PARTINGS

The end of every semester is heralded by the thought of broken friendships. Then when the end actually comes and the ones you have grown to regard as members of a family are gone, a feeling remains that they are not gone but are still present. You have unconsciously learned to think of them when familiar places are seen or certain remarks are heard. Tears, impassioned words, periods of intoxication, blatant banalities, or stoic muteness are characteristic of such partings. Fond memories and an occasional tear are the result.

Nearly a thousand of us, drawn from a heterogeneous collection of social, political, religious, moral, and economic strata have been a family for a semester. Due to conditions beyond our control this family has been partly broken up. This time it is a bit different however, some of those who have left will never return, except, of course, in the land of used to be.

THE REASON

The continent of Europe either by force or by self accord regards Adolf Hitler as a god. They use as their criterion of judgment his terrible victories. The rest of us regard our leaders as gods also. We use as our criterion of judgment the hope that they will be able to save us from the rule of the unwanted gods.

More of us than ever before are leaving the charmed circle. Gods are ones that create by building things up. We usually associate the process of tearing apart with devils.

RECOMPENSE

If either one of the two groups were gods we could pray to them and there would be the possibility of the prevention of the sadness of these unnecessary partings, but they are mere men and the effort is wasted. The interests they represent are not building by synthesis but by analysis.

I am only using the example of our life here at Eastern to draw an analogy. Because of certain conditions some people are being made unhappy. After a certain period of unhappiness, unhappy people begin to seek out the scourge of their unhappiness. When they find it there is hell on earth.

PUNISHMENT

I don't know who is responsible for the present world conditions. It may be Hitler, it may be the British mercantilists, it may be the American vested interests. It may be some unprecedented physical phenomenon. Whoever it is, whatever it is, you will be found out one of these hectic days and when you are—the wrath of ten thousand doubly demented devils will be small in comparison.

Elmore Ryle Will Deliver Address At Youth Service

The young people of the Christian Youth Fellowship will take charge of the morning service of the First Christian Church this coming Sunday, February 8. McDonough is State Head of Physical Fitness Work

T. E. McDonough, head of the Physical Education Department and Athletic Department at Eastern and recently-made Director of Physical Fitness for the State of Kentucky in the Civilian Defense program, has returned from a meeting in Frankfort with the heads of the Civilian Defense work.

The National Physical Fitness movement is conducted by the Federal Government through the office of Civilian Defense and has as its purpose the problem of developing among individuals of all ages a desire for the well being which comes with Physical Fitness and to show the need and importance of fitness in time of war, as well as to strengthen morale and enlist the support of organized agencies and volunteers for the carrying out of local, state and national programs contributing to the improvement of Physical Fitness. The group is also striving to make better use of gymnasiums, athletic fields, playgrounds, and neighboring lots and social centers.

Summing up the objectives of the work, Mr. McDonough said in a statement to the Progress today that, "The general objective is to make the boys and girls and men and women of our Nation physically fit."

With Mr. McDonough as co-director of Physical Fitness in Kentucky will be Mrs. Mary King Montgomery Kouns, instructor of physical education at the University of Kentucky.

As Director of the Physical Fitness Program, Mr. McDonough will recommend to the local defense councils the appointment of Physical Fitness representatives in the various counties; recommend and appoint the members of local and sectional Sports Boards; prepare a state program for widespread distribution to schools, clubs and Defense Councils; promote a program for in-

L. T. C. PLAY THURSDAY, FRIDAY

Third Down, Three to Go

Eastern defeated Wesleyan Monday night by a nice majority of points but it wasn't without a little rough work. The above photo, taken at the game by the Progress cameraman, shows "Buster" Maggard with the ball, attempting to pass to L. Becker, No. 7.

Enrollment is Expected to Reach Last Semester Figure by Monday

Latest figures from the Registrar's Office revealed that the total figure for registered students is expected to remain approximately the same as that of last semester. As the Registrar's Office will still enroll students as late as Monday, complete figures are not yet available.

Dr. Schnieb Delivers Address to A. A. S.; Named on Committee

Dr. Anna A. Schnieb, professor of Education and Psychology at Eastern and Councilor for the Kentucky Junior Academy of Science, addressed the Education Section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at the meeting of that group in Dallas, Texas, December 30.

Dr. Schnieb was appointed to the National Committee of the State Junior Academy of Science, on which she and the three other members of the committee, Dr. Otis Caldwell of New York, Dr. L. Thomas, U. of Illinois, and Dr. S. W. Bilsing of the Texas A. and M. College, will direct the work of the National Organization of Junior Academies throughout the country.

Carnegie Room Open On Tuesday, Thursday, And Friday Evenings

The Carnegie Music Room is open regularly from 6:30 P. M. until 8:30 P. M. on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings. Both students and faculty are cordially invited to come to the room on the lower floor of the Student Union Building adjacent to the women's lounge and listen to the records.

Those interested can submit their requests to the individual in charge. Complete files of authors, mediums, and works are on file. The collection includes such works as Iolanthe (complete), Rhapsody in Blue, and The Messiah.

Groups desiring special admittance to the room should see Mr. Van Peursem, head of the music department.

Student Government

At its first meeting the new Committee for Participation of Students in the Affairs of the College, composed of both students and faculty members, decided that its plans should be presented to the student body at the first opportunity.

It will be the objective of this committee to see that all reasonable recommendations which students or organizations may make are given proper consideration and made known to the entire student body. Following that procedure efforts will be made to ascertain the approval of disapproval, by ballot or other means, and then to get the adopted recommendations in the hands of the administration for action.

It should be understood at the outset that this plan is not, as yet, student government, but it offers a beginning for students to take advantage of in having some voice in what takes place on the campus. The committee may become a permanent group, or may devolve into an activity director or something of a similar nature. At any rate, here is an opportunity for the students to speak up and make their suggestions concerning college life. These ideas may deal with any phase of college activity—study, recreation, social life, clubs, administrative practices, and the like.

There will be a box placed in the Book Store or Recreation Room for the receipt of students' suggestions. All recommendations must be signed and be accompanied by reasons for the adoption of the idea. Slips may also be turned in to the editor of the Progress, or to any of the following members of the committee: Jean Anthony, Madge Jones, H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Ann Thomas, David Minesinger, or Hansford Farris.

Some sample suggestions might be: (1) Elimination of all clubs that are making no contribution to student life; (2) Formation of student committees to study book-store and/or cafeteria procedure and to get an understanding of the problems which these organizations face; (3) Adoption of a "one-fee" system which would take care of all small fees, including in one sum such costs as Milestone, athletics, fine arts program (proposed), and the like.

None of the suggestions that are finally presented to the student body are to be worth anything at all unless the students cast off indifference and decide that they really want the proposed recommendation adopted. A weak voice and no concerted action will accomplish nothing.

Book Drive is Highly Successful

Many Volumes Are Contributed During Two Week Collection

More than 700 books were collected during the first week of the Victory Book Campaign and many more have now been added to the collection for the men in service, it was announced yesterday.

Miss Floyd, who spent December 28-31 in Chicago attending the American Library Association midwinter conference where much emphasis was spent on libraries and defense, has been made county head of the Victory Book Campaign, designed to gather all books that may be contributed by the Madison County residents, having them catalogued, and then turning them over to the government for the use of men in service.

Boxes have been placed at the Public Library, Madison High School, Eastern Library, Christian Church, Glyndon Hotel, Police Court Room, Madison Theater, and at the county schools.

Union to Hold Second Party Tomorrow

Committees Will Give February Frolic for Students

The second of a series of parties sponsored jointly by the Student Union Committee and the Social Committee, the February Frolic, will be held in the Union tomorrow night from 7:30 to 10, it was announced today by Mrs. Katherine Chenault, hostess of the Student Union Building.

The first party, held the second week after returning from the Christmas holidays, was termed "quite successful" by Mrs. Chenault and she was sure that this week's party would be equally so. Entertainment for the party will be varied as before, with dancing and games in the recreation room, bingo in the grill, an art gallery in the Progress office off the recreation room, murder (hmm! that sounds interesting!) in the Milestone office, classical recordings in room 103, popular recordings in Walnut Hall, pictures in the Little Theatre, an Egyptian tomb in room 200, games in room 201, Oujia in room 202, and cards in the main lobby.

All students are cordially invited to participate in the fun, Mrs. Chenault said.

Maroons Will Meet Georgetown Tonight, Hoping for Second Win

Team to Play Berea Saturday

By BUD PETTY
Tonight the Eastern Maroons journey to Georgetown to engage the Georgetown Tigers in their second game of the current season. In their first encounter the Maroons defeated the Georgetown cagers 47-42 in one of the most exciting games ever witnessed at Weaver Gym.

Since this defeat the Georgetown team has been playing ball characteristic of their early season play in which they were so successful. Georgetown stands way up the ladder in the current conference standings and therefore are ready for our team. Eastern, presenting a renovated lineup, will be equally prepared to make it two in a row.

Tomorrow night the Eastern cagers travel to Berea to engage the Berea Mountaineers in the Madison County grudge battle. Two weeks ago the Maroon cagers defeated the Berea thincads 63-41 in their best played game. Since then Berea has acquired the name of "giant killer" by handing the University of Louisville their first defeat and by defeating the outstanding Morehead team in an overtime period.

With these two victories under their belts they will be more than anxious to knock off another of the leaders and will be all out against Eastern.

With these games taken care of, the Maroon cagers will pack their traveling clothes for the year and settle down for four home games and the KIAC tournament.

Morehead, Western, Centre, and Union are to be played in that order in rapid succession. This means a big job for the team, as all the teams will be reaching their peak in preparation for the tournament. All of these games will be return engagements for the teams as Eastern has played all of them earlier in the season.

The Maroons will be looking for revenge in all of these games as Morehead, Western, and Union defeated them and Centre forced them into an overtime in order to win.

These games will help the fans in acquiring their pre-tournament dope as the teams that defeated Eastern will be the teams to watch in the tournament.

K. I. A. C. Meet Scheduled Here February 26, 27, 28

The annual K. I. A. C. basketball tournament, always the year's outstanding athletic event, will be held in the Weaver Health Building February 26, 27, 28, and will bring together the eleven cage quintets who represent the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

The tournament officials will be selected this week and the drawing for positions on the bracket will be held February 16 at the Phoenix Hotel in Lexington.

Some of the college fives who loom as potential winners this year are Murray, which is usually a slow starter but a hot tournament team; Union, the other last year finalist, who usually show plenty of tournament wallop; Western, just as good if not better than usual; Morehead, whose powerful Eagles are always tough, as well as Georgetown, with its early season fame.

Along with these five are Wesleyan, Transylvania, Berea, Centre, U. of L., and our own Eastern Maroons, who are considered by many as the dark horse of the tourney.

The present K. I. A. C. cage season, with its flurry of upsets, its high scoring tilts, its bitter rivalries, and outstanding players, should present a tournament full of its own surprises, upsets and its usual color, which is plentiful.

Eastern is Victorious In Four of Last Six Tilts

Since the last issue of the paper the Eastern basketball team has undergone considerable change in lineup and policy. In their last six games they emerged victorious in four tilts, defeating Centre in an overtime, Berea, and Wesleyan twice an dlosing to Union and Western.

Paced by Schuster, who hit the hoop for 19 points, the Maroons netmen had to go all out to overcome a fighting Centre quintet to defeat them in an overtime, 55-52 at Danville.

With Cliff Tinnell making his last appearance in a Maroon uniform, the Eastern attack bogged down while the Union Bulldogs went ahead to score a 38-28 triumph on the Barbourville court.

As a result of the bad showing at both Centre and Union and the loss of Tinnell, Coach Rankin presented a revamped lineup on the local court and the Maroons trounced the Berea Mountaineers, 63-41, to inspire the hopes of the local fans. The Maroon attack was sparked by a freshman, Gerald Becker, and a sophomore, Lloyd Hudnall, who scored 11 and 15 points, respectively.

Then, packing up their traveling duds, the cagers journeyed to Winchester and handed Wesleyan's Panthers a 53-40 defeat. In this game the Maroons continued to improve their play and were paced by Ivan "Buster" Maggard, who came through with 15 points.

Next came the usual defeat at the hands of Western Hilltoppers at Bowling Green. Eastern built up a lead of 11-1 and the Western jauggernaut finally began to roll and it was anybody's ball game all the way. With the score 30-30 with about eight minutes to play the Maroon thincads faded and Western's fastbreak proved too much and the Hilltoppers went ahead to win 45-31 to continue the jinx which seems to prevail at every meeting of the Eastern and Western teams in any athletic event.

With the KIAC Tournament looming on the horizon, the Maroons returned home Monday night and defeated Kentucky Wesleyan, 43-29, in a return engagement. The game was very uninteresting all the way but one bright ray was the return to form of Homer Osborne, who came thru with a well played game and scored 16 points to lead both teams in scoring. This game seemed to be another experiment with the lineup as again Coach Rankin presented a new starting team. By tournament time the Maroon cagers will be primed and loom as the tournament dark horse.

Eastern Scores 362 Points In Winning Five, Losing Three Net Games

In their first eight games of the current cage season, the Eastern basketball team has amassed a total of 362 points in winning five and losing three ball games. The points scored by the team members are:

Player	G	FG	FT	TP
Schuster	8	23	13	59
Campbell	8	19	11	49

Western Leads In All State Competition

Union, Louisville Tie in K. I. A. C.

Two weeks ago Morehead knocked Western from the unbeaten ranks and last week Berea became the giant killer by handing the University of Louisville their first defeat and coming from behind to defeat Morehead in an overtime thriller, 61-59.

The other outstanding game last week was Western's 45-31 conquest of Eastern after the Maroons had led most of the game. This victory placed Western in a four-way tie with Louisville, Union and Morehead for the league leadership.

Monday night this leadership was narrowed to two teams, University of Louisville and Union, by virtue of their victories over Transy and Georgetown.

Western was idle and Murray began proving herself as conference champ by defeating the strong Morehead team, 56-43. By this loss Morehead dropped below Eastern and Georgetown in the conference standings.

Western boasts the best record of any team in the state having lost one game and that loss being to Morehead. Thus Morehead defeats Eastern and Western. Western beats Eastern, Berea beats Morehead and Eastern beats Berea. Who can figure basketball results and who is going to win the tournament?

The standings against all opposition:

Team	W.	L.	Pts.	O.P.	Pct.
Western	12	1	609	446	.923
Murray	11	2	580	495	.846

Last Victory Is One That Really Counts Save Progress News Editor

By JIM TODD FOR WHAT?

This war to date has taught us one thing—you can't take individual victories seriously. It has pointed out that the one victory that counts is the last one, and it hasn't happened yet.

Take for instance the British drive in Libya. For three weeks the British motorized army marched, taking town after town, as well as sweeping expanses of desert country, but, with renewed vigor under the command of Gen. Rommel, the Axis forces came to life recently and swept the British back to where they had started from, making their sweeping gains come to nil, except for quite a few prisoners and captured equipment. The British may as well have stayed in their pup tents.

SAME IN PACIFIC
The same thing can be expected in the Pacific theater of war. Just because the Japs have taken most of the island of Luzon from Gen. MacArthur is no sign that our able general can't take it back when he sees the opportunity to do so. The Japanese, at the first of the war, had almost complete control of the air, and, consequently, were fairly safe in sending convoys of troops wherever they decided to put an invasion in effect. The landing on Luzon backs this up. But recently, with reinforcements of good size, the ABCD united nations' forces have knocked the Japs out of the sky, and in doing so have stopped the invasion threat to some extent.

REINFORCEMENTS
Many have said lately: What has happened to the reinforcements for the armies in the Philippines? Well, if you will just study the reports coming in from there and from other parts you will see quite a bit of difference in the reports since the first of the war. As we have said, air reinforcements have reached the Far East, this is definite from latest news dispatches. Although many of these planes are not the newest we have, they seem to be heads over those of the enemy. The P-40 fighter, which some of the very highest ment in Washington, including Maj. Gen. Arnold, head of the air force, have said was not fitted for modern combat work, have proven themselves to be quite all right.

The flying fortresses, made by Boeing and a four-motor type, which the British complained about for their lack of armament, have been definitely improved in this and other respects and have done their share of slapping the Japs. A long range bomber, these ships are well worth their cost, according to the pilots who have been chauffeuring them around the equatorial skies in the East.

THE BATTLEGROUND
You can't realize just how big the battleground of the Pacific is until you look at a map of the world. The battleground over there is just as big as the whole of the United States, with a little left over. Of course, much of this is water, but just the same, wars are fought on water as well as on the land.
