Instruction Conference Determines That Teacher's Role Must Change

The role of the teacher as merely a dispenser of information must be changed if effective learning is to take place. So agree three prominent educators participating along with the Eastern faculty in a two-day conference on the Improvement of Instruction which ended Saturday, November 20.

The conference, which included two sessions Friday and two Saturday, involved the entire college faculty and dealt with the changing role of the teacher in today's society. Guest lecturers were Dr. Ohmer Milton, professor of psychology, University of Tennessee; Dr. Nevitt Sanford, director of the Institute for the Study of Human Problems, University of South Florida, Tampa.

Changes in Philosophy

Dr. French called for action by colleges and universities in making some changes in the overall philosophy of teaching. "If it takes another generation to make these changes, it may be too late," he said.

Colleges and universities must provide the leadership in improving our product, he added.

"And, as far as I know, Eastern is the only institution in the country that is taking this important problem up on an institutional basis."

Dr. Sanford, speaking at a dinner meeting, called for a closer teacher-student relationship. "The relationship between students and teachers has become so remote that students cannot describe the teacher as a person," he said.

"Occasionally, a young lady may be able to tell you what kind of tie her teacher wore today, but nothing else."

Teacher-Student Relationship

He cited the closer, interpersonal relationship between teachers and students in graduate schools and said, "If this relationship is important in the graduate school, it is even more important in undergraduate schools."

He suggested that it is very important that arrangements be made whereby "the student can get at the teacher and the teacher at the student."

Emphasis was given throughout the conference on the role of education. All the visiting speakers agree that education is more than just a matter of content.

"What happens in the student's mind is the important thing," Dr. Sanford said. "Not what content is exposed to the student... a teaching machine can dispense information."

Dr. French asked for ways to attain "an intellectual challenge of self-education and self-discovery" by the students.

Amazing Lack of Imagination "Even Socrates would be amazed at our lack of imagination in the modern classroom," he said.

In Europe, students rely upon self-education, even after graduation. In this regard, he said, "we stand at the very bottom."

The teacher should not be forced to teach a class he does not believe in. It was Sanford who hit hardest on this point.

"The teacher who is to affect the student must also reveal himself to the student," he stated. "He should feel free to expose himself, to show his enthusiasm for what he believes in, to show his feelings."

Teaching Important Art Sanford called teaching "one of the highest and most important arts..." and asked, "Why has this art been so neglected?"

He insisted, "We haven't really penetrated the core of education until we develop a broader concept of education than we presently have."

"We must regard the teacher as a leader in our society, one who can accept major responsibility in state and national matters, not a master of a trait. Teachers must not be regarded as a group of technicians."

The British Are Coming!

Cambridge University Debaters To Appear In Tournament Here

The Eastern debaters are preparing for an invasion from Great Britain.

On December 9 two representatives of the Cambridge University Debating Union will face two students from Eastern to debate the topic "Resolved: Religion is the Opiate of the People."

The two Englishmen are John Christopher Davies and Norman Steward Eughson Lamont.

Davies is a graduate of Emmanuel College, Cambridge University, holding a B. A. in Economics and Sociology. At the university, he was president of the Cambridge Debating Union, a member of the U. N. Association, and a participant in amateur dramatic productions. He is a native of Swansea, South Wales.

Lamont holds a B. A. in Economics from Cambridge where he attended Fitzwilliam House. He was also President of the Debating Union and was Chairman of the University Conservative Association, editor of "The New Radical," and a member of the U. N. Association. Lamont is planning for a career in politics and journalism and already has had some practical experience in the office of Duncan Sandys, a member of the last Conservative cabinet in Great Britain.

The topic is based on a statement by Karl Marx and is a common attack voiced by opponents of organized religion. Both Davies and Lamont are said to be atheists. The Englishmen will defend the resolution, while the team from Eastern will oppose it.

Defending the negative position for Eastern will be Linda Ward, a senior from Rye, Kentucky, and Mike Coffey, a senior from Birmingham, Alabama. Miss Ward, who is majoring in English and minoring in speech, has served two years in the Debate Club, DSRTKA, Collegiate Pentacle, and as Milestone Editor. Mr. Coffey, who was born in England, has been a member of the Debate Club for three years, and also of CCUN and the Young Republicans Club.

The debate on our campus is a part of a cross-country tour by the Cambridge team sponsored by the Committee on International Discussion and Debate of the Speech Association of America. The Cambridge debaters will make only one other appearance in Kentucky. The debate will be held in the Grise Room of the Bert Combs Building at 7:30 p.m., December 9. Tickets may be obtained in 106 Cammack. Although the debate is free, admission will be by ticket only.

British debating style is quite different from that of most American debaters. British debaters rely heavily on wit, sarcasm, vituperation, and personal attacks. Mrs. Alexander, Eastern debate coach, said, "Much of what English debaters say is irrelevant and irreverent, but it is rarely dull!"

Cheer For The Home Team

School, Team Spirit Makes Winners

THIS WEEK THE EASTERN MAROONS entered another basketball season with the first successful game already encountered.

Eastern graduated four of the players who helped to earn Eastern's third O.V.C. Championship title last year. But the outlook is far from dim for this season with eight returning lettermen. The predictions for success are high.

We take this opportunity to pledge our support to the Eastern Maroons and to head coach James Baechtold, last year's O.V.C. "Coach of the Year," as we again look forward to another successful year for the Maroons.

For a team to realize true success it must register success with its fans. We challenge the Eastern student body to support their team not only in winning, but in possible losses as well. The team needs and functions best with your continued support.

We can show our support in making attendance a habit at the games. We can also show support by exhibiting sportsmanship at all the games. We must at all times remain on top in acceptance of victory and defeat.

Not many teams play well before a student body which possesses a "We could care less" attitude. As exhibited by the team's debut Wednesday night this attitude is not as yet present this year. We should see to it that it does not become the prevailing factor in our school spirit.

We do not suggest that students travel to all the away games but as an equal number of conference games are played away as at home, we do suggest that an outstanding school spirit be exhibited at home so that it might be carried over to games that will be played before far from friendly crowds.

Over-confidence is often a trait which tells an otherwise powerful team. If the Maroons refuse to consider any team insignificant, they will have taken one of the biggest steps toward another conference championship.

Sights and Sounds

By JOE M. JOHNSON

It's amazing how Hollywood publicity mills can grind out so much information and misinformation so rapidly. A case in point is Lee Majors (formerly Harvey Yearly), who graduated from Eastern in 1963, and who currently is one of the stars of "The Big Valley." ABC's hour-long color western on Wednesday evenings.

Since the September premiere of the show, at least a dozen magazines have done major (no pun intended) articles or picture stories on Lee. He has also been the subject of both AP and UPI dispatches, and many top-flight newspapers have carried articles and photographs touting his new role as a "star."

If one reads all these articles, he will probably be thoroughly confused. Granted, fans want to know something about the people they are seeing, but much of what is printed is so trashily written, so sickly commercial, so horribly sentimental, or so absurdly false, that a true picture of the person is impossible. Then, too, there is the matter of deciding which article you want to believe. Almost everything published thus far is a mass of contradictions. Some articles give him credit for previous movie and television work. Some say he has never done anything before "Big Valley." Some articles mention nothing about his college, and others indicate he graduated from the "University of Eastern Kentucky." He is, at one and the same time, married, divorced, and a bachelor. His eyes have been variously blue, green, and brown, and his hair color has ranged from "banana yellow" to dark blonde.

I mention these few facts to indicate that the reliability of most fan magazines is well below average. I have had a number of people ask me what I thought of all this publicity about Lee Majors. I suppose the only real answer I can give is that most of it isn't worth thinking about, or worth reading. To those people who know Lee, most of it is a lot of nonsense, and they would prefer to see one honest, well-written story in a reputable magazine than the bushels of trash currently being printed.

Upcoming Campus Events

To come to matters closer at hand, a couple of upcoming campus events this next week promise interesting evenings.

Wednesday night at 7, Ronnie Holman of Lexington will present a two-hour concert of song in the Pearl Buchanan Theatre. Known as "The Quiet Man," Ronnie serves up a pleasant combination of folk songs, dialect tunes, and old standards in a tasteful and talented manner. Tickets are limited, but inquire at the theatre if you are interested in going.

Thursday night, at 7:30, two Britishers from Cambridge University will meet Eastern's Linda Ward and Mike Coffey in a public debate. The topic for debate: Religion is the opiate of the people. Cambridge will argue the affirmative, and Eastern will take the negative position. The debate will be held in the Grise Room of the Bert Combs Classroom Building. Admission is free upon presentation of a ticket, which may be obtained from the Speech Department Office, 106 Cammack.

Eastern Presents "Messiah" Eastern's presentation of Handel's "Messiah" will be presented twice this year, December 12 and 13. In addition to this traditional music program, the orchestra and choir will present a program of Christmas music at 8, Wednesday evening, the 15th.

Also on the 15th, at the regular assembly program, Drum and Sandal will present their annual Christmas show. That week should certainly put us all in a good holiday spirit before classes are dismissed for Christmas.

If you haven't had time or the inclination thus far to go by the gallery in Cammack to see the Ashland Oil Purchase Prize Collection, you're missing a good show. It will be on exhibition through December 7 or 8, so you still have a few days to view these fine art works.

IT'S TIP OFF TIME AGAIN!!

Get Out And Vote!

Miss Eastern, Popularity Elections Set

EASTERN STUDENTS WILL BE ASKED to participate in the third campus-wide election Wednesday when the balloting takes place for Miss Eastern and for Mr. and Miss Popularity.

In the past two elections, class officers, and Homecoming Queen finalists, the vote counts were appallingly low for the number of students on campus.

College is a prime period for individuals to formulate the habit of voting. Our entire democratic process is based on voting. If students do not show enthusiasm in electing persons they know to positions of honor and responsibility, it is logical to assume that they will show a similar lack of enthusiasm and interest in local, state and national elections.

Future societies rest upon the youth of today and the future of these societies rests upon the active interest they take in their affairs. Is the future of our democratic process to be evaluated by the interest students exhibit in their affairs today? We hope not.

The election scheduled for Wednesday carries the weight of some responsibility and authority with it. The holder of the Miss Eastern title is the official student representative at college functions and must possess not only beauty but poise, responsibility, and integrity. In addition, she is also the college representative for the Mountain Laurel festival held in Pineville each spring.

In voting for Mr. and Miss Popularity, you are not only voting for those individuals which you like best. You are in effect voting for the traits which make for popularity. These might be summed up for personal appeal, integrity, honor, respect, trustworthiness, responsibility, and leadership.

In voting for persons for the titles of Miss Eastern and Mr. and Miss Popularity, you are voting for these principles and personality traits. It is your responsibility to see that the holders of these titles can "fill the bill."

We charge you, the student body, to exhibit the same principles and traits and VOTE.

Safety Important

Crosswalk Positions Indicated

THE SAFETY OF THE STUDENT BODY is recognized as one of the most important factors of this swiftly growing and developing institution.

One of the shortcomings of the safety precautions taken on campus is the lack of crosswalks in providing adequate passage from one area of the campus to another.

Crosswalks are a necessity on this campus with the increased growth of the student body and the increase in the number of campus operated automobiles. These devices will not only help insure the safety of the students, but will also provide a means of helping to alleviate the traffic congestion on campus drives at changes of class periods.

We suggest the following places as necessary areas for the installation of crossing areas.

Cammack to Miller, Beckham, and McCreary; Burnam, Sullivan, Case, and the Student Union Building across University Drive to the ravine; Burnam to Sullivan; Todd, Dupree, and Palmer to traffic island in parking zone No. 2; Weaver Health Building to Stofeland, and O'Donnell Hall; across Kit Carson Drive to the hockey field; across Kit Carson Drive behind Burnam Hall to Brockton; and all areas where campus parking lots intersect with main streets or campus drives.

It is our sincere belief that if crosswalks are marked in these places, safety and efficiency might be facilitated. But for these crosswalks, if provided, to function, they must be heeded by students as well as by automobiles.

Men Risk Their Lives For Their Beliefs

By LEAH STREHLLOW

If you have heard, seen, or know anything at all, then you have some idea about what's been going on in Viet Nam since 1925. It's old news, but new developments arise and this war is important. All aspects of it are essential — military, psychological, sociological, economical, and political. No matter what opinion might be manifest concerning our Viet Nam policy, Americans should support the men who are continually being sent to fight for a cause which they think important enough to risk their lives.

One former Eastern student was recently hospitalized. He had been in Viet Nam for only two months when this occurred. When he recovers, he said he will go back and fight harder than ever. Two other students have returned from Viet Nam, both earning an Oak Leaf Cluster. They weren't drafted, but volunteered.

Army Captain Carroll M. Fyffe has returned and is now living at Quarters 24564A, Fort Eustis, Va. The other man is Captain Henry W. Giles, son of the late Dr. Frederic P. Giles, past professor of art at Eastern.

Captain Giles is now working at the out-patient clinic at Walter Reed

Hospital. July of this year, Giles was shot down in a helicopter by the Viet Cong in which the pilot, Major Charles Kelly, was seriously injured. Giles, too, suffered an arm wound and also a fractured leg from Sharnel, but still pulled Kelly from the damaged aircraft and across open terrain to a nearby tree where he, with the rest of the crew and ground forces, administered first aid and established a perimeter defense. Ignoring his own injuries, Giles continued his first aid treatment to the wounded and also helped to check the enemy assault.

Because of his meritorious conduct, Giles was awarded two Bronze Stars and an Oak Leaf Cluster. In June he also was awarded the Purple Heart and the Viet Nam Expeditionary Medal.

Attitude is Dedication This dedicated fighting is believed to be the general attitude of the soldiers on the front. How long will this feeling last? Will our troops become depressed and feel that even though they are presently winning the military part of the war, the situation may never become stabilized? How many guerrillas are there?

Will we ever be able to eradicate the Communist threat or will this piecemeal aggression arising from Viet Nam's split in 1954 continue until we have a full-scale war on our hands? Will our soldiers lose sight of their objectives and become listless. People demonstrate against our involvement in Viet Nam, but it's too late; we have already made our commitment.

What type of man is sent in to fight? They are your brothers, your sons, your relatives, and your friends. Today your neighbor was drafted; tomorrow, who knows, it may be you! Following is a most recent listing of Eastern graduates stationed in Viet Nam:

Capt. Alden E. Hatch, HQ & HQ Battery, 1st Bn. 77th Artillery, 1st Cav. Div. (Air Mobile), APO San Francisco, Cal. 96490.

1st Lt. Raymond O. Welch, C Co. 2nd Bn. 12th Cav. 1st Cav. Div. (Air Mobile), APO San Francisco, Calif. 96490.

2nd Lt. Jack Hibbard, A Co. 2nd Bn. 7th Cav., 1st Cav. Div. (Air Mobile), APO San Francisco, Calif. 96490 (U.S. Forces).

1st Lt. John B. Hanlon, 5th Ward North, Clark Air Force Base Hospital. (Manila), APO San Francisco, Calif. 96274.

Capt. Wilburn H. Harmon, USA

Elm., USMACV, APO San Francisco, Calif. 96243.

Capt. Glenn Fields, Overseas address unavailable, home address—318 Pleasant Street, Cynthia, Ky.

Capt. Thomas M. Wilson, overseas address unavailable, home address—Sparta, Ky.

Capt. Robert Schneider, overseas address unavailable, home address—1439 South Jones Blvd., Apt. D-6, Tucson, Ariz.

Capt. Stanley Campbell, Soc Trang, South Viet Nam, Region IV.

Capt. George Griffin, Vinh Long, South Viet Nam, Region IV.

Capt. Stanley Bonta, Cantho, South Viet Nam, Region IV.

Capt. Carl Little, Cantho, South Viet Nam, Region IV.

Capt. Larry Vockery, Soc Trang, South Viet Nam, Region IV.

Both Hibbard and Hanlon are in the hospital. Reports on their conditions haven't been complete, but Hibbard is suffering from a fever, and Hanlon has been injured in both his chest and back.

Christmas Comes Once

I hope Lincoln's words reiterated by Kennedy have been embedded into your minds. "Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask what you can do for your country." Americans have been urged to support the men on the fighting front. Through your campus clubs, you could send Christmas cards or you may want to organize other worthwhile projects.

If you want to do more than send cards, what better way could you raise the morale of those soldiers on the front than by writing a letter? Letters may be sent for Viet Nam Mail Call, Box 3104, Columbus, Ga. If you can think of a better way to boost their morale, then do it!

One way might be to give a pint of blood Thursday when the Bloodmobile comes to Eastern. It will be here from 10 until 3 in Burnam's basement; the donated blood will go to American forces in South Viet Nam.

Your cooperation would be appreciated in this national program. It would show the American people that the new student radicals do not speak for our generation in their irresponsible demonstrations against our country's policy in Viet Nam. Campus support the U.S. policy and fighting Americans will be something which will have a great effort on our effort in Viet Nam.

Senior Cadets Honored

82 Sophomores Lauded By CWENS And KIE

CWENS and KIE (Kappa Iota Epsilon) are the two honorary organizations open to sophomores on Eastern's campus. Both organizations ask a minimum of a 3.0 average for first semester work, interest and participation in campus activities, a good character as shown in the classroom, and a willingness to serve Eastern. The members are pledged the spring semester of their freshman year.

CWENS is an Anglo-Saxon term meaning lady or queen and the members of CWENS are pledged to live up to those ideals. CWENS is a national society. It became a National Sophomore Women's Honorary in 1925. The predecessor to the Mu Chapter of CWENS, which was initiated on this campus in the spring semester of 1948, was Prota-Decca which began in 1945.

CWENS purpose, as stated nationally, is "Fostering leadership, scholarship, and fellowship among women of the sophomore class, promoting leadership among freshman women, and promoting interests of college or university in every way possible, to supervise and direct these chapters in attainment of their common ideal."

46 Women Honored

There are 46 members of CWENS this year. The president is Sandra Wallace, the vice-president is Linda Detmar, the secretary is Sandra Wagoner and the treasurer is Phyllis Taylor. The members are: Karen Akin, Wilma Asbury, Patti Black, Karen Carpenter, Darlene Cash, Nona Chuhay, Beverly Dance, Janet Dpricks, Judy Ehl, Sharon Gabby, June Gray, Sue Heeb, Brenda Holt, Sandra Howse, Phyllis Jones, Priscilla McKeenan, Stephanie McKinney, Phyllis Marcum, Regina Miller, Eileen Mills, Margaret Mitchell, Dorothy Moberly, Sharon Moore, Pat Mulvanity, Deborah Newsome, Ann Nichols, Rebecca Rader, Diane Russell, Kathleen Schwettman, Marsha Scott, Brenda Searcy, Aileen Shackelford, Jessie Simpson, Rebecca Smith, Vicky Smith, Donna Stonecipher, Linda Strausbaugh, Peggy Stulreyer, Sandra Wardell, Elaine Whitaker, Diane Warden, and Wanda Yingling.

Conference Determines Teachers Role

Dr. Milton cited research projects which indicated that students can perform well on their own through independent study, if properly motivated.

He also agreed that the future role of teachers should be more than merely that of dispensing information.

40-Hour Minimum Schedule

Milton suggested that students should consider at least a 40-hour work week. For example, he said that a student taking 15 hours of course work should do at least 25 hours of outside study. "Why should a student expect to put in a 20 or 30 hour week?"

Sanford told the group of about 350 faculty members that encouragement is found in three facts, which he listed as:

1. Instruction beyond lectures
2. Educational television
3. The increasing demands on good teaching caused by students' and parents' learning more and more about education

It was also Sanford who said that, along with being given encouragement, students need to be brought up short, when necessary, to be shown their deficiencies. "Education cannot be accomplished by superimposing more knowledge on top of the wrong foundation."

EASTERN MEETS TOP RANKED DAYTON

After the Maroons thrashing of the Transylvania Pioneers they have to face top ranked Dayton.
The Flyers are ranked 14th in the nation and hold a commanding 16 wins to 3 defeats in the series with Eastern. Last year's Dayton team defeated Eastern 73-71 at Dayton and finished with a 22-7 record.
Seven foot, 240 pound Henry Finkel will lead the Dayton attack. He averaged 25.3 points last year and pulled down 15 rebounds a game. Bill Cassidy from Louisville, Gene Klaus, Dennis Papp and John Camanich will probably see most of the action for the high flying Flyers.

COLONEL CLUB MEMBERS

Coach Kidd awarded nine Maroon football players for their outstanding play during the season.
The players had to spell out the words Colonel Club to receive a plaque. The players had to be awarded a star for such feats as throwing; a touchdown pass, blocking better than 70 percent, recovering a fumble or intercepting a pass.
The offensive linemen were freshman Bob Tarvin, Roscoe Perkins and Jim Ratliff; offensive backs, Fred Malins, Larry Marmie, and freshman Herman Carter; defensive linemen Chuck Sieman and freshman Miller Arritt and defensive back Buddy Pfadt.

FINAL OVC STATISTICS

The final OVC football statistics were released and Eastern placed first in three categories. Fred Malins set a new record for punting with an average of 42.2 yards a kick. Walter Murphy led in points by kicking with 34 and Buddy Pfadt intercepted 7 passes to lead in that department.
Larry Marmie was tied by Dickie Moore of Western for second place in scoring with 56 points each while Herman Carter was 11th with 36 points. Marmie was fifth in passing while he led in pass completions with a fabulous 62 percent. He also had the fewest interceptions with three.
Jim Guice ranked eighth in passing and tenth in total offense while Marmie was ranked eighth.
Herman Carter finished with a rushing average of 5.5 yards a carry and 626 yards to place him fourth in rushing. Fred Malins and Jim Ratliff finished fourth and sixth respectively in pass receiving. They combined for 947 yards of Eastern's total yards passing of 1389. Mike Smith placed third in punt returns.
As a team Eastern placed third in total offense and fourth in defense. They averaged 21.5 points and gave up 18.5 points a game. Eastern's pass defense was second in the conference and they were penalized 410 yards. This total gave them second place in that category as East Tennessee was the least penalized with 355 yards.

COACH OF THE YEAR???

Eastern's football coach Roy Kidd was named "Coach of the Year" by the Louisville Courier-Journal.
Middle Tennessee's coach Charles Murphy was selected by the OVC coaches as "Coach of the Year." Murphy has been coaching for 19 years at Middle Tennessee and has a compiled record of 139 wins, 45 losses, and 8 ties. He has won seven OVC championships.
In the voting there was a possibility of 40 points for each coach. Murphy received 29 points while coach Kidd was credited for 23 points.
Roy Kidd in two years at Eastern, brought the Maroons from one of the patsties in the OVC to a title contender and a team that was feared by every team in the conference.
Murphy did an excellent job with Middle this year, but with all things considered, was he OVC Coach of the Year?

OVC BASKETBALL PREDICTIONS

The football predictions finally forgotten about, I decided that I could not do any worse with basketball.
Middle Tennessee and Austin Peay which finished one and two in football should finish eight and seven in basketball. East Tennessee should hold down sixth place but could give Morehead trouble for fifth. Third and fourth places were hard to decide but Tennessee Tech and Murray should finish in that order.
This year's conference winner will be either Eastern or Western. Western finished second last year with a 10-4 record and will have Clem Haskins and two other starters back from last year's team.
Eastern, which lost only one game in conference play, will be led by Eddie Bodkin, an all-conference forward for two years.
It is a toss up for first place, but Eastern should be able to hold the Toppers to second place as they did without much trouble last year.

DEFENDING OVC CHAMPS . . . Eastern's Maroons

nets two of his 23 points on a hook shot despite the efforts of Transy defender Larry Langan (21) while Robert Berry (33) looks on. Bodkin needs just four points tomorrow night to become the 4th all-time leading scorer in Eastern's history.

Eastern Scores Opening Game Win Over Transy

Jim Baechtold's Eastern Maroons revealed their 1965-66 basketball season with a sweeping win over tiny Transylvania 91-54 last night in a fan-packed Alumni Coliseum.

6-7 All-American candidate Eddie Bodkin led the pack with 23 points, coming within four points of surpassing Dale Moore's record and becoming the fourth highest cage scorer in Eastern's history.

The other big Maroons didn't let Bodkin make the win alone. John Carr hit for 13, Jerry Bisbey, 11 and Bill Walton and Doug Clemmons with 10. Transylvania, making too many floor errors (24) and missing too many shots (hitting

Maroons Face Finkel, Flyers Tomorrow Night

Eastern's Maroons get their major test tomorrow night as they go in search of their second win of the season against Henry Finkel and company, the powerful Dayton Flyers, in Alumni Coliseum.

The Maroons got off to a flying start Wednesday night with a solid 91-54 whipping of Transylvania, while Coach Don Donoher's tough Flyers were breezing over Villa Madonna.

Baechtold, pleased with the Maroons' effort in their debut, said his team played "decently" for an opening game, and was especially pleased with team shooting (62.5 percent), and the defensive effort.

He credited the defense with almost completely breaking down the Transy offensive patterns, and praised guards Bill Walton and Doug Clemmons for holding the Pioneer's high-scoring backcourt combo of Ronnie Whitson and Tommy Browning to seven and nine points respectively.

Not surprised with the hot shooting (30 of 48), Baechtold said, "This team has consistently been hitting over 50 percent of its shots in scrimmages. And, when you get layups on fast-break situations your percentage is going to be higher."

Good Running Game
The Maroons revealed a blistering running game for the first time in Baechtold's four-year stint at the helm against the Pioneers. While not many running situations were produced by Transy's ball-control offense, Eastern took advantage of those available.

He praised the efforts of All-American candidate Eddie Bodkin, who had 23 points, although he felt his 6-7 prodigy didn't play as outstanding a game as he is capable.

He also cited Walton's leadership, the 13-point effort of 6-9 center John Carr in his first starting assignment, and forwards Jerry Bisbey, 11 points, and Dick Clark, 11 points, as key men in the Maroon season.

Turning to Dayton, rated 14th in the nation, the Maroon mentor admitted that much of the Maroon strategy will be centered around stopping 6-11 Finkel, Flyer All-American hopeful. Finkel has scored 32, and 35 points in his last two outings against the Maroons, the most points produced by an individual against Eastern in the last two seasons.

"Our scouting report indicates that Finkel is in better physical condition and moving better than ever," Baechtold said. Drawing the assignment of stopping Finkel will be Carr, who held the Dayton ace to seven points in 25 minutes in the 73-71 Maroon loss last year.

"But," Baechtold added, "I can't get overly fixated on Dayton as four of our best out there all who are going to be there all night long." He singled out sophomore Don May and sophomores Don Hooper as constant threats. Hooper, who came from veteran guard Gene Klaus.

Tipoff time for the Maroon-Flyer clash is 8 p.m., after a 5:45 preliminary between Coach Jack Adams' freshman Maroons and Junction City.

Maroons Oppose All-American

Dayton's giant All-American center, 7-1 Henry Finkel, will be expected to carry the bulk of the scoring and rebounding load for the Flyers. The coach of the nationally-ranked Flyers, Don Donoher, calls Finkel a "super-star" to whom we are most grateful.

Eastern Wins OVC X-Country Track Championship

Championship Team Boasts Trophy

Eastern's cross-country team capped a perfect season by winning the OVC Championship. The team is composed of mostly freshmen and the future looks bright for the thincads. Ben Madera, co-captain Kenth

Anderson, Jan Halth, Coach Conan "Connie" Smith, co-captain Larry Whalen, Grant Colehour, John Woods, and Jim Beasley were the top finishers in the meet.

In the frantic closing weeks of football and feverish preparations for an upcoming basketball campaign it's easy to overlook the so-called "minor" sports. Or is it?

Coach Conan Smith's Maroon cross-country team has just completed a perfect 10-0 season against rough competition and swept the Ohio Valley Conference X-country meet. In their second year under Smith (they were 8-2 last year), Eastern's barriers compiled a record that should make long distance fans sit up and take notice. Perhaps the most impressive accomplishment is the fact that in 10 meets only three teams broke the Maroon hold on the first five, or point-counting places. Iowa took 5th in a triangular meet, Don Knox of Kentucky State, defending NCAA champs, took a first, and Owensboro High School phenom Darrel Remole took third in the Kentucky Federation meet. In the rest of their outings the Maroons swept at least the first five places, twice the first 10, and three times the first seven.

Second was John Woods, a freshman from Elmhurst, Ill., third Kenth Anderson, Malm, Sweden, the Swedish 1,600-meter champ, fourth was OVC mile champ, senior Larry Whalen, Euclid, Ohio, and fifth was Jan Halth, Kil, Sweden, Swedish 800-meter champ.

The crowning achievement came last week at Morehead when the Maroon thincads shutout the rest of the league in winning the Ohio Valley Conference championship with a perfect 15 point score, sweeping the first five places, and seven of the top ten.

Winning the league individual crown was freshman Grant Colehour, Rockford, Ill., who posted a 20:50 time over Morehead's hilly four-mile course.

Coach Kidd

Signs Two

Top Prospects

Eastern head football coach Roy Kidd today announced the signing of Paul Hampton, two of the best prospects in Kentucky.

Inking Maroon grants-in-aid over the week-end were Paul David Hampton, Belfry, and Paul Douglas Hampton, Everts, both considered outstanding prospects by Kidd. They were signed by offensive line Coach Carl Oakley.

Paul David, a 6-2, 190-pound center and linebacker, lettered four years under Al Vipperman at Belfry High School, which lost to Middlesboro last week in the Class AA regional playoffs.

Kidd says he is an aggressive, hard-nosed grinder, with excellent blocking and tackling ability. "He's exactly the type of player we want," said Kidd.

A 12-letter man at Belfry, Paul David is the son of Mrs. Beulah Hampton, Central Avenue, South Williamson, Ky. Paul Douglas was a 6-1, 190-pound quarterback at Everts, but Kidd says the Maroons plan to use him as a split-end. He was transferred from end to quarterback this season by Coach Charlie Hunter.

A three-sport letterman, Kidd says he has fine hands, speed and leadership ability. Paul Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hampton, Route 1, Everts.

Kidd says both Paul Hampton's fit well into future Eastern plans, and could see action next fall as freshmen. This season 25 freshmen saw action for the Maroons as they compiled a 4-4-1 season, with a 4-2-1, third place Ohio Valley Conference finish.

Beverage Stains

It's symptomatic of higher civilization that water alone does not suffice a well-to-do citizen for slaking his thirst; his pocket-book and oral sophistication demean other beverages. All right. Coffee or tea to wake up or perk up. Soft drinks for lift or laugh. Beer or cocktail to ease tension or encourage good fellowship. Whatever. Who wakes up in the A.M. with a cup of hot water? Who clinks glasses of water to toast a triumph or anniversary? Our guess is — nobody.

But let us, please, remember that: Alcohol liberates dyes; sugars in soft drink caramelize; tea and coffee contain tannin-like substances and discolor from heat or time. Other beverages have other characteristics—undesirable as stains.

The answer to all this is to clean SOON. And, for added safety, when you spill a beverage on your suit or dress, moisten a napkin in a bit of clear and cool water and dab it just enough to moisten it. This both diffuses and dilutes the stain, keeps it slightly moister and therefore fresher, encouraging its complete removal.

LIBERAL EDUCATION IN TERMS OF A MYTH . . . Dr. John F. Priest, right, assistant professor of Old Testament at Hartford (Conn.) Seminary, was introduced to today's Assembly by Dr. Frederic Ogden, dean of the school of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. John F. Priest, associate professor of Old Testament at Hartford (Conn.) Seminary spoke at the weekly assembly. He was introduced by Dr. Frederic Ogden, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Priest used the old fairy tale of "Jack and the Beanstalk" to illustrate the goals of a liberal education.

The old children's story, Dr. Priest said, is really a nearly perfect myth relating the nature of liberal education beginning with the curiosity that first impelled Jack to climb the beanstalk.

The bag of gold Jack brings back from the giant's house represents, Dr. Priest said, the financial reward of a man's education, the money he can earn by practicing his trade or profession, while the "hen" that lays the golden egg" represents the security that allows a man to spend some of his time in pleasant, creative, cultural pursuits.

"A liberal education is designed to make us restless with just the bag of gold and the hen," he added, and the "harp." Jack's final trophy, stands for the totality of the cultural heritage of the human race.

"The goal of liberal education is to make us truly human," he said, or in President Woodrow Wilson's words, "a fully-awakened man."

Foreign Programs Offered

College students interested in study in Europe during the winter, spring and summer terms are invited to apply now for Michigan State University programs beginning in 1966.

Offered by the American Language and Education Center (AMLEC) of MSU's Continuing Education Service, informal and economical programs are scheduled for Paris, France; Lausanne and Neuchatel, Switzerland; Florence, Italy; Cologne, Germany, and Barcelona and Madrid, Spain.

Winter programs start Jan. 10, and the spring programs, April 18, with the exception of the Madrid course which begins April 11. The deadline for winter term applications is December 10, and for spring term, March 15.

Details for the summer credit and informal courses will be available soon.

The programs will feature classes in conversation, composition, grammar and reading. Participants will also visit points of historic and geographic interest, which become the topics of lectures and seminar-type discussions covering cultural, political, social and economic institutions of the country in which they are residing.

To promote the use of the foreign language and to provide them with opportunities to better understand their European contemporaries, American participants will attend classes and share living accommodation with students from many countries, including Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland and Great Britain.

A descriptive brochure and application forms can be obtained by contacting AMLEC, 68-A Kellogg Center, Michigan State

'Sonny' Thomason Declares Pride In True American Heritage

Sunny Light Represents Tradition In Indian, American Heritage

By BILL BAKER
Feature Editor

"I have visited other countries; I have seen the way other societies live, and I feel that our country, although we have disagreements between cultures, can live as a proud nation of a proud people. I am proud of my American heritage and so all Americans should be. The United States is a melting-pot of all nationalities, and I feel that all of us can live in a free country and be honored to call ourselves Americans." These are the feelings of Sunny Light, a descendant of the true American heritage. Her ancestors are the Apache Indians.

Sunny Light is the legal Indian name given to Pamela Ann Thomason by her Apache grandfather when she was only two weeks old. It was an unusually bright Sunny morning on Aug. 12, 1947 in Ashland, Ky., when her grandfather learned of her birth.

"The extraordinary light of the early sun and my new granddaughter are good omens," he remembers thinking. "She is a Sunny Light who will be proud of her Indian heritage."

"Prefers to be Called 'Sonny'" Both of Sonny's (her favorite nickname) grandparents are Apache Indians. Her grandfather lived on the reservation until he was 17. He left his tribe and went to the University of Idaho, where he took the English name of Walter C. Thomason. (He borrowed the name of his roommate, Robert C. Thomason.) After his graduation he went back to the reservation and married Swift Water, Sonny's grandmother.

Walter Thomason, Sonny's father, studied mechanical engineering at the University of Cincinnati, went to work for the Ashland Oil and Refining Co., married Alice Amelia Mott, and made his home in Ashland.

For the first eight years of her life, Sonny lived with her grandparents in Chicago. During this time, her grandfather took her on several visits to his reservation. He taught her Indian songs, stories, traditions, dances and culture. These she now understands and performs proudly.

She came back to Ashland when she was eight and learned she had an older brother and a younger brother and sister. Sonny went to the "White Man's" school there until she was twelve. Her Indian heritage drew her back to her grandparents, who took her back to the reservation to learn the celebrations of the tribal seasonal ceremonies.

When Sonny was fifteen, her grandfather sent her on a tour of Mexico and Europe alone. He felt that for Sonny to know and understand her own culture she had to know and understand cultures of other lands.

Sonny, as well as being a striking person with a charming and intriguing personality, is an extremely talented young lady. She plays the guitar and puts her brush into the singing of folk songs. From the tip of her brush pours extraordinary paintings of the new "pop art". Writing stories and poems is one of her favorite pastimes. She has had one short story published in a literary journal and won a prize of $50 for it.

Hobbies and extracurricular activities occupy her leisure time. She loves horseback riding and camping, as well as all outdoor sports. She enjoys reading Shakespeare.

Fell In Love With Everything "Eastern was my choice of colleges," remarked Sonny, "because I like the campus, the people, and the school as a whole. When I visited the campus before graduating from high school I fell in love with everything and everyone here."

When she left home to come to college, Sonny's grandfather sent her forth with his sage advice: "Now that you are going out into the White Man's world, you must learn what he has to teach you of his culture; and you must teach him of the Indian culture. This country was peaceful before the White Man came, and although the Indians tried to make friends with him, and vice versa, some succeeded and some didn't. But the important thing is that our country can live in peace again, and you are to try to do all you can to make the White Man proud of your heritage, and you proud of his. Let us live in peace!"

Eastern's True American

Pamela Ann, (Sunny Light), "Sonny", Thomason represents to Eastern students the true, proud Indian tradition. She tours the campus making friends and telling them her Indian heritage in the effort to provide more understanding and co-operation between cultures that are at once highly integrated and yet still clinging to aspects of each enough to be separated.

Social Committee Plans Varied Activities

The social committee of the student council is headed by Larry Rees, a Brooksville senior. "The purpose of the social committee," Rees said, "is to bring varied types of entertainment to our campus. Plans are now being made for dances, concerts, and other activities."

The social committee was unable to schedule any activities for the month of December because the social calendar is already filled with other functions. "Any suggestions from students will be greatly appreciated because it is for Eastern's students that this committee functions," Rees stated.
