THE EASTERN PROGRESS

Eastern State Teachers College and Normal School

VOLUME IV.

RICHMOND, KY., THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1927.

NUMBER 18.

INSTRUCTOR OF BIOLOGY ADDED TO THE FACULTY

Dr. Alpheus W. Blizzard Comes to Eastern from New York University; Is Graduate of Columbia University

IS EXPERIENCED TEACHER

The latest addition to the permanent faculty of the Eastern State Teachers College and Normal School is Dr. Alpheus W. Blizzard, who at present is an instructor in biology in the college department. He has come to Eastern from New York where he was an instructor in New York University.

Dr. Blizzard has had wide teaching experience and has done important research work in the field of biology. He also has published several books on subjects in the field of his life work.

In 1913 Dr. Blizzard obtained his bachelor of science degree from Ohio University at Athens, Ohio. He is a native of Columbus, Ohio. He later attended Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., where he obtained his master's degree in 1916. In 1925 he received his Ph. D. degree from Columbia University of New York City.

Accompanying Dr. Blizzard to Richmond are his wife and two children, Jane, seven years old, and Wesley, six years old. They have taken up their residence on Aspen avenue in Richmond.

At Ohio University Dr. Blizzard was a member of Delta Tau Delta, national social fraternity. He later became affiliated with the Delta Tau Delta chapter at Cornell University.

Dr. Blizzard began his teaching as head of the biology department of Jamestown College at Jamestown, North Dakota, where he remained from 1913 to 1915. In 1915 he became instructor of zoology at Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, from which he went after one year to New York University.

At New York University he became instructor of biology in 1917, and in 1923 became an assistant professor. During the summers of 1919 and 1920 he was in charge of the biological courses there. In the summers of 1923 and 1924 he was in charge of embryology and histology. From 1919 to 1924 he was in charge of freshman biology.

Among Dr. Blizzard's publications are "Development of Some Species of Agarics" in the American Journal of Botany; "The Nuclear Phenomena and Life History of Urocystis Cepulae" in the publication of the Torrey Botanical Club; "Sexuality in the Ustilagineae" and "The Pathogenicity of the Onion Smut" in the Torrey Bulletin.

Dr. Blizzard is a fellow in the Botanical Society of America, in which a fellowship can be obtained only by research work. He is also a member of the American Society of Zoologists; the Phytopathological Society; the Torrey Botanical Club; the Genetical Society; the New York Academy of Science, and the American Association of University Professors.

Normal School First Term Ends on July 8

The second summer term at Eastern for the normal school students will start July 11 and extend for five weeks. The second term for the college students will begin July 18 and extend five weeks. A large enrollment is expected.

Some indication of the number which will be present for the second term was given at the chapel period Monday when President T. J. Coates asked for a show of hands of those who would be here for the second term. A great many more than half responded.

The normal school will be finished a week earlier than the college because its terms are of five weeks each. The first term of the college will be six weeks and the second term five weeks with classes on each Saturday.

The first term of the college will end July 15 and will resume the following Monday, which is July 18. A large number of new students are expected here for the second term.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW CLASS ENDS TOMORROW

The classes in parliamentary law, which are being conducted at Eastern by Mrs. W. A. Fite, of Richmond, wife of the pastor of the First Christian church here, will close Friday.

The classes are being held each night from 6 o'clock to 7 o'clock in the University building. They were started June 22 and continued by President T. J. Coates at the instance of the students, who have said that the classes were quite profitable.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS FRIDAY

Practically All of Students Will Attend Performances of A Week

PROGRAM TO BE FEATURE

Season tickets for the Richmond Redpath Chautauqua, starting Friday (tomorrow) to extend for seven days not including Sunday, have been sold during the past few days by a committee of students and at the business office. The ticket sale will close Thursday (today) at noon.

The advance sales indicate that practically all of the 1,370 students of the college and normal school will have tickets for the Chautauqua, although there are 20 classes in progress daily after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Students are obtaining season tickets for the Chautauqua at a special rate of $2.

The committee of students selling tickets is composed of Charles W. Peebles, Howard Smith, Nora Young, Hazel Walden, Luther Sharp, Hallie Payne, Mary K. Lee and Inez McKinney.

Afternoon programs at the Chautauqua will be started promptly at 3 o'clock. At night the programs will begin at 7:45 o'clock.

The opening program Friday will be a popular concert by the Chicago Male Quartet, composed of students of the University of Chicago. The quartet also will give a short concert Friday night before the lecture of R. B. Ambrose on "The Science Story."

One of the two Broadway comedies to be given during the Chautauqua will be given Monday night. It is "The Goose Hangs High," given by a New York cast. The other, "The Patsy" will be given the night of Friday, a week from tomorrow. Kryle and His Band will give two concerts next Wednesday. This is one of the nation's leading concert bands.

A lecture by Tom Skeyhill, well known newspaper correspondent and traveler, on "Mussolini and the Blackshirts" will be given next Thursday night, after a concert by the DuMont Concert Company. Another prominent lecturer on the program is Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan and wife of an English army officer, who will speak Tuesday night on "Modern Arabian Knights." The other programs also are headliners.

T. J. Coates Leaves For N. E. A. Meeting

T. J. Coates, president of the Eastern Teachers College and Normal School, left Richmond Monday night for Seattle, Wash., where he will attend the annual meeting of the National Educational Association. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Rowena Coates.

In an address before the students Monday morning Mr. Coates said that he probably would not return to Richmond before July 20. He stated that he expected to bring to the students the full details and work of the convention of the leading educators of the nation.

Enroute to Seattle Mr. Coates and his daughter will visit Yellowstone National Park and other scenic points. On their return they will probably visit the Grand Canyon. A large party of Kentucky educators will make the trip. Mr. Coates, however, is the only one from Eastern.

During Mr. Coates' absence Dr. Homer E. Cooper, dean of the institution, will be president of Eastern. Mr. Coates announced that Dr. Cooper would be acting president in his address Monday morning.

R. E. JAGGERS IS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

Normal School Principal Gets $2,000 from General Education Board to Attend Cornell Next Year

STUDY RURAL EDUCATION

R. E. Jaggars, principal of the normal school and director of rural education at Eastern, has just been awarded a scholarship by the General Education Board of New York which will provide him with means of attending Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., during the next school year.

Although he has been at Eastern only one year, Mr. Jaggars has been recognized as one of the leading instructors in rural education in the state, say officials of Eastern. He has received one of the largest scholarships which the board has awarded, they said.

During his year at Cornell, beginning in September, Mr. Jaggars will receive $2,000 with which to pursue his education toward his doctor's degree. Mr. Jaggars was graduated from the University of Kentucky and last summer completed his work toward his master's degree, which he also obtained at the university.

Mr. Jaggars also has studied at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., and at the Western State Teachers College and Normal School at Bowling Green.

Wide experience in teaching and administration also has been gained by Mr. Jaggars. He has taught in seven rural schools and was superintendent for three years of the Marion city schools.

While he was studying at the University of Kentucky Mr. Jaggars was part time teacher and upon his graduation became a field agent in the department of extension of the university. He resigned that position to come to Eastern. He previously had been teacher of the summer training school at Marion for three years and at Liberty one year. These summer schools were conducted by the state department of education.

At Cornell Mr. Jaggars will study for the training of rural teachers, and also will take courses in rural education and normal school and college administration. His wife and three children will accompany him to Ithaca, leaving about September 1. They expect to tour through the East by automobile before going to Ithaca, stopping for several days in Washington, D. C.

SONG SLIDES ARE SUCCESS

Song slides, recently ordered by John Orr Stewart, head of the music department of Eastern, were used for the first time Monday night after the concert given in the open air auditorium by the Footwarmers Orchestra. The music and words of several popular songs were flashed on the screen to guide the group in singing. Mr. Stewart expressed pleasure at the success of the slides.

DR. McLELLAN SPEAKS

Dr. Hugh McLellan, pastor of the First Christian church at Winchester, gave an interesting talk to the students last Thursday night in the open air auditorium. He is one of the prominent speakers who are brought to Eastern once a week to speak to the students on Thursday night.

MISS FRAZER ACCEPTS POSITION IN LOUISVILLE

Miss Joy Frazer, resident nurse at the Eastern State Teachers College and Normal School for the past three and a half years, has resigned to accept a position as instructor of nurses at the Jewish hospital in Louisville.

Miss Frazer will leave Richmond July 1 but will not begin her new duties until August 1.

Before coming to Eastern Miss Frazer did private duty for several years. She was graduated from the training school of the Good Samaritan hospital at Lexington. She also did nursing overseas during the World War.

COLLEGE HEAD SPEAKS HERE

VALUE OF STUDY SHOWN

"The Value of Personal Contacts," was the subject of the address of Dr. M. B. Adams, president of Georgetown College, before the Eastern students at the assembly Wednesday morning. Dr. Adams told of the value of teachers, textbooks and classics in bringing into the student's soul of learning the experiences of past leaders.

Dr. Homer E. Cooper, dean of Eastern and acting president, introduced Dr. Adams as a man who as president of a college was making his institution felt in the educational world. He also said that Georgetown College was doing a great work in preparing high school teachers for schools in the state.

In opening his address Dr. Adams read a few verses from the 15th chapter of the gospel of John. He declared that in the years to come that the personal contact of the students with their professors would be far more remembered and profitable than that which they had received from textbooks.

The interchange of power and through between minds is a great part in education, Dr. Adams said. He spoke of religion as a savior and education as the application of trained minds. "We must have sympathy, understanding and co-operation of those who believe in us to profit by education," he said.

"Our influence grows if the succeeding generations can appropriate our work and profit by the lives of great men who have lived in the past," he told the students.

Dr. Adams described as a modern miracle the passage of the soul of the teacher, texts and writers into the minds of the students in the process of learning in the modern college life.

"Jesus Christ is the greatest personality in all history and He pleaded for personal contact in that he might live in us and we in Him," declared Dr. Adams. The greatest purpose of education, he said is building of the soul of the students and not acquiring credits toward obtaining a certificate or degree.

COMMERCIAL, COACHING COURSES ARE FEATURES

A new preliminary announcement of the school year of 1927-28 of the Eastern State Teachers College and Normal School, preceding the catalogue, now is being prepared and will be ready for submission to the printers within a few days. It will be distributed soon.

Courses in the commercial department and in athletic coaching are being featured in the announcement. All of the departments of the college and normal school are contributing to the announcement.

It is stated in the announcement that the commercial department is being enlarged next school year because of the increased demands for work in that department. It is expected that additional members will necessarily be added to the teaching staff of that department.

Courses in athletic coaching will be given because of a great demand for them. Countless prospective teachers say that the schools they are going to are requiring that they have training to coach athletic teams of the school. Playground supervision also is being sought.

Special courses will be given next year at Eastern to equip the coming teachers to supervise playgrounds, not only in the schools but in city parks.

1928 FOOTBALL CARD INCLUDES NINE BIG GAMES

Centre, University of Louisville, Western and Wesleyan Are Strongest Opponents Five Tilts in Richmond

12 LETTER MEN TO RETURN

Possibly hardest football schedule that the Eastern gridders have ever attempted is being arranged for next fall. It will include games with Centre, Kentucky Wesleyan, the University of Louisville and the Western State Teachers College.

Last year these four teams ranked with the best in the state, Centre sharing the state championship with Georgetown College and the other three being but a little behind. Only one date remains open, although the St. Mary's game has not been finally closed.

Twelve letter men will return to Eastern next fall as well as numerous men who have been on the squad at some time during the past few years. Other good players are expected, including some likely freshmen players.

G. N. Hembree, who has been coach of the Eastern teams for several years, will again direct the training and playing of the Maroon and White eleven. He will have assistance in handling the squad.

The letter men who will return are headed by Jesse Moberly, of Richmond, captain of the 1927 team. He is a backfield man and one of the ranking players of the state. The other letter men are Beckham Combs, Ralph Gentry, Clyde Hensley, Josh Cosby, Mervin Runyon, Winburn Clifton, Alington Crace, Arville Hamilton, Jim Stacey, Swepton Clayton, and Thomas Clouse.

The squad also will include Al Pieh, former University of Kentucky player; George Manley, star at Lincoln Memorial University, and Jack Rader, Tennessee high school player, all of whom were in school last semester.

Members of last year's squad who will be out for the team are F. Dial, R. R. Richards, R. L. Staton and Floyd Gaines. High school players from London, Millersburg Military Institute and other prominent eastern and central Kentucky high schools also are expected to be candidates for the team.

The season will open with a game with Centre College's famous Colonels at Danville on October 1. Either four or five games will be played in Richmond. They will be with Union College, East Tennessee Normal, the University of Louisville, St. Mary's and possibly one other opponent.

Five of the teams which will be played in the fall were not on the Eastern schedule last year. They are Centre, Wesleyan, Morehead Normal, Louisville and Western.

The schedule is as follows:
Oct. 1—Centre at Danville.
Oct. 8—Union at Richmond.
Oct. 15—Wesleyan at Winchester.
Oct. 22—East Tennessee Normal at Richmond.

Oct. 29—Open.
Nov. 5—Morehead Normal at Morehead.
Nov. 12—University of Louisville at Richmond.

Nov. 19—St. Mary's at Richmond (pending).
Nov. 24—Western Teachers College at Bowling Green.

Little Theatre Club Offered National Bid

An invitation to the Little Theatre Club of Eastern to become a member of the national association of dramatic clubs of colleges and universities, has just been received by Miss Pearl Buchanan, director of the club.

Miss Buchanan said that the invitation will be turned over to the club, which will decide soon whether it will accept the bid of the national dramatic organization. She said that the offer was an honor and a recognition of the excellent work of the Little Theatre in Richmond.

The Little Theatre Club is planning an entertainment for its members within the next few days, and last week appointed a committee to arrange plans for such. The committee is composed of William Stevens, Evelyn Wellman, Elva Moffett and Jessie Fletcher.

THE LITTLE SCHOOL

A few years ago the writer accidentally said: "In the minds of the average persons a rural school is a little house on a little ground, with a little equipment and a little attendance from a little district where a little teacher teaches little children little things in a little way." This definition has become nationwide. These are the factors of the little school. The problem of improving the school is to write "larger" where the word "little" occurs.

But these eight factors are not of equal value. The teacher is of greater value than all the rest. "As is the teacher so is the school." If I were asked to estimate the school on the basis of 100, I should place the teacher at 75. The first problem then in improving the school is to improve the teacher. There are several factors of the teacher, but I would name the principal ones as personality, scholarship and teaching power. Each of these can be improved rapidly and comparatively easily.

In the second place, I would put the house at 10 per cent. You cannot teach a good school in a hut nor will a good teacher live in a hut. A school house need not be a palace but it should be at least as good as any other house in the district, or a little better. Whatever you want in the home, put it in the school. Do we want our children to live in better homes than their fathers? Let them grow accustomed to a better home in the school home. All the people can certainly build a better home than any one of them.

I think the equipment will represent another 10 per cent, and everything else the remaining five per cent. Of the 10 per cent represented by the equipment, books easily represent at least 8 per cent. Of this 8 per cent textbooks represent 4 per cent and the library the other four. With the textbooks children can be taught how to read, but it must be with a well chosen library that children will form the habit of reading and the love of reading. If the habit of reading is not formed while young, it will never be formed. If the habit of reading is not formed, the individual will never be self-educated. If the individual is not self-educated, he will never be broadly educated. The teacher, the house, the equipment—these three; the greatest of these is the teacher. But the teacher cannot work without a house and without equipment. He cannot work without textbooks and a library.

—T. J. Coates

NINETY STUDENTS TAKE PART IN BARGE PARTY

Ninety students led by Prof. G. D. Smith, took part in the barge trip down Kentucky river from Boonesboro Saturday. Mr. Smith reported that the party was one of the most successful of its kind ever held for the students.

The students were transported to Boonesboro by motor car and buses, and arrived there at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. They traveled down the Kentucky river approximately 12 miles before returning to Boonesboro. The return to Richmond was made by eight o'clock.

Next Saturday Mr. Smith will direct a group of students to Frankfort for a tour of the state buildings and the capitol. The party will leave early in the morning in automobiles. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. Smith not later than Friday night.

RARE MOTHS FOUND

Two rare specimens of moths have just been turned over to Prof. G. D. Smith and have been placed in the collection at the Teachers College, Mr. Smith said yesterday. One is the cecropia moth, captured by an employe of the Richmond post office. A student found the other, which is a specimen of the polyphemous moth.

STATE UNIVERSITY HEAD TO SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, will speak to the students of Eastern Thursday night (tonight) at 7:30 o'clock in the open air auditorium. A large crowd is expected to hear the popular educator.

In announcing the address of Dr. McVey Tuesday morning, Dr. Homer E. Cooper, acting president of Eastern, said that he considered the state of Kentucky fortunate in having such a man at the head of its university.

ARRAY OF SPEAKERS IS ARRANGED FOR SUMMER

Dr. Irvin Abell, of Louisville, prominent physician and surgeon, and president of the Kentucky Medical Society, will speak to the students at the chapel period Thursday (this morning). His address will be one of the series of talks made here during the summer by prominent men of the state.

Judge E. B. Beard, of Shelbyville, one of the most prominent attorneys of the state, will come to Richmond July 12 to speak to the students at the chapel period. He is a forceful speaker.

At the assembly July 4 the speaker will be Superintendent Paul Boyd, of Carrollton; July 4 the speaker will be Superintendent W. F. O'Donnell of Richmond; July 11 the speaker will be Superintendent E. F. Birkhead, of Winchester. All three men are here teaching classes during the summer term.

A KENTUCKIAN'S PSALM OF LIFE

Man that is born in Kentucky is but feud days and full of bullets. He fisheth, diffleth, cusseth, and fighteth all the days of his life.

He shunneth water like a mad-dog, and drinketh much bad whiskey.

When he riseth from his cradle and goes forth to seek the scalp of his grandsires' enemy, he bringeth home in his carcass the ammunition of his neighbor's wife's cousin's father-in-law, who avengeth the dead.

Yea, verily his life is uncertain, and he knoweth not the hour that he may be dispatched.

He goeth forth on a journey half-shot and returneth again to his habitation on a litter full of buckshot.

He ariseth in the night to let the cat out and it requireth a doctor three days to extract lead from his body.

He goeth forth in joy and gladness and cometh back in scraps and fragments.

He calleth his fellow man a liar and is himself filled with shot and scrap iron even unto the fourth generation.

A cyclone bloweth him into the arms of his neighbor's wife, and his neighbor's wife's husband bloweth him into the arms of Abraham before he hath time to explain.

He emptieth a demijohn into himself and a shotgun into his enemy, and his enemy's son fleteth in wait for him on election day, and the corner ploweth up a forty acre field to bury the remains of his enemies.

Teaching of Health Is Official's Plea

Education of the people of the nation in personal hygiene is largely in the hands of the teachers, said Dr. P. D. Mossman, of Washington, D. C., director of the trachoma service of the United States Public Health Service, in an address before the Eastern students Tuesday morning.

Dr. Mossman gave a general health talk, dealing with trachoma only slightly. He said, however, that trachoma was decreasing the efficiency of thousands of persons in the United States. He advised that it be found in the early stages and early treatment given. Two things may be accomplished, he said. One is relief and the other the abolishment of a source of infection.

The people of the United States must be educated in personal hygiene, he said, because physicians have come to realize that the persons who are flat of their backs are not the only ones who are ill.

The three greatest services that health work can do, he said, are the prevention of communicable diseases, the correction of remedial diseases, and the teaching of health habits.

He was introduced by Dr. Homer E. Cooper, dean of Eastern, and Dr. Robert Sory, superintendent of the United States trachoma hospital here at Richmond. The latter explained that any person with trachoma could obtain treatment at the hospital free of charge. A patient's only expense is his laundry bill and personal items, Dr. Sory said.

Eastern to Prepare Advanced Teachers

The Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College now is entering actively into the business of preparing teachers and administrators for the high schools of the state.

In the past some members of her graduating classes have entered sooner or later into the high school field but the preparation for that work was only incidental and partial. Now the college is procuring a man especially for that field. A number of promising candidates are now under consideration.

The faculty member to be procured will have these qualifications:

Acquaintance with small city, village and rural high schools;

Scholarship as represented by the doctor's degree;

Good judgment seasoned by experience;

Ability to give expert guidance to superintendents and principals when called upon in high school matters.

The various scholastic departments are now reaching the degree of adequacy that will enable the prospective high school teacher to prepare to teach almost any two subjects represented in the major departments. The same is coming to be true of the minor departments. The English and the social science departments, for example, have been fully adequate for some time. Now the science group and others are taking high rank. The academic preparation can therefore be given to the prospective high school teacher.

The professional preparation is now provided. The strengthening of the education staff for secondary education will at the same time strengthen the staff for elementary and rural school preparation by leaving some of the education teachers entirely free to work in these latter fields.

When the staff is made up it will consist of: Homer E. Cooper, Ph. D., dean, educational administration; R. A. Edwards, A. M., director student teaching, elementary education; R. E. Jagers, A. M., principal of the Normal School, rural education; M. E. Mattox, A. M., elementary education; A. A. Schnieb, A. M., elementary education; to be supplied, Ph. D., secondary education; to be supplied, Ph. D., educational psychology.

The board of regents has settled upon a standard of scholarship that provides that, in the department of education, faculty members who have classes made up of juniors and seniors must have the doctor's degree, and as the headships of major academic departments become vacant they will be filled by that same level of scholarship. It will therefore be seen that the secondary schools can get service at Eastern.—Dr. Homer E. Cooper, Dean.

Greater Libraries In State School Urged

A plea for greater library facilities in the schools and homes of the state was made Monday by T. J. Coates, president of Eastern, in an address before his departure for the meeting of the National Educational Association at Seattle, Washington.

"Kentuckians are not a reading people and must become such before they are thoroughly educated," he said.

Mr. Coates gave to the students the results of a long survey of the schools of the state and of what a school is made up. The teacher is 75 per cent of a school, he said, although the building be a hut or a mansion. The school is what the teacher is, he declared.

Ten per cent of the school is the building, said the president. A building is necessary to keep a good teacher, he said. Ten per cent of the school is the books and the other five per cent the other factors which make up a school.

"If you want better things in the homes, you must put them in the schools," the president declared. He cited as an example the effective work done at the Western State Teachers College in educating the people to stamp out malaria and typhoid fever.

GYMNASIUM WILL BE PAINTED THIS SUMMER

The executive committee of the board of regents of the Eastern State Teachers College and Normal School has just let to Reed Juett, of Richmond, the contract for the painting of the gymnasium at a cost of $24.

A gray coat of paint will be put on the gym, which will be similar in color to the dairy barn on the southern end of the campus. Members of the executive committee at the meeting were J. A. Sullivan, resident regent; R. E. Turlay, treasurer of the board, and T. J. Coates, president of the college.

The committee also purchased a carload of coal to supply the needs of the institution until the coal, bought by the state purchasing commission, arrives in Richmond.

Superintendents Ask For Class Next Year

The county superintendents who last week completed a special course arranged for them at Eastern State Teachers College, requested in resolutions passed unanimously that the college have a similar course during the summer school of 1927-28.

A committee, composed of Supt. Mamie West Scott, of Estill county, Supt. Maye Neal, of Robertson county, and Supt. Ora L. Roby, of Bullitt county, prepared the resolutions. A farewell gathering of the class was held last week at the Bonesborough Beach in Madison county.

Other members of the class, composed entirely of county superintendents, are Mr. Ervine Turner, of Breathitt county, M. N. Evans, of Fleming county, Robert E. Little, of Jackson county, Pryse Thomas, of county, Miss Lelia Jane Harris, of Madison county, W. T. McClain, of Nelson county, L. E. Meece, of Pulaski county, and Bruce Rose, of Wolfe county.

The resolutions are as follows: We, the county superintendents' class of Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College, hereby offer the following resolutions:

First, Resolved that we the county superintendents' class of Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College desire to thank President T. J. Coates, Dean Cooper for the privileges of attending the county superintendents' class of surveys and publicity and office administration for the summer term of 1927. We wish to express our appreciation to the faculty and all those connected with Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College for the courtesies extended to us during our stay.

We desire to thank publicly R. E. Jagers, principal of the Normal School, and Fallen Campbell, field agent, for their splendid instruction in these courses and we feel that we have not only been benefited from these courses but that all the counties herein represented will receive values that are immeasurable.

Second, Resolved that we the county superintendents herein represented realizing the great benefits received from this course ask President Coates that a similar course be offered next summer.

Third, Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to T. J. Coates, president of Eastern Kentucky State Normal School and Teachers College, copy to Dean Cooper to be read before the faculty, copy to R. E. Jagers and Fallen Campbell, teachers, copy to be published in the Eastern Progress.

SOCIETY

The marriage of Miss Lana Martine Coates, daughter of T. J. Coates, president, and Mr. Stuart Albert Brabant was solemnized Saturday morning at the president's home on the campus before the immediate families and a few friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The only attendants were her sister, Miss Mable Ruth Coates, and Mr. Jack Van Cleve, of Berea, a friend of the groom.

The couple left for a short wedding trip after which they will be at home at Russellville, Ky. Both are graduates of the University of Kentucky. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brabant, of Owensboro.

Misses Mary Burier and Katherine Roberts entertained most delightfully at bridge Tuesday night in honor of Miss Joy Frazer, resident nurse at Eastern, who has resigned to accept a position in Louisville. The party was given at the home of Mrs. Hart Perry on Oak street.

Miss Marie L. Roberts, dean of women, will give a motor trip to Bardstown Friday in honor of Miss Jay Frazer. The party will include Miss Roberts, Miss Frazer, Miss Maude Gibson, Miss Roberta Walker and the latter's guest, Miss Teddie Walker.

Miss Viola Anderson is the week end guest of Misses Enna and Flora Tatae at Sullivan aHl.

building. Several of the students, who are school officials, said that they would institute such tests in their schools.

Dr. Cooper is well qualified to lecture in the field of intelligence tests. She was psychologist for five years at the Horace Mann School at New York. She is a graduate of Columbia University, where she obtained her doctor's degree.

MRS. COOPER TALKS ON INTELLIGENCE TESTS' USE

The demonstrations, lectures and conferences on the use of intelligence tests, which were started last week by Dr. Clara Chassell Cooper, wife of Dr. Homer E. Cooper, dean of Eastern, were closed Tuesday.

Students taking part in the conferences said that they were most profitable. Dr. Cooper showed them that a school can not be high in efficiency without such tests. She took up most of the important phases of the tests in her discussions with students.

The lectures were begun last Friday and held every day at 4:10 o'clock in the afternoon in the University
