K.I.A.C. TOURNEY OPENS HERE TODAY

Louise Holman Named "Miss Eastern" Lucy Wallace and Dick Canter Are Voted Most Popular Students

Marjorie Sears,
Frances Little
Chosen Attendants

QUEEN JUNIOR

Louise Holman, junior, Pineville, was elected Miss Eastern of 1939 by the male students of the college in the final election conducted Thursday, February 16.

Selections for attendants to Miss Eastern, the institution's representative to the Mountain Laurel Festival, were Miss Marjorie Sears, sophomore, Somerset, and Miss Frances Little, junior, Southgate. Miss Little withdrew from the contest after the primaries because she had the honor of being Miss Eastern last year.

Lucy Wallace, senior, Irvine, was chosen "Eastern Sweetheart" or the most popular girl, and Dick Canter, senior, New Boston, Ohio, was the students' choice for Mr. Popularity.

The contest was sponsored by the college year-book, the Milestone, and was under the supervision of T. J. Black, business manager of the annual.

The 1939 Miss Eastern is a member of the Upper Cumberland Club and the Theater Club. She was recently selected as corps sponsor by the members of the R. O. T. C. and will reign as queen of the military ball next month.

Miss Sears is a member of the Canterbury Club and was the college representative at the Tobacco Festival in Lexington last fall.

Miss Little, Miss Eastern of 1938, is a member of the Madrigal and Little Theater Clubs and served as R. O. T. C. sponsor last year.

Dick Canter, Mr. Popularity, is a member of the Physical Education Club and served as athletic trainer for the 1938 football and basketball teams.

Miss Wallace, chosen as Miss Popularity, is a member of the Home Economics Club and was one of the contestants in last year's contest for the same honor.

Four candidates each for the titles of Mr. and Miss Popularity, chosen from the primary returns and voted upon in the finals were: Miss Lucy Wallace, Irvine, selected; Miss Vicky Yates, Waddy; Miss Sue Toadvine, Cynthia; and Miss Ann Stiglitz, Louisville. For Mr. Popularity, Mr. Dick Canter, New Boston, Ohio, winner; Mr. Hiram Brock, Harlan; Mr. Homer Ramsey, Whitley City, and Mr. Wyatt Thurman, Benham, who withdrew from the finals.

Eastern Defeats Xavier University In Pistol Match

In a shoulder-to-shoulder pistol match at Cincinnati last Saturday, the Eastern ROTC team avenged two defeats suffered last year at the hands of the Xavier University marksmen. The score was Eastern 1275, Xavier 1246. High scorers in Saturday's match were Richard Brown 275, Prewitt Paynter 260, David Anthony 255, Chester Hill 243 and Stephen Rich 242.

The Eastern team journeyed to Cincinnati on Friday by station wagon, stopping overnight for the match on the next day, and returning Saturday afternoon. Xavier will come to Richmond on March 4 for a return match.

Journeying to Fort Knox Saturday, February 11, the Eastern Pistol Team fired a two-way match with the 1st Cavalry and the 13th Cavalry. The results were gratifying to all concerned in that, while the 1st Cavalry was too much for the local boys, the Eastern shooters succeeded in administering a beating to the 13th Cavalry. The scores of the respective teams were as follows: 1st Cavalry—1312, Eastern—1246, 13th Cavalry—1237. High scorers on the Eastern team were: Richard Brown—268; Henry Anthony—254; James Stocker—250; Durward Salisbury—242; and Chester Hill—232.

The results of the match are especially pleasing when one considers the fact that the 1st Cavalry team included at least three nationally known pistol shots who are regular attendants at the Camp Perry annual meets.

In a postal match with Ohio State, the Eastern team was defeated by a score of 1247 to 1281. This is the first postal match of the season.

Donovan to Attend Teachers Colleges Convention Feb. 24

Jones and Case Will Also Attend Meeting of Administrators

IN CLEVELAND

Dr. H. L. Donovan will attend the twenty-third annual meeting of the American Association of Teachers Colleges to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, February 24 and 25. Dr. Donovan, who was president of the association in 1934, is a member of several committees of this group. This year, the president of the association is Frank W. Thomas, president of Fresno State College, Fresno, California.

Well known educators who appear on the program are: Dr. Frank W. Hubbard of the N. E. A.; Dr. Payton Smith, Harvard University; Dr. J. D. Heilman, Colorado State College of Education, and Dr. Dannel A. Prescott of Rutgers University.

The American Association of Teachers Colleges includes in its membership approximately 200 colleges of education of the United States. This association is the chief accrediting agency for all the teachers colleges of the nation. It maintains a committee on Standards and Surveys, and a Committee on Accrediting and Classification. It is the duty of these committees to see that all member colleges meet the standards of the association.

Dr. W. C. Jones, dean of the college, and Mrs. Emma Y. Case, dean of women, will also attend this meeting in Cleveland.

The meeting of the American Association of School Administrators, a department of the National Education Association, will immediately follow the American Association meeting, closing its session on March 2. Dr. Donovan, Dr. Jones and Mrs. Case will remain for a part of this meeting.

Forty Grade Point Students Honored In Chapel Program

Moore Leads Men;
Jagers Is Tops
In Women's Points

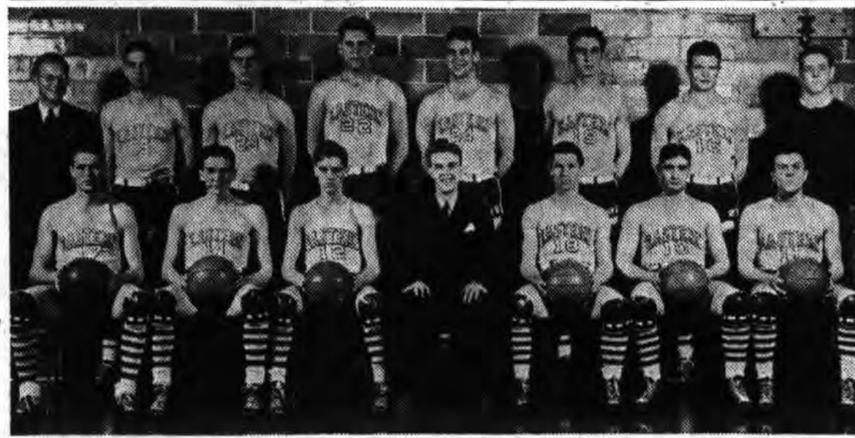

HIGHEST IS 54

Forty-two 40-grade point students, showing an increase of seven persons over last year, were honored at the chapel assembly on Monday morning, February 20. Special recognition was acknowledged Miss Frances Jagers, highest ranking woman student and to Mr. William G. Moore, son of Dr. W. J. Moore, member of the Eastern faculty in the department of commerce. Mr. Moore, who averaged 54 grade points, transferred to the University of Kentucky in the College of Engineering.

Honor students, who made forty or more grade points during the first semester, were introduced by Dr. Donovan. They included William Moore, Richmond, with highest ranking, Frances Jagers, Frankfort, second, and Burgin Benton, Margaret Castleberry, Billy Farris, Marvin Garrett, Mabel Walker, all of Richmond; Susan Biesack, Mary Helen Caywood, Alice Kennelley, Evelyn Marshall, Jean Porter, James Stanfield, Lona Turner, Covington; Marjorie Lively, Rubye Moreland, Shirley Moreland, Ravenna; Mary Billingsley, Mrs. Fannie Wyatt, Middlesboro; Margaret Louise Witt, West Irvine;

The Eastern Maroons; Host Team to the Tournament

The Eastern Maroons will play host to the fourteenth annual Kentucky Intercollegiate basketball tournament which opens at Eastern today. This year, the Maroons have a record of eleven wins in fifteen starts. They will play the Hilltoppers of Western in the opening game of the tournament this afternoon.

Forensic Club's Mimic To Feature Chapel Program

Elmore Ryle, Soph,
Will Impersonate
Chief Executives

DEBATE INCLUDED

By WILLIAM E. ADAMS

The usual serious nature of a forensic organization will be temporarily discarded at chapel hour Monday when Elmore Ryle, a member of Alpha Zeta Kappa, will give impersonations of several contemporary speakers, including President Roosevelt and Kentucky's smiling governor, A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

However, the humorous part of the program will be short-lived, as a two-man debate featuring Doniphon Burrus, a sophomore of Richmond, and Lee Farris, a freshman from Middlesboro, will be staged.

The debaters, mainsprings of the debating division, will present arguments for and against the intercollegiate question this year, "Resolved: That the United States government should cease to use public funds for the purpose of stimulating business."

Lucille Nunnally of Houstonville, a senior at Eastern, is president of Alpha Zeta Kappa and will preside. Ruth Catlett, of Lawrenceburg, a sophomore, will present and define the terms of the debate.

As a second highlight on Monday's program, Burgin Benton, senior of Richmond, will give an oration which won for Eastern second place in the Kentucky Peace Oratorical contest at Berea in November.

Current interests of the club include the preparation for an intercollegiate round robin tournament at Transylvania College at Lexington Saturday, March 4, and the state oratorical contest which will be held that night.

Eastern will send three teams to the Lexington tournament, officers of the organization said today. They stated that Benton and Farris would combine to form the negative team and that Ryle, a sophomore from Burlington, and Burrus would uphold the affirmative. The third two-man team will be selected from three other aspirants, Paul Brandes of Ft. Thomas, Guy Whitehead of Richmond and A. J. Houseman of Covington.

Exceptional ratings were scored by Eastern's representatives last year when 35 teams, including representatives from two out-of-state colleges, participated. This year 40 teams will enter the competition, it has been indicated.

Dr. Saul Houchell, coach of the teams, said that each debater would take part in the scoring in the tournament. "By the system of scoring employed each contestant will cooperate in the selection of the winners," the coach, who is a member of the English department, stated.

The club's debaters, already this year, have met two teams. They had an engagement with Asbury College at Wilmore, February 7, and with Georgetown College here February 16. Both were non-decision encounters.

Paul Brandes and Vera Mayberry were admitted to the club at the regular dinner meeting held in the recreation room at Burnam Hall Tuesday night.

Cercle Francais Will Accept New Members; To Sponsor Show

The Cercle Francais met Saturday afternoon, Feb. 18, to tryout new members for the spring semester. Helen Catherine Klein, Harold Dunn, Hays Bunch and Russell Green were tried out. During the next month initiation will be held at Boone Tavern, Berea. The club will sponsor a movie March 1 and 2 to be shown at the Schine Madison Theatre.

Case Presides At Meeting of Deans Of Women Today

Dean Is Secretary of Section On College of Education

FEBRUARY 21-25

Mrs. Emma Y. Case, dean of women at Eastern, will preside at a meeting of the section on College of Education and Training, of which she is secretary, at the National Association of Deans of Women when it convenes in Cleveland, Ohio, on February 21 to 25, at their headquarters in the Hotel Statler of that city.

Mrs. Case also plans to attend the meetings of the American College Personnel Association and the American Association of Teachers Colleges at the convention.

Mrs. Case will remain in Cleveland for the dinner meeting of the Delta Kappa Gamma on Saturday evening, being one of the state founders of the association and also serving as vice president of the Kentucky State Chapter.

Editor Requests Contributions To Belle Lettres

The volume of "Belles Lettres" which will appear in the latter part of April will be the fifth annual anthology of student verse which has been published at Eastern. Originating in the Canterbury Club, it is still sponsored by this organization and the members of the editorial staff are chosen each year from the members of the club. This year the editorial staff consists of Lucille Nunnally, editor; Dorothy White, assistant editor, and Leonard Stafford, business manager.

The response to the request for contributions to "Belles Lettres" made two weeks ago was not as great as was desired. There is still an urgent need for poetry, and students, having original poems, are asked to submit them to the members of the editorial staff or to Dr. Roy B. Clark, sponsor of the Canterbury Club.

Student Relationship Council Names Handbook Editorial Committee

At the regular meeting of the Student Relationship Council Thursday evening, plans were laid to continue the drive to obtain scholarships for worthy students. As the next activity, the council plans to sponsor a swimming meet between Berea and Eastern in the near future.

Bill Hagood, president, appointed an editorial board of four to work with the board selected from the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. on the project of a freshman handbook. Those appointed to the board from the council are Eddie Eicher, Beatrice Welch, Ruth Catlett and Dick Dickman.

R. O. T. C. To Give Third Annual Ball Here March 4

Jamie Thompson To Play; Coronation
Will Be Feature

TICKETS ON SALE

Jamie Thompson and his orchestra will provide the music for Eastern's third annual military ball, which will be held in the small gym of Weaver Health Building Saturday night, March 4. Subscription is $1.75 and dancing will be from 8:30 to 12 o'clock.

Advanced ticket sales for the dance will begin in the near future, according to a committee composed of Len Stafford, chairman; Hiram Brock, Coleman Whitaker, Dale Morgan and Frank Wilcox. Only a limited number of tickets will be available to students not in the R. O. T. C. and visitors are urged to buy their tickets early.

The feature of this gala dance will be the coronation march and the crowning of the queen of the Military Ball. This year, Miss Louise Holman, battalion sponsor and "Miss Eastern," will serve as queen. She will have as her attendants Miss Eula Mae Nunnery and Miss Lois Eich, who are the sponsors of the two R. O. T. C. battalions.

Major Gallaher, Captain Ford, Captain Link, and their wives will serve as chaperons for the ball. The floor will be decorated with a military motif and many novel features are being arranged by the ball committees.

Adams To Replace Ford On R. O. T. C. Staff In Fall

War Dept. Names
For Eastern Post

NATIVE OF OHIO

Word has been received at Eastern Teachers College that the War Department has assigned Captain Hugh P. Adams, Field Artillery, to be instructor with the ROTC unit effective upon his graduation from the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in June. He will take the place of Captain W. W. Ford, Field Artillery who leaves this summer to attend the above mentioned school, Major C. W. Gallaher, P. M. S. & T. announces.

Born in Ohio in 1894, Captain Adams attended the Ohio State University. Enlisting in the Ohio National Guard in 1916, he rose from private to the commissioned grade of 2nd Lieutenant during the World War. He was honorably discharged from service in 1919 and again entered the service in 1921 as a 2nd Lieutenant of Field Artillery in the regular army. He graduated from the Battery Officers Course at the Field Artillery School, Fort Still, Oklahoma, and has a wide experience in Field Artillery work.

Maroons to Meet Western Teachers This Afternoon

Berea, Union; Centre,
Morehead Scheduled
On Thursday's Card

FINALS SATURDAY

The fourteenth annual Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball tournament will get under way here this afternoon at four o'clock when the Hilltoppers of Western meet the Eastern Maroons in the only game of the opening session. Tonight's session will pit the Mountaineers of Berea against Union's Bulldogs at 7:30 p. m., and Centre against Morehead.

The Western quintet is favored to repeat their performances of the last seven years and cop the coveted crown, but the Maroons hope to play the brand of ball they have been featuring lately and win over their stronger opponents.

Kentucky Wesleyan will meet Transylvania at 3:00 p. m. Friday for the first game of the afternoon's card, and Georgetown and Murray will tangle in the second game. Georgetown and Murray are both rated as second choice in the tournament and this should be one of the feature games of the contest. The first game Friday night will be called at 8:00 between Louisville and the winner of the Eastern-Western tilt. The final contest of the evening will be the game between the winner of the Berea-Union game against the victor of the Centre-Morehead game.

The final day of the tournament will see winners of the Friday afternoon games battle it out in the semi-finals at 2 o'clock and the winners of Friday night's game will play their semi-finals at 3:00. Finals of the tournament will be conducted Saturday night at 8:30 and will be followed by presentation of the trophies and awards.

The officials for the meet will be Fred Koster of Louisville and Bill Young of Elizabethtown, Ky.

This will make the third successive year Eastern has been host to the K. I. A. C. tournament. It will also be the third time Eastern has been pitted against one of the leading quintets of the conference in its opening tournament tilt. Last year Eastern drew Murray, and the year before that, Western.

Math Club Formed At Eastern; Park and Jenkins Sponsors

Last month approximately forty students met with Drs. Park and Jenkins to organize a Mathematics Club on Eastern's campus. The organization was divided into two divisions, a junior and senior, the latter to be composed of those persons enrolled in or having completed differential calculus. At the first meeting a constitution committee was elected from both groups. At the second meeting, held on Tuesday, Feb. 14, Fred Mayes was chosen as the permanent president of the senior section.

The purpose of the organization is to develop an interest for mathematics, to act as an incentive for the pursuit of original thinking and the work beyond and above that of the traditional courses.

A greater Eastern.

WELCOME

The student body, faculty, and members of the administration join the Progress in extending a hearty welcome to the many visitors who will be on the campus this week-end for the annual Kentucky Intercollegiate basketball tournament.

For the third consecutive year Eastern is host to the K. I. A. C. and their tournament—the climax of the season's exhibition of skill, school spirit and sportsmanship by representative teams of the Conference. Eastern regards this as an opportune time to continue her friendly and cooperative acts.

Eastern welcomes K. I. A. C. participants, their followers, and every Kentucky citizen to the campus for this great event. She trusts that you will enjoy your visit; that you will return to your respective places with favorable remembrances of the host institution.

Unfortunately, every team competing in the tournament can not win. Ten teams will go down in defeat before one is acclaimed victor. We wish the best of luck to every contestant—and may the best team win.

While on the campus join us in our activities. Feel free to take advantage of our offerings. Be one of us . . . AND visit us again.—EEE.

SPORTSMANSHIP

It has been often stated that a person cannot be said to be truly educated unless every side of his character is trained. Mental and cultural educations are given to student through the medium of college classes and campus activities.

There is a form of education which will not be an impersonal, collective matter, but will be personal and deep-rooted in the individual. A general term of it might possibly be called an education to situations, but the most important phase of it is an education in sportsmanship.

Sportsmanship is a term which has been too often carelessly used. Qualified by adjectives, it has been used to include the whole field of man's responses to circumstances. Here it will be used to mean the cheerful acceptance of unfavorable circumstances, since that is admittedly the most difficult to acquire.

No place on earth offers a more fertile field for the development of this trait than a college campus. One meets with very widely varied situations here, situations that call for a different reaction nearly every day. There will be no guiding to prompt you to the right reaction, except your own conscience. The achievements you make in this moral contest will not be lauded by the administration, and there will be very little applause. It is too much of a private matter to encourage praise.

Being a good sport doesn't mean merely accepting defeat in a basketball game with cheerful resignations although that, of course, comes under the general requirements. The wide use of the terms does not apply to athletics alone. Defeat occurs in many other places besides the gymnasium and the football field. The classroom, the dormitory, the campus, and the privacy of one's own mind may all see contests waged and won or lost.

There will always be victories and defeats. They are essential milestones in the struggle of existence. "Failure is part of the infinite plan," and those on the rungs of the ladder are shifting continually. Our aim, as students, should be twofold: the ability to fight and the ability to win or lose with a smile.—R. C.

LET NO ONE SAY

"Let no one say, and say it to your shame, That all was beauty here before you came."

There is more than one way to secure conformity. There are ways which by their very nature awaken and spread opposition, and ways which obtain the effect ere we are aware.

It is a great relief to see the second method being applied at Eastern now with respect to the condition of the campus. We are all sane enough to appreciate the beauty of cleanliness, and it would seem that there would be a natural instinct to preserve, not destroy, such a condition. But it has been said, and truly, that we are a nation of children, and as such, we will probably require a few of the careful methods of training accorded to children.

It is an almost universal trait of human nature to resent being coerced into doing anything whatever ultimate good that thing may possess for the individual or for all concerned. The trait may not be commendable, but for all its childishness, it does exist and must be dealt with. The presence of such a characteristic is probably justification for the "handle with gloves on" policy rampant in institutions. It is also probable justification for the neat new signs which decorate our campus.

The idea for these lettered signs which have been placed in conspicuous places on the campus did not originate at Eastern. Such signs have been used before in other colleges with noteworthy effect, so we are not the "first by whom the new is tried." Certainly from the purely surface side of the question, these signs should be appreciated more than the cold black and white boards which are used so widely everywhere. It is not assuming too much to say that most of us would rather read a gem of literature, even with a subtle hint implied, than a few words on a white board with a command expressed. We like the pill better when it is sugar-coated.

As college students, we should not, in truth, need signs of any nature to direct us in the paths which we should follow. There will be little debate on that general truth. But the fact remains that past experiences have proved that, even with every student admitting that fact, the results wished for have not been obtained. Hence some means to keep our campus beautiful must necessarily be taken.

We are in general accord with the spirit of the methods which have thus far been used with respect to this situation. However, there has been a feeling present that the means of execution of these methods have not been as tactful as they could have been. Certainly, when one plan has fallen somewhat short of its goal, a change of tactics is a wise move. Therefore we welcome the advent of the poetic requests. They are far more aesthetic than wire fences, and certainly less oppressive. —R. C.

ATHLETICS

Not many years ago, Eastern lost every football game on her schedule; this past season produced one of the finest football records in the history of the college. There was a time when Eastern's basketball team was regarded as a "set-up" in athletic circles; this year she won eleven of fifteen games and tasted defeat only once on her home floor. We are passing through the greatest athletic seasons ever witnessed at Eastern, and we should be justly proud to be a part of it.

When any team wins 80% of her football games and 75% of her basketball games, there is something more than mere luck behind it all. It isn't pure luck that Eastern is having a great season. It is the direct result of hard playing, real cooperation, school spirit, and expert coaching.

The players deserve much of the credit for the way in which they practiced and worked to make Eastern a winning combination in every encounter. We have not space here to name the-players that have done so much for the school. It would not be fair to name the so-called "stars" for it takes five stars to turn out a good basketball team and eleven stars to make a winning football team. Suffice it to say, the men who have played for Eastern this year are the finest group of players, scholars, and gentlemen ever to represent the college. This year has given us better players, players with high scholastic standings, and players who know how to act off the court as well as on the court.

The cooperative attitude taken by the administration and the citizens of Richmond has done much toward helping Eastern have a successful season. The active interest of our president and the administrative officials has provided the incentive to win ten times out of ten—or to lose and take the loss with a smile.

The school spirit evinced this year is far superior to that of former years, and the student body has taken more and more interest in athletic contests. Certainly the students of Eastern deserve some of the credit for the Maroon's victories.

A college may have a hard playing team, a cooperative administration, and a strong student body, but if they lack leadership, theirs is a quest doomed to defeat. Eastern is fortunate in having, as her coaches, men with foresight and knowledge. Eastern coaches are not only out to win, they are out to build manhood.

Consider: Coach Hembree who produces one of the finest baseball teams in the state, Coach Hughes who takes green frosh. squads and turns them in varsity material, Coach Rome Rankin who thinks so much of his varsity teams that he eats, sleeps, and lives with them, and Mr. T. C. McDonough who directs the administrative affairs of the athletic department. These are the men responsible for Eastern's destiny in sport circles, and it would be impossible to find a finer group of coaches.

Eastern is fortunate this year in having the players, the cooperation, the school spirit and the coaches to give her a most successful season. Let us hope that, in years to come, she will be as fortunate in having these four fine qualities.—EEE.

GLEANINGS

Too often, the work of the faculty does not receive the recognition it deserves. It is our desire to recognize achievement where we find it, and we are glad that one of our Psychology teachers has been made an honorary member of a national society for writers and journalists.

Often we hear students asking about this or that policy of the institution. They could easily gain the answer to their questions by reading the editorial page of the Progress. We know that they are uninformed because they ignore editorial matter or because they do not read intelligently. To read editorials is just as important as to read news or features. Read editorials and if they meet with your approval, back them to the limit. Adopt a spirit of cooperation which will be helpful to the campus paper and to the school as a whole.

Dr. Donovan Is Heard In Chapel Assembly Program

Program Honors First Semester Forty Grade Point Students

42 ARE HONORED

Service to others is the ideal of the teaching profession, said Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern, speaking Monday morning at the college assembly hour honoring forty-two students having the highest scholastic ranking during the first semester of this school year. His subject was "Making Teaching a Profession."

There is no work superior to that which passes on the racial heritage to the younger generation," he declared. Teaching should be a profession which serves others first and self last, enriching the lives of those to whom the service is rendered, he continued.

"The selection of good material to teach in the schools of the nation is the surest and best way to improve the American school system, Dr. Donovan stated. He called attention to the selective methods used in different schools and states for students to enter the teaching profession, from definite standards of admission such as in New Jersey which bar the mediocre from entering to elimination from professional careers of those who fail to reach certain scholastic standards after admission.

The teacher should be an educated person with a broad and comprehensive knowledge of our culture, Dr. Donovan said. His education should include music, art, literature, and other expressive arts; he must have a general knowledge of science and learn the scientific approach to problems; he must know something of history, both past and present, and of contemporary problems, he continued.

Technical preparation for teaching is essential for a successful teacher, the speaker stated, emphasizing the need for skill in the technique of teaching usually acquired in actual teaching in the laboratory schools very much as the young doctor acquires skill in medicine during his internship. A knowledge of the social graces is essential to the teacher, who must be versed in meeting people and training their children, he said.

The teacher must be constantly alert and always a student, since the world is constantly changing, and should read, travel, and study, he declared. "Teaching is a vocation that constantly demands a fresh intellectual outlook," Dr. Donovan said.

Young people entering the teaching profession should plan to make it their life work and not a stepping stone to some other profession or career, he declared. Membership in local, state and national educational organizations is important both to the teacher and to the profession, he stated. "Teaching will become a great profession when those who engage in it believe in its nobility," Dr. Donovan declared.

Progress Post Office

Dear Editor, Why not make the standard for recognizing outstanding students one based on grades and not grade points. By this I mean, recognize the person with a 2.5 standing who may work to pay his expenses or enters into extra-curricular activities, where many of the honored students fall, though some of them don't. The ideal student is one who combines studies with a fair amount of recreation. Grades aren't everything. What about the people who make 39?

Signed, I made 15.
ANS: Dear I made 15: Too true is your statement to the effect that grades aren't everything, but until you figure out a way to get a sheepskin from this institution without them, you had better do better than 15.

Dear In a Dither: I was so glad to see that some one finally had the gumption to write what I've been thinking since I entered Eastern many moons ago (not so awful many). I would certainly like to see some move to stop this idea of two dates and you're out of circulation, but what can we poor helpless femmes do? I realize that there are some girls who "come to college to be went with," but there are also those who don't want to be tied down to one—yet. I know this isn't just the opinion of you and me, it's the opinion of many.

Signed: In Worse than a Dither.
P. S. And while I'm at it, there are so many cute and attractive girls sitting over in the hall on weekends (date nites in case you don't know) and just as many nice looking young men sitting together—after all, you don't always have to have show money in order to entertain a girl.

Ans. Dear In Worse than a Dither: You're right on that last point. It is often said that if a boy could read a girl's mind, the consumption of gasoline would be cut in half.

Dear In a Dither: You are looking at the idea of going steady in the wrong light.

We men of Eastern do not want to go steady in the way you are looking at it. We don't expect to marry every girl we go steady with, but you'll have to admit that it is darn convenient to have a girl in the hall whom we can go with whenever something interesting happens. My advice to you is to hook a man and hook him tight, so that you can have someone to take you to whatever happens, if it ever happens. I go steady, Terrify Tissue?

Character Sketch Of Eastern Student Is Offered By Columnist

EDDIE LOGSDON Harlan Enterprise

The other day someone handed me a homemade poem called: "Tall Lanky Fellow from Clover Lick." The poem described Mr. Hays Bunch, school teacher in a little school at the head of Clover Lick in Harlan county and a regular reader of my column. This man is tall in stature and just as tall in quality and ability. He has been termed, locally, as Abe Lincoln the second, this, because of his height probably and because of his kind simple and pure philosophy. He is a young man carved from the great mountains that surround Wallins Creek; a true native of the Kentucky soil. He carved himself, physique, character, and education. He knows what it means to work. He teaches seven months in a very little country school then studies at Eastern State Teachers College, at Richmond, Kentucky. He is about ready to receive his sheepskin.

Hays Bunch has a host of friends that he enlightens and entertains with his ideas of culture and philosophy. He love little children and they love him. They love him to the extent that they learn thoroughly short vocal selections of master composers and ballads of the great poets and sing and read them with perfection. They learn to love art for art's sake through their inspiring teacher. That is unusual for small children. Those children work about their homes on Clover Lick after school while they hum strains from Mendelssohn and recite Poe's "Annabelle Lee."

If we look into the one-room schools that are sprinkled over the country we will find many of our finest characters and teachers. People who are doing a great work because they take a joy in doing it. The little school on Clover Lick is an outstanding example. As Hays Bunch, in a recent speech said: "Culture cannot be determined by the house. It is the feeling, spirit and ideals within a house that constitute culture."

Ferrell Presents Platform For Rural Education

Advocates More Equal Chance For Children In Rural Areas

IN CHAPEL

More equal opportunities in education for rural children was advocated by Dr. D. T. Ferrell, professor of education at Eastern, in a discussion at the college assembly hour Wednesday, Feb. 15, on "My Platform for Rural Education."

Almost twice as many children live in rural areas as in small towns and cities, he stated, but the cities provide far greater educational opportunities. He urged a system of state-supported education similar to the system of state road building in which communities lacking financial resources could have as good schools as the wealthy communities. One hundred counties have an assessed wealth of less than $3,000 per pupil and the other twenty have as assessed wealth of $5,000 to $10,000 per pupil, he said, which results in the poorer counties being unable to provide adequate educational program under the present per capita system.

Other "planks" in Dr. Ferrell's rural education platform included more consolidation of elementary and high schools, a better curriculum definitely planned for the rural school children, better educated teachers with a minimum requirement of college graduation and preparation for a definite job, a more comprehensive program of classroom supervision with at least one expert supervisor for each county, adequate library facilities, more attention to improvement of buildings, grounds and permanent equipment, adequate teaching materials and supplies, more sensitive relationship between the school and community, and better teaching.

"One of the great weaknesses of the rural school is that we teach the textbook without relation to the community," Dr. Ferrell declared, stating that the students should be taught the history of the community, conditions of the people, how to make use of the county's resources such as county farm agent, home demonstration agent, local library, county health unit, and to study the soil, climate and wild life of their community.

ARE YOU AN INTROVERT?

If you are an introvert, the chances are that you will make a real success in school as a student. But the chances are three to one that you will not make a good salesman, foreman, or politician.

The following symptoms will help you get an idea as to how introverted you and your associates are:

(1) The introvert is inclined to forget the feelings of others. It is strange that introverts are so very sensitive that they have "their feelings on an edge," and yet they take pride in rubbing "other people's shins with brickbats."

Some college teachers all too often tell the blunt truth. Wives (or husbands), ministers, and so on may insist also on calling a spade a spade, but they are poor diplomats.

(2) If you have found the opposite sex uninteresting, the chances are that you are introverted. At least, most bachelors and old-maids-by-choice are introverts. They fall in love more deeply than do the extroverted sailors and they have more trouble recovering so that they can see the other fish in the sea.

(3) The introvert blushes easily. An extrovert doesn't blush as a rule even when he hears a traveling salesman tell a story, but an extrovert may be shocked by an innocent story.

(4) The introvert often lacks physical courage. In one instance, an introvert started putting things back into his burning house.

(5) An introvert is likely to be absent-minded. The writer once knew an absent-minded high school principal who had, according to rumor, walked into a cow one night, tipped his hat, and said, "I beg your pardon, madam." He then discovered his mistake and a few minutes later bumped against a woman. This time, without looking up, he said, "Is that you again, you old cow?"

If you are an introvert, as Socrates said, "Know thyself." Then, "Neglect not the gift which is in thee."

ARE YOU AN EXTRAVERT?

A list of ambiverts includes Douglas Fairbanks, Will Rogers, Theodore Roosevelt, and so on. Also, youth and Airedales may be included as extraverts.

Extraverts are likely to be practical-minded men of action. There are many other interesting things about extraverts which may help you determine whether you are extraverted:

(1) Extraverts discount misfortunes. They refuse to make mountains out of mole-hills. They also evade worry by refusing to cross bridges before they come to them.

(2) The extravert is inclined to respect the feelings of others. He is a good diplomat; if he thinks something offensive, he keeps it to himself or puts it into words which will not offend.

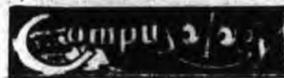

(3) The extravert's feelings are not easily hurt by remarks or actions of others. He does not carry a chip on his shoulder and can withstand the affronts of a political campaign.

(4) The extravert is a good loser. He does not take his losses very seriously. When he loses, he plans a merger, organizes a bank, or gets ready to sell some real estate.

(5) The extravert generally prefers the sports page to the editorial page. As a college student, he prefers extra-curricular to curricular activities. This sometimes leads to minor conflict with his introverted professors.

(6) The extravert expresses himself better in speaking than in writing. He enjoys hearing himself talk to groups whether he has anything to say or not. He does not like to write and rewrite letters or manuscripts. He is similar to Hitler; who sways audiences, but who cannot write coherent speeches.

(7) The extravert is not careful about personal property, the polish of his car, the arrangement of his dresser drawer, and the appearance of his clothing. His automobile is likely to be an expensive model which needs washing and fresh oil, or an old car that is about two miles from the junk pile. This does not keep the owner from driving it at 40 or even 80 miles per hour, because there are big things he must do.

First of all, orchids to Miss Frances Little who was magnanimous enough to withdraw from the Milestone contest after she had been nominated as a possible candidate for the title and honor of "Miss Eastern." Said Miss Little, "It is a great honor to be selected as "Miss Eastern" and I feel that no one should accept this honor more than once." Our congratulations to the winners in this contest... the student body should be commended for their excellent choice of a representative for the Mountain Laurel Festival.

For the purpose of earning a five-cent piece, let me tell you the story of one Junior Stiglitz of the fair metropolis of Louisville. Said Junior member of the house of Stiglitz was heard making the cryptic remark, "The Case case is closed!" Of course, we can't fathom this esoteric statement, but since the aforementioned Billy is not thinking of becoming a lawyer, we have starting thinking over the Case names. Indeed, a very peculiar Case.

And while on the subject of thwarted romance, hasn't it been wonderful weather to get your best gal and (in the lingo of Abner Yokum) go out and chase skunks and shoot polecats?

As outstanding players, we personally like McWhorter on the offense and "Spider" Thurman on the defense. The player showing the greatest improvement probably Bob Abney of local vintage. Abney has been looping them through in a way that would make any coach's heart glad. Yes, and it takes a real ball club to win 11 of 15 games in a season.

For the purpose of the records, the peak of the new tower on the new boys' dorm has been scaled and anytime you have your insurance paid up and are tired of life, you might try it yourself.

"Spider" Thurman withdrew from the Milestone popularity contest because he felt that a senior should be elected. Miss Ann Louise Stiglitz stayed in the contest because friends urged her to. It was her original plan to withdraw, to, until she was persuaded otherwise. Our congratulations to both for their decisions.

Our congratulations to the forty grade pointers and especially to the three who are on the staff of the Progress. It just goes to prove that you can have brains and still be a good reporter—but it's awful hard to do.

So many answers to in a dither that we suggest that the boys and girls form a dating clinic or bureau. All those in favor let it be known by sending your name and who you would like to date to this column. We will try to get dates for you with anyone—except J. C. Wash.

Rachlin Is Heard In Piano Recital By Concert Group

Varied Program Is Feature of Fine Presentation Here

CHILD PRODIGY

Ezra Rachlin, youthful pianist, appeared in the second concert on the Madison County Cooperative Concert series Friday evening, Feb. 17. The soloist played with brilliance and dexterity that was unbelievable. Included on his program was the Sonata Appassionata, Op. 57 which Beethoven wrote when he knew that he would lose his hearing completely. The pianist's program was a display of technique beautifully given. His repertoire listed such composers as Bach, Schumann, Chopin, Rachmaninoff and Liszt. Retaining his individuality, Ezra Rachlin played the well known Waltz in D flat major of Chopin.

As encores Mr. Rachlin played a composition of his own, "Music Box," which was realistic and fleet. Graciously he played Daquin's Rondo and The Flight of the Bumblebee.

Ezra Rachlin, unlike most child prodigies, has developed into a mature musician with a brilliant career lying ahead of him. A New York critic has placed him with "the royal technicians of the golden era of pianism, Godowsky and Rosenthal."

Ft. Thomas Seniors Visit Eastern On Inspection Tour

Nineteen seniors of Highlands high school, Ft. Thomas, visited the campus of Eastern on Tuesday, Feb. 14, on a college inspection tour, accompanied by C. R. Rouse, vocational counselor at Highlands.

It was the purpose of this group of prospective college students, in conjunction with the guidance program of their high school, to visit the campuses of various state colleges offering courses in their selected fields and acquaint themselves with the functions of the college and the requirements for entrance.

Simular groups, representative of the various state high schools, will visit the campus on the annual High School Day, Friday, May 5.

Maroons Turn On In Second Half To Tip Morehead

McWhorter, Thurman Pace Eastern to Pave Way For KIAC Victory

SCORE 48-30

By EDDIE EICHER

Virgil McWhorter, the "Hazel Green Special," scored 21 points to lead Eastern's Maroon quintet to a convincing 48-30 victory over their traditional rivals, the Morehead Eagles, in a K. I. A. C. upset here February 10.

Before the game, the Eagles had dropped but one contest in K. I. A. C. competition, that a two-point loss to Union in the Bulldog's cracker-box gymnasium. In an early-season game at Morehead, Coach Johnson's men had swamped the Rankin team by a 50-35 score. The victory gave Eastern a record of eight wins and three losses in the conference; the defeat was Morehead's second in ten conference starts.

In downing the greatest basketball team in Morehead history, the Maroons proved themselves one of the best, if not the best, teams that have represented Eastern on the hardwood in many years. The defensive work of the entire Eastern five was the feature of the game, but the outstanding defensive star was "Spider" Thurman of Eastern, who held Morehead's high-scoring Kirk to a mere nine points.

The Eagles broke fast and jumped to a 5-0 lead at the beginning of the game. The Maroons battled to a 10-10 tie. The Eagles went out in front 15-10; and the Maroons tied it at 15-15 and went ahead by two points. Morehead eased to lead again; Eastern promptly retaliated and led at the end of the first half by 21-19.

Starting the second half, the teams battled evenly until McWhorter renewed his assault on the basket and lengthened his lead as high K. I. A. C. scorer by hitting consistently and ringing up a total of 21 points for the evening. Eastern soon jumped to a 38-28 lead, never to be threatened thereafter.

In a preliminary game, the Baby Maroons defeated Morehead Eagles 42-29 with DeMoisey and Osborne scoring 19 and 14 points respectively.

Maroons Win By 40-29 Over Weak Transy Quintets

Both Varsity and Frosh Triumph by Identical Score

RAGGED GAME

Coach Rome Rankin's Maroons made it five wins in a row by taking the Transylvania Pioneers into camp at the Weaver gym Tuesday night, Feb. 13, by a 40-29 score, duplicating exactly the count by which the Baby Maroons triumphed over the Tenderfeet.

While the Eastern team appeared somewhat tired after its 44 to 27 defeat of Centre at Danville on Monday night, it bettered considerably the margin of victory registered in the previous meeting with Transy when the Maroons came from behind to take a 34 to 28 victory.

Virgil McWhorter, forward, played under a handicap of a bad charley horse and a sprained ankle but managed to collect 10 points to lead all scorers. Each of the Maroon starters scored at least five points. Stephenson led the Pioneers with nine.

Transylvania's close blocks worried the Rankinmen during the opening half and the Pioneers pulled away to an 8 to 2 lead early in the contest. The Maroons hit their stride and knotted the count at 8 all and ran up a 14 to 8 lead.

Transy surged back and almost overtook the Maroons at 14 to 13 and again at 17 to 16 but fell one point short each time. The half score was Eastern 18, Transylvania 16. Beginning the second half the Maroons gradually pulled away and during the last ten minutes there was no doubt as to the outcome.

The contest was marred by too much whistle blowing on the part of Referee Dalton Williams, who must have some desire to be a musician, he loves so well to blow.

In the preliminary the Eastern frosh led by 24 to 10 at the half and had a 30 to 10 lead in the second half when Coach Turkey Hughes took out his regulars. Fox DeMoisey led the frosh with 13 points while Bell scored 10 for Transy.

Eastern Romps To Easy Victory Over Centre Colonels

Guarding by Thurman Holds Gold and White Star to Two Points

McWHORTER STARS

By bottling up Andy Lorentzson, Centre forward the Eastern Maroons decisively trounced the Centre College Colonels at Danville, February 13 by a 44 to 27 margin.

The defeat was Centre's eighth of the season and the Colonels' fifth straight loss. This encounter closed Centre's home schedule.

The Colonels were off to a 2 to 0 lead in the first 15 seconds of the game and at one time held a 12 to 9 advantage over the visiting quintet. At this point the Maroons began to connect on their shots and pulled away to a 21 to 15 lead at the half.

The Colonels had numerous shots throughout the game but were unable to connect while the Maroons, once they got started, zipped the ball through the net from all angles.

Eastern was led in point making by Virgil McWhorter, forward, who tallied 15 markers. Abney of Eastern was second with 10. The floorwork and guarding of Thurman and Perry, the former covering Lorentzson, was the standout of the game.

In a preliminary encounter that looked more like a football contest than a basketball game, the Eastern freshmen took a 33 to 29 decision from the Centre frosh.

Spring Football Practice To Begin Monday, Feb. 27

Many Veterans To Return From Last Year's Victories

SQUAD LISTED

Now that Eastern has played its last regularly scheduled basketball game for the season 1939, and has but the tournament to look forward to before taking a rest from the hardwood, we might gaze into the future to see what the spring sports hold in the way of interest.

On Feb. 27, Coach Rankin will issue his annual spring call for footballers, men of ability, eager to the most complex and technical type of strategic field generaling.

Yes, for four short weeks the students will have the privilege of seeing the material from which Rome Rankin hopes to build a team, one that will crush Morehead and Western! If victories were decided on the coach's determination, Eastern would as yet have to place a fray on the red side of the ledger.

Year by year he is gradually instilling within the souls of his athletes this attribute and sooner or later this indoctrination will begin to pay dividends.

The seniors returning to gridwars, this fall will be Carl Yeager and Jim Hennessey, ends; Carl Kemp, back; Harry Lockman and Marion Morgan, linemen. As to the juniors, this seems to be the spot from which will come the nucleus of the team and no wonder, just cast your eyes on last season's heroes. The linemen are George Lewis, Walter Mayer, and Ora Tussey. At the ends the second year men offer as their contribution, Nelson Gordon and James Gott. The backfield from this group gives the pessimistic soul and exceedingly amount of encouragement as to the outcome of this fall's grid-battles. They are: Travis Combs, Robert Mowat, George Ordick and Spider Thurman.

Up from the ranks of last year's freshmen team we have as the backs: Bill Cross, Frank Flanagan, H. Wilson, and Bert Smith. Those who will be fighting regulars for berths down on the line where the going really gets tough are: Ralph Darling, Glyn Davis, Kenneth Perry, Charles Sorrell, Howard Waters, and Raymond Kornhoff. On the flanks, these boys will give notice of how the game should be played from their standpoint: Fred Darling, Cliff Tinnell and Charles Scheuster.

Union Bulldogs Down Eastern In K. I. A. C. Upset

McWhorter and Farmer Score 14 Each; Union Wins In Late Rally

SCORE 40-37

Union College surprised the Eastern Maroons February 16th and gained a 40-37 victory to avenge a loss at Richmond. The Bulldogs had to come from behind to grab the triumph, however, for they were lagging 22-16 at the half.

It was not until only five minutes were left to be played that Union was able to catch the invaders at 35-35 after a spirited rally led by Farmer and Stafura. Laswell sent the Bulldogs ahead with a fielder, but McWhorter cut the margin one point with a free toss. Laswell gained the margin back at 38-36 with a foul before Thurman connected with a gratis toss for Eastern. Free-throws by Leroy and Cartmill gave the winners their margin.

Three players went out on fouls in the extremely rough encounter. Eastern lost McWhorter and Tussey, while Union was deprived of Leroy. Both teams were sharp at the foul line. Eastern missed on 4 out of 19 shots granted, while Union missed 4 out of 12.

The setback marked the fourth against eight wins for the Maroons and the win was the second in eight times for the Bulldogs.

Scoring honors were divided by McWhorter and Farmer. Each tallied 14 points.

By JIM RODGERS

Under the coaching of Bobby Dickman, Eastern's swimming team has developed from a mediocre aggregation to one which will be a constant threat in all events at the state meet held at Berea on March 25. The team is well balanced while the attitude of every member concerning cooperation, determination to win, and loyalty in training, is definitely an outstanding attribute of this group.

Below are mentioned the members of the swimming team and short sketches pertaining to each. Bob Dickman, Eastern's state diving champion, has shown great leadership in directing his team through two victorious dual meets held this season with Tusculum and Maryville. In three years of competition, this chap has lost but one diving event and that was by a mere three points.

Leslie Roth is the versatile athlete on the team. He is a good fill-in at most any place needed and in his speciality, the 150-yard backstroke, should break the state record of 1:59.

Jim Brock has shown 100 per cent improvement this year in his stroke. This young man is but a sophomore and right now looks good in the 440-yard freestyle. Watch him next year!

George Evans has the most beautiful crawl stroke of any swimmer in collegiate competition, according to Coach Dickman. He gets an exceedingly fast pace in the 100- and 200-yard events. Evans has a great chance to place in the state meet. It was this fellow that coached, advised, gave pointers to Brock and did much to produce such an improved swimmer.

Guy Whitehead has good rhythm, an excellent stroke, and is one of the hardest working members. Next year should be his best.

Jim Hennessey is the latest addition and certainly a welcomed one. Jim plays basketball and has up to this time been unable to compete but he will give a grand account of himself in the 100-yard freestyle.

In Jim Stayton and Harold Mill's the Maroons have improved swimmers for the relays and backstroke events, respectively. Harold is the smallest member on the team. Jim's hard working and constant training are well on their way to paying dividends.

The two remaining members are Buck Weaver and Coleman Whitaker. Both compete for honors in the breaststroke event and have shown potentialities of developing into a likely combination for taking successive places in future meets.

Baseball Schedule Is Released; Practice Will Begin March 15

Coach Hembree plans to start baseball practice on March 15 providing the field can be graded and laid off by that time. This year Eastern has scheduled approximately twenty games. Those colleges with which the Maroons will compete are:

- April 8—Franklin, here.
- April 10—Northern Ill., here.
- April 13—U. of Cin., there.
- April 19—U. of Ky., there.
- April 21—U. of Tenn., here.
- May 6—U. of Ky., here.
- May 22, 23—Lincoln Mem., here.
- May 27—U. of Cin., here.

Games to be arranged are: Louisville, 2 games; Western, 4 games; and Centre 2 games. The new diamond will be modeled after that of Crosley Field, home of the Cincinnati Reds. A grass infield and new backstop will be the outstanding features of a collegiate baseball field second to none.

Former Maroon Stars Meet Again

Back in 1936 Art Lund, 6-foot 4-inch, 200-pound halfback for Eastern, tossed a pass to Bob Hatton, 215-pound wingman, who exceeded his mate in height by half an inch. It was just another forward pass, as passes go, except that it was long. It was so long that no other pair in America equaled it all season, and the 65 yards it covered went into the books as the longest pass of the year. Both boys made all-State, all-Conference and all-Little America mention, graduated, and went their separate ways. Recently they met again—in the Sports

Department of The Courier-Journal, Art coached at Maysville in 1937-38. Later he joined a dance band and traveled up and down the Atlantic Coast. Now he is singing with Joe Hart's band at the Greyhound. Bob played professional football with the Detroit Lions last season, traveling through Washington, Ohio, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan. He received a broken shoulder and gave up the sport for a position with Seagram's, Inc. He has been located in Louisville three months. Art is single and happy, and Bob is married and happier.

Eastern Athlete Is Victor In Golden Gloves

Walter Hill, Senior, Wins By Decision In Light-Heavy Group

AT LEXINGTON

Walter Hill, Eastern grid star, won the light heavyweight championship of Kentucky in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament finals Monday night at Woodland auditorium, Lexington, under the sponsorship of the Lexington Herald-Leader.

By his victory over Alfred Hall, of Louisville, by a decision, Hill won several awards and a trip to Chicago with all expenses paid to participate in the national Golden Gloves tournament.

Hill's entry in the state tournament was sponsored by the Modern Dry Cleaners, Richmond, which furnished trunks, shoes and other equipment.

Maroons Breeze To Easy Win Over Centre Colonels

Maroons Score At Will and Second Team Sees Action

SCORE 42-26

The Eastern Maroons completed their most successful basketball season in recent years by defeating the Centre College Colonels here Saturday night in a K. I. A. C. encounter by a 42 to 26 score.

This victory gave Coach Rome Rankin's group of stalwarts a record of 11 victories and four defeats. The setbacks were at the hands of Western, Union and Morehead. The champion Hilltoppers were the only group to twice defeat the Maroons.

Saturday night's contest was not especially interesting, Eastern winning much as Rankin pleased. He made no effort to, run up the score and pulled his regulars out in each half to allow the Colonels to cut the margin.

The contest set some sort of a record in that the Maroons were charged with only one personal foul, that early in the first half. Centre committed nine.

Eastern pulled away easily to a 20 to 8 lead midway of the first half and Rankin sent in four substitutes to carry on during the remainder of the period. Centre scored eight points while the Maroons failed to count during the remainder of the period. The half ended with Eastern leading by 20 to 16.

Beginning the second period the teams battled evenly for the first few minutes and the Colonels cut the Maroon lead to two points at 22 to 20; Eastern then scored 16 points while Centre was making two and the battle was over.

In a preliminary game the Eastern frosh, led by Demoisey with 22 and Osborne with 21 points, defeated the Centre Looles by a 58 to 21 count.

Sports INSIGHT

By JIM RODGERS

Selecting the victorious team in the K.I.A.C. basketball tournament will very much resemble a fellow trying to determine the winning horse in the Irish Sweepstakes. That's right, it's a long shot but here goes. In the top bracket: Eastern has again drawn the favorite and will go down by a very close score. . . . Transy will take Kentucky Wesleyan with ease. . . . Louisville will taste defeat at hands of Western the second day. . . . That permits Transy and Western to pull up at the semi-final post, but the Hill-toppers will shine as usual. Let's now journey down to the lower bracket and the place where anything can happen. Union of late has been coming fast and should undoubtedly humble Berea. . . . Morehead has a sleeper in Centre, nevertheless, those teachers will have the Colonels really praying. . . . Georgetown vs. Murray, this game is the one to watch because of its potentiality of being the best played during the tourney. However, the Tigers get the call in this column but will have to do an enormous amount of clawing. . . . The following day Morehead will win its second game, that over Union. . . . Moving into the semi-finals, Georgetown's vision of possessing the state crown will vanish in a defeat by Morehead. On Saturday night Western, always a money team, decidedly holds the advantage over the Eagles and will add another crown to their already astonishing achievements on the hardwood.

Of course everyone has heard of the excursion Rusty Wicklund and George Powers took to Florida but few are in on the "know" enough to fully understand the cause. (All of us can see the effect!) The fairer sex in that southern most state has the reputation of being just about as fast as Kentucky horses—I only wonder if by any chance that could have been the reason for their making such good time going down. Anyway, upon their return they denied this report (which is actually true) and told me that eventually the athletic department would publish official notice that they were scouting the University of Florida football team in spring practice. Negotiations were almost completed for our playing this team in 1940.

Those of you who remember Art Lued, an Eastern graduate and former gridiron luminary, might be interested in knowing that he's making good in a big way as soloist for Little Joe Hart's orchestra now playing at the Club Gray-Round in Louisville. While a student "Red" threw passes like bullets with the accuracy of Cupid's arrow. . . . now he's actually on Cupid's payroll.

In Wyatt Thurman, Eastern has one of its greatest athletes, its best liked student and certainly the person with the most modesty. It has been said, modesty, that becomes all men, is especially becoming in one who has great merit, in that he has everything to excuse pride. This characteristic seldom resides in the body that is not enriched with nobler virtues.

Within the next month Eastern will issue a call for sprinters, hurdlers, pole-vaulters, and field-men—in fact, track is on its way. The athletic department is only hoping that more enthusiasm will be shown this year than that which has been displayed in previous seasons. Track is a sport in which rigorous training rules must be followed to the letter; it's an enjoyment to those who participate and a beautifully activity to watch from the spectator's viewpoint. The turnout during the past three years has not warranted spending the money necessary to grade and lay off the track but should enough men convince Mr. McDonough that this sport is an integral part in the athletic program, we're sure it won't be long before Eastern will be returning with some trophies from the state meet held annually at Centre College in Danville.

Did You Know?

That McWhorter will have the second highest average in the state for points scored per game.

That Spider Thurman's assignment is always to guard the opponent's high-scorer?

That the K.I.A.C. basketball tournament when held in Richmond, consistently nets more money in dividends to the various clubs participating than any other location?

That a prominent referee while officiating a game at the University of Kentucky said Western had the best ball club he had seen this year and that included most of the leading universities and colleges?

Kyma Club Sponsors "Clean-Up Week" For Spring Campus

The Kyma Club held its regular meeting on Thursday evening, February sixteenth, in room 37 of the Administration building. The president, Frank Wilcox, presided at this time. A varied program for 1939 was planned which will include a werner roast, a bathing party, and a general party for all Eastern students.

The club plans to sponsor a "clean-up week" to prepare the camps and buildings for spring.

Georgetown College Winds Up Atop All In KIAC Standing

Eastern Maroons Take Fourth Place With 11 Wins and 3 Losses

TOURNAMENT HERE

At the end of conference play Georgetown and Western teams were undefeated in the K. I. A. C. and are possible choices as favorites in the loop tournament beginning at Richmond Thursday.

Georgetown racked up a dozen victories during the season, while Western, the 1938 titleholder, came thru with eight wins. The two teams are in opposite brackets.

If Georgetown would continue its hot pace, however, it must get by Murray in the first round. Murray, runner-up to Western four times in the last six years, has won no K. I. A. C. games and has lost three, although in play against all collegiate competition it has won 11 and lost five.

Western, in addition to coming thru league play unscathed, topped all other Kentucky teams in the all-competition standing with 15 wins and three losses.

Babb's Term As President Of Morehead Extends

Regents Extend Term to July 1, 1940; Friction Recognized

IN RESOLUTION

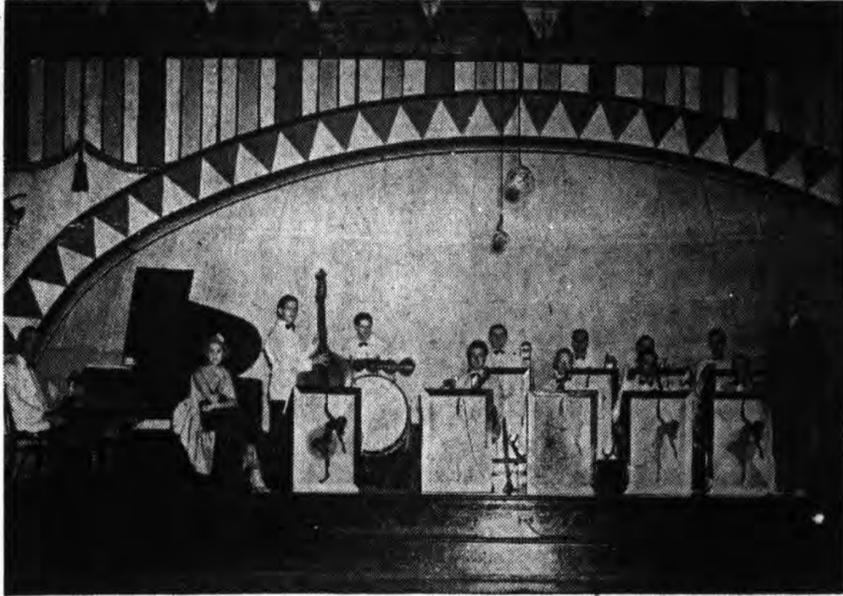

Dr. H. A. Babb's presidency of Morehead State Teachers College was extended Tuesday, Feb. 14, by board of regents, meeting, from Nov. 1, 1939, to July 1, 1940.

The board adopted a resolution, however, asking Dr. Babb in making recommendations for the faculty for the next school year to "recommend only such persons as are known definitely to promote the welfare of the school."

President H. A. Babb of Morehead State Teachers College, claimed "vindication" of charges made by a Morehead newspaper after the board of regents extended his term until July 1, 1940.

"I feel I have been vindicated of false charges that have been made against me. I am glad the board took up these charges."

Heard At Assembly

Motion pictures in natural colors were shown Friday morning, February 17, at Eastern's assembly hour of France, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, England, Germany and Italy by Frank E. Ackerman of Harlan. Mr. Ackerman filmed the pictures the past summer while traveling in Europe.

These so-called "war lands" of Europe are not war lands as described by many but are the homes of peace-loving people engaged in farming and industry, according to Mr. Ackerman. The people of Europe are deeply religious and not even Hitler has been able to eradicate religion in Germany, he declared.

The preservation of forests and other natural resources in Europe should be of particular interest to Americans, he said, showing pictures of great forests government owned and protected and public parks and gardens in the centers of great cities where the people go for rest and recreation.

Street scenes in London, Paris, Brussels, Ghent, and rural sections of central European countries were shown. Palaces and buildings of historical interest were included in the film.

Green Addresses Science Club On Endocrine Glands

Group Prepares Snapshots For Milestone

PARKS CHAIRMAN

Russel Green presented a detailed scientific treatise on the endocrine (ductless) glands from the standpoint of historical knowledge, location, general appearance, functions of the glands and lastly diseases associated with each gland, at the home of Dr. T. C. Herndon, at the regular scheduled semi-monthly meeting of the Science Club, February 15.

He pointed out that while the sciences of endocrinology represents a development of less than half a century, it offers no better proof of its importance and interest than is to be found in the great and growing mass of literature that has accumulated around it.

In regard to a historical point of view it was stated that Brown-Sequard, a French physiologist, carried out a series of brilliant researches. His experiments were reported before the "Societe de Biologie" of Paris on May 31, 1889—a date that is cited as "the birthday of endocrinology."

Immediately preceding the address a discussion of old and new business was held. Various members, who had been designated to take snapshots to be published in the Milestone, turned in their pictures to Miss Josephine Parks, chairman of the photography committee. Some of the pictures created much excitement and should prove to be surprises to quite a few students when the annual is issued in May.

Burns Is Heard In Assembly By Eastern Students

Professor of History Says That State Has Failed In Duties

TOWARD EDUCATION

The duty placed upon the law-makers of Kentucky by the state constitution to provide an efficient system of education in the state has gone unfulfilled, according to Virgil E. Burns, professor of history and government at Eastern, in a discussion at the college assembly hour Monday, Feb. 13, on attitudes of past governors of Kentucky toward education.

Messages of the 41 governors who served Kentucky from 1792 to the present were studied by Mr. Burns, who stated that most of the governors supported a better system of education. The first five made no mention of education but Gabriel Slaughter, who was governor from 1816-1820, urged the legislature to provide support for the schools, the speaker stated.

Joseph Desha, 1824-28, particularly advocated improved educational provisions. Mr. Burns said, and Thomas Metcalfe, 1828-32, was the first governor to mention equal education for women. The first to advocate teacher training was Charles Wickliffe, 1836-40.

"Students of this country should be entitled to fourteen grades of education free of tuition," according to Mr. Burns. "Such a system of education is a good policy to protect us from Fascism, Communism, and other isms. An eighth grade education may have been adequate in 1891 but not today. Government of the people, by the people and for the people cannot be realized without a high degree of education on the part of the people."
