Plans For Home Ec. Building Unveiled

Plans for construction of a modern home economics building at Eastern have been announced by President Martin. The estimated project cost is $1,750,000. This includes preparation of plans, construction, equipment and other items necessary to make the new structure ready for use.

Dr. Martin's announcement said construction is expected to begin in the spring with the four-story building ready for occupancy prior to September 1967.

The exterior will be of concrete and glass. The structure will contain about 64,000 square feet. The architectural firm of Marye and Bond, Lexington, designed the building.

The basement area will contain a research suite and student study area; the first floor, administrative offices, two lecture halls and family-living center, where instruction can be given in home-making and decoration, and the three upper floors, about 18 classrooms.

Some of the special features, in addition to the family-living center, will include home-economics laboratories, an animal lab and facilities for closed-circuit television in classrooms and lecture halls.

Dr. John D. Rowlett is Dean of the School of Technology of which the Department of Home Economics is part. Dr. Marguerite C. Barra, home economics professor and head of the department, said it now has approximately 160 majors with numerous others taking courses in it. The department now is housed in the Fitzpatrick Arts Building, which, upon completion of the new structure will become available for other expanding technology classes.

Dr. Barra said it had been a "team effort" in development of plans for the modern structure, involving herself, Mrs. Yeva Buchholz, in charge of home management and equipment; Miss Willie Moss, child development and family life; Mrs. Jo Ann Nutt and Mrs. Mary Earle Carroll, food and nutrition; Miss Evelyn Slater, clothing and textiles, and Dr. Anne Chase, home economics education.

Messiah, Hanging Of Greens Start Christmas Pageantry

Christmas Season Opens This Weekend

The annual Christmas pageantry will be held on-campus this weekend. The two events, George Fredrick Handel's Messiah and The Hanging of the Greens, will highlight the beginning of the Christmas Season.

The 34th Annual Messiah will be held in Hiram Brock Auditorium Sunday, December 12, and Monday December 13 at 8 p.m. This will be the first year for two performances. It was found necessary because of increasing popularity.

FIVE SOLOISTS FEATURED

The event will feature five soloists. They will be Mary Akright, soprano from Eastern; Grace Reginald, contralto from Akron, Ohio; Rex Eikum, tenor from Indiana University; and Donald Hendrickson from Eastern.

Also featured will be the Eastern Symphony Orchestra, and the Messiah Chorus. The Chorus is selected from students, alumni, faculty and citizens of Madison County.

Conductor for the performances will be Thomas Lancaster, choir director at Eastern.

Mrs. Akright, a member of the Eastern music faculty, is originally from Detroit and was graduated from the University of Missouri. She has appeared as soloist at various churches in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Pontiac, Michigan, and Columbia, Missouri. She has also taught at the University of Missouri.

Mrs. Reginald has sung with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra conducted by George Szell, and with the Cincinnati, Springfield, and Columbus Symphonies. She has also appeared with Robert Shaw, and has sung in several Messiah performances throughout the United States.

A graduate of the University of Idaho, with both B.A. and M.A. degrees in Music, Eikum is a graduate assistant of voice at Indiana University. Prior to his work at Indiana University, he was a teacher of public school music for 10 years in Clarkston, Washington.

Henrickson has appeared as bass soloist at the Eastern Messiah performance for the past five years and has been a soloist with the Messiah Chorus of Independence, Missouri, for several years. He has been an active soloist throughout the United States, and was

Featured guest speaker for the 36th annual program will be

Dr. William H. Poore, previous pastor of the First Methodist Church here.

Poore, holds an A. B. from Centre College, Danville, Ky.; a B.D. from Kentucky Wesleyan College, Owensboro, Ky.; and a D. D. from Louisville Theological Seminary.

Dr. Poore is now serving as pastor of Buchel Methodist Church, Louisville, where he has served since 1960.

Also featured will be soloists Barbara Shearer, Mezzo-soprano from Midland, Michigan, and June Carol Bonny, Soprano, Irvine, Ky. Trumpet players will be William Parkey, Roger Dams, Arnette Blackburn, and Geraldine Blackburn. The pianist will be Pat Gilbert.

Code Committee To Circulate Questionnaire Next Week

A brief questionnaire concerning the proposed Student Code will be circulated among the Student Body next week, it was announced by Bill Raker, chairman of the Student Code Committee.

The Committee, in an effort to determine the opinion and position that the Student Body holds in regard to a codified set of campus regulations for student conduct, is asking the cooperation of all students in completing and returning a copy of the questionnaire. The response to this survey will dictate the route of action to be taken by the Committee in the future.

The form containing ten questions will be made available to all dormitory students, commuters, and Brockton residents. Distribution and collection of forms will be handled by members of the sophomore class. All dormitory and Brockton residents will be contacted personally and encouraged to take an interest and to cooperate in this undertaking.

Copies of the questionnaire will be available to commuters at the SUB grill and in the SUB lobby. Commuters are asked to pick up and complete and return one of the forms to the Student Council office by noon, December 17.

This questionnaire is part of the Committee's designs to find out the students' feelings about the Code and to stimulate student interest in the Committee's work. The Committee decided that before circulating a preliminary survey would be taken to determine how receptive the students would be to the Committee's endeavors.

Experiment Committee Extends Deadline

The Student Council's Experiment in International Living Committee has extended the deadline for application for the 1966 Experiment to Thursday of next week.

"This extension was made because we have only one applicant so far," committee chairman Marvin Marcum stated. "We must have at least three applicants."

The Experiment is a program which will allow one student to travel abroad next summer. Sponsored by the Student Council, expenses of the Experiment, except personal expenses, will be paid by the Council.

When three students have applied for the Experiment, one will be selected by the Experiment Selection Committee on the basis of individual qualifications.

The Experiment Selection Committee consists of three or four faculty members and the Student Council Experiment in International Living Committee. Including Marcum, the chairman, this committee consists of four members. The three working with him are Sharon McBride, Sue Carole Marshall, and Robert Lewis.

Marcum was Eastern's Experiment representative during the summer of '64. After returning that fall, he gave several lectures and showed pictures and slides to campus organizations.

The Experiment in International Living allows the participant to live with a family of another country. Thus, he is treated more like a guest and less like a tourist.

Persons interested in applying for the Experiment should contact any member of the committee through the Student Council office in the SUB before Thursday, December 16.

Dr. Wheeler To Join Faculty

Dr. Arville Wheeler of George Peabody College for Teachers, will become a professor of education at Eastern Jan 1, President Martin announced.

A native Kentuckian, Dr. Wheeler has held a similar position at the Nashville, Tenn., college since 1947. Prior to that he had a long career in education in Kentucky, including service as superintendent of Ashland, Paintsville and Johnson County schools and principal of Paintsville High School.

He left the Ashland superintendency to take the Peabody position. Dr. Dixon A. Barr, Dean of the Eastern School of Education, said Dr. Wheeler had conducted one of the largest workshops on reading in the South, among other education activities. He is the author of several textbooks, professional books and various articles.

Born at Winfred, Johnson County, Dr. Wheeler received a bachelor's degree at Centre College, a master's degree at the University of Chicago and his doctorate at Cornell University.

He is married and has two sons, Dr. H. B. Wheeler, surgical-services chief at the Veterans Hospital, West Roxbury, Mass., and clinical-surgery professor at the Harvard School of Medicine; and Dr. A. V. Wheller, pediatrician, Children's Hospital Cincinnati.

Students are invited to bring their dates and faculty are invited to bring their families to a gala Christmas musicale and sing-along in Brock Auditorium, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The bloodmobile drive culminated yesterday in the donation of 398 pints of blood to be sent to the American forces in South Viet Nam.

456 students and faculty members were processed for donations, but not all of them were able to give blood for varying reasons. It was estimated that 412 prospective donors were turned away because of the lack of facilities for receiving blood.

More Vandalism

Vandals Try To Burn Campus Landmark

WE HAVE HEARD MANY CANDID comments from students concerning the section of perhaps the United States' largest sycamore tree which has been set up for display on our campus.

To attempt to review them would be redundant, for all of us have heard the same comments.

The section of the tree, which has come to be known to the college community as "the stump," was donated to Eastern to be displayed and preserved by John W. Adams of Richmond, upon its removal from his farm. The age of the sycamore has been estimated at approximately between 450 and 650 years.

This past weekend, this section of tree received a rather severe scalding at the hands of several individuals, not enrolled as students here, who apparently thought it would be a good gesture to burn it down.

This act can be considered as nothing other than pure disrespect and vandalism. This piece of property has become a landmark on this campus. It represents a period of history, and should be considered with some pride.

Some ask "Why keep that old thing? What good is it?" We ask, "Why keep records? What good is history?" Its destruction makes about as much sense as the burning of the Archives.

This section of the sycamore tree was donated to the College, thus the costs incurred were only those necessary in displaying it. Is not history worth at least the cost of display?

Those who attempted to destroy this section of tree attempted not only to destroy a section of history, but also a section of our campus. This campus and its property are intended for our use and edification. Destruction of any part of it is destruction of that which is intended for us.

We have a charge to keep in that it is our responsibility to see that outsiders are not allowed to commit acts of vandalism on our campus. Anyone observed damaging property should be stopped or reported.

Eastern has all too often been the object of vandals, such as the theft of a tree last year, the theft of dorm furniture, painting of sayings and figures observed this fall, etc.

It is our hope that such acts of vandalism do not again take place on campus. But if they do, we hope that our students will act to protect their property.

Bipartisan' Conversation

Example Of Concern

(ACP) — Emory University's Conversation Viet Nam is an exciting example of student concern with the problems of our society and the world, says the Emory Wheel, Atlanta, Ga.

The Committee for Conversation is composed of students of all political sympathies whose only interest in common is a desire to have a high-level discussion led by recognized and knowledgeable speakers. The Committee is noteworthy because it was conceived by students who organized themselves and carried through in spite of many obstacles.

The students felt that fellow students would be interested enough in a conversation to make voluntary contributions toward expenses. Had they not felt the project could be financed, the Committee would never have begun the arduous task of organizing and planning. We feel their optimism is a big vote of confidence in the interest of the student body.

These students want the opportunity to ask questions and re-evaluate their opinions on the issue of war in Viet Nam, and they want all Emory students to have the same opportunity. They are even inviting small numbers of students from selected institutions throughout the South.

The word "teach-in" has attained an unfortunate connotation because the prototypes last spring were nothing more than partisan, left-wing protest movements led by students whose motives were highly suspect since they were eminently eligible for an expanding draft.

The difference with Emory's "teach-in" is that it is being planned as a dialogue rather than a monologue. In the Committee meetings, one is aware of the constant emphasis on the word "conversation." There will be no place for emotionalism or haranguing in Glenn Memorial; those present will accept nothing less than an intelligent discussion of the issues at hand.

The interest of these students in a bipartisan discussion of a problem of such importance is indicative of the newly acquired cosmopolitan concern of our generation with affairs of the world.

But Why?

Protestors

Appreciated

(ACP) — Sure, we appreciate the anti-war protestors, says the University of Tennessee Daily Beacon, Knoxville. But why? Not because they have "made Americans aware of how important morale is overseas and caused united supporters of our boys over there."

And we don't appreciate the anti-war protestors because their efforts have "backfired." That's ridiculous.

The reasons we appreciate some of these protestors is that they represent some very encouraging signs.

First, these people are aware of and concerned with national policy. Unfortunately, American people are traditionally preoccupied with themselves and are willing to let the rest of the world go to hell. And, in many cases, our foreign policy represents this attitude.

Second, the protestors are utilizing their awareness and concern by voicing, strongly and pointedly, their feeling. By this action, they are "watchdogging" our government and the policies it makes.

Third, and perhaps most important they represent a trend in America toward personal involvement of citizens in what the country is doing. Perhaps the protestors are accepting their share of the responsibility everyone must bear for the actions of his own community toward other communities.

Finally, if the protestors are spurring a trend in national thinking, perhaps it is also a trend toward morality in government. Maybe our leaders feel that expediency in policy is the major criterion for its worth. But individuals in the nation may feel that morality is the only measure.

If we appreciate what the protestors are doing, even if we don't agree with their stands, we can stop calling them names and give them credit for doing a job that our schools, newspapers, political leaders, and churches have failed to do.

'T would Be Nice If All Were Mr. Personality!'

What Is A Flag?

Flags Not Given Due Respect

WHAT IS A FLAG? How is the United States flag to be treated?

We had these questions put to us rather vehemently when it was made known through a student speech that the Student Plaza flags were not being accorded their due respect.

The flags displayed in front of Alumni Coliseum are maintained by the R.O.T.C. department and are given all the pomp and ceremony and care in their display and keeping that can be given to an object to be considered with respect and reverence. However, this is not the case, it has been pointed out, with the flags flying in the Plaza.

The United States flag is a symbol of our country, of the blood and toil that went into the making of this country, of the democracy and freedom connotated by the name "America."

There are certain procedures and cares to be observed and practiced in the maintenance of this symbol, the flag.

The flags in the Plaza are not afforded this respect.

They are maintained by the Campus Security force. Security should be thanked and commended by their interest and desire to care for these flags, but at the same time they should be instructed in the proper procedures of caring for them.

It has been observed on a number of occasions that the flags when being raised or lowered are allowed to drag on the ground and to be trod upon. It has also been observed that after being lowered, they are bundled up rather than properly folded and thrust into the Security car and taken to the Security office where they are unceremoniously tossed to the floor to await raising the next day.

Security is not to be condemned or blamed for this treatment. They obviously have many duties to perform and should not be expected to form a complete color guard to perform with all pomp and ceremony the task of raising and lowering the flags. But the flags should be raised and lowered in accordance with the respect they deserve.

It has been suggested that as the main flags fly in front of the Coliseum, that these flags are "subsidiary" flags, and thus it is not necessary to treat them the same way.

This, we feel, is a rather erroneous viewpoint. A flag is a flag no matter where it flies or what its size, and all should be treated with the same respect.

We suggest that if the Security force is to be expected to continue to maintain these flags, that they be instructed as to the proper procedure and handling. If this solution is not possible, we further suggest that one of the many campus organizations looking for projects, undertake the raising, lowering and storing of the flags as a regular activity and perform it with some degree of courtesy.

If neither of these solutions is possible, perhaps the old system where the Pershing Rifles and the Counter Guerrillas alternated in this duty could be reinitiated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I have been shocked by a recent exhibition of "mud-slinging" in one of the political clubs on Eastern's campus. I was under the impression that the young people today were supposed to be creating a new type of politics and putting an end to what is known as "dirty politics." If this is true, should the aim of political clubs of our colleges be less than to uphold the responsibility of our young politicians? The officers of these responsible clubs should not stoop to such techniques as "mud-slinging."

These officers, of all people, should be trying to promote the image of the young politicians of our college clubs. Is it asking too much of these officers to treat their opponents with respect and not to slander them in order to rally supporters for themselves?

I am thoroughly disgusted with the behavior of such persons. It is, indeed, a sad day when our would-be reformers rely on such unbecomely acts of debasement. I would be greatly pleased if an attempt to refrain from such acts would be made.

'Tired American Speaks Out'

American Criticizes Unamerican Attitudes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This article first appeared in The Rock County Herald, Luverne, Minn. under the title "A Tired American Speaks Out Against Bums and Hypocrites." It was written by Alan McIntosh.)

I am a tired American.

I'm tired of being called the ugly American.

I'm tired of having the world pan-handlers use my country as a whipping boy 365 days a year.

I am a tired American — weary of having American embassies and information centers stoned, burned, and sacked by mobs operating under orders from dictators who preach peace and breed conflict.

I am a tired American — weary of being lectured by Gen. De Gaulle (who never won a battle) who poses as a second Jehovah in righteousness and wisdom.

I am a tired American — weary of Nasser and all the other blood sucking leeches who bleed Uncle Sam white and who kick him on the shins and yank his beard if the flow falters.

I am a tired American — weary of the beatniks who say they should have the right to determine what laws of the land they are willing to obey.

I am a tired American — fed up with the mobs of scabby faced, long-haired youths and short-haired girls who claim they represent the "new wave" of America and who sneer at the old-fashioned virtues of honesty, integrity, and morality on which America grew to greatness.

I am a tired American — weary unto death of having my tax dollars go to dictators who play both sides against the middle with threats of what will happen if we cut off the golden stream of dollars.

I am a tired American — who is tired of supporting families who haven't known any other source of income than government relief checks for three generations.

I am a tired American — who is getting madder by the minute at the filth peddlers who have launched Americans in an obscenity race — who try to foist on us the belief that filth is an integral part of culture — in the arts, movies, literature, the stage.

I am a tired American — weary of the bearded bums who tramp the picket lines and the sit-ins — who prefer Chinese communism to capitalism — who see no evil in Castro, but sneer at President Johnson as a threat to peace.

I am a tired American — who has lost all patience with that civil-rights group which is showing propaganda movies on college campuses from coast to coast. Movies denouncing the United States. Movies made in Communist China.

I am a tired American — who is angered by the self-righteous breastbeater critics of America, at home and abroad, who set impossible yardsticks for the United States but never apply the same standards to the French, the British, the Russians, the Chinese.

I am a tired American — sickened by the slack-jawed bigots who wrap themselves in bed-sheets in the dead of night and roam the countryside looking for innocent victims.

I am a tired American who dislikes clergymen who have made a career out of integration causes, yet send their own children to private schools.

I am a tired American who resents those who try to peddle the belief in schools and colleges that capitalism is a dirty word and that free enterprise and private initiative are only synonyms for greed.

They say they hate capitalism, but they are always right at the head of the line demanding their share of the American way of life.

I am a tired American — real tired of those who are trying to sell me the belief that America is not the greatest nation in all the world — a generous hearted nation — a nation dedicated to the policy of trying to help the "have-nots" achieve some of the good things that our system of free enterprise brought about.

I am an American who gets a lump in his throat when he hears "The Star Spangled Banner" and who holds back tears when he hears those chilling high notes of the brass trumpets when Old Glory reaches the top of the flag pole.

I am a tired American who thanks a merciful Lord that he was so lucky to be born an American citizen — a nation under God, with truly mercy and justice for all.

Christmas Pageantry Starts This Week

Alive with the sounds of music was the freshmen assembly on Wednesday. A ceremony of carols was given by the chamber choir and concert choir. Thomas Lancaster conducted the singing of the English, German, and Latin Christmas carols.

Louise Hinkelbain, playing the chello, and Carolyn Murphy on the piano led the concert choir. This group of sixty-five closed the program with popular carol "I Wish You A Merry Christmas."

The chamber choir, composed of nine men and twelve women began the assembly with a procession. Barbara Shearer, contralto, sang a solo. Mrs. Tanks Kling, from Louisville, accompanied the group on her harp.

A devotional was delivered by Roger Simms, a junior from Harrodsburg. Dr. Andrew J. Broekema, Chairman of the Music Department, invited the students to come and participate in the other Christmas occasions on campus.

OVC TEAMS HIGH SCORING
With the opening of basketball season, the Ohio Valley Conference has shown a lot of scoring potential. Seven teams are averaging 86 points a game or better. Western is leading with 97 points while Eastern has the top defensive team allowing 63 points a game.

Eddie Bodkin is third in scoring with an average of 21 points and is second in field goal percentage with 59 percent. Bill Walton has a field goal percentage of 47.8.

Eddie Bodkin and Jerry Bisbey are tied for 14th in rebounding, each with 9.5 rebounds a game. Bodkin is also 13th in free throw percentage with 80 percent.

These statistics are for the first three games for most teams. Middle Tennessee, Western, Austin Peay, and East Tennessee are still unbeaten.

MAROONS PLAY UNPREDICTABLE MARSHALL

The Maroons will take on unpredictable Marshall University at Huntington, W.Va., tomorrow night. Marshall lost its opener to Morris-Harvey 84-83, but they should be ready for Eastern.

The Thundering Herd will start four sophomores and one senior, captain Tom Langfitt. Three of the starters for Marshall are from Kentucky, Bob Redd, George Stone and high scoring Orville Stepp.

Eastern holds the series edge over the Herd with 13 victories to 4 defeats. The Maroons defeated Marshall last year 94-66 and 94-92. The Herd compiled a four and 20 record last year, but have an undefeated freshman crop to replenish their forces.

INTRAMURAL PROGRAM EXPANDS

This year's intramural basketball program has expanded greatly over last year. Last year there were forty-eight teams in each league, now there are five leagues and sixty teams.

The growth in enrollment has also helped the growth in intramurals. Last year approximately 330 people participated in the basketball program. This year more than 400 individuals are expected to throw the ball at the hoop.

The table tennis tournament will be held Monday at 8:30 in the recreation room in Martin Hall.

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED AT EASTERN

The Dayton-Eastern basketball game, which was attended by more than 6,799, had a writer from Sports Illustrated in attendance.

Larry Van Hoose, who works from Lexington, covers most of the University of Kentucky basketball games and does most of the writing for this area.

Wrestlers Young But Experienced

The Eastern matmen open their season today with a match against the Knoxville-YMCA at Knoxville. Coach Tom Harper's Maroon grapplers hope to have another fine season. Last year the matmen posted an 8-2 record besides the fact that the team consists of all freshmen and sophomores, except for Mike McClellan, their greatest asset will be experience.

The grapplers have eight returning lettermen. They are led by sophomore Marty Willigan, who posted a 10-0 record last year, and junior Mike McClellan.

Other returning lettermen are Hollis Carroll, Randy Bird, Joe Howard, Henry Bivens, Charley Doll, and Pete Connala.

Newcomers of the squad include Larry House, Bob Morrison, Jim Holcomb, and Marty Wiesheir.

The grappler's schedule is as follows:

Dec. 10	Knoxville YMCA	A
Dec. 11	Maryville	A
Jan. 8	Morehead	H
Jan. 22	Hanover	A
Feb. 4	Morehead	A
Feb. 12	Marshall	A
Feb. 18	Milligan	H

'Mad' Maroons Journey To Marshall; Face Central Mo. Before Christmas

Eels Suffer First Defeat In 16 Meets

Eastern's Eels suffered their first defeat in 16 outings last Sat. at the University of Cincinnati pool when the Air Force Acad. swimmers tacked on a 51-44 loss in a dual meet.

High point men with 11 1/2 points each for Eastern, were sprinter Charlie Tandy and distance man Bill Walker. Tandy scored first in the fifty and 180 yard free-style events, and Walker tallied in the 200 yard and 500 yard free-style. Both of these Eels were members of the winning 400 yard relay, along with team captain Fred Bartlett and Rusty Shelby.

Rick Hill brought the Eels only other first in the 200 yard individual medley; but he suffered his first Collegiate defeat when he lost both 200 yard butterfly and the 200 yard breast stroke.

Eels Coach Donald Combs said, "If there is such a thing as trying too hard, then we're guilty and got caught. Our times went up as high as ten seconds for 200 yard. We looked at our times and can say nothing but that we are very much ashamed that we let them get away when we had them beaten in 4 different events."

Eastern's next plunge will be against Kenyon College on Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Alumni Coliseum pool. Kenyon is rated as strong as Air Force; so a hectic battle is shaping up for the Eels. Kenyon is the Ohio Athletic Conference Swimming Champs.

Walton Adds Two

Bill Walton drives past Dayton's Don May and Gene Klaus to give Eastern their last bucket. This made the score 70-69 in favor of Dayton. The final found Eastern on the short end 72-69.

Dayton Inflicts First Loss On Maroons

The highly ranked University of Dayton Flyers handed the Maroons their first defeat of the young season, 72-69, last Saturday night.

The loss, only the third ever suffered by Eastern on the Alumni Coliseum floor, snapped a fifteen game home court winning streak for coach Jim Baechtold's charges. The defeat avenged the Maroon's record at 1-1, it was the second in as many starts for Dayton.

All-American Henry Finkel led the Flyers with 26 points and 9 rebounds despite the fine defensive work of Eastern center John Carr and a sagging zone employed by the Maroons throughout most of the game.

For Eastern, All-American candidate Eddie Bookin again led all scorers with 19 points. This enabled Eddie to move into fourth place among Eastern's all-time scorers. He was followed in the scoring column by Bill Walton with 15, John Carr with 12, and Jerry Bisby with 11.

The crowd of 6700 witnessed what was probably one of the closest, most hard fought, games ever played at Alumni Coliseum. The score was tied twelve times and the lead changed hands ten times. Neither team was able to gain more than a 6 point advantage throughout the game. The Maroons held a 29-25 half time lead, behind the scoring of Walton and Bisby, who had 7 points apiece. Bodkin and Carr grabbed 7 rebounds each and Carr held Finkel to five points.

Shortly after the start of the second half the Maroons led by six points, their biggest lead of the game. Bodkin's jumper with 17:32 left made the score 38-32, Eastern. But the Flyers fought back, led mostly by the close in shooting by Glinder Torain. Eastern suffered a heavy loss during this span when Bisby accumulated his fourth foul and had to leave the game.

But the Maroons proved that they could come back too. Successive baskets by Carr, Bodkin and Doug Clemmons tied the score again. The teams battled on nearly even terms from this point. Eastern suffered another loss when Carr fouled out with eight minutes left. However, sophomore Garfield Smith came off the bench to score six points in the final eight minutes.

Smith's layup with 1:46 remaining put Eastern in the lead, 67-66. Then a controversial goal tending against Smith's block of a shot by Don May gave Dayton the lead again, at 68-67, the Flyers never again gave up the advantage.

After a missed free throw with 49 seconds left, Eastern had 3 rebounds shots at the

"A little more mad than hurt." Eastern's Maroons will try to push their early season mark to 2-1 tomorrow night as they face Marshall's Thundering Herd in Huntington.

Central Missouri's Mules face the Maroons in Alumni Coliseum next Thursday night, in Eastern's last game before Christmas break.

Not "down" on his charges after their 72-69 loss to 13th ranked Dayton Saturday night, Coach Jim Baechtold said the Maroons were "ready to play, and deserved to win, but didn't. Maybe they were a little too tight," he said, pointing to a 37.0 field goal percentage, well below their two-game average of 47.1.

"I am proud of them," Baechtold said, "They never let up and played excellent defense."

The coach cited a goal-tending call and inability to score on one occasion when the Maroons had three shots at the basket late in the game, as decisive factors.

Turning to Marshall, Baechtold considers the Herd, who lost its first game Saturday to Morris-Harvey, 84-83, as a "dangerous squad."

"They do not play with any regard to score, rebound position, or general floor arrangement," he said. "They just take the open shot when it presents itself, and they have a bunch of good shooters."

Marshall starts four sophomores — Kentuckians George Stone, Bob Redd, and Orville Stepp, and Bob Allen — and one senior, Tom Langfitt. Coach Ellis Johnson has four of last year's starters riding the bench behind the products of the "best-ever" Marshall freshman camp.

Insisting that the Maroons are a good shooting and scoring team regardless of the showing against Dayton, Baechtold says the squad is ready physically and mentally for the Marshall clash and should be "ready to roll."

Leading the Eastern scorers is 6-7 All-American candidate Eddie Bodkin with 21.0 points per game. Bodkin is hitting 58.3 percent of his shots, and averaging 9.5 rebounds through the Maroons' first two games.

He is followed by center John Carr, and guard Bill

Walton, both with 12.5 point averages. Carr is also chipping in with 8.5 rebounds.

Forward Jerry Bisbey rounds out Eastern double-figure scorers, with 11 points per game, and ties Bodkin with 9.5 rebounds per tilt. Fifth scorer is guard Doug Clemmons with 8.0 points per tilt.

As a team, the Maroons are averaging 85.0 points per game, hitting 47.1 percent, and are rebounding at a 48.5 clip. The opposition is averaging 83.0 points, 40.0 rebounds and is hitting 37.1.

Coach Jack Adam's Eastern freshman team, boasting a 106 ppg, and led by guard Bobby Washington's 28.5, will put its 2-0 mark on the line against Marshall's frosh in a preliminary tilt to the 8 p.m. EST varsity tipoff.

WE LIKE CORDUROY, TOO
 Corduroy is an old and popular fabric and useful for many purposes—usually the more rugged ones.
 What many people don't know, however, is that corduroy is really nothing more than cotton. That ribbed and piled effect is the result of a special weaving process.
 What does that mean? That corduroy, being cotton, has been treated like cotton. It is more susceptible to deep ingraining of soil than would be the case with wool. And in order to insure thorough and complete cleaning it has to be given that extra bit of handling.
 That we will do. Your corduroy will come out clean, fluffy, soft, and ready to use again, when you CALL OR BRING IT TO
