Public School Superintendent Dies

Lloyd H. Lutes, Falmouth public school superintendent, died of a heart attack on February 19 while en route to a hospital.

Lutes was a civic and community leader in Falmouth and Pendleton County. He was past president of the Falmouth Rotary Club and had been school superintendent since 1930. Mr. Lutes was graduated at Eastern in 1916.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Gladys Lutes; a daughter, Miss Fernita Lutes, at home, six sisters and three brothers.

Funeral services were conducted at the Falmouth Baptist Church with burial in the Riverside Ceme-

WRA Activities

WRA has been very active during the first half of the semester sponsoring a bridge tournament and basketball intramurals. Mary Kappas and Judy Leete came out on top in the bridge tournament and Sylvia Tracy's Express-O-s captured first place in the basketball intramurals. The members of the Express-O-s are: Sharon Musen, Barbara Leach, Diane Williamson, Selma Siekman, Fran Stock, Myrna Young, Pat Jones, Elaine Kober and Sylvia Tracy. To win the title the Express-O-s defeated the Kappas Kats captained by Mary Kappas, the Way Outs captained by Dot Clark and the No Name Nine captained by Pat Boyd.

The girls basketball team was defeated by Berea Saturday, March 19. A basketball game was scheduled with Lees Jr. College for Saturday, March 26, and concluded the basketball season. Softball will be coming up soon and any girls who would like to come will be welcomed.

Lovely Kay Bowman, a junior from Tyner, was selected to represent Eastern in the Courier-Journal Cover Girl Contest. The winner of this contest has her picture placed on the magazine cover and a feature story in one issue.

President's Reception Is A Success

On March 16 the Student Union Building was the scene of one of the loveliest events ever to have been held on the campus. This was a program and reception, given by the students in honor of President W. F. O'Donnell, who will retire at the end of the current school year, and Mrs. O'Donnell.

Students, faculty, and staff assembled in the cafeteria at 8:00 o'clock waiting for the arrival of the guests of honor. The band was seated in the Rose Room behind the beautifully decorated dais provided for Dr. and Mrs. O'Donnell and the master of ceremonies, Joe Graybeal, Somerset, president of the Student Council. Members of the "E" Club formed the honor guard from the entrance to the dais.

President and Mrs. O'Donnell were escorted into the cafeteria by a procession led by the representatives of the college Social Committee: Miss Betty Jo Hancock, Crestwood, and Edwin Darst, Stanford, freshman class; Mrs. Linda Gassaway, Watertown, Tenn. and James Barrett, Middlesboro, sophomore class; Miss Barbara Hines, Louisville, and Frank Whalen, Paris, junior class; Miss Judy Eversole, Richmond, and Paul Burke, Fort Thomas, senior class.

Next in the procession were presidents and secretaries of the classes: Jimmy Kincer, Neon, and Miss Elizabeth Conleton, Richmond, freshman; Miss Evelyn Craft, Frankfort, and Jim Showalter, Louisville, sophomore; Fred Crump, Richmond, and Miss Sandy Wilhoite, Erlanger, junior; Jim Cottrell, Wallins Creek, and Miss Helen Shaw, Pleasureville, senior.

Mrs. O'Donnell was escorted by Mackie Blythe, Newport, vice president of the Student Council, and President O'Donnell was accompanied by Miss Dolores Niblack, Alexandria, senior class representative of the Student Council.

The college band, under the direction of Mr. Koenigstein, played as the processionial march "For He's A Jolly Good Fellow," which the entire gathering sang as President and Mrs. O'Donnell took their places on the dais.

First on the program was a selection of President O'Donnell's favorite songs presented by the Eastern choir, conducted by Mr. James E. Van Peursem. Songs included the Western marching song and the Alma Mater.

The students, directed by the college Social Committee of which Dean Emma Y. Case is chairman, planned the party and were hosts for the evening.

Miss Dolores Niblack gave a brief resume of President O'Donnell's achievements during the nineteen years he has been at Eastern. Among these are the increased enrollment from 981 the first semester of '41-'42 to 2,969 enrolled for this semester. The number of college faculty members has increased from 64 to 103 during these years. She said that the June, 1960, class will add considerably to the 6,317 degrees already conferred during Dr. O'Donnell's administration. The college plant has also been increased in value from $3,250,000 in 1942 to more than $7,000,000 at the present time.

Among the major buildings erected and improvements made from 1941 to 1960 are the new Science and Music Buildings, Keith Hall, and O'Donnell Hall. An addition has been made to the Weaver Health Building; the stadium lights have been installed; Roark Building and Burnam and Sullivan Halls have been remodeled and renovated. A total of 124 housing units for married students were erected. Parking areas were provided and new heat mains were laid under all the campus. Also, a new heating plant has been installed.

Miss Niblack told of the new construction either under way or in the planning stage under President O'Donnell's direction. These include new dormitories to house approximately 400 women, two new dormitories for 400 men, and 80 modern apartments for married students which will be completed next year. Plans have been drawn for a new training school building and plans are being drawn for a new maintenance building.

Next on the program, Mrs. Blanche Seever and Mr. Donald Henrickson, accompanied by Mr. Robert Spillman, presented another group of songs, including "Indian Love Call," "Some Enchanted Evening," and the final number, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," which was sung by the entire group.

Fred Crump, president of the junior class, paid tribute to Mrs. O'Donnell for the wonderful way in which she has served as first lady at Eastern. He then presented her with a beautiful sheaf of red roses.

A gift from the student body, attesting to the love and respect in which Dr. O'Donnell is held, was presented by Mackie Blythe. Mr. Van Peursem led the group, now assembled before the dais, in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Following the program, the guests enjoyed refreshments which were served from four beautifully appointed tables. Presiding over these were Judy Eversole, Barbara Hines, Linda Gassaway, and Betty Jo Hancock, representing the four classes.

Dear Students:

We wish each of you could know how delighted we were with the reception you gave in our honor. The opportunity to be associated with you has been a wonderful experience. The memory of these happy days we have spent with you will remain with us a source of pleasure and satisfaction and will continue to bless our lives after we leave the campus. We are deeply grateful for the gift, for every smile, for every wave of the hand in greeting, and for every expression of good will and friendship for us.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. O'Donnell

CRITICISM

Undoubtedly, the trend on campus lately has been to criticize anything and everything, often with due cause but just as often without it. Granted, we Americans are free peoples with the right to criticism, but if we feel the need to criticize strongly, then we should also have a few concrete suggestions toward improving the thing we are criticizing.

An example, we criticize the suitcase for going home, but if he stays one weekend do we provide anything to make him want to stay again? or do we too, sit around and gripe because there is nothing to do? On the other hand, we gripe because there is never anything going on during the week, but when a good play or party is given, do we attend? If we do, are we critical of the whole event?

Constructive criticism is good; but destructive criticism which tears down and destroys without attempting to rebuild in a better way has no worth at all. So, if we are again to criticize, let's be prepared to make suggestions for improvement and also be willing to help put them into action.

TO STRIVE, TO SEEK, TO FIND

One often hears the phrase today "Let's be broad-minded." Exactly what is meant by this expression depends entirely on the individual in most cases. Some seem to feel that if a person has definitely made up his mind on a certain subject that he is narrowminded. Therefore all an individual has to do to be considered broadminded is to be indefinite or wishy-washy on all subjects. If he disagrees with what is conventionally accepted he is thought to be quite an intelligent soul. It makes no difference that this person has no conception of what he is disagreeing with as long as he objects to the usually common viewpoint.

A closed mind is an extremely dangerous possession. However, equally as dangerous is the mind that is susceptible to any and every doctrine or ism that happens along. One should never shut from his mind the possibility that he may be wrong in his views; but neither should an individual cast away all of his beliefs, and consequently have nothing solid to which he can hold, simply on the premise that he can never be certain that he is correct in his thinking.

Too often we fall into the habit of accepting the belief that an inquiring mind is one that disagrees. Through reason and logic one can conclude that another's viewpoints are false but, in the same way, using the same methods, one could also come to ACCEPT the beliefs of one who has gone before him.

Conformity to a belief based upon custom without study and experimentation reflects an individual who is nothing more than a robot, a non-thinking creature; non-conformity for its sake alone can reveal nothing of any more value. The end result of education should not be the answer to the question of conformity or non-conformity, but rather the creation of minds seeking to find the answer that best meets the requirements of their own individual needs.

Letters To The Editors

Dear Editors:
Recently, many of the students on our campus were privileged to hear Miss Jolee Fritz speak on the controversial subject of disarmament. I think we would all agree that as a result of hearing her lectures we were challenged to think perhaps more profoundly upon international relations than we are usually accustomed to. If for this reason only then, her visit with us was certainly rewarding. However, I was quite amazed at the attitude taken by some of our students toward her views on the matter. I refer to such remarks as "She shouldn't be allowed on campus" or "She shouldn't be meddling in such affairs." This attitude would not only seem unfair and undemocratic, but also in direct conflict with the American ideology of freedom of speech and the right to hold such opinions as we deem best. I admit there is much room for controversy on this matter, and if the remarks had been such as "I disagree, but she has the privilege of stating her views as well as do I," then I would have no dispute with these people. But to say that she should not be allowed on campus is to do nothing but cheat ourselves of a broader outlook on the whole situation.

If we are truly democratic and if we honestly feel that the American way is the best way, we should be willing to hear all sides of a question and let every person speak as he sees fit. If we are going to suppress the opinion of others and say that our way is the right way and the only way, are we not also suppressing the democratic way of life.

Sincerely,
Marguerite Smith

Is the Progress interested in becoming a better paper? Do we want to have a college paper that the students will enjoy reading—or even read? Matter of fact, is the Progress worth reading?

If you can answer yes to the above questions, then you haven't been reading the Progress recently.

Here are some of the most obvious faults of the paper:

1. It reprints material that has been previously used in the Richmond Register. Some examples are the articles on Dr. Keith's book, much of the sports news, and the Register calendar girls.

2. Many articles appearing on the front page do not deserve to be there. To illustrate this consider the last issue—there was an apology for a name omitted, thanks given to helpers in the ping pong tournament, and the trite statement that professors don't need money belts.

3. It seemed silly to devote six column inches to a past assembly program. This space could have been used more effectively in previewing a future program.

4. There are far too many ads and pictures. For a relatively minor event such as the ping pong tournament there were four good size pictures (incidentally, the picture of the tournament winner was smaller and less noticeable than the three of the runner up).

The Eastern Progress seems to be a wishy-washy paper which refuses to print thought-provoking material. Although we know that newspapers are generally written on the fifth grade level, this is a college paper and we who read it are college students.

Louise Goad and Friends
Editor's Note — All students with thought-provoking contributions are urged to join the Progress staff or offer their ideas for publication.

Get Off The Beatnik's Back
In answer to the statement, "Needless to say none of Eastern's professional beats made the scene for comparison," which appeared in the last issue of the Progress.

Where was the Beatnik?
Maybe he was home, reading Uri's "Exodus," Huxley's "Brave New World," Treadgold's "Twentieth Century Russia," an old magazine, writing a paper on Sartre and Aeschylus, "Orestes," working on a reading project of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" and Sartre's "The Flies" taken comparatively, writing some prose, poetry, or merely thinking, (an art which is lost to many), painting a picture, practicing the oboe or eating popcorn and boiled eggs. He could have been at a good French movie, out with the gang for gin and gab, or oodles of other places.

The true Beatnik has no time, and feels no need to compare himself to the pseudo beat.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards... as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant... and your Navigator wings.

Coed's Corner

I'm on my soapbox again—this time to protest to the powers that be about something gravely wrong with the administration of Burnam Hall.

Last week these people decided it was time to hold a fire drill. After the bell had failed to go off in parts of the dorm and the fire captains had rushed around screaming "Fire Drill!" and pushing us in the direction of the exits, most of us managed to get outside—several with dripping hair, a few wet all over from just having climbed out of a shower, and many with colds, coughs, or the aftermaths of flu.

The usual attire for a fire drill is shoes (of some description), a coat, and a bath towel over the head. Under the coat the girl wears whatever she happens to have on at the time—regular clothing, underclothes, pajamas, or nothing (if she was in the shower). On a cold winter night this is not enough clothing for an extended wait in the outdoor air.

However, this is exactly what happened. It wasn't enough that the girls parade outside and then turn around and go back inside; it was also necessary that they be kept standing outside while a roll was taken to see if anyone was inconsiderate enough not to want to go wading around in the snow at 10:30 at night.

I recognize the fact that, although we do not particularly like them, fire drills are necessary. What is not necessary is that the girls be kept standing in the snow with dripping hair and bodies, waiting for someone to decide to call their names. If roll had to be taken, it could just as easily have been done in the hallway.

I am sure the people responsible for the fire drill aren't trying to increase the patronage of the infirmary, but surely they must realize that standing half-dressed in the snow for a quarter of an hour is not good for people. Perhaps this incident won't be repeated.

Last Issue Caused Comments

My column prompted quite a few remarks—mostly disparaging—about my favoring girls' wearing hats to church. I welcome them; as a matter of fact, I wish someone would write an article supporting the other side of the issue—I shall include it in my next column if I receive one.

I also would like to hear from any of you about your reactions to the above article, or any suggestions for future columns—preferably not serious—I get tired of griping.

MAROON CORNER

By GERALD LUNSFORD

Eastern Kentucky's baseball Maroons, defending co-champions of the Ohio Valley Conference, are minus their two top hurlers and four of the top five hitters as they prep for a rugged 1960 schedule which finds the opener just two weeks away.

Lost from the 1959 club which won 12 of 18 games and shared the conference title with Murray and Middle Tennessee were seven lettermen including lefthander Hugh Gabbard, considered as one of the best college southpaws in the South, and slugger Larry Wood, the team's leading hitter. Gabbard compiled a 7-2 mark and an ERA of 2.07 runs per game while pitching all the loop games. Wood hit .383, led in RBI's with 20, and was the best fielding outfielder, with a .972 mark.

Besides these two stalwarts, Dan Bennett, the top righthander (3-1), was lost, as was leftfielder Oakie Newsom, the home run leader (3), and third leading hitter (344). Third sacker Angus Begley, fourth in RBI's (18), is missing from this year's squad, as is first baseman Fred MacFarland, fifth hitter (.290), and tops in runs scored (19). Cliff Swauger, letterman of two years past, and a starter for part of last season before quitting to concentrate on his medical studies, was also lost.

Returning is the number two batsman, catcher John Draud (.374), senior from South Gate, Ky. Besides him, the list of sluggers is slim Bobby Mills, fiery second sacker from Maysville, was the seventh hitter (.275), and the second half of the best double play combo in the conference, shortstop Shannon Johnson (.278), of Irvine, is back for his last year.

A trio of righthanders, Gary Fraley (2-1), of Sandy Hook, Jim Payne (0-2), of Pleasureville, and Tom Goodwin, of Silver Grove, Ky., from the nucleus of the pitching staff. Goodwin, who was ineligible last season, is being heavily counted upon to take up the slack of the departed Gabbard and Bennett. Newcomers Ken Pigg, 6-1, 197 pounder from Newport, Larry Dortch, 6 foot, 165 pound yearling from Rockport, and Ron Morgan, 5-10, 185 pounds from Sciotoville, Ohio, are the top prospects among the freshman aspirants. All are righthanders.

Outfielders Billy Curry (.273), Covington, and catchers Charles Hayslip (.33), Maysville, and Carter Brandenburg (.333), Richmond, the latter two doubling as utility men, return for sophomore seasons.

Best looking prospects to replace Begley and MacFarland at third and first are sophomore Ted Onkst, a sophomore from Covington, Earl Campbell, freshman from Richmond, and Earl Dunn, yearling from Paris, at third, and Raymond Ross, another frosh from Richmond, and James Bell, Dayton, Ohio, sophomore, at first.

Top candidates for berths in the outer pasture are Harvey Yeary, sophomore from Middlesboro, who transferred from Indiana University, William and Beryl Satterly, freshmen twins from Grayson, Charles Combs, senior from Berea, and Jim Harris, sophomore from Lawrenceburg.

Chief problems confronting coach Charles "Turkey" Hughes and Don Feltner are the replacement of pitchers who won 10 of the 12 games won last spring, as well as finding some hitters to replace the list of sluggers who helped to give the Maroons a .301 team batting mark last season.

A squad of some 40 hopefuls have been kept indoors since getting started ten days ago. Practice sessions have consisted mainly of conditioning drills and fundamentals. Weather permitting, the season opener is slated for March 30th as the Maroons host the University of Kentucky Wildcats. With a four-day spring trip to be completed within the next few days, the remainder of the schedule shows contests with Toledo, a newcomer to the schedule, Georgetown, Hillsdale (Michigan) for a twin-bill, Western, Murray, Union, Tennessee Tech, East Tennessee, Middle Tennessee, Morehead, Louisville, and Berea. Home and home contests will be played with Kentucky, Tennessee Tech, and Morehead.

Games that count toward the OVC championship include Western, Murray, and Tennessee Tech on the road, and East Tennessee, Middle Tennessee, and Morehead at Richmond. The conference ruling allows just one pre-designated game to count in conference standings and all other games with loop contenders being recorded as non-conference games. Head coach "Turkey" Hughes hopes that the schedule, when completed, will consist of some 21 games.

No ESC Tennis Team This Year

Courts Site Of New Dorm

For the first time since World War II, Eastern Kentucky State College will sponsor no tennis team. The announcement was made by Charles T. Hughes, director of athletics, today, after efforts had been made to build new courts on the campus.

A new dormitory for women is being constructed on three of the five courts on the campus and the two that remain are not of regulation size. "This problem is critical," says Hughes, who has made efforts for several years to build new courts. "Nearly half of the major buildings on the campus have been built on tennis courts." He lists the administration building, the library, arts building, Weaver Health Building, and now the new women's dormitory. A new dormitory for men is planned in the future on the site of the two existing courts.

Although long range plans at Eastern call for several tennis courts be located near the Health Building, Hughes said "We can't wait that long — they are needed, and they are needed now, not 10 years from now. We regret that we will not be able to field a tennis team this spring, but we hope that by next year we will have several courts." Hughes points out that the main problem in building courts is to locate a suitable spot for them. He recommends that courts be built near O'Donnell Hall, a men's dormitory, to replace some of the old barracks that are being used for living quarters by married students. "These courts," he adds, "could be flooded during the winter months and used for ice skating."

This leaves just three spring sports that Eastern will participate in this spring, baseball, track and golf. The Madison golfers use the Madison Country Club greens for their matches.

Five years ago, a dormitory for men, Keith Hall, was built on the baseball field, but the sport was continued the next year on a new field, built on the college farm, some half mile from the campus.

The Knockouts defeated the 14th Regioners in a hard-fought battle to win the intramural championship.

ESC Sets Record During Completed Cage Season

Final tabulations reveal that one new record was set and another old mark nearly broken by the Eastern Maroons as they compiled their 14-8 worksheet during the just completed 1959-60 cage season.

The Maroons, as a team, connected on 640 of 1511 field goal attempts for a blistering .424 team shooting mark, breaking the old record of .403, set by the conference championship team of 1954-55. Another all-time record, individual field goal percentage, nearly fell by the way-side as senior Bruce Springate's .484 effort came within two-tenths of a percentage point of surpassing Shirley Kearns' mark of .486, set in the 1952-53 campaign. The lone senior on the club, Springate found the range on 107 of 221 attempts from the field.

All-Conference Carl Cole, Lexington junior, finished as the top point-producer, a department in which he led throughout the season. He tallied 402 points in 22 contests for an 18.3 average per game. Springate was next with 11.8, Ralph Richardson third with 11 per outing, while Phil Estep finished fourth with a 10.6 average and Jack Upchurch fifth with a 10.2 average.

Richardson, the 6-7 sophomore center from Russell Springs, nosed out Roland Wierwille, Cincinnati junior, for the rebounding leadership, with 204 grabs for a 8.3 average per game. Wierwille averaged 8.8 for the runner-up honors and Springate was third with 8.6 rebounds per game.

Top free throw shooter was Carl Cole with 88 of 115 attempts for a .766 percentage. Upchurch connected on 44 of 60 for .733, good enough for second.

The Maroons outscored their opponents by 5.8 points per game, 78.9, to 71.0, and out rebounding them by 9.6 rebounds per game, Eastern pulling off an average of 53.1 loose balls as compared to their opponents' 43.5 per outing.

Cole boasts the individual high marks in two departments, scoring with 33 points, against Hamline in the Gulf-South Classic, and field goals, 16, against Tennessee Tech at Cookeville. Wierwille and Estep each hit 11 free throws, both of them against Morehead at Morehead, for the high in this department and Richardson's 23 rebounds against Tennessee Tech at Richmond is high.

The Maroons' team high in the total points department came against East Tennessee, when they scorched the nets for 108 points. Their 87 field goals attempted in the Morehead game at Richmond was high, and their 44 made against East Tennessee was tops for the season. They hit 40 of 50 free throws against Morehead and grabbed 71 rebounds at Richmond against Middle Tennessee for other highs. The 33 personal fouls called against them in the Hamline game was high for the year.

Lows came against North Carolina State at Raleigh, in total points 50, and free throws made, 8; Dayton at Dayton, field goals made, 20, and rebounds, 42; La. Tech, field goals attempted, 59; North western Louisiana, free throws attempted, 15; and Marshall, personal fouls 17.

The Maroons finished with a 9-0 home slate and a 5-8 mark on the road. In conference action, they were 9-3, second best in the OVC, while in non-loop competition, they were 5-5.

PERSHING RIFLES

The sharp shooters of Eastern's Pershing Rifles have won in unsurpassed form the First Regimental section of the 1959-60 National Rifle Match. In winning, Eastern defeated fifteen colleges and universities including the University of Kentucky and Ohio State University.

By being the Regimental Champion Eastern is eligible to compete in the second phase of the National Rifle Match against the other Regimental Champions from all parts of the country. Trophies and medals will be awarded to the National First, Second, and Third place champions.

The rifle team members and their scores are as follows: Paul Combest 191; Don Stivers 191; David Dewar 181; and Bob Farmer 187. The possible perfect score was 200.

Eastern Grid Team Boasts 23 Lettermen

Out of the 56 hopeful candidates who reported to Head Football Coach Glenn Presnell Tuesday for the opening of spring football practice 23 are returning lettermen.

Gone from last year's squad are All-Conference linemen, Eddie Miller, Steve Herczeg and Joe Graybeal. Also lost were the two starting ends, Orville Howard and Frank Asbury, and the starting fullback Hade Durbin. Coach Presnell has stated "our biggest job is that of replacing our three all-conference linemen." With lineman Richard Slukich deciding to graduate and not play his year of eligibility he has left and with the two starting ends gone, Presnell has the job of finding replacements for the entire starting line. According to Presnell, "this is going to produce a lot of competition."

EASTERN KENTUCKY THIN-CLADS KICK OFF-SPRING SPORTS EVENTS

Eastern Kentucky's spring sports activity was kicked off on Saturday, March 19th when the thin-clads of Coach Glenn Gossett competed in the second annual Chattanooga Junior Chamber of Commerce Relays. The Maroons placed sixth in the college division among many of the southern track powers. Northeast Louisiana won both the college and university divisions of the meet.

Over three hundred athletes from the South, including representatives from such powers as Georgia Tech, Duke, Northeastern Louisiana, Georgia, Mississippi Southern, and Chattanooga, competed in the meet. OVC schools represented were, Murray, Tennessee Tech, East Tennessee, Middle Tennessee and Eastern.

Gossett, in his first year at the helm of the Eastern track squad, has quite a rebuilding year ahead of him with just five lettermen back from last year's club that posted a 4-4 record. Missing are the two top weight men, Earl Knight, holder of the school and the OVC shot put record, (48' 11-3/4"), and Wayne Kellar, shot put and discus. Also gone is Clayton Stivers, holder of the conference and school high jump record (6' 4-1/2").

Returning is pole-vaulter Larry Wetenkamp; Cincinnati junior, holder of the second record (12'8") and hurdler Bobby Smith, junior, from Elberton, Georgia, and distance runner Don Hering, sophomore from Morrow, Ohio.

Coach Gossett has tabbed Earnest Dalton, Dayton, Ohio freshman broad jumper, as one of his outstanding new prospects. Dalton has recorded jumps of up to 23 feet during his high school career. The OVC record is 22' 2-3/4". Other top prospects are Darryl Smith, Jeannette, Pa., freshman, shot and discus, Dennis Sprou, Kentucky sprint champion in 1959, Ft. Thomas, Ky., freshman and John Thomas, Geneva, Ind., frosh distance man.

The schedule:

A total of 26 Detroit Tigers have appeared in the major league all-star games since 1933.

Spring Sports Contests Slated Eastern Teams Eye Opponents

Eastern Kentucky's spring sports activity swings into high gear next week with five contests slated involving two of the three spring sports.

The baseball Maroons make their second attempt at win number one on Monday when they take on the defending KIAC champion, Georgetown College at Georgetown, and on Saturday, open their home season by hosting Hillsdale, Michigan in a twin-bill.

The golfers of Coach Glenn Presnell, slated to open their season last Saturday against Tennessee Tech at the Madison County Country Club greens in Richmond, are on the road for a pair of matches with Louisville on Monday, and Morehead on Saturday.

Glenn Gossett's track squad, which finished sixth in the college division of the indoor Chattanooga Invitational Relays, open their campaign on Monday, April 11, at Georgetown College.

Eastern's defending baseball co-champions, impressive in their opening game loss to Kentucky last Wednesday, will probably use a trio of hurlers against Georgetown with senior Tom Goodwin, 6 ft. 170 pound righthander, slated to open.

The golf team hopes to improve on their 4-13 record posted last spring as they meet a strong Louisville and a good Morehead team this week. Any optimism Coach Presnell might have can be attributed to the return of veterans Elhannon Collins, senior sharpshooter from Hazard, and junior Roland Wierwille, of Cincinnati, along with second year men, Ed Stanifer, Whitesburg, and Larry VanHoose, of Paintsville. Freshman candidates Paul Motley, Richmond, and Ed Roberts, Pikeville are both promising prospects. Gossett's track squad was greatly weakened this week when sprinter James Chittum, Lexington, Va., freshman, suffered a broken leg during spring football practice. A Virginia sprint champion, he has been timed at 9.9 in the 100 yard dash. The loss still leaves a state champion on the squad, however, Dennis Sprou, Ft. Thomas freshman, who is the Kentucky sprint champ.

Following the April 11 opener, the Eastern thin-clads next meet Union in the home opener on Tuesday, April 19th.

Eastern will field no tennis team this spring due to the construction of a new women's dormitory on three of the five courts on the campus.

INTRAMURAL CHAMPS

The Knock-Outs won the Intramural Basketball Championship by defeating the 14th Regioners 41-35 in the title clash held in the Weaver Health Building Gym. The only undefeated teams fought until finally the Knock-Outs slipped ahead to win.

Both teams had 13 field goals but the Knock-Outs won on 15 foul shots to only 9 for the losing 14th Regioners. Even though the game was tied at 15 all at half time, the fouls paid off at the start of the last half. The Knock-Outs committed only "one" personal foul to the opposition's "seven."

Pacing the Knock-Outs were Harvey Yeary with 15 points, Dick Hickman with 11, Doug Lee with 8 and Sonny Cobb with 7. Brown led the 14th Regioners with 12 points. Elmer Causey, Joe Barnett and Cowan each scored 6 while Collins and Paul Motley had 3 and 2 points respectively.

Eastern Track Team Victorious

The Eastern Kentucky track team of Coach Glenn Gossett won its first dual meet Tuesday afternoon by defeating Cumberland College, 105-25.

Eastern copped 13 of 15 first places in the meet with Dennis Sprou, Bobby Smith and Darryl Smith scoring two first place victories each. Next outing for the Maroons is on Monday when they go to Georgetown for a dual meet.

COUNCIL ROOM by Frank Pearce

Soon election time for the Student Council will be here. If you are considering running for Student Council office or if you are interested in student government for the coming year, it might be wise to consider the qualifications for office in the Student Council.

Any student who has the grade point standing of at least the average of the school for the preceding year may hold office.

The president must be at least a second semester sophomore at the time he takes office. He should be willing to devote quite a bit of time to student government affairs. He will be required to make a speech outlining his plans, if elected, for the coming year before an assembly of the students sometime during the campaign for office. The requirements for the vice-president are the same as the president, except he will not have to make the speech before the students. He should discuss his views with the students during the campaign, since he would be president in the event the elected president was unable to serve.

The secretary and treasurer must be sophomores at the time he takes office. They will be required to keep a record of proceedings of the Council and the Association and report of cash receipts and disbursements, respectively, while in office.

All nominations will be by petition supported by at least fifty names and certifying the eligibility of the candidate. Petitions may be circulated by the candidate himself, or by another interested party.

Some classes will also be electing class representatives for the Student Council this spring. There are no specific requirements for class representatives except that they be members of their respective class while in office. However, you should endeavor to elect those people who can and will work on the Student Council for the best interests of the students, school, and their classes.

If responsible people are elected to the Council, then we may expect quite a bit from our student government; but without good hard-working, responsible officers and representatives, the Student Council will have difficulty functioning at all. Let's have some good candidates run for office on the Student Council this spring, and may the best candidate win!

SHOWTALK

(In this column I try to prove that there's no business like show business, and I think I succeed—ain't it hell?)

On Tuesday, March 8, the Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatic fraternity on campus, elected officers for the year 1960. John Boone, active member of the Little Theatre Club and Alpha Psi, was elected president. He had a leading role in "Bus Stop" last semester and has acted professionally.

Larry Stanley, also an active member of L.T.C. and Alpha Psi, was elected vice president. Seldom seen on stage, Larry is invaluable in both clubs in committee work. Mary Margaret Lewis, familiar to Eastern theatre-goers for her work in "Bus Stop" and "The House of Bernarda Alba," was selected as secretary-treasurer.

The club had its initiation Tuesday, March 28, for the new members. Those initiated were Jean Patterson, Don Cleaver, and Joan Bilbro. They had to earn fifty service points above Little Theatre Club entrance to qualify as members.

The Alpha Psi Omega sponsored the professional production of "Bell, Book and Candle" last semester.

Besides the officers and the new members, the members are Rita Mills, Ralph Mills, Ned Lyons, Al Alsip, Bill Farthing and Karl Weddle.

Tryouts will be held for "See How They Run" on April 4. There will be parts for six men and three women.

Pearce's Portraits

By FRANK PEARCE

Dolores Niblack and Harold Bell take a moment's rest from their busy schedules.

Mid-semester is just around the corner, and with it comes the horrible thought (to some people) of grades. Two people who don't have to worry about grades are seniors Dolores Niblack and Harold Bell. Both are at the top of this year's graduating class.

I asked them to pass along their secret to making good grades. Dolores said there wasn't any secret, just hard work and good study habits. Harold says that keeping up from day to day helps. So there it is, study hard from day to day, and you will have good grades too.

How they find time to study is a mystery. Both are very active in campus affairs. With a full load of classes, Dolores works in the office of the Dean of Women, is co-editor of the Milestone, senior advisor of Cwens, president of Pi Omega Pi, secretary of Wesley Foundation, senior class representative on the Student Council, and a member of Collegiate Pentacle and Kappa Delta Pi. When she finds time, she reads for pleasure. Her home is Alexandria, Kentucky. Next year she plans to do graduate work, here at Eastern.

Harold is no less busy. Assisting Dolores on the Milestone, he is business manager. He teaches a science class, and is president of the Photo Club, vice-president of the Math Club, treasurer of Kappa Delta Pi and a member of the OAKS. This busy fellow from Monticello is also going to do graduate work and teach in college next year. Harold is an amateur photographer and tinkers with hi-fi and stereo sets. His major is chemistry.

A tip of Pearce's thinking cap to two of Eastern's best scholars, Dolores Niblack and Harold Bell.

Eastern KEA Breakfast Planned For April 22

The Eastern breakfast, which is scheduled annually during the meeting of the KEA in Louisville, will be served this year, as usual, in the Roof Garden of the Brown Hotel Friday morning, April 22, at 8:00 o'clock Central Standard time. A short program has been arranged by President W. F. O'Donnell, who will preside at the breakfast. Joe Shearer, assistant treasurer and sales director of Belknap Hardware and Manufacturing Company, Louisville, president of the Eastern Alumni Association, will represent the alumni on the program.

Tickets for the breakfast may be purchased at the Eastern headquarters in the lobby of the Brown Hotel. The price is $1.00.

Eastern has maintained headquarters in the Brown Hotel for more than twenty years during the meeting of the Kentucky Education Association. The annual get-together of Eastern alumni during this meeting is one of the most pleasant features of the entire year. Scores of alumni take advantage of this occasion to renew acquaintances with the faculty.

Mrs. R. R. Richards, Alumni Secretary, will be in charge of the Eastern headquarters April 20-22. She will be assisted by several members of the faculty. A teacher placement service will also be maintained at the Eastern headquarters. D. J. Carty, director of teacher placement at Eastern, will be available throughout the meeting to talk with superintendents and principals who are recruiting teachers for their school systems for the academic year 1960-61.

Eastern Board Of Regents To Meet On April 13

The Eastern Board of Regents will meet Wednesday morning, April 13, in the Regents' Room of the Administration Building on the campus.

Although routine business is scheduled for this meeting, it is highly probable that consideration will be given to the election of a new president, who will take over July 1, 1960, when President O'Donnell retires. The members of the Board are:

Earle B. Combs, Sr., Richmond; F. L. Dupree, Harlan; H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Prestonsburg; Robert B. Hensley, Louisville; Judge Thomas B. McGregor, Frankfort; Dr. Russell I. Todd, Richmond.

Chairman of the Board is Wendell P. Butler, Frankfort, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

KEA VACATION

The College will close at noon Wednesday, April 20, for the spring vacation during the meeting of the KEA. Class work will be resumed Monday morning, April 25.

Four hard working KKS girls, Ann Stanley Johnson, Jean Liskey, Connie Swann, and Linda Spaulding, practice a routine for the swim show which is to be presented April 6, 7 and 8.

Wesley Foundation News

March 27, 1960, was the date for Student Sunday at the First Methodist Church. Wesley Foundation was in complete charge of the morning services. John Anderson delivered the sermon. Students from Wesley made up the church choir.

The Spring Conference will be held at Murray College on April 2 and 3. The Wesley Foundation at Eastern would like to have a large delegation attend the conference.

B Average Reception

The annual reception honoring those students who received an average of B or better for the first semester of the present school term was held Thursday evening, March 24, in Walnut Hall. Receiving guests were President and Mrs. O'Donnell, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Moore, Mrs. Emma Y. Case, Mr. and Mrs. Mattox, and Misses Dolores Niblack, Peggy Harris, Verena LaFuze and Evelyn Craft.

Some 400 students and faculty members attended. Serving as hostesses for the evening were members of Collegiate Pentacle, Senior Women's Honorary, and Cwens, Sophomore Women's Honorary.

Local Dentist Appointed Regent Of Eastern

A local dentist is one of the two new regents appointed for Eastern State College.

Filling vacancies created by the expiring of terms of Dr. Ernest E. Begley, Hazard, and former Gov. Flem D. Sampson, Barbourville, are Dr. Russell I. Todd, Richmond, and F. L. Dupree, Harlan business man.

It is probable that the board of regents will meet this month and that a new Eastern president will be named. Dr. W. F. O'Donnell retires at the end of the current term.

EASTERN STUDENT INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Richard A. Jones, 19, Eastern State College student from Jeff, suffered cuts and bruises when the car he was driving wrecked on Lancaster Road about 11:30 p. m. Thursday. He is a patient at Patie A. Clay Infirmary.

State Police Trooper Homer Baker said the car was traveling at a high rate of speed and rolled over three times.

EDUCATION AIN'T AS CRUMMY AS IT LOOKS

The Progress was outraged, outspoken and outdone, even slightly, analyzed by the unjust criticism heaped upon our fair school by people who aren't even teachers. To counteract the effect of this adverse criticism, statistics were gathered. (Your own statistics are always better than someone else's.) The following report is a collection of reactions to a practical problem—what is wrong with this fountain pen? Notice the logic, common sense, perseverance and intestinal fortitude with which the students attack this problem. We think that these reactions illustrate the spark of genius characteristic of Eastern education. In fact, they might even make sense in places.

Question: What is wrong with this fountain pen or how would you fix it?

Answers:

Grillology Major—Try burning its tip with a cigarette and then plunging it into some ice.

Chemistry Major—The basic trouble is evaporation. Of course, the lack of superedions or a suspending medium may account for the trouble. Did you try sulfuric acid?

Home Economics Major—I had the same trouble with mine the other day. I fixed it by hitting the end with a shoe and smearing it with oxblood shoe polish.

French Major—La Plume due me tete? Jene comprende pas Anglais.

Biology Major—Congealed, cholesterol is obstructing the capillary tube.

Physical Education Major—I never touch one of those while I'm in training.

Elementary Education Major—I know exactly what the trouble is, but I can't tell you. To do so would make you emotionally unstable, mentally unbalanced, morally frustrated, and socially maladjusted as well as intellectually superior. Things like that can happen in a democracy.

Art Major—You would make a real cool still life.

Mathematics Major—The volume of the pen is equal to $r^2 \pi$ where D is radius and pie is for dessert.

Social Science—Farbeit for me to interfere with the Metaphysical cantankerousness of your lowly writing instrument.

Commerce Major—It's the law of supply and demand. Your debits exceed your credits.

Physics Major—With no fluid in motion obviously Bernuli's law does not hold. The potential energy of the pigneted fluid has been converted to kinetic energy and lost according to the Basic Law.

English Major—What do you think I am? I ain't no mechanic. I'm trying to compose a poem. "Quoth the hero as he staggered through the door, I could not love thee dear so much, loved I not liquor more."

Latin Major—Immersite capitum in Aqua.

Music Major—Blow, Man! Blow! Agriculture Major—Awh, Ah, I don't know whud the madder is
