Homecoming Weekend Starts Today; Game Tomorrow

Two Records At Stake In Maroon-'Topper Clash

Two contrasting records could be set tomorrow when arch-rivals Western and Eastern clash in the Maroons' homecoming in Hanger Stadium.

The Maroons, currently in a five-game losing streak, stand to set a new record for consecutive games lost if they drop the tilt, while the Hilltoppers, riding an unbeaten skien of nine games are shooting for ten in a row, and a new Western record.

The Maroons haven't finished a game victorious since the season opener against Austin Peay, tying a five-game losing streak compiled over the 1933 and '34 seasons.

Western won its last two games last season, and has scored six triumphs in seven games this year, a tie to Tampa the only blemish on the record. The last team to beat Western? Eastern, 6-5, last season in the 'Toppers' homecoming.

It's Western's Turn

It may be Western's turn to beat Eastern, but coach Glenn Presnell hopes the spirit of homecoming and a fired-up Maroon team can straighten out the string of spoiled homecomings, both ways, dating to 1959.

In that year Western beat Eastern 16-15 in Richmond, and since then Kentucky's oldest rivals have taken turn about routing each other's homecoming. Last season's Eastern triumph in Bowling Green kept the uncanny relationship alive, and would have cost any pigskin forecaster his license.

Prior to Western's 1959 win, Eastern had won seven straight homecoming games from the Hilltoppers in Richmond. Western had not beaten the Maroons here since 1942.

Meanwhile, in Bowling Green, the 'Toppers' could only manage three consecutive wins, with Eastern leading the series from 1942, 11-7. Western leads the series, dating from 1914, 23-12, and there have been no ties.

Presnell announced this week that three Maroons would not see action against Western, or were doubtful performers. Herbie Conley, fullback, and co-captain halfback Bill Goedde, were listed as very doubtful, while guard Furman Penland was definitely written out.

'Toppers' Are Tough

"We know Western has a real fine team," Presnell said, "both offensively and defensively," as he pointed to this week's Ohio Valley Conference statistics. The 'Toppers' are leading the loop in offense, and are second in defense, while the Maroons are next to last in both departments.

Presnell continued, "But season records, and statistics have never meant much in this series, and I don't think they will Saturday." Presnell leads his personal series with Western 5-4.

If the expectations of College officials of a crowd in excess of 8,000 materialize, the Eastern-Western audience will be the largest ever to witness a Maroon sporting event. An estimated 8,000 saw the Eastern-Middle Tennessee Band Day struggle earlier in the season.

Eastern athletic director Charles T. Hughes announced this week that 756 additional reserved seats would be sold for the game.

TODD HALL TOWERING . . . Todd Hall, one of two new 12-story men's dormitories is rapidly approaching completion, and is far ahead of its schedule. The structure, which along with the new 720, may be ready for the spring semester. Dupree Hall will be completed for the fall semester of 1964. The completely air-conditioned halls are being constructed at a cost of $2.85 million. They are named for Dr. Russell I. Todd, Richmond, and F. L. Dupree, Harlan, mern Board of Regents.

Yearbook Awarded Medalist Rating

The 1963 Milestone has received the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's highest award, the Progress learned late yesterday afternoon.

In a bulletin received by the office of public affairs shortly before press time, the national journalism service announced that, the Milestone had been awarded a Medalist rating, signifying that the Eastern annual publication has ranked among the top yearbooks in the nation.

Approximately five per cent of the nation's college and university yearbooks received this distinction.

The Medalist rank is granted to yearbooks "selected from the first place ratings for special considerations, based on intangible qualities that are evident to the judges."

Personality Wins
These features, according to the CSPSA, whose headquarters are at Columbia University, New York City, are characterized as the "personality" of the entry.

The 348-page Milestone was entered in the highest classification in the contest, and competed with colleges and universities of all enrollments. The 1,000 points in the rating scale, the Milestone received a score of 948. A score of 850 entitles the publication to a first class rating, the award earned by the 1962 Milestone.

This is the fifth top honor rating awarded the Milestone in two years and the third earned by the 1963 edition.

Earlier this week, the Milestone was awarded an "A" rating for the second consecutive year by the National School Yearbook Association, located in Memphis, Tenn. This placed the annual among the top ten yearbooks in the novice division.

Debaters Win Georgetown Tournament

Eastern debaters took top honors in the Georgetown Opener at Georgetown College last Saturday.

Miss Shirley Green, a sophomore from Covington, placed first among the top ten debaters in the novice division, and Gordon Camuel, a freshman from Lexington, placed second. The novice debate team won first place in overall competition.

Bellarmine College received first place honors in the varsity division.

Topic for the tournament was the national debate subject: "Should the federal government guarantee the opportunity for higher education for all qualified high school graduates?"

Later this year the debaters will participate in tournaments at Western Kentucky

State College, Ball State, the University of Pennsylvania, Berea, Miami of Ohio, and Bellarmine.

Host To Tourney
They will host the Pioneer

Invitational Tournament at Eastern next spring and will take part in the Kentucky Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest.

Sponsors for the debate team are Mrs. Aimee Alexander and John Leeson, both assistant professors of English.

Other Novices Listed
Other novice debaters include Dave Bralner, Louisville; Miss Diana Crawford, Stone; Ronald Elswick, McDowell; Miss Helen Fagan, Richmond; Miss Susan Gaide, Knoxville, Tenn., and Jim Glass, Richmond.

Miss Betty Hensley, New Richmond, Ohio; David Hill, Franklin, Ohio; Robert Langley, Everts; Charles Lewis, Russell, and Jerry Moore, Pontiac, Michigan.

James Reid, Mt. Sterling; John Robinson, Danville; Miss Pat Schneiter, Sellersburg, Indiana, and Miss Betsy Schwertfeger, Rossford, Ohio.

Varsity squad debaters are Tom Coffey, Lexington; Victor Hellard, Versailles; Jay Roberts, and Joe Dunn, both of Richmond.

Judges from Eastern were: Miss Carolyn King; Whitley City; John Rodgers, Somerset; Dr. Quentin Keen, associate professor of English; Mrs. Alexander, and Mr. Leeson.

U N Cannot Afford To Fail, Says CCUN Speaker Wednesday

"The United Nations cannot afford to fail," Doiby Garen, an Eastern graduate student, told the students at assembly last Wednesday, "for it is the symbol to the world of man's hope."

He was among three students participating in the College's observance of United Nations Day. Other participants were Tom Coffey, a junior from Lexington, and Miss Lois Campbell, a senior from Westminster, Maryland.

The program was sponsored by the Collegiate Council of United Nations. Speaking in Hiram Brock Auditorium, Garen, a native of the Philippines, discussed the role of the United Nations in the development of the Asian countries.

He told the gathering that with the advent of the United Nations, a basic principle - the inherent rights of the peoples of the world to be free - had flowered.

III Countries in UN
"Small Asian nations are no longer alone or afraid of their problems," he said, "because the U.N. has provided opportunities for them to carve their own destinies through teaching them to use their own talents."

Miss Campbell, vice president of CCUN, said that the United Nations was created out of the needs, sufferings, and hopes of the world. "However," she said, "what the United Nations achieves depends upon its true foundations—the peoples of the world."

Today, III countries are members of this world peace organization.

Coffey, president of the group, compared the organizational structure of the United Nations to that of the United States. He said that the Secretariat was similar to the executive branch; likewise, the General Assembly resembles the legislative branch, and the International Court of Justice serves as its judicial branch.

The ruling authority of the United Nations is the chart, which is like the United States Constitution. Within this document are stated the concepts which reflect "the ideals of mankind."

Student Seating

Student seating for the Homecoming game tomorrow has been changed from previous games due to the expected crowd of 8,000.

Freshman are required to sit in the stands across from the stadium and behind Case Hall. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors will sit in sections A, B, and C of the stadium. Sections D, E, F, G, and H will be reserved for alumni.

Sections I and J will be reserved for six high school bands that will perform at the game.

Alumni Dance Tonight 59 Units In Parade

Homecoming weekend, expected to attract a record gathering of more than 8,000 alumni and friends, will officially get under way tonight with the annual Alumni Dance.

The festive weekend will also include a 59-unit downtown parade of colorful floats and marching units, the traditional coronation of the Homecoming Queen, the Saturday football clash between arch-rivals Eastern and Western, and many reunions and class parties.

Thirty-seven candidates will vie for Homecoming Queen. The winner will be crowned at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, just prior to the Maroon-Hilltopper grid contest in Hanger Stadium, by Earle B. Combs, vice-chairman of the college board of regents.

The big parade — largest in Eastern's history — will leave the campus Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and will parade through the downtown business district, from Lancaster Avenue to Collins Street.

Theme - Storybook Land

Theme for the Homecoming parade and campus decorations competition is Storybook Land and the Eastern campus promises to be a child's fairy-tale paradise on Saturday.

KYMA, campus pep organization, sponsors these activities.

The Alumni Association sponsors the Alumni Dance, to be held from 8 - 12 tonight in the Student Union Building, and other Homecoming activities.

Registration of alumni will be held from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Union, and at 11 o'clock the classes of 1962 and 1963 will present their class gift to the college—a new campus entrance at Kit Carson Drive, off Lancaster Avenue.

Following the football game Saturday the Alumni Association will host the old grads to a coffee in Walnut Hall at 4:30. At 5:30 the Association's buffet dinner will be held in the main cafeteria.

Tours of the fast-growing Eastern campus also will be held Saturday as alumni and visitors view part of the $23 million building program still under way. Of special interest to the alumni will be the newly-completed $3 million Alumni Coliseum, named in their honor.

Reunions Planned

One of the many reunions planned this weekend will be held by the R.O.T.C. graduates of the classes of 1953-56. Tonight reception is planned at the home of retired Col. and Mrs. Alden O. Hatch, and a Saturday night party at the Blue Grass Army Depot Office is scheduled. Col. Hatch is a former professor of military science at Eastern.

Kickoff time at Hanger Stadium Saturday for the football game is 2 p.m. and the largest crowd to gather on the Eastern campus is expected. Athletic director, Charles T. Hughes, said that additional bleachers would be erected in the end zones to add to the normal 7,500 seating capacity of the stadium.

Police Barracks To Be Built Near Campus

A $100,000 state police headquarters barracks will be built on the Eastern College By-pass at the point where Kit Carson Drive intersects with the by-pass just south of the new coliseum.

Governor Bert T. Combs made the announcement this week, saying that the needed improvement would be designated as a memorial to Trooper William Tevis, who was killed in the line of duty on May 25. Commissioner of Finance Pritchett has been directed to set aside the money to finance the project.

State Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern expressed satisfaction over action of the Governor in making available from the capital construction fund the $100,000 with which to erect the building.

The board of regents of Eastern has offered to make available for the building an adequate lot. The proposal site has been inspected by officers of the State Police and pronounced satisfactory.

Commissioner Lovern said that the location for the barracks is ideal because it will be quickly accessible to Highway I-75 that is to be built southward, as well as being situated on the by-pass. It will be an appropriate memorial to Trooper William Tevis, too, the Commissioner said.

President Martin said, "I am delighted that Governor Combs is making the state police barracks available for Richmond. We are glad to donate a site for the building. It will be of great benefit to the college, providing police protection for the campus and traffic direction at Eastern's athletic contests. Assurance has been given that the architect will be instructed to erect a building whose architecture will blend with that on the Eastern campus. I am glad the barracks is to memorialize Trooper William Tevis."

First Audubon Lecture Set For Monday Night

EDGAR T. JONES

Edgar T. Jones, noted photographer and naturalist, will narrate the film "Alberta Outdoors" Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in Hiram Brock Auditorium.

This is the first in a series of five programs presented by the National Audubon Society and sponsored by the Eastern biology department.

Jones, of Edmonton, Alberta, produced the full length color film of the wildlife and plant life, and the magnificent scenery of his Province. Topographically, Alberta is one of the most interesting of Canadian Provinces. The southern section of the Province is a rolling plain, the central section a region of parklands and rich farming country, and much of the north an untamed wilderness, broken only by the Peace River Block.

Clubs Swing Into Homecoming Festivities

Cinderella found midnight to be the bewitching hour, at which her mode of transportation turned into a pumpkin. Here's hoping that the senior class owns the only pumpkin float and that all other are completed tonight while candidates are being shown off at the annual alumni dance.

Besides the deadline for the completion of floats, there is another of six o'clock tomorrow morning for getting all floats out of their respective Warehouses and into their appropriate places for the parade.

As the floats are lined up, homecoming representatives will be entertained at seven forty-five breakfast for contestants and graduates. From the breakfast they must rush to dress in formal for the parade which will begin at ten o'clock.

One-thirty will see the climax of this hurried week with the crowning of the 1963-64 Homecoming Queen. Then back to the books and preparation for mid-term examinations.

Baptist Carry Homecoming To Church

Brenda Southard, who represented the Kentucky Baptist Student Union as a student missionary in Nigeria during the past summer, will speak during the morning worship service at Richmond's First Baptist Church on Sunday morning as part of the annual BSU Homecoming activities.

Brenda, a senior at Western Kentucky State College, is a native of Bowling Green. Active in the BSU program on her campus, she also holds an office the statewide Young Woman's Auxiliary. She is a past secretary of the student government at Western.

Eastern's BSU Choir will sing during Sunday's worship service. The program will include: "The Heavens are Telling" (Beethoven); "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" (O'Hara); and "Send Me, O Lord, Send Me" (Coggins). Charlie Wells is director of the choir, and Debby Murrell serves as assistant director.

Speakers at Vespers for the coming week have been announced by Jerry Chase, BSU devotional chairman. The Vesper schedule follows: Monday, Miss Janet Newkirk of the Model Laboratory School faculty; Tuesday, Dr. William Garmon of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary; and Wednesday, Dr. Charles Van Cleve of Eastern's English Department. Devotions begin at 6:30 p.m.

ECC Plans Trip

The Episcopal Canterbury Club meet in front of the Student Union Building at 3:15 Sunday, for a trip to the Eastern State Mental Hospital in Lexington.

Pi Omega Pi Initiates

An initiation banquet for the Pi Omega Pi pledges was held at the Benault Inn last Thursday evening. Eighteen pledges were initiated during a program at which Dr. Joseph H. Young was the main speaker. Guests of the occasion were Mrs. Joseph Young and the club's new sponsor Miss Margaret H. Moberly.

Interested students may still enroll in the sign language class which meets at the BSU Center each Monday at 5:45 p.m. Miss Carolyn Jones, a member of the Eastern faculty, is teaching the class. This special project will help prepare students for work with the deaf in their respective churches and communities.

Teeth Get Attention

Dr. James Murphy presented a program concerning dental hygiene in clinic practice and new techniques in dentistry to the Biology Club at its last meeting. Dr. Murphy said that proper brushing techniques are essential to healthy teeth.

He stated that such sweets as candy and soft drinks, if not followed by immediate brushing, provide the sugar on which bacteria in the mouth act to form acids. These acids are responsible for eating through the tooth enamel, resulting in decay. Dr. Murphy reminded the biology club members "to be true to your teeth or they'll be false to you!"

At the next meeting of the Biology Club Mr. Campbell, new professor on the biology staff, will speak on his research in Central America.

Medicine Advances

Dr. Carl Fortune, doctor of internal medicine from Lexington, spoke to the Caduceus Club Monday night. He spoke concerning the many reasons for the great revolution in the practice of medicine over the last 50 years. Dr. Fortune told of how Kentucky had pioneered in the field of preventive medicine.

Students Discuss Visitation Program

Over 200 Eastern students met Tuesday afternoon with President Martin and Mr. John Vickers, executive assistant to the President, and Mr. Henry Pryse, director of college community-relations, to make plans for high school visitations throughout the state to publicize Eastern.

The students, representatives of 99 of the 120 counties in the state, were told "to tell the story of Eastern across the state."

Mr. Vickers told the group that it is hoped to have one student from every high school in the state who would return to his school and speak to prospective Eastern students.

The purpose of the group is to tell high school students about the various parts of Eastern and to answer any questions they may have about college.

Mr. Pryse said that questions that might be asked on their visitations would concern the facilities at Eastern, what to bring to school, type of social life, grading system used, the possibility of obtaining aid or a job while attending Eastern, and Richmond itself.

Each student is to visit the high school this fall. Members of the faculty are assisting the students in the program.

many Arctic birds migrate and winter in the Province, while resident birds and animals stray from their summer haunts in the foothills and mountains to other sections of Alberta.

In "Alberta Outdoors," Audubon audiences will see birds and animals of the Province, among them, moose, elk, the Canada lynx, hordes of hemian waxwings, pine and evening grosbeaks, and the snowy owl.

Searches For Owl
Jones spent three years with another naturalist searching the wilderness for the seldom seen great gray owl. During the extensive search, over 30,000 miles were covered by auto, 450 miles by horseback, and many more miles by foot. Only during the third year were the men successful in locating two nests of the great gray owl and photographing this diminishing species in its natural habitat.

"Alberta Outdoors" offers audiences a trip to one of the most scenic parts of Canada, guided by naturalist and conservationist.

Tickets for the series are one dollar and may be purchased at the door of the auditorium, or from any member of the biology faculty at Eastern.

Yearbook Awarded

nation's top per cent of college and university yearbooks. Membership in NSYA is more than 1,000.

First of Three
The first of three successive announcements concerning the 1963 Milestone's excellence in national competition came last week when the Associated Collegiate Press Association gave the Eastern annual a first class honor rating.

This is the top usual rating given by the University of Minnesota rating service.

Both the Columbia and A.C.P. awards are the highest ever earned by the Milestone from these services. The Columbia critique cited the Milestone's overall excellence, saying "You have a book of real merit."

"The opening color pictures are among the best that have come to our attention," it was stated in the report.

Perfect scores were earned in several areas. The National School Yearbook Association applauded the Milestone for its complete reporting on curriculum and special events, and for the frequent linkage of school and community in coverage and theme.

Especially praised was the honors section, which gave special recognition to students excelling academically. The opening, or introductory section, containing several pages of four-color photographs, was cited for its "superior" photography, layout, and theme development.

Editors of the 1963 Milestone were Miss Arlene Calico, Dayton, Ohio, and Kyle Wallace, Somerset.

Women Offered Much By Army

"This coming summer could become a stepping stone to success for college women who are interested in a promising executive career in the U.S. Army," reports Sgt. Max Krisby head of the army recruiting station in Richmond.

According to Sgt. Krisby, this new program called the summer training program for college juniors is specifically designed for young women who are interested in becoming commissioned officers following graduation.

Under this new four week program, at the WAC Center, Fort McClellan, Alabama, a young woman will get acquainted with army life and learn the executive opportunities available. This plan has particular appeal he says, for one who is seriously considering a career as a WAC officer, and also for one who seeks knowledge of the service.

The women accepted will become corporals in the U.S. Army Reserves, and following this four weeks of summer training, will revert to inactive service status.

"During the senior year one may apply for a commission as a lieutenant. If the summer course is not completed or if there is no desire to apply for a commission, the woman will be discharged from the reserve.

In order to qualify, a young lady must be between the ages of 18 and 31 years, a citizen of the United States, a junior in college, single, and must pass the physical, mental, and moral standards. There are no obligations. Further information can be obtained by contacting Sgt. Krisby, 142 E. Main St. in Richmond or by calling 623-1270.

Once Upon A Time Homecoming Floats To Fairyland

By PAT KELLER and CAROLYN OAKES Progress Staff Writers
Thirty-eight feet is the length of the Little Theater float, the longest one in the Homecoming parade this year. A total of 38 floats representing campus organizations will be part of a 59-unit downtown parade of floats and marching units. Judging of the floats will be based on originality and how well the theme of it fits Homecoming and the football game. They will be judged during the parade.

Homecoming Fashions Sparkle

Weekend Activities Call For Smooth Good Looks

By SANDY WILSON
Progress Women's Editor

Take a deep breath. There's a touch of fall in the air, and to most college students, that means homecoming is not far away.

Aside from the prospective visit from the alumni, there is nothing that creates more furor on campus than the activities during the Homecoming weekend—to say nothing of the chaos that reigns when everyone is running around trying to find something to wear for the big weekend which will take in the alumni dance, ball game and of course, something exciting after the game.

There are many interesting styles around this season, but first let's start with the dance, which is semi-formal. Gloria Gray is wearing a gold chiffon sheath with removable sequin trimmed jacket. She has black gloves, purse and shoes to wear with it and then she's all set for the big dance. Her escort, Johnny Tatman, is wearing a black tux, which may be a little more formal, but just the same is in very good fashion this season. With his cordovan plain-toe shoes for formal wear, and black cummerbund, he's ready to "swing out."

Big Day Arrives

Then the big day arrives of the crowning of the homecoming queen and the exciting ballgame. We want to be comfortable, but yet wear the newest in fashion. Barbara Prewitt, has chosen a suit by American Bazaar in an olive green tweed that is very attractive. For her hat, Barbara reaches back a few years to take on the new Garbo Look, by Jamie.

Her purse and gloves are brown with the purse trimmed in brown leather, and she wears brown leather heels. Herringbone tweed is in very high fashion this season, and Roger Farley has chosen to wear to the game a brown herringbone tweed elbow bender sport coat by McGregor. His brown pin-stripe shirt and tie go very well with the khaki-dacron cotton slacks.

If the weather changes he has a three-quarter-length rain coat with zip-out lining and a belt in the back, and of course, an umbrella if it rains.

Game Isn't End

The game isn't the end of things by any means so let's take a look at what can be worn Saturday night, when the couple goes out. Again Barbara had to put a lot of thought in what to wear. She has decided on a black and white cotton and nylon woven skirt and overblouse. The overblouse has a black velvet ribbon to bring out the black in the outfit.

Her accessories are very pretty rhinestone earrings, white gloves and black heels. John can't let her out dress him, so he has chosen a camel blazer by McGregor, a brown pin-stripe button-down collar shirt and brown rep tie. His belt is camel oxford cloth to be worn with his brown slacks and brown bass shoes, and they're all set for an evening on the town.

The clothes modeled for Homecoming were from Elizabeth's, Louise Shop, and Jett and Hall.

TO THE GAME . . . Roger Farley, commerce major from Lexington, is on his way to Saturday's big Eastern-Western clash with Barbara Prewitt, physical education major from Versailles, representing the Woodford County Club.

AT THE DANCE . . . Gloria Gray, elementary education major from Louisville, representing the Young Democrats, is all set for the dance with her escort, Johnny Tatman, commerce and accounting major from Lexington.

ON THE TOWN . . . John Morgan, commerce major from Lexington, escorts Barbara out on the town for a few hours of dining and dancing.

Giants Invade Campus To Insure Maroon Win

By JOY GRAHAM
Progress Clubs Editor

Giants have invaded Eastern's campus. Today a planned invasion from Wonderland is materializing as giants dressed in red and white appear on several dormitory lawns.

At Sullivan Hall the balcony is bedecked with Jack the Giant Killer, who represents Eastern, and the Giant, who stands for Western. The residents of the dorm say, "Whoever shall this trumpet blow, shall soon the Giant overthrow, and break the black enchantment straight, so all shall be in happy state."

Mattox Hall has seen the addition of an enormous bean stalk. At the top is Western, climbing down after Eastern, or Jack, who is chopping away hoping to cause Western to fall and crush the Golden OVC egg at the bottom.

Combs Hall also chose Jack and the Bean Stalk as their homecoming theme.

McGregor Expects—Victory
Another giant is resting on the lawn of Beckham, McCreary and Miller Halls. This gentleman's name is Goliath and his shield says he is from Western. His oppressor, David, is a might smaller but apparently packed with power.

Youthfulness is displayed at other dorms through displays of more fairy tales and children's stories.

Burnam Hall says "The Hilltoppers can huff and puff but they'll never blow Eastern down," through their theme, "The Three Little Figs."

Girls in McGregor Hall are expecting—a victory, that is, as they display a stork form Hans Christian Anderson's "The Stork."

Keith Hall shows Eastern about to knock Western, in the form of Humpty-Dumpty, off a wall.

Little Boy Blue is all dressed in red and sound asleep under a haystack in front of Case Hall.

"Bake'em Big E" is the call from O'Donnell Hall as the old witch in the candy house prepares to cook poor little Hansel and Gretel.

A book on the roof of Martin Hall tells of Western's Victory—these boys say there's no story to tell.

Even the "library has emphasized the section on literature for children as they ask "Mirror, mirror on the wall, who's the fairest team of all?" The KIE's are responsible for the library's decorations.

HOW SMALL CAN YOU GET?

Today let us address ourselves to a question that has long rocked and roiled the academic world: Is a student better off at a small college than at a large college?

To answer this question it is necessary first to define terms. What, exactly, do we mean by a small college? Well sir, some say that in order to be called truly small, a college should have an enrollment of not more than four students.

I surely have no quarrel with this statement; a four-student college must unequivocally be called small. Indeed, I would even call it intime if I knew what intime meant. But I submit there is such a thing as being too small. Take, for instance, a recent unfortunate event at Crimscott A and M.

Crimscott A and M, situated in a pleasant valley nestled between Philadelphia and Salt Lake City, was founded by

A. and M. Crimscott, two brothers who left Ireland in 1625 to escape the potato famine of 1841. As a result of their foresight, the Crimscott brothers never went without potatoes for one single day of their lives—and mighty grateful they were! One night, full of gratitude after a wholesome meal of French fries, cottage fries, hash browns, and au gratin, they decided to show their appreciation to this bountiful land of potatoes by endowing a college. But their generosity contained one stipulation: the enrollment of the college must never exceed four students. They felt that only by keeping the school this small could each student be assured of the personalized attention, the camaraderie, the esprit, that is all too often lacking in larger institutions of higher learning.

Well sir, things went along swimmingly until one Saturday a few years ago. On this day Crimscott had a football game scheduled against Minnesota, its traditional rival. Football, as you can well imagine, was something of a problem at Crimscott, what with only four undergraduates in the entire college. It was easy enough to muster a backfield, but to find a good line—or even a bad line—baffled some of the most resourceful coaching minds in the nation.

Well sir, on the morning of the big game against Minnesota, its traditional rival, a capricious fate dealt Crimscott a cruel blow—in fact, four cruel blows. Sigafos, the quarterback, woke up that morning with an impacted incisor. Wrichards, the slotback, flunked his taxidemy exam and was declared ineligible. Beerholm-Tree, the wingback-tailback, got his necktie caught in his espresso machine. Yuld, the fullback, was stolen by gypsies.

Consequently, none of the Crimscott team showed up at the football game, and Minnesota, its traditional rival, was able to score almost at will. Crimscott was so cross after this humiliating defeat that they immediately broke off football relations with Minnesota, its traditional rival. This later became known as the Sacco-Vanzetti Case.

So you can see how only four students might be too meagre an enrollment. The number that I personally favor is twenty. Why? you ask. Because, I reply, when you have twenty students and one of them opens a pack of Marlboro Cigarettes, there are enough to go around for everybody, and no one has to be deprived of Marlboro's flavor, of Marlboro's filter, of Marlboro's staunch and steadfast companionship, and as a result you have a student body that is brimming with sweet content and amity and harmony and concord and togetherness and soft pack and Flip-Top box.

That's why.
