

The ROTC Department has a fine library of military books and publications. This library is available to all cadets and will be especially helpful to freshman during their study of American Military History.

(ATTENTION) A big source of information is the Bulletin BOARD, located in the hall outside the ROTC office. A certain section will be set aside for your class. There will be a place for items of interest to all classes. You must check this BULLETIN BOARD either before or after each class. Cadets are responsible for following all orders placed on this board.

ATTENTION ALL FRESHMAN
(Care of insignia)

Insignia issued for wear with the ROTC uniform should be kept clean and shined at all times. When first issued, this insignia is protected by a coat of clear lacquer. After a time air seeping under the lacquer darkens the luster of the insignia. When this occurs, the lacquer must be removed. This may be done by vigorous rubbing with metal polish cloth (Blitz Cloth) or by boiling in a solution of baking soda and water. When boiling, insignia should not be permitted to rest on the bottom of the pan. Do not scrape, as this will scar the metal. After removal of lacquer, insignia can be kept bright by frequent rubbing with metal polish cloth. Cadet officer insignia of grade, ROTC collar insignia, buckles and tips of belt (Web, waist), cap ornaments, and the smooth metal buckles on the blouse belt will be polished. Buttons on the blouse and rough metal or plastic blouse belt buckles will not be polished. Care must be taken to insure that metal is not scared. Insignia should be removed from the uniform for polishing, as metal polish will permanently discolor the uniform.

ROTC Programs Are Offered At All Levels

By Jim Farris

The Army ROTC of today is administered in high schools, military institutes, junior and senior colleges, and universities. On the secondary school level (ROTC Junior Division) the course covers basic military training subjects.

It follows that, at the college level (ROTC Senior Division) the course of instruction covers more complex topics. To get a picture of ROTC as it exists today you should know that the Senior Division includes units in 250 institutions of higher learning and that the current enrollment is more than 140,000.

In the basic phase (MS-1, MS-2) all study is of an on-campus nature and involves three hours of work per week—or a total of 180 hours for the two years. The advanced course (MS-3, MS-4) consists of five hours per week (300 hours total) on-campus plus a summer camp of six weeks following the completion of the Junior year at college.

In the Senior Division there is a growing trend away from Branch Material Training (in which an ROTC man upon entry into college at once began "branch training" artillery, armor, infantry, engineers) in favor of a General Military Science program. The GMS program gives the ROTC man a wider range of military training in his pre-commission schooling.

Eventually every man who is commissioned is assigned to a branch (based upon his qualifications and the current needs of the Army.) The GMS Program is in effect at 189 units. Branch Material Training is still carried on at 45 units.

Eastern's Military Science Department is a GMS unit.

Marine Team To Interview Students

A Marine Officer Selection Team will visit Eastern Kentucky State College on October 30th through November 1 for the purpose of interviewing undergraduates interested in obtaining a commission in the U. S. Marine Corps upon receipt of their baccalaureate degree. The team headed by Major J. F. Meyers, Jr., will be located in the Student Union Building.

The Marine Corps offers five basic Officer Training Programs; four for male applicants and one for women. The features of the male programs are:

1. Freshman and sophomores enrolled in the Platoon Leaders Class attend six weeks of training during two summer vacations at Quantico, Virginia.
2. Juniors attend one continuous twelve-week training course at Quantico, Virginia.
3. Seniors and graduates attend a ten week Officer Candidate Course after graduation.
4. No drills, meetings, or other military activities during the school year.
5. Selective Service exemption.
6. Pay received during training.

Additional information can be obtained from the Marine team during their visit.

MAJOR J. F. MEYERS

A recent publication of the Council for Financial Aid to Education shows that voluntary support of U. S. higher education has grown steadily in the last decade—from $289.5 million in 1954-55 to $626.6 million in 1958-59.

The Kentucky Department of Public Safety says Sam Speeder, one of the Terrible Traffic Trio, often is not blamed for accidents because he hides behind more obvious causes like passing on a hill or curve.

Military Build - up To Affect Education

At the request of the American Council on Education and several other national educational organizations, the Department of Defense has prepared a special statement entitled, "Implications of Present Military Manpower Build-up for College and University Faculty and Students." This statement implicates the effects of military build-up on colleges and universities throughout the country.

Since 1956 there has been a screening program under which an individual in the Ready Reserve could be screened to the Standby Reserve if certain criteria were met. Those members of the Ready Reserve who possess a critical civilian occupation and are determined to be in excess of Ready Reserve requirements for that occupation are transferred to the Standby Reserve upon their application unless they also possess a critical military skill. The United States Department of Labor maintains a list of Critical Civilian Occupations for screening the Ready Reserve and this list is used to determine the eligibility of an applicant for transfer to the Standby Reserve on the basis of a critical civilian occupation.

Under this policy, Ready Reservists who have been employed at a college level educational institution and have been instructing in subjects required in preparation for entering a profession included on the List of Critical Occupations or were employed in a key managerial position, should have been transferred to the Standby Reserve prior to the date of the first involuntary recall on 25th of August, 1961, provided they:

- A. Were in excess of ready Reserve requirements for their skill.
- B. Did not qualify in a critical military skill.
- C. Did not voluntarily sign an agreement to participate as a Ready Reservist.
- D. Submitted information as to their status to their unit commander.

The screening policy also provides for transferring to the Standby Reserve certain students who are in their final year of undergraduate work or are students in graduate or professional schools and are majoring in a field of study preparatory to entering a profession appearing on the List of Critical Occupations. Excluded from these provisions are ROTC members, those students who have not had active training and service, those who possess a critical military skill and volunteers who agree in writing to remain in the Ready Reserve for a minimum of one year.

In requesting transfer to the Standby Reserve because of his student status, a reservist first submits either a certification from the institution as to his class standing or submits an affidavit as to his test score. The screening program also calls for transfers from the Ready Reserve to the Standby Reserve by reason of extreme personal or community hardship.

These screening policies still apply to those Ready Reservists who have not been called to active duty. After a reservist has been alerted for active duty, he is no longer eligible for screening consideration. However, they may have their entrance on active duty delayed for extreme personal hardship reasons. Such requests for Army Reserve and Army National Guard personnel assigned to units will be submitted to the reserve unit commanders. Non-unit Army Reserve and Army National Guard personnel, as well as Navy, Air Force and Air National Guard reservists will submit requests to the authorities who issued their alert notices or active duty orders.

Anyone in doubt as to his status should contact the commander of his Reserve unit to which he is currently assigned and request a clarification of his status.

Highway Chief

thought when he took office as highway commissioner. "We need better highways for all of our programs," and he listed, among others, education, tourism, industry, and agriculture. He cited tourist trade as the most profitable with $250 million a year now being spent by tourists in Kentucky.

Pays tribute to Dorris

Ward paid tribute to Dr. J. T. Dorris, president of the Pioneer National Monument Association, who has spearheaded a move to establish a state park at Booneboro. Said Ward of the retired Eastern professor: "He will see, within his life, the realization of his dreams, a park at Booneboro." This, too, received an explosive applause from the audience of students and faculty.

He said that, although some work had been done in improving the highways in Madison County, "we haven't touched the surface yet." "I think there's nothing more basic to the needs of Kentucky than to provide good highways," he said. Apparently he realized that local leaders are aware of this when he said that former governor Keen Johnson, Judge R. O. Moberly, James M. Baker, and Eastern president Robert R. Martin are constantly asking for better roads in the county. "They are pretty shrewd, too," he said, "the way they go about the matter."

Ward outlined the two major programs to provide better highways, the new inter-state system, and the Eastern and Western Kentucky Turnpikes. He said that we have about 700 miles of the new system of inter-state highways in Kentucky, most of which is still under construction. "We don't have a single highway now that could be considered a good one," he said.

"Under the leadership of Governor Combs, there will be a great highway system in Kentucky," he said. He commented that the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike will have freeways from Campton to Hazard, and Campton to Prestonsburg, to help break the barrier in that part of the state. "Although these will be a tremendous asset to the economy of the state, there still will be a great gap in Kentucky," he said. "The best highways now are bad and there are other little roads that must be paid for by the people of the commonwealth. We cannot get a nickel of federal aid on these."

He said that he was appealing to the students, "as fellow Kentuckians, to join me in fighting for our new programs so that Kentucky can continue to move forward." President Martin introduced Ward as the person responsible for "the greatest highway program this state has ever known."

fields. Exhibits of All-American newspapers, year books and magazines will be on display. The conference will close at a luncheon Saturday, awards will be presented to the five college newspapers selected as the best in the nation. Nelson Poynter, publisher of the St. Petersburg, Florida, Times will make the presentations and give the luncheon address.

Safety men say the new inter-state highway system can save as many as 3,500 lives a year.

BSU Party and Vespers
 "Fall Roundup" is the theme of a BSU party scheduled for Saturday night at 7:30 at the Center. People planning to attend should leave their names on a list at the center. All students are invited. Rommie Wolfe, social chairman, is in charge of arrangements. He will be assisted by Toby Ligon, Merle Casada, Larry Raymer, Johnny Holmes, Sharon Foster, Judy Williams, and Terri Groves.

Dwight K. Lyons, director of Baptist Student Union activities, will be in charge of Vespers each evening next week at 6:30 p.m. Colored slides, special music and charts will be used in illustrating this special study of the organizational structure of the BSU.

Episcopalians Students to Meet Sunday

The Episcopal Canterbury Group will meet in Room 202 of the Student Union Building at 6 p.m., Sunday. Rev. Scott Peddie of Christ Church, Richmond will meet with them.

This will be an organizational meeting at which the group will elect officers for the year and plan the group's activities. All Episcopalians on the campus are urged to attend the meeting on Sunday. It is hoped that faculty members will also come. A cordial invitation is extended to all Lutherans and Greek Orthodox members to meet with the group since there is not a church for those denominations in Richmond. Refreshments will be served.

'College News Conference' Back On Television

College News Conference, the program "where the leaders of tomorrow meet the leaders of today," returns to television this fall.

Ruth Hagy, producer and moderator of the series, has this message for the American public:

"I would like to express my special thanks to all of you, schools, individuals, and organizations alike, who came to College News Conference's support at the time we left the air. I want you to know that College News Conference will continue to serve your interest by publicizing your special activities and by presenting to the American public a valid image of American students as articulate and intelligent young men and women who are concerned with the course of events that shape the world in which we live."

Many of the College News Conference programs will originate on location throughout the U.S. and abroad. Some of the places chosen for the program are Denver, Los Angeles, Miami, Boston, New Orleans, and New York, as well as San Juan, Berlin, Paris and Colombia, South America. This program will therefore, be taking students abroad and will be using students for local areas when on location in the United States.

Among this year's guests at this series of programs will be such well-known personalities as Dean Rusk, Secretary of State; Barry Goldwater, Senator from Arizona; Arthur Goldberg, Secretary of Labor; Abraham Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare; Haris Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization, Affairs; and Robert Kennedy, Attorney General.

The College News Conference is eager to hear about students who have speaking ability, are acquainted with national and international issues, who have displayed leadership qualities, and whom you would consider effective representatives of your school or organization.

Television stations which will be carrying the program in our region are WPKY-TV (Channel 15) in Louisville and WCET-TV (Channel 48) in Cincinnati. Local newspapers and directories will have to be consulted for the starting date and time.

THEY WILL GOVERN THE WOMEN—A formal installation of house council officers was held last Thursday in the Hiram Brock Auditorium at which time the following presidents became officials: Barbara Sammons, Case Hall; Clydia Ann Case, Sullivan Hall; and Martha Walker, Burnham Hall.

Model Fall Out Shelter To Be Built At Eastern

By Joyce Daulton

President Robert R. Martin has announced that a model fallout shelter is to be built in the basement of the Coates Administration Building on Eastern's campus. The purpose of the shelter is twofold: (1) publicity and (2) research.

The planned shelter is to be used for publicity for the civil defense program of Madison County. It is to be an example of the kind of structure suitable for a small family.

The government intends to use this shelter for research purposes. The contract made with the college states that the shelter is to be used for experimentation and research and will be available for use a specified number of days of the year.

The shelter is to be a prototype structure of steel construction.

ment of the Administration Building behind the stage opening into the lower hall.

Permission for building the structure and provision for the location is all the college is providing. The shelter is not intended for anyone in case of an attack, but as an experiment backed by the civil defense.

No contract has been awarded but building should begin soon according to Mr. J. C. Powell, assistant to the president.

ELDER'S

Where your Parents and Grandparents traded when they were at Eastern.

BY D. E. SCHOEFLER, ESQUIRE'S Fashion Director

Correct campus fashion begins with the basic dress suit. The backbone of any undergraduate wardrobe is a minimum of three basic suits. Here, then, are the trio that suit all occasions from every-day wear to evening dress.

TOWN TWEED...Here's a fresh interpretation of a smart but casual suit that is virtually a campus classic. It's in an olive tweed with a bright Tiger Tone overplaid; a versatile addition to your wardrobe that puts you at ease in town or on campus.

"BLUES MAKE FASHION NEWS"...The wheel of fashion turns back to blue for dress-up wear. Here's a three-piece blue serge suit... sartorially smart, traditionally styled in the natural shoulder silhouette. It's an elegant vested suit featuring a three-button front and notched lapels; in perfect taste for both daytime or dressy evening wear.

NATURAL SHOULDER NEWCOMER... A striking three-piece suit with an olive bronze suede finish. Its vest features matching suit fabric on one side, patterned fabric on the other. It's a smart, rugged, good-looking suit in a traditional styling.

TWO ALTERNATE SUITS always correct for campus wear... One is the classic grey flannel, an old standby, and always dependable for daytime or evening wear. The other alternate is the glenurquardt plaid. It affords a sprightly change of pace if you are in a position to expand beyond the three suit minimum.

COLLAR POINTERS...Your shirt collar complements your suit. A basic wardrobe of campus dress shirts should include the smart, elegant, crisp looking tab (there are several variations—the British tab, the grip tab with short point, and the snap tab). The oxford button down is still the perennial campus favorite and the short round collar is always neat and correct.

TIE YOUR WARDROBE TOGETHER... your neckwear should coordinate with suit and shirt. ESQUIRE'S Fall campus choices are regimental stripes in bright, contrasting and soft mellow colors; the classic repp with a deep olive hue; wool challis in smart "new blue" and olive mixtures and a second challis in geometric tones of tiger and blue—a knit to note is a striking looking model in winter tiger shade.

HEAD AND FOOTNOTES... Your dress hat for Fall is the narrow brim campus classic in bronze brushed felt. This season's model will have a slightly higher center crease crown... In footwear, dark brown cordovans, both plain top and wing tip, will be the overwhelming campus choices... Ribbed dress socks in colors related to your campus clothes complete the current picture in dressy campus wear.

Best of luck for the Fall semester... see you next month when we'll have a look at what's new and fashionable in campus sportswear.
