During the war everybody was thankful for the tough, hard-fighting Russians. A lot of people wondered why we had talked so harshly of the "Reds" before the war. When Stalingrad did not fall and when other victories were achieved by our great allies, we all thanked Providence that we were on the side of so resourceful a nation as Russia. When someone would mention the fact that the armies of that nation would rip the heart out of Germany when they got there, everybody would feel a warm glow, smiled (and probably laughed maniacally) and agree that the Germans would swim the North Sea rather than face the punishment that would have been meted out to them by the Red Army.

Plenty of people were willing to let Russia have war materials free of charge, just out of pure gratitude. Many others would swear on hearing that the Russians needed more material. They would write letters to congressmen advising them to let Russia have anything. Better to give up a few luxuries than to lose the war and have everything taken away.

People knew what happened to countries that were overrun by the Nazis. It was tough all over, then. When the war ended last summer, everybody rejoiced madly. V-J Day was the day they had dreamed about. Peace was again with the world. Oh, wonderful peace: new tires, gasoline, sugar, no ration books, the boys at home instead of in a fox-hole. Yes, everybody wanted peace.

Why was it necessary to have a war? Someone had decided long ago that it wasn't necessary. That is when the UN was thought of. The good old UN that would make the world safe for something. Sure, the UN would stamp out trouble before it started.

"Those 'Reds' are trying to start another war. What the devil is the matter with them?"

Well, it's like this, George (or whatever Mr. Average American's name happens to be), you've become so knocked-out in your peacetime world that you've forgotten out valiant allies, the Russians. You've started calling them "Reds" again. Remember what you said about those "Reds" when things were tough?

Oh yes, things were different then, but let's face the facts. You were for the Russians during the war because you knew that they were helping you. But you haven't stopped to consider the fact that the Russians are now helping themselves. What are you going to do about it? Are you willing to join a world police force and go to Europe or Asia or any place else? If you aren't, you don't really want permanent peace; you just want to make things easier on yourself. We don't particularly care to join the force ourselves, but we realize that unless someone does, war will continue to make life uncertain until Earth collides with Vega.

College Adds Four Members To Staff

Four new faculty members have been added to staff of the college this quarter. Three of them have been former students of Eastern.

The music department has added Mr. Wendell Rider to its staff. He will teach piano and direct the male chorus.

Mr. Rider is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York, and at the time of his employment was doing graduate work there. He has recently been discharged from the Navy after three years' service.

Mrs. Mary D. House, former English teacher at Waco, Ky., has been employed to teach freshman English classes at Eastern.

Mrs. House holds her Master's degree from Eastern and has done graduate work at Peabody.

Miss Alice Jane Tribble is acting Librarian in the training school library while Mrs. J. Lester Miller is teaching English in Model High School.

Miss Tribble is a graduate of Model High and the University of Kentucky where she majored in library science. Miss Tribble is from Richmond.

Assuming his position in the Industrial Arts department sometime this month, Mr. Dabney Doty becomes the fourth new member to be added to the faculty. Mr. Doty is a graduate of Eastern and has taught in North Carolina schools for several years. He has recently been discharged from the Navy after a tour of duty in China and Japan.

Announcement

The following assembly programs for the spring quarter have been released from the President's office:

April 17—Pre-Easter music with Mrs. Robert Severs directing.

April 24—A panel on teacher recruitment with Dr. N. B. Cuff presiding.

April 29—This evening will replace the regular Wednesday chapel period with a program on "What Kind of a World Do You Want?" Dr. Ruth Isabel Seabury, educational secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions will be in charge.

May 8—Observance of National Music Week conducted by the music department.

May 15—Final Regents Oratorical Contest sponsored by Alpha Zeta Kappa with Dr. P. M. Grise in charge.

Noted Speaker to Appear In Special Assembly

Dr. Ruth Isabel Seabury of Boston, Mass., called "an internationalist by instinct" and one of the most brilliant speakers in American church circles, will be the guest of Eastern on April 29 and 30. She will be the speaker at a special assembly held at 7:30 p. m. on Monday, April 29, in the Hiram Brock auditorium. She will meet with a number of smaller groups during the two days she is on our campus.

Dr. Seabury, who is Educational Secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, spends the major part of her time "on the road" filling platform and pulpit engagements, addressing students, leading discussion groups of youth on college campuses, and in interdenominational groups.

Widely traveled, a lover of youth, Dr. Seabury is easily one of America's outstanding Christian women leaders and speakers on Christianity and the program of the Church at home and abroad. She has been for several years a member of the National Preaching Mission of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Dynamic, humorous, incisive and courageous in her presentations, Dr. Seabury leaves behind her the reputation of being "one of the people who have made a difference." Her major interest is "just folks" and she never misses a chance to talk with them wherever and whenever she finds them.

Miss Seabury, who is the first woman to receive an honorary degree from Elon College, North Carolina, which conferred upon her a Doctor of Literature during its Golden Anniversary celebration in 1940, is a graduate of Smith College and has made several trips abroad, including an extended world tour during which she visited 27 countries.

In 1938 Dr. Seabury was one of only 49 American and Canadian delegates to the great ecumenical church meeting in India.

Along literary lines Miss Seabury specializes in writing books on understanding the world mission of Christianity, her latest being "What Kind of a World Do You Want?", a discussion, study and action pamphlet on world order.

An ardent advocate of world peace, Dr. Seabury believes that the foreign missionary is the best emissary of friendliness America has today. They are doing the spade work for the foundation of a just and durable peace, if the Christians at home do not fail them, she believes.

Miss Seabury comes to Eastern under the auspices of the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis.

Prof. Burns Speaks On Radio Forum

Professor Virgil E. Burns, of the department of government at Eastern, was heard over WHAS, Louisville, Sunday at 11:45 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. in a forum with other state educators on the topic "Should Kentucky Have a New Constitution."

Appearing on the program were State Superintendent John Fred Williams, Prof. J. E. Reeves of the political science department at the University of Kentucky, and Prof. C. Arnold Anderson of the department of sociology at the University of Kentucky, who acted as chairman of the forum. The forum emphasized educational improvements in a new constitution.

Madrigal Club to Make Tour

The Madrigal Club of Eastern will go on tour to Northern Kentucky on April 24 and 25. Programs will be presented at Dixie Heights, Covington, Newport, Bellevue, Dayton, Ft. Thomas, and Ludlow.

Some of the members of the club will be entertained in the homes of the Northern Kentucky students and the rest will stay at the Netherland Plaza in Cincinnati.

Kappa Delta Pi In Chapel Program

The Delta Alpha Chapter of the Kappa Delta Pi presented a program in chapel, Wednesday, April 3. Mr. M. E. Mattox presided at the program and introduced the persons taking part on the program.

The first number on the program was a piano duet by Mary and Mildred Langan, "The Dragon Fighter," by Hoffman.

Dr. Jack Allen gave an interesting talk on the national history of Kappa Delta Pi from 1911 to the present. Viola Campbell, a junior from Corbin, Ky., told of the history of our local chapter of the Kappa Delta Pi, from 1935 to the present. Miss Alethea Heft, from Louisville, and president of our local chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, told of some of the experiences which she had at the National Convocation of the Kappa Delta Pi, held at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, last month.

The program was concluded with a few remarks from Mr. Mattox.

Rev. W. A. E. Johnson

Sunrise Service Set For Sunday

The Reverend W. A. E. Johnson, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will be the speaker at the 6th annual Easter Sunrise service in the amphitheater on the campus at 6:00 o'clock Sunday morning.

The Women's Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Robert Severs, will open the program with the processional hymn. James Walters, of Pineville, and Roy Dawn, of Covington, will play "The Holy City" as a cornet duet, the same selection which they presented at the first Sunrise service in the amphitheater.

Following the singing of a special anthem by the Glee Club, Sanford Weiler, president-elect of the Y.M.C.A., of Harlan, will give the call to worship. Miss Jane Johnston, Danforth Graduate Fellow, of La Mesa, N. M., will lead the audience in prayer. Miss Suzanne Malott, of Richmond, will read the scriptural Easter story. The Glee Club and audience will sing several hymns.

Miss Robbie Owen, of Leitchfield, will give a 15-minute chime program from the Student Union tower preceding the service.

All students, members of the faculty, and friends of the college are invited to attend this program.

KEEP IT CLEAN

The much needed cleanup of the Eastern campus got underway on Wednesday, April 3, with the aim of polishing the school both physically and morally. Headed by President Nicholas Brewer and the Veterans Club, an all-out drive of the student body was requested by a complete coverage of the grounds to strip the campus of unsightly debris.

The once-beautiful campus, of which we remember a few years back, has been badly mutilated in all respects. Joe Reed, a representative of the Veterans Club, addressed the student body at the chapel program of April 3 and urged all students to cooperate in restoring that lost beauty. It can be done with your help.

It is not that much trouble for the students to throw their cigarettes and paper in the containers provided throughout the campus. At present, these trash boxes are none too plentiful, but the veterans shall soon distribute more of the same where they are most needed. Don't get the idea that these containers are merely ornamental. If you have to throw your trash some place, try using these cans for change. You might be surprised at the amount of coke cups, straws, cigarettes, and waste paper they will hold.

The same condition is now a sore spot in the Student Union Building. At times that place looks like Wrigley Field after the 1945 World Series. If you are too tired to walk to the sand containers to dispose of your cigarettes, just let your girl friend hold them until you leave. No sacrifice is too great.

AS WE SEE IT.....

COPY NO. 3

Comes spring and with it comes the call for outdoor sports—tennis, track and baseball.

As was the case last year, the tennis courts are in no condition to be used. Those asphalt courts return the balls to their pre-manufactured stage of textile fibers in a very short time. The sand that works loose from the court makes it difficult for the players to maintain their footing and invites injury. Fortunately, no one has suffered more than a few skin striations.

These facts have been stated before and there were promises of improvements last year. The clay courts behind the women's dormitory have been allowed to grow up in weeds and are hardly recognizable. There have been promises of improvements again this year, but we are inclined to take a Mis-sourian attitude toward the whole issue.

Tennis is a sport which is enjoyed by both the men and the women on the campus and along with horseback riding has become the favorite outdoor recreation for the students.

Even though the college has no tennis team at the present time, these courts should be kept in top condition. If we had a team, the athletic department would not tolerate such conditions, and changes would be made.

SERVICE OR SERVITUDE

Now that the Milestone is in the hands of the printer and most of the hardest work is finished, we can come forth with an editorial which we have been saving for quite some time. We have held this editorial back to avoid the criticism of using editorial space to further the interests of a friend.

Speaking very specifically—The editor of the Milestone should be paid.

Any position which consumes as much time as this one does deserves some remuneration. The honor which goes along with the position is not sufficient remuneration. The responsibility of the office is greater than that of any other on the campus and the work involved is, frankly, not worth it. The light in the Milestone office has burned many nights this quarter after the hour of midnight. The KEA vacation was not enjoyed in the comforts of home; it was spent in Room 101 of the Student Union.

If provision for the salary of the editor cannot be made in the college budget, the class should take it upon itself to make this allotment in its yearbook budget. We hope the junior class of this year will take notice of this situation and will amend it next year.

This year's condition is not unusual. The editor of the Milestone has never been paid in the past. However, it's about time that we change the existing policy. Let's be fair in our evaluations.

We always enjoy telling people the ideas that we let slip by each issue, for example, last issue we were going to run an April Fool Gazette. We had it all planned—misleading announcements, jumbled type lines, and many other oddities. But now that we've stopped to think it over, we're glad we didn't do it. (I'm damn glad you didn't do it. . . The Printer) We mentioned this idea to someone after the paper came out and they looked at us rather startled and asked: "Didn't you do it?"

It's No Wonder That I Wander
There's nothing like the spring-time
To start one's head a-reeling
And when the moon is shining brightly
There's nothing more appealing

So when the bees start their buzzing
And the young vines their rambling
I simply cannot help it
But I'm Forever Ambling.

Quit Stalin And Start Russian
Stalin and his clan were down in Iran
Leading the Kurds astray,
Then someone at the UN
Asked him what he was doin'
And out of Iran, Heran that day.

Otherwise Known As
Many people and organizations go through their life's span without knowing the names that have been given to them by other people. For example, the veterans' wives may be surprised to learn that their organization, Uxoribus Bellorum, has been dubbed "Buxom Dolores." The Canterbury Club will be amazed to learn that their prized publication, Belles Lettres, has been called "Dumbell Letters." The staff of the Milestone has adopted a new name for the annual after having labored over it for such a long time. They now refer to it as the "Millstone." We shall refrain from printing any titles that have been attached to persons on the campus. We will do this for personal security as well as journalistic security.

Come Out Of That Flour Bag
Mother, We Know You've Been Thru The Mill

Greetings, you tillers of the soil, another day, another 38c. Now that we've acquainted ourselves freely and our fast growing clientele has developed into a rare thing, I'd like to bring up a subject which has pierced deeply into the hearts of us lovers of the simple life. By the way, to those of you that are new and wish to be recognized by the clan, it has been the custom to cruise the rec room carrying a bushel basket of cucumbers under your arm. Someone's bound to see you.

As I was saying, our pride has been hurt by a radio program downstate which has succeeded the familiar "Farm and Loam Hour" program which was so dear to us all. This new program, a soap opera, sponsored by the "Harian Daily Surprise," is unworthy of replacing such a high calibre of entertainment and I'm sure that you all share my feelings. Perhaps some of you all have never heard this new type of electronic corn in cans, but here is a sample of the stuff we now suffer. It's called "John's Other Mother."

"John's Other Mother" (soft music) The makers of those Jim Dandy Soap Flakes present another touching episode in a young man's struggle against the trials and tribulations of fate. A young man, who was born at the age of three, battling the handicaps presented him in the tenement district of Newport. But before we bring to you this morning's chapter here are a few words from our sponsor as regards their new product, the miracle suds of modern Monday, 'Boopsies.'

"Lad-deeze, are you constantly troubled with red and course handies? Are you troubled with a tattle-tale grey wash? Do little children stop, stare and whisper about you all? Then our suggestion to you is to try 'Boopsies.' You've seen soap suds that sparkle and effervesce with a brilliant lustre. H-mmmnn? Well, 'Boopsies' just lay there. Merely run down to your neighborhood druggist and say 'Boopsies.' He'll know what you mean."

VOX VETERANI

BY ALLEN WHITE

The second installment of our "V" Club came into being Tuesday, a week ago, April 2, as Nicholas Brewer successfully launched his term as newly elected president. Having relieved Jack Talbott, who still rates another orchid for a job well done, Brewer certainly gained the confidence of the members of the organization with several proposals of great benefaction to the school and club alike. Before venturing further we'd like to throw out the welcome mat, on behalf of the Veterans Club, to those veterans who have not as yet joined the clan or attended a meeting. At present there are approximately 240 holders of the immortal ruptured duck enrolled at Eastern, and sad it is indeed, that many have not signed up. You don't have to be asked individually, fellows, it's your club and to your benefit, and we're eager to see every veteran on the campus share the name. Meetings are held every Tuesday night at 9:30 in the recreation room of Beckham Hall. If you've never before belonged to a top rate campus organization here is your chance.

This column is primarily to the outside world, but the treasurer of the club, James Morehead, has a word to those members who have not as yet received their membership cards, or paid their membership fees. He will gladly take care of you in either case, and may be contacted at Room 114, McCreary Hall.

RICHARDS SPEAKS

The recently formed steering committee, a special group so organized as to plan programs and iron out preliminary questions to be brought up before the Veterans Club meeting, presented Mr. R. R. Richards, commerce department, as guest speaker of the meeting on April 2. Mr. Richards, himself a veteran of World War II, brought out some very fine points concerning the rehabilitation and public rights of veterans. Those points expressed by him bore a great deal of logic as regards the actions of the veterans of World War I. Inasmuch as these public actions were highly disgraceful, the old idea of "let him do what he wants to do... he has it coming to him" should be discouraged.

True, many veterans of the past world war still bear that feeling, that they have the right and privilege to do so as they please. This is exactly the feeling which Mr. Richards knows, and we know, to be unjustified. The scar of the public actions of some World War I men on their return to the states is still slightly to public opinion to this day. On the contrary, boys who have recently returned home to civilian life have been commended for their splendid attitudes. We believe this remark to be a great compliment; however, the reward is still there, that alone of returning in one piece and not that of going wild in false celebration.

Mr. Mattox also pointed out that nine out of every ten veterans have become more socially adjusted than regular students. Plans were laid to attempt to settle several problems which now prevail throughout the school. Through the authorization of President O'Donnell, permission has been granted for a member of the organization to attend all faculty meetings. Due to a misunderstanding concerning the absence from class of students attending functions in representation of the school, instructors now will respect such cases upon legitimate excuse.

President Brewer announced good news for the local tennis enthusiasts with plans for availability of more tennis courts. One of the three clay courts adjacent Burnam Hall will be experimentally concreted, and if proved successful, the other two will be finished.

John Collins, chairman of the social committee, is now working with Irv Keuhn, Dennis Campbell, Carl Scott, and Ted Bennedett on plans for an outing for the club to be held in the near future. The most favored idea at present centers around a steak fry to be held at Boonesboro, providing there are steaks to be had, with similar affairs to follow for veteran recreation.

The new science building, soon to be erected, has been proposed as a memorial to our war dead of Eastern. We sincerely wish for this request to be fulfilled in remembrance of the boys who gave the supreme sacrifice.

RHYTHM RIPPLES

BY MART NOTERMAN

The current band on everyone's lips is Johnny Desmond. Johnny got his start with Glenn Miller's overseas band. This 26-year old baritone has recorded for Victor "Do You Love Me?", "Don't You Remember Me," "In the Eye of My Irish Colleen," and "In the Moon."

Barry Wood's recording of "Tomorrow is Forever," and "Till We Meet Again" spots the Alec Wilder arrangement. Barry has seldom sounded better than on this twin pairing of hits from the new international picture, "Tomorrow is Forever."

The Calloway brand of rhythm spots "If This Isn't Love" and "The Honey Dipper." Rocking all the way, Count Basie gives us "Jiving Joe Jackson" and "Queer Street." Basie rides the piano in fine style all the way while Ann More handles the lyrics on the "Jackson" number.

Teddy Wilson is represented with eight sides in a new album. The orchestra demonstrates what is commonly known as the "52nd Street Gang." It's good Wilson, which means that you can't find better piano pounding anywhere. Here are a few discs you can't miss. For instance, Perry Como's "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," Bing Crosby and Jimmy Dorsey with "Give Me the Simple Life" plus "It's the Talk of the Town." T. Dorsey performs with "My Man" and "El Salon de Gut Buck-ett" and Kay Starr, the radio singer, delivers with "Should I?" and "Don't Meddle in My Mood." Freddy Martin has a unique record with his pianist playing "The Flight of the Bumble Bee" with one hand and boogie with the other.

Her name is one of the newest featured on a major radio show, that of NBC's Eddie Cantor Show. Thelma Carpenter, as Eddie's protegee and songstress, holds the spot that once helped skyrocket Deanna Durbin and Diana Shore to fame.

Born in Brooklyn, Thelma comes from a musical background, her father being a choir singer and her mother an ex-dancer.

Eddie first discovered Thelma at the New York supper club Ruban Blew where she was doing a show. When he heard her sing "Memphis Bound" he knew that she was headed for the stars.

Thelma started toward her career at the age of seven, when she sang on the Kiddies Hour of WNYC, New York. She has worked hard for this opportunity, so here's luck in climbing the stairs to stardom.

BEHIND THE MIKE:
The sound man for Kay Kyser's "College of Musical Knowledge" needed a typewriter to supply authentic clackety-clacks for a sequence in the script. He called everywhere before he finally found one. Just before bedtime a messenger delivered the machine—a shiny new noiseless.

Basil Rathbone, the hunter, heard on the Sherlock Holmes series over the Mutual network, became the hunted when he failed to arrive at a party given in his honor by members of the cast. When he was finally located, the witty sleuth had to admit he hadn't been able to find his way to the scene of festivities.

From the card index under Humor, we found three books titled Tom Mason's Annual, Humorous Hits and How to Hold an Audience, and The World's Best Humor, from which we take our column for this issue.

Dora: "Has he proposed to you yet?"
Flora: "No, but he has an engagement ring in his voice."

Waiter: "That's spring chicken you are eating, sir."
Patron: "Yes, I guess so. I've been chewing on the spring for the last half hour."

"Quick!" shouted the doctor dropping the telephone receiver in his confusion, "my bag. There's a fellow just telephoned in a dying voice that he can't live without me!"

"Calm yourself, Dad," said daughter, who had taken up the receiver. "It's Reggie; he mistook your voice for mine."

Teacher: "Why are the days long in summer and short in winter?"
Student: "Because heat expands them and cold contracts them."

An anti-tobacco lecturer made such a powerful speech against the use of tobacco that several of his hearers went home and burned their cigars, holding them in their teeth by way of further punishment.

She: "You told me before I married you that you were well off."
He: "I was, but I didn't know it."

"What is the chief cause of divorce?" asked a college professor.
Speaking offhand, we would say matrimony.

She: "The only men I kiss are my brothers."
He: "What lodge do you belong to?"

"She swears no man's lips have ever touched hers."
"That's enough to make any woman swear."

I rose and gave her my seat,
I could not let her stand—
She made me think of mother, with
That strap held in her hand
The Prodigal's Return
(With thanks to Mr. Poe for the use of his meter)
In a maze of mournful numbers,
Interfering with my slumbers,
Grimly I prepare to make my
Income tax returns once more;
And with mental acrobatics,
Delving into mathematics,
Compound fractions and quadratics and
Equations I explore;
Logarithms, conic sections and proportions
I explore—
And I murmur, "Nevermore!"

All the year my Mecca is to boost
The old exchequer;
Now I sweat and ponder how to make
It lower than of yore;
And I bless the valuation of my
Wife's poor relation,
Cutting down the net taxation as it never
Did before—
The exemption slighter greater than
It ever was before
But I groan, "O, nevermore!"

I would like to take and file 'em
In a lunatic asylum,
As I look in vain for Schedule C
And Section Number Four.
If their figures should refute me, "fare-thee-well!"
You may salute me,
For I'm going out and shoot me with my
Back against the door;
With my perforated person draped
Against the chamber door,
Croaking gently, "Nevermore!"

Little hugs and kisses,

This Collegiate World

(By The Associated Collegiate Press)

Warrensburg, Mo.—ACP—Professor Fred E. Pauley's perfect attendance record at his work at Central Missouri State Teachers College has been broken for the first time in 20 years, according to a letter received from Mr. Pauley by a member of the faculty. No reason was given for the one day's absence from work.

The Student of CMSTC carried a story of Prof. Pauley's record in 1937, which brought to date no absences from work September, 1924, to January, 1946, from the eighth grade, through high school, 8 summers and some spring terms here at CMSTC; 4 summers at Wyoming University, 9 years of teaching in Missouri; 6 years in Wyoming, and 2 years in Idaho.

Professors, according to the student conception, are middle-aged, stodgy, a bit quaint and a little rheumatic. Dr. Gwynne Nettler of the sociology department of Washington University, who is 32 and good looking; who skis, swims and surfs, and who likes music that is hot and solid, is the exception to the rule.

Concerning exercise, Dr. Nettler says: "It should be active but not useful. I can't stand any kind of activity that has a utilitarian purpose... such as gardening."

Sounding rather like a jive talking bobby-soxer, Dr. Nettler says, "I like music that is hot... it's got to have beat. Not this popular music, but something like Duke Ellington's primitive recordings." Pointing to the record player in his office he explained that music should be listened to as an escape... a catharsis.

Demonstrating what he calls his "Bugs Bunny" complex, he pulled open the drawer of his desk and displayed a collection of raw carrots and turnips. In the other drawer he keeps candy.

It's a good thing that women dance backwards, says Dr. Gerald H. Chapman, associate professor of chemistry at Kent State University.

"A delicate little lady with her dainty 110 pounds balanced on a spike heel has about 10 times the toe-crushing power of her burly partner whose 180 pounds are carried on broad-heeled brogans," he explains.

Angel's Attic is the name given by eleven Bowling Green women to their dorm. They are quartered on the top floor of the hospital building. They abide by the same rules as the rest of the freshmen on the campus. Extra added conveniences are five flights of steps to be entered by the back door and some loose phone wires not yet anchored to a phone.

Students at Purdue University will soon be looking for a new way to keep their feet warm.

The Sporting Thing

BASEBALL

Eastern's baseball season will start this week. Georgetown will appear on the local diamond Friday, the 19th. Kentucky Wesleyan is tentatively scheduled for a game here the 17th, but as this goes to press final arrangements have not been completed. Coach Hughes has been watching the candidates in an effort to determine the beginning nine. This spring, unlike some of the past few years, there are a large number gunning for the team. That, in itself, is an encouraging sign as competition promotes a better spirit and usually better playing. Last year's nine finished the season winning six and losing only one. This spring eleven games have been contracted and two remain on the tentative list with Wesleyan.

FALL FOOTBALL

Now that spring football practice is over and baseball is coming into the limelight, many have lost sight of the gridiron season that will open in September. Although Eastern still has one open date to fill, October 19, eight games have been carded for the Maroons. The opening game will be with Tennessee Polytechnic Institute from Cookeville, Tennessee on September 21. The following week Eastern will travel to Salisbury, N. C., for a game with Catawba. The Central Michigan team from Mt. Pleasant will appear on Hanger Field October 5. The Maroons will cross the state on October 12 to engage the Murray Thoroughbreds. Then the schedule calls for Valparaiso at Eastern October 26, Morehead at Morehead November 2, Indiana State here November 9, and the season will be drawn to a close with the Hilltoppers of Western at Bowling Green.

NATIONAL PASTIME

The baseball season gets under way this coming week as the National and American League clamor for their respective pennants. The spring training has been colorful and with the Mexican League coaxing many of the players with enormous salaries, something new has added to the headaches which owners and managers endure prior to opening day. Now comes the question as to which teams will appear in the world series next October. The New York Yankees are generally picked to win easily since they have their pre-war line up back on the roster. In the National League the winner can not be so easily chosen. Judging from the pre-season play it will be the Cardinals, Pirates, or Giants. Pick any you like but skip the Cincinnati Reds, it looks like they are due for another twenty year role as the bridesmaid of the senior circuit.

Busby's A Traitor with A Bum Carburetor

This morning a lissome lass waddled into my office, dressed in a burlap onion sack and shoed of herring bones, with trouble on her mind and a question on her lips. The pretty young thing runs a yak and cow farm (girl cows, that is) outside of Mayslick and presents the problem that her prize milk cow, Busby, is only hitting on three cylinders. I'm answering her in letter form so as to benefit you all. Dear Miss P.: Your worries are over. Just feed Busby a platter of spoonbread, mixed conservatively with Sani-Flush, and you'll find the outcome to be astounding. If, however, this fails, I suggest you buy your Grade A across the river in the adjoining county. It may not go well on cereal, but the effect is sensational.

Austin, Tex.—ACP—An insight into the red tape problems the veteran has in returning to school, along with some amusing sidelights, was given by Robert W. Evans, vocational adviser from the Veterans Administration regional office at Waco, Texas, who is now at the University of Texas to investigate cause of slow payments to student veterans under the GI Bill.

"The veteran who appears on the college campus with no more than his feet and a sudden desire to attend that particular institution is the thorniest problem," Evans said.

"Although this isn't the average case," he explained, "there are some ex-servicemen who are almost totally unfamiliar with their rights and benefits under the law. Perhaps, they may not

Maroons Open Season Facing Tigers Friday

With their first regularly scheduled game of the season against Wesleyan having been cancelled, the Maroons will make a second attempt to open their 1946 baseball season Friday when they oppose the Georgetown Tigers.

Wesleyan had to cancel their first game because they have not been able to get their team in shape. Although they haven't marked off their field as yet, they plan to have everything in shape for the would-be return game in Winchester April 24.

Following Friday's encounter with Georgetown, the Maroons will be host to the Hilltoppers of Western Saturday afternoon. This was the last date to be added to the now-complete twelve-game schedule which calls for six games at home and an equal amount on the road.

Coach "Turkey" Hughes has been putting 32 Eastern hopefuls through steady practice for the past three weeks and before Friday will have the number shaved to about 22 to facilitate batting practice. Last week the squad spent most of their time in practice games, giving the pitchers an opportunity to loosen up and the batters a chance to sharpen their eyes. Most of the tryouts showed up very well and Coach has some very good material to work with.

He is especially wealthy this season with nine pitchers to choose from, two of whom gave exceptional display of speed in practice. The top men on the pitching staff appear to be Goebel Ritter and Ray Giltner, a newcomer to Eastern from Covington. These two men will probably draw the opening pitching assignments, Ritter on Friday against Georgetown and Giltner facing Western on Saturday.

Probable Line-Up

Coach Hughes is optimistic about the chances of his team this season and feels certain the Maroons will show themselves well against all their opponents this season. When asked Monday to name the probable starting team for Friday's game, he gave the names of the likely candidates and their positions, but emphasized that he might change his mind before starting time for the game. The battery for Friday's game probably will be Ritter pitching and Delmas Freeman catching. The infield will be Casey Nowakowski at first, Pete Nonnamaker at second, "Pee Wee" Cinnamon in the short stop position, and Chester Mielcarek holding down the hot corner. The outfield will be composed of Bill DeVenzio right, Paul Meyers center and Wren left.

The schedule as it now stands is:
April 19—Georgetown, here.
April 20—Western, here.
April 24—Wesleyan, there.
April 26—Centre, there.
April 30—Ten. Poly Inst., here.
May 3—Western, there.
May 8—University of Ky., here.
May 10—Murray, here.
May 15—University of Kentucky, there.
May 17—Georgetown, there.
May 22—Centre, here.
May 24—Tenn. Poly Inst., there.

JEWEL BOX

By Bertie Nichols

Juan Bennett is the picture of Spring in her head-hugging bonnet of natural straw with its feminine touches of lace. Her jewelry accents consist of a diamond and palladium scroll clip and earrings set with both baguette and round-cut diamonds. (Pictured below.)

Delicate drama in glittering jewels is Betty Rhodes choice for formal evening wear. A beautiful example of this is the twinkling line of diamonds, almost invisibly set in palladium, around the neckline of her black lace dinner gown.

On her recent trip to New York Ginny Simms acquired a piece of jewelry that is a real conversation piece. It is a jeweled cupid sitting on a palladium cloud dangling a fishing rod from which hangs a gold chain tipped with a diamond star. Frances Langford is introducing a musical jewelry trend to Hollywood. Her husband, Jon Hall, has had made to order for her a palladium bracelet with several bars of her favorite song, "I Love You Truly," set in diamonds on a music staff.
