French Exhibit Is Planned

Veterans who served in the European theater! Please let us see the mementoes you brought back from France!

There will be an exhibit of French articles owned by Richmond residents and Eastern students at Walnut Hall Sunday afternoon, April 27, from three until six o'clock. There will not be any admission charge but voluntary contributions will go to the American Aid to France, Inc., for French relief.

American Aid to France, Inc., opened its campaign for $2,150,000 in November. At that time the national campaign chairman received the following telegram from General Dwight D. Eisenhower:

"When, as commander-in-chief of the Allied invasion armies, I informed the French forces of the interior through their leader, General Koenig that French cities must be bombed in order to destroy German communications, the reply of France was immediate. It is war," said General Koenig, and the bombs fell daily for nearly a year. Today, American Aid to France, Inc., is proposing a fitting tribute to these cities of France in which both France and this country will share. Community health and rehabilitation centers are planned for the eighteen most devastated areas in which soldiers of our two nations died in order that victory might be won. These centers will serve as practical and living memorials to them. They will also serve as tokens of lasting friendship to our great sister democracy in whose future we have such confidence. I hope the project will enjoy a complete success."

Since the opening of the campaign four rehabilitation centers have been established—at Tergnier, Coutances, Dunkerque and Corcieux and a fifth is now being prepared for terribly devastated Le Havre.

Denver, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New York, Minneapolis, Louisville and other cities throughout the nation are participating in this effort.

This is a typical report from the Bulletin of American Aid to France, Inc.:

"Rouen, the museum city of France, was one of the war's worst sufferers. Fired by the Germans in 1940, then bombed by the Allies, it counts among its

In referring to Mother's Day, Mrs. Barnhill said, "The millions of young American mothers should be the creative force in American life; not a model on which you hang outmoded ideas of the past, but the matrix from which the creative future will come."

Public Funds Must Be Increased For Colleges

Greatly increased public funds will be necessary to finance the ever-increasing enrollments at the college and university level is a conclusion arrived at by the Committee of Finance, Public Taxation of the National Conference on Higher Education, held in Chicago last week and sponsored by the Department of Higher Education of the National Education Association. Dr. W. J. Moore, dean of Eastern, was chairman of the committee.

The committee was of the opinion that the percentages derived from fees and philanthropy would decrease in the future, thus necessitating more reliance upon taxation. Federal aid was recommended for the institutions of higher education.

COACH TOM SAMUELS

Water Safety Program Conducted

Mr. George Reading, Red Cross field representative for the eastern area of Kentucky conducted water safety instructions throughout the week, Monday, April 21, to Friday, April 25, to aspiring Eastern water safety instructors.

The program was sponsored by the college unit of the Red Cross, directed by Ray Eisnagle, chairman of the Water Safety Council, and the Physical Training Department, directed by Mr. Hughes. It was operated in affiliation with the national Red Cross campaign.

Paul Love, Glenna Frisby, Dot Jansen, Nina Jo Lewis and Betsy Tandy ably assisted Mr. Reading with the instruction. The fifteen hour course continued nightly throughout the week and lasted three hours each night. Prerequisites for the course were Junior and Senior live-saving courses plus a fifteen hour preparatory course taught by Paul Love. At the completion of the course, the students were given instructors' certificates, entitling them to teach swimming, diving and life-saving.

The students were Jack Kerley, Lynn Nickel, Robert McHargue, Ralph Elliott, Russell Scaif, Chuck Mrazovich, Jack Stidham, Gwen Allen and Geraldine Ogden.

The theory for the present program at Eastern is that there will be a constant cycle of new instructors to replace the departing ones. Beginners in swimming will continue through the advanced courses until they can instruct beginners; advanced swimmers will go through life-saving courses and instructors' courses in order that they might teach life-saving as well as swimming. They each will be instructed and, in turn, instruct.

Annually, at this time of year, the national Red Cross sponsors the water safety campaign. The program cannot be overemphasized. The mortality rates from drowning are astounding, as is the percentage of non-swimmers in the nation. Most deaths from drowning could be prevented, and it is the goal of the Red Cross to teach the students at least enough about swimming for them to be able to remain above water until help comes.

Symphony Orchestra Will Present Concert May 6 in Hiram Brock Auditorium

The Cincinnati College of Music Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Walter Heerman, will present a concert in Hiram Brock Auditorium Tuesday, May 6, at 8 p. m. Heerman, conductor of the orchestra, is also first cellist in the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

Bette Lee Goetz, dramatic soprano to sing at the concert, was winner of the $1000 scholarship at the College of Music given by radio station WLW. This scholarship is given each year.

The orchestra has sixty-five members, most of them being artist pupils of the College of Music and a few from the Cincinnati Symphony.

There will be no admission charged for college students but the admission for others will be $1.10 and 55 cents.

The program to be presented is as follows:

Two Chorales by Bach: a. Come Thou Sweet Death, arranged by Walter Heerman; strings and harp. b. Jesu, Joy of Man's De-

Art Notes

Dr. Frederick P. Giles announces that the art section of the KEA was well attended. A very interesting reading on the subject of "The Approach to Art Education" was presented by Mr. Coffin, director of Cincinnati Art Academy. Following this reading by Dr. Coffin, a discussion was held with various members participating, under the chairmanship of Mr. Thomas Ertel, teacher of art in Holmes Junior High School, Covington, Ky. The art section of KEA met Friday, April 18, and the interest in this section seems to be growing.

Mr. Dord Fitz announces that the art work of the Harlan elementary school children, which has been on exhibition over in the Training School, has been taken down and will be exhibited in the high schools throughout Madison County.

Georgetown Choir To Give Concert

The Georgetown Chapel Choir will present a program at the First Baptist Church on Sunday, April 27, at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited and there will be no admission charge.

President W. F. O'Donnell of Eastern announced April 12 the resignation of Rome Rankin as head football coach and the appointment of Tom Samuels, line coach, as the new football mentor at Eastern, and Fred Darling as new line coach.

O'Donnell stated that Rankin wished to retire from coaching in order to enter more actively the field of physical education. "He is a great coach and the college owes him much for the fine leadership that he has given to our athletic program," President O'Donnell said.

Rankin came to Eastern in 1935 from New Boston, Ohio, where he had produced outstanding football teams as a high school coach. Since coming to Eastern he guided the destinies of the football and basketball teams. While at Eastern his football teams won 57 games, lost 23 and tied five. The greatest team Rankin turned out at Eastern was in 1940 when they won eight and lost none. His 1945-46 basketball aggregation won the KMAC tournament and went to the national tournament at Kansas City. The 1944-45 squad came in third at the Kansas City tourney.

Graduate Of Michigan
Tom Samuels, new football coach, is a native of Richmond and a graduate of the University of Michigan. While at Michigan he played tackle on the 1929, '30 and '31 teams, and the last two years was voted an All-Big Ten tackle. He came to Eastern directly from Michigan and assisted C. T. (Turkey) Hughes for two years prior to the arrival of Rankin. Samuels is married, has one child and lives on High Street here in Richmond.

Fred Darling, who replaces Samuels as line coach, graduated from Eastern in 1942. He played three years on the Maroon football teams and all three years was on the All-KIAC football squad. In 1941 he was honorable mention on the Little All-American football squad. He returned from service in January 1946 and assisted Samuels with the Maroon line last year while working on his Master's degree. He will teach in the physical education department as well as coach.

Samuels stated that spring football practice would start at Eastern Monday, April 21. Although the 1947 schedule has not been completed, Samuels said the schedule would probably include Western, Murray, Morehead, Louisville and Marshall College from Huntington, W. Va. The Marshall game will probably be played in Richmond October 4.

In addition, O'Donnell stated, that Eastern would hire a backfield coach, although no one has been selected several men are under consideration for the job.

Mrs. Case Attends State D. K. G. Meet

Mrs. Emma Y. Case, dean of women, attended the state meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary society for women in education, which was held at the Brown Hotel, Louisville, Saturday, April 19, and a dinner for the executive board meeting at the Puritan on Friday evening.

Mrs. Case, one of the founders of the society in Kentucky and president of Beta Chapter, presented the state founders and gave a brief history of the society in honor of its tenth birthday.

Dr. Margaret Stroh, national executive secretary, was the principal speaker. Miss Louise Wilson, College of Education, University of Kentucky, is president of the state organization.

EASTERN PROGRESS

AS WE SEE IT

FEDERALIZED EDUCATION?

Education, traditionally a state function, is currently under Washington scrutiny because of present teacher pay demands. At least nine senators and congressmen have written and introduced bills for federal education funds during the present session of congress. In an editorial, Collier's sees federal aid as the answer to the present teacher shortage.

Here is evidence indicative of another entrance into state matters by the federal government. Advocates of state sovereignty point to the evils of bureaucratic government, top-heavy government and government by remote control as pitfalls of centralization.

Without arguing one way or another on the much-debated state's rights issue, it's a fact that a democratic nation must possess a good school system if it is to perpetuate itself.

At present such a system is the responsibility of the states. Should the states fail to "clean their own houses" with respect to the apathy over teachers' salaries, it's a good bet that the federal government, by popular demand, will step in and take over in the field of education. (Daily Athenaeum)

YANKEE FOOLERY

The flag recently flew with a southern accent over the University of Wyoming campus. As breakfast-bound students wended their way toward the Union at 8 a. m., they were greeted by the colors of the Confederacy flying high from the flag pole on Prexy's pasture. Whether it was in honor of the new coach who hails from the south, or not, the Branding Iron staff has been unable to determine. However, the paper announced that if there are any able-bodied individuals who want to reenlist, Union headquarters are being established in the student union.

POPGUN WARFARE

Creation of man-made snow by dropping dry-ice pellets into clouds recently caused a furor in meteorological circles. Now the same scientists who discovered the dry-ice treatment have announced that the discharge of air from a child's popgun will have the same effect on super-cooled fog or clouds.

We can imagine how this will revolutionize the popgun industry. Popguns will be classified top-secret, along with atomic bomb; and the Florida and California chambers of commerce will not doubt stage an armaments race, culminating in sneak attacks by popgun-equipped secret agents, who will attempt to precipitate snow out of the fog and clouds over enemy cities.

In the end an armed truce will probably be reached, with the outlawing of the deadlier snow-makers, which be known as one, two, or three-blizzard weapons. (Daily Trojan)

MAROONED

With ED CASEBOLT

"This hydro-carbon series gives you ethylene, butylene, propylene, and," said the chem prof turning to write several symbols on the board, "what will this give you?"

From the front row: "That'll give you Darlene; that's her phone number."

When a student at a western college was asked how he was going to dress for the Mardi Gras, he gave with the meek reply, "I had thought of going as a yardstick, but I don't go to dances as a rule."

The Daily Kansan tells about the latest in fishing: A mechanical fisherman that trolls the line, plays the fish after it's hooked, pulls it in, and swing it aboard. A world so mechanized, say the editors, as to take the joy out of fishing should welcome the atomic bomb.

"Men," the co-ed declared contemptuously, "are absolutely lacking in judgment and taste."

"Possibly, my dear," he responded, "but just think how many old maids there would be if they were not."

Professor: Tell me all you know about nitrates. Student: Well, er—they're a lot cheaper than day-rates.

A lad taking his marketing final came across the question: "What is Regulation W?" A fer a tough struggle with the processes of his mind, something snapped and he wrote: "Regulation W is that regulation which states that all WAC's must be in their quarters by midnight."

A Look magazine photographer had little trouble substantiating his belief that all the pretty girls in Los Angeles are not in the movies. He found much uncontracted movie material on the Southern California campus, but as he loaded his camera backward for the third time, he confessed, "All these beautiful girls make me so nervous."

Baseball helped to cement the "Rebels" and the "Yankees" into a nation following the Civil War! In that era, touring baseball teams visited the South and history reveals that is the reason baseball is called the "national sport."

But this was all before Abner Doubleday, a lad from Coopers-town, New York, worked out baseball's predecessor, "One Old Cat," with a base, a ball, and a bat. It was the centuries' outgrowth of people playing with spheres.

The first organized baseball was played in early 1845. Interests in the game increased until the Civil War, when all the players donned uniforms. Naturally baseball began to be played in training camps. Later the roving teams developed sportmanship ties between the Yanks and the Southerners.

Kansas University's Copper Calhoun will be chosen as Jayhawker queen by the creator of Steve Canyon, himself.

"I have your letter and on behalf of Steve Canyon, I am pleased to accept the delightful task of judging the beauty section of the spring issue of the 1947 Jayhawker," Milton Caniff, cartoonist wrote Dean Ostrum, Jayhawker editor.

Mr. Caniff will draw a cartoon of Canyon congratulating K. U.'s Copper Calhoun.

An estimated 60,000 up-state New York ex-servicemen will soon be provided with mobile mental hygiene facilities, according to an announcement recently by George F. Havell, regional manager of the Veterans Administration in Syracuse.

This mobile service is organized in order to provide psychiatric care for ex-GI's in more than 35 up-state New York communities. Mr. Havell explained that the service provided by the mobile units will be available only to veterans with service-connected mental ailments as determined by VA mental hygiene clinics.

Even AP picked up the story about "Tiger Claws," the University of Missouri pep squad, which was all set to present Prof. Jesse Wrench a sweater in appreciation of his efforts in founding the organization.

Between halves of a basketball game the squad turned out in full; the loud speaker announced the impending ceremony and the fans sat back. There it ended.

One point had been overlooked. Someone had forgotten to get a ticket for the professor, so he could enter the over-crowded fieldhouse.

Rhythm Ripples

By DOT HURT

Jerome Kern's music is given a straight-from-the-shoulder zip-through by Capitol Artists in their new album. Everyone on the west coast company's call-list got a summons for the sessions that produced it. There's music by the King Cole Trio, Paul Weston, Dave Barbour and singing by Johnny Mercer, Martha Tilton, Peggy Lee and Margaret Whiting. There are other albums out in connection with Kern's life in the film "Till the Clouds Roll By," but this is probably the one you will want to take home and keep. I especially liked the Mercer-Tilton duet in A FINE ROMANCE, and Peggy Lee's vocalization with temptation in SHE DIDN'T SAY YES.

For Black and White, the novelty hit of the season is undoubtedly OPEN THE DOOR, RICHARD (Jack McVea's All Stars) and I guarantee it won't be open by the time you read this, although it will have been played enough times to blast down the walls of Jericho. Other firms (Columbia's Three Flames and National's Dusty Fletcher) are contributing to this confusion by bringing out their readings of Richard's classic of inverted claustrophobia.

"Woodchoppers" is the tag Mr. Woodrow Wilson Herman uses for his small combination. They're to be heard on eight sides in a Columbia album that preserves some of the better woodwork of Herman's lumberjacks.

Branching out from the wood-chopper's tree is sideman Flip Phillips' Flippet, which records for Signature. Their latest is STOMPIN' AT THE SAVOY with a mellow MELODY FROM THE SKY on the other side. Flip plays a tenor sax and uses about the same instrumentation as Herman's little band, but with different personnel. Common to both groups, however, are Chubby Jackson's bass and the slick trombone of Bill Harris.

Art Hodes is back with his Backroom Boys on two Blue Note records. M. K. BLUES features Max Kaminsky's incisive trumpet, while LOWDOWN BLUES is built around Sandy Williams' trombone.

There's pretty good picking through the rest of the wax quota allotted to small bands. For Decca, the Mooney Quartet makes a formal bow with SEPTEMBER SONG and JUST A GIGOLE and Lionel Hampton's septet sets the right mood for the selection, BLOWTOP BLUES.

For Sonora, Eddie Barefield's Quintet gives us plenty of the leader's clarinet in AFTER HOURS and THAT AIN'T RIGHT. For Keynote, Joe Thomas and his orchestra have made a fresh run-through of Duke Ellington's BLACK BUTTERFLY. An album of "Piano Contrasts" played by Bernie Leighton with rhythmic accompanment from a quartet rounds out Keynote's entries. The bassman in the album, Trigger Alpert, also comes up thumping on a Majestic quartet record, GUILTY and TRIGGER FANTASY, by the Tony Motola Four. With the big inventory of trios, quartets, quintets, septets, and octets, it's a wonder there's been no nonet—at least, none yet!

CHAPLAINS SERVE VETS IN ALL VA HOSPITALS

Twenty full-time and five part-time chaplains provide spiritual advice and guidance for more than 9,000 veterans who are confined to the nine Veterans Administration hospitals in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

The VA Chaplaincy Service, established in 1942 upon suggestion of the Federal Council of Churches now has 268 full-time chaplains, representing 27 denominations, under the directorship of Chaplain Crawford W. Brown, of Washington, D. C. Chaplain Edward J. Kroencke is chief of the service for the VA's tri-state branch office in Columbus, Ohio.

The services of VA chaplains are available to hospitalized veterans through personal contacts, regular chapel devotions and ward visitations. The chaplains' duties are concerned with baptism, marriages and funerals. They also assist patients and families through personal consultations.

ODDS AND ENDS

By JOHN MAYHALL

Vacations are finally over and these next few weeks left in school should be used in serious studying (at least the faculty hopes so). Well, we hope everyone had a fine time as did your columnist.

A traveling man on his regular route stopped overnight frequently at a certain small town and, as there was nothing to do in the evening, fell into the habit of attending the usual gathering around the grocery store stove.

There was one old man who had quite a reputation as a gunner and the salesman got to know him well. After an absence of some time, the salesman finally made his town again and as usual went to the store for the evening. The old man was there and this question, naturally, was asked:

"How is the gunning this fall, Uncle?" The old man shook his head in a dismal sort of way and answered: "Not very good, but I did have a little luck the other day. I took the old gun out, and saw a fox lying beside a rock. I pulled up the gun to fire and I'll be blamed if another fox didn't come out and lie down on the other side of the rock. I fired at the sharp edge of the rock, the bullet split and killed both foxes."

"The gun kicked so that it knocked me over into a brook that was behind me, and my right hand landed on a muskrat and my left on a beaver."

"When I got out of the water my trousers were so full of brook trout that they burst a suspender button and it flew and killed a partridge."

He: "Do you believe in platonic love?" She: "Well, I wouldn't mind trying it as a starter."

He: "Darling, am I the first man you ever loved?" She: "Yes, darling, all the others were Easternites."

"Who's the girl with the Spanish heels?" "Those aren't heels—they're darn nice fellows."

Wayne, who is a bashful student, had been keeping steady company with a fair young co-ed for nearly three years. Times were hard and the continued reduction in his spending allowance was much too well reflected in the economies he had to practice when dating. One evening he said to his girl friend:

"Jackie, you know I've always relied on you, and may I—that is—would you—er—can you—ah—Jackie, will you marry me?" "Oh," Jackie sighed with apparent relief. "You certainly gave me a fright. I thought you wanted to borrow some money."

Housemother: "Joan, what are you doing out there?" Joan: "I'm looking at the moon." Housemother: "Well, tell the moon to go home, and come in off the porch. It's past eleven o'clock."

Prof: "Young man, are you the teacher of this class?" Jack: "No, sir." Prof: "Then don't talk like an idiot."

It is easy for a smart girl to hook a man. All she has to do is to let him talk about himself and his personal affairs and appear to be deeply interested. Then the boob gets the idea that she is going to spend the rest of her life listening to him and appreciating him and he takes the high dive into matrimony.

You can avoid a lot of sorrow if you'll work today and worry tomorrow.

"Kissing doesn't raise the blood pressure appreciably," declares a physician. He has our profound sympathy, in that manifestly he has never kissed a blond.

The person who talks too much usually does too little.

A young woman called a policeman because a man tried to flirt with her. Lucky chap! She might have called a clergyman.

VOX VETERANI

By AL CROWE

Much has happened since this column last went to press. In stride with the changes in the Veterans' Club, this column has acquired a new author. I sincerely hope I shall be able to meet the standards Allan White has set, and I wish to take time out to say that I believe he deserves a large bouquet for the splendid job he has done for the Veterans' Club and for this column.

The officers for the club have remained much the same. Jim Logsdon and Ida Teater were given votes of confidence and remained president and secretary, respectively. Paul Bunton was named vice president and Virginia Blackburn became the club's new treasurer.

The presence of Congressman Meade on the campus a couple of weeks ago has kept everyone speculating as to the outcome of his visit. It is the general consensus of opinion that his program has not gained the support it should have. As Kentucky was the only state inspected, much hinged on what Congressman Meade found at Eastern. Veterans do need more money and I'm sure that there isn't a veteran who isn't giving his moral support to the program for a raise in salary. Yet, only a fraction of the school's veterans discussed the problem with Congress-

"Section 1, Article VII, which now reads: 'The Executive Committee shall consist of the following officers of this Association: President, First Vice President, and Second Vice President. The Secretary-Treasurer shall be ex officio Secretary-Treasurer of the Executive Committee,' shall read:

"Amendment IV to take the place of Section 1 of Article VII: The Executive Committee shall consist of the following officers of this Association: President, First Vice President of this Association; the President, First Vice President and Second Vice President of this Association for the previous year, and one member of this Association appointed by the President of the Association for a one-year term. Minister in Erlanger Performs Magic To Put Over Sermons
By Terry Flynn
(In Courier-Journal)

Covington, Ky.—There's a minister in neighboring Erlanger who practices deception from the pulpit, and to good advantage, he said.

The minister, the Rev. William E. Garriott, is an amateur magician.

"Magic is nothing more than deception," said the 38-year-old minister, "and that's what I practice, but to a worthy end."

And with that Mr. Garriott extracted a tennis ball from our ear. In the living room of his residence, the young clergyman demonstrated one of the many sleight-of-hand tricks he uses in the pulpit. He held up a paper napkin.

"The napkin represents the life of an individual," he said. "This person's life is racked with sin." He tore the napkin to shreds and wadded it into a ball.

The Methodist minister then picked a Bible from the table and waved it over the wadded paper. "But that life is not lost," he continued. "God has told us our sins are forgiven if we only ask Him."

The minister-magician opened the wad of paper and it was a full-size napkin, with not a tear in it.

"I feel that these so-called works of magic help bring home to my listeners the real meaning of my words," Mr. Garriott said.

He said he saw Thurston perform "years ago when I was a little boy and I got a hankering for magic."

"I did a lot of practicing," he said, "and after several years I was able to perform pretty well."

After he joined the ministry 14 years ago Mr. Garriott made a practice of entertaining friends with magic.

"Seven or eight years ago," he said, "I decided that sleight-of-hand tricks would be suitable to illustrate my sermons and I've been using them ever since."

"My father is a Methodist pastor at Prestonsburg, Ky.," Mr. Garriott said. "When I told him I was going to use magic in the pulpit, he said 'I wouldn't fool around with that stuff, son.'"

"But when he witnessed one of my sleight-of-hand sermons he invited me to come down to his church. So I guess that makes me O. K."

Mrs. Garriott is the former Miss Ida Helen Belue of Richmond, class of 1933.

loses 9,500 homes, shops, factories, churches, schools public buildings, railroad terminal and yards and priceless monuments. Its age-old cathedral, in its ruin, stands out unforgettably in the minds of many American G.I's. 39,190 of Rouen's citizens were wholly or partially bombed out, and 32,000 are now homeless. Its architects are working on plans for its restoration, but much needs to be done for the welfare of its citizens.

"To date, American Aid to France, Inc.'s major contribution to Rouen has been the gift of millions of units of penicillin. But Detroit has taken up the cause of Rouen and its campaign will be for a center to administer to Rouen's citizens' health and welfare. From it the much-needed clothing, bedding and other supplies will be distributed; in it will be worked out a program of preventive medicine, hygiene and educational projects.

"While its architects try to make Rouen again the 'museum city' in outward appearance, AATF's center will strive to make it a 'museum city' in physical well-being."

Richmond and Eastern want to participate in this effort. Please send a list of your souvenirs to Mrs. Murbach, Arts Building 15 or 336 West Main Street by Saturday, April 26, and then come to the exhibit on Sunday. There will be beautiful things, quaint things, and unusual things to see.

The Sporting Thing

By JACK TALBOT

Although a little late in getting started, 46 prospective candidates for the 1947 edition of the Eastern Maroon football team have started spring practice under new head coach, Tom Samuels.

Samuels issued the call for practice Monday to look over any new men and take some of the winter fat off members of last year's aggregation. Of the 46 men who have turned out 25 are members of last year's team, and from all indications several more should be on hand before the opening kickoff next fall.

For the past week the boys have been taking calisthenics under line coach Fred Darling to loosen up muscles and shake out the winter kinks. No contact work has been done yet, but in all probability a few scrimmages will be held.

The 1947 season will find the Maroons taking on one of the toughest schedules ever attempted by an Eastern team. Instead of the usual eight games the Maroons will play nine this year, four at home and five away.

New Regime

The coming season will find Eastern under a new regime, for the first time in 12 years. Tom Samuels, new head football mentor, and Fred Darling, new head line coach, have taken over following the resignation of Rome Rankin, who will go to the University of Maine as physical education professor. It will be the first time Samuels has been head coach, as he tutored the Eastern line from the time he graduated from Michigan until the resignation of Rankin. Darling will also be a first-time, although he did assist with the Maroon forward wall last season. Still hanging-fire is the question who will be head backfield coach, several men are under consideration but no one has been selected as yet.

Members of last year's team out for spring practice are Joe Yanity, Joe Hollingsworth, Lou Laposki, Al Clark, Claude Dozier, Mark Lohr, Emerson Warf, Ted Miller, Charles McCollum, Jack Cottengin, Leonard Manley, Jack Ley, Harry Grimme, Leland Arnold, Joe Dove, Proctor Stapleton, Bill Aiken, Frank Siphers, Earl Gibson and Paul Wright.

Other holdovers from last year's team who will cavort next fall but are new out for other spring sports are Pete Nonnemacher, Paul Moore, Delmas Freeman, Ward Daugherty and Dick Scherrbaum.

The 1947 schedule:
 Sept. 27—East Illinois, there.
 Oct. 4—Marshall, here.
 Oct. 10—Murray, there.
 Oct. 18—Emory & Henry, here.
 Oct. 25—Valparaiso, there.
 Nov. 1—Morehead, here.
 Nov. 8—U. of L., there.
 Nov. 15—Western, here.
 Nov. 22—Southwestern Louisiana, there (tentative).

Maroons Cop First Three Ball Games

Eastern 13, Union 0

The first game of the year was one of perfection for the Eastern Maroons as they defeated Union, 13-0.

Union was held to no hits by four Eastern pitchers. Ray Giltner opened up and struck out nine Union men in his three innings of duty. Luther Wren replaced Giltner in the fourth and six omre Union men went down swinging before Ben Sanders took over in the seventh. Jack Paddy placed the final touches on Eastern's perfect day as he retired the only three men to face him in the final frame and give Eastern their first victory a no-hit, no-run game.

Scherrbaum, Freeman and Ley handled the catching duties for the Maroons. Box Oxendine was the losing pitcher.

Eastern 6, Western 0

Bill DeVenio faced 31 batters and allowed but three scattered singles as Eastern chalked up its second consecutive shutout victory of the season in defeating Western, 6-0.

Nelson displayed a lot of power at the plate as he hit safely in three out of four trips.

Eastern took an early lead in the second inning as Cinnamon scored for the Maroons. After Wren and Nelson added two more in the third the game was never in danger.

DeVenio, who was the master throughout, walked only two Western players.

Redman was the losing pitcher for the Hilltoppers and was touched for twelve hits by the rampaging Maroons.

Eastern 13, Cumberland 3

Eastern made it number three in a row as Coach "Turkey" Hughes and his Eastern Maroons traveled to Cumberland College and returned with a 13-3 victory.

Cumberland received its first hit off Ray Giltner in the seventh inning when Mouney hit to center-field. Giltner was never in trouble and allowed but four hits as he went all the way for the Maroons.

Pete Nonnemacher scored the first two Eastern runs as he hit safely in two out of three attempts.

Evans was the losing pitcher as the Maroons swung freely for 15 hits.
