Workshops, Institutes, Seminars Contribute

Campus Buzzes Twelve Months A Year

Although Eastern's summer session does not begin until June 12 and the current spring session ends May 13, the intervening month will still be busy time on the campus. Five EKU colleges, for instance, are offering a total of about 70 courses during a spring intersession May 15-June 9. A two-and-a-half week intersession will follow the summer school which ends August 4. These, plus summer workshops, institutes, and seminars offered by the various colleges are reminders that figuratively EKU dormitory doors and academic portals remain open throughout the year. The campus does not present during the summer an array of deserted buildings and other facilities. This conception of year-around education was born as Kentucky became less agricultural and young men no longer demanded to be released from their books during the growing and harvesting seasons. Such events as Blue Grass Boys' State, a mock state and local government session sponsored by the American Legion for high school juniors and seniors, help keep the summer campus active. This year's Boys' State is set for June 3-9. A Cheerleader Clinic for high school cheerleaders is set for June 18-23 and 25-30. The Stephen Collins Foster Music Camp for high school musicians will be held June 18-July 25, featuring several outdoor public concerts each week. A four-week training camp for high school marching bands is also held each summer. A Bookmen's Exhibit is set for June 20-21 and a Drill Team Workshop for July 23-27. All of this summer activity has its impact on the Richmond community. For instance, the merchants' sales to campus residents do not begin to thin out as much as they once did after spring commencement. Many students who work and participate in community life will still be here this summer.

The Progress regrets the misplaced identification under the Student Association candidates' pictures last week. It is our policy to run all such pictures in alphabetical order. Last week's confusion resulted when the negatives were switched at the printer.

Tom May of the music faculty at Eastern will be among the band members. May was formerly with the Les Brown troupe. Arts and Crafts exhibits by over 250 artists from around the state begin at 9:00 a.m. and will run all day Saturday. Dallas McKennon, "Cincinnati" in the Daniel Boone television series will be on hand to present selections from his musical "Kaintuck." McKennon will be accompanied by a small orchestra on Saturday and will team with the jazz group on Sunday. The award-winning Madison Central High School band will provide the entertainment for the first day beginning at 11:00 a.m. The Kentucky Long Rifle Association will perform Sunday in marksmanship competition and the famous North-South skirmish team will re-enact the Battle of Richmond at 3:00 p.m. Sunday. There is no admission charge for the event, co-sponsored by the Madison County Historical Society and State Parks Department of Kentucky. The artists and craftsmen will be on hand to sell their works both days.

Varsity cheerleader tryouts for the 1972-73 school year have been changed to Wednesday, April 26, at 5 p.m. in front of the Weaver Health Building. In case of rain participants should go to Alumni Coliseum. Those wishing to try out must attend cheerleader workshop clinics if they have not already done so. Clinics will be held at the Begley Building (middle gym) tonight and Monday from 9-6 p.m. Cheerleaders must not be on social or academic probation, must have completed at least one full semester, and be a full-time undergraduate student next fall. Five men and five women cheerleaders will be chosen for the squad. Applications will be distributed at the workshops.

Fine Arts Series Features Noted Artists And Speakers

One of the roles of a major university-acting as a cultural resource for the community-is being filled by Eastern. Eastern's Fine Arts and Lecture Series is becoming one of Richmond's chief cultural assets, presenting such noted artists and speakers as Alvin Toffler, Jose Greco and His Dancers, the troupe of the Kentucky Opera Association, and others. The EKU departments of music, art, and drama and speech are adding to the cultural life of the community with many programs featuring campus and visiting talent. Besides Toffler, the Garvice Kincaid Lecture Series has brought to Richmond such nationally and internationally known speakers as author Pearl Buck, Al Capp, anthropologist Margaret Meade, Indian stateswoman Madam V.L. Pandit, Ambassador Charles "Chip" Bohlen, and Jesse Stuart. Admission is free to these lectures and the public is invited. The Fine Arts and Lecture Series, along with pop concerts that feature entertainers like the Carpenters, Doc Severinson, and Smokey Robinson, is presented by the EKU University Center Board, composed of students, faculty, and administrative members. The Board's programs are financed by student fees, paid during registration, which generally pay for the students' admission. Many programs are free. The public is admitted to all these programs, but students and faculty are admitted first in case of an overflow audience. Other noted personalities and programs presented by the Center Board are Julian Bond, Ralph Nader, the Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers, the Preservation Hall Jazz Band, Amahl and the Night Visitor, the Gaslight Theatre presenting the World of Rod McKuen, and John Chappell in "Mark Twain Tonight." The next concert in the series is an appearance by Henry Mancini and his orchestra, scheduled May 1 in Alumni Coliseum. The program will begin at 8 p.m. General Admission is $5, EKU students with ID's, $2. The music department presents frequent programs by its symphony and concert bands and ensembles, plus student and faculty recitals. A regular program with EKU and community performers is the annual Christmas staging of Handel's Messiah, featuring the Oratorio Chorus and the Symphony. (Continued On Page Eight)

Milestones Due May 1

The 1972 Milestone is due to arrive on campus May 1, with distribution to begin in Alumni Coliseum either May 1 or May 2. Full details regarding distribution and confirmation of time and place will be made in next week's Progress. Bob Hambly, Milestone Business Manager, announced that copies of the 616-page yearbook may still be ordered at the Cashier's Window, Coates Administration Building, but that the supply is limited.

Kelhoffer, Crews Re-elected; Net 56 Percent In Voting

BY DELMA FRANCIS
Staff Writer

The unofficial tally of votes from yesterday's Student Government elections showed Chuck Kelhoffer and Sharon Crews of N.O.W. as the winning slate, taking the offices of president and vice president respectively.

Kelhoffer and Miss Crews won with 56 percent of the votes as opposed to 29 percent for Abner and Cox of A.C.T.I.O.N. and Ramey and Reppert of R.F.P., 15 percent.

Numerically the breakdown was as follows: Out of 3,544 total votes, Kelhoffer and Crews netted 1986; Abner and Cox; 1035 and Ramey and Reppert, 535.

In a statement to the press immediately following the election results Kelhoffer said, "I'd like to thank the students that went out and worked for me, the students that voted for me and all those who voted. I thank the students for the confidence they have shown in me, and 'thank them all for the 'voter turnout.'" Miss Crews was unavailable for comment at this time.

At press time, due to a malfunction of the computer, the votes for senators-at-large had not been tallied. The official results of the race for senator-at-large will be published in next week's Progress.

Party platforms were outlined well in advance of election week, with each candidate speaking out on what he believed should be accomplished in the coming year. Due to the fact that Kelhoffer won the race for Student Association president, there will have to be a separate election some time in the future for Student Regent. If a native Kentuckian becomes president, he automatically assumes the role of Regent, but, as in the case of Kelhoffer, a special election is held when the new Student Government president is not from Kentucky. Student Rights

1. Institution of a policy using court litigation whenever necessary and practical to vindicate student rights...2. Reform of dormitory contract, giving student right of cancellation after reasonable notice...3. Continue to make available student counselors to defend students in the various campus courts...4. Continue to work for a more realistic program of open visitation.

Academic Affairs
1. Make available a Student Government published evaluation of instructors. 2. Will work to change CUC requirements to allow students more freedom of choice as to subjects they wish to take.

'White Hall Review' Set This Weekend

The first annual "White Hall Review" will be held Saturday and Sunday on the grounds of the newest state shrine north of Richmond.

The highlight of the two-day event will be a jazz concert at 2:00 p.m. Sunday. The 20-piece jazz band is composed of former members of many big-name bands, including Glenn Miller and Stan Kenton.

re-enact the Battle of Richmond at 3:00 p.m. Sunday.

There is no admission charge for the event, co-sponsored by the Madison County Historical Society and State Parks Department of Kentucky.

The artists and craftsmen will be on hand to sell their works both days.

Cheerleader Tryouts Set

Varsity cheerleader tryouts for the 1972-73 school year have been changed to Wednesday, April 26, at 5 p.m. in front of the Weaver Health Building. In case of rain participants should go to Alumni Coliseum.

Those wishing to try out must attend cheerleader workshop clinics if they have not already done so. Clinics will be held at the Begley Building (middle gym) tonight and Monday from 9-6 p.m.

Peter Dawkins Awarded Top ROTC Fellowship

Sixty-nine Army ROTC cadets have been awarded fellowships for graduate study at Army expense. Each fellowship is valued from $20,000 to $25,000.

Peter R. Dawkins, an Eastern Distinguished Military Student, has been awarded a fellowship.

Those selected may do graduate studies for a master's degree in any field for which the Army has a requirement.

While attending graduate school the recipients will receive full pay and allowances. Since the fellowships are intended to provide the Army with managers in an increasing number of specialized activities, they are awarded to ROTC graduates who are accepted for Regular Army commissions and who plan to make the Army a career.

The cadets, graduating between May 1, 1972 and April 30, 1973, will be commissioned as second lieutenants upon graduation. Those selected for the fellowships may attend graduate school immediately after coming on active duty following their graduation from college, or defer their studies until they have completed one to five years of troop duty. The fellowship winners include 43 cadets who are attending college on ROTC scholarships, and 26 non-scholarship cadets who are designated as Distinguished Military Students (DMS). Fellowship winners were among nearly 1,600 ROTC cadets who applied for Regular Army commissions following their college graduation. More fellowships may be awarded as an Army selection board considers additional applications for Regular Army commissions.

In Fayette County

Operation Venus Battles VD

For the last three years Fayette County has had the highest rate of venereal disease in Kentucky. Seventy percent of all infections are in persons under the age of 25, and 35 percent are incident among those under 20 years.

In the spring of 1970 County Judge Robert Stephens implemented a program entitled "Operation Venus" upon request of the Kentucky State Health Department. Judge Stevens contacted area high schools and health organizations to help in donating their time to building the "Operation Venus" program.

The teenagers attended special training sessions sponsored by the Fayette County Health Department where they studied specific aspects of venereal disease. Physicians and health officials prepared the recruits for establishing a venereal disease hot line. Established in a room at the local YWCA, the hot line was open to all callers desiring information.

Due to declining participation of volunteers and slacking off of phone calls, Operation Venus needed new vitality.

University of Kentucky students became interested in the program and through their student government helped Operation Venus establish residence at the University of Kentucky.

As a result, Operation Venus grew in number of volunteers and grew in diversity of resources for the program. The hot-line was maintained, but there was an addition of new committees concerned with public awareness and public education that were put into operation. The committees dealt with public relations and advertising. They also gave presentations to groups for the purpose of educating them about VD.

Campaigning Or Battle Of The Bands???????

Earth Week, 1972

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

For the Nation and for the world, there are few issues of greater moment than the quality of our environment. As civilizations have evolved, man has increasingly altered his world to accommodate his needs. Today, our immense technological expansion affects the earth more than at any earlier time.

The air, water, and natural resources of the earth are not inexhaustible, yet we continue to make major and often contradictory demands on these resources. If man is to preserve the natural heritage upon which his survival and the quality of his life depend, he must make resolute choices and fix uncompromising priorities.

The environmental awakening of recent years marks a new maturity in our attitudes toward the relationship of man to his surroundings. We have made a beginning, but it is only a beginning. Every American—and indeed, every citizen of the world—must endeavor by earnest and sustained effort to nurture this earth which we all share.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the period of April 17 through April 23, 1972, as Earth Week.

I call upon appropriate officials of the Federal Government and of State and local governments to encourage an understanding of the purposes of Earth Week, to observe the week through appropriate ceremonies, and to give special attention to the educating of our citizens in the preservation and enrichment of our natural environment.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-fourth day of March, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred ninety-sixth.

Richard Nixon

Winner Makes Loudest Noise?

This year's Student Association election has had everything from radio advertisements supporting the candidates to campaign cards and posters. During the last week of the race, however, the election seemed to have become a battle of the bands, with the candidates playing the "anything you can do, I can do better" game.

Each of the candidates for the office of president sponsored a band concert in the ravine on different days. Apparently the thought behind this is the better the band, the more people it attracts. And the more people it attracts, the better chance the candidate has of getting votes for his ticket.

The question, however, is not which band is the best. Why waste the effort needed for an important office such as Student Association president trying to outdo the other candidates' bands. But then, there are some students who would vote for a candidate merely because he had a better band than his opponents. Why should candidates have to resort to using bands to lure people out to vote. Shouldn't Student Association presidential candidates be judged on their merits and qualifications rather than on the quality of their band.

Libbers Bullied

Women's Libs Omitted

Dear Editor,

One must assume from the obvious and flagrant omission from the Eastern Progress of any mention of last Tuesday's Womens Liberation meeting that the editor is a male who wants women to remain barefoot, ignorant and pregnant in the kitchen waiting on him.

Eastern Kentucky University is already a very pro-male-antifemale campus. A prime example of this is the women's hours question. I believe the women of this campus have every right to be kept informed of developments which will be of benefit to them and in the long run for the betterment of Eastern.

It is my hope that in the future the Eastern Progress will be aware enough to include articles for the advancement of women (in fields other than the fashion scene).

Dear Editor,

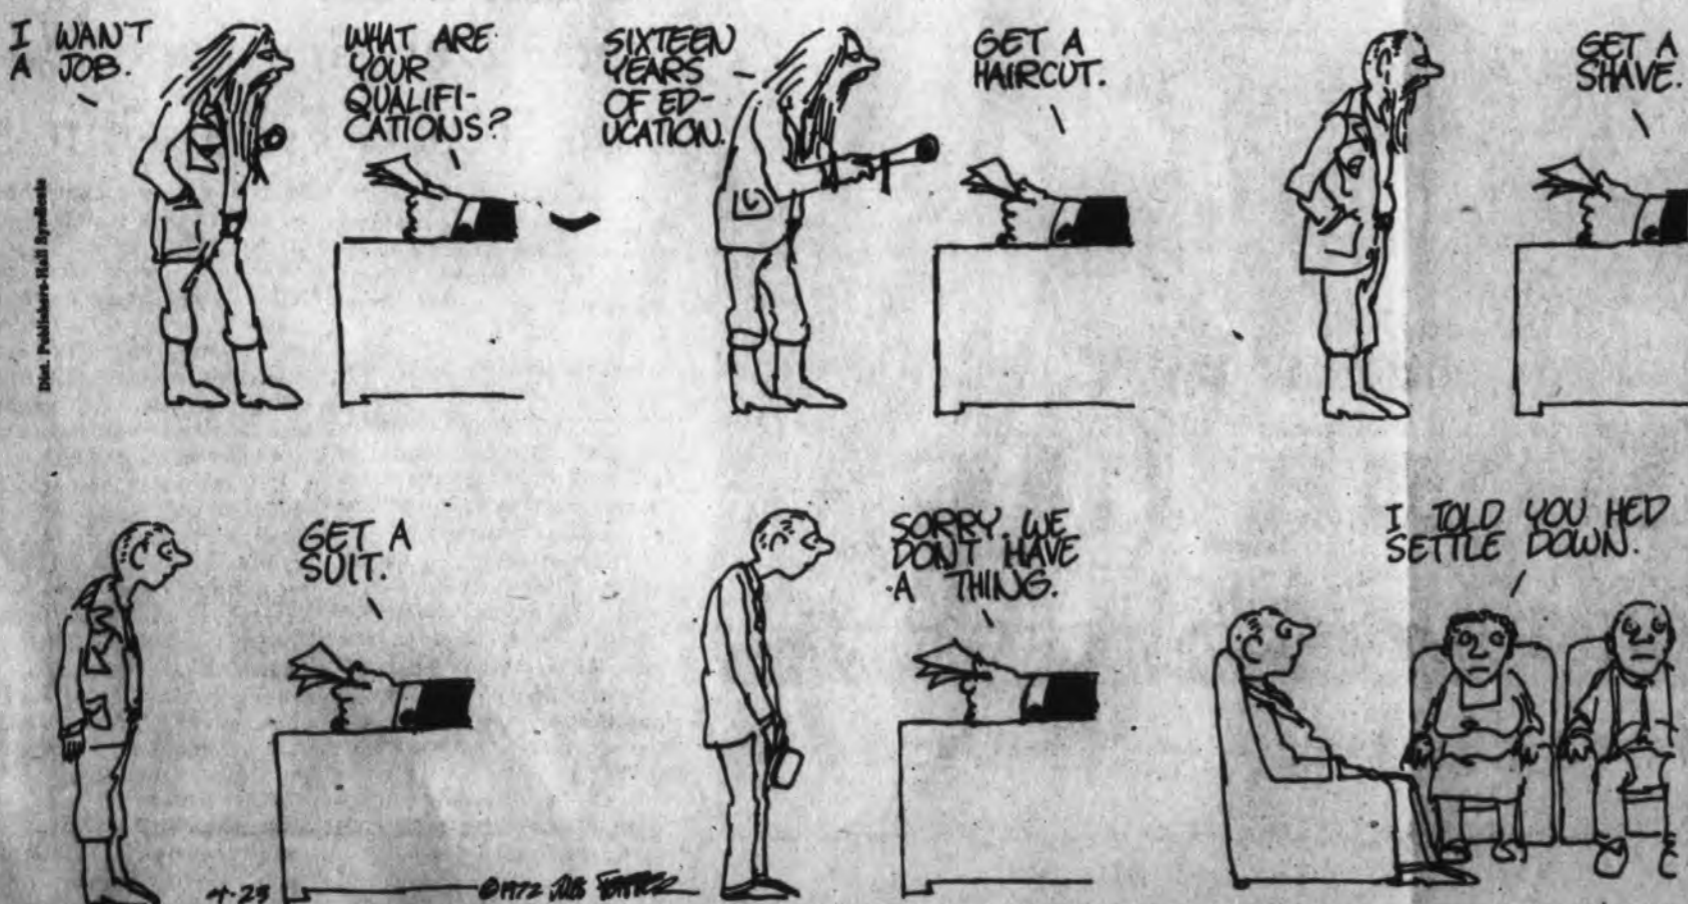

I am writing with regard to a significant piece of news which I did not find in the April 13th issue of the Eastern Progress newspaper. An important meeting concerning women's rights was held in the Combs Hall lobby, on April 11. Over forty people attended this meeting, yet it was not considered important enough to be covered in the student newspaper. However, I did find a sizeable article on the hobby of cow watching. This is direct proof of the sex discrimination which prevails over this campus. The fact that cows take precedence over the human female is a prime example of the sorry truth that Eastern Kentucky University has little or no regard for the women on this campus, concerning their human rights.

I was of the opinion that the purpose of the "Progress" newspaper was to give an unbiased account of the activities on the ECU campus. We weren't even given a biased coverage.

Opera 'Saul And David' Aired By WEKU-FM

National Public radio member station WEKU-FM will air, as a special broadcast, a performance from Copenhagen of Carl Nielsen's Opera, "Saul and David" on Tuesday, April 25, at 8 p.m.

"Saul and David" is generally considered to be the most important musical dramatic work ever composed in Denmark. Carl Nielsen, who died at the age of 66 in 1931, is one of the more controversial composers of this century, and his opera "Saul and David" was a complete departure from the traditional operatic concept, where the story and music shared equal importance. Nielsen stressed the music in this, his first opera, the story seeming to support the music—a deviation from the popular operas of Verdi and Wagner.

Nielsen completed the opera in 1901 and it was first performed by the Royal Opera in Copenhagen in 1902. Einar Christiansen was the Librettist.

The opera in four acts with an English translation by Geoffrey Dunn tells the story of Saul and David, as written in the Old Testament, the first and second books of Samuel.

The performance was recorded on March 27, 1972 in Copenhagen, and is part of the 1971-72 European broadcasting union concert season:

The cast includes:
Saul, King of Israel....Boris Christoff, Bass
Jonathan, his son...Willy Hartmann, Tenor
Michal, his daughter....Elisabeth Soderstrom, Soprano (Both o's unlauded)
David, friend of Jonathan....Alexander Young, tenor
Samuel, Prophet....Michael Langdon, bass
Abner, Saul's captain....Kim Borg, bass
Abisai, David's companion....Bodil Gobel, soprano
Witch of Endor....Sylvia Fisher, soprano
Chorus of Danmarks radio and members of the Aldis Choir John Addis, chorus master. Symphony orchestra of Danmarks radio.

The opera is conducted by Jascha Horenstein.

'You're A Good Man Charlie Brown Week' Begins Today

The broadcast media committee is in charge of obtaining publicity through the media and also providing education by the same process. Members of the program have made appearances on various talk shows in Lexington. Kentucky Education Television network presently has a nationally produced film clip which they will broadcast in the future.

This same idea is carried out by the Print Media Committee. It releases advertisements and press releases to the publications in the Bluegrass Health Planning Region. The hot-line number is also publicized.

Operation Venus is also planning to give presentations to those people in low income areas. These presentations will consist of basic information concerning venereal disease and are designed to stimulate an active interest in VD prevention.

Operation Venus is a unique organization. Its members are from the same age group that experiences the greatest amount of venereal disease (14 to 22). It is an organization operated by youth for the prevention of a critical problem threatening youth.

The UK students should be commended for their concern and time devoted to Operation Venus. They are proving that college students are not limited to the college itself but are able and willing to work with the community for improvement.

In Madison County such a program would be a great asset. With the limited amount of physicians and medical officials it would be difficult to have such a program.

However, Eastern students could solve this problem. All it takes is enough people who are willing to devote some of their free time to educating and counseling citizens about venereal disease.

Whether or not a program such as Operation Venus will materialize at Eastern depends on the students and the community. However, a program such as this could only better the community and the campus-community relations.

A SIMPLE CHALLENGE
If you've got it, prove it. If you want it, work for it. If you think you're a leader, show us. This is the challenge the United States Marine Corps issues to the College Man who is seeking a career of leadership. The reward: service with one of the finest fighting outfits in the world and a commission that starts with gold bars and reaches to silver stars.

Talk to the Marine Corps Officer Selection Team Monday - Thursday 24-27 April at the Jones Building.

These three young men just made the discovery of a lifetime. The oldest is 34.

Remember when a young man could get ahead in business simply by growing old? It was a good system for those with a little talent and a lot of patience, but today's technology moves too fast to wait for seniority. At Kodak, our extensive involvement in basic research has made the need for fresh, young thinking more pressing than ever. So we hire the best new talent we possibly can. Then we do both of us a favor by turning them loose on real problems, and giving them the freedom and responsibility they need to solve them. That's how three Kodak scientists in their early thirties just made a breakthrough in liquid lasers, developing an organic dye laser with a continuous beam. Their discovery means more than just a new kind of laser. It means a whole range of new laser applications, in fields from medicine to communications. It was the kind of discovery most men work a lifetime for. Yet these young men still have most of their lifetimes ahead of them. Why do we give young men so much freedom and responsibility? Because it's good business, and we're in business to make a profit. But in furthering our own business interests, we also further society's interests. And that's good. After all, our business depends on society. So we care what happens to it.

 More than a business.

Rain Hampers Spring Sports

As usual, the Eastern spring sports teams this year have had trouble getting their scheduled games and meets to fall on the days when it doesn't rain. The baseball team was washed out of nine straight games during the deluges of the past couple of weeks, including four home games, and they'll try to make up two of them today and tomorrow. The golf team was rained out of its scheduled action here last weekend, and the tennis squad wasn't able to get in its three matches, including a scheduled trip to Murray last Friday.

One of the teams, though, the track squad, managed to have its Tuesday meet with Cumberland fall on a good day, and the Colonel thinlies made the most of it by staying unbeaten with an 87-58 victory. And the baseballers finally got in a game last Monday, whipping Cincinnati to improve their record to a fine 20-8 (this includes the perfect 7-0 slate of the fall season).

A banquet honoring the 1971-72 Eastern Eel swimming team will be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the Powell Building. Coach Donald Combs' Eels won the Kentucky Intercollegiate Swimming Championship for the tenth year in a row this past season.

A week or so ago someone wrote a letter to Dean Eagle's column in the Louisville Courier-Journal about the quality of OVC basketball which might interest a lot of fans of OVC teams. This fan wrote to Eagle that, "I am not ashamed or afraid to say that Eastern should be ranked in the top 10 in the

Kidd Blames Poor Weather

Colonel Gridders Need Work On Offense

"Ragged and inconsistent" best described Eastern's first scrimmage of spring practice Tuesday, according to head football coach Roy Kidd.

"You could tell by our timing and technique we had not been practicing as long as we would have liked for this point of spring drills," Kidd said. "In fact, since our first practice March 31, we have not had more than two consecutive days outside this spring."

Offensively, the Colonels' No. 1 and 2 units "made too many mistakes". The offense suffered three fumbles and one pass interception and was called for illegal procedure two times. "You just can't afford to make that many mistakes," Kidd noted.

On defense where Eastern returns most of its linebacker corps, the Colonels fared a little better. "Defensively, we looked about average," Kidd said. "However, we still need to work on technique and getting more people on the ball carrier."

The loss of 17 lettermen took its toll on the EKV football team with most of these players either starters or key reserves last season.

"We're young and we've got a long way to go but the kids are working real hard for as little practice outside as we've been able to get in," Kidd said.

The April 27 spring game has been canceled because "we're not two deep on defense". In its place, a scrimmage between the offense and defense has been tentatively set for May 3.

EASTERN SOPHOMORE QUARTERBACK Jeff McCarthy leaps to pass over onrushing defensive end Mike Nicholson in an intrasquad football scrimmage last week. McCarthy will be battling Harold Borders for the first string signal calling job on the 1972 edition of the football Colonels, who will open the season with a September 9 night road game against Southeastern Louisiana.

Victory Over Cincy

Wells, Roberts Pace Baseball Squad

After nine consecutive rained-out games over the past two weeks, the Eastern baseball team was able to resume play Monday, defeating the University of Cincinnati, 6-3. EKU travels to Morehead Wednesday for a doubleheader, returning home today and Friday for single make-up games with Louisville and Campbellsville respectively. Senior righthander Billy Wells of Richmond helped his own cause in the Cincinnati victory by singling in shortstop John Farrell with the tie-breaking run the sixth inning.

Wells, now 5-1 on the season with a team-leading 1.67

E.R.A., combined with sophomores Ray Neumeister and Howie Roesch to limit the Bearcats to only five hits. four runs, while Blewitt, who leads EKU regulars with a .328 batting average, added two singles.

Roger Roberts, a senior catcher from Wilmington, Ohio, and third baseman Ken Blewitt were Monday's hitting stars for Eastern. Roberts had a triple and two singles, knocking in Eastern raised its record to 20-8, while Cincinnati, a participant in the NCAA District 4 Tournament last season, evened its season's mark at 10-10.

Nimbus 9 Wins Coed Volleyball

Nimbus 9, captained by Tom Chamberlain, was the winner of the recent Co-ed volleyball intramural tournament. Eight teams were entered in the tournament which consisted of representatives from both the Monday Night League and Tuesday Night League.

Members of the Nimbus 9 team besides Chamberlain include Roger Basham, Pat Watts, Linda Gaines, Mark Lawler, Bo Jasper, Alita Greyer, and Fran Hackman.

nation; in fact, I say that Eastern, Morehead, and Western should all be ranked in the top 20 in the nation. I think the OVC is the most underrated conference in the nation and probably one of the toughest."

"Florida State beat Eastern by only two points in a game that went down to the wire. Then Florida State walloped Minnesota by 14 and UK by 19 to win the Midwest Regional with ease."

"After that, Florida State, which defeated Eastern by two, lost to UCLA by five. Which makes the OVC playoff winner only seven points behind the best."

Well, I don't really think you can judge a team just by comparing scores like that, but one thing is certain—the OVC has definitely proved, especially in the past two seasons, that its best teams can compete with anybody, anywhere.

Money Matters Plague Dr. Martin

BY ROBERT A. BABBAGE
Staff Writer

The nationwide price freeze has begun to thaw as far as Dr. Robert R. Martin can tell, and Eastern is feeling a slight money pinch as a result.

Plagued first with utility rate hikes, and then by student tuition increases for the coming biennium, the Eastern president is a bit perturbed by the situation. His only recourse, it seems, is making sure all the bills get paid.

"The telephone rate increase is one of the biggest problems we have," Dr. Martin said in a press conference with journalism students.

Phone: Charges Up

South Central Bell had charged $8.50 per phone each time the units were turned on, but now wants $18.75 for the same service. For the University, it means an additional expense of $25,000 annually, according to Dr. Martin.

Many Kentuckians will face this same problem when phones are connected in the future—not to mention general usage and long distance rate increases. To students having a phone in their dorm room, their $4.50 per semester rate will be upped to $6.00.

The new rates went into effect on March 20 despite the protest of state Attorney General Edward Hancock, who maintained they were excessive and unnecessary.

Then there's another service-related problem: where to put Eastern's garbage?

Eastern has been paying $35,000 each year to have refuse hauled away. Presently, the new landfill site negotiated by the city (without Eastern's knowledge) is twice as far from campus—some 19 miles farther away.

Fee For Use

A $7,400 annual fee for use of the new landfill increases even more the "cost of living" for the school—with all the more regret for Eastern administrators.

However, telephones and garbage are only part of it. The Kentucky General Assembly levied a severance tax on coal of four-and-one-half cents per ton during the winter session.

It is widely speculated that consumers will bear the burden of the tax in the form of slightly higher charges for coal—the mineral being a vital commodity to Eastern.

The Assembly also raised the gasoline tax two cents per gallon effective July 1. The University has no way around facing this expense—nor do any other Central Kentuckians.

To top things off, Kentucky Utilities Company is talking off an electric power rate hike that could come at a considerable cost to Eastern.

Perhaps Dr. Martin's biggest regret is the tuition rate increase, courtesy of the General Assembly, that students attending Kentucky's state colleges and universities will face this fall, and again in the fall of 1973.

For in-state students, the increase amounts to $30 per semester, or $120 over the next two years. Out-of-state students face an additional $37.50 in tuition per semester, making $150 for the two years.

Summer school students will pay $15 more in tuition, and even the price of intercession will go up.

Martin Opposes Hike

Dr. Martin strongly opposed the tuition hike, and has opposed similar tuition increases passed on to students since he became president of Eastern some 12 years ago.

The extra cost of tuition hurts middle class students the most, Dr. Martin explained. Many students on financial aid have the increase taken care of in their scholarship. Wealthy students can take care of the increase themselves.

Informality Marks Mac Davis Concert

"My concert is just made up of sittin' around tellin' my life story in songs," songwriter and performer Mac Davis drawled backstage before his concert. He continued, "Most of the things I write about do pertain to my life and experiences."

Davis, comfortably dressed in jeans and a jean jacket, reflected that clothes were unimportant to him. "I threw away my ties about two years ago," he said, "There absolutely no use for a tie whatsoever."

Davis also has no use for traveling, although he likes meeting different people. Another reason he travels the rigorous concert circuit is to become secure enough to be able to "relax someplace and just plain write my songs...I don't want to be or become what you call a 'super-star,'" he said.

But the "song painter" is almost a super star already. How does he "paint songs?" "I don't," he said, "In fact, I've tried to get rid of that ever since they hung it on me...I think it's pretentious."

Pretention is something he definitely doesn't like, as seen in the words of "Hollywood Humpty-Dumpty." This song, he says, tells his story:

Hollywood life and how it got him down. "I'm not a party person," he said, "It's just not the kind of lifestyle for me." Simplicity is his life style, in his professional life as well as his personal one.

His concerts, usually unplanned in format, are informal. It's his voice, his guitar, and his personality; reminiscing about his successes and failures, forgetting words and then joking with the audience about it, but mostly singing warm, emotional songs that really stir the listener.

Sometimes his songs make social comment (for instance "In the Ghetto" and "Hollywood Humpty Dumpty") but he usually likes to leave people with a "good warm feeling" after concerts.

Disliking big cities ("I've lived in L.A. for five years and I've been downtown three times to pay traffic tickets..."), he lives in a secluded house in the hills around Los Angeles.

But you don't have to be from the country to have fun with Davis: "I'll sit around and get bombed out with anybody that wants to," he said, "as long as it's not a bunch of pretentious, status-seeking people."

Fine Arts

The speech and drama presentations this school year have included such plays as "She Stoops to Conquer," "The Glass Menagerie," and "Canterbury Tales." The ECU Players' next performance will be in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," April 20-22 and 26-29.

In its Cammack Gallery on the campus, the ECU art department has numerous exhibits of faculty and student work and often showings of the best work of artists from across the nation and foreign lands.

Another source of culture for community consumption is Eastern's radio station, WEKU-FM, with its programs of music, drama, and public and governmental affairs. This station is the outlet in this community for programs broadcasted by National Public Radio.

Although mainly serving the campus, many local people use the facilities provided by Eastern's John Grant Crabbe Library with its hundreds of thousands of books, museum, historical collections, and law library.

Monday Through Sunday

Festival Of Black Arts In Progress

Eastern's third annual Festival of Black Arts is now in full swing. It began Monday and will continue through Sunday.

Monday night, workshops entitled "White Through a Black perspective and the American Political System—the Black Man's Place in It" were held in the Jagers Room.

Tuesday night, the University Ensemble appeared in concert in the ravine. Last night, former Lexington City Commissioner, Harry Sykes, conducted a workshop in the Jagers Room, followed by a performance of the Reader's Theatre.

An art exhibit with contributions by black students from Eastern, Western and Berea is now on display in the Powell Building, and will be there through Friday.

Tonight, there will be a concert by Young-Holt Unlimited, a jazz trio at 8:00 p.m. in Brock. The admission is $2 for students in advance and $3 for everyone at the door.

Upcoming activities include a performance of the Afro-Set International from 1:00-3:00 p.m. Saturday in Brock, followed by a talent show (anyone interested should contact Evelyn Cole-2517) and a mixer in Martin Cafeteria from 9:00 p.m.-1:00 a.m. Tickets are on sale in the Powell Building.

Sunday there will be a gospel program in Edwards Auditorium, Model Lab School presented by the Berea Choir and the Kentucky Harmonizers.

BOOKS AND THEIR VALUE

At the end of each semester, there comes a period of time that students attempt to resell their textbooks. The true value each text has is in the reading and knowledge obtained from the use of the textbook.

However, in the used book market, there are other values placed on textbooks. There are four classifications of books:

Class A Books are books that will be used on campus in the Fall Semester. The stock of books currently in the bookstore is inadequate; thus, the student will receive 50% of List Price for his or her book. List Price is new book price and not necessarily the price the student paid.

Class B Books are books that have not been readopted for the Fall Semester. However, the book has a better than even chance to be used again on campus. These books carry an element of risk. Therefore, the buy back price will be lower than a Class A book but higher than Class C.

Class C Books are books that are definitely dropped. Since books are adopted by instructors, these same people have the power to discontinue texts. Updating of textbooks is necessary for the improvement of every student's education. Class C books have no value in the sense of re-selling them to other Eastern students. However, there are wholesale book buyers who purchase discontinued texts to resale to other schools. Prices paid for Class C books are set by these wholesale buyers and not the Book Store.

Class D Books are Dogs. Books that have been replaced by new editions or they have been declared out of print. These books have NO VALUE to anyone. The Book Store has no market, the wholesale has no market, and the student has no resale market.
