Honors Program Gives Recognition To Over Five Hundred Students

By BRENDA PHILPOT
Progress News Editor
Over five hundred students received recognition and awards at the annual Honors Program which was held in Brock Auditorium Tuesday night.

The entire Dean's List was honored as well as special honors given by organizations and departments. The program was presided over by the presidents of the four honorary academic organizations. The presidents presiding were Carol Sandy, Collegiate Pentacle; Sandra Wallace, CWENS; George Noe, Kappa Iota Epsilon; and Neil Adams, Omicron Alpha Kappa.

Mr. Donald Keeton gave the invocation, and President Martin recognized high scholastic standing. Dr. Joseph Young, Dean of the School of Business, presented a short address, and Dean Smith Park presented group recognition.

Departmental Awards
For the departmental awards, department chairmen selected outstanding students to be honored. Receiving book awards from the Foreign Language Department were Trudy Shearer in French, Patricia Mulvanity in German, Merrie Lou Hott in Latin, Linda Bennett in Russian, and Baird Collins in Spanish.

Organizational Awards
In the organizational awards area, the Canterbury Club, organization of English majors, presented the Roy B. Clark awards for the best fiction in Belles Lettres, the college's literary magazine, to Rebecca Anderson, Donald Smith, and Michael McClelland. The P.M. Grise award for best poem in Belles Lettres went to Miss Pat Albee.

John W. Macy Will Deliver 59th Commencement Address

John W. Macy, Jr., chairman of the United States Civil Service Commission, will deliver the address at Eastern's 59th spring commencement exercises Monday, May 30, at 10:30 a.m. in Alumni Coliseum.

Macy's address will close a three-day commencement weekend that begins Saturday with Alumni Day, Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Franklin P. Owen, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church of Lexington, will deliver the baccalaureate address.

Sunday at 4 p.m., President and Mrs. Martin will host a reception honoring the members of the graduating class and their families in Walnut Hall of the Keen Johnson Student Union Building.

Macy, a native of Chicago, will address 652 candidates for degrees. Of the graduating class—the last for Eastern Kentucky State College—48 are candidates for the Master of Arts, 143 for the Bachelor of Arts, and 461 for the Bachelor of Science.

University status will become effective July 1, before summer commencement. Eastern is expected to graduate more than 1,000 this year.

Macy, who entered government work in 1939, was appointed chairman of the Civil Service Commission in 1961 by President John F. Kennedy. He was reappointed by President Lyndon Johnson in 1965.

As head of the nation's largest employment system, he is concerned with 2.5 million federal employees. In addition to his duties as Civil Service chairman he is President Johnson's principal advisor in federal personnel management.

A graduate of Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., Macy received the B.A. in government in 1938. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, won a Thorndike Scholarship, and was a Rhodes scholar nominee. He did graduate work at the American University in Washington.

Macy began his career in 1939 as an administrative intern. In 1943 he enlisted in the Army Air Force and was discharged in 1946 with the rank of captain. From 1953 to 1958, he held the commission's top career post of executive director. Prior to his appointment, Macy had served in the Department of the Army, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the Social Security Board.

Macy temporarily left government work to serve as executive vice president of Wesleyan University, his alma mater, from 1958 to 1961, when he was appointed to his present position.

New Program Announced For Art Therapists

A new four-year program will begin next fall at Eastern that will help to remedy a critical shortage of manual arts therapists which now exists in V. A. and other hospitals, Dr. John Rowlett, dean of the college of applied arts and technology, announced.

Curricula for the new program has been approved by the curriculum committee. The Board of Regents & Dr. Robert R. Martin, directed that it proceed without delay.

Director of the program at Eastern is Thomas E. Myers, assistant professor of industrial arts. He said that students will take the regular comprehensive industrial arts curricula, as well as additional courses in psychology, kinesiology, anatomy, sociology, and others.

Students will complete four years of course work on the campus, including one semester of student teaching. Five weeks of this period will be spent in clinical training at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Lexington.

Approval of this clinical affiliation was received this week from the V. A. Central office, Washington, D. C.

He said he expects the program to produce more qualified therapists. Manual arts therapy is a medically prescribed program of vocationally significant activity for sick and disabled patients on medical prescription. Patients are helped to discover latent abilities and to develop the strength and endurance necessary for working in vocations appropriate to their disabilities. This will be the second new program in two years designed to provide trained personnel for hospitals. A School of Nursing is completing its first year at Eastern.

Highlighting the banquet tomorrow night will be the presentation of the tenth Outstanding Alumnus Award.

Also scheduled are Alumni luncheons, classes of 1916, 1926, 1941 and 1951, conducted tours of the campus, and open house at Blanton House, home of President and Mrs. Martin. Art and Industrial Arts exhibits can be seen in Cammack and Fitzpatrick Buildings.

Lodging Available At Lake Buckhorn

Vacationers desiring deluxe lodge accommodations may obtain them at Lake Buckhorn State Park at Buckhorn, which opened for the 1966 tourist season May 1.

A recent report on the availability of accommodations made by the State Department of Parks shows an abundance of choice accommodations are now available at the resort park—one of Kentucky's newest.

Almost equidistant from Hazard, Jackson and Booneville in Southeastern Kentucky, the 5,000 acre park lies in an area of unspoiled scenic mountains beside Lake Buckhorn. It is easily accessible, however, located on Kentucky Highway 28.

Accommodations include 23 lodge rooms, each with two double beds, bath, balcony and television, a large dining room, beach and bathhouse, picnicking facilities, a boat dock and boats for rent. A supervised recreation program is planned for guests.

More information can be obtained by contacting the Central Reservations Information Office in Frankfort, phone 228-2326 or writing or phoning the park directly.

Surrounded By Defense

Jim Guice is surrounded by a flock of White Shetler (86) and Jim Demler (70). The team defenders. White team tacklers are White team defeated the Maroon offensive Phil Knauer (78), Jim Moberly (65), Tom squad 39-17.

Defense Stops Offense 39 - 17 In Annual Maroon-White Game

The Maroon and White game which was played last Tuesday night saw the defense outscore the offense 39-17, in a hard-hitting contest.

The game opened with the defense scoring on the first play of the game with a recovered fumble and put them up 3-0. Then the offense started to roll, with Jim Guice guiding the team down to the 17 yard line where the defense finally stopped them. At this point Walter Murphy booted a field goal to tie the score.

The White team then held the offense in the next series of downs to gain another one point advantage, but then the Maroon team started to roll behind the arm of Guice and he guided the team to the five yard line where he then ran for the touchdown and Murphy added the extra point.

This was all the offense was able to mount together in the first half as the defensive unit rose to the occasion and stopped the Maroon team cold. Buddy Pfaadt intercepted one of his three passes in the first half and Ron Reed picked off another and the White team took the lead at the half 19-10.

The second half it was all defense as they mounted their lead to as much as 24 points mainly due to the vicious line play and the keen reflexes of the secondary. George Robinson picked off a pass and returned it for 60 yards and a near touchdown.

Tim Speaks threw a long bomb on second down and one to Aaron Marsh for a touchdown but it was called back because of a penalty. Guice then started another drive teaming up with Marsh for 65 yards on three receptions and the final was for a 26 yard touchdown pass. Murphy added the Maroon team's final point as the score stood 34-17. Pfaadt picked off another Guice aerial for his third interception and the final points for the defense.

Guice passed for 203 yard in 15 of 36 attempts while Speaks threw 11 of 24 for 147 yards. The ground game was slowed up quite a bit as the defense allowed only 10 yards in the second half and a total of 87 for the entire game. Bob Beck was the leading rusher with 41 yards in six carries.

The development of the defense was the bright point of the spring game pointed out Coach Kidd. He said that it was this defense that would give the Maroons their chance at the conference title, and he added "they looked better than they have all spring."

"The passing and receiving was very impressive," but he added, "we need a lot of work on the running game in order to have a well balanced attack." He cited Jim Guice as being one of the best quarterbacks in the OVC and "he has really become a good scrambler."

Twenty-One ROTC Cadets Recognized At Review

Twenty-one Eastern ROTC cadets received special awards at the annual Presidents' Review ceremonies last Friday.

Receiving awards from among the 2,700 men corps were: Cadet first lieutenant Joe Franklin Arterberry of Richmond was awarded the defense supply association medal as one of the ten most outstanding junior cadets in general military science in the United States.

Cadet lieutenant colonel Daniel B. Webster, Warsaw, was presented the American Ordnance Association award as the outstanding cadet being commissioned in the Ordnance Corps. Cadet sergeant major John Paul Shields of Lexington was awarded the Superior Academic Achievement Ribbon by the Professor of Military Science, Col. Everett N. Smith.

The Reserve Officers Association Award for outstanding cadet commissioned in the United States Army Reserve went to cadet major Leroy Edward Kinman, Highland Heights.

The Reserve Officers Association Award for potential leadership achievement went to cadets in first, second and third year military science: cadet staff sergeant Kent Alan Mason, Southgate, MS1; cadet sergeant major David Eric Barkman, Lexington, MS1; and cadet first lieutenant Robert Leroy Tschudi, Dayton, Ohio, MS11.

Department of the Army awards for superior cadet were made to cadet corporal Danny Robert Bartley, Louisa, MS1; cadet sergeant major John Paul Shields, Lexington, MS11; cadet first lieutenant Donald Franklin Rector, Liberty, Ind., MS11; and cadet colonel Neville E. M. Holder, Vanceburg, MS1V.

Outstanding third year member of the ROTC band, and recipient of the National ROTC Band Association Award was cadet second lieutenant Robert Hamilton Grisson of Lexington.

The Association of the United States Army medal to the outstanding third year military science cadet went to cadet first lieutenant Ben Owens, Jr., Girdler.

The Sons of the American Revolution medal went to cadet platoon sergeant Robert Bruce Williamson, Butlerville, Ind., for leadership, soldierly qualities and general excellence in second year military science.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars medal for scholarship and leadership in first year military science went to cadet staff sergeant Edward Francis Cloney, Salem, N.J.

Ribbons for best squad in drill went to members of second squad, second platoon, H company. Awards were accepted by cadet sergeant Robert Gene Cropper, Jr., Cincinnati, squad leader.

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks' cup to the company commander of the best company went to cadet captain William Robert Miller, Monroe, Ohio. The Elks also presented a cup for the best company in drill to Company L.

American Legion medal for high scorer in marksmanship went to cadet first lieutenant Ronnie Dale Jackson, Adairville, with a season average of 256. American Legion medal for runner-up in rifle marksmanship went to cadet first sergeant Johnny Elkins, Jr., Hatfield, with a season average of 251.

Eastern Host To OVC Track Championship

Today and tomorrow Eastern plays host to the OVC track and field championships. Coach Connie Smith feels Western rates as favorite in the meet with Murray the second choice.

This year's meet promises to be the best in OVC history. The field is so strong that out of ten defending individual champions, only 2, sprinter Jim Freeman of Murray in the 100 yard dash and shot putter Brian Oldfield of Middle Tennessee, are solid choices to retain their crowns.

Other highly regarded sprinters are Roy Twiner of Westerns, Bob Revere of East Tennessee and Eastern's Vern Brooks. Brooks' time of 21.5 in the 220 is the second best of the year, behind Revere's 21.2. Freeman is also rated a top contender in this event.

In the 440, Western's Fran Smith is considered one of the best in the country. His time of 47.6 is better than the existing conference record. Eastern's big hopes are Vern Brooks (48.6) Bill Swanson (48.7), Ron Benson and Andrew Cash, both 48.3.

In the hurdles Eastern's Cary Guess is the favorite in the highs and among the leaders in the 440's. His broad jump effort of 22'8" also ranks high as does Wilbert Davis's 23'2". Coleman of Western has done 23' 10 1/2", being very close. Western's 3:12.8 is tops in the Mile Relay, but Coach Smith feels Eastern can go much faster than the 3:17.5 they've run so far.

In the triple jump, Ward of Middle Tennessee leads the conference with a leap of 46' 3/4". Davis and Guess have a good shot as they have done 46' 2" and 45' 10" respectively.

Ron Benson's time of 1:53.2 is tops for the 880 but he is closely followed by East Tennessee's Larry Carter and Eutch Holder of Western, both at 1:53.8.

Larry Whalen looks like the favorite in defending his mile crown but Paul Anderson of Middle is a close second, while Whalen could take the three mile run and really give the team a good chance to finish near the top. His time of 14:24 should be enough to win it while Jim Beasley and Grant Colehour will give added depth to this event.

Davis who has vaulted 16' 1/2" will give Western's Wadsworth a rough way to go in the pole vault event while Eastern's Murphy could surprise many people in this field as he has progressed considerably in this vault.

Oldfield looks a sure winner in the shot and discus. The same holds true for Murray's Spadafino in the javelin. Eastern's Terry Mammen has a chance for second in this event.

The 440 relay is wide open, Murray, Western and Eastern

Please don't zlupf Sprite. It makes plenty of noise all by itself.

Sprite, you recall, is the soft drink that's so tart and tingling, we just couldn't keep it quiet. Flip its lid and it really flips. Bubbling, fizzing, gurgling, hissing and carrying on all over the place. An almost excessively lively drink. Hence, to zlupf is to err. What is zlupping?

Zlupping is to drinking what smacking one's lips is to eating.

It's the staccato buzz you make when draining the last few deliciously tangy drops of Sprite from the bottle with a straw.

Zzzzzzlupf! It's completely uncalled for. Frowned upon in polite society. And not appreciated on campus either.

But, if zlupping Sprite is absolutely essential to your enjoyment; if a good healthy zlupf is your idea of heaven, well...all right.

But have a heart. With a drink as noisy as Sprite, a little zlupf goes a long, long way.

State Police
Use New Device

A device that hopefully will clock speeders from a moving police cruiser is currently being tested by the Kentucky State Police, Director Col. James E. Bassett has announced.

The small, patented machine is a "visual average speed computer and recorder," commonly known as Vascar.

It was invented by Arthur Marshall, a Richmond, Va., real estate broker who spent eight years developing it.

Marshall said Vascar can clock accurately within 1.75 miles per hour almost any suspected speeding vehicle that a patrolman can see.

The device rests on a stand to the right of a patrolman driving a cruiser.

It attempts to determine the speed of a moving vehicle by revealing the time it takes that vehicle to travel an established distance between two fixed points on the road.

Bassett is highly complimentary of the device.

"To date, Vascar has proved to be an accurate and effective method of determining the speed of moving vehicles."

He said if further experimental trails prove successful, the State Police will utilize Vascar as a positive deterrent to illegal and excessive speeds in an attempt to curb Kentucky's spiraling death rate.

Bassett said the device is intended as a supplement to airplane checks and radar and not as a replacement for them.

It is meant, however, to replace the time-consuming method of speedometer pacing, Bassett added.

Vehicles are clocked with Vascar by simply flicking two "on" and "off" switches and pushing a lever. The computer inside the machine then gives the speed reading.

State Police Sgt. Willard Kelly, who has tested the device, said he thought it was a far more useful and versatile instrument than conventional radar.

He noted that Vascar frees him from the time and effort of speedometer clocking and he also believes it is more selective than radar.

Approval Given By Faculty
On Frat.-Sor. Regulations

When the establishment of fraternities and sororities on Eastern's campus was approved, the faculty also approved a list of rules and regulations which are to govern the organizations. The rules were first proposed by the Faculty Fraternity-Sorority Committee. They were later revised slightly by the faculty before the voting took place.

Section one of the regulations list involves prerequisites for local organizations. This section states that a petition may be submitted by a group of no less than six persons representing a membership of at least 20 people or a maximum of 30 to the present Faculty Committee on Student Organizations and Activities.

All potential charter members must have a cumulative quality point average of at least 2.0. No graduate student will be allowed to belong to a local. A faculty sponsor will be invited by the petitioning group and approved by the administration. This sponsor shall be a person who holds tenure with the college.

Officers' Criteria
Officers of the organizations must have cumulative quality point averages of at least 2.25.

The total charter membership shall give evidence of financial solvency in order to meet necessary expenses. This amount should not be less than $250.

If petitions meet the requirements, the Committee on Student Organizations and Activities will recommend approval of the local group to the faculty for further action.

The list further states regulations for the operation of local fraternities and sororities. No student is eligible to pledge to a sorority or fraternity who has not been a full time student at Eastern for at least one semester. Active members must maintain a cumulative 2.0 average to remain in good standing with the organizations inactive members must achieve a 2.0 in order to restore active membership.

College Housing
In regard to facilities for the organizations, the list states that all non-commuting students who are members must live in college housing. The college will designate places for meetings, chapter rooms, and social occasions. The members shall live in dormitories. It shall be necessary that the college be notified well in advance as to the specific number and type of accommodations necessary.

The fraternities and sororities will be financed by initiation fees and dues. The initiation fee cannot exceed $25 and the dues can not be in excess of $5 per month. Anytime the total membership

Writing Conference Features Three Prominent Authors

Three distinguished authors have signed for the fourth annual Creative Writing Conference at Eastern. The conference will take place July 18 through July 22.

Novelist-poet Hollis Summers of Ohio University, Frederick Shroyer of California State College, and playwright Leighton Ballew of the University of Georgia are the trio of established writers who will lead the sessions.

The conference is aimed toward students who are interested in creative writing. The conference can be audited and is open to graduate and undergraduate students.

Vocational Schools Gaining In Kentucky

Kentucky is moving rapidly towards the head of the class of states in vocational education. Vocational schools offer a wide variety of technical and trades courses—ranging from automobile mechanics to welding and draftsmanship. They provide the kind of specialized training that helps our young people fill job openings that call for these skills.

More than $2 million worth of construction for vocational educational schools was completed in 1965. More than $7 million is allotted for total construction this year. This will mean completion of more than half the over-all program.

Theatre Group Well Received At Festival

By JOE M. JOHNSON
To give any sort of truly coherent synopsis of our trip to France would take far more space and time than the Progress would allow me. I have, however, made some random observations about the Festival and our participation in it; and I hope they will prove meaningful to those who read them.

Nancy, France, is probably an ideal city for a World University Theatre Festival. A city of 150,000, is the capital of Lorraine and second only to Paris as France's cultural capital. The Municipal Theatre of the city is used daily for presentations of theatre, opera, concerts, ballet, touring shows, etc.

The theatre, equipped for any type of production, seats 1350 people in eight tiers. Seats are arranged in a horse-shoe, and only about half of them provide a good view of the stage. The theatre was built in the late 1700 when it was as important to be seen at the theatre as it was to see the stage presentation.

Present Play Opening Night
Because we and our materials arrived on time, we were chosen to present our play the opening night of the Festival—a prospect that terrified us at first because of a need for rehearsals, pressing of costumes, and setting up of scenery. However, it was a great honor to be chosen for the first night, for the audience was larger than at any other time.

Questions Varied In Interview
Later, at a press conference, where we were interviewed, the mood was light and care-free for the most part. Questions asked of us ranged from the typical "How do you like France?" to comments on the Festival, Nancy, life in the United States, and European food. However, just before the interview came to a close, the reporter became serious and asked for views on the war in Viet Nam and American reaction to DeGaulle's demands for withdrawal of United States troops from France.

ly manner. Most of the people were genuinely interested and not hostile. But it was strange to go to the University cafeteria each day and pass a sign reading "Halt American Aggression—Peace In Viet Nam."
The troupes at the Festival presented their plays in their native tongue. However, all programs, announcements, invitations discussions, etc., were in French. The Festival committee provided an interpreter-guide for each group, but even so, much was lost in translation.

Day Begins Early
A typical day for us began at 10:30 in the morning at the theatre where tickets for the evening's performance had to be picked up. Then, we had lunch at one of the University cafeterias; and in the afternoon, attended a critique, discussion, or perhaps a reception. After some two hours of free time for sight-seeing, shopping, etc., we had dinner in the cafeteria, and then we went to the theatre at 8. The evening at the theatre lasted three to five hours, depending on the number of plays presented.

On another afternoon, we used the Red Cross Center for a hamburger cook-out. Before the cook out, we socialized with the Yugoslavian troupe (most of whom spoke English) and had a song-fest. They were excellent singers and musicians, but their efforts to teach us a Yugoslav folk-song met with little success. The Slavic languages do not come easily to the American tongue and throat.

Dutch Most Sociable
It was with the Dutch that we seemingly had the most communication, for they were the most international. They spoke almost every language and went everywhere. It was strange to walk into theatre in the morning to get tickets and be greeted by a flawless rendition of "My Old Kentucky Home." Needless to say, it was also very heartwarming.

To us, some of the European students at the Festival seemed to be pseudo-intellectuals who were very narrow-minded in their interests and learning. Their behavior at the theatre left much to be desired. Sailing
The Art Department announces that the second annual exhibition of student work will open with a public reception on Sunday, May 22, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Gallery and Foyer of the Cammack Building, and will continue until June 4.

Art Department Sets Show Date
The exhibition, which includes primarily work done in studio classes in the Art Department, was selected by the faculty from submission by the students.

"An innovation this year," says professor Daniel N. Shindelbower, chairman of the department, "is the Honor Gallery, in which works selected by the faculty as worthy of special attention will be displayed."
"It is my hope that this exhibition will prove to be a major note in the transition from Eastern Kentucky State College to Eastern Kentucky University, and that it will be of major assistance to the University in its efforts to serve the Commonwealth of Kentucky."

paper planes, poise-making, and general rowdiness marked several of the groups. Of course, European audiences are quite different from American audiences. They are much more demonstrative in their likes and dislikes of a given production. Almost every play was greeted with boos, cat-calls, bravos, and much applause.
Mrs. Seevers' birthday was April 23, and we were hosting a reception for all the troupes at the American Red Cross Center. We had arranged for a birthday cake, so she had an international celebration. Troupes from sixteen countries attended, and they all joined in singing "Happy Birthday" and wishing her "Bon Anniversaire."

Teachers Corps Offers Challenge
Several thousand career-teachers and teacher-interns will be needed for the National Teacher Corps program for the 1966-67 school year.
The N. T. C. offers dedicated men and women a challenge and an opportunity to share their talents where they are needed—in the schools of city slums and rural poverty.

As a salaried member of the N. T. C., the intern will be invited by a local school system to join the regular staff of a poverty school, where he will be able to pioneer special classroom, extra-curricular, and neighborhood projects.
As a teacher-intern, a career in teaching the disadvantaged. Teacher-interns will be selected from among outstanding college seniors and graduate with little or no teaching experience.

Teacher-interns will serve for two years with tuition-free part-time graduate study leading to a Master's degree.
Other benefits include salaries at local rates; stipends during pre-service training; payment of travel and relocation expenses; injury, disability and death coverage.
For an application form write to the National Teacher Corps, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20202. The deadline for filing applications is May 31.

Peace Corps Volunteers Wanted

Mr. Jack Vaughn, Director of the Peace Corps, has sent an urgent request for help in recruiting Peace Corps Volunteers for the Pacific Trust Territory. Those islands became a United Nations Trusteeship under United States administration in 1947. Since then the United States has been interested in assisting the Micronesians to develop better schools, improved health programs, and the means of economic development.

On May 1, the High Commissioner of the Pacific Trust Territory and the Secretary of the Interior submitted a request to President Johnson for Peace Corps volunteers and the President has specifically asked the Peace Corps to respond to this request.

The Peace Corps is recruiting these volunteers immediately in order for them to enter into summer training. Most of them will be engaged in teaching but will not have to have a teaching certificate.

For this program, no placement test is required and applicants will be notified within fifteen days if they are accepted.

The Corps wants college graduates in any field, especially for elementary education, community development, public health, and public works.

Mr. Kuebler Lectured Last Week To Class

Mr. Christopher C. Kuebler lectured here on collective bargaining Wednesday, May 11. The lecture was given to Dr. Hogg's personnel management class.

Mr. Kuebler has been supervisor of industrial relations at Richmond's Westinghouse Electric plant for the past four years. He received his B.A. in psychology from Pennsylvania State University and has done graduate work in psychology at Columbia University.

Mr. Kuebler's address, entitled "A Potpourri of Ideas on Labor Management Relations," was aptly named. Mr. Kuebler explained how economic fluctuations and the supply of labor have their effects on collective bargaining. The talk was followed by an informative question and answer period.
