Keene Oratorical Finalists

Finalists in the upcoming Keene Oratorical Contest are Misha Williams, Ann Mitchell, Connie Gullette, and Linda Ward. These four contestants were chosen in the semi-finals held yesterday from a field of seven. The final contest will take place Wednesday in the freshman assembly, Brock Auditorium.

Tuition Boost Suggested

The Legislative Research Commission has suggested that tuition for out-of-state students at state-supported colleges "might merit a raise."

The present out-of-state tuition at Eastern is $200. If there is an increase it will make Kentucky's out-of-state tuition higher than Illinois, New Jersey, New York, and Tennessee but still lower than Indiana and Pennsylvania.

The LRC, in a staff memorandum which was distributed to the 1966 General Assembly, said the University of Kentucky charges reasonable rates to out-of-state students.

The memorandum also showed that 9,241 of the 39,008 students enrolled in Kentucky schools were out-of-staters, a percentage of 23.7.

Murray and Morehead are reported to have enrollments comprised of one-third out-of-state students.

State Trooper Exam Scheduled

An examination for the position of State Trooper has been scheduled by the Kentucky State Police.

It will be given at 8 a.m. Saturday Jan. 15 at the Kentucky State Police Bureau of Personnel, in the New State Office Building, Frankfort. The examination is the last to be scheduled prior to the beginning of a training school for recruits in mid-February.

The State Police list these qualifications for trooper candidates:

1. United States citizenship.
2. Residency in the state of Kentucky.
3. Minimum age 21 to maximum age 30.
4. Minimum height of 5 ft. 9 1/2 in. and minimum weight of 160 lbs.
5. Graduation from high school or possession of an equivalent education. Veterans who have completed satisfactorily at least two years of high school and have successfully passed the General Educational Development Test may qualify.

Applicants must also pass physical, physical agility and character examinations and have a valid Kentucky operator's license.

Interested persons should apply at the post headquarters nearest their home.

Bulletin Board

The Progress is now offering a special service to students. A bulletin board will appear each week offering lost and found items, a list of people offering services such as typing, baby sitting rides and other similar services.

There will be no charge for this special service to students.

Articles for the Bulletin Board may be turned in to the Progress office, room 8, Roark Building.

Debaters Fare Well At Ball State Tourney

Eastern's debate team was one of the twenty-seven different teams which participated in last week-end's debate tournament at Ball State University. Ball State was the overall winner of the tournament.

Eastern's overall varsity record was six wins and four losses. The overall novice record was five wins and five losses.

The novice team was made up of Misha Williams, Dennis Burrows, Nancy Evans and Carolyn Webster.

They faced the teams of Ball State, Michigan, Indiana State, Wayne State, and Oshkosh. The losses in every case were by one or two points.

Debating both "pro and con sides of the question, Eastern's varsity team consisted of Charles Greenwell, Jim Cottrell and Brent Cornelius. Losing only to teams who later went on to win the tournament, Eastern placed second only to Ball State in the division.

Eastern was the only school to win two debating awards in varsity debate. Brent Cornelius won Superior Debater Award, and Jim Cottrell won Excellent Debater Award.

"I am extremely gratified with the records of the teams in this particular tournament since Eastern was meeting competition not encountered before this tournament," stated Mrs. Aimee Alexander, debate coach.

Athletic Director Announces... Earliest Rush Ever On Tickets For Event Here

"The earliest rush on tickets ever experienced for an athletic event here," Eastern athletic director Glenn Presnell said of the unprecedented demand for tickets to Saturday night's Eastern-Western basketball showdown.

Presnell said that the last of the regular reserved seats were sold out last Monday - nearly two weeks before the date of the renewal of the famous athletic rivalry. Additional sections have been reserved, but he cautioned that they probably will not last long this week.

He reported that orders for blocks of 6, 8 and 10 tickets are coming in from throughout Kentucky and suggested that fans order their tickets early. A few standing-room tickets may be placed on sale Saturday afternoon at the Alumni Coliseum ticket window, he said.

Record Crowd Expected. Eastern officials are anticipating a record crowd of about 8,000. The front-running and defending Ohio Valley Conference champion Maroons and the league favorite and nationally-ranked Hilltoppers square off at 8 o'clock in the OVC's "Game of the Year."

The two teams met in the championship game of the OVC holiday tournament in Louisville, Western finishing strong in the second half to win it 83-67. The "Poppers, 2-0 in league play and 11-1 overall, will enter the game as a solid favorite over Eastern, which is 3-0 in the conference and 8-1 overall.

The Baby Maroons of Coach Jack Adams and the Tennessee Vol Freshman meet in a 5:45 p.m. preliminary contest.

Presnell said that the ticket office will be open every day from 8-12 and 1-4 p.m. He cautioned, however, that no general admission tickets will be sold during the week.

Presnell stated that all students planning to see the Eastern-Western game, should claim their seats no later than 7 p.m. After this time general admission and standing room only tickets in these sections will be sold.

Keene Oratorical Finals Scheduled For Wednesday

Four Eastern coeds won the finalists' positions of the Keene Oratorical Contest in the semi-finals yesterday.

The winning speakers and their speeches are: Linda Ward, "The Death of Chivalry"; Misha Williams, "Who Speaks for Youth?"; Ann Shelby Mitchell, "Backbone of America"; and Connie Gullette, "Being a Sweet Tater".

In the semi-finals, the speakers were divided into two groups. Mrs. Aimee Alexander judged the first group which had four speakers. The second group, consisting of three speakers, was judged by Mr. Joe Johnson.

The other speakers and speeches in the semi-finals were Candy Sandstorm, "Rules in the Dormitories"; Cookie Fletcher, "The World I Face"; and Kathy DeJarnette, "Stop, Think, and Thank".

The winner of the Keene Oratorical, which carries a cash prize, will go to the Kentucky Intercollegiate Oratorical contest which will be held at Kentucky Wesleyan College.

The finalists will deliver the same speeches with whatever changes they may have chosen to make. Judges for the finals have not yet been announced.

The contest is directed by Mr. Michael Weatherly of the Speech Department.

The Weaver Oratorical contest for men students will be held in March. Applications can be obtained from Mr. John Weiden, director of the Weaver Oratorical, in room 106, Cammack Building.

Clay, Palmer Halls Open For Spring Semester

Spring semester will see the opening of two dorms. The latest additions to Eastern's growth are the soaring skyscrapers Sidney Clay Hall and Palmer Hall.

Sidney Clay Hall, named to honor Eastern regent and Louisville banker Sidney W. Clay, will be 11 stories high and fully air-conditioned, housing 420 women. It will contain a cafeteria, a large lounge and reception center, and an outdoor patio area.

Clay Trimmed in Walnut. The interior of Sidney Clay Hall is trimmed in walnut paneling with broad areas of glass, adding spaciousness.

The individual rooms are designed for occupancy by two girls. Each room contains spacious walk-in closets, a wash basin and adequate storage facilities. The furniture and cabinets are designed in walnut veneer.

A good view is afforded from each room because of the oversized windows.

Men's Dorm Opens Soon. The second dorm to be opened next semester will be Palmer Hall, an eight story, fully air-conditioned skyscraper for men. It will house 300 students.

Palmer Hall has been named to honor Wilson Palmer of Cincinnati. Mr. Palmer, state senator, has been on the Eastern Board since 1962. The construction of these two dorms marks continued growth on Eastern's campus. Since 1960, nine new halls have been completed.

Plans for dedication have not yet been announced.

Two Seniors Take Part In Discussion

Misha Williams and Linda Ward, Eastern seniors, will appear this Sunday from 1:35 to 2 p.m. on radio station WLW's "College Conference" program, Cincinnati.

The primary topic for discussion was: "Should Colleges and Universities Include More Liberal Arts Courses in the More Technical and Specialized Curricula?" The secondary topic was: "Should Students Who Want to Specialize Attend a Vocational or Two-Year Community College?"

Maslowski Presents Audubon Lecture

"Waterway Wildlife," a film on conservation, was presented and narrated Wednesday evening by Karl H. Maslowski in Brock Auditorium.

Maslowski is an outstanding naturalist and a nature photographer. A native of Cincinnati, he has been connected with the Ohio Division of Conservation, University of Cincinnati, and the Cincinnati Art Museum. He also has a weekly column in a Cincinnati newspaper. Walt Disney employed Maslowski's talents in Disney's "True to Life" series.

Maslowski stressed the importance of water conservation to the audience with a few basic facts. "Man requires 1,000 gallons of water during the normal course of a day, but man could survive on 6 pints." The color film showed examples of how wildlife and man share and are served by water. Maslowski concluded the lecture with this verse from Kings of the Bible, "Thus saith the Lord, I have heeded these waters!"

Maslowski spoke at an Audubon lecture here last year. Due to warm response given him, he was brought back this year. Maslowski was the second speaker in a series of Audubon Wildlife films sponsored by the Eastern Biology department and the National Audubon Society. The Audubon series is for adults who are interested in conservation of wildlife and in nature.

The next lectures will be given on February 7 and March 24. Tickets for the lectures may be purchased at the door.

Recreation Leaders Attend Conference

Nine recreation leaders from central Kentucky were guests of Eastern yesterday at a recreation conference. Dr. Fred E. Darling, professor of health and physical education.

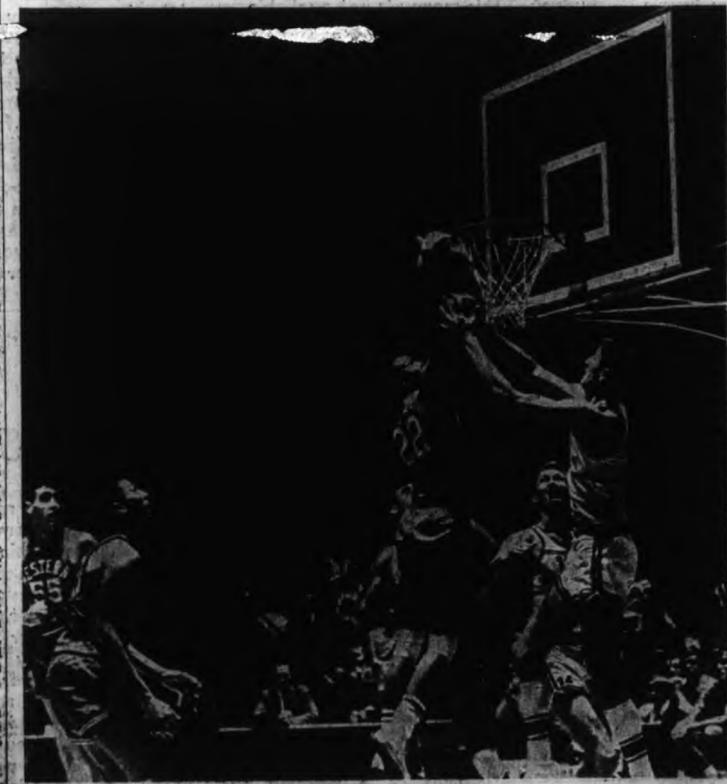

The college is consulting experts, Dr. Darling said, in drawing up two new curriculums, both designed "to fill a vacuum created by a shortage of leadership in the recreation profession."

The College's planning committee has designed two curriculums: a two-year Associate of Science degree in Recreation Leadership, geared toward training technicians; and a four-year Bachelor of Science degree in Program Administration, designed to prepare higher level leadership.

In his invitation to recreation leaders, who will meet here Thursday beginning at noon, Darling says, "You will be asked to review the curriculums and give us the benefit of your knowledge concerning courses needed to develop competencies in recreation leaders."

Attending the conference as Eastern's guests will be: Charles Bratcher, recreation director, Eastern State Hospital, Lexington; Gary Farley, recreation director, Kentucky State Hospital, Danville; Charles Gridley, I.B.M. Corp., Lexington; Charles Vettner, director, Jefferson County recreation, Jefferson-town.

John Gettler, director of recreation and parks, Lexington; Don King, executive of the Blue Grass Council for Boy Scouts, Lexington; Ben Duff, Greater Lexington YMCA, Lexington; Charles Spears, Director of Operations, Department of State Parks, Frankfort; and Julius Walker, director of recreation, Department of State Parks, Frankfort.

Eastern To Meet Western In Annual Clash

Defending OVC champions, Eastern will meet this year's favored Western Hilltoppers in the annual arch-rivalry in Alumni Coliseum tomorrow night. Eastern was beaten by Western 83-67 in the finals of the OVC tournament in Louisville, held during the Christmas vacation. Tickets for the clash are still on sale at the athletic ticket office in Alumni Coliseum. Standing room tickets will go on sale at the gate.

Where Is The Rivalry?

Maroons Need Support, Not Hindrance

TOMORROW NIGHT an expected record-breaking crowd will again see the Eastern Maroons clash with the Western Hilltoppers in the OVC battle of the year.

The Maroons and the Hilltoppers are, as almost everyone knows, traditional rivals on the courts.

But is the greatest rivalry between the teams or the fans?

The Maroons return tomorrow night from a successful road campaign. It is without much reservation that we say they are ready to meet the challenge with determination and desire to win. It is without much reservation that we say Western is also ready to meet this competition with an equal amount of desire and determination. The games between Eastern and Western always prove to be good as both teams battle it out playing basketball as the game was meant to be played. The rivalry is good here as both Eastern and Western fight to see who gets the upper hand.

All advance indications suggest that Alumni Coliseum will see its largest crowd ever for this athletic event. Anxious spectators are expected to be fairly evenly distributed on both sides of the court.

When the teams take to the floor and the starting line-up for both teams is introduced, the enthusiastic crowd should produce the loudest noise ever heard in the coliseum. A noise that will raise the roof.

This is where the rivalry of the fans begins.

We trust that the game will exhibit the height in athletic competition and sportsmanship.

But will the crowd react to the game with the same air of courtesy that will be expected on the floor?

Will the referees be greeted by booing fans finding fault with every call? Will the teams be distracted by riotous cheers and mounting insults? Will they be interrupted by objects thrown to the floor? Will the visiting fans meet with jeers escaping from the Eastern fans? We hope not!

Spectator support, appreciation and enthusiasm are some of the major ingredients in any athletic event.

Our team needs your support. They have played some great basketball so far this season, and show no signs of subsiding. With student support they can continue to play good ball. They need attendance at the games, they need cheers that will lift the ceiling. They need unending enthusiasm at all times.

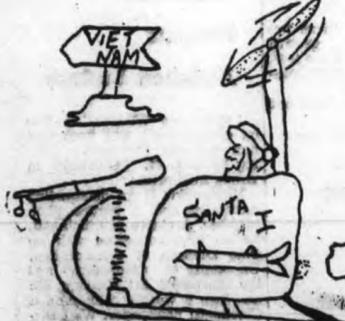

They do not need hindrance.

We hope that a display of good sportsmanship from the spectators will accompany that expected on the floor.

THE GAME OF THE YEAR!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Elizabeth Skages, whose picture appeared in the Progress donating blood during the Viet Nam blood drive, received the following card during Christmas vacation pertaining to her donation. The hand drawn picture on the card appears above. Dear Elizabeth,

Your picture was in a batch of newspaper clippings sent to me recently. We just finished an eleven day operation south of Da Nang and blood was needed very badly.

It seems as if our very vocal collegiate protestors contrive to steal most of the state-wide news. Sometimes a reminder that there are people like you—not only giving us moral support, but actually willing to help however they can—is very welcome indeed. Hope you'll excuse the homemade card, such things being hard to come by here. In any case, it couldn't possibly wish you a more sincerely felt Merry Christmas.

cp. Glenn Roberts USMC

To the Editor,
Today I heard a sad story. Yes, I know what you are thinking—what day goes by that we don't hear one or two. Fortunately, these stories are usually happening to other people, outside of the cozy, secure circle of college life. The girl involved isn't a part of the college life anymore, because her fiancée has been reported missing from action in Viet Nam.

Somewhat, even though I don't know the girl involved, my heart goes out to her because my fiancée has volunteered for active duty in the same vicinity. Yes, I am proud that he wants to do his part in preserving freedom, but that doesn't keep me from dreading his possible assignment to Saigon or Viet Nam.

There is an ugly war going on over there—and if our country's men are willing to give their lives, even to the extent of giving their lives—then it's time we borrow some of their courage and begin telling ourselves and each other that "Summer will be home again—perhaps before next year!"

Pay Raise At Expense Of Education

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following editorial appeared in Wednesday's Richmond Daily Register. Feeling that the topic of this editorial is quite pertinent to the Eastern college community, we have reprinted the editorial in its entirety.)

Reduce the money appropriated for higher education and increase the money allocated for teachers' salaries in the common schools. That is the absurd proposal advocated by some members of the General Assembly and many teachers.

The budget bill presented to the legislature by Governor Breathitt provides for a $400 increase per teacher in the Minimum Foundation Fund from which is allocated the money which the state contributes to the school districts for support of public schools. Teachers would get a $200 a year increase each of the two years.

The Kentucky Education Association is insisting that the increase should be $900 in the next two years. This would require an estimated $23 million increase in the budget. This money is not available unless new taxes are levied.

The state colleges and universities are over-crowded and hand pressed for money with which to accommodate their expanding student bodies. The budget bill presented by the governor, allocates $497 million for education at all levels. This is an increase of 27.4 percent or $103 million more than the present two year budget, it was pointed out by Commissioner of Finance Felix Joyner at the hearing on the budget bill.

Of the increased sum 44 percent, or $45.3 million goes to increase the foundation program. The state colleges and universities are in the budget to get 43.3 percent of the increase which amounts to $44.7 million with 13.1 percent for other educational cost such as operating the State Department of Education.

The local support for public schools has been declining. It has dropped from 60 percent to 30 percent in the last 10 years. Commissioner Joyner pointed out.

Madison County is a typical example. Last year the state contributed $885,611.66 to the financing of the county schools as contrasted with $381,825.04 which was raised by locally paid taxes.

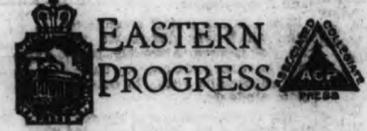

The common schools are a joint responsibility of the state and the local school districts. The state colleges and UK are dependent upon the state for financing plus such federal support as may be available.

It is estimated that enrollment in the public schools will increase by three percent during the biennium while there is every indication that the college enrollment will increase by 30 percent in the two year period. High school graduates in greatly increased numbers are going to college, which is most fortunate in that it provides the state with trained leadership for the future.

The public school teachers know this better than the average citizen. Eastern enrollment has been increasing at a higher average rate than some of the other colleges. The amount of money included in the budget bill for Eastern that is before the legislature is 25 percent less than what was asked for. The University of Kentucky's appropriation is 10 percent less than requested.

Should money be diverted from the colleges so as to increase salaries of common school teachers the colleges would be seriously crippled. The old cliché of robbing Peter to pay Paul is applicable in an exaggerated degree.

'Summer Is Gone'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following poem by Kathy Hollis, a junior from Kettering, Ohio, was written in honor of the American fighters in South Viet Nam, and all who may see service there.)

By KATHY HOLLIS
Summer is gone, you know—
Some say the fall leaves covered it,
But I say the soldiers took it to War
To keep them dry in the wet trenches,
To help them stay sane during the rounds,
Summer is gone, you know—
Wives and lovers mail it to Viet Nam,
Where soldiers read of warm sunshine and Wade through wet rice while dreaming of Dripping ice cream cones and sandy beaches
That don't smell of death and the dying,
Summer is gone, you know—
Countries have forgotten their childhood summer games;
Now they would rather play those
Grownup games of guns and greediness,
That make us hide beneath
ens
And almost forget there is a Summer-time.
Summer is gone, you know—
But we hopeful ones think it will be
Home again—perhaps before next year;
Which might be too late for some
Who wanted to take Summer to War
To keep their boots dry.

Water Crisis In Kentucky!

Demand For Water Satisfied Through Planning

Kentucky can satisfy the necessity and demand for water only through proper planning and management of the supply at its disposal.

This point is stated in a magazine-form report released today by the State Department of Natural Resources.

Entitled "Water Crisis in Kentucky?" the report attempts to "pinpoint Kentucky's deficiencies (in water resources planning), place in proper perspective our basic problems, and set forth possible solutions on which to build a firm foundation in the immediate and long-range future."

Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick and his staff have proposed water resources legislation for presentation to the 1966 General Assembly convening today.

Matlick points out, however, that the proposed legislation is "only the first step toward carrying out a long-range development program to cope with future needs and demands for water."

Besides legislative assistance, Matlick sees a need for "public awareness that potentially a problem exists."

Also needed, Matlick said, is the "establishment of a working relationship between Federal, State and local agencies for finding methods of dealing with water problems before and as they arise."

The potential water-shortage problem in Kentucky is illustrated graphically in the report in a section detailing the demands made on water basins within the state.

The city of Lexington now uses three to four times more gallons of water daily from the Kentucky River during the summer months than was the average daily flow of the river during the summer months of the 1930 drought, the report states.

A section of the report tracing the history of droughts in Kentucky notes that "in the past 35 years Kentucky has experienced floods and droughts of notable magnitude perhaps eclipsing any similar events experienced in the previous 100 years or more."

Seriousness Elaborated
The report further pinpoints the seriousness of a prolonged water shortage by citing the experiences of Flemingsburg during a seven-month drought from mid 1963 until January 1964. Some of the damages suffered, the report states, included:

A $27,000 trucking bill for water hauled in from Maysville, 18 miles away.

The loss of about 50 jobs and a section of an automobile trim manufacturing plant that moved its manufacturing operations to Arkansas.

Drastic restrictions imposed on water use for most of the seven-month period.

Russellville and Pineville have undergone similar experiences in recent months, the report notes.

The legislation proposed by Matlick and his department calls for the creation of a Water Resources Authority. It would set up some of the machinery necessary to help communities deal with their water problems.

The report was edited by Paul R. Jordan and Paul Campin and prepared by them in conjunction with Matlick and State Flood Control and Water Resources Department Director Steve Wakefield.

Copies will be mailed to members of the legislature, city and county government officials, various news media, water and sewage plants throughout the state and agriculture and conservation groups. A limited number of copies are available to the general public.

Edward Bryant Will Speak To Kappa Pi

Edward Bryant, currently on the staff of the Art Department at the University of Kentucky as Visiting Assistant Professor, will speak to the Kappa Pi Club, Eastern's Art Club. The topic for oration will be New Values in Contemporary Sculpture Tuesday, Jan. 18 in the Cammack Building, room 204 at 7:30 p.m.

Bryant, a painter, writer, editor and teacher, comes from New York City, where, from 1961 until last September, he was Associate Curator of the Whitney Museum of American Art. Mr. Bryant, born in Lenoir, North Carolina in 1923, graduated in 1950 from the University of North Carolina, where he also received an M.A. degree in 1955. He studied in Italy under a Fulbright Grant in 1954-55, and was with the Brooklyn Museum on a museum training fellowship, 1957-58.

He returned to Italy in 1959-60 to study contemporary drawings, and at that time selected an exhibition for the American Federation of Arts. From 1959-61 he was General Curator of the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford, Conn.

Bryant has written articles and has organized important exhibitions on various aspects of 20th-century art. His monograph on Jack Tworok was published in 1964 by Frederick A. Praeger, Inc.

Along with his colleagues at the Whitney Museum, Mr. Bryant organized and selected, among other outstanding exhibitions, the last four Annual Exhibitions and "Young America 1965."

An article by him on contemporary American sculpture appears in the current issue of "Art in America." He was recently invited to be a member of the jury making recommendations to Brandeis University for its 1966 Creative Arts Award in Sculpture.

NEWLOOK PRESENTED

When the Eastern Maroons take the floor tomorrow night against Western they will present a new-look to the Alumni Coliseum fans. In an attempt to get more scoring punch into the lineup, Coach Jim Baechtold replaced hustling Doug Clemmons with Fred Johnson at guard, and got spectacular results from his guard play on the Tennessee jaunt last weekend.

With Johnson in the lineup with Bill Walton at Austin Peay the guards combined for the most backcourt points for the Maroons this season, 39, with Johnson getting 22 and Walton at 17. They improved again at Middle, with the guards accounting for 47 points, 34 by Walton, 13 by Johnson.

While Clemmons was an asset to the Maroons (and still is) with his hard-nosed defense, leadership, and rebounding he just wasn't making the scoreboard click. Playing 336 minutes and 44 seconds in 11 of 12 Eastern games, Clemmons scored 59 points for a 5.4 point per game average. Johnson, playing only 192 minutes, 33 seconds, and seeing only spotty action before last weekend, has scored 62 points in eight games for a 7.8 average. In all three games in which Johnson has played over 16 minutes, William and Mary, Austin Peay, and Middle, he has scored in double figures.

Although he did not start against Western in the Ohio Valley Conference tournament, the Hilltoppers will remember him for the way he came off the bench and fired in three straight 20-footers in the closing minutes.

101 MEETING BETWEEN EASTERN-WESTERN

Tomorrow night will mark the 101 meeting between the two rivals. Western holds a commanding lead in the series by winning 71 of the contests. In the last seven years the two teams have split, each winning eight.

Although Western defeated Eastern in the finals of the OVC tourney by 16 points, this game will not be taken lightly by the once defeated Toppers. Last year the Hilltoppers beat the Maroons by nine points in the holiday classic, but Eastern came back to win both regular season games.

The Maroons will also entertain Murray this Monday night in the coliseum. This will be a must game for both teams, as Murray has lost two conference tilts and must win to stay in contention.

EAST TENNESSEE NAMES NEW HEAD GRID COACH

After a delay of 51 days East Tennessee State University has a new football coach.

John Robert Bell, offensive line coach at Georgia Tech, was named head coach at ETSU Saturday.

Bell will assume his duties Feb. 1, Pres. Dossett said.

A native of Kingsport, Bell is a former Dobyns-Bennett High of Kingsport star. He played collegiate football at Georgia Tech as a tackle and center, finishing in 1946 after a three-year hitch in the Navy.

Bell went from Tech to Cedartown, Ga., High, and later to Americas, Ga., High before returning to Tech in 1954 as freshman coach and chief recruiter.

He left Tech in 1957 to become head coach and athletic director at Southwestern Louisiana Institute, returning to Coach Bobby Dodd's staff in 1958, where he has been ever since.

Maroons Take Three Firsts In Orange Bowl

Eastern took three firsts, including one by an unattached runner, and three other places in the Orange Bowl track meet Saturday in Miami Fla.

Scores were not computed on a team basis at the meet, reported Coach Connan Smith, but Eastern would have fared favorably if squad totals had been compiled.

Taking first places in the meet were: Kenneth Anderson in the mile, 4:16.

The two mile relay team (Anderson, Bill Swanson Ron Benson, and Earl Jordan), 7:42.

Wilbert Davis, who completed unattached, in the polevault, 14-7.

Davis also took second in the open jump, Grant Colehour took third in the two-mile run, and Herman Carter finished fourth in the 100-yard dash.

Anderson, Colehour, and Carter are freshmen. Swanson and Jordan, sophomores, Davis is a junior, and Benson a senior.

Tennessee Road Trip Proves Scoring Power

Eastern 101—Austin Peay 96

Eddie Bodkin with 29 points and Fred Johnson with 22 led the Maroons past Austin Peay, 101-96, for their second straight conference win. The victory left Eastern undefeated in OVC play and tied with arch rival Western for the league lead. The loss left the Governors with a 3-3 worksheet. Two of these defeats have come at the hands of the Maroons, the first coming in the OVC Holiday Tournament.

As in their first meeting with Eastern, the Governors employed a full court, zone press, in an effort to off-set the Maroon's height advantage. But this time Eastern was able to beat the press for easy lay-ups, especially in the second half.

Besides Bodkin and Johnson, Dick Clark 12, Bill Walton with 17 and John Carr with 11 were in double figures for Eastern. Johnson and Bodkin were also the leading Maroon rebounders with 8 grabs each.

In the early stages of the first half the game remained close, the score being tied 8 times. The final deadlock of the first period coming with 14:20 remaining at 16-16. From then the Governors began to pull out and they held a 50-42 lead at intermission.

The Maroons fought back in the second half and a tip in by Carr with 11:10 remaining put Eastern on top for the first time at 66-65. The two teams battled closely for the rest of the game. The Maroons grabbed the lead for good at 81-79 on Walton's jumper with 5:35 left. Austin Peay drew within one several times but was never again able to tie the score.

The Maroons once again showed good shooting from the field, connecting on 57.7 per cent of their shots. They also experienced a fine night at the free throw line, making 23 of 28 charity tosses.

Eastern 98—Middle Tennessee 80

Eastern Maroons romped over Middle Tennessee 98-80 at Murfreesboro Tenn. Monday night. The win was the third conference victory in as many league starts for the defending O.V.C. champions.

Coach Jim Baechtold's charges have won four in a row and stand 8-4 for the season.

Bill Walton was the big gun in the Eastern offense. The 6-1 senior guard enjoyed the finest scoring night of his college career as he hit on 15 of 21 field goal tries and four of four from the free throw line for a game high 34 points. Walton got a big assist in the Maroon scoring column from all-American candidate Eddie Bodkin who tossed in 23 tallies and from Fred Johnson who added 13.

Bodkin also led both teams in rebounding with 12, Jerry Bisby grabbed 11 and John Carr pulled down 9. Eastern out-rebounded the Blue Raiders by a 55-39 count.

But it was Eastern's red-hot shooting that made the difference. The Maroons connected on 49 of 68 shots from the field for a torrid 58.8 shooting percentage. Middle Tennessee was not able to come close to the Maroon's blistering pace. The Raiders connected on 33 of 77 attempts for a percentage of 42.9 per cent.

The leading scorers for the Raiders were Bobby Gardner with 27 and Jay Cole with 15. Ed Cannon was the most effective raider on the boards grabbing 9 rebounds.

The game was close throughout the first half with the lead changing hands 10 times. Eastern went ahead to stay at 29-28 with 3:01 left in the first half on a basket by Walton. The first stanza ended with the Maroons ahead 38-33.

Eastern broke the game open in the first five minutes of the second half, outscoring Middle Tennessee 18-4 to take a 17 point lead at 56-39 with 15:05 remaining. Throughout the remainder of the contest the Blue Raiders were never able to get closer than 9.

Maroons Look For Upset Over Highly Touted Western

The day of reckoning in the Ohio Valley Conference comes Saturday when defending champion Eastern and loop favorite Western clash head-on in an Alumni Coliseum showdown.

The arch-rivals, who staged a two-team battle for the halo last season, set atop the league standings after the first two weeks of conference play, Eastern 3-0, Western 2-0, and each needs a win to maintain early dominance.

In a previous meeting, the Hilltoppers beat the Maroons 83-67 in the finals of the OVC tournament in Louisville, breaking up a close game in the final ten minutes. Last season in the tournament Western won 82-73, but lost to the Maroons 95-70 at Bowling Green and 80-69 in Richmond.

Eastern hasn't been overly impressive in its three loop starts, sputtering over Morehead 74-64, outscoring Austin Peay 101-96, and downing Middle Tennessee 98-80, but, Coach

Jim Baechtold feels the first three games provided the answer to one of his most pressing problems—scoring at guard.

Replacing hustling, but low-scoring Doug Clemmons with Fred Johnson before the Tennessee trip in order to get more punch into the lineup worked better than Baechtold had hoped.

Johnson Scored 22

Johnson pumped in 22 points against Austin Peay in his first start, while Bill Walton, the other Maroon guard, was scoring 17. And, against Middle Tennessee, Walton fired in 34 and Johnson got 13, the best scoring from Maroon guards this season.

Improved guard play, coupled with the 23.8 point-per-game average of Eddie Bodkin, the OVC's leading scorer, has made the Maroons a better team than the one Western beat in December.

Western romped over Tennessee Tech by a surprising 120-92 in its league opener, but was not up to par in beating East Tennessee 85-69 at Bowling Green.

Following Bodkin in Eastern scoring statistics is Walton with a 16.0 average. No other Maroons are in double figures, although Garfield Smith, 9.8, John Carr, 8.6, Jerry Bisbey, 8.0, Johnson, 7.8, Dick Clark, 6.2, and Clemmons, 5.4, give the attack balance and double-figure scoring from all five floor positions.

Bodkin is also the leading rebounder with 10.9 saves per game, Carr next with 7.1, then Bisbey with 6.6.

Strongest statistical suit of the Maroons is team shooting. Even though one starter, Bisbey, is hitting below 40.0 at 39.3, the team field goal percentage is 48.2 through 12 games. Smith leads Eastern and the OVC with 41.5, followed by Carr, 55.6, Johnson, 52.6, Bodkin, 50.2, Clark, 46.9, and Walton, 46.5.

Western is led by Clem Haskins with a 23.0 point average, and three other two-digit scorers in Steve Cunningham, 16.6, Dwight Smith, 16.2, and Wayne Chapman, 12.2.

Tickets for the clash are still on sale at the athletic ticket office in Alumni Coliseum. Standing room seats will go on sale at the gate.

Eastern's freshman squad, coached by Jack Adams, will host the University of Tennessee yearlings, in a 5:45 preliminary to the 8 p.m. varsity tipoff.

Monday Eastern hosts Murray in another important league tilt.

Matmen Suffer First Defeat

The Eastern grapplers suffered their first defeat in three outings Saturday with a 29-8 loss to Morehead. Mike McClellan and Marty Willigan were the only Maroons to come out victorious. McClellan won by a decision and Willigan by a pin.

The Maroon loss can partly be attributed to the loss of Henry Bivens. The team was notified of his loss on Thursday. This meant that a replacement was needed in his weight division. Randy Byrd, who usually wrestles in the 160 lb. division, had to go down to the 152 lb. class, taking Bivens place. Joe Howard usually the 167 lb. man, moved down to take Byrd's place in the 160 lb. class. Larry House took over the 167lb. division. This forced Byrd and Howard to lose eight lbs. each.

Coach Harper believes that this might have affected their performance against Morehead.

The Maroons hope to bounce back when travel to Hanover College of Indiana on Jan. 20.

Wrinkle Resistant Fabrics
To be against progress would be like being against mothers and babies. And yet we have been conditioned by high pressure methods into believing that anything new is automatically better and means progress just because it is new. Progress has to be, by definition, improvement — a step forward—not necessarily novelty by itself.

Now it is true that wrinkle resistant fabrics are just that—resistant to wrinkles. They do not eliminate them, or make them disappear; they merely retard (or "resign") wrinkling. They are not "wrinkle proof."

Therefore, also, by virtue of their having been treated to resist wrinkling, they may actually permit more deeply set wrinkles to form. They are not wrinkle proof.

Our suggestion is this: Do not expect miracles—absolute absence of all wrinkles on the wrinkle resistant fabric. Do not expect this fabric to behave as if it had not been treated—it may give you a harder wrinkle if you handle it improperly.

You can, however, expect the maximum utility and beauty from wrinkle resistant and any other kind of garment when you have it cleaned by people who know and care.

ROMAN IN THE GLOAMING

Now as the end of the first semester draws near, one fact emerges clearly: you are all going to flunk out of school. There are two things you can do about it. First, you can marry money. (I don't mean you marry the money itself; I mean you marry a person who has money. Weddings between people and currency have not been legal anywhere in the United States since the Smoot-Hawley Act. Personna® Stainless Steel Blades, on the other hand, are legal everywhere and are, indeed, used with great pleasure and satisfaction in all fifty states of the Union and Dakota. I bring up Personna Stainless Steel Blades because this column is sponsored by the makers of Personna Stainless Steel Blades, and they are inclined to get edgy if I omit to mention their product. Some of them get edgy and some get double-edgy because Personna Blades come both in Injector style and Double Edge style.)

But I digress. I was saying you can marry money but, of course, you will not because you are a high-minded, clean-living, pure-hearted, freckle-faced American kid. Therefore, to keep from flunking, you must try the second method: you must learn how to take lecture notes.

According to a recent survey, eleven out of ten American undergraduates do not know the proper way to take lecture notes. To illustrate this appalling statistic, let us suppose you are taking a course in history. Let us further suppose the lecturer is lecturing on the ruling houses of England. You listen intently. You write diligently in your notebook, making a topic outline as you have been taught. Like this:

I. House of Plantagenet.
II. House of Lancaster.
III. House of York.

Then you stop. You put aside your pen. You blink back a tear, for you cannot go on. Oh, yes, you know very well that the next ruling house is the House of Tudor. The trouble is you don't know the Roman numeral that comes after III.

It may, incidentally, be of some comfort to learn that you are not the only people who don't know Roman numerals. The fact is, the Romans never knew them either. Oh, I suppose they could tell you how much V or X were or like that, but when it came to real zingers like LXI or MMC, they just flung away their styluses and went downtown to have a bath or take in a circus or maybe stab Caesar a few times.

You may wonder why Rome stuck with these ridiculous numerals when the Arabs had such a nice, simple system. Well, sir, the fact is that Emperor Vespasian tried like crazy to buy the Arabic numerals from Saleiman the Magnificent, but Saleiman wouldn't do business—not even when Vespasian raised his bid to 100,000 gold piastres, plus he offered to throw in the Colosseum, the Appian Way, and Technicolor.

So Rome stuck with Roman numerals—to its sorrow, as it turned out. One day in the Forum, Cicero and Pliny got to arguing about how much is CDL times MVIX. Well, sir, pretty soon everyone in town came around to join the hassle. In all the excitement, nobody remembered to lock the north gate and—wham! before you could say ars longa—in rushed the Goths, the Visigoths, and the Green Bay Packers!

Well, sir, that's the way the empire crumbled, and I digress. Let's get back to lecture notes. Let's also say a word about Burma Shave®. Why? Because Burma Shave is made by the makers of Personna Blades who, it will be recalled, are the sponsors of this column. They are also the sponsors of the ultimate in shaving luxury. First coat your kisser with Burma Shave, regular or menthol—or, if you are the devil-may-care sort, some of each. Then whisk off your stubble with an incredibly sharp, unbelievably durable Personna Blade, Injector or Double Edge—remembering first to put the blade in a razor. The result: facial felicity, cutaneous cheer, epidermal elysium. Whether you shave every day, every III days, or every VII, you'll always find Personna and Burma Shave a winning combination.

Growing Richmond Community Boasts Expanding Construction

By BILL RAKER
Progress Feature Editor

A drive along the section of I-75 that passes through the outskirts of Richmond is almost like driving through Eastern's campus. Every blink of the eye reveals some new development project or the site of a building presently under construction.

East of Lancaster Avenue, two new industries have located within the last two years. The Porter Manufacturing Company's plant produces a large line of gaskets and brake linings. Next door to Porter is the building housing the main offices and warehouses for the chain of Bell Drug Stores located through out this section of Kentucky.

Directly across I-75 from the college farm and greenhouse, barracks for the Kentucky State Police Post 7 are nearing completion and will soon be occupied.

Faculty Housing In Use
A few houses in Vickers' Village, the new faculty housing development are now in use; and several more units are either being planned or presently under construction.

A virtual boom town is beginning to sprawl on the west side of Lancaster. Already in operation are Brewer's Phillip 66 and a Standard Oil service station. A Convenient Food Mart and a Sun Oil station are under way and are planning to open for business within a month.

Holiday Inn Opens Soon
Holiday Inn will open 80 units of housing with a service unit and a swimming pool the last of February or early March. The building design is one that is revolutionary in the motel world. It is reportedly the first motel-hotel of its type in this part of the country. Two ultra-modern shopping centers are in the advanced stages. One, covering 11 acres of ground, will house several national chain stores.

Tentative plans for this area include outlays for another hotel, a number of restaurants, and a residential housing project.

The advantages all of these things bring to the community are numerous. A large number of new jobs will be created and will be open to both college students and local residents. The locations of the businesses are such that they will be convenient to shoppers from all over the county. Revenue potential for the community and local businessmen is as high as the imagination can make it.

Projects Tied To Eastern
The tremendous building projects recently finished or presently underway in the Richmond locality are all integrally tied to Eastern's unmatched growth and mushrooming expansion and to the new interstate highway system, I-75.

Farsighted businesses and industries seek out areas served by excellent and adequate transportation and education facilities.

Eastern and the surrounding Richmond area are bursting into the spotlight as they grow and mature together to furnish to prospective investors the three closely related factors of communications, transportation, and education.

Ideal Atmosphere Provided
Together Eastern and Richmond are providing ideal atmosphere and unlimited opportunities for cultural and industrial expansion and development in this southern part of the Bluegrass region.

One local businessman remarked recently that "Eastern is very much responsible for the rapid growth in the Richmond vicinity." The other side of the coin says that Richmond fertilizes Eastern's development, too.

President Martin's "vision of greatness" has taken up the entire community. As the college and Richmond join hands and push together, their giant strides of progress become even bigger.

Vickers Lays Cornerstone

John L. Vickers, executive assistant to the president, lays the cornerstone to Vickers' Village, faculty housing complex, as his wife Lois, and son, David, a freshman at Eastern, look on. Vickers' Village is composed of 23 faculty housing units, 15 of which were new this fall.
