Dr. Donovan Speaks in Terre Haute, Ind.

President H. L. Donovan, of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, spoke at the Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, Ind., recently, at the inauguration of the new president of the college, Dr. Ralph N. Tiley. "Teacher Education for the New Age" was the subject of Dr. Donovan's address.

Dr. Donovan is also president of the American Association of Teachers Colleges and was the official representative of that organization at the inauguration ceremony. Vice President George C. Cole was inducted into office at the same time.

Says Federal Aid Is Certain

By ROY "JOSH" COSBY
Federal aid for education virtually became a certainty this week as President Roosevelt, Harry L. Hopkins, Commissioner Zook, and Dr. James H. Richmond got their heads together. These gentlemen agreed that there must be something done about the educational situation. So there is no use of burning the school house down just yet.

The emergency aid will probably not come from direct legislation but most likely will be added to the general relief appropriation and allocated to the various fields of education, by Mr. Hopkins and his advisors. The amount will probably be about (?) $80,000,000 (?). An estimate of the needs for the schools was quite a bit more than the above figures but there should be rejoicing in pedagogical camps if this much is given.

Instead of burning the school house, paint it and you should register with the placement bureau. (As Dr. Kennamer told you to do) or borrow the money to come back to school on. The future for education looks much brighter.

300 PRESENT AT BREAKFAST

Gathering of Easternites at K. E. A. Said to Be Highly Successful

SHORT RESPONSES GIVEN

Pronounced by Dr. H. L. Donovan as being one of the most successful gatherings that Eastern delegates at the K. E. A. have ever had, the Eastern Breakfast, held Friday morning, April 20, on the Roof Garden of the Brown, drew nearly 300.

With no program listed, the breakfast was an informal "get-together," at which brief responses were given by various graduates listed among Eastern's outstanding alumni.

Dr. Donovan, who presided, concluded the breakfast with a short, extemporaneous address on the crisis facing education and relief in Kentucky, in which he made the statement that Kentucky should not be forced to pass the hat. The president asserted that, unless a special session of the Kentucky legislature were called in the near future and that unless adequate revenue for maintenance is provided, practically every school and relief agency in the state will have to cease its functions July 1.

Included among the alumni who responded at the breakfast were the following: W. Gayle Starns, president of the Alumni Association; Judson Harmon, representative from McCree county; J. G. Mulligan, Millersburg; Lewis Clifton, director of the placement bureau, University of Kentucky; Charles Pettit, judge, Grant county; Miss Elizabeth Bertram, Ashland; Dr. A. B. Crawford, Lexington; Robert Salyers, secretary of Kentucky Educational Commission; Miss Ora Adams, Harrodsburg; Garvice Kincaid, law student, University of Kentucky; Miss Shiela Johnson, Ft. Thomas, and J. A. Payne, superintendent, Harrison county schools.

In addition, Dr. W. C. Jones, recently appointed dean of Eastern, gave a brief talk as well as did Dr. Charles A. Keith, dean of men at Eastern.

He has also received honorary degrees from several universities.

He is noted widely as an educator, lecturer, and minister, who has attained national prominence thru his keen insight in world problems. He was a member of the American Delegation to Russia in 1926, and of the Japanese Education Commission in 1932. He has been president of DePauw since 1928.

He is author of several books, most of which deal with religious and social problems. He held the chair of Practical Theology and City Church at Boston University before coming to DePauw.

MILESTONE TO BE OFF PRESS ON MAY 7-14

Student Card Must Be Shown in Order to Get Book, Says Editor

DEDICATED KENAMER

The proof has been returned to the printer and the 1934 Milestone, which is dedicated to Dr. L. G. Kennamer, head of the department of geology and geography and sponsor of the senior class, will appear on the campus between May 7 and 14, J. D. Turley, editor, told the Progress today.

Books will be distributed from the office in Roark building, Turley said. Each student who registered at the beginning of the second semester in February and who has his subscription for the book attached to his incidental payment as stamped on his student card will be asked to present that card before he may secure his copy.

The editor stated that no books can be issued until the students comply with this regulation. The books have been carefully checked and only by presentation of the student card, which is an official receipt, will one be issued.

Containing 152 pages rather than 128 as planned originally, the Milestone will have several new features this year such as a sixteen-page view section in colors, a six-page snap shot section, and a directory of every student enrolled at Eastern.

About 1,200 books are being printed, the editor informed the Progress, the majority of which have been subscribed by the students.

PASSION PLAY DRAWS CROWD

Approximately 2,800 Witness Presentation of Sacred Drama in Hiram Brock

ROTARY CLUB SPONSOR

Approximately 2,800 witnessed the presentation of the "Passion Play," by the Freiburg Players, who were brought to Hiram Brock auditorium for matinee and evening performances Wednesday, April 25, by the Rotary Club of Richmond. A percentage of the proceeds from the play was given to further the work among crippled children.

Completely packing the house in the matinee performance, the drama drew large numbers of school children from the districts of Madison county and college students from Eastern, who entered on the special student admission rate provided by the Rotary Club.

Assisting in the presentation of the drama, were numerous students from Eastern's student body who took part in the mob scenes, Mr. James E. Van Peursem, head of the department of music at Eastern, who directed the members of the local church choir which furnished music for the chorus, and Miss Jane Campbell, music department, who was accompanist.

The version of the play was arranged by Dr. Alfred Wolff, formerly of Freiburg, Germany, who also played the part of Judas. The Christus was played by Lorenz Ludwig. In all, the company producing the play contained 29 people, 15 of which were in the cast.

Van Peursem Goes To Convention

Mr. James E. Van Peursem, head of the Eastern department of music, was a delegate to the recent convention of musical supervisors held in Hotel Stephens, Chicago, at which over 4,600 instructors were in attendance, according to information given the Progress last week.

Concerts were given each night of the meeting by the large high schools of Chicago and vicinity. It was observed, the Progress was told, that young men seemed to be taking more active part in orchestral work there than were girls. One orchestra was composed of 250 instruments, all of which were played by boys.

Also, it was noticed that boys took large parts in the choruses of these high schools and one of the choruses composed of 1,000 voices was chiefly organized around male voices.

The music supervisors at the convention met daily for two hours' practice, while the chorus in which Mr. Van Peursem participated broadcast during the convention over an NBC program.

PROGRESS BE REPRESENTED AT N. C. P. A.

Editor May Attend National Convention of College Journalists at U. of K.

THREE DAYS MEETING

The Eastern Progress may be represented at the annual convention of the National College Press Association which is being held this week-end at the University of Kentucky, it was learned reliably today.

"Faculty Supervision of College Publications," and "College Advertising," are the two topics chosen or the theme of discussion at the convention, according to a story released in the Kentucky Kernel.

Prof. Victor R. Portman, chairman of the board of directors of the N. C. P. A., will be general chairman of the convention and will arrange the program, assisted by Niel Plummer, instructor in the department of journalism.

The convention began yesterday with registration and a smoker. Today's meetings were to be given over to discussion groups of the organizations and a dinner dance this evening. Tomorrow morning will be occupied with the business meeting of the association and the election of officers for the coming year. After this meeting the delegates will go to Louisville to attend the Kentucky Derby.

Albert W. Crumbaugh, editor, who will be the representative of the Progress, planned to leave for the convention last night or early this morning.

Michelson Is New Canterbury Head

Donald Michelson, Springfield, was elected to head the Canterbury club next year with Exile May Skaggs, vice-president, and Fay White, secretary, in a dinner meeting held in the recreation room of Burnam Hall Tuesday night.

Plans were laid for the next regular meeting of the club which will be given over to a program of two one-act plays, written by members. The tragedy to be enacted was written by Bob Keene, while the comedy was written by Donald Michelson and Mary Ann Patton. In addition, a picnic for the club members is also being planned.

RABBI SPEAKS AT ASSEMBLY

Louisville Jewish Temple Head is Heard at Eastern Chapel

NEW GERMANY IS TOPIC

"Democracy is a decadent form of government, a failure, a government of weaklings, and leads to ruin, according to the authorities of the new German government," said Dr. Joseph Rauch, rabbi of Temple Adath Israel, Louisville, in an address at Eastern Teachers College Wednesday morning, April 25, at the assembly hour. His subject was "The New Germany, a Peril to Democracy."

People are considered little better than slaves who need masters, Dr. Rauch said, and pointed out that this theory would lead to a regime of aggressive terrorism. Unemployment in Germany are attributed to the fact that Jews have held positions in the country which others might have held, and yet, Dr. Rauch declared, if the entire Jewish population of 600,000 were employed there would be 9 or 10 million Germans still unemployed.

"I sometimes wonder what Germany would have been had it not been for my people," Rabbi Rauch said, calling attention to the accomplishments of the Jews in art, literature, music, science, and other fields. By prohibiting anything of Jewish origin or development, the Germans prohibit the use of insulin, the tuberculin test and treatments for many diseases, he declared, as well as the New Testament and even God.

"If Jesus of Nazareth appeared in Germany today He would be an outcast because He too happened to be a Jew," said Dr. Rauch. "The same would be true of Joseph and Mary and others we have been taught to love and honor.

"Jews are denied the right to earn their living and are considered outcasts. The same policy is being applied to anyone who happens to have the opinion and has the courage to express the opinion that the highest purpose in life is not destruction, but that peace is infinitely more to be desired than war.

"Loving Germany, and loving Germans, I love the country with an intense hope that she will yet make herself true to her great traditions and that she will again be worthy of our love and respect," said Dr. Rauch.

June Graduating Class Is Listed

The list of seniors expecting to participate in the June commencement exercises were announced this week by Mr. M. E. Mattox, registrar, and the names have been posted upon the various bulletin boards over the campus.

It was requested that, in the case of any omissions, such omissions would be brought immediately to the mind of the registrar in order that the proper corrections might be made.

In all, the list of graduates this spring includes 85 seniors, out of a class of approximately 128. A large number will take part in the August commencement.

WILL HONOR MISS MILLER IN CEREMONY

Enthusiasm High As Annual Dance Date Draws Near

WILL BE HELD MAY-11

By GIBSON PRATHER
If campus enthusiasm may be used as a standard by which a future event may be judged, the Junior Prom this year promises to be the most brilliant social event ever seen at Eastern. The dance, which will climax the Eastern social season, will be held May 11, in the small gymnasium.

Presiding over the affair as queen will be Miss Shirley Miller, 19 year old Mount Vernon beauty, who was elected to this office in a recent class election. She will be crowned by Miss Mary Elston, last year's queen, and winner of this year's Miss Eastern contest. The program for the coronation ceremony is in charge of Mrs. Barnhill, faculty class sponsor.

The music for the Prom will be provided by Andy Anderson and his orchestra, of Lexington. Mr. Anderson's band is composed of eleven musicians, and has achieved wide-spread popularity throughout the state. He has played for more dances at the University of Kentucky than any other band leader. He has gained great popularity for his arrangements of music in the Fred Waring style. According to those students who have heard him, he is sure to be a great success here.

Mr. Anderson himself is a star basketball player at the University of Kentucky, having played guard on the varsity crew there last year. Before entering the university, he was an all-state man at Holmes High school, Covington, Ky. He has been directing his present orchestra for the past two years and has rapidly developed into one of the leading maestros in the state. He has broadcast over WHAS and WCKY, and has played for many dances in central Kentucky. This will be his first appearance in Richmond.

The decorations for the gym had not been decided at the time of this writing, but it was thought probably that a false ceiling of crepe paper would be put up. With the lights shining through and casting a colored glow over the gym, and with balloons floating up against the ceiling, the effect would be beautiful as well as pretentious.

Accompanying Miss Miller at her coronation will be Claybourne Stephens, junior class president. Her attendants will be Miss Dorothy Tyng, Richmond, and Miss Evadean Squires, Whitesburg, who were runners up in the election for queen. After the ball is over, Miss Miller, according to campus tradition, will write her name inside of the crown, and will put it away to await the next queen.

Should We Pass the Hat?

Dr. Donovan in speaking to the group of Eastern people assembled for an Eastern breakfast on the Roof Garden of the Brown hotel made the statement that Kentucky should not be forced to pass the hat.

Referring to the critical plight of Kentucky's schools and relief agencies caused by the lack of action in their behalf at the recent meeting of the legislature, Eastern's president aroused his hearers to the fact that, unless a special session takes specific action, the vital agencies of Kentucky's government will be forced to cease their activities on July 1, and Kentucky will either be left without the services of these agencies for the next fiscal year, or it will be forced to beg for the support of them.

Dr. Donovan presented his facts clearly when he implied that there is no need whatsoever for Kentucky to be classified as a pauper state. It is evident that there is within the state sufficient wealth that it should not have to "pass the hat." But, the lamentable situation is that those charged with the passage of vital legislation are and have been concerned more with factional discussions and selfish political motives than with seeking the public welfare.

Whatever may have been the actual background for the existence of the present crisis, it is certainly to be hoped that the tables will be cleared for constructive work during the special session, whenever it is called. It is to be hoped that the stench which arose after the regular session will have passed into oblivion and that partisan deadlocks may give way to sound reasoning and harmonious attainment, based with consideration for those whom the legislators are serving.

And, although the job which the legislature has before it at the special session seems to be understandable enough, public-spirited members of this institution can remember that only by continuously impressing the legislators with the job at hand will the desired action be had and will the Commonwealth be saved for those who are to follow afterward.

A Gratifying Observation

As a sort of dispute to the conception that Eastern students are disinterested in highly classical and highly enlightening programs that from time to time have been brought to Hiram Brock auditorium, we were gratified when we observed the extremely large number of students in attendance at the recent presentation of the "Passion Play," by the Freiburg Players, brought to Richmond under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

We cannot help believing that Eastern's student body fully realized the opportunity which was theirs. That they took advantage of such an opportunity was clearly shown by the support given the Rotary Club thru the purchase of over 600 student tickets on the campus. The students are to be commended for the attitude and appreciation shown; and we are sure that the Rotary Club made no mistake in providing them with a reasonable rate of admission for the matinee performance.

Brought here as a means toward financing a worthy cause, that of aiding cripple children, the Freiburg Players gave a performance of intrinsic splendor—one long to be remembered in this community. Eastern was fortunate indeed in having the play booked on its campus. For those students who missed the play, we know that they missed an experience vital to their lives. But for those who saw it and comprehended its significance, appreciated its fullness, there can be no regret.

We were delighted also with the way in which the play packed the auditorium both for the afternoon and for the evening performances. Richmond did not have to be awakened nor coaxed into attendance, nor did the people of Madison county, while the campus was honored with the presence of large numbers of school children from many of the graded and high school districts of the county who swelled the audience to even greater proportions.

The K. E. A. and the Sales Tax

In going on record favoring a sales levy by voting in the delegate assembly at its recent convention a resolution favoring the passage of sales and income levy, the Kentucky Education Association broke a long-time precedent and entered the field of Kentucky politics.

Naturally criticism has been hurled at the educators for their action. The sales tax measure is extremely unpopular with a large number of Kentuckians and anti-Administrationists. Regardless of what merits such a levy might possess, its advocacy by the K. E. A. might have been expected to bring to that organization a certain amount of rebuff.

But, if we are to look at the situation from the angle that there was little else for the organization of Kentucky teachers to do in order to save the schools from the impending crisis that faced them on July 1, it is not so difficult to understand why the K. E. A. took the stand which it did. Obviously there was some dissension among the members of the K. E. A. assembly. All did not favor the action which was voted. Yet, the opinion has been expressed here that, had there been a better course open to the K. E. A., it most certainly would have sought that course.

Contrary to some opinion, although we were led to believe that the K. E. A. fell victim to the intrigue of a clever political plot as presented the state by the Administration group in order to secure support for the sales levy, the educators are not delving into the field of politics merely to save their salaries. We cannot help feeling that members of the K. E. A. have a broader interest in view and that the salvation of the children of Kentucky is first in mind.

This much can be said for the sales tax: if properly administered, it may become a more equitable tax than the state has known heretofore. It is nothing more than an emergency measure. It should help to bring about the effective operation of the new school code, and it should serve to bring Kentucky out of its educational quagmire.

How Much for Schools

There is very little danger that Kentucky, ranking almost at the bottom in comparison with other states, will spend too much for education.

Prof. D. Y. Dunn, superintendent of Fayette county schools and president of the K. E. A., the organization that has done more than any other to awaken Kentucky to its school needs, declares that a per capita of not less than $12 is needed.

The legislature's interim committee has compared the prospects of a $9 per capita with a $12 per capita.

Such a discussion, however, is like a discussion would be between persons starving to death on a desert island as to whether they prefer corn beef and cabbage to caviar and whether they had rather be rescued by a steamboat or a sailboat.

Kentucky's schools now are faced with a starvation diet. There are some schools now paying teachers $30 a month. They may be able to remain open only two or three months in a year, even at that rate, unless something is done.—Lexington Herald.

The Glee Club Scores a Hit

Undoubtedly one of the best attractions presented at the K. E. A. was given by Eastern's two musical groups, the Madrigal Club and the Men's Glee Club. With a splendid account of themselves in all of the programs on which they appeared, the two clubs scored a decided hit and were well received.

Particularly did they compliment it in their program over station in their program over station WHAS. Well directed and well blended voices rendered tuneful Southern music along with semi-classic compositions in a manner which befitted Eastern's music department.

No better advertising for Eastern could have been accomplished. The clubs made a decided contribution to the college. They are to be thanked sincerely for the excellence with which they conducted their musical procedure.

Congratulations to Dr. Payne

Upon his election to the office of executive head of the Kentucky Education Association, Dr. John Howard Payne, president of Morehead State Teachers College, is to be congratulated.

It is with genuine pleasure that we, as a student paper of a sister institution to Dr. Payne's school, have the opportunity to express our gratification upon seeing such a noble educator ascend to an office that is so becoming to him and to his ability.

Well known in this community as formerly superintendent of Madison High school, Dr. Payne can draw only the friendliest feeling from those around Richmond who have eagerly watched his progress as an educator.

To be named president of the K. E. A. by an exceptionally strong vote as he was not only speaks for Dr. Payne, but it also speaks well for the institution in which he is a leader. His office brings an unusual honor to Morehead Teachers College and we rejoice in the recognition of that honor.

MEHITABLE SAYS

We were disappointed in not seeing the comment in some paper's editorial columns to the effect that, when Insull left Greece, he remarked: "Well, Abyssinia!"

The Progress wishes to express its appreciation for the interest shown recently by one of the campus' prominent students in making one of his private investigations into the paper's affairs. At least he demonstrated his ability to keep up with the times, although, in successfulness, especially in the local case, the investigation panned out in the usual manner. Investigations are quite the vogue.

The Flor-Ala reflects that the NRA and CWA seem recently to have been classed under the heading of Public Utilities.

One of the best definitions that we have ever seen for courtship appeared in the Baltimore Sun the other day. It said, "Courtship consists of a man's chasing a woman until she catches him."

And then there was the inebrity who put a penny in the fire alarm, locked up at the town clock, and exclaimed, "My I've lost twelve pounds!"

We heard of another one the other day on the proverbially dumb freshman who thought that a steeple chase meant running around a church belfry.

It is said that pay phones have been removed from the dorms of Columbia University because the students used shoelace tips instead of nickels. We suppose a hint to the wise is superfluous.

The Rocky Mountain Collegian makes the assertion that if all the Wyoming U. students who cut Wednesday morning eight o'clock classes recently were laid end to end they would reach back to the president's ball of the eve before.

While a college man is getting a liberal education, says the Kentucky Kernel, his father is getting an education in liberality.

News comes from Lake Herrington, the mecca of anglers, of an illustrious fishing party which included a noted Kentucky educator and certificate-approving official. The said official is reported to have caught a sardine of almost pitiful proportions. Much elated, he cried, "What shall I do with him?" It so happened that a student (?) of Eastern was fishing nearby, and noting the glee of the state college official, snappily answered, "Give him a standard certificate and throw him back in!"

The members of the Men's Glee Club were quite surprised the other day while they were singing in chapel. They felt a certain emptiness in the baritone section, and couldn't quite discern what was lacking. As eyes wandered during the course of the program, the star baritone was noticed, perched on a seat in the balcony. The veritable Chaliapin was quoted as saying that the reason he didn't want to sing in the chapel program was because he met a physical education class the hour before chapel, and that he didn't want to mess his nice new suit in those nasty old gym lockers.

Little did the audience which saw "They All Want Something" realize that behind the scenes a real, tragic drama was going on. "Jack Merrill," in brave trouser fashion, proved that he was a true "Pagliacci" when he came out on the stage sporting a broken nose, and went bravely ahead to say his three lines. . . . Another inside view of the recent production: So inspired did "Annabelle Jones" become that she went so far as to plant a big, luscious kiss on old man Kilbourne's face, when all the role called for was to put her arms around him. . . . A campus wise-helmer remarked that it was quite shocking that "Mr. and Mrs. Kilbourne" got together and raised "Kane."

The above cut portrays "The Baby's Bath," an activity in the class taught at Eastern on home hygiene and care of the sick, given through the authorization of the American Red Cross. On completion of the course a certificate is awarded to those meeting the requirements. Preparing women and girls to care for the sick in the home, the course also teaches care of mother and babies, and what should be done in emergencies or accidents. prose fiction. It is a novel of human emotion and character whose roots penetrate deep into Kentucky soil. "The People's Choice," by Herbert Agar, is a candid inquiry into the personalities of our president. "America in the Pacific," by F. R. Dulles, discusses a century of expansion of Old Glory. "Women and Wealth," by Mary S. Branch, shows that women do not earn or inherit, they control to a large degree. Space will not permit comments about all of these valuable books. Many other marvelous works are included such as "Liberalism in the South," by Dabney; "A Diary of the Voyage of H. M. S. Beagle," by Charles Darwin; "John Sevier," by Driver; "Complete Works of Chaucer," collected by Robinson, and "Thrills of the Naturalist's Quest," by Detmars, while "Uncle Sam's Attic," by Davis, is an extremely scholarly production, discussing the country of Alaska. Students of Eastern, these wonderful and vigorous books deserve your careful consideration and study. They are pieces of equipment essential to you, in order that you may build yourselves a greater and nobler intellectual structure. A great opportunity of priceless educational advancement is gloriouly dawning upon you. Arise from your slumber and carry your intellectual flag to new pavilions of glory and splendor.

WAFFLE SUPPER

Miss Mary King Burrer and mother entertained with a waffle supper at their home in the Goodie apartments last week the table service class and the junior and senior girls of the home economics department. After the supper, bridge and other games were played. Those who enjoyed the hospitality were Elva Marie Miller, Florence Owens, Inez Taylor, Willena Tolbert, Barbara Alexander, Clara Mae Nelson, Katherine Miracle, Margaret Mandt, Ohna Hagan, Martha Jane Locke, Pauline Coatsley, Flossie Runyon, Mrs. Mae Conley, Mrs. Maurine Deaton, and Mrs. Sally Kimbler.

ENTERTAIN FOR DR. PHELAN

The Table Service Class of the home economics department entertained Thursday with a luncheon in honor of Dr. Annette Phelan. Those present were: Dr. Annette Phelan, Mrs. H. L. Donovan, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Farris, Miss Marie L. Roberts, Miss Lilly Kohl, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Mattox, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Jones, Mrs. Emma Y. Case, Miss Ruth Dix, Miss Mary K. Burrer, Mrs. Dan Conally, Misses Florence Owens, Barbara Alexander, Willena Tolbert, Katherine Miracle, Margaret Mandt, Pauline Coatsley, Virginia Ganaway, and Ohna Hagan.

After the luncheon Dr. Phelan gave a lecture to Miss Burrer's home economics class 103 on "The Care of the Eye." She especially brought out the means by which defective of children eyes could be detected by the teacher in the school room.

DR. PHELAN VISITS EASTERN

Dr. Annette Phelan, eye specialist for the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, was a visitor on the campus during the past week, inspecting lighting conditions in the dormitories and lecturing to several college classes.

Leaving for New York, the latter part of the week, Dr. Phelan said that she plans a return trip to Eastern this time next year, when she will make another similar study.

Misses Caroline Hugo and Melva Walker spent the past week end at their homes in Bellevue.

Visitors on the campus last Friday included the mother and sister of Miss Zerelda Lake, Miss Lake returning with them to her home in Springfield, where she spent the week-end.

Misses Shirley and Dorothy Miller spent the week-end at their home in Mt. Vernon and attended the Beta Formal at Centre College, Danville.

Miss Evadean Squires spent the week-end with friends in Lexington.

Miss Katherine Wilkins spent the week-end at her home in Covington.

Miss Ercelle Sanders spent the week-end with her mother at her home near Danville.

Miss Marjorie Smith was with relatives in Corbin for a several days' visit.

Austin Harrod and George Cook spent the week-end with their parents in Shelbyville.

Miss Neva Park has returned from a several days stay with friends in Winchester.

Miss Lillian Wells was a recent visitor in Nicholasville.

Harold Mullins has returned from a visit with friends in Louisville.

Miss Willie Mae Curtis spent the past week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Curtis, in Crab Orchard.

Miss Blanche Wimble spent the week-end of April 21 with relatives in Danville.

Miss Dixie Jones spent the week-end with relatives near Berea.

Miss Pearl Buchanan returned Sunday, April 22, from Birmingham where she attended the meeting of the Southern Association of Teachers of Speech.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Farris have returned from a few days' stay in Louisville.

Mr. Herschel McKinley, graduate of Eastern and now a member of the house of representatives, from Owensboro, was a recent visitor on the campus.

T. E. McDonough has returned from Cleveland, Ohio, where he attended the national convention of the American Physical Education Association.

Another annual convention of the K. E. A. has come and gone, and as usual, it was reported that "a big time was had by all." Just what the statement implies, we would not hazard a guess, but we did get around. We would be expected to go places and see things. Here are some of them:

Perhaps one of the best revelations that came our way was the discovery that RABBI WISE is possessed with an illustrious physique. That is, he certainly demonstrated his physical prowess when he boldly forced a jammed door back stage of Memorial auditorium previous to his appearance on the program. Another good story had to do with a reporter for one of the Louisville papers, who was sent to interview DR. RICHMOND, spending the entire afternoon in conversation with the educator in the lobby of the Brown before actually discovering that this was the man from whom he was to extract a story. It remained for another to come along and speak to the superintendent before the bewildered reporter could get his bearings.

And we were told that the K. E. A. Ball, which was disguised by being called a Reception, turned out to be more than a huge success, with an overflowing crowd present. It had been planned, according to the report, that those who were thought to have scruples would either have gone home by Friday night, or else gone to bed long before the time set for the Ball.

Then it was observed that three Easterners, including JOE DENNIS, MOON MULLINS and the EDITOR OF THE PROGRESS, turned piano movers, or they were enlisted into service at the auditorium before the entire K. E. A. assembly on Wednesday night, to clear the stage at the conclusion of the Glee Club program.

And DICK RICHARDS, who was charged with delivering the K. E. A. Progresses to their destination at Eastern headquarters the first thing Wednesday morning, when headquarters opened, spent from the time of his arrival in Louisville un-

Reducing Illiteracy in Russia is Held as Great Achievement by Rauch in Talk on Soviets

Although as late as 1917, 91 per cent of the Russian people could not sign their name that ratio has almost been reversed and it is now claimed that 90 per cent of the population is literate, said Dr. Joseph Rauch, Rabbi Adath Israel Temple, Louisville, in an address at a banquet of the World Affairs Club at Eastern Teachers College Tuesday night, April 24.

Even critics concede that Russia has attained 60 per cent literacy, said the speaker as he spoke on "Russia: An Experiment in New Human Relations."

Two forces which had kept the populace of Russian in ignorance had been the Czarist government, and the official religion of Russia. The palace and church combined to keep Russians in abject poverty and ignorance, said the speaker whose last visit to the land of the Soviets was last summer.

Neither the Czar nor church showed any mercy toward the people and when revolt, hastened by the war, overthrew the old order, the people were as merciless in their attitude toward the government til three o'clock that afternoon showing BESSIE BAUMGARDNER the town, while the alumni was about ready to organize a posse to search for the papers. DONALD MICHELSON turned both orator and connoisseur of dainty handkerchiefs, according to one report. On the other hand, business seemed to be picking up with ED HESSEER, who collected a choice supply of souvenirs during his two days in the Falls City.

While most other side organizations represented at the K. E. A. held their meetings at the different hotels, numerous charter members of the K. I. P. A. were to be seen at a gathering in one of the more popular theaters on Third street.

Another rather amusing observation we made was in one of the Louisville cafeterias one morning while we were breakfasting. Two K. E. A. delegates, attired in the latest fashions of spring, and fresh as daisies, came nonchalantly in to the eating place, passed the check machine, failed to heed the advice of the cashier about taking a check along with them, and seated themselves very stylishly at a table to wait for some fifteen minutes before discovering that they were in a self-service joint.

Questions That Remain in Mind: What were BOB SALYERS and DR. DONOVAN doing out at 3:00 a. m.? How did JACK ALLEN spend the reported $8.75 at Brown Roof when the cover charge happened to be but fifty cents on the particular night that he took his date way up there? Was it because those returning from K. E. A. were broke that the Milestone dance was not so well attended? Who circulated all the stories that have been heard on the campus since K. E. A. and how much truth is there to them? Who actually got jobs at K. E. A.?

About the Campus: Now to turn our eyes on the campus and away from the memories of the big city, we find that the reason ED HILL has been so eager to accompany BOB MAVITY to have Bob's finger directed is none other than the attractive nurse, KATHLEEN WELSH. The JOE HEDGES-MARJORIE SMITH combine seems to be one of the strongest of recent date.

RANDOM SHOTS: HELEN GARDINER attributes her recent sunburn to DELBERT PARTIN'S influence. MISS GIBSON, upon seeing a late picture of a sister faculty member, said that the pedagogue looked just like DILLINGER. And that reminds us of a rumor that HOLLIS MATHERLY went all the way to Chicago to make DILLINGER a proposition. BETTY MARZ votes for night football at Eastern, especially on the "greensward." The most uncertain affair of the moment is that of BOB MAVITY and MARTHA GRAY. They're off and then they're on. Mostly off. And the latest blonde Venus on the campus remarked that TALLY DEWITT might as well be married for all the circulation he gets. To the young gentleman who asked both MILDRED HANCOCK and JO KINCAID for a date on the same Sunday night, we advise a better method of attack. DON WILLIAMS goes home only once in two months so that his best girl will be glad to see him, but while here he and BILL LAMKIN are trying to attract "DUTCH" TOLBERT. And then there was the boy who dreamed MILDRED BOYER kissed him and woke up with a fever blister. Ho, hum. BETSY ANDERSON has been trying to reform MOON MULLINS by feeding him on angel food cake. Naughty CURTIS FARLEY was caught reading the "Private Life of Marie Antoinette."

We Wonder: If GARVICE KINCAID ever got rid of the sign "Why Carry Dirty Clothes?" which was placed on the car that he was driving around Louisville. If EARL HENDERSON is as he is because he hails from Bethlehem. If DILLINGER will actually turn up at the Ohio State from as expected by the "Green and White." What sign is more apropos than the one in Versailles which reads "Jimmie Butts Inn."

and church as these agencies had been toward them. This was regarded as the explanation of the hostile attitude toward the church and yet prevails. None of the royal family escaped. The cruelty of the Russian masses is something their masters taught them, was the conclusion of Dr. Rauch.

Officials Are Honest In discussing the Soviet government it was pointed out that although it is oppressive and often cruel, no public official has ever been charged with graft. The salary of Stalin is only 900 rubles a month, only about $450 a month at normal exchange rates, now much less. Men and women are working for a pittance, suffering for the ideal which has been installed in them.

The ruthless attitude was illustrated by the view of an official who when questioned about a million people having starved in the Ukraine, replied "Russia can function just as well with 179 million people as with 180." It was explained that the million who starved had resisted the government plan of collective farming, refused to surrender their property and join in the plan. Half the agricultural land has been collectivized and is being farmed with modern machinery, with which to further progress of the plan for a machine development.

Recognition By U. S. Peace Aid Extending of diplomatic recognition to Russia by the United States is regarded by the Soviets as her greatest single blessing. It has reduced the danger of war with Japan and minimized necessity for armaments and defense activities. Dr. Rauch expressed the opinion that peace in this quarter of the world had been materially aided by resumption of diplomatic relations with the United States.

The Soviet government is definitely against religion. Many of the finest churches have been appropriated and converted into museums in which is displayed anti-religious propaganda. The government makes it hard to be religious. The government is the employer and it is easier to get a job if one is in the good graces of government officials. Opposition to the government is not tolerated. The charge for electricity with which to light a church is 30 per cent greater than for home lighting. The view was expressed that the religion which survives in Russian will be a faith in which the people can be happy.

Dr. Rauch said he saw no well dressed men or women in Russia. Members of the outstanding orchestra, giving a concert in the leading theater, all great artists, were dressed like beggars and ditch diggers.

Freedom is in Russia to stay, is the conclusion of Dr. Rauch after a close study of the Soviets. The government started out to have nothing to do with capitalism and now it wishes capitalism would have more to do with it. But the Soviet system will continue to be essentially socialist, was the opinion expressed.

Only those persecuted are those who disagree with the government. There is no free press nor free speech. Dr. Rauch said that the newspapers were under strictest censorship, could publish only that which the government permitted. He read in Russian newspapers many things regarding the United States as ridiculous as some things he had read in American papers about Russia.

The speaker said reports that women have been nationalized in Russia are untrue. Marriage and divorce is easy, but in the main, the Russian family life is decent and wholesome.

In the educational scheme stress is placed on necessary information, emphasis given to technical knowledge. Russia believes that her salvation lies in perfecting a machine civilization by which vast natural resources may be developed. She is willing to withhold food from her hungry people in order to export it in payment for machinery.

Russians are actuated by hopes similar to those of the American revolutionists who had the vision to dream and the courage to suffer in order to bring into being the American government and hope to establish a government in Russia similar in its ideals and opportunities, Dr. Rauch said in conclusion.

Dr. L. G. Kennamer presided at the meeting. He introduced Robert Martin, president of the World Affairs Club, who presented Dr. Rauch. Mrs. Rauch accompanied her distinguished husband to Richmond.

Maroons Fade Big Blue Nine For 4 to 2

GET REVENGE ON KENTUCKY IN HOME BOUT

Stave Off Last Inning Rally to Put Teams on Par Rating

BRYANT GIVES 5 HITS

By BOB MAVITY

Air-tight pitching and steady support gave Eastern sweet revenge last Saturday, when the Maroons staved off a last-inning rally to down the University of Kentucky Wildcats 4 to 2 at the local ball yard. The Wildcats had trounced the Eastern nine the previous Saturday at Lexington, and this victory gave the two schools a 50-50 rating.

Charlie Bryant was Coach Hembree's mound choice for the game and Bryant proved his mettle by turning in a masterful 5-hit tilt. While he was wild at times, Bryant always managed to withstand the situation, either by good pitching, or by receiving good fielding support from his teammates. Bryant, up to the ninth inning, had allowed but three scattered hits, all singles. He fanned six batters and walked a like number while Tony Simone the Wildcat pitcher, allowed 10 ringing blows, fanned 6 Maroons, and passed but 1 man.

For the first three innings the contest appeared to be a pitching duel, but the Maroon swatsmen climbed all over Simone in the fourth frame. Morris led off with a single to left and Bray put him down with a sacrifice hit. Morris then pulled the Wildcat catcher for a boner and stole third. R. Settle then singled to center to tally Mike for Eastern's first run of the frame. P. Demoisey shot a hot single over first, advancing Settle to third, and Paul took second on the throw-in. Frith put Settle over the pan with a long fly to center. Brown ended the fireworks by fanning the breeze.

In the sixth spasm, with one gone, R. Settle doubled to left and scored when P. Demoisey hit a tremendous swat to right for three sacks for the Maroons. Demoisey counted later on a Wildcat error. This ended the scoring for the day on Eastern's part but the home boys had a good chance again in the eighth stanza when three hits failed to produce a run.

With two gone in the ninth, Mattingly reached first on Frith's error, Simone doubled over Emerson's head, E. Settle beat out an infield hit to score two markers for the University team, but Thompson was passed and Wilson was called out on strikes to end the game.

Paul Demoisey, with a perfect day, led the Eastern batters, and Ted Frith and Joe Gilly put up some sparkling defensive work.

Reminiscences of Daniel Boone

Aside from Boone and his companions and the Spaniards, John Finley was the earliest white visitor to the country east of what is now known as Madison county. Finley, in 1787, while on an expedition made for the dual purpose of hunting and trading with the Indians, came along a route called the warrior's path leading from the Cumberland ford along the broken country lying on the eastern branch of the Kentucky river and so across the Licking river to the mouth of the Scioto.

This route was much frequented by the Indian tribes in passing through Kentucky on their hunting and warring trips. No permanent village of the modern Indians was ever known to exist in Kentucky, but there were many traces of the various trails used by them. It was Finley who first led Boone into this section.

Introduce Women's Sports at Eastern

Women's sports will be introduced here next fall, according to a report from T. E. McDonough, head of the department of physical education. Several of the sports selected are badminton, Roque, and battleboard tennis.

While attending the recent convention of the American Physical Education Association in Cleveland, O., Mr. McDonough said that he secured in the sectional meetings several ideas which could be put into practice to improve the physical education program at Eastern.

Mr. McDonough presided over one of the sectional meetings in which the delegates set up a standard "teacher training" curriculum, which is expected to be used in a large number of teachers colleges in the next few years.

The physical education department, Mr. McDonough stated, also hopes to give physical fitness tests next year to determine the benefits of athletic training.

ROSE DEFEATS CHICK TAYLOR

Given Decision in Six Round Headliner of E Club Fight Card

OTHER BOUTS DECIDED

Frankie Rose, of Eastern Teachers College, won the unanimous decision of the three judges over Chick Taylor, of Lexington, in a six round bout which headlined the E Club's boxing show at the Weaver gym last Friday night.

Rose had the lead all the way and in fact he did not attempt to inflict much damage on Taylor's aged body. Taylor had been advertised as being from the University of Kentucky, but such was not the case. Rose weighed 147 and Taylor 152.

In other bouts fought between members of the boxing classes at the college results follow:

Clark and Haden fought three rounds to a draw; Williams won a decision over Long; Wells won a technical knockout over Paynter at the end of the second round; Parlin won a decision over Purdom; Gover won a decision over Warren; Rogers won on a technical knockout from Satterly in the second round; Bingham and Wilkinson fought three rounds to a draw and Bishop won a decision over Gillis.

Al Portwood, boxing coach at Eastern, was the third man in the ring. The judges were Dr. J. B. Floyd, Madison county representative; George N. Hembree and George Gumbert, of the Eastern faculty. Some 300 persons saw the matches.

Dr. Morgan's Grandfather An Early Kentucky Settler

W. P. Morgan, who will be commencement speaker here, was born on December 30, 1871, in Prairie Creek Township, Indiana. He was the son of William Riley Morgan, a farmer, and Nancy (Piety) Morgan. His grandfather Morgan was of Welsh and Irish descent, and came west with the early settlers of Kentucky, later moving to Indiana. His grandfather Piety was an Englishman whose father came to this country during the Revolutionary War, and pushed westward into Kentucky.

Dr. Morgan received his A.B. degree from Indiana University 1900; his Ph.M., University of Chicago, 1909; and his D.Ed., Miami University, 1926.

He began his teaching career in 1888 and in 1895 was made head of the department of mathematics in the city school of Terre Haute, Indiana. In 1900 he went to the State Teacher's College at Terre Haute as professor of mathematics and in 1906 was made superintendent of schools in that city. After teaching in Chicago for a number of years, in 1912, he was made president of the Illinois State Teacher's College at Macomb, Illinois, which position he now holds. He was secretary of the American Association of Teacher's Colleges from 1925 to 1928 and was president of that organization in 1929.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, and Alpha Epsilon.

Cosby Is Member of Little Congress

Roy "Joeh" Cosby, listed among those who will receive degrees in the June graduating class, who is now employed in the House Office building in Washington, has been made a member of the Little Congress, according to a report received here today.

The Little Congress is an organization of government employees, largely congressional employees, who come together to discuss various measures upon which congress may be working. Activities and debates in the Little Congress are carried on as nearly as possible as they are in the house.

C. E. UNION MEETS MAY 4

Anticipate Close to Thousand Young People to Attend Meeting

HEAR NOTED SPEAKER

Nearly a thousand young people, representing churches of all denominations and creeds from all sections of Kentucky, are expected to attend the annual convention of the Kentucky Christian Endeavor Union to be held here on May 4, 5 and 6.

Plans for the entertainment of the delegates have been completed and include addresses by Dr. A. W. Fortune, pastor of the Central Christian church, Lexington; Hon. Frederick A. Wallis, of Paris; Dr. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea College, and Dr. Dunbar Ogden, of Pikeville.

Song services will be led by the Rev. F. H. DeJong, of McKee, and Dr. Howard E. Taylor, of Berea College, will give two organ recitals. A banquet will be held on Saturday night, May 5, at which Dr. Thomas B. Talbot, of Danville, noted humorist, will be the principal speaker.

A trip to Berea for the inspection of Berea College, famous mountain educational institution, will be a feature of the program.

The first afternoon of the convention will be devoted to registration and assignment of delegates. The opening business session will be held Friday night at the First Christian church, which is headquarters for the convention. Dr. Fortune's address will be the highlight of the opening session.

Mr. Wallis will speak at the Saturday morning session. The Saturday afternoon program will be the Berea trip. The banquet will take the place of the night program.

Sunrise services will be held Sunday morning and delegates will attend Sunday school and church of their choice. Reports of committees will be heard at the Sunday afternoon meeting and special musical and dramatic programs will be given.

Sunday night a Union Christian Endeavor meeting will be held followed by an organ recital and Dr. Dunbar Ogden's address.

C. Martin Railey, of Lexington, is president of the organization. Other officers are Miss Drusia Alridge, Danville, vice president; Miss Elizabeth A. Brown, Paducah, secretary, and Elmer J. Schmied, Louisville, treasurer.

H. Bennett Farris, of Richmond is honorary chairman of the committee on arrangements for the convention and will make the welcoming address. Miss Harriett Krick, of Richmond, is general chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Vocational Ed Bill Passed By House

By ROY "JOE" COSBY
The vocational education bill, carrying an annual appropriation of $3,000,000, has been passed by the house of representatives and sent to the senate, where it is expected to receive favorable action. Kentucky's share of this fund is $87,000.

Among those who spoke for the Ellzey bill was Congressman John Y. Brown, of Kentucky. In the course of Mr. Brown's remarks, he paid high tribute to Superintendent James H. Richmond, referring to him as "a very able educator." Congressman Brown also expressed hope that further aid to education would be considered before the end of this session.

A large number of congressmen spoke in favor of the bill and there seemed to be an unusual amount of interest in aiding the Smith-Hughes work. The discussion of his bill was one of those very unusual occurrences in the house where no one raised his voice against the measure. The interest in this legislation was so great that there was no recorded vote taken.

Even congressmen don't lose sight of the advantage of having good cocks and informed farm hands.

Richmond Is Heard Over Station WHAS

FRANKFORT, Ky.—James H. Richmond, superintendent of public instruction, spoke on the needs of the schools and proposed revenue measures over station WHAS on Thursday, May 3. His subject was "Needed Revenues for Schools."

In his address, Dr. Richmond discussed various tax measures which have been proposed and pointed out their relation to the state's school program.

The broadcast was sponsored by the Kentucky Education Association, which recently asked the governor to call a special session of the general assembly for the purpose of providing a $12 per capita for schools during the next two years. The K. E. A. also endorsed a revenue program including a gross receipts tax, personal and corporation income taxes, and called upon citizens and organizations to release their representatives from pledges to vote against any specific tax measures.

TRACK TEAM OPENS TODAY

To Meet Berea and Centre in Triangular Event at Danville

VARSIITY IS STRONG

With a long period of training behind them, Turkey Hughes' band of track and field men will enter the lists today against Berea and Centre College in a triangular affair on the Centre cinderpath at Danville.

Coach Hughes is depending on a handful of athletes to keep Maroon and White in the scoring. However, there is some consolation in that with the limited number of track artists, there are men who are veterans of several cinder campaigns. Naturally, it is not difficult for the Eastern track mentor to name his starting team.

The varsity squad boasts the strongest array of runners in years. Such capable men as Pille, Michelson, Mansfield, and Wilson will make Eastern formidable in the track events.

The outlook for success in field events has been bolstered by the return of "Moon" Mullins and "Ichabod" Corns. Kelly Kirkland, Elmer Menifee, and Ed Hill will be assigned to the weight events.

The freshmen have been irked by the lack of jumpers and sprinters, and even though the yearlings are not anticipating any great degree of success this season, they are expecting championship results from Lloyd in the high hurdles, Edgington in the discus, and Ed Hesser in the half and mile.

Sportsography

This is the first edition of Sportsography and we hope you like it; if not, we don't give a hang.

THE BOXING SHOW

The recent boxing show was a wow and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. That was the trouble—there weren't enough present to gratify the efforts of the "E" Club. There was a fair crowd, yes, but it was made up of townspeople, who seem more interested in Eastern and her athletes than does the student body. The "E" Club was trying to raise enough money to buy sweaters and letters for the athletes who won them on the gridiron and court this past season. We would advise the "E" Club that the best way to raise any funds for athletics is to organize a boy's needlework team and have it perform. We have plenty of material on the campus for such a team.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Spring is here, so say the poets, and everyone is playing tennis. How would a little tournament suit you? This column and the Progress will try and arrange for one just to see who the tennis champs are on the campus. You are the judge and if we have enough signatures before Thursday, May 10, we will see what can be done. SIGN up at the Progress office.

TRACK, TENNIS, AND GOLF

Our harriers are getting all steamed up over their approaching meets and Coach Hughes expects his boys to bring home the bacon, or whatever trackmen bring home. One of the oldest and most widely spoken cracks made by Burnam Hallers to their male escorts as they walk toward the Health building and notice the track team practicing: "Clarence, what are those boys doing out there in their underwear?" Phooey!

Dog Young, Doc Robinson, Tubby Rollins, and Otto Brock seem about the best in town so far as golf goes. The boys are playing some golf, and the next time they burn up the local links some of our golfing fans should venture out to see them sock the pellet around.

E. T. Wiggins and Tommy Farris have been showing a good brand of tennis this year even though our netmen have been unable to cop a match so far. The rest of you boys had better start playing some tennis too or Uncle AL PORTWOOD will start one of his punting parties (do you get it?) and they are embarrassing.

HERE AND THERE

Teddy Frith is the best orator on the baseball team. . . . Jim Brown says he was saving his hits for the next game and that accounts for his three fanning bees he staged last Saturday. . . . A little bird told us that next year's football boys will be knockouts, so will the team if the boys keep dropping out of school. Unlike most boys' dormitories, Memorial Hall's favorite sport is African dominoes.

FOOTBALL AWARD MONDAY
Tom C. Samuels, line coach, announced today that the gold football to be awarded to the most valuable player as determined during the period of spring training, will be given in the college assembly, Monday, May 7.

FOUR EASTERN TEAMS CARDED

Baseball, Golf, Tennis and Track Teams to See Action This Week

BALL GAME WEDNESDAY

Eastern baseball, tennis and golf and track teams are all scheduled to see action this week against four different Kentucky colleges. The baseball team was to meet Kentucky Wesleyan here Wednesday afternoon; the tennis team plays Berea here Saturday; the golf team plays the University of Kentucky here Saturday and the track team meets Centre College at Danville Saturday.

This will be the first meet of the season for the Eastern thirlins who are being coached by Coach Turkey Hughes, himself somewhat of a track man while at the University of Kentucky not so many years ago. Little is known of Eastern's strength on the cinder path as the Maroons have not gone in for the track and field sports much in past years. However, Coach Hughes has a good-sized squad and the men have been working persistently.

The Maroon baseball team has broken even in two games with the University of Kentucky diamond nine and was expected to make good showing against the Methodists.

Eastern's tennis team has not been overly successful this year and is expected to drop its match with Berea. The Mountaineers have a veteran tennis team and are unusually strong this year.

The golf match with the University of Kentucky team is not definite since the University is having some difficulty in persuading the lowers that be to finance golf this year. The Maroon golf team has broken even in two matches with the University of Louisville team.

A Word to the Y's

Four members of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied by Dr. J. T. Dorris, faculty sponsor, attended the State Student Y. M. C. A. Retreat which was held at Camp Daniel Boone during the week-end of April 27. These four students were Sam Beckley, president of Eastern's Y. M. C. A.; E. J. Warm, secretary; Pierce Warm and Minor Clark. Mr. Beckley is also president of the State College Student Y. M. C. A. group and chairman of the meeting at Camp Daniel Boone.

A retreat is being planned for Eastern's Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. which will be held on May 11, 12, 13. All old officers of the two clubs, new officers, and cabinet members will go on this retreat. The chaperones will be Dr. J. T. Dorris and Miss Mary Frances McKinney, faculty sponsor of the Y. W. C. A. At this time definite plans for the work of the coming year will be made.

Sunday evening, April 15, the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. had as their speaker for vesper services Rev. J. S. Green, pastor of the Methodist church of Lancaster, Ky. The topic of his talk was "God's Plan for My Life." After this talk Rev. Green preached the evening service at the local Methodist church.

RESOURCEFULNESS

A girl student at Southwestern University entered the dean's office, borrowed five cents for a phone call, and asked the secretary to add it to her tuition.—Cardinal.

Local Musicians Heard Over WLAP

Junior Muncy and his Kentucky Knights, a Richmond musical organization composed of Doniphan Burrus, Jack Fife, Marshall Arbuckle, Joe Owen and Alton Howell, put on a 15-minute program of popular dance music over WLAP, Lexington, Saturday afternoon.

Officials of station WLAP were so pleased that they asked the young musicians to give another broadcast next Saturday afternoon.

APPRECIATION!

To the Editor:
Thru the Progress may I express my personal appreciation for the admirable attitude and splendid response that the students have shown in regard to cutting across the campus and making unsightly paths in the grass? Rarely do we see a student cutting across between the walks in front of the Health building. There are still a few students who could display a higher type of citizenship, especially about noontime at certain places in the campus.
Thank you,
J. D. FARRIS.
