High School Athlete

St. Joe's State Championship Cross Country Team

The team representing the St. Joseph Prep School of Bardstown won the K.H.S. A. A. Cross Country Run, held in Lexington on November 12. The same group won first place in the Fern Creek Invitational on November 3, and the Bellarmine Cross Country Run on November 18. The team was also first in the high school division of the Shamrock Cross Country Run (A.A.U.), held in Louisville on November 24. Press Whelan was individual champion in the K.H.S.A.A., Fern Creek, and Bellarmine runs, and he was first in the high school division of the Shamrock Cross Country.

Let's Leave Our Boxing Gloves At Home

Play ball! That's the cry heard around Kentucky this week. The same cry is heard here in Rockcastle as the three county schools open their basketball season.

All three county teams appear set, says our sport writer, Lyle Underwood, to give each other and the rest of the district a "run for its money." And on hand will probably be more spectators than at any time in recent years. All will be pulling for their favorite team. That's fine. But behind that support is a danger—especially this year.

Let's look at that danger and its consequences. It's the fourth quarter. Two minutes left to play. One point separates the two teams. The pep clubs are "whoopin' it up." Nerves are taut. Although the moment won't matter so much tomorrow, right now it matters a great deal.

Suddenly, one of the fans sees an incident on the playing floor that is inevitable in the rough and tumble game. He seizes on it and screams a none too complimentary phrase. Someone wants to defend the honor of the school and the battle is on.

Another situation would see two opposing players lose their wits and resort to their fists.

Regardless of the situation, the next day brings the bitter news and the crying towel. Ted Sanford, Commissioner of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association, has suspended the teams from further competition.

Suspension can happen. When it comes, it's not easy to take. Ask the team that's had one. All the team and school can do is try to live it down. Sometimes they never do.

We are told basketball is getting to be big and serious business. Mr. Sanford and Kentucky officials have been trying to tie the wildcat they have had by the tail. Indications are, they'll stand for no foolishness this year. They intend to control players and spectators, and if unable to do so in some scattered instances, then the school and town will have to bear the financial and sportsmanship loss. They're ready to "lower the boom."

In this season, like all seasons, both spectators and players must be ready to bear part of the responsibility for loss of prestige and recognition. The school must always be held responsible whether it is or not.

It all boils down to this: A player who cannot control his temper does not deserve to play. No team unable to abide by the decision of a referee (right or wrong) deserves to compete. No school which cannot teach its players sportsmanship and good conduct along with basketball deserves to floor a team. No fan unable to take the losses with the wins deserves a team to support.

When the going gets roughest this year and the winning point doesn't come, refrain from punching the guy in front of you in the nose, or swatting the lady with your purse. Remember this paraphrase of a line on love from a poem by Alfred Lord Tennyson: 'Tis better to have played and lost, than never to have played at all.'

Key Man More Ways Than One

By Burns Bennett, Montgomery Advertiser

Editor's Note: This article should probably have appeared early in the fall since it refers mostly to football. However, there is a message in it for every coach.

You're the high school football coach. This is your time of the year. All over America thousands of young men are busy these days collecting new crops of callouses, building better blisters, and mangling with the muscles.

Maybe you don't realize how important you are. You're building impressions that will last forever. A million kids are watching your every move—modeling themselves after their coach.

You take a lot of kidding. One of the stock stories for the Monday Morning Quarterbackers and Touchdowners concerns the high school coach in the little town. His season had been somewhat less than terrific. The only way he could have lost more games would have been to schedule more.

The practice field was across the highway from the school building in this suburban area. Each afternoon the young gentlemen with biceps and bruises would dress in the school basement and cross the road to the practice grid.

"Approved" and "Certified" Officials

One hundred twenty-nine basketball officials have qualified for the "Certified" rating this year, and fifty-three have received the "Approved" rating. The latter rating does not carry forward from year to year, but must be earned each year. After an official has received the "Certified" rating, he keeps this rating by clinic attendance. Only officials receiving these higher ratings are eligible to work in the regional tournaments. Only "Certified" officials, who are residents of Kentucky, are eligible to work in the State Tournament.

Basketball officials who qualified for advanced ratings during the current season are as follows:

Certified Officials

Raymond C. Adkins, Rex Alexander, James E. Baker, Jack H. Ballard, J. W. Barnett, Thomas P. Bell, Bert Bennett, Richard I. Betz, Clyde W. Blackburn, Bennie Bridges, Vic Brizendine, Carroll A. The Flying Dutchman

Got a letter in the mail saying, "Dutchman, how about letting us know through your column in the Athlete how your various projects function and what they are?" This reminded us of something Talt Stone said a few years ago when the Dutchman was considering dropping an activity because he doubted it was doing as much good as he had hoped for.

Said Talt, "Just because you don't hear from people, don't get the idea that a program is not clicking. You got to keep 'plugging away.' Make a list some time of your projects and get somebody to evaluate it, and you'll get all the encouragement anybody will ever need." Talt was so right in his thinking.

Four communications this month answer the request for information on the activities of the Flying Dutchman which are purely philanthropic endeavors. One was from a cheerful crippled kid, another came from a proud school principal whose school had just been recognized with an Abou Ben Adhem award, a third was a happy long distance telephone call from a chap who had received a Corn Cob Pipe of Honor citation for unselfish service, while the fourth came from a service man away down south in Florida, who said, "Keep writing the column."

When a physically-handicapped kid says, "My award did something for me," and a school principal tells you that his entire community felt honored because his school had been recognized for good neighbor practices, and another chap spends a couple of bucks on a telephone call because he got a "lift" from receiving a cob pipe, then you know Talt had something when he said, "You have got to make a list some time and evaluate."

There is a new Flying Dutchman project in the "hopper" for the New Year of 1956, The Youth Ambassadors of Friendship To Mexico.

All of the Flying Dutchman readers remember the first such breath-taking venture which took place in June of 1955, when eighty-five teen-age boys and girls from the Commonwealth of Kentucky astonished the world by flying to Cuba for the purpose of developing future friendships which might cause the world to be a friendlier place in a few years because kids from one country made friendships with those of another by personally visiting and getting to know and like them.

You will recall how the Government of Cuba reciprocated by sending a plane load of their own youngsters to Kentucky to keep that spirit of future friendships between nations alive. Those Kentucky kids raised by their own efforts and through the sponsorships of adults willing to invest in them more than $22,000 to finance this Friendship Flight. Winners of the Corn Cob Pipes of Honor became "Buck Sponsors" and helped by their sponsorships to the extent of $350. The avalanche of encouragement received by the Dutchman from all of you was heart-warming.

Take a look at some of the reactions which were occasioned by the first Youth Ambassador of Friendship Flight to Cuba: LOOK Magazine, "Kentucky kids conquer Cuba;" Courier-Journal, "The ways of diplomacy are reported in some circles to be rather rugged. But the way the eighty-five Youth Ambassadors handled their first experience in international relations made it look like a breeze;" Vice-President Richard Nixon, "Congratulations on a job well-done. You have made an important contribution to international goodwill and understanding;" Miami Beach Sun, "Those Kentucky kids proved that their State is equally famous for its courteous youngsters as it is for its blue grass and derby races;" U. S. Embassy, Havana, Cuba, "Kentucky's Youth Ambassadors made a host of friends for the United States on their recent visit to Cuba;" President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, "You are an outstanding group. By your individual and collective initiative you have earned the privilege of sponsoring a great cause."

Without the influence and help of friends of The Flying Dutchman it is a certainty that there could never have been that first Youth Ambassador of Good Will project. It was the moral and financial support given by Kentucky's athletic leaders, school men and officials, and even those Dutchman readers beyond the boundaries of Kentucky which inspired this youth movement and caused the eyes of the nation to focus on Kentucky. When our State Department, our Vice-President, senators, congressmen and countless Kentuckians urged the Dutchman to organize a second Youth Ambassador of Friendship Flight to Mexico in 1956, his first thought was to present it to Flying Dutchman readers and if he had their support he'd be willing to make the gigantic effort again.

Address a letter to The Flying Dutchman, Armory Building, Louisville, Ky., giving him your reaction to the proposed Youth Ambassador of Friendship Flight to Mexico, letting him know if he has your backing in flying kids talented in athletics and other fields to another country to build friendships for the future.

Watched George Conley and Tommy Bell team together in officiating a basketball game between Western and Alabama, and could not help but think that the training program of the K.H.S.A.A. was paying big dividends even outside the high school circles. There were several occasions when situations arose where each had to cover for the other and did so with perfection. It was a real pleasure to watch those two make a tough job look easy.

Presently, the K.H.S.A.A. training program is going on in all of the sixteen regions of the state, and good reports are coming in from the regional clinic directors who are doing the jobs out in the field.

Harlan's Johnny Crosthwaite has already conducted four training sessions, and here are his results: 55 took his training at Manchester, 80 attended at Barbourville, 40 were at his clinic at Pineville, while 150 crowded into the hall at Harlan. Johnny has two more planned at Benham and Loyall and will cover all the high schools in the 52nd district during the season. Remember that there are fifteen other such clinic directors besides Johnny teaching our officials in the other regions. Give your K.H.S.A.A. credit for a terrific training program for officials.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Girls' State Basketball Clinic

On Saturday, December 3, 1955, a Basketball Clinic was held at Bowling Green High School, Bowling Green, Kentucky. The clinic was conducted by Dr. Lura Evans of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois. Approximately one hundred and ten attended, representing seven high schools and three colleges.

With some fifty girls participating, special attention was given to some of the basic skills in basketball. These included running, evading, jumping, using limited dribble and combining the dribble with a running screen. Following the skills sessions, Miss Evans gave an interpretation of the rules as established by the National Section for Girls' and Women's Sports. Some essential rules were discussed and demonstrated along with an explanation of the new N.S.G.W.S. rule changes.

The techniques of officiating were demonstrated by Miss Peggy Stanaland, University of Louisville, and Miss Dottie Taylor, Eastern High School, Middletown, Kentucky. Many of the teachers and some of the students did some practice officiating. This concluded a most successful day of basketball for girls in the Southwestern part of the state.

The state was indeed fortunate in having the capable leadership of Dr. Lura Evans. She has long been a leader in the promotion of N.S.G.W.S. standards and has made numerous contributions to girls' basketball.

Ratings in basketball officiating will be given in several areas in the state this year. Definite plans have been made for these ratings in Bowling Green, Morehead, Lexington and Louisville. For additional information concerning basketball ratings contact Miss Peggy Stanaland, Kentucky Official Rating Board Chairman, University of Louisville, Louisville, Kentucky.

GUEST EDITORIALS

Thoughtfully, the city had provided warning signs for motorists who were want to come whizzing hell for leather down this particular artery. It said: "Drive carefully. Don't injure our players!" Below this someone had carefully written in with chalk: "Wait for the coach!"

But of course, this is just a joke. You are probably the most influential man in your community in the youthful set these days. You can afford to do no wrong because all eyes are upon you. You set the examples.

This same instructor in punts and passes set public speech classes in our school back 10 years. Since time immemorial instructors have been trying to impress upon budding William Jennings Brvans that they should allow the hands to swing freely and naturally when addressing an audience. This coach always kept his hands in his pocket when speaking to a group, or making a pep meeting talk. Furthermore, he'd jingle coins in his pocket while delivering his priceless forensics.

To this day when I get up before a crowd I frequently keep my hands in my pocket and finger loose change. I don't think I was any more impressionable than the average kid. Never underestimate your influence, Coach.

You've got an important job. You get hold of most of these youngsters just as they've reached the awkward age—the awkward age is that embarrassing period when the average youth discovers that he knows more than his father. He's setting aside the cocoon of youth for the robes of manhood. So Coach it's your job to impress upon the prospective star that athletic heroes have been coming and going for a long time.

People forget quick. You are to emphasize

Daymon Day
IN MEMORIAM

Daymon Day died Sunday morning, November 6, at his home in Bedford, Kentucky. He had been employed by the Trimble County Board of Education at the beginning of the current school year, and was Principal of Trimble County High School.

Mr. Day was a native of Hart County. He attended College High in Bowling Green, and graduated from Western State College. Since college, he had served in the capacities of teacher and attendance officer in Hart County, and as coach and principal at Sonora, Upton, Memorial High and Corinth. He had been affiliated with school work for the past eighteen years.

Mr. Day was a member of the Baptist Church, Lions Club and Masonic Lodge. His sudden death, due to a heart attack, was a great shock to his family and multitude of friends.

that athletic fame dies as quickly as a tropical flower—and stays dead just as long. There's nothing as pathetic as the man who tries to spend the rest of his life living in the reflected glow of a greatness that's gone.

Tell him, Coach, that the fellows who jump up and yell their heads off when he tears around end for 20-yards today, will have a hard time remembering his name five years from now. (Let me see, who WAS the captain on my senior team?)

Your most important job, Coach, is to let him know about the touchdowns in the real game of life. Football is a good teacher. You can stress that teamwork and cooperation and living clean and giving his best pays off. But there's more to life than that. Much more.

So, Coach, you, like Caesar's wife, must be above suspicion. You've got to show the way. As you go, so goes the squad—for a mighty long time.

"MEAN TO—Don't Get No Cotton Picked"

Many years ago a sage old black philosopher spoke a truth that has been handed down over the years and has become a folk saying, "Mean to—don't get no cotton picked!"

Probably there is not a principal or coach anywhere who does not at times resolve to take definite action to improve the sportsmanship at the athletic contests in which his teams participate. It may be that the attitude of the players is not just what it should be; or the problem may be with student or adult spectators. Whatever the problem, it is usually a difficult one—so difficult in many cases that the principal or coach puts off the task of attacking it, and soon the season is so far gone that he succumbs to the idea that it is too late to start anything this season. And he salves his conscience by promising himself that he will do it for sure next year.

The hardest thing about a difficult task is to start it. Great things grow from small beginnings. "Mean to—don't get no cotton picked!"

Sportsmanship

The teaching of reasonable and fair human behavior is a continuing process. The stresses which center around the loyalties and group prestige associated with athletic contests are a proving ground on which each individual is tested. Because the school group and the circumstances surrounding the contests are constantly changing, the job of developing right attitudes never ends.

It is a perpetual challenge to the school and athletic administrator. Because any given group has a small percentage of individuals who lack inhibitions and who have little appreciation of social obligations, the disappointments are many but compensating rewards are in the satisfaction which comes from directing energies into desirable channels.

The athletic program has many values. Far from the least of these is the providing of opportunity for an army of non-participants to experience the satisfaction which comes from working in a common cause without the excesses which uninhibited behavior would produce. Setting up the machinery for utilizing this opportunity is a job worthy of the best efforts of the entire school staff.

The Referee

(Lament of a Disqualified Player)

The Referee runs up and down
And tears his thinning hair.
He yells and blows his whistle with A John L. Lewis air.
He glowers when I take a step
Or brush against my guard
And if I chance to hack a man
He throws the book—and hard.

The Referee's a flighty bird;
He has an eagle eye.
I can't get any foul past him
No matter how I try.
But if my guard hangs on my neck
Or smacks my ears down flat,
The Referee ain't lookin', or
He's blind as any bat.

The Referee's a hard boiled egg,
A domineering guy.
And if I try to sass him back
I kiss the game good-bye.
I take his bum decrees and smile,
Don't say what I'd like to say.
But the son-of-a-gun is psychic,
He throws me out for just
Lookin' that way!
