Clay Makes Progress

Construction progresses rapidly on Sidney Clay Hall on Kit Carson Drive. The 13-story dormitory will house 420 women, and is hoped to be ready for occupancy this fall. Completely air-conditioned, it is being built at a cost of $1,775,000.

Stephen Foster Music Camp Adds Choral Instructions

When the Stephen Collins Foster Music Camp opens its 30th season at Eastern June 13, campers will find the addition of choral instruction to the program. Long time recognized for excellence in the area of instrumental music, Foster Camp will now offer a special two-week session in all aspects of choral music. The two-week program will begin June 27 and continue through the remainder of the four-week camp, which ends July 10.

Composer's Alliance presented him their highest honor, the Laurel Leaf Award, with the citation: "For Distinguished Achievement in Fostering and Encouraging American Music." He has also been honored with numerous other citations, awards, and honorary doctorates. Several foreign governments have decorated him for outstanding cultural services to their countries.

Capt. A. B. Parker Earns Bronze Star

Captain Alton B. Parker, Jr., assistant professor of military science at Eastern, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic duty in Vietnam in ceremonies held this week. The citation, presented by Col. Everett N. Smith, read in part: "With complete disregard for his own personal safety, Captain Parker exposed himself to enemy fire as he surveyed the situation and advised his counter part to maneuver his troops into positions from which could bring accurate fire to bear on the insurgents. Because of his exemplary advice, direction and leadership, the friendly elements were able to inflict many casualties upon the enemy and force their withdrawal. Captain Parker's heroic actions reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army, and are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service."

commissioned in the Infantry. During his ten years of Commissioned service, Captain Parker has performed with the Eighth Infantry Division at Fort Carson, Colorado, and in Germany; the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, North Carolina; the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., and in South Vietnam.

Eastern Student Dies In Accident

Gary Lee Phelps, a sophomore Pre-Med major from Burnside, was killed in a car wreck Saturday night. The car he was driving ran off KY 90 about 1 1/2 miles east of Parkers Lake.

Faculty Honors Colleagues

Members of the Eastern faculty paid tribute to four retiring colleagues at their Faculty Dinner meeting Wednesday night. Honored were Dr. W. J. Moore dean of the faculty; Dr. P. M. Grise, head of the Department of English; Professor Meredith J. Cox, head of the Department of Chemistry, and Miss Ruby Rush, associate professor of Latin at the Model Laboratory School.

Milestone Sells Pictures

All pictures appearing in the 1965 Milestone will go on sale in the Student Union Building Grill Tuesday. The prices for the pictures are as follows: 8 x 10's will be sold at 35c each and all others will be sold at 20c each.

Creative Writing Conference Featuring Three Authors

Three noted authors will be featured at Eastern's third Creative Writing Conference to be held during the week of July 19-23. The three authors, Elliot Coleman, Kermit Hunter, and James McConkey, will lead a series of lectures and informal discussions throughout the week.

Mr. McConkey, now editor of "Epoch" a magazine of new fiction and verse, and creative writing teacher at Cornell University, is an experienced lecturer at writers' conferences. Among his books are "Night Stand" and "The Novels of E. M. Forster."

Mr. Hunter is primarily noted as a playwright. His drama, "Unto These Hills," has been playing each summer since 1950. He is presently Dean of the School of Arts at Southern Methodist University.

AAUP Advocates Academic Freedom

By DORETHA BALLEW Suppose your English instructor wants to assign J. D. Salinger's much-discussed novel Catcher in the Rye as required reading for his class. He can safely assign a book of this controversial nature for critical study if his college advocates academic freedom as stated by the AAUP.

Academic tenure is used to give the teacher a sense of economic security. This enables him to feel free in his teaching and also gives him more freedom to do research. These two things benefit the college student by giving him exposure to a wide scope of ideas—a much wider one than he might get if his professor were severely restricted in his classroom freedom.

The American Association of University Professors, whose membership is made up of college and university professors, feels that the teacher—whatever his subject—is entitled to freedom in the classroom.

Progress Recruiting For Summer Staff The next issue of the Progress will be the last of the regular school year. Two issues will be published during the summer term and any student who will be attending summer school may join the staff by coming to the office of Student Publications.

Eastern's chapter of AAUP is one of 845 local college and university chapters in fifty states. Total membership in the AAUP is estimated at 65,000.

Because the AAUP represents such a large number of college and university professors, it has become the authoritative voice of the academic profession. As long as the AAUP exists, both teacher and student should benefit from its policies.

The local chapter is active in supporting the AAUP policies of academic freedom and tenure. Newly elected officers for the next school year are Mr. Sanford Jones, president, Dr. George Robinson, vice-president, and Mr. Darnell Saylor, secretary-treasurer.

The organization also works for freedom of the professor to do research while employed at a college or university—as long as the research does not interfere with his regular duties as a teacher.

Eastern Graduate Joins Peace Corps

David H. Harvey, Eastern graduate and geography major from Booneville, Kentucky has been named a Peace Corps Volunteer, having completed three months of intensive training at the University of California at Davis. He leaves tomorrow for India.

This group of Volunteers which includes poultry workers and nutritionists, will supplement the Peace Corps' agricultural and health efforts in India. Of the 280 Volunteers now serving in India and the 200 now in training for service in the Asian nation, over half are engaged in agriculture and rural community development.

In training, the new Volunteers studied the history, culture and customs of India. They learned one of several different languages, depending on their assignment in the sub-continent. Poultry workers studied Hindi, Kannada or Malayalam and the nutritionists learned Telegu.

Applicants interested in starting a two-year Peace Corps assignment this summer should complete and submit a Peace Corps Questionnaire as soon as possible and take the Peace Corps Placement Test, which is given throughout the country the second Saturday of each month.

Learning May Be Outmoded

"You are not educating yourself for today, tomorrow, or next week, but for 1980 or 2,000. What you learn today may very shortly become outmoded," Dr. Frederic Ogden, head of the department of political science told students and faculty attending the weekly assembly program. Speaking in Hiram Brock auditorium, Dr. Ogden said, "You are not educating yourself for 1965, but for a period of productivity which will cover 25-30 years of your life. You need to be able to adapt to change."

Eastern Sets New Milking Record

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced a new annual herd production average for milk and butterfat for the registered Holstein cattle herd owned by Eastern. The official per-cow average of 15,505 lbs. of milk and 511 lbs. of butterfat compares favorably to the average U.S. cow's annual output of 7,880 lbs. of milk and 285 lbs. of butterfat. The Eastern findings was based on 28 completed lactations.

Education is not statistics and facts," he said, "but curiosity and good habits. It is never ended, but continuous." He challenged the students to develop a willingness to learn a taste for learning during this formative period of their lives.

The University of Kentucky supervised the weighing and production testing procedures in cooperation with this breed improvement program of the Holstein organization. Production averages are calculated on the commonly employed, two milkings per day, 305-day, mature equivalent basis to provide a comparison standard.

Roman War Helmet?

The object at the left looking like a Roman battle helmet is really the dome for the Smith Park Observatory being constructed here. The circular building will house an 8 inch refracting telescope which will be used by astronomy classes at the college and Model Laboratory School.

It will also be made available to other students and the general public during prescribed hours when it is not used by classes. The $26,000 observatory was named to honor Dr. Park, head of the mathematics department since 1930.

Miss Wills' Name Omitted

In last week's list of graduating seniors with point standings of 3.5 or above Miss Connie Wills' name was omitted. She has a 3.73 point standing.

Campus Voting Machine

Jim Smith, a junior from Opa-Locka, Fla. and secretarial assistant in the Student Council office, demonstrates the voting machine donated to the Student Council to hopeful users of the machine, Nancy Johnson, sophomore from Russell; and Charles Horan, (Kneeling), Louisville junior.

Vulgar Display...

Operation Moonshoot In Full Bloom

EXHIBITIONISM HAS REARED its head as the latest campus fad, this time as an extremely gross sport known as "moon-shooting."

"Operation Moonshoot," as the movement is known, started its collegiate circuit in the Ivy League, supposedly at Yale, and has made its way to Eastern via Murray and Western. Not to be outdone, Eastern students have carried moonshooting to higher pinnacles of degradation than ever before.

The participants in this new campus fad possibly feel they are being nonconformists, rebelling against society's stringent normative system, and establishing themselves among their peers as free thinkers. However, in countries where semi and total nudity is an accepted part of the culture there is no stigma of exhibitionism attached.

Moonshooting has been manifested thus far at three sites: (1) Clays Ferry Beach, better known to Eastern students now as "Moonsborough;" (2) Interstate 75, where passing motorists are frequently "moonshot;" (3) And most recently, from the arched columns of the Combs

Building, directed toward McGregor Hall.

Besides getting the Eastern student body labled as a bunch of "kooks," moonshooting has many other more serious results. One that strikes very close to home with most students is prompt dismissal from school, the fate of two moonshooters who had the ill-fortune to moonshoot a faculty member on I-75 last week.

It is perhaps a good example about the old axiom about "idle hands..." This public posterior display is such a flagrant violation of any moral code you might adhere to, that one coed, who considers herself "very liberal," says that "it's one of very few things for which I would report anyone to the administration," an indication that some students regard moonshooting with more disdain than the average violation.

One wonders how an Eastern student guilty of moonshooting would react to having his parents exposed to this vulgar prank by some of his friends in a passing car.

Every Year...

Consider These Questions

Every year about this time editorials in college newspapers begin by saying "Every year about this time..." and sure enough it's that time. It is always tempting at this time to review what has been said by Mother and Daddy from the time Junior and Susie had their first dates. But since the frequent repetition of these principles concerning PDA (public display of affection) is apparently to no avail, judging from certain behavior on campus, this temptation will be overcome. It might be more beneficial if everyone just considered these questions:

What do you want the person you are dating to think of you? What in your life do you consider personal, private and precious? Do you appreciate the spots of beauty on Eastern's campus? Do you have any respect for yourself and for the person you are dating? Do you respect other couples your own age?

How would you like to give your parents a thorough Sunday afternoon tour of the campus? How much influence will your answers to these questions have on you, your fellow students and the public picture of American students?

How would you like your little sister or brother or your "special" girl to answer these questions?

Council Receives Voting Machine

The Student Council is now the proud possessor of a voting machine donated by the Fayette County Fiscal Court.

Council president, Hugh Burkett, stated that he saw an advertisement that 50 machines were to be given away and to be replaced by new ones. He requested that one be given to the Council; his request was accepted and the machine was received Wednesday afternoon.

Burkett states his reasons for requesting the machine as threefold. First, that the machine, now located in the Student Council office in the SUB, will be used in co-operation with the Young Democrats Club and the Young Republicans Club for demonstrations to students as to the proper use of voting machines. Second, if the machine proves to be in good working order, it will be used in Campus elections under the supervision of the Council election committee. Third, if found to be in working order, the Council hopes to use it in mock elections in co-operation with the two political organizations on campus.

Such a machine, if used correctly could prove to be beneficial to Eastern in all the three aims of the Council previously mentioned. The majority of students do not come of voting age until after they have entered college. Many of them have no experience with voting machines until after they have graduated. Previously knowledge of the operation of such machines would be beneficial when they are confronted with an opportunity to use such devices.

Using the machine in Campus elections would necessarily entail periodical checks by an authorized individual to verify the accuracy of the machine.

If the machine proves to be valid, its use could completely solve the problem of padding the ballot boxes, as well as insure the accuracy of the count, thus relieving the factor of human error as mistakes in calling ballots, and neglecting to count others. It would also facilitate elections in that all the voting could be conducted in a central location on campus, allowing such elections to be regulated much more easily by a minimum number of authorized students.

Rook To Biology

By FANNY SUE ZELLER

In the spring a young girl's fancy turns to... Well, it may turn to many things such as boys, love, and vine covered cottages, but that trite old ritual of studying must enter her mind sometime.

Until cuffew the date rooms of the dormitories are used as a recreational room for the girls and their dates. But, after the boys depart, they are converted into a "study hall" for many coeds.

From Rook to Biology

Take McGregor Hall as an example. Tables which only minutes before were used by couples playing Rook, now are desks. Books, ranging in subject matter from "biology to "Marriage and the Family," are stacked as high as eighteen inches tall on one desk.

Other tables are used as desks for typewriters. If a girl has any typing to do after 11 p.m., it must be done in the date room. This way the constant "pick-peck" of the typewriter does not disturb a would-be sleeper.

The blasting sounds of "Shindig" are now turned off! Sofas and chairs, even the floor, are spread with piles of papers filled with notes from English to zoology. "Dear me," comes a sigh from one girl, wondering what she meant by "textile-oral beg. of rev.-cotton cloth became favorable women prohibited impotence of goods." Occasionally a faint whisper can be heard from a group of girls sitting in the corner who are in the same literature class. Their discussion is centered around Wordsworth's "Lines Composed a Few Miles Above Tintern Abbey."

Why do so many girls escape from their rooms to study? The reasons are numerous. One sophomore states, "My roommate goes to bed fairly early, so I come down here and study, in order not to disturb her."

Preparation for entering the room is simple. First, put on PJs and roll up hair. Second, a majority of the girls (provided they have a test or an important assignment) drink several cups of coffee before entering this realm of study. Then too, some dope up on No-Doz. One morning the janitor came in to clean the bathroom and found a girl curled up, sound asleep, her head buried in page 131 of her biology book.

These "study halls" provide the girls with a place of escape, a place of solitude where they can study by themselves.

In case a boy calls his girlfriend later on in the night, and she is not in her room, she shouldnt panic, because she is probably down in the date room—not with a boy, but with Edward McNall and Burns, or simply her "History 247" book!

Letters

To The Editor Of The Progress

Not Enough

Two weeks ago a parade was held here at Eastern in honor of Dianne Hendricks, who was awarded Miss Cheerleader U.S.A. It seems to me that this parade was very much a "flap" since only a few people were present to welcome Dianne home. Where was everybody? It seems as though only a few students knew that Dianne was returning and that a parade was to be held in her honor. Perhaps things of this nature should be announced ahead of time for the benefit of all concerned. I am sure that Dianne has worked hard to represent Eastern, and I feel that her work deserves some recognition from the students and faculty.

Questions Behavior

There has been much ado within the last few weeks at Eastern as to the question of the actions of some of our students and their social life. To be more specific, there has been a trend, and may I add of a few, for the dating of Negroes and whites.

I intend by no means to be classified as an agitator, indeed, that is the reason for attempting to have this letter printed in an orthodox manner.

May I point out that the radical only kills his end by using unconventional means. Tennyson's statement from Lochely Hall could very well apply to our own situation: "Freedom, free to slay herself, and dying while they shout her name." As a result the opposition shouts respect, respect, and there is a sense of respect. By adopting a sensible means of expression would then facilitate a sensible end.

This letter then is rather an appeal to those students who have adopted an unorthodox social life upon which even Emily Post would frown. We of Eastern are tolerable but we find it difficult to tolerate those who are prone to use an issue for self glorification.

We must beware of conforming to non-conformity, it reflects and our school suffers.

In Last Three Months

Complexion Of War In Viet Nam Changes

By NEAL STANFORD
Staff correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor

The whole character of the war in Vietnam has changed in the last three months. The war has been carried to the north by air. It has been intensified on the ground in the south.

In the south, according to the latest figures available in the Pentagon, it is the Viet Cong which is currently coming off second best.

As one United States general put it this past week, "The pendulum now is moving in our favor."

What has happened?

Today the figures that come in weekly and monthly to the Pentagon favor the United States and South Vietnamese Government.

Government troops are not losing the weapons they used to. The number of South Vietnamese killed or captured has declined. In this period the number of Viet Cong killed has climbed.

More are being captured. There is a sharp increase in the number who have turned themselves in—both civilian and military. Some have been officers.

Larger Units Vulnerable

This whole picture could be changed should the war escalate with the movement of Communist Chinese forces south. But for the moment at least the war, which has been sub-limited for these last five years, is beginning to become conventional.

And the United States finds it easier to fight a limited war than a sub-limited one.

Conversely, the Viet Cong seems to find it harder to fight an expanded war than they did a sub-limited war or guerrilla operations. When the Viet Cong troops move in larger units they are easier to locate.

Also, as they reach battalion strength they have an increasingly difficult supply problem. That supply problem increases with the raids north. The vulnerability of the Viet Cong increases as the war involves larger military formations.

One of the most important changes in the character of the war is in the offensive actions of the two forces. In the past the Viet Cong more frequently took the offensive. Now the South Vietnamese forces have the initiative.

It is a military dictum that the who initiates an operation is apt to win it. That has proved true in the past when the Viet Cong had the initiative. It is proving true now when the South Vietnamese have it.

Casualties Confirmed

During April, for example, there were 25 major clashes between the Viet Cong and South Vietnam forces. Of those, 18 were government victories, five government defeats. Sixteen of those 18 government victories were government initiated.

Figures on casualties also indicate the value of the initiative.

The kill rate in government-initiated operations was 8 to 1 in South Vietnam's favor. In Viet Cong initiated operations it was only 3 to 1.

In all major operations it was over 5 to 1 favoring the government. This was not true a year ago, or six months ago.

But it is the picture today, according to official military figures.

The desertion rate among the Viet Cong is rising. In April some 600 Viet Cong gave themselves up. Very few were hardcore Viet Cong. Most were provincial forces, guerrilla forces.

Apparently the Viet Cong is having a morale problem. By killing local officials, harassing villagers, and terrorizing neighborhoods it has not endeared itself to the local populace. Now that the South Vietnamese are taking the initiative, and winning more and more engagements, the local peasants are showing increasing resistance to Viet Cong pressures and terror. As more of the Viet Cong now are North Vietnamese (not South Vietnamese returning home) the peasants resist their presence.

There were a number of interesting proposals brought up at the Ohio Valley Conference confab held in Louisville. Representatives from all 8 of the OVC schools were present to discuss the proposals on the agenda.

The main topic of discussion was the question of expansion. The representatives rejected a proposal that a study be made for an expansion plan—and thereby closed the door on Kentucky State's request for membership.

"We are satisfied with an eight-team league and want to keep it that way," the conference leaders said after turning down Dr. Adron Doran's proposal to review the possibility of expansion. Doran is the president of Morehead State College.

Kentucky State, a predominantly Negro school, now is a member of the Midwest Athletic Association. It has expressed an interest in joining the OVC as part of a plan to upgrade its athletic program. The formal request from Kentucky State's Dr. Carl Hill never came before the delegates. The matter was dropped from consideration after the delegates voted to keep the eight-team limitation in the OVC constitution.

In other action, the league:

- Rejected a proposal that would have allowed junior college students with one year of B-average work to transfer to a member school and become eligible immediately. Currently, transfer is not allowed until after 1 1/2 years of college.
- Turned down a $15 monthly incidental fee that would have been added to the conference's grant-in-aid program.
- Rejected a boost in fees paid to basketball officials.

The last two proposals will be studied in detail early next year to determine how much they would increase the athletic budget.

Roy Stewart of Murray replaced Bobby Laughlin of Morehead as president.

TOLAN DRAFTED BY HAWKS

Bob Tolan, the Maroon's 6-8 center this past season, was selected by the St. Louis Hawks in this year's National Basketball Association's draft of future players. He averaged 10 points and 13 rebounds a game this past season.

The SPORTING NEWS, a leading sports paper which listed the results of the draft, reported that Tolan was from Western Kentucky.

Linksmen Place Seventh In OVC

Eastern's Linksmen finished 7th in the OVC golf tournament held at Elizabethtown, Tenn. last week-end.

The Eastern boys were not having a very good week-end, with Jim Martin shooting the best with a 76-79 for the two day tournament. Coach Presnell said, "Next year the OVC will really be tough as far as golf is concerned, the first two boys that placed were freshmen. Our boys will do better next year I'm sure. It was just one of those week-ends."

Individual scores were:
Jim Martin 76-79
Ken Kreutz 80-77
Edwin Luxon 76-81
Jack Good 83-85
Ben Robinson 85-85

Maroons Go Ahead

Maroon right fielder Jerry Gill scores the go-ahead run in the first game of the OVC baseball playoffs here last weekend.

The maroons won the lid-lifter but lost to Murray 3-2 and 7-3 in the last deciding games.

IM's Close This Week

Spring intramurals are drawing to a close with the Spring sports finals being held this week and the first of next week.

The power lifting contest was held last Wednesday. The girls doubles championship will be finished by this weekend. The boys doubles are to be held next Monday at the Martin Hall Courts at 8 p.m.

The IM track meet took place yesterday afternoon. The winners and the winning teams and their stories will be published in next week's Progress.

In the tennis action last week, Kenny Spurlock edged out Ronald Stacy 6-4, 5-7, 6-4 for the singles championship.

The girls singles winner is Dianne Taylor.

In the boys doubles, Frank Guertin and Wendal Wheeler defeated Dave Bryant and Gary Collier to gain the semifinals against Alvin Manuel and Charles Stone. Stacy and his partner, Jack Hacker, are threats for the doubles championship. They beat Larry Gregory and Jim Gofarth to meet Col. Stoll and Jim Glass in the semifinals.

Thinclads Third In OVC Meet

By JIM WHEBRINK

Eastern placed third in this year's OVC track meet held at Morehead last Friday and Saturday.

This meet saw many records fall and many upsets taking place as Eastern compiled a total of 53 points for third place, and Western and Murray place first and second respectively.

One of the big guns for the tracksters was Vern Brooks. Brooks ran third in the 440 yard dash with a time of 48.3, and fourth in the 220 yard dash with a 22:6 seconds. He was also a member of the first place mile relay team and the second place 440 yard relay team.

The biggest upset of the meet was in the two mile race. Bill McAnely, a freshman, dethroned running mate Jim Beasley who was the current OVC champ.

Eastern finished the meet with four firsts. Larry Whalen won the mile run for the second year in a row. Aaron Marsh pulled out another big upset by placing first in the broad jump, while Bill McAnely took the two mile event. The mile relay team added the final touch to the first place bing. Bill Swanson, Vern Brooks, Andrew Cash, and Ron Benson combined to establish a new record of 3:12.9 minutes.

Benson ran the last leg of the relay in 46:7 seconds to leave the rest of the competition in the dust. Benson came up with one of Eastern's two second place finishes in the 880 yard run, which he set a new school record with a time of 1:50.8. The other second was in the 440 relay as Mark Hopkins, Jerry Mords, Vern Brooks, Niles Dawson combined to finish second.

Eastern compiled three third place wins, they are as follows: 120 high hurdles, Carey Guess, 440 Vern Brooks, and Jim Beasley in the two mile. Fourth positions were nailed down by Carey Guess in the 330 low hurdles and Rick Dyer in the high hurdles. Henry Fatio placed fifth in the 330 low hurdles and Roy Evans took fifth position in the discus event.

Eastern made a very fine showing in this year's meet and next year we should see the track championship on the Maroon campus.

IM Introduces Lifting Contest

Eastern's first annual intramural weight lifting contest was held Wednesday in the Alumni Coliseum parking lot. Tom Kopaz, Thomas Beckley, Ron House and Gary Caronia were tops in their weight divisions.

Kopaz, in the 148 lb. division bench pressed 290, squatted 205 and dead lifted 285. Beckley at 165 bench pressed 230, squatted 300, and dead lifted 390. In the 198 division House bench pressed 265, squatted 290 and dead lifted 475. Caronia in the heavy weight division bench pressed 285, squatted 340 and dead lifted 440.

Twenty-five contestants entered the first annual contest held before a crowd of about 100 spectators. Mr. Earnie Groves, head of intramural activities, reported he was "quite pleased with the participation and turnout for the meet."

Ron Divingo who exhibited a total weight of 1100 lbs. said that he planned to enter the Mr. Kentucky contest and also the Mr. Mid-West contest next year. Ron works out with weights just about every day. He commented that he enjoys weight lifting tremendously and that it keeps him in good condition for football.

Baseballers Drop Series 2 Games To 1

Big John Carr came in the fifth inning in relief of starter Glenn Marshall and pitched the Maroons to a victory over Murray. Carr gave up 3 hits while allowing one unearned run. His win was the team's only victory in the playoff and gave the Maroons a 1-0 edge.

Marshall left for a pinch-hitter in the three-run fourth. He had a 3-2 lead when he left, but an unearned Murray run in the top of the sixth prevented him from being the winner.

With the game tied 3-3, Jim King opened the Eastern sixth with a walk, Ron Pisenchalm singled, and Ron Chasteen hit a long single to right center scoring both runs, giving the Maroons their winning margin in the opener.

The losing pitcher was Murray ace Phil Dugan. The lefthander is one of the nation's best pitchers. Dugan had given up only three runs this season, one of them earned. He was also sporting a 0.17 earned run average.

Marshall, Carr (5) and McCord MURRAY 3-7 EASTERN 2-3
Murray swept the remaining two games and the series with wins in the second game Friday and the decisive contest Saturday.

The second game was won by the score of 3 to 2. For seven innings it was a pitcher's duel between Dave Price and Ron Anderson. Murray had come back to tie the game in the bottom of the seventh when Price seemed to tire.

Don Snopek took the mound for the Maroons in the eighth and loaded the bases, all on walks. Catcher Al Darnall then singled to give Murray the victory and tie the playoffs.

Jack Czysz and Eddie Buckner were the opposing pitchers in the crucial third game that Murray won 7-5.

A five-run sixth inning was the deciding factor in the game. Trailing 2-1 going into the sixth, the Breds rallied. Lewis Jones singled, John Anzell singled with one out, and Mike Harris reached first on an error, allowing Jones to score. Czysz then walked to load the bases.

Dave Price then relieved Buckner and promptly struck out Dave Boyd before issuing a walk to Mike Martin that forced in the lead run. Al Darnall then doubled to center and, aided by an error, three more runs were in.

Larry Williams, who scored two runs, had three of the Maroon's 7 hits, all singles.

TESTS, AND HOW THEY GREW

Just the other night I was saying to the little woman, "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" (Incidentally, the little woman is not, as you might think, my wife. My wife is far from a little woman. She is, in fact, nearly seven feet high and mantled with rippling muscles. She is a full-blooded Ogallala Sioux and holds the world's shot put record. The little woman I referred to is someone we found crouching under the sofa when we moved into our apartment back in 1928, and there she has remained ever since. She never speaks except to make a kind of guttural clicking sound when she is hungry. To tell you the truth, she's not too much fun to have around the house, but with my wife away at track meets most of the time, at least it gives me someone to talk to.)

But I digress. "Do you think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized?" I said the other night to the little woman, and then I said, "Yes, Max, I do think the importance of tests in American colleges is being overemphasized." (As I explained, the little woman does not speak, so when we have conversations, I am forced to do both parts.)

But I digress. To get back to tests—sure, they're important, but let's not allow them to get too important. There are, after all, many talents which simply can't be measured by quizzes. Is it right to penalize a gifted student whose gifts don't happen to fall into an academic category? Like, for instance, Finster Sigafos?

She is a full-blooded Ogallala Sioux...

Finster, a freshman at the Wyoming College of Belles Lettres and Fingerprint Identification, has never passed a single test; yet all who know him agree he is studded with talent like a ham with cloves. He can, for example, sleep standing up. He can do a perfect imitation of a scarlet tanager. (I don't mean just the bird calls; I mean he can fly south in the winter.) He can pick up BB's with his toes. He can say "toy boat" three times fast. He can build a rude telephone out of 100 yards of string and two empty Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blade packages. (This last accomplishment is the one Finster is proudest of—not building the telephone but emptying the Personna packs. To empty a Personna pack is not easily accomplished, believe you me, not if you're a person who likes to get full value out of his razor blades. And full value is just what Personnas deliver. They last and last and keep on lasting; luxury shave follows luxury shave in numbers that make the mind boggle. Why don't you see for yourself? Personnas are now available in two varieties: a brand-new stainless steel injector blade for users of injector razors—and the familiar double-edge stainless steel blade so dear to the hearts and kind to the kissers of so many happy Americans, blades so smooth-shaving, so long-lasting that the Personna Co. makes the following guarantee: If you don't agree Personna gives you more luxury shaves than Beep-Beep or any other brand you might name, Personna will buy you a pack of whatever kind you think is better.)

But I digress. Back to Finster Sigafos—artist, humanist, philosopher, and freshman since 1939. Win the world ever benefit from Finster's great gifts? Alas, no. He is in college to stay.

But even more tragic for mankind is the case of Claire de Loon Claire, a classmate of Finster's, had no talent, no gifts, no brains, no personality. All she had was a knack for taking tests. She would cram like mad before a test, always get a perfect score, and then promptly forget everything she had learned. Naturally, she graduated with highest honors and degrees by the dozen, but the sad fact is that she left college no more educated and no more prepared to cope with the world than she was when she entered. Today, a broken woman, she crouches under my sofa.

Speaking of tests, we, the makers of Personna®, put our blades through an impressive number before we send them to market. We also make—and thoroughly test—an aerosol shave that soaks rings around any other lather: Burma Shave®, regular and menthol.

A MESSAGE TO ROTC COLLEGE MEN

IF YOU'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES TO BE AN ARMY OFFICER, STAY IN THE ROTC

Being an Army officer is a challenge. Officers must be leaders... able to take responsibility... get important jobs done.

It isn't easy to win a commission as an Army officer. But if you are taking the Basic Course in ROTC you're well on your way—provided you can measure up to the high standards required for admission to the Advanced Course.

As a student in one of the 247 colleges and universities offering senior ROTC training, you are in a privileged group. There's no better way for any college man to get the training and skills needed to be an Army officer than through the on-campus program created specifically for that purpose—ROTC. Here you learn to be a leader... to develop the qualities that add a vital plus to your academic training... qualities that will pay off for the rest of your life in whatever career you choose to follow.

There are other advantages too. Pay, at the rate of $40 per month during the Advanced Course plus allowances for summer training and travel. Fellowship and social activity. The chance to work with modern Army equipment, and perhaps to qualify for Army flight training if it is offered at your school. And then gold bars and a commission as an Army officer.

Why not talk to your Professor of Military Science now. Let him know you're interested in signing up for the Advanced Course. Then if you are offered an opportunity to join, don't pass it up. It's the program that's best for you... and best for your country.

ARMY ROTC

If you're good enough to be an Army officer, don't settle for less.

Kentucky Poverty War
 Subject Of Comfab

How to wage war on poverty at the community level was the theme of a two-day conference, Louisville recently which attracted some 1,200 persons from every corner of Kentucky.

At the conference, sponsored by the Kentucky Commission on Children and Youth, Governor Edward T. Breathitt declared that the Federal Economic Opportunity Act "places in our hands a key to release our energies, our vision and our aspirations... what we get out of it depends largely on what we ourselves put into it."

Breathitt said 36 anti-poverty projects in Kentucky have been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity (O. E. O.) in Washington and most of these involve services in children, job training for youth, and "help to strengthen families."

Theodore M. Berry, community action director at the O. E. O. and a native of Maysville, Ky., said the anti-poverty legislation gives high priority to services for children and youth. Of the estimated 30 million impoverished persons in the nation, he said, more than a third are under 18 years of age. While these young people cannot be blamed for their economic and cultural poverty, he added, they offer the greater hope to overthrow the legacy of despair and dependency.

Berry underlined the necessity of across-the-board cooperation by every community organization with a social purpose — government, school boards, trade unions, welfare agencies and others.

"No one agency is capable of doing it alone," he said.

Berry said Kentucky is "far in advance" of Tennessee and Virginia in the anti-poverty aid it has received because Kentucky "was there first with the most."

Fourteen other Federal anti-poverty officials were on the conference program, explaining the possibilities of the program from completing application forms to follow-up on approved projects.

Shad Hoffman, a representative of the American Public Welfare Association, said "there is danger of waging war against the poor instead of against poverty" unless the poor themselves have a hand in designing and implementing anti-poverty programs.

James L. Peel, Frankfort, coordinator of the poverty war in Kentucky, said the state's program has mobilized to the extent that 100,000 underprivileged children will participate in Operation Head-Start in Kentucky this summer. The project is designed to give underprivileged pre-school children educational experiences during the summer months, in preparation for regular classroom studies.

Other State government speakers on the program included Dr. Harry Sparks, superintendent of public instruction; Don C. Bale, assistant superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Margaret Limper, medical director of the Kentucky Commission for Handicapped Children; and Richard J. Clendenen, child welfare commissioner.

Peace Corps Offers Loan

College juniors who wish to use the summer before their senior year to prepare for post-graduation Peace Corps service now may borrow up to $600 to help pay their senior year school expenses. Loan repayment may be deferred until after Peace Corps service has been completed.

The loan program, announced by Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, is the product of an agreement between United Student Aid Fund, Inc. (USA Fund) and the Peace Corps Volunteers Fund, a non-profit foundation established by the Peace Corps National Advisory Council.

Privately funded, the loans are guaranteed by USA Fund, a non-profit corporation providing loan guarantees to students on 700 campuses, with the participation of more than 6,000 banks through out the United States.

The loans are expected to enable more third-year college students to enroll in the Peace Corps Advanced Training Program, a two-phase plan that provides intensive Peace Corps training during the summer months between the junior and senior year, and just after graduation. Many students who have had to work during summer months now may participate in the Peace Corps Advanced Program.

Allen D. Marshall, president of the USA Fund, called the loan program "A unique relationship between two private organizations (USA Fund and the Peace Corps Volunteer Fund) jointly benefiting a unique agency of our Federal Government."

Trainees in the Advanced Training Program begin their Peace Corps training in June. They receive travel allowances to cover transportation to and from the training center, and a living allowance while training. Selection for the Advanced Training Program is the same as that used for all Peace Corps applicants, based on an evaluation of the candidate's background as revealed in the Peace Corps Questionnaire, Placement Test results, and character references.

Evaluation continues during the summer training program, and final selection is not made until the end of the second stage, following college graduation.

Following the eight-week summer program, Advanced Training participants return to their regular college, where they may continue language study on an individual basis. No specific course requirements are made.

After graduation, participants return to a training center for eight weeks more of intensive instruction. Those who successfully complete the final training program then will begin their work abroad as regular Peace Corps Volunteers.

The members of the Peace Corps National Advisory Council who were instrumental in originating the Peace Corps Volunteers Fund are Ralph Lazarus, president, Federated Department Stores, Inc.; Donald Petrie, Chairman, Executive Committee of Avis, Inc.; the Rev. John J. Conidine, director, Latin American Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference; and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Arthur Flemming, now president, University of Oregon.

THE WAR ON POVERTY:
 a message to the Nation's college students...

Inspiring causes have always fired the imagination of students.

Today the United States is committed to the greatest humanitarian cause in its history—a massive counterattack on the causes of poverty, which are robbing 35,000,000 Americans of the opportunities most of us are free to pursue because we had the advantage of a decent start in life. That start has been denied to one-fifth of the nation's people. Thirteen million of them are children.

This is a moment in history for the fortunate to help the least privileged of their fellow citizens. You can help this summer, or for a full year if you choose, as a volunteer in the War on Poverty.

In July and August, 30,000 volunteers will be needed in their own communities to assist four- and five-year-old children of the poor through Project Head Start Child Development Centers. Thousands more are needed to live and work among poor families by enlisting in VISTA, the domestic Peace Corps.

In Head Start, volunteers work side-by-side with teachers, social workers, doctors, and other professionals to give pre-school children advantages which can change the patterns of their lives. Many of these children have never held a doll, never scribbled with crayons. Meager environments have blunted their curiosity. Some are spoken to so rarely that they are unable to form sentences.

Head Start volunteers will read to children, take them on outings to zoos and parks, organize creative play for them, and help build the security and self-confidence they need to succeed in school. The rewards come when a withdrawn child begins to ask questions or responds to the affection for which he has been starved. Without such help, many of these children would be headed for school failure and the poverty cycle which trapped their parents.

Many young people who are 18 or older and can serve for a year enroll for training in VISTA—both to help others and to enlarge their own capacities for teaching, social work, or careers in sociology, economics, law, and other fields.

Home base for VISTA volunteer groups can be a city tenement row, a struggling farm community, an Indian reservation, a migrant labor camp, or a mental hospital. Volunteers may counsel school dropouts, organize recreation programs, tutor children who are behind in school, explore job opportunities for the poor—in short, do whatever is needed to help people find their way up from poverty. Volunteers become respected members of the communities where they work.

The pay is nominal—living expenses plus $50 a month paid at the end of service. But the opportunities are great: you can help pave the way for an America in which the democratic ideal is big enough to encompass everyone.

Will you lend your abilities to people who live in need? Join the War on Poverty today!
