Displaying the spirit of Easter through their smiles, soloists, conductor, and orchestra member discuss portraying the spirit of Easter through Faure's music in "Requiem". The performers are Larry James, baritone; James Winn, baritone; Diana Miller, soprano; Mr. James E. Van Peursem, conductor, and Freda Waggoner, organist.

Choir And Orchestra To Present "Requiem" By Faure, Palm Sunday

The cantata, "Requiem" by Faure has been selected by the Eastern Music Department for the Palm Sunday traditional sacred service April 3 at 7:30 Sunday evening in Hiram Brock Auditorium.

The "Requiem" was written by the famous French composer Gabriel Faure. Faure was head of the Paris Conservatory for fifteen years and taught many leading figures in the French musical world. As a result his artistic principles gained broad circulation, although much of his influence was confined almost exclusively to France. Not until the last twenty-five years of his life did Faure really find himself as a composer; therefore, his best work was written at a time when impressionism held the center of the stage in France.

The music in the "Requiem" is the expression of a man deeply sincere and tranquilly spiritual. The "Requiem" occupies a unique position and certainly ranks with composed in France. It is not as dramatic a work as the "Seven Last Words of Christ," by Du-Bois, but the music is surpassingly beautiful, and grows in effect with repetition. This work of Faure is becoming more popular in the United States. One critic said, "Long considered as essentially a musician's composer, Faure is beginning to speak to the common man, for now at last the common man is willing to listen to him."

Eastern's choir, which will sing the work in Latin, will be accompanied by the school orchestra, with Freda Waggoner at the organ and Miss Brown E. Telford playing the harp.

WOMEN in the SPOTLIGHT Openings In Ranks First Meeting Of Student Association Maroonettes Tilt Nazareth College Of Finance Corps Next Wednesday At Council Assembly

BEV WILSON

The Maroonettes marched to victory when they met Nazareth for the last basketball game of the season, 47-43. March 19 Eastern's gals were the visiting team in Louisville, Kentucky and made a showing that all Maroons might be proud of.

The battle was nip and tuck all the way. The first half the Maroonettes dropped behind because in the second quarter a switch to man to man defense was made. However, at the half time the tactics changed and with a faithful zone the Louisville players were held in hand.

Pat Allison came in as forward adding the height that Eastern needed for the rebounds, and Dot Clark appeared with some fast speed proving to be the answer for the left side of the court. Eastern came up fast and at the third quarter the score was in favor of the Maroonettes.

The last quarter was a tough one. Nazareth began to drive hard and to play rough, getting those rebounds. The Maroons realized that it was necessary to slow the game down and shoot only when getting a clean break.

Only two minutes to go and the W. R. A. team led by only 2. A time out was taken and after that Eastern went into the freeze. Losing the ball once, the Maroonettes regained it and Bev Wilson received a good pass from Pat Allison to break for the last goal of the game just as the timer's horn sounded for the end of the tilt. The final score was Eastern 47 to Nazareth's 43. Individual scores for this game were Dot Clark, 8; Pat Allison, 5; Joanie Mitchell, 3; Dot Quisenberry, 1; Nancey Batten, 2; Bev. Wilson, 29.

The other forward was Betty Jim Ross, and she was held by a fine guard from the other team. The guards were Katherine Johnson, Sandra Sharpe, and Arlene Isaacs.

Columnist Comments

Arlene did a real swell job and played her best game of the season. Also I would like to say hats off to Katherine Johnson and Sandra Sharpe for their wonderful jobs working with our defense this year. Both of the gals play a great team game and we're mighty proud of them!

Official timer of the game was Phyllis Wilson, and Maxine Hines was the Eastern score keeper.

Softball Season To Begin

The softball season will begin immediately following spring vacation. There will be no regular W. R. A. until that time, so members should spend these next two weeks earning individual sports points, such as may be earned by playing tennis and other personally chosen activities.

The Department of the Army has announced that vacancies presently exist for a limited number of persons as Reserve commissioned officers for service in the Finance Corps of the Army Reserve.

Appointments will be made in the grades of first and second lieutenants for three years' active duty.

Individuals selected must possess a master's degree in business administration, accounting, or economics. Applications will be accepted from students presently enrolled provided they will presumably complete the necessary academic credits for master's degrees not later than June 15 of the year following the date of application.

Upon appointment, the initial active duty assignment will be the Finance School, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, for training in basic finance and military subjects. This training period will be of approximately 20 weeks duration, after which the individuals will be reassigned as requirements dictate.

Interested applicants should contact the Personnel Management Office, Headquarters Kentucky Military District, Louisville 15, Kentucky, for further information.

Birthstones for Collegians

Freshman: Emerald
Sophomores: Blarney
Juniors: Grind
Seniors: Tomb

The first meeting of the Student Association will be held at the Assembly period Wednesday, April 6, in Hiram Brock Auditorium. The Council is sponsoring this meeting, which will be the first annual meeting of the Council with the student body.

The program will include a discussion, a couple of skits, and a question and answer period. The entire association, which is composed of council and student body, will participate in the last part of the program. The first two parts of the program are to give the students an idea of the accomplishments and plans of the council.

Among the plans of the organization is to arrange for one class meeting a month next year, to limit the number of offices to be held by one person, and, if possible, to limit the number of clubs in which a person may hold membership.

The committees for the assembly are publicity, Bonnie Baldwin and Fanny Herndon; skits, Mary Becker and Barbara Tinch; program, Roger Stephens, Louise Gullady, Lou McNabb, and Barbara Tinch.

It was reported at the March 21 council meeting that a new buzzer system may be installed in Burnam Hall. An estimate is being made on the installment of one in Sullivan, which has no working system; and if it is not too expensive, Burnam may eventually get a new one. The buzzer system would be like the one which will be installed in the new men's dormitory. A switch will be in each room so the occupants can talk with the person desired at the desk when buzzed.

"Fascinating Rhythmn" Beat Out By Music Club

The Music Club will present a program Thursday, April 21, entitled "Fascinating Rythym." A chorus and soloists will sing selections from Strauss' "Die Fledermaus," Cole Porter's "Kiss Me Kate," George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" and Kentucky folk music. The "Pastels," the college jazz band, will also present several features.

Solos in "Fascinating Rythym" will be sung by Mitzel Mueller, Frances Milam, Sara Joyce Clark, Jane Nims, Diana Miller, Jimmy Winn, Larry James, David Caylor, and George Griffin.

The presentation is under the direction of Miss Constance Conklin, Mrs. Elizabeth Gaither, and Mr. James E. Van Peursem, all of the Music Department.

Baseball Opener In Berea Tomorrow

Baseballers Point Toward Good Year

Eastern's defending Ohio Valley Conference baseball champions open their 1955 campaign tomorrow when they journey to Berea to meet the Mountaineers of Berea College in the season opener for both teams. Starting time is 2 p. m.

The Maroons have taken advantage of every clear day for the past three weeks to work out at Richmond Sports Arena to ready for their '55 season. Last year, the Maroons posted a 16-5 record and captured the championship of the Ohio Valley Conference.

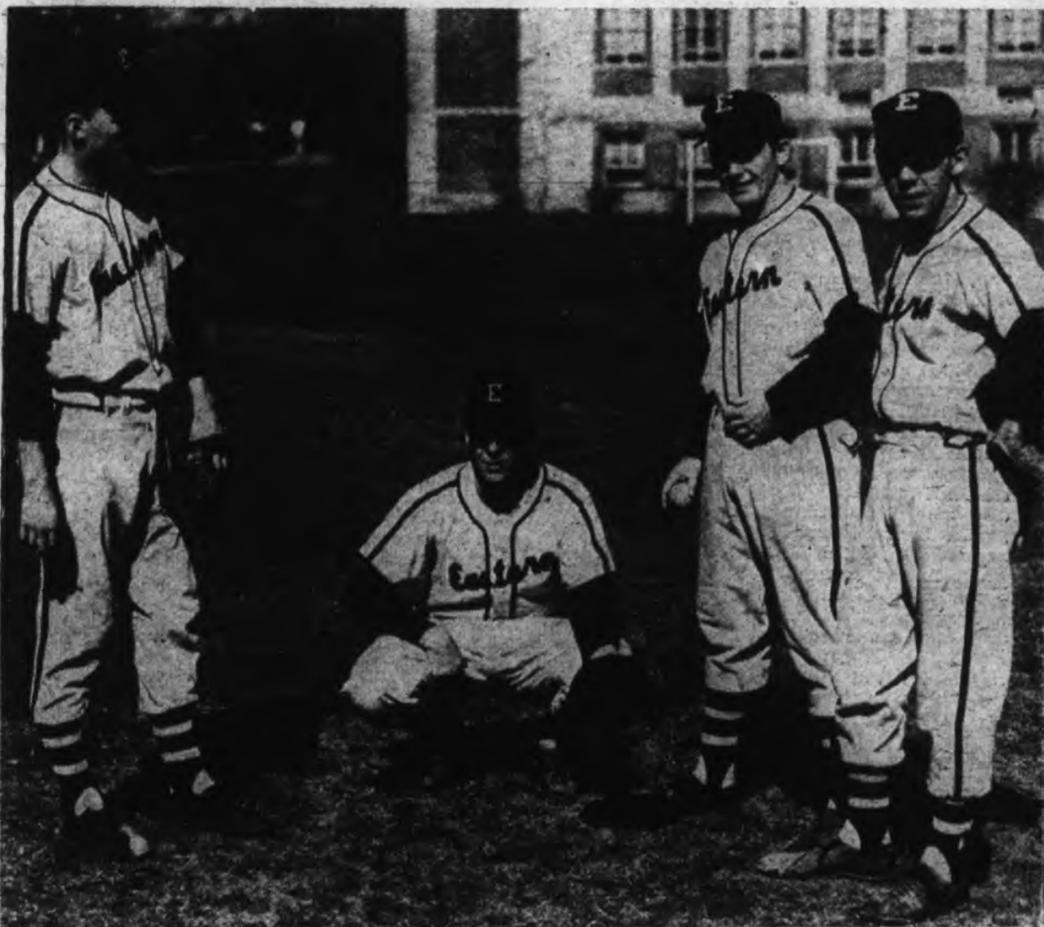

Nine lettermen will form the nucleus of this year's club, although several freshmen and transfers will greatly bolster the lineup. Of the nine lettermen, only three are seniors—outfielders Bob Roby and Ralph Rutledge and pitcher Don Feltner. The squad, numbering well over 50 at first, has been cut down to 25 men, and these athletes have been going full force for three weeks under the supervision of "Greenie" Kincaid, assistant to head coach "Turkey" Hughes.

Kincaid and Hughes are both fairly optimistic of the chances of the Maroons this spring. "We'll be a lot faster this spring than we were last year," Kincaid commented. "Greenie" added, "I think we will have a good ball club as we had last spring, especially if the new pitchers come through as expected."

Probable Starting Lineup Named

Kincaid named a probable starting lineup for the opening tilt tomorrow. At first base will be either Jim Mitchell, sophomore from Lexington, who started slowly last year as a freshman, or big Carl Wright, frosh from Tyner, Ky., who has shown plenty of power at the plate. At second will be Jim Tucker, junior transfer from Centre College. Tucker will be one of the most experienced men on the squad. Ken Stephens, junior transfer from Cumberland Juior College, will start at the shortstop position as the little speed merchant has shown loads of ability. At third will be Dick Dudgeon, slugging sophomore from Erlanger, Ky., who was second leading batsman last spring with a .365 average. In the outfield will be Bobby Brown, last year's batting champion with a .376 percentage and a junior from Irondale, Ohio, Alan Pipes, junior speedster from Lebanon Junction, Ky., and either Bob Roby, senior from Shepherdsville, Ky., or Ralph Rutledge, senior from Ironton, Ohio. Either Don Boyer, junior from Ironton, or Tommy Wallins, freshman from Lexington, will open behind the plate for the Maroons. On the mound will be either Don Feltner, senior from Hazard, Ky., or "Cotton" Robinson, frosh from Harlan.

FAST BALL—Is the signal that Don Boyer, Maroon first-string catcher, calls for, as assistant Coach "Greenie" Kincaid goes over some signals with regular pitchers Don Feltner and Ronnie Pellegrino, Boyer. The Maroons, all set to open tomorrow afternoon at Berea, have been busily prepping for the '55 season for over three weeks at the Richmond Sports Arena. Pictured left to right: Don Feltner, Boyer, "Greenie" Kincaid, and Ronnie Pellegrino.

Last spring the Maroons met these Berea Mountaineers twice, winning both times with comparative ease. At Berea early in the season, the Maroons won by 10-5 and in the final game of the season, the Maroons walloped the Mountaineers by an 18-4 count.

The Maroons will meet the University of Kentucky Wildcats at Lexington on Monday afternoon at 3 p. m., it was announced late this week by athletic director and head coach, Charles T. Hughes. The first home game, at the present time, is April 13th with tough Xavier University. Last year, the Kentucky crew nosed the Maroons out twice, but in '53, the Maroons were victorious on two occasions. So, Monday's encounter is the "rubber" game with the 'Cats.'

The Maroons' baseball schedule has been held up due to the unfinished field that is still under construction on Stateland Farm on the campus. However, "Turkey" Hughes has scheduled 13 games so far, but hopes to add five or six more to complete the card. Teams who are considered being added to the schedule are Kentucky, Transylvania, Bellarmine, and Union. The schedule, as it now stands, is as follows:

April 2	Berea	There
13	Xavier	Here
20	Tenn. Tech	There
26	Louisville	Here
30	Morehead	Here
May 4	Morehead	There
6	Xavier	There

FUTURE BRIGHT FOR TRACKME TRACK OPENER SET FOR APRIL

By JERRY JOHNS

Eastern's track team, loaded with returning veterans has been working out the last three weeks in preparing their initial appearance on the cinders on April 7th when they meet the Morehead Eagles at Morehead.

The '55 team is expected to bring to Eastern its first OVC championship in history. The Maroons have gone undefeated for the past three seasons in regular season competition. Eastern lost the title to Tennessee Tech last spring in the conference meet at Bowling Green, by a mere half-point when Tech captured a second place in the mile relay to garner the necessary points for the championship trophy.

This year's Maroon track squad, under the supervision of Glenn Presnell, handling the coaching duties for the first time in the absence of Fred Darling, who is working on his Master's degree at the University of Kentucky this semester, is blessed with having several key men returning from last year's crew. Don Daly, who tied the 100 yard dash mark that was set in 1951 by Jack Bond of 9.8 seconds, is back this spring as are Jack Torline, holder of the 220 yard record of 21.7, Bill Rucker, holder of the 440 yard record of 51.4, Tom Sammons, also a record holder of the shot put with 45 feet, 4 inches, Don Hortman, who boasts the record in the discus with a throw of 146 feet. The 880 relay team of Chuck Bell, Horace Harper, Ed Miracle, and Don Daly, which holds the record at 1:36.2, is back this year. All these record holders, plus several other outstanding track and field men are expected to give the Maroons plenty of strength on the cinders this spring. Other

Presnell Experiments With Backfield As Maroons Continue Spring Drills

By DON FELTNER

Glenn Presnell has come up with at least a temporary solution to this problem of finding a completely new backfield to replace the five backs lost from last year's fine team. The popular Maroon coach has what he phrases as a "Big, passing backfield" and a "Light, running backfield."

With his "Big backfield," Presnell has been stressing pass protection, while his "Light backs" have been doing most of the running. Presnell commented, "Our smaller backs are the best runners, but too small to offer any real good pass protection, and our bigger backs are the better boys as far as blocking is concerned." With Bobby Lenderman, senior from Pensacola, Fla., returning to do the firing, the Maroons will concentrate largely on the passing game next fall. Lenderman, only 5'7", and 150 pounds, is the quarterback on the "Big backfield," while his running mates have been Jack Rogers, 5'11", 185 lb. sophomore from Covington, who was shifted from a quarterback post that he filled last fall, Ernie Rigrish, 5'9", 180 lb. Portsmouth, Ohio, senior, and John Sebest, 5'10", 190 lb. sophomore from Duquesne, Pa. The running backfield or "Light backfield" will consist of Lexington Lafayette's Ronnie Polly, 6'3", 190 lb. frosh, at quarterback, diminutive Chuck Bell, 5'9", 155 lb. senior from Pineville, Roy Hartman, 5'9", 190 lb. sophomore from Dayton, Ohio, and Bobby Thompson, 5'9", 160 lb. sophomore from Elberton, Georgia.

"Now, this is not a definite solution to our problem, but we have been working pretty much lately with the two backfields," Presnell added.

Horace Harper, who was one of the leading small college punters last fall, has been out for most of the spring drills due to a bad knee and is doubtful to be in shape for any practice during the remaining few days of practice. Guard Ralph Consiglio, who underwent a knee operation last week, has missed the entire practices, but hopes to heal his bum knee by next fall to remain in the running for a starting guard berth. Tom Schulte, sensational frosh end last fall, has been working out this week as his leg injury has gotten somewhat better.

Ends Show Great Possibilities
Coach Presnell commented that the end position has taken on a brighter aspect, with the addition of last year's freshmen flankmen, who have looked very fine in the spring drills. The Maroons have four top-notch ends, two freshmen and two sophomores, who will be counted upon next fall to carry the load. Sophomores to be next fall, Tom Schulte and Paul Thomas, are expected to be a pair of the conference's best flankmen and freshmen Jerry Wilhoit and Ronnie White have shown outstanding improvement this spring. All four athletes played in the backfield in high school and all are extremely fast and good pass receivers. Schulte, 6'3", 190 pounds from Newport, Thomas, 6'2", 190 pounds from New Boston, Ohio, Wilhoit, 6', 180 pounds from Loyall, and White, 5'10", 185 pounds from Erlanger Lloyd, are being counted upon very heavily by Presnell to come through in the fall to give the Maroons some of the best ends in the loop. All four are very fine prospects and hard workers.

Gary Arthur, 6'2", 225 pounder from Ashland, Ky., and Jim Patton, 6', 205 lb. Lexington Lafayette husky, are presently holding down the first string tackle positions and appear to be the best replacements for the Maroons' great tackles lost from last year's club, Karl Bays and Frank Nassida. At the guard posts, Presnell has been using Jerry Boyd, 5'10", 200 pound, Uniontown, Pa., athlete who was shifted from center, and several inexperienced men. Don Boyer, the only other guard with any experience at all, has been excused from practice in order to work out with the baseball team. Don has been bothered by the flu during most of the workouts.

The Varsity "E" Club will sponsor the Maroon and White intrasquad game which is scheduled to get underway Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m. An admission price of 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults will be charged. The public address system will be used and all the color and surroundings of a regulation game will be provided. Assistant coaches Roy Kidd, Carl Oakley, Bill Bradford, and Ray Pelfrey will coach the two teams and Coach Presnell will be a spectator.

Presnell plans to hold the Maroon and White intrasquad game next Tuesday night, April 6th, if the weather permits the grid-ders to get in Saturday, Monday, and Tuesday's workouts. That evening will mark the 20th day of practice.

NOW, THIS IS FOOTBALL—Those could well be Coach Glenn Presnell's words as he talks with his four ends who have shown the most promise, but they aren't. Presnell is well aware that these athletes know what a football looks like. In fact, the popular Maroon head coach has been highly pleased with the showing of the four flankmen, who are pictured above with end coach Ray Pelfrey, former Eastern and professional star griddler. Kneeling, from left to right: Ronnie White and Jerry Wilhoit. Standing, left to right: Pelfrey, Paul Thomas, Tom Schulte, and Presnell.

HAIL, CHAMPIONS—Here are the Greyhounds, 1955 intramural basketball champions, who copped the crown last week by defeating the Eastern Rockets in the finals of the annual tournament at Weaver Health Building. The Greyhounds, coached by Nick DeSantis, was the lone survivor of the 30 teams who began the single eliminations. Kneeling, left to right: Alan Pipes and Bobby Lenderman. Greyhounds Cop Intramural Crown Eastern Rockets Defeated In Finals

The intramural basketball tournament came to a climax last week when the Greyhounds of Coach Nick DeSantis upset the defending champion Eastern Rockets by a 49-42 score at Weaver Health Building. The tournament was thrill packed all the way with such teams as the Bullets, Greyhounds, Eastern Rockets, Upsetters, and Celtics competing for the coveted championship trophy.

The Greyhounds fought their way to the finals by defeating seven points when the final gun the Hoopers 82-51, the Crowners sounded. The winning Greyhounds 85-41, and then defeating the Rockets in the finals by 49-42. 15 points and Alan Pipes, who In the final game, the Greyhounds had to overcome a 10 point deficit late in the third period to capture the crown. With only three minutes remaining, the Rockets still maintained a one point lead but then Roy Kidd's Rockets ran out of gas and were beaten by

Sideshow vs Main Tent

It was once said of Princeton that it seems as though "the sideshows were taking over the attractions of the main tent." This means, of course, that extra-curricular activities were becoming more important on that campus than was the main attraction of any college—education through studies.

Let's compare Eastern with Princeton in this respect. Do you think this could rapidly be happening on this campus? Do we have too many extra-curricular activities?

Every student on campus, almost, would be very unhappy and very dissatisfied with a college where there were no extra-curricular activities, and rightfully so. Extra-curricular activities are an integral part of any college student's life—athletics, clubs, and social functions are needed on a college campus. They are a part of a preparation for life, as all of us realize, and they give us something that is vital to everyone—entertainment and an occupation for our spare time.

But a college has a more important major function. And that is to offer to the people who attend it a formal education. Education, or a guide toward education, is the goal of any college.

Can a school work toward this goal and carry out this aim if there are two many things to do in the way of extra-curricular activities for the students to find time to study?

Usually it is the good students who find time to belong to a number of organizations and participate actively in extra-curricular activities. And the people who do participate and work toward making a favorite club or a special social affair really good are the people who are asked to do things again and again. And they are busy—sometimes too busy to study.

It is obvious what can happen. Grades can drop, and even more important, actual interest in getting some sort of formal education can be lowered. There is no time for anything but getting assignments for a class. People who are constantly busy have no time to read or study something which they may have heard in a class which interests them.

Let's look at a two weeks period on this campus. What was there to do? A Vocational Information Conference, a marriage conference, two banquets, a dance, a party, and probably dozens of club and committee meetings to attend. This will keep even the student who doesn't bother to study anything else except what actually will be needed in his classrooms busy. What about the student who wants to do extra work and can't?

So it seems that the sideshows are really taking over the main tent, and it's very hard to do anything about it. In fact, nothing can be done about, except that each and every student can limit himself to the number of things which he would like to participate in, and he can also decide for himself, once and for all of his college years, which is more important—a formal education, including reading and studying on his own, or a whirlwind four years of clubs, parties, and play.

Extra-curricular activities are important—thanks be to the industrious people who make them possible for us. But there is something more important, or at least as important, to a college student. And that is working toward educating himself.

Don't Miss This One

If you haven't been to an assembly program—that is the little meeting held every Wednesday morning in Brock Auditorium—all year, and think you might like to try one out, don't neglect to go to the one next Wednesday morning.

The program for this assembly will be given by the Student Council of Eastern. The members of this organization feel that it is time for a public evaluation and discussion of the work of the Council. They will discuss what they have done, and also what they plan to do next year, if the students choose to vote for a student government organization for next year.

The Council's work should be a major concern of everyone on campus, and this is one of the biggest reasons for holding the program. They feel that no one should have any excuse for not knowing the work of the Council, and now they are going to tell the student body about it, and also about tentative plans for the future.

Don't miss this assembly. It can be very important to you.

The Progress Salutes ...

One that meets the qualifications to be a Progress Salute is certainly Chester Baker, a twenty-two year old senior math and physics major. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 190 pounds; has a blond crew cut and green eyes.

Chester has just recently received an assistantship in math at U. K., and he will be there for two years. After receiving his master's degree, he will probably enter the service. Following this, he wants to teach math in a college.

He is a very active member in many clubs. In his sophomore year he was vice president of KIB, and last year was assistant editor of the Milestone. He is now business manager of the Milestone, treasurer of the senior class, circulation manager of the Progress, a member of the math club, physics club, YMCA, Who's Who, and was recently co-chairman of the program committee for the Vocational Conference.

Chester stated that the two things that have probably helped him most during college have been the management of the finances for the organizations and the social activities.

The credit for his coming to Eastern from Carrollton, Kentucky, can be given to President O'Donnell and the great influence that he has had upon education in Carrollton through the years.

Chester is very much interested in jet planes and says he would like to fly some day. His favorite color is blue, he likes food in general, and June Allyson and Burt Lancaster are his favorite actress and actor. Chester certainly has a knack for figures, since his two hobbies are girls and the solution of math problems.

For four years Chester has worked in the cafeteria and for the past six summers he has worked with a construction company building roads in Kentucky and other states.

Having all the characteristics of leadership, scholarship, and personality, Chester seems to have an influence on his sister, Pat, who is a freshman elementary education major here now and who seems to be following in his footsteps. Chester Baker—a versatile senior—we salute you!

An April Fool At Last!

By SHARON BROWN

April Fool's Day began at dawn when a weak orange sun crept slowly into sight and the sleepy students dragged themselves from their beds to rinse their bodies in tubs of lukewarm water and to drink sugared coffee from thick white cups before classes. The holiday spirit was steadily rising when the last eyelid was steamed open by the warm vapor which floated up from a coffee cup. The style for the day became one sided grins with wide-eyed innocent stares thrown in to improve poor jokes. The day began in grand style.

The Fool stood around and watched the others with a wan look on her face and a slow, sad smile on her lips. She alone did not respond to jokes. She tolerated them because she did not recognize them as jokes. She knew that they needed a fool that the populous must be pleased. It was the dog eat dog classes with everyone responding automatically to old, old jokes and everyone becoming an April fool at least once each hour. The found joy in watching chagrine freshmen glance down just in case a slip was hanging. If one got a trick on an upperclassman it was the limit of good fun. The Fool watched patiently from her post and wondered at this day of laughs. They called it a day of fools and yet she wondered where the fools were; she had seen more.

The day wore on with gay peals of laughter ringing from all sides. The Fool stood with her back against the wall. She ran her fingers along the pink plaster and marveled at the roughness of it. A boy passed.

"Your shoe's untied," she said. He bent and caught the ends of the string and tied them deftly.

"April fool," she said slowly as the others had done. The peals of her laughter echoed wildly round the room and the day ended.

Meet The Faculty . . .

The opportunities in physics are better now than they ever been in the past, both in teaching and in research. This is the statement of Dr. J. G. Black, professor and head of the department of physics.

Black, who is a native Kenton, has been teaching in the physics department since received his B. S. and M. S. degrees from the University of Kentucky, and his Ph. D. degree from the University of Michigan. He has taught in physics departments at the University of Kentucky, the University of Ken- tucky, the University of Ken- tucky, and the University of Ken- tucky.

the University of Michigan. Dr. Black worked in engineering during the war. He has done government research and has worked in a commercial laboratory in New York.

Variety Of Interests
Outside his own field, Dr. Black enjoys reading, movies, study, poetry and drama. "Perhaps my biggest enjoyment," he says, "comes from a conversation with an interesting person over a cup of coffee."

When asked why he entered the field of physics, Dr. Black replied, "I have always had an attraction toward mechanical and physical things. My high school teacher encouraged me to study physics, too."

Dr. Black has four sons, one an engineer and scientist, one a physicist at the Naval Ordnance, one a lawyer in Lexington, and one a student at the University of Kentucky majoring in civil engineering.

Lack Of Physics Students
One of his main concerns is the lack of physics students. He attributes this to the lack of training in elementary schools to qualify boys and girls to study physics. Dr. Black commented that Russian students are inspired to study physics and related fields much as American students are encouraged to take part in athletics.

Dr. J. G. Black

Dr. Black says the biggest joy to be gained in his teaching of physics is that of coming into contact with students with bright and intelligent minds. And this,

he adds, is a necessary characteristic of a physics major.

One cannot help but feel, while watching Dr. Black conduct an experiment in physics, that he is a true teacher and a scientist and one cannot listen to him talk quietly about such a poet as Omar Khayyam without thinking that he contributes a great deal to the spiritual as well as material well-being of the people with whom he comes in contact.
