Coates Memorial Service Will Be Held In Outdoors

Final Arrangements For Service at 3:30 O'clock Sunday Afternoon Have Been Made By Officials Of Eastern

COLLEGE HEADS TO COME

Final arrangements have been completed for the memorial service to be held at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Eastern campus, honoring the late Thomas Jackson Coates, president of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and Normal School.

If the weather permits the service will be held in the open air auditorium of Eastern; otherwise the addresses will be made in the gymnasium. Ushers have been selected and it is planned to have every detail of the service cared for in advance.

All of the presidents of the teachers colleges of the state have been invited and are expected to be present. Two are on the program and the others, Dr. H. L. Donovan, of Eastern, and Dr. F. C. Button, of Morehead, will be present. Other well known educators of the state and nation have expressed their intention of being present.

As first announced the program will be presided over by W. C. Bell, state superintendent of public instruction, and will be opened with music. The addresses will be held in the order announced on the program without the speakers being introduced. It is the idea of Eastern officials to carry out the program in as simple and appropriate manner as is befitting to the illustrious leader who guided the progress of this institution for ten years.

Invitations and announcement of the service have been sent to friends of Mr. Coates and of Eastern in every section of the state and a large number are expected to be in Richmond to do homage to his memory. Programs will be distributed at the service and will be followed closely.

The speakers and their subjects as they appear are: "The President," by H. M. Brock, of Harlan, state senator and member of Eastern's board of regents since its founding; "The Educator," by Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of the Western Kentucky State Teachers College and Normal School, Bowling Green.

"The Colleague," by R. A. Edwards, of Richmond, superintendent of Eastern's training school; harp solo, "Elegie," by Hasselman, played by Miss Brown E. Telford, of Richmond; "The Teacher," by Miss Mattie Dalton, superintendent of Fayette county schools.

"The Citizen," by Rainey T. Wells, president of the Murray State Teachers College and Normal School; "The Friend," by John C. Cardwell, of Louisville, life long friend and associate of Mr. Coates; "The Man," by Dr. R. L. Telford, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Richmond. The program will be closed with music.

Instructors Speak At Teachers Meets

In furtherance of the plan at Eastern to furnish speakers for various teachers' conferences throughout the eastern part of Kentucky various members of the Eastern faculty of late have been in the field.

Mrs. Gladys Tyng recently spoke to the teachers of Estill county at Irvine. Miss Anna Schniebel has been in Fleming county on similar work. W. C. Jones, principal of the normal school, recently spoke at Somerset to the Pulaski county teachers and attended the meeting of the Madison county teachers in Richmond.

Each week various members of the faculty make similar excursions into the field which Eastern serves in order that the college may be taken to the communities as well as the communities brought to it through the students here.

GIFT TO LOAN FUND IS MADE BY SPEAKER

P. H. Callahan, Louisville manufacturer, who spoke to the students of Eastern at chapel Monday, is the latest contributor to the student loan fund of Eastern. Mr. Callahan gave to the fund the sum which he received for coming to Eastern to deliver the address.

Although the sum was small, Mr. Callahan said that he wanted it to return to Eastern where it would do most good to the students, and he selected the student loan fund. Mr. Callahan expressed interest in the growth of this fund and commended the work which had been done along that line.

The committee from the faculty appointed to create interest in the establishing of scholarships, fellowships and additions to the student loan fund already has started work at Eastern and is hopeful of immediate results. They expect to be active from now on in this work at Eastern.

Faculty To Include Eastern Graduates

Kerney M. Adams and Herbert T. Higgins Accept Positions Here For Coming Collegiate Year

Two graduates of the diploma class of Eastern several years ago will become members of the Teachers College faculty here in the fall. They are Kerney M. Adams, new director of extension, and Herbert T. Higgins, manual training and industrial arts instructor, both of whom are natives of Kentucky.

Mr. Adams will succeed Mr. Fallen Campbell, extension director of Eastern, who has resigned to direct the distribution of free textbooks in Kentucky. After Mr. Adams graduated from the diploma class of Eastern, he attended the University of Kentucky, where he was graduated with an A.B. degree. Later he received his master's degree at Cornell.

During the summer Mr. Adams is working toward his doctor's degree at Cornell University. This work included study in the Widener library of Harvard University, of Cambridge, Mass., where he spent part of the early summer. He now has returned to Ithica, N. Y., to work further at Cornell.

Mr. Adams' major work since leaving Eastern has been in the field of history. Work for his master's thesis was done in original French sources. For the past two years he has taught modern European and English history in Altoona (Pa.) high school.

Mr. Higgins will take the position at Eastern of Mr. N. D. Deniston, who will study next year at Bradley Polytechnic Institute in Illinois. Mr. Higgins also obtained his bachelor's degree from the University of Kentucky. His required residence work for his master's degree also was completed at the University of Kentucky. His teaching experience included one year as a rural teacher; two years in the graded school at Pulaski, Ky.; principal of the county high school at Parksville, Ky.; one year as manual training instructor at Ashland high school, of Ashland; three years as manual training instructor in the high school at Anchorage, and two years as director of vocational education at Pensacola, Fla.

Officials of Eastern have expressed pleasure that the two graduates of the institution will become members of its faculty in the forthcoming collegiate year.

PROF. G. D. SMITH LEADS STUDENTS ON OUTINGS
Numerous students have enjoyed various excursions into different sections of Central Kentucky conducted by Prof. G. D. Smith during the past few weeks. The parties have visited East Pinnacle, Boonesboro and various other spots. Mr. Smith plans other trips in the near future and students look forward to these excursions with great anxiety.

Athletic Teams To Be Known As The Leopards In Future

Live Animal Is Offered To Teachers College as Mascot by Park Commission of Memphis For $275

PURCHASE MAY BE IN FALL

Eastern's athletic teams in the future will be known as the Leopards, it has been decided by representatives of student organizations and officials of Eastern. The decision was reached some time ago but announcement was withheld while a search was made for a suitable mascot.

A letter from the Memphis Park Commission has just been received in which a leopard was offered for sale to Eastern, and its purchase is being considered.

Next fall the gridiron warriors, wearers of the Maroon, will appear for the first time not only as members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, but as Leopards. Plans already are being formulated for welcoming the team with its new standings.

Whether the leopard will be purchased from the Memphis Park commission will depend upon the action of the students in the fall. Last year the students showed little preference in the selection of a wild animal to be symbolic of its athletic prowess and thus the selection by the student representatives and officials.

From the office of N. J. Melroy, superintendent of the zoological gardens at Memphis, came a letter offering the leopard to Eastern for $275. It is a female leopard, one of two owned by the city of Memphis, which wants but one.

Advices come with the letter that the leopard is sneaking and vicious and that a strong cage will have to be provided for the animal, if bought. The leopard is six or seven years old and tame as the ordinary leopard, which is known to be one of the most vicious animals in captivity.

The leopard was described as being in first class condition, beautifully spotted.

It was the idea of the committee of students and faculty members to get a cub leopard, if possible, but the entire arrangements for its procurement will be left to the students who will be here in the fall.

Both officials and students for some time have deplored the fact that Eastern does not have a wild animal as a mascot, to be a symbol of the fierceness and aggressiveness of its athletic teams. None could be more fierce than the leopard, they say.

Miss Roberts Will Do Work At Iowa

Miss Katherine Roberts, of Lexington, who has been a member of the Eastern faculty for the past three years as instructor of French, has been granted a leave of absence for a year in order that she may study at the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Miss Roberts plans to do work in child psychology. She has been granted a position as research assistant in the child welfare station at the University of Iowa, and will begin her work in the fall.

Before leaving for Iowa Miss Roberts will spend a short vacation at her home in Lexington, where her father, Dr. George Roberts, is head of the agronomy department in the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. She will leave Eastern at the close of the second summer term August 17 and will stay in Lexington until September 1.

As a successor to Miss Roberts as teacher of French the board of regents have named Miss Janet Murbach, also of Lexington.

Miss Roberts will be at the University of Iowa all of the next regular collegiate year and during the summer session of 1929. She was graduated from the University of Kentucky, her

TOTAL ENROLLMENT FOR SECOND TERM IS 647

Final enrollment for the second term of the summer session of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and Normal School is 647, it was announced by M. E. Mattox, registrar. This number includes 142 in the normal department and 505 students in the college.

G. M. Brock, business agent, said yesterday that the total enrollment for the second term last year, according to his record, was 647 students, which has been duplicated this year. Final enrollment for students who wish to carry a light load of studies was last Friday and no students may enroll now.

Due to the fact that the college did not have classes on Saturday during the first term and the normal department did have such classes, the closing date for the normal school is one week earlier than that for the college. The normal school closes Friday, August 10, and the college August 17.

Class work has been in full swing for more than a week and teachers and students both have become thoroughly acquainted with the routine of class work in the summer time. The second term enrollment includes a large number of students who were not here for the first term.

Miss Foster Is New Library Assistant

Native of Western Kentucky Will Succeed Miss Isabel Bennett on Staff of Teachers College

To fill the vacancy in the library of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College caused by the resignation of Miss Isabel Bennett, of Richmond, assistant librarian, the board of regents have elected Miss Elinor Foster, of western Kentucky. Miss Foster will assume her duties in the fall.

The election of Miss Foster was completed at the last meeting of the board of regents here July 7. At present Miss Foster is employed in the library of the Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City, and will come from New York to assume her duties here.

Miss Bennett, whose place will be taken by Miss Foster, completed a year's study at Columbia in June and is resting at her home in Richmond during the summer. She was operated for appendicitis before leaving New York. In the fall Miss Bennett will return to New York to accept a position in the library at Columbia.

Miss Foster is a native of Kentucky, having lived most of her life at Bowling Green and Paducah. She spent one year in the Bowling Green high school and five years at Ward-Belmont College, of Nashville, Tenn., where she completed her high school and junior college work.

For the past three years Miss Foster has been a student at George Peabody College, of Nashville, Tenn., where she was graduated with a B.S. degree. Last June she received her master's degree from Peabody. While there Miss Foster took practically all of the library science courses offered at Peabody. Her master's thesis was in that field of study. She has had experience in the Peabody library and the Demonstration School library, which with her work this summer at Columbia is expected to prove valuable.

Officials of Eastern have announced that Miss Foster comes well recommended by all of her teachers. She is 23 years old and a member of the Methodist church. High recommendations have been received as to her scholastic attainments.

major work being romance languages. She also had practically enough work in psychology to be the equivalent of the amount required for a major. She has been a member of the Eastern faculty since her graduation.

Callahan Speaks About Prohibition At Chapel Period

Nationally Known Leader Of Peace Movements and Louisville Manufacturer Is Guest Of Eastern

EVILS OF DRINK CITED

A discussion of the prohibition amendment was given the students of Eastern at the chapel period Monday by Mr. P. H. Callahan, Louisville manufacturer. He was introduced by Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern.

Dr. Donovan in reviewing the accomplishments of Mr. Callahan said that he was one of America's most distinguished citizens, belonging not only to Kentucky but to the entire nation. President Wilson tendered him the chairmanship of the traffic control; President Harding offered him the honor of being a representative to the Geneva conference; William J. Bryan nominated him as president of the United States, said Dr. Donovan. Mr. Callahan is especially interested in peace and has presided over many peace conferences in the United States. He has also gone abroad in the interest of peace.

In opening, Mr. Callahan said that whisky was one of this country's biggest products, and one of Kentucky's largest industries.

"The people of the United States were experiencing great loss because of the use of liquor. The present prohibition law was enacted after all other less rigid laws had failed. No student can know or contrast the present state of things with those while liquor was in use. The saloon men entirely controlled the election of police officers and political elections through their powerful lobby. That was swept away with the 18th amendment.

"There is no form of family discipline that can compete with the ravages of liquor. Nine out of ten of the brightest young men he had known fell by the wayside because of liquor. The red blooded fellows with initiative and life were the ones who fell victim to liquor. Its curse was greater than the evils of war, and its tolls were greater than the toll of war.

"America was the first nation to grapple with the proposition and do something for the world. It is not a laughing proposition as some think, but a serious problem.

"The 18th amendment was the people's own measure and they overwhelmingly carried it into effect. Some people make light of it and ridicule it but we have this law, with other laws, and all the laws must be respected equally and enforced. No law is more important or should be respected any more than the 18th amendment. If one group can break the 18th amendment, another group can break the 14th, if they wish.

"Remember it is the same as the 14th and all other amendments in that body of the constitution. Save for this country of ours the countless thousands who fall by the wayside and bring grief to the mothers and homes of America."

Covington Teachers Come to Eastern

A large group of teachers from Covington and the district near Cincinnati, Ohio, are in Richmond attending the summer session at the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College. A large number of the Covington teachers have had extension work with Dr. Charles A. Keith, of Eastern.

Among those at Eastern are: Miss Hulda Wilson, of Norwood, Ohio; Miss Louise Mills, of Newport; Misses Mabel and Esther H. Elliott, Mary Taphorn, Ethel McLaughlin, Anna Lee Hearn, Eva Moffett, Dorothy Neff, Dorothy Ochs and Lyda Bales, all Covington teachers.

Scholarships

Not infrequently does one read of attacks upon the modern college charging that amid the gay whirl of campus life that the students have forgotten or neglected to a large extent the basic element of "why go to college." Not infrequently has it been said that athletics are over-emphasized in the present day student bodies. To answer such attacks the staunch supporters of the college point to scholastic attainments.

Eastern in the last two weeks has had an opportunity to cite with pride the scholastic triumphs of members of its student body. Under the able direction of the Open Forum committee, a custom has been established to recognize at a chapel gathering those students who have gained highest scholastic attainment.

During the last week of the first summer term such a meeting was held. It was impressive in every degree, capably directed by the Open Forum committee. Those students who won the awards in the college and normal departments are to be commended highly for the honor they have won for themselves.

Simultaneous with the announcement of the awards of the scholarship pins was the action of the board of regents in founding a faculty committee to encourage the donation of funds by wealthy citizens to the student loan fund and for scholarships and fellowships.

Such steps clearly evidence the upward trend of Eastern in collegiate circles and give proof that daily improvement is being made in the college. It seems that with the predominant aim of teaching in the heart of each Eastern student that no little should be forthcoming in scholarship. It is most proper that such awards should be continued and increased to meet and encourage such development.

Claw! Claw! Claw!

At last the athletic teams of Eastern are to have a symbol of their fierceness, endurance and aggressiveness. It is to be the leopard, most ferocious of wild animals. The leopard is the most difficult of wild animals for man to tame and quite a fitting mascot for the athletic teams.

Next fall the Eastern football eleven will not only appear for the first time as a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, but as the Leopard's.

Whether the institution will have a live leopard to typify the type its teams will strive to display during the seasons to come will depend on the student body. Officials and students are agreed that the leopard shall be the animal.

With the characteristics of the animal in mind it should be possible to work up the proper spirit in the student body and members of the teams. The unconquerable spirit of the leopard will exemplify Eastern as it does battle on the athletic field.

sible to work up the proper spirit in the student body and members of the teams. The unconquerable spirit of the leopard will exemplify Eastern as it does battle on the athletic field.

Welcome

To the 600 students who are enrolled at the second term of the summer session, the Progress, speaking for officials as well as former student bodies, hails welcome and at the same time flings into your face the challenge of better education in Kentucky.

Let it be remembered that Eastern's summer session is not alone for a student to obtain some extra credit or make-up work, but an institution dedicated to the youth of the commonwealth. It is conducted at great expense to the state and with the realization that its ultimate aim cannot be accomplished with the fullest cooperation to the entire number enrolled.

It is for that backward child or that brilliant child who Eastern hopes to advance in some way that the summer session as well as the regular collegiate year is held. Those human molds are waiting for the teaching hands, which must be skilled to the utmost degree in this teacher's training college.

Thus it is the person with such realization in mind that goes about his work with the most diligence, with his mind keen and alert to any educational advantages which may be passed on to his pupil and ultimately to the betterment of the state at large.

Catalogs To Appear At Eastern Aug. 1st.

A proof of the catalog for the coming collegiate year at the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and Normal School was turned over to officials the latter part of the week, and further indications were given that the catalog would be ready for distribution earlier this year than ever before.

August 1 has been set for the first day of distribution, which is several weeks earlier than in the past few years. It is the aim of Eastern officials to have the catalog out at such a time that it will be of greater assistance to students who are planning to enter Eastern in the fall.

The printing is being done by the C. T. Dearing Company, in Louisville. A complete body of the copy for the catalog was taken to the State Journal Company at Frankfort last week, but that office was filled with work, having scheduled it for several weeks in advance.

At the instance of the State Journal Company the copy was turned over to the Louisville concern, who are rushing it to completion. Although August 1 has not been definitely set as the date for its distribution, Eastern officials believe that it will not be much later than that date.

Mrs. Case Travels Far to Make Speech

Mrs. Emma Y. Case, who was a member of the normal school faculty during the first summer term, recently returned to Richmond from addressing the members of a county teachers' conference in Knott county, where she had to travel in a spring wagon due to the floods in that section of the state.

Of all the speakers who were engaged to address that conference Mrs. Case was the only one who was able to make the trips through the swollen streams and flooded highways to deliver her message to the teachers of that part of the country.

Mrs. Case is regularly employed by the Teachers College, being a critic teacher at Green's Chapel in Madison county during the regular collegiate year. During the part of the summer after the first summer term Mrs. Case has been doing lecture and demonstration work. She is one of the members of the faculty who are called upon to carry a message to the teachers in the field.

During the first summer term Mrs. Case taught English and American Literature in the normal department. She is a graduate of Eastern and has been well known here for several years. Her address at the Knott county conference of teachers was all the more appreciated due to her difficulty and resoluteness in getting to the meeting.

MISS DAUGHERTY ABLE TO LEAVE INFIRMARY

Miss Augusta Daugherty, employed in the business office at Eastern, who recently underwent an operation at the Pattie A. Clay Infirmary for the removal of her appendix, has sufficiently recovered to be able to return to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Higgins on Oak street where she rooms. She will recuperate there. She was seriously ill for several days before the operation, and her recovery has been rapid.

HEALTH SERVICE

School Health Work As Community Unifying Force.

Health work in the school routine should be encouraged not only for the child's welfare, but also as a unifying force in the community. When the teacher creates an interest in the pupils for better health rules and habits, enough to cause them to apply these rules and habits, the parents become more interested and are more likely to take more interest in their children.

Of course, most all parents are interested in the welfare of their own children, but some seem to think their work comes first and the child's health and their own secondary.

Health officers visit the school and give each child a physical examination; check physical defects and make reports to be sent to parents. Some defects can be corrected at first visit and others require time.

The teacher and parents must cooperate in order to have better health results. When the teacher does her part in the health work of the school, the parents will then become interested. They will then become closer related to their children and in this way start unification in the community.

When there is co-operation between parents and teachers, there is a unification of parents. They would probably start health associations in the communities, elect the president and other officers to carry out their plans. Each member could pay a small fee each month and this could be given to some very poor family which did not have proper food and sanitation, if such existed, or spent for installing a pure water supply system, or used in some way to advance better health in the community.

The parents and teacher must also co-operate in the fight against contagious diseases. When a contagious disease breaks out in the school, the teacher should have pupil taken home and the home quarantined for the child's benefit as well as others. Then the teacher should see that the other children are vaccinated and the school room disinfected. The source of the disease should be learned, since the disease germs might be found in the drinking water, or similar circumstances.

The teacher may create very much interest in health by giving health programs and plays. She should have a daily program in which she gives certain amount of time for exercise; reports on health work, themes on topics pertaining to health and booklets on health work. These health booklets can be made very attractive and inspiring. When the pupils take them home for their parents to see, the parents will become more interested and will assist in the health work.

The teacher might appoint committees of two or three to inspect buildings, make changes they think necessary, see that the grounds are kept clean, keep a record of all changes made and ones that should be made. This committee should be appointed for a short time so that all members will have participated at close of the school.

The teacher should take note of the pupil's eyesight, hearing, tonsils, adenoids, and teeth and advise the parents as to the normalcy of the child. She should give special attention to children with colds and those who are anemic for there might be some chance of the development of tuberculosis. She should inform parents as to such and help to eliminate these troubles.

Health charts should be made for all children and those who are abnormal can probably bring their chart up to those that are normal. Children will enjoy doing this and will want their parents to see them. Health posters can be made by pupils which is very interesting. The pupils will see by these that the health work of the school is beneficial and will give their aid in the work.

Parents will take part in health programs of the school and when all the people in a community are working for the same cause, the community is as a rule a unit.

One way of creating more interest among the parents would be serving a hot lunch each day in school. Many of the children have insufficient and unsuitable food. They are underweight, and without energy. They are much more likely to be infected by disease if they are undernourished, especially with tuberculosis, an infection in which poor nourishment lowers and good nourishment raises resistance.

Clean up campaigns begun in the school will spread to the homes. A project for community improvement such as cleaning up a dump in the vicinity of the school will enlist the interest and enthusiasm of the pupils and if such a clean up campaign is begun at school it will spread into the homes. This kind of work will train in the right kind of citizenship and training in citizenship should be a unifying force in any community.

Athletics are important in the school work. All children may take part in games. There may be girls' and boys' basket and baseball games. These give muscular exercise and very much enjoyment. Other children who are not in the games may sell sandwiches, ice cream, candy, soft drinks, and others might sing and cheer for their teams. The entire community usually attends these games with very much enthusiasm and these games as well as other athletics are beneficial to the development of the children as well as serve as a unifying force in the community.

EASTERN OFFICIALS ATTEND GEORGE COLVIN'S FUNERAL

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern, Mrs. Donovan, Dr. Homer E. Cooper, dean, G. M. Brock, business agent, and Miss Katherine Morgan, secretary to the president, were in Louisville Tuesday to attend the funeral of Geo. Colvin, president of the University of Louisville and former state superintendent of public instruction, who died suddenly at Louisville Sunday from appendicitis. The party from Eastern motored to Louisville for the funeral.

CONCERT POSTPONED

The weekly concert given Thursday night on the campus by the Exchange Club boys band was cancelled yesterday due to the fact that the band is attending the national convention of Exchange Clubs at Toledo, Ohio. The band will return to Richmond today and next Thursday will resume the weekly concerts on the campus, which will be continued without interruption through the remainder of the summer term. John Orr Stewart, head of the music department at Eastern and a member of the club's band committee, accompanied the band.

Red Cross Worker Speaks At Chapel

Work Of National Organization Is Described by Officer who Spent Entire Week Lecturing At Eastern

650,000 ARE CARED FOR

National and international work of the Red Cross organization was outlined to the students of Eastern at the chapel period Tuesday by Everett Dix, Red Cross representative operating from Washington, D. C., who spent the entire week at Eastern.

Mr. Dix not only spoke at chapel but lectured to numerous classes and groups of students organized to hear him. His work is in Junior Red Cross work, but his speech was of the entire organization.

The Red Cross, he said, is the development of an idea, which has been one of the few on which the world at large could agree and cooperate to maintain and develop. "It is an idea whose power has come, as Victor Hugo described an idea," Mr. Dix said.

Mr. Dix continued: "The idea of the Red Cross is so powerful that the world has been able to unite behind it. Its service is given without regard to nationalities. It is service with no strings to it, and the only limitation is the need. Great work has been done of late by the Red Cross in the flooded sections of the United States by the national organization."

"The American Red Cross is the strongest organization. It has four million adult members and six million junior Red Cross members. Its aim is to carry relief to any who need such service, even in the face of fire, flood and epidemic."

"Not only does the Red Cross, by its governmental charter, aid after the disasters have taken place, but uses measures to prevent such happenings. Thus the Red Cross has extended its work into the fields of public health nursing, life saving, nutrition and junior Red Cross."

"Last year 650,000 persons were cared for by the Red Cross in 77 major disasters in the United States alone. The Red Cross has initiated public health nursing in 1,000 counties of the United States, or in one of every three counties, and this in a very short period of years. A total of 910,000 school children have been examined and numerous home visits made by the nurses."

"A total of 39,000 certificates of proficiency in health have been given recently from a total of 60,000 who took courses. In first aid 25,000 certificates have been given, mainly to police and firemen. Life savers, numbering 32,000, have successfully passed the tests and 132,000 have been recognized as proficient in nutrition. There are a total of 2,911 active chapters of the Red Cross in the United States."

"The junior Red Cross trains in citizenship, that is trains children so that they may contribute to the common good of the nation and give them an opportunity to exercise their citizenship."

Two More Industries To Locate In State

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 24 (P)—Two more industries have been secured for Kentucky by the progress commission, C. Frank Dunn, executive secretary, announced today.

Financiers are now negotiating with the commission for a suitable location for a dairy products concern and a shoe manufacturing, he added. Letters will be mailed to the various counties and cities in the state asking them to present their credentials and show in what manner they would be fitted for the location of such plants.

Details of the two plants will be made later, Dunn said.

Success of the cement plant hearing, at which 54 cities sent representatives, has determined the policy of the commission in awarding these plants. In the future hearing will be conducted at the capitol, where the localities bidding may send their representatives to meet the backers of the projects, the secretary added.

The backers of the cement plant, who have not yet made known their selection, praised the progress commission for the work they did in helping them secure data relative to the locating of their proposed plant.

Other manufacturers seeking locations in Kentucky will receive similar service, Dunn said, as it was the plan of the commission to act as a clearing house for Kentucky industries.

George Colvin Dies After Short Illness

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 23 (P)—Funeral services for George Colvin, president of the University of Louisville, will be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The body will be taken to Springfield for burial.

Mr. Colvin died yesterday afternoon at St. Anthony's hospital where he had undergone an operation for appendicitis. He had been suffering from a mild attack since Christmas but did not go under the ether until last Monday. Satisfactory progress was reported until Saturday when a relapse set in that eventually caused his death.

The educator's administration of the University of Louisville had caused much criticism but it was acknowledged generally that he had established the institution for the first time as a school of the first rank. Difficulties with professors were offset, it was said, by a stricter credit and disciplinary system that Mr. Colvin introduced.

Born in Washington county in 1875, Mr. Colvin, one of eight children of a carpenter, was graduated from Centre College in 1895 with a degree of bachelor of arts. He returned in 1896 to study law and was admitted to the bar. He never practiced, however.

His first work with schools was shortly after his graduation at law when he took charge of an institution at Springfield "for a few days." He never left the field. He was credited generally with "placing teaching on the level of a profession" in Kentucky and in sundry other ways improving the lot of the teacher.

In 1923 Mr. Colvin made the race for the Republican nomination against Judge Charles I. Dawson. He was defeated and was appointed superintendent of the Louisville and Jefferson County Children's Home in which position he served until called to head the University at Louisville.

The educator is survived by his widow, his mother, one son and a daughter.

Fewer Deaths and Births in State

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 24 (P)—There were 2,751 fewer deaths and 59 fewer births in Kentucky in 1927 than there were in 1926, the State Board of Health reports today.

The report places the total number of births at 61,069 for 1926, and the 1927 deaths at 27,160 as compared with 29,931 for the 1926.

The 1927 figures place the death rate at 10.8 per thousand, a decrease of 1.3. There were 22,703 white deaths and 4,457 negro deaths.

The 1927 birth rate is 24.11 per thousand, which the Board says will make the Kentucky rate "considerably higher than for the registration area of the United States Census Bureau, since a number of states from which we have heard report a decrease in birth registration as compared with 1926."

The report indicates 404 lost their lives through homicide, 1,685 died from accidents and 268 were suicides.

The report follows:

There were 3,804 deaths of infants under one year, giving an infant mortality rate for the state of 63.3 as against a rate of 74.5, with total infant deaths of 4,552 in 1926. Deaths of children between the ages of one to five declined from 2,280 in 1926 to 1,614 in 1927. While there was a 20 per cent decrease in the infant mortality rate for the eleven larger cities of the state, the rate continues higher in the urban and rural sections.

Donovan Addresses CHURCH CENSUS

Irvine Kimanians

IRVINE, Ky., July 25.—Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College and Normal School, Richmond, was the principal speaker last night at a dinner-meeting of the Irvine-Ravenna KIWANS club at the Wallace hotel. His subject was "The Watchword of the Twentieth Century is Service."

A representative of the Redpath Chautauqua was present and the club members discussed the matter of presenting the chautauqua here next year.

The club also voted to sponsor the fox hunt and horse show of the Eastern Kentucky Fox Hunters Association to be held here this fall. Mayor John A. Wallace and E. L. Wise were placed on the committee to obtain a new cemetery here, at the request of Judge Hugh Riddle. Mr. Walker made a report on the efforts of the committee to obtain the proposed cement plant for Estill county.

Trucks Prohibited on Campus Drive

In accordance with a resolution passed at the meeting of Eastern's board of regents at the last meeting July 7, signs have been placed at each entrance of the campus driveway, stating that trucks are not to be driven through the campus except on business of the college.

Numerous complaints were received by officials that the privilege of using the drive for all purposes was being abused by truck drivers and thus the order from the board of regents. Steps will be taken by employes of the college to enforce the ruling.

At present the department of buildings and grounds are engaged in repairing the roadway through the campus and have been held up due to lack of material. The work, however, will be resumed immediately and pushed to completion as soon as possible.

Gas Line Through Campus Completed

Construction of the gas line through the campus, which will convey natural gas to the buildings of Eastern when the gas is piped into Richmond, was completed last week. A line way laid completely across the campus near the driveway was started near the Lancaster avenue entrance and continued to the South Second street entrance to the campus.

According to the contract which the city of Richmond has with the Richmond Water and Light Company, the natural gas service will be started in Richmond by September 1. Before the time the city will continue to use artificial gas.

Work of completing the line through the campus was done in a very short time. The workmen rushed the work to an end and offered very little inconvenience to travel while the line was in process of construction.

CHURCH CENSUS

WASHINGTON, July 24 (P)—The membership of the Roman Catholic church in the United States is nearly twenty per cent over the total of ten years before, which was reported as 15,721,815. The figures were made public today by the census bureau as part of its regular decennial count of religious body membership.

Catholic churches in 1926 numbered 18,939, as compared with 17,375 in 1916.

A total membership of 4,080,777 was reported for the Methodist Episcopal church for 1926 with 26,130 churches as compared with 29,315 churches and 3,717,785 members in 1916. The Methodist Episcopal church South had 18,669 churches and 2,487,694 members in 1926 as compared with 19,184 churches and 2,114,479 members in 1916.

The Northern Baptist convention in 1926 had 7,612 churches and 1,290,438 members against 8,148 churches and 1,252,135 members in 1916.

The Protestant Episcopal church for 1926 reported 7,299 churches with 1,858,966 members while in 1916 it was credited with 7,345 churches and 1,092,821 members.

The Presbyterian church in the United States for 1926 reported 8,947 churches and 1,894,030 members against 9,639 churches and 1,611,251 members in 1916.

There were 5,257 Congregational churches with 901,846 members in 1926 against 5,863 churches and 791,274 members in 1916.

The Disciples of Christ had 7,648 churches and 1,307,595 members in 1926 against a 1916 church total of 8,396 with 1,226,028 members.

All of the protestant denominations, the bureau explained, have a number of federated churches in which two or more denominations are associated.
