SCHOOLS MAY GET FEDERAL FINANCIAL AID

Douglas Opens Hearings on General Problems of Federal Aid to Education

NEEDS ARE CONSIDERED

By ROY "JOSE" COSBY
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 7.—The Hon. John T. Douglas, Chairman of the House Education Committee, opened hearings on general problems of federal aid to education for the school years of 1934 and 35. The aim of these hearings was not to consider any particular bill but to acquaint the committee with the emergency needs of education. The committee began work Monday morning, February 26, and continued until Thursday, noon, March 1.

During this committee hearings thirty-four men and women spoke before the committee. Among them were Federal Relief Administrator, Harry L. Hopkins, United States Commissioner of Education George F. Zook, and Stanley Reed, General Counsel for the R. F. C., (formerly of Maysville, Ky.) It is also interesting to note that thirteen of those who testified were laymen. Supt. James H. Richmond, Chairman of the Committee on Federal Emergency Aid for Education, presented the speakers and had charge of all non-committee affairs. He was very ably assisted by Mr. James Camack, Jr.

Most of the testimony hinged around the six point program proposed by the National Emergency Committee:

- (1) $50,000,000 to keep schools open during 1933-34;
  - (2) $10,000,000 to keep schools open during 1934-35;
  - (3) A substantial additional appropriation to insure normal operation of schools during 1934-35;
  - (4) Federal loans to school districts on the security of delinquent taxes, frozen assets in closed banks, etc.;
  - (5) Not less than 10 percent of any new appropriations for public works to be allocated for school and college buildings, and buildings for other educational enterprises;
  - (6) $30,000,000 to assist students to attend institutions of higher education.
- And on the nine reasons why the Federal Government should take part in the emergency aid:

1. School revenue in 1933-34 have been seriously reduced.
2. School opportunities in 1933-34 have been inadequate or lacking.
3. Federal aid granted this year has been the only means of keeping many school open.
4. Enrollments next year will show significant increases.
5. Property taxes, the chief source of school revenue, will be inadequate in 1934-35.
6. State school funds for 1934-35 will not offer sufficient relief to depleted local resources.
7. Further state and local borrowing for school support is impractical.
8. Reports from most of the states indicate falling school revenues for 1934-35.
9. Reports from most of the states indicate urgent need for federal emergency aid next year.

On Wednesday, February 28, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation sub-committee of the Banking and Currency Committee of the House of Representatives considered bills looking toward the refinancing of school indebtedness by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the borrowing of money by school districts from the Corporation, with frozen assets and delinquent taxes pledged as securities. The committee considered also a bill providing for the lending of money on school warrants held by teachers. In addition to Congressmen Terry and Glover of Arkansas, Dr. James H. Richmond and Dr. Howard A. Dawson spoke in behalf of the measures.

In presenting the case for emergency federal loans to school districts the following points were emphasized:

1. The demands on available school revenue for current operating expenses will be unusually heavy in 1934-35.
2. An abnormal share of the school revenue available is required for debt service.
3. Refinancing a small percentage of the total school debt would bring definite and sorely needed relief to many school districts.
4. It is proposed that loans be made only on the basis of adequate security.
5. The proposed use of federal credit is in the interest of public welfare and is in complete accord with the purposes and established policies of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

E CLUB ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Lettermen to Stage Wrestling and Boxing Show March 23

YOUNG, NEW PRESIDENT

At the last regular meeting of the "E" Club, the organization of Eastern's varsity lettermen in all major sports on the campus, new officers for the present year were elected and installed in their respective offices. Ernest (Dog) Young, Richmond, was elected president of the club, with Michael Morris, New York, and Roy Pille, Dayton, Ky., being selected as vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

All three men were outstanding linemen on the Maroon's 1933 football machine. Young played the center position on the team, while Morris and Pille held down flank positions last year. Young also carried at guard on the varsity net squad this season.

The new administration immediately began plans for several campus functions which promise to be outstanding events of the current semester. The club will stage a combination wrestling-boxing show for the student's approval on March 23 at the Weaver gym. Eleven boxing bouts and three wrestling duels will make up the evening's card, according to Vice-President Morris, who is managing the show. This show will be a novel try in that it is the first show of its type presented this year on the campus.

In the main boxing attraction, Franky Rose, professional pugilist and a student at Eastern, will take on Lloyd Duker, pride of Somerset, and last year's varsity football captain, in a scheduled four-round match. Rose's last bout ended early in the evening when Rose put over the K. O. punch in the second round of his match. The school's best boxers and grapplers will participate in this show, as well as representatives of Model High and the Training School, who have consented to appear on the E Club card.

Later in the semester the club expects to sponsor a theater party at the Madison theater. A definite date for this function has not been set as yet. The actual bout-by-bout schedule for the boxing-wrestling show and the definite date for the theater party will be published in the next Progress.

Palm Service Is Set for March 25

The fifth annual Palm Sunday program, sponsored by the Madrigal Club and the Mens Glee Club of Eastern, will be given this year as vesper service at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, March 25, in the form of a cantata entitled "The Seven Last Words of Christ." It was announced here today by James E. Van Peursem, head of the department of music. The famous cantata was composed and arranged by Theodore DuBois for solo and chorus. Soloists will be Katherine Franther, soprano; Edmond T. Hesser, tenor; and Harold Prim, baritone. They will be supported by the choruses of the two glee clubs.

WORST PAST SAYS DONOVAN IN ASSEMBLY

Delegates to A. A. T. C. Convention Have Optimistic View for Future

REPORTS TO STUDENTS

That we have passed through the worst of the depression and that from now on we may look forward to better times was brought out by Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern and recently elected president of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, as the opinion of the delegates to the annual convention, February 26 to 28, in Cleveland, in an address last Friday before the college assembly.

Reporting further on his experiences at the convention, Dr. Donovan said that there were two kinds of delegates, or members, of the A. A. T. C. to be found—the credited type and the "just member" type. The association was organized in 1914 and has a present membership of 190 teachers colleges. Eastern is an infant member, having been in the association but a few years.

Dr. Donovan said that the first day of the meeting was spent in the discussion of abilities, aptitudes and capacities which a teacher should possess. It was said during this discussion that several of the college are selecting only the best high school students to study teacher training courses, thus eliminating many undesirable students who might enter the profession. It was also stated that all teachers should have four years of college preparation before being allowed to enter the school room.

In speaking of John Dewey, one of the principal speakers at the convention, Dr. Donovan proclaimed the educator to be the greatest living philosopher. Dr. Donovan remarked that Mr. Dewey's idea is that we should prepare children to understand and appreciate the events of the day and to be able to think through the problems as they come and go.

Concluding his talk, Dr. Donovan urged that each teacher enrolled here become a member of the association through his district and through the state, and also that he join the Federation of Labor.

EASTERN MAY GET $217,000

Budget Commission Recommends That Amount for Each of Next 2 Years

$83,000 LESS THAN ASKED

The state budget commission has recommended a reduction of $83,000 a year in the amount sought for the operation of Eastern Teachers College for the next two years, the report of the commission made public in Frankfort yesterday disclosed.

Eastern had sought $300,000 a year, Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the institution, said today. The budget commission recommended $217,000 a year.

This recommendation, if carried out, will give the local college $108,000 less a year than the general assembly appropriated two years ago when it set aside $325,000 a year for the two-year period.

Governor Laffoon vetoed that appropriation bill, however, and threw all the institutions of higher education back on the millage system. As a result Eastern last year and this year got considerably less than was appropriated.

Training School P. T. A. Will Meet

According to an announcement today from the training school, the Parent Teachers Association for that institution will hold its regular meeting at 3:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon, March 22, in the auditorium of the University building.

The program, as announced, for the meeting will surround the theme of "Policies of the Training School." It will be given in the form of a round table discussion, led by R. A. Edwards, director.

GIVE DATES DINNER

A dinner party Saturday night, March 3, in the recreation room of Burnam Hall, in honor of Henry Lytle, Homer Robbins, Roy Pille, Albert Marshall, and J. T. Hinkle, was given by the Misses Ruth Hayes, Edwina Murray, Bessie Baumgardner, Louis Baldwin, and Harriett Hughes. Mrs. Emma Y. Case, dean of women, was a special guest to the party.

DR. DONOVAN CHOSEN HEAD SCHOOL BODY

American Association of Teachers Colleges Honors President of Eastern at Meeting

UNANIMOUSLY CHOSEN

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, was elected to the presidency of the American Association of Teachers Colleges at its annual meeting at Cleveland, O., recently. He was elected to the office without opposition. The association includes in its membership more than 190 colleges of education of the United States.

Dr. Donovan assumed the presidency of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College in 1928, coming here from Peabody College, where he was director of elementary education. Other positions he has held are dean of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, assistant superintendent of Louisville public schools, superintendent of Catlettsburg and Wickliffe schools, principal Paducah high school, member of faculty University of Chicago, summer of 1930, and special lecturer Colorado State Teachers College, 1931. His career as an educator began as teacher of rural schools of Kentucky.

After receiving the bachelor of arts degree from the University of Kentucky, Dr. Donovan received the master of arts degree from Columbia University and the degree of doctor of philosophy from Peabody College. Last year the honorary degree of laws was conferred upon him by the University of Kentucky. Honorary fraternities of which he is a member are Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Beta Kappa.

Dr. Donovan attracted wide attention among educators last year by his address, "Teacher Training for the New Age," delivered before the annual meeting of the National Education Association in Chicago. He is the author of "A State's Elementary Teacher Training Problem," co-author of "Supervision and Teaching of Reading" and has contributed many articles to educational magazines.

BOONE GROUP MAKES PLANS

Judge Wilson Chosen Chairman of Boone Bi-Centennial Commission

COMMITTEE IS SELECTED

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 7.—Judge Samuel M. Wilson was elected chairman and C. Frank Dunn executive secretary of the Daniel Boone bi-centennial commission, created by the Kentucky legislature, at an organization meeting of the commission held Tuesday afternoon in the office of the governor at the state capitol. Judge Innes B. Ross, Carlisle, was elected treasurer.

Plans for a celebration statewide in scope were discussed and a proposal from the Century of Progress Exposition was submitted inviting the commission to stage a pioneer pageant in the Court of States at Chicago on Kentucky day before an audience of 20,000 World's fair visitors.

A committee was appointed to work out in detail the various celebration plans discussed and submit them for later consideration to the commission. The committee is composed of Mrs. Grant E. Lilly, Richmond, chairman; Mrs. W. F. Rodgers, Winchester; Dr. J. T. Dorris, Richmond; R. C. Ballard Thurston, Louisville, and Secretary Dunn.

Gov. Ruby Laffoon, who is ex-officio member of the commission was requested to invite the American Order of Pioneers, Inc., to hold its annual convention in Kentucky this year.

IS HONORED

Dr. H. L. Donovan, above, president of Eastern, was honored last week by being unanimously elected president of the American Association of Teachers Colleges, an organization embracing 190 teacher training institutions, of which Eastern is an infant member. Dr. Donovan received his office while in attendance at the national convention of the association, which met in Cleveland, Ohio.

NEWSPAPERS ARE THANKED

Dr. Richmond Sends Letters to Ky. Journals; Appreciates Work on School Bill

EDITORIALS EFFECTIVE

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 27.—At the enactment into law of the school code by the Kentucky legislature in last week's session, Dr. James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction, in a circular letter to newspapers of Kentucky, expressed his appreciation for the part which they played in making the passage of the bill a success.

His letter follows:

To Kentucky Newspapers:

By enacting into law the school code recommended by the Educational Commission, the 1934 General Assembly has made possible the beginning of a new era for Kentucky's school children. It is true that changes will have to be made from time to time to meet our changing social and economic needs, but a firm foundation has been laid.

Passage of the school code bill by practically a unanimous vote in both houses was due to a recognition by members of the General Assembly and people of the Commonwealth of the need for reorganization of the school system.

To the newspapers of the state must go a large share of the credit for the renewed interest in schools which has culminated in the passage of this progressive program. They have aided by giving to the public the findings and recommendations of the Educational Commission. In their editorial columns they have constantly directed attention to the importance and needs of our educational system.

For this splendid support, all friends of education in Kentucky are deeply grateful. This letter is a tangible evidence of our appreciation. Those who are responsible for the operation of the schools now face the task of building on the foundation which has been laid. There is much yet to be done, many problems still to be solved.

I am confident that the newspapers of Kentucky will continue to stand as staunch friends of the schools and to work in the interest of our 730,000 children.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES H. RICHMOND,
Superintendent,
Public Instruction

Make Final Plans for Band Festival

Final plans were being made today for the second annual Band Festival which is to be held Monday, March 19, in Hiram Brock auditorium. The bands of Berea, Eastern, and Transylvania are co-operating to furnish this program for the student-body of Eastern and residents of Richmond.

The concert will include standard band numbers and popular marches of today. The final half of the concert will be arranged for the massed bands, consisting of approximately 150 pieces. Directing the numbers will be Mr. James E. Van Peursem, Eastern, Harold Rigby, Berea, and E. W. Delcamp, Transylvania.

In order to defray the expenses of the visiting bands, it was announced by Mr. Van Peursem that a small admission charge will be made for the concert.

13TH REGIONAL MEET BEGINS AT 3 O'CLOCK

Barbourville, Berea, Annville, Hazel Green Are Seeded Quintets

FINALS SATURDAY NITE

By BOB MAVITY
This afternoon at the Weaver Health building the Kentucky High school basketball tournament of the 13th region will go into its first round games when the high scoring Hazel Green High school quintet opens festivities at 3 o'clock with the Brodhead High five.

Tournament officials believe that they have made a ten strike in the drawings this year, as they have a set of interesting games for each round of the tourney, thus assuring the fans a thriller in each contest. The teams seem more evenly matched this year than they have been for several seasons.

Following the Hazel Green-Brodhead tussle, the Barbourville High team will take the floor against a fighting Williamsburg quintet. Although the Barbourville squad is one of the seeded teams of the meet, the game will be made interesting throughout, as the Williamsburg crew has had the reputation of knocking off the big fellows all season.

In the evening round, starting at 7 o'clock, the Irvine Eagles will be pitted against Annville, another seeded team in the tourney. Berea closes the day's activities when they take up St. Helens. This game is slated for 8 o'clock.

Saturday at 2 o'clock the winner of the Hazel Green-Brodhead fracas is scheduled to meet the emerger of the Barbourville-Williamsburg game. Then the victor of the Irvine-Annville scrap will play the winner of the Berea-St. Helens tussle at 3 o'clock. The Saturday afternoon part of the meet is the semi-final round.

The champions of the region will be crowned after the final tilt to be played at 8 o'clock Saturday evening between the survivors of the afternoon semi-finals. Presentation of the trophies will take place immediately after the game. The winner and runner-up in the tournament will receive cups.

Officials selected to handle the games are T. E. McDonough, athletic director at Eastern, and Gayle Mohney, popular Lexington arbiter. Members of the "E" club, college athletic organization, will be sole dispensers of refreshments during the entire tournament.

- A summary schedule follows:
- FRIDAY
- 3:00 p. m.—Hazel Green vs. Brodhead.
  - 4:00 p. m.—Barbourville vs. Williamsburg.
  - 7:00 p. m.—Irvine vs. Annville.
  - 8:00 p. m.—Berea vs. St. Helens.
- SATURDAY
- 2:00 p. m.—Winner Hazel Green-Brodhead vs. winner Barbourville-Williamsburg.
  - 3:00 p. m.—Winner Irvine-Annville vs. winner Berea-St. Helens.
  - 8:00 p. m.—Winners of afternoon.

Dr. Farris Soloist at Senior Meeting

At the regular monthly meeting of the senior class Monday, March 5, Dr. J. D. Farris, campus physician, accompanied at the piano by Miss Jane Campbell, presented the following program of solos: "Absence," "Dawn," "Goodnight," "Little Girl," and "My Little Bit of Honey."

During a short business session which preceded the musical program, Derbert Merenbloom and T. C. McDaniel were appointed as a committee to select and obtain the derbies, traditional top-dress of senior men on Senior Day, to be observed early this spring.

A reduction in class dues from fifty cents a semester to twenty-five cents was made this semester for those members who paid promptly last September.

10 B.S.U. Delegates to Attend Retreat

Ten B. S. U. council members will attend the state Spring Retreat, which will be held on the campus of Georgetown College, March 16-18, according to information secured today from Herschel Roberts, president. The Georgetown B. S. U. council will have full charge of the program and all arrangements for the meeting.

The local B. S. U. is composed of all Baptist students enlisted in any organization of the First Baptist church, Richmond. On February 23, the organization gave a "fifty-fifty" party for all of the campus students affiliated with that denomination. Refreshments were served to more than 100.

Dr. Donovan Honored

No greater or deserved honor has been bestowed on a president of Eastern ever than that which was awarded President H. L. Donovan at the recent meeting in Cleveland of the American Association of Teachers Colleges when he was named chief administrator of the association.

That Dr. Donovan should be chosen president of the American Association of Teachers Colleges not only speaks well for him, but it also speaks well for Eastern since the institution is an infant member of the association.

President Donovan has played no little part in putting Eastern on the map. What he has done for Eastern during the five years in which he has been the school's executive can never be measured in any material way.

The man stands alone on his merits. The profound interest with which he enters his every endeavor marks him as a man of firm convictions, yet with all of these, we have always found him to be an open-minded, natural individual who, contrary to some opinion, is not given over to bias.

Dr. Donovan was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth nor has this fact effected his vision. The same simple sincerity which must have been characteristic of him as a lad of a Mason county farm is characteristic of him today as a luminary figure in the field of education.

Therefore, it is with genuine pride that we welcome Eastern's president back to the campus after the Cleveland meeting, knowing that the honor which is his is also Eastern's.

Passage of the School Code

The General Assembly is to be commended for its passage recently of the School Code, which was drafted by the Educational Commission, after its several months of exhaustive study of the educational needs of the state. The legislature is to be commended further for its passage of the bill unamended with respect to the superintendent clause.

As modeled, the bill is undoubtedly the most comprehensive and best piece of legislation for Kentucky's school system that has ever been enacted. It should put Kentucky on the high road to a much needed educational advancement.

Perhaps more constructive work has been accomplished by this year's Assembly than has been seen in Kentucky for some time. Perhaps it is because the citizens have been more demanding. But, at any rate, it is the opinion of the Progress that, regardless of inevitable mistakes which the legislature may make or has made in its present session, it certainly has written into the statutes some notes of historical conception, which should be meaningful and worthwhile.

The Child Labor Amendment

Although some of the greatest minds in the country have expressed thoughts counter to the arguments for the ratification by the states of the Child Labor Amendment to the Federal Constitution, we cannot help siding with the views expressed by the Secretary of Labor in her recent speech before the Kentucky Legislature, advocating Kentucky's vote for the bill.

It seems that many of those opposed to the amendment have not taken into account fully the objectives or provisions of the bill. Mrs. Perkins attempted to explain to the Kentucky legislators, as she has to others, that the amendment has no intentions of prohibiting children under the age limit of performing meritable odd jobs which are valuable in their life education.

There is no intention in the amendment to inhibit the growth of any Lincolns or other figures of national importance. Primarily, the amendment is designed to break up the long and distasteful practice by big business of subsidizing helpless boys and girls, of paying inadequate wages thru economizing on child labor and of denying adequate educational rights to those who might develop into valuable citizens of the United States.

Perhaps the matter of child labor regulation should be left to the separate states. Perhaps Kentucky has no child labor problem. However, though Kentucky in many respects may sufficiently have cared for the needs of its children by means of its own child labor codes, we still believe that it was unwise for the resolution on ratification to be killed in the Kentucky senate as it was last week.

There is no reason now, nor will there be reason ever, within the United States for large numbers of able-bodied men to fill breadlines while large numbers of children are being injected into factories and mines for the sake of what is termed economy of operation by the large industrialists. President Roosevelt is on the right track and his interests are for the common welfare.

Educational Aid and the CWA

It seems that the use of CWA funds for the improvement of schools and for the aid of those directly interested in schools, or in the furtherance of education has met opposition at the hands of the Federal Relief Administrator. According to an Associated Press story the other day, Mr. Hopkins went before the education committee of the house protesting the proposal by Representative Collins, Democrat from Mississippi, that $50,000,000 of civil works funds be made available for schools between now and June 30.

The administrator said that relief funds so far had been used to give unemployment relief to teachers and not to keep schools open. He said that from 15,000 to 20,000 were on CWA funds already. He argued further that relief to schools should be a direct appropriation on the merits of need, claiming that all of the $950,000,000 allowed for specific purposes, for which it was appropriated, is vitally needed.

All of what Mr. Hopkins may have said in regard to the immediate need for the latter figure in carrying to a finish the proposed work of the CWA can be understood to be true. It may be impossible to see the way clear for the continuance of aid to schools out of such a fund. It is undoubtedly true that the CWA cannot carry on forever. However, that education should continue to have a look into the plan for CWA disbursement is expedient in that it helps to assure those concerned that the Government recognizes the part which education plays in an advanced civilization, and that it is attempting to promote democracy thru its support of the schools and those responsible for imparting instruction in them.

CWA work has meant much to needy college students who have been struggling, in many cases, under the most adverse conditions to obtain an education which will better fit them for life in a country such as this United States. The college man reveres the Government for its interest in him and, chances are, he, above others, will not forget his obligation to it when his chance comes to repay in service what he has received in material encouragement. The same may hold true not only for the college man, but also for all of those educational people who have been boosted along by the relief program.

We do not advocate that any relief funds be allocated to schools which should be distributed among those employes who are actually in greater need than some school people now realizing benefit from the CWA. But we do feel that the Government can well afford to extend further aid to schools of all kinds regardless of from what source the aid may have to be extracted.

GLEANINGS

We still believe that a semi-scientific method of selecting a date has been hit upon by one of our more progressive Eastern students, who pitches chewing-gum wrappers at the key-holder boxes behind the desk in Burnam Hall and then calls the girl in whose box his wrapper happens to hit. At least, that is one way of stabbing at variety.

The Courier-Journal says that an example of calm, yet watchful, imperturbability is a screech owl discovered roosting in the open by a flock of jaybirds. The jays yell and scream and dart at Mr. Owl, who keeps his yellow eyes wide open and never moves until his tormentors get too close for comfort, then he calmly flies away.

Those in public life who attract admiration are men who ignore the yelps and cries of the human jaybirds about them, but calmly follow the course that they feel to be honest and right.

We felt much the same as Mehitable seemed to feel about the recent snow. We could appreciate the beauty and the art of it all much better from within than from without.

And then Prof. Herbert Heaton of the University of Minnesota recently addressed a woman's club in Minneapolis on "The Gentle Art of Going to the Dogs."

Reminded that the surest sign of the abode of a great man is a door with the latch strings always out for the critical passerby, we are wondering who jerked the thing off its hinges.

WELL, WELL, WELL LOOK WHO'S HERE, AND THEY ALL CAME TO GET SOME LEARNIN'

By DOROTHY RICH

The library—a place to study—yes, by a few of the many beautiful co-eds who have come to the conclusion that an institution is a place to acquire a broader knowledge of the so-called term "education." But to the majority, or to the many that thought Eastern was a whirlpool of social activities, it is a place to converse and relate all secrets their friends have entrusted to them.

To those few students who have not yet paid a visit to the library, and who have thoughtlessly missed such a wonderful opportunity, let me open the door and give you a peep at what takes place within.

The door swings open—a-ha, a pretty little blonde, a freshman, perhaps, no, it looks like Evelyn Woods—but wait—who's the young gentleman that accompanies her? As Marshall Ney, invariably says, "We wouldn't know." Maybe it's Shakespeare, or Chaucer's Canterbury Tales they're after. They pause at the top of the stairs, undecided which course to take, the reference room or a more remote corner in the library upstairs. They've made up their minds, and they slowly but surely find an empty table in the reading room, and bury their heads behind the "Dallas Morning News."

It could be Bim Gump or Moon Mullins they're interested in, or maybe—well, anyway, it isn't William Shakespeare, for thirty minutes later we see them leaving, and under the little girl's arm is a beautifully bound book, "The Royal Road to Romance." The door closes behind them. Whether they have gone strolling in the moonlight, or whether they have gone to their respective halls, we do not know. We're more interested in how they spend their time at the library.

And now—BANG, BANG, what was that? All eyes, including the librarian's, are cast in the direction of what some gentle old maids might term "a storm." But alas—it's only "Dot" Miller and Jennie Jo Hughes on another one of their wild stampedes to locate Ben Ashmore. In their hasty flight, Mr. Webster, never receiving any consideration, is thrown in Humpty-

Dumpty fashion to the floor. He lies there with a grin from back to back, hoping that never again an Eastern student will bother to turn him over, and look up that crazy word "love," as so many do.

Betty Marz strolls leisurely in, unchaperoned. What would her mother say? But Betty gets down to business as all college students should do, and presently she leaves with the attitude of having achieved something, a new word in her vocabulary, no doubt. Beware, boys, don't let her spring a new one on you.

Homer Robbins—say, Homer, where's—oh, here she is. We knew Homer couldn't possibly work that crossword puzzle without Ruth's assistance.

Whoa—Eva Dean gallops in like a wild bronco, at break neck speed. She tells those who have just managed to steer clear of her hoofs that she's in a hurry to get back to dear Burnam, and someone questioning the validity of her statement, goes to the door to ease his mind. But the truth is evident, for there in the distance stands the tall, stately form of Burnam. Most assuredly, it is Curt.

Who ever heard of circus stunts in the library? Blanche Wimbale, after a stroll in the moonlight, must be feeling fine. It's hard to tell whether it's going to be a hand spring or a flip. Wait, she's back on her feet, and how did she manage to maintain her balance. We thought so. She's just looked over the audience and caught the eye of her manager, Dan Murphy. Lucy Montjoy casts a wistful glance at Sam Beckley, and departs with a tachycardia. All the girls in Sullivan immediately follow, fearful of the consequences should they be gone longer than the dean thinks necessary. Nine bells, now you must go. Don't forget you have a date here tomorrow night at seven. Bring a friend and be on time, for first here, first served. Have you enjoyed your short visit? If so, call again.

LIBRARY

By GEORGE REYNOLDS

Today is an age when it is essential for people to be informed if they are to keep pace with their associates and friends. Do not be behind the times. It is absolutely necessary for you to know what events are being enacted in this great and complex society of ours if you wish to rise to the heights. Gain this information through the advantages of our library which is always ready to serve you with the most outstanding newspapers and magazines of the day such as the Courier-Journal, Cincinnati Enquirer, Dallas Morning News, Lexington Herald, New York Times, Richmond Daily Register, American Observer, Literary Digest, and many other latest reading matter.

Among the older magazines you will find the Atlantic Monthly, Scribner's, Harper's and the American which contain much of the present day news. In order to widen your intellectual boundaries it is necessary to use these papers and magazines which are yours to read. Use them to keep abreast of the times. Be informed and able to discuss outstanding events and situations with your friends and fellow men.

You are judged by the type of conversation you are able to carry on. Be well informed! Let Eastern's library serve you with its wonderful facilities of knowledge and intellectual information.

BRIDGE PARTY

Dr. L. G. Kennamer and Mrs. Kennamer entertained Wednesday night, February 28, at their home on Oak street, with a bridge and game party for a number of student guests. Miss Lucy Montjoy held top score for the ladies' prize, while Mr. Willard Knopp won the men's prize and J. D. Turley and Mary Ann Patton held low scores. A salad course with tea and home-made candy were the refreshments served.

Among the guests present were: Mr. Willard Knopp and Mrs. Knopp, Misses Lucy Montjoy, Dorothy Crews, Mary Ann Patton, Joyce Gregory, Sarah Land, Ida Mae Hart, and Flora Kennamer, Messrs. Robert Martin, Sam Beckley, J. D. Turley, and Albert W. Crumbaugh.

CANTERBURY GIVES PARTY

The Canterbury Club, organization of English majors and minors, sponsored the regular Saturday night party in the recreation room of Burnam hall, February 24. Games and the Virginia Reel were featured. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Mary E. Barnhill acted as chaperon.

It was announced that the party for tomorrow night in the recreation room will be sponsored by Alpha Zeta Kappa, public discussion club.

Eastern's College Hall of Fame

For our collegiate Hall of Fame we respectfully submit the name of Willie (Leave-me-out) Dawahare. One look at Willie and the most casual observer can see that he is, to say the least, unusual.

Willie is from Neon, Ky., where, if you really don't know, they make Neon gas and even if they didn't make gas, they made Willie, whose line of hot air exceeds in volume the amount of Neon gas by a very great many cubic feet in anybody's country. In fact, Willie tells us that one of the chief outdoor sports up in his country is the annual Dawahare-Neon gas blowing contest, in which Willie is pitted against the biggest well in the county. People come from miles around just to see Willie blow against the other gas well, and Willie proudly says that he has won every year since he turned nine.

We found Willie (author's note—Willie usually finds us) (editor's note—he'll probably be looking for you when he sees this) (author's note—we're protected, Willie said even if he could read he wouldn't read your Sunday school journal). Where were we? Oh yes we had just found Willie and we asked him if he would stop talking long enough to give his fans a statement. The great man said: "You may say that I will be a candidate for Mr. Popularity in 1934, my senior year. I hope that all my friends will come to see me in the L. T. C. play, "Everybody wants Somebody". I am the approaching foot steps between acts. It is, I am told the biggest part in the play."

We looked at the Great Man's feet and walked away slowly, a believer.

The scribbler of this column will pay to the winner of the Little Willie Cute Caper contest without fail, $1000 (and 5c in cash). All you have to do is think up some cunning stunt for Willie and put it into a rhyme. For instance:

"Little Willie, filled with ennui,
Put poison in his mamma's tea.
Mamma swelled right up and died.
"That's excitement", Willie cried."

That's all there is to it. Just send in your lousy poetry to the Progress office and get in the money. This may be your road to fame and fortune. All poems will be judged by the English department. Don't forget—somebody has to write putric poetry for the little tots—it might as well be you.

Recently we were urged from the platform in Hiram Brock Auditorium to continue our work after finishing Eastern in some reputable graduate institution where further educational advancement might be secured... Of interest are the paths taken by Eastern graduates after the commencement exercises... Of particular interest is the path taken by JOE BENDER, now residing in Cincinnati, who found further college study boring and resorted to attendance at East Night High... It was reported that the girls there are far more attractive to the former Eastern heart-crusher... ED HESSER says that most of these girls are real brunettes.

Notable Accomplishments of the Past Week: MARSHALL NEY tops the list of these, since he was said to have stayed at SARAH ALEXANDER'S until 2:00 a. m. during a recent date... BETTY MARZ has attained real popularity in making the YMCA roll at the University of Cincinnati.

Bed Time Stories: We wonder who pinned the sign, "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf," on the back of MIKE SCHULTE'S coon-skin? ... Then we overheard MARY LAUBISCH say that, while LEONARD CHATTEN may have been a "big gun" in Ashland, he's just a "cap pistol" down here... Another one on MARY has to do with an unsuccessful little incident in which she and PAUL FEINSTEIN were involved Sunday night in the lobby of Burnam Hall... That is, she and PAUL were trying to follow suit after watching the excitement created when CATHERINE RETTIG kissed LLOYD DYKES good-night, but "tempus fugit."

News Flashes: GEORGE REYNOLDS has demonstrated the art of being nonchalant even with lipstick all over the collar of his shirt... The villain in the case of the WAGERS-BAUMGARDNER split-up seems to be J. T. HINKLE... It is reported that those friendly notes sent HINKLE while he was in the hospital had quite an effect... Sports Editor BOB MAVITY is being compared to CHARLES LAMB because of his new style in writing features, particularly interviews... The latest recreation in Sullivan Hall is Word Games, or Mental Hide and See... It is said that CASEY MORTON can think of more cute words... A new inventor has appeared on the campus in MARY SUE BALL who invents games and then demonstrates them with gestures, according to one report... SARAH GOODRICH'S new victim seems to be LEONARD CARR... With the aid of the untiring efforts of BETTY STEWART, campaign manager for ED HESSER, he succeeded in being elected to the presidency of the B. Y. P. U... This gives one an idea of the remuneration a person sometimes receives for courting certain girls on some dark streets in Richmond.

Questions Left in Mind: We often wonder why a certain blonde at the men's dorm continues to throw water under the door of HENRY LYTTLE'S room... What is this we hear about GIBSON PRATHER'S purchasing an 88 per cent interest in FRANCIS HANNA from MIKE SCHULTE?... It seems that the "one for all and all for one" idea is being put into practice between HAZEL TOOMBS, MILDRED BOYER, and JOSEPHINE KINCAID, ably assisted by BOB MARTIN in the interest of JOHN SAVAGE, or were we mistaken about the contents of the "handwriting on the napkin?"

The recent snow has reminded us of a classical poem we have heard recited by one of our versatile students. As we looked over into the ravine and saw the vast stretch of crystalline snow, untouched, unmarred by tramping feet, we thought of this afore-mentioned poem which ran something like this: "I'm the guy who put the footprints on the dashboard upside-down." etc...

Before anyone can say that we are allowing heroes to pass on to the next world unwept, unhonored, and unsung, let us say right here that there are heroes in our midst who are marking their footprints, not on the sands of time, but on the carpets of Sullivan Hall. These boys really can take it. They visit there night after night, week after week, undaunted, unflinching, unbending, unconscious.

These men of destiny have been pressing their suits (not the ones they wear, far from it) under the most adverse conditions. They must sit beside their ladies fair, hold hands, look earnest, and dribble forth sweet nothings, while approximately 2,000 watts burn mercilessly on.

But say, don't think that the competition isn't tough over there. Why, we know of an enterprising lad who was courting heavily one night in that venerable dormitory and who left his seat for a moment only to find on his return after an elapse of but ten seconds that some fast moving Romeo had pilfered both his seat and his girl. Is the sanctity of love and courtship no longer sacred?

We heard of certain freshmen who is opening up a small confectionery on the campus, naming it "The Roost." It will serve as a rendezvous for stool pigeons and it should do a flourishing business.

One of our rival columnists has established a Hall of Fame. He can't take the Campusology following away, by Tophid. We'll start a Hall of our own. S-O-O-O-

LOOK YOUR SMARTEST IN A

Spring Suit

Tailored and Dressmaker Styles

$16.50

OTHERS $7.90 - $9.90 - $19.75

How can we best suit you this spring? If you're young and slim, do wear one of the new windblown affairs that Schiaparelli and all Paris loves. If you trot about a lot, by all means dress in the British manner and wear a Norfolk. If you want to be very practical, insist that your suit has its own topcoat. Then you'll have an extra coat to wear with other clothes. If you like being dignified, one of the dressmaker suits was meant for you. They're all here and at the modest sum, $16.50.

ANNUAL GOES TO ENGRAVERS

1150 Copies to Be Printed Early in May; Cost $3,000

NOVEL COVER DESIGN

The Milestone, student year-book, is in the hands of the engraver, J. D. Turley, editor, informed the Progress last-Thursday. As soon as the engravings are returned it will be sent to the printer, and then copies will be ready for distribution.

This year's Milestone will be a departure from the year-books that have been published at Eastern in the past, according to Mr. Turley. The appearance of the book will be novel, as the cover design will be white with maroon trimmings and will be of modernistic design.

The date that the book will be ready for distribution is not definitely known, as the proofs must be sent here by the printer, and then returned after being read by the editor, but the time, Mr. Turley thinks, will be early in May.

There will be 1150 copies printed at an estimated cost of $3,000, and Mr. Turley pointed out that this figure each book worth about $2.60. "Each student who paid his $1.50 for a copy at the beginning of the semester can feel that he is getting his money's worth," the year-book editor remarked.

MRS. KEITH IN CINCINNATI

Mrs. Charles A. Keith visited in Cincinnati last week-end, where she was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gusweiler, parents of Joseph Gusweiler, freshman at Eastern, Mrs. Marianna D. Cook and Mrs. Roswell G. Stott, the latter being formerly connected with Eastern.

Alpha Zetas Hear Talks; Plan Dance

Declaring that Austria's national and international position today threatens another European conflict, Donald Michelson addressed the Alpha Zeta Kappa at its regular meeting recently on the present Austro-German situation.

Mr. Michelson further stated that the ironical situation in Austria and Germany creates the most perplexing problem the Danubian state has ever faced. "In spite of strained relations between Germany and Austria," said Mr. Michelson, "normal trade relations are being carried on. The very nations who clamor the loudest for Austrian independence—Italy, France, and the Little Entente—are those nations who refuse to trade with the Dollfuss republic."

Mr. Bob Keene discussed the present administration from a critical point of view. Mr. Keene lauded the sincerity of President Roosevelt, but predicted political complications for him.

Jack Hughes spoke on "Loan Sharks in Kentucky," pointing out the racketeering methods carried on by certain finance companies.

Curtis Farley explained the present situation of the United States postoffice in regard to the air mail controversy. Mr. Earl Winburn was chairman of this meeting.

The Alpha Zetas are sponsoring a dance to be held in the Weaver health building on Saturday, April 7. Music will be furnished by John Vance and his radio broadcasting orchestra.

Varsity Netters Trip Frosh, 32-28

In a benefit performance for the Milestone, the Varsity basketballers trounced the Freshmen netters last Thursday by a score of 32 to 28.

The game was close and exceedingly rough, 25 fouls being called in the first half. Scott, varsity forward, and Lloyd, frosh center, were banished on personals in the third quarter, and almost every other man on the floor had 3 fouls to his credit.

The Portwoodians were not beaten until the final horn sounded, and with Hedges and Fulkerson leading the way, they gave their big brothers a very pleasant evening's entertainment.

McDaniel, varsity center, was high point man of the contest with 11 points, and was followed by Fulkerson and Gover, of the freshmen, with 8 apiece.

The summary:
Frosh (28) Pos. (32) Varsity

North Kentuckians Pick New Sponsor

Miss Gertrude Hood, instructor of physical education at Eastern, was selected as temporary sponsor of the Northern Kentucky Club at a recent meeting held in the Burnam recreation room. Miss Hood succeeds Miss Lucille Derick, who is at present working on her master's degree at Peabody College, Nashville. The club also voted to send Harold Prim, a member of the club, a remembrance while he is convalescing in a Cincinnati hospital. Melva Walker, president, presided at the meeting.

Memorialites Fete Women of Burnam

Honoring several women of Burnam Hall in return for a party which was held recently in that dormitory, several men residents of mitory, several men residents of Memorial Hall gave a bridge Tuesday dormitory.

Prizes were awarded to both men and women for high and low scores. Winning high score awards were Miss Mildred Boyer and J. D. Turley, while low score winners were Miss Josephine Kincaid and Hubert Vaughn.

Guests included the Misses Mary Elston, Elizabeth Gragg, Susan Gragg, Elizabeth Hall, Mildred Hancock, and Josephine Kincaid. Sponsors of the party were the Messrs. J. D. Turley, Robert Martin, John Shearer, Maynard Stamper, Edmond T. Hesser, Sam Beckley, Paul Tierney, and Hubert Vaughn. Special guests of the evening were Mr. Charles A. Keith and Mrs. Keith.

Sophs Seek Date for Annual Hop

Reporting that arrangements for the annual Sophomore Hop have not been completed, the dance committee in a statement before the class, tonight's assembly for a regular monthly meeting Monday morning, said that tentative dates for the dance have been set for either March 17, 24, or possibly April 28.

"The Boswell Sisters," trio composed of Jimmie Slusher, Mickey Riddell, and Emma Barbe, gave several novel musical selections at the meeting.

Donald Michelson, president, spoke briefly regarding the action of tabling a campus dancing resolution which had been presented to the class previous to Monday's meeting. After a short business discussion the meeting was adjourned.

Austria Subject World Study Club

"Austria and World Affairs" was the subject discussed in a round-table discussion led by Lucy Montjoy at the February meeting of the World Affairs Club.

During the short business meeting following the program, Robert R. Martin announced that the annual club banquet will be held April 27.

New members taken into the club are Herbert Hogan, Dorothy Nash, and Luther Jones.

Witness Legislature In Full Session

Under the auspices of the Social Science Club a bus load of members and students journeyed to Frankfort Wednesday, where they visited the Kentucky legislature in session, the Old State Capitol building, the State penitentiary, school for the feeble-minded, and other special sites in and around the city.

Although the Rules Committee was convening when the bus from Richmond arrived, the students were admitted to the visitors' chambers of the legislature immediately following the close of the meeting.

While observing the legislature at work, the Eastern delegation heard the discussion on the Veterans' Bill. Forty-one were in the party, which was directed by Sam Beckley and Robert Martin, assisted by Mr. Charles A. Keith, head of the Eastern department of history.

Earlier in the week, the government classes of Mr. Virgil Burns and Dr. J. T. Dorris made a similar trip to the capital. Both parties had originally planned the trip last week, but due to the inclement conditions of the weather the tours were postponed.

Vandenbosch Will Be Guest Speaker

Information released early today by Robert W. Martin, president of the World Affairs Club, revealed that Dr. Amry Vandenbosch, head of the political science department, University of Kentucky, noted lecturer and author on travel, will be a guest speaker of that club before the public and student body here at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, March 15.

Martin said that Dr. Vandenbosch's subject, although unofficially announced, probably will deal with the Dutch East Indies, where the lecturer has traveled for the past eighteen months gathering information for his recent book, which has been ordered by the college library. Dr. Vandenbosch has been leading student forums at the university, and promises, Mr. Martin stated, to be an interesting speaker.

University of Oregon co-eds are lighter eaters than men students. Survey shows meals at fraternities cost fifteen cents each per man and nine cents per head at sororities.

The cling of sabres and the thud of cleated and spiked shoes will mingle in the Creighton University gymnasium from now on. Headquarters for the school's military department, the R. O. T. C., have been installed in the gymnasium.

Hedges Takes Freshman Post

President Joe Hedges, presiding at his first class meeting as executive officer, told the freshmen this week at their regular monthly meeting, in a talk on "The Duties of a Freshman," that it behooves all college students to show an appreciation to their parents for the many sacrifices and practices of thrift which are observed in order that those in college may remain there and further their education.

While speaking to the group, Mr. Hedges also acknowledged to the class his appreciation for having been elected president.

Mimeographed information sheets concerning extra-curricular activities were distributed to the assembly, accompanied by a brief talk by Mr. G. M. Gumbert, who has been making a study of extra-curricular activities at Eastern in relation to student participation. Mr. Gumbert urged the freshmen particularly to show more interest in the worthwhile organizations in order that they may be ready to replace those who will step from positions of leadership at the commencement season.

Phillips Turns In Fine Performance

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 5—In a practice game staged here yesterday between two teams picked by Manager Bob O'Farrell from his Cincinnati Reds, Henry W. (Red) Phillips, rookie pitcher from Eastern turned in a fine performance for the three innings that Manager O'Farrell inserted him. Phillips allowed only two hits and fanned one batsman in the three rounds he worked. He is considered by the club officials to be one of the best southpaw pitching prospects in camp.

SPRING GRID PRACTICE ON

Maroons Resume Workouts After Week's Layoff Due to Weather

FIFTY WORKING OUT

Eastern's football squad was led back onto the field for spring practice again this week after a lay-off due to snow and ice and inclement weather. Approximately 50 reported, including all those who had been out before the layoff and a number who had been on the basketball squads.

A stiff drill on blocking, tackling and signal drill was dished out. Although the field was still slippery in spots, the boys were kept going thru a two-hour session.

Eastern's coaching staff has cooked up a new series of formations, which has captured the fancy of the entire squad. It is a combination of the Warner double wingback and the Michigan short punt formation. Although it has not been definitely decided to adopt the system, it is to be given a thorough trial in spring drills and probably will be used this fall.

A test of the system under actual game conditions will be held before the spring practice ends. Two teams chosen from the squad will play a regulation game to close the spring practice.

With their money safely tucked in stockings and with stove poker handy, twenty co-eds in cooperative cottages at the University of Minnesota stayed up all night last week, waiting for the prowlers who have burglarized the other four cooperative cottages within the past month.
