University Wins Landfill Bout

Eastern has been granted a temporary injunction against the city of Richmond which will require that the city accept and process garbage generated by the university.

The university was granted a temporary restraining order when the city acted to close the Box Angle Landfill and enter into an agreement with W.R. Rowe, operator of Panola Landfill, for the disposal of the city's refuse.

The motion for injunction contended that the city had no right under the law to discriminate against the university in omitting EKU from garbage service as proposed in the ordinance.

The motion also stated that the contract was not legal between the city and Rowe.

Ruling on the matter, special Judge L.T. Grant of Lexington said the contract was null and void as Kentucky statutes require that such contracts be advertised for bids and must lie for public notice for a period of one week.

Judge Grant also ruled that the city had assumed the obligation to dispose of the university's refuse when Ordinance No. CO 36 was enacted.

"We do not believe there is any authority under which a city can require one public agency alone to dispose of its own garbage," the order said.

"We are not saying that the city of Richmond is obligated to dispose of the garbage of the plaintiff (the university) but we are saying that the plaintiff (Continued On Page Four)

DR. ROBERT M. WORTHINGTON, '48, will be the speaker for Eastern's 65th commencement ceremonies next Sunday. He, along with Allan Ostar, will receive an honorary doctoral degree from the University.

1,686 Degrees Will Be Conferred At Eastern's 65th Commencement

BY JIM HOUSE
News Editor

A total of 1,686 candidates will receive degrees Sunday, May 14, at Eastern Kentucky's 65th spring commencement.

Dr. Robert R. Martin, EKU president, will confer the degrees during the program in Alumni Coliseum that will culminate the commencement weekend.

He will present honor doctoral degrees from the University to the commencement speaker, Dr. Robert M. Worthington, associate commissioner of the U.S. Office of Education, Washington, and to Allan W. Ostar, executive director of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Taught Drafting

Worthington received his B.S. in Industrial Arts from Eastern in 1948, and M.A. from the University of Minnesota in 1949 and a Ph. D. in Education in 1958.

He taught machine shop drafting in the high schools of St. Paul Minnesota and served as Assistant State Supervisor for the Minnesota State Department of Education.

From 1958-1965 he was chairman of the Department of Industrial Arts, Trenton State College, Trenton, New Jersey (when he assumed this position, the department had 3 teachers and some 60 students) when he left Trenton State College in 1965, the program had seventeen full-time and 8 part-time staff members with 240 full-time undergraduates, 150 part-time undergraduates, and 225 graduate students.

Serves On Committees

Worthington is on several Presidential committees and is currently the Associate Commissioner of the Bureau of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education for the United States Office of Education in Washington.

Worthington's son Chuck, one of three family members to follow in his father's footsteps in attending Eastern, has just completed his senior year as an important member of Eastern's basketball team.

The weekend activities will include the Senior Luncheon Friday (May 12), Alumni Day, Saturday, and the baccalaureate Sunday at 11 a.m., with a sermon by Dr. Ed Tullis, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, Ashland.

This spring's class brings the total of degrees conferred by Eastern to 23,442, more than half of which, 15,327, have been conferred since 1960.

The College of Education will present the largest number of degrees, 424, followed by the College of Arts and Sciences with 422. Degrees to be presented by other colleges are 228, Graduate School; 342, Applied Arts and Technology, and 270, Business.

AAUP Officers Elected

The Eastern Chapter of the American Association of University Professors elected new officers Wednesday.

Those elected were: President, Glen Kleine, assistant professor of journalism; vice president, Dr. Cecil Orchard, assistant professor of social sciences; secretary, Dr. Lloyd Graybar, associate professor of history; treasurer, Dr. Nancy Peel, associate professor of elementary education; and delegate-at-large, Dr. Nancy Riffe, professor of English. In a mail ballot prior to the election meeting, members approved a constitutional amendment which extends the terms of all offices from one to two years. The officers elected Wednesday will serve during the 1972-73, 1973-74 academic years.

In separate action, the chapter urged its delegate to the national AAUP convention to oppose massive AAUP involvement in collective bargaining, and to support the establishment of clear procedural standards in cases where contracts are not renewed and policy statements at each institution on academic leave.

CLU Group Charges Sex Discrimination

BY BETSEY BELL
Academics Editor

Last Tuesday approximately 200 students supporting open hours for women marched to the administration Building and staged a sit-in outside the Board of Regents. The board agreed to postpone voting on the proposal until President Martin and other administrators have had time to review the proposals with students.

The Civil Liberties Union is filing suit for the purpose of sex discrimination. Delight Voignier, a sophomore who was involved in the march last week said, that she felt that the protesters expressed what they believed. "If they can't understand 250 people, what can they understand?" If the board does not pass the proposal Miss Voignier said, "I'm sure more proposals will be made if nothing is done. In the fall we'll pick up where we left off.

Joyce Albre, junior and member of Student Senate said, "I've talked to several administrators about the march. Dean Smith said that the administration was impressed with the peacefulness of the demonstrators and the board was very cognizant of them." Miss Albre said that many students had thought of taking the proposal to the faculty senate, "We thought if might be possible to for some clubs to go to the faculty and get lobbyist for the faculty senate." Miss Albre felt that there would be more proposals if the board did not pass the present one.

'Impossible Dream' Comes True

Chapel Of Meditation To Be Dedicated May 13

BY JIM HOUSE
News Editor

An eighth of an acre. Not much to build a dream on. Yet nearly an "Impossible Dream" will come true May 13 when Eastern's Chapel of Meditation is dedicated.

The chapel, situated in a small, picturesque plaza near the heart of the campus, is the property of EKU's Alumni Association, and is the result of four years of work by the Association and its dedicated members. The Chapel of Meditation is an octagonal structure with a seating capacity of 150, its pews arranged around a central altar.

The non-denominational structure is topped by a copper roof and features panels of faceted stained glass around its walls and in the cupola of its nine-pointed spire.

Wood carvings of the Sun of Knowledge, surrounded by nature scenes decorate the entryways.

Formal use of the Chapel is expected to begin almost immediately following its dedication. Several requests from alumni and students have already been received asking for use of the Chapel as a wedding site.

The non-denominational chapel was constructed solely by donations of the members of the Association, students, faculty and friends in their first capital gifts program.

To date, the Century Fund has received pledges totalling nearly $375,000. Inflation, in the form of soaring building costs, has taken its toll on the Association, which projected a goal of $200,000, the expected cost of construction.

The original goal was achieved in November, 1968, but by the time the site was available, the building costs had nearly doubled.

The Chapel is constructed on the site of old Hanger Stadium and work could not be begun until heavy construction on the William L. Wallace and Powell buildings was completed.

When campaign managers of the Association's Century Fund drive learned of the escalated cost figures, they began a renewed fund drive, encouraging Century Club members to extend their pledges by $100 or more and seeking new members.

Response to the new appeal pushed the fund total to the point where complete, non-public financing was guaranteed.

There were inspirational moments in the drive from the outset. At the time of the Century Fund drive announcement to the news media, $25,000 had already been pledged. Three days after the announcement, a senior from Shepherdsville, James Skaggs, entered the office of Public Affairs with a check for $17, a weekend's pay at a service station in his hometown.

A young graduate in his first year of teaching and earning an annual salary of less than $5,000, came forward. So did a new administrative staff member and a new faculty member, both of whom had come to Eastern only four months earlier and neither of whom was an alumnus. The Century Fund was universally accepted.

A Madison County Century Fund Committee was appointed April 1, 1968. This group, chaired by Bill Willoughby, was one of the most active groups in the campaign.

Madison County membership, including 139 Eastern faculty and staff, totals 245. Twenty-four student organizations, including eight graduating classes, hold membership.

Membership in the Century Club's three classifications stands at 539. Full memberships, based on contributions of $500 or more, is the largest group of 450. Associate members, $250 or more, total 13, and 76 persons are recognized as contributing members, having made gifts of at least $100.

There are approximately 250 individuals and groups who have given contributions of less than $100.

Of the 785 contributors, 615 are Kentuckians, including 364 with full Century Club membership.

There were many "firsts" in this, the first capital gifts program, some of which were: President Robert R. Martin became the first member of the Century Club.

The Richmond Daily Register became the first corporate member, pledging $1000. The State Bank and Trust Company, almost simultaneously, pledged the same amount.

Milestone Distribution

1972 Milestones will be distributed today and Friday in the Conference Room on the 3rd floor, Jones Building. Students may pick up books from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Student teachers who are away from campus during the day may give their I.D. card to a friend and they may pick up the book.

The Chapel of Meditation will be dedicated in ceremonies beginning at approximately 2:10 p.m. Saturday, May 13.

Delivering the principal address at the dedication will be Dr. Frank N. Tinder, pastor emeritus of Richmond's First Christian Church. His remarks have been entitled "The Center of Life."

Included in the program will be a reading of the poetic inscription "The Chapel of Meditation" which is inscribed on a bronze plaque, by its author, Professor W. L. Keene, a retired EKU faculty member.

Earl C. Roberts, Walton, president of the EKU Alumni Association, will accept the keys to the Chapel from architect Ernst Johnson on behalf of the more than 20,000 Eastern alumni.

Guy Hatfield II, Irvine, and Ken McCarty, Lexington, co-chairmen of the Alumni Century Fund and EKU president Robert R. Martin will also make responses.

Special music, including selections by Dr. David Wehr on the Memorial Bell Tower carillon, Mrs. Joan-Lorna Bonneman and the Eastern Kentucky University chamber choir, directed by Dr. Bruce Hoagland are members of the EKU music faculty.

Bruce Bennet, also of the music faculty, will play organ

Bruce Bennet, also of the music faculty, will play organ

preludes and postludes to the program.

The carillon selections will begin at 2:10, followed by the organ prelude at approx. 2:20.

Regent Runoff Scheduled Today

Tabulation of votes Tuesday for the office of Student Regent revealed that no candidate received the required majority.

The tabulation of votes was as follows: Larry Cleveland, 399 votes; Sharon Crews, 248 votes; Larry Pennington, 126 votes; Lee Edgington, 114 votes; Steve Rowland, 88 votes; Robert Collins, 46 votes and J.C. Bowling, 40 votes.

Only slightly more than 10 percent of the student body voted in this election as compared to over 40 percent in the Student Government Elections held two weeks ago.

This second election was necessary because incumbent Student Association President, Chuck Kelhoffer was re-elected. Not being a resident of Kentucky, Kelhoffer was not eligible to become Regent as is a native Kentuckian who automatically assumes the role after being elected Student Association president.

There will be a runoff election between Sharon Crews, an elementary education major from Totz and Larry Cleveland, political science major from Williamstown.

Both candidates are concerned about voter turnout for today's election, and urge everyone to vote.

Reflections Of Another Year

71-72 Holds Many Memories

As the end of another school year draws nearer we can look back on the many changes and experiences that 71-72 has brought to our campus. The Progress hopes that during the past eight and one-half months it has brought to the readers a complete and fair look at the events and would like to share with you in this last issue some of the highlights of the past year.

When former Eastern students review 71-72 in some future time they will see the year as one of the best in the school's 65 year history. The expansion our campus has undergone and the several memorable moments and lasting relationships that have been made will long be treasured particularly for the 1,686 seniors who will graduate May 14 as EKV's largest class.

Completed construction of the Chapel of Meditation, Wallace Building and the beautiful Powell Building housing the University Center has made Eastern's already attractive physical plant an envy of other state universities. Currently under construction is a new Fine Arts Building. EKV is truly a campus that its students can be proud of.

In student activities Eastern's student body has finally made an effort to get involved. The apathy that prevailed during the last few years has not been apparent in 71-72.

Students became interested in their student government although the sometimes trivial procedures of Eastern's student senate tended to cover this fact. The interest that prevailed this year may be seen in the voting turnout in this spring's student association elections. It appears that our students have realized their role as voters and have seen that the place to seek improvements is at the polls.

Eastern's percentage of voters was higher than any state university this year and that is quite a turn about from previous years.

The Progress has tried to give the students a clear picture of this year's student association activities. Many times we were criticized for not being fair, but in reality we were only doing our job—honest reporting of the news.

And while reflecting over the past year the Progress cannot help but give credit to Skip Daugherty, Eastern's director of student organizations and activities, and the University Center Board.

Students have been very critical of the calibre of entertainment which was brought to our campus during the past few years. But no one will say that the 71-72 billings were not tops. Doc Severinson, The Carpenters, Chicago and Henry Mancini are examples of the performers that Daugherty and the Center Board worked hard to have at Eastern.

For sheer excitement the 71-72 basketball season was something to follow. Everyone will long remember Eastern's two victories in five days over Morehead and the resounding defeat we handed Western in Alumni Coliseum.

Those 3500 fans who traveled to Frankfort for the Ohio Valley Conference play-offs, which EKV won, and over 1,000 who ventured to Knoxville for the Mideast regionals will save a special place in their memory for Guy Strong's hustling Colonels.

But all was not so exciting and merry during 71-72 for it was on February 16 that news spread through campus which touched everyone. Three Eastern coeds, Marie Covington, Barbara Nickell and Ellen Collins, were taken from us in an automobile accident.

Eastern will never be quite the same again and next year's homecoming will be saddened without it's reigning queen, Miss Covington.

And so it was in 1971-1972.

The editor and staff of the Progress would like to close out the year by extending best wishes to the Class of 72 and hopes that the classes of 73, 74, 75... will have just as many lasting memories.

Baccalaureate Sermon, Commencement Program Information Announced

On Sunday, May 14, Dr. Ed Tullis, Pastor, First United Methodist Church, Ashland, will deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon at 11 a.m. in the Alumni Coliseum. At 4 p.m. on Sunday, May 14, Dr. Robert M. Worthington will deliver the Commencement Address in the Coliseum. The plan worked well last year in that the parents, alumni, and friends may attend both Baccalaureate and Commencement on the same day.

The graduates as well as faculty and staff will meet for the professionals in the parking lot between Todd and O'Donnell Halls. The time for the professionals for the Baccalaureate Service will be at 10:30 a.m. and the time for the professional for the Commencement Exercises will be at 3:30 p.m.

Caps, gowns, and hoods will be issued in Room 31 of the University Center, beginning on May 8. Hours will be from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Graduates who are unable to claim their attire during these days may do so on Saturday, May 13 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., or Sunday, May 14 before Baccalaureate Service.

Today's Teacher Is Shirking Responsibility

Some 200 students sit-in on the Board of Regents' Meeting. Cheers! Maybe this campus is not as apathetic as it has appeared in the past.

But what did they demand? Doesn't open hours for women seem a bit juvenile when compared with the supposed education we are paying for but are being gypped of? You cannot transfer to another school and escape this as teacher apathy seems to affect most institutions.

How many times have you dozed through a class conducted by a professor who seemed as bored as you? Maybe you just skipped the class altogether. Of course, you knew that as long as you blurted back memorized answers (that you forgot as soon as the need to retain them passed) from a textbook on his tests you could expect at least a "B" out of the course.

Is that what an education is? Is it making the grade without learning anything? Are you paying money to come off an assembly line neatly packaged and labeled B.S., B.A., A.B. with the same information stored in each package? Are you satisfied to receive what is known as a college education without becoming a thinking, questioning, contributing individual? Of course a student can do part of that on his own, but he is paying to be helped.

The fault seems to lie with the teachers who, somewhere along the line, have become instructors. They feed out information and expect the same back on their tests—no additions or changes made. They seem to be afraid to be innovative in their teaching methods, but rather use the same dry lectures year after year to stifle initiative in both themselves and their students.

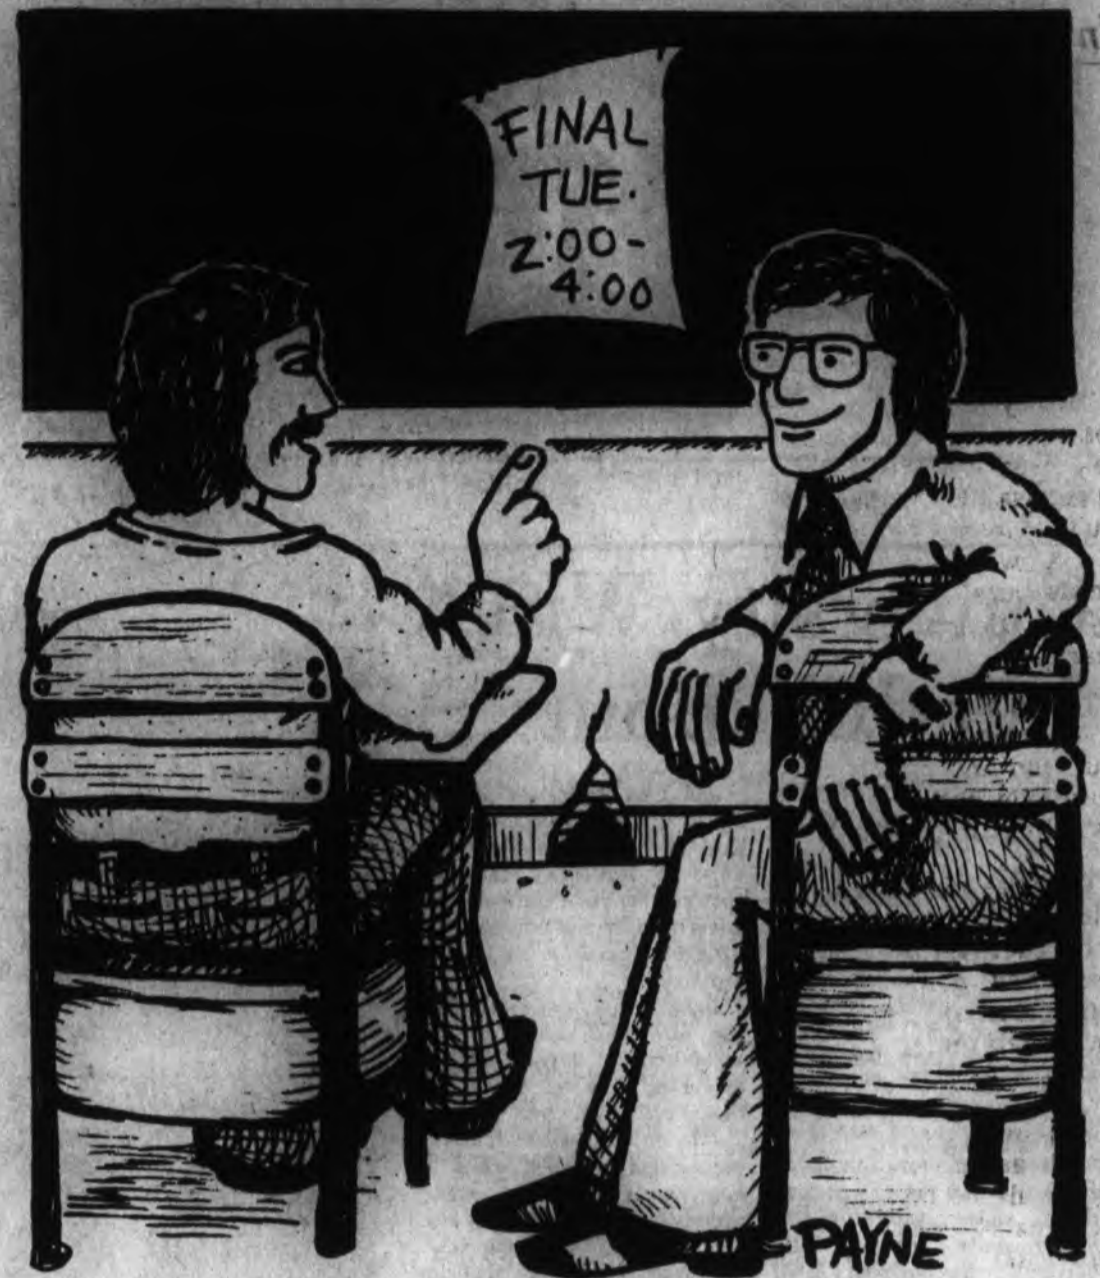

A history professor in California provides an example of creative teaching. He livened his lectures and stimulated interest by coming to class costumed as Napoleon, or in the clothes of a great figure of his day's discussion.

The majority of instructors, however, seem afraid to try anything new. Inhibitions restrict them to the old safe-but-comfortable assembly line method. Besides if they behave themselves for five years, they will probably be granted tenure and have a practically guaranteed job until they reach retirement age.

There are good teachers; however, some are forced to leave their positions because those who sit in judgement of them fail to accept innovations that do not conform to the supposedly "tried and tested" techniques that turn many students off. Another characteristic of good teachers, other than the fact they move from school to school, is that they are innovative. They suggest such things as letting the student choose his own curriculum to develop himself as he wants rather than taking prescribed courses that prepare him for a trade. A good teacher might even talk of letting a student go through college without grades to take an exam for his bachelor's degree when he judges himself ready for it.

Do you, as students, not resent sitting through classes from which you receive little or no benefit? But maybe it really does not matter to you. Maybe you want to come out of a mold with the same prejudices and beliefs of your elders and never have an original thought as long as you have a great time at college?

Letters for publication should be typewritten, double spaced, and not more than 250 words long. All letters must be signed and no names will be withheld from print. Letters which may subject the Progress and/or the writer to libel will be returned for rewriting or withdrawal.

Dear Editor;

On May 1, 1972 a handful of Eastern Kentucky University's Junior Class members and officers saw the final stage of their subversive plan to deal the deathblow to Junior Prom become a reality. Junior Prom is no longer with us. However, in memory of him it seems that we will have a yearly concert. A concert does seem quite appropriate to commemorate his passing, since he always was associated with music and dancing. His death was hastened by the declining support of his friend, Class Interest, who has also been in ill health in recent years.

Many Juniors and seniors were saddened and greatly upset upon hearing that they had arrived too late to receive their free seats for Junior Prom's dirge (the Mancini concert), and that if they wished to go they would have to pay $2.00...

In any event, at this time I would publicly like to offer my sincere condolences to my fellow members of the Junior Class. At a time when our loss of Class Interest has been so great I regret to acknowledge also the quiet passing away of Junior Prom. Yes, it seems that both Class Interest and Junior Prom have now faded into the past; they are no more...just archaic traditions of the past.

Funeral services for Class Interests will be held Thursday May 4, 1972 at 7:00 in Combs 322, for those interested. Dave Cunningham

In 'Super' Concert

Mancini Magic Captivates Coliseum Audience

BY PATRICIA DOTSON
Staff Writer

"Henry Mancini, a true music lover, collects records, plays in the band and has even composed several beautiful selections. He wishes to continue his study of music and to have an orchestra of his own someday." These prophetic words were written nearly thirty years ago in Henry Mancini's high school yearbook.

Today, Mancini, or Hank as he called, is a world famous composer and musician and has traveled all over the world. He has won every major music award possible many times.

Thursday night, this man brought his thirty-five member orchestra to Eastern and successfully transcended the generation gap. His musicians were young, old, balding and long haired, male and female and in doing their "thing" did it well.

Mancini gave a super concert, and had the audience standing in tribute. He played all his hits plus other pop tunes such as Tommy and Jesus Christ Superstar.

Mancini, arranger, composer and conductor was born in Cleveland, Ohio in 1926. He studied at Julliard School of Music. After his release from the service in 1945 he joined the Glenn-Miller-Tex Teneke Orchestra as a pianist arranger and it was here he met his future wife, who was singing with the band.

He went to Hollywood and did the musical scores for several movies, most notably the Glenn Miller Story (for which he received an Academy Award nomination). His first big success came when producer Blake Edwards asked him to write the score for the TV series Peter Gunn.

Since then, he has composed scores for more than 150 motion pictures and such TV shows as Mr. Lucky and the ABC children's show 'Curiosity Shop'.

He has won three Academy Awards and twenty Grammys, has been awarded six Gold Albums and the Golden Globe.

He is an honorary alumnus of UCLA, only one of six so honored in the school's history and has also written a book on orchestration, Sounds and Scores. Mancini has established scholarships worth over $200,000 at schools across the country.

Mancini has appeared in concert in more than a hundred cities coast to coast and overseas including a royal command performance for the Queen of England and two White House visits at President Nixon's personal invitation.

The legend of the composer burning the midnight oil is not Mancini's technique. He does most of his composing during normal working hours in the den of his home. In his leisure time he prefers photography and snow skiing. He is also an avid art collector and has three Rodins in his collection of which he is very proud.

Once asked to give advice to aspiring musicians he said, "Go where the action is!" Meet as many people in your own field as is humanly possible. Success is not usually easy or fast. The luxury of becoming discouraged and quitting is always present on the way up. In times of stress, I frequently remind myself that I'm doing what I want to do most and that's what really counts."

Mancini is romantic, is nostalgic, is for people in love. Thursday night was an adventure into the Mancini magic. From his haunting, skillfully blended medleys to his often dry sense of wit, we the audience became enthralled in that magic and didn't want to awaken from his spell.

The Music Man

Henry Mancini, talented musician and songwriter, proved his ability last Monday night in Alumni Coliseum. Mancini appeared to the music of "Moon River," and proceeded to conduct and play such hits as "Love Theme From Romeo and Juliet," and the theme from Academy Award nominee, "Nicholas and Alexandra." Mancini and his 38-piece orchestra also produced such tunes as "Baby Elephant Walk," from the movie Hatari! and the theme from Charade, along with the Pink Panther.

Papandreou Discusses Grecian Political Crisis

Exiled Greek leader Andreas Papandreou will discuss the crisis in Greece with host William F. Buckley Jr. on National Public Radio's "Firing Line." WEKU-FM (88.9) will broadcast this program on Saturday, May 6, at 12:00 noon.

Andreas Papandreou is the son of the late Greek Premier George Papandreou who was dismissed from office in 1965 and imprisoned along with his son and 6000 other political prisoners when the junta colonels seized power in 1967.

After his release eight months later, Andreas went into exile and has been a professor of economics at the University of Stockholm and York University in Toronto, Canada. He has also become known to many Greeks as "the eloquent voice of Greek antitotalitarianism."

Papandreou does not deny the possibility that he may again be active in Greek politics as he was under his father, the late Greek Premier George Papandreou. While George Papandreou was Premier, Andreas served as Minister to the Premier and twice as Deputy Minister of Economic Coordination.

At the time, his quick rise to office was unpopular. However, during the time between the dismissal of his father and the junta coup d'etat, the political standing of Andreas Papandreou became favorable. Attacks on him by the junta government of militarist George Papadopoulos, Papandreou reportedly said, actually threw him into the spotlight. "Without it I might have been finished politically," reports quote Papandreou, "but they tried to kill me off and instead created me."

News Briefs:

Alpha Phi Sigma Features Commissioner Holmes

Approximately 110 persons involved in law enforcement attended the third annual Alpha Phi Sigma awards banquet. Alpha Phi Sigma, Epsilon chapter of the national police fraternity held its banquet in the Powell Building last Friday.

The featured speaker was Commissioner Charles J. Holmes, Kentucky Department of Corrections Commissioner. Commissioner Holmes outlined his opinions regarding the state correction system and forewarned of changes to come within the system.

The Peace Officer of the Year Award was presented to Trooper Miles Hart of the Kentucky State Police Training Academy located in Frankfort. Honorable memberships were awarded to Circuit Judge James Chenault; associate professors of law enforcement, Milton McAngus, Robert Moody; Giles Black and Richard Snarr.

Journalism

The Dickey Chapelle Society, pledging chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism honorary for women, elected officers for the 1972-73 school year last Thursday night. The election was followed by two speakers, Jo Ann Alber, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and Sue Napier of the Lexington Herald.

The Chapelle Society has sponsored a bumper pool tourney and has presented a copy of Dickey Chapelle's autobiography to the John Grant Crabbe library.

Bike Race

The brothers of Delta Upsilon International Fraternity are now in the process of planning the events for our 4th annual "Grand Prix Bike Race". It is again to take place in the fall and we extend an open invitation to all students and organizations on campus to participate.

Rules and regulations concerning the Bike Race will be published early in the fall. Should there be any questions or suggestions at this time call Mike-4441, Tom-4151, or Terry-3966.

Landfill Injunction

"The court is of the opinion that this is a case where equities have been balanced until such time as the city enacts an ordinance repealing ordinance C O 38."

The ordinance mentioned pertains to the collection, disposal and removal of garbage, set a garbage tax and provided for classifications of various establishments in the city.

The city commission moved Tuesday night to remove the garbage tax. It is not known at the present time what effect this will have on the ruling of the court.

The court did not rule that the city had to maintain the landfill operation at Box Angle, but ruled that wherever the city has its landfill operation, the university would be allowed to use the facility.

The university operates and maintains its own garbage packers and was using the city-operated landfill as a disposal site for the refuse.

The court was asked to determine what fee the university was to pay the city for use of the site up to the time the city discontinued collecting a garbage tax.

The court declined to set this fee, stating that no evidence had been presented during the hearing to determine a just fee.

In the heart of the campus a symbol of basic and central values in university life and learning

A place for reverence, for prayer and music, the sounds and silences of thoughtful voices

A sanctuary for spiritual health and healing, the search for wisdom and peace within

An altar for dedication and redirection, for purpose and resolve, decision and shared commitment

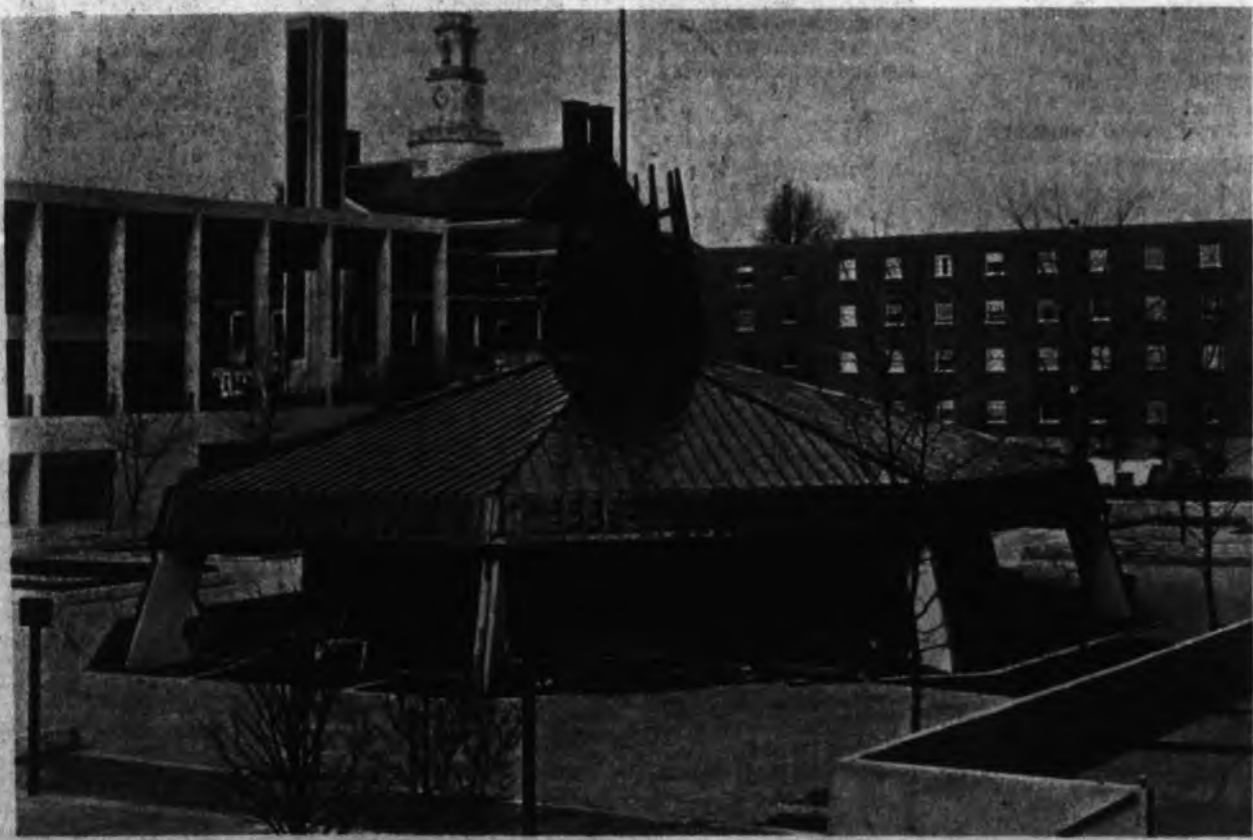

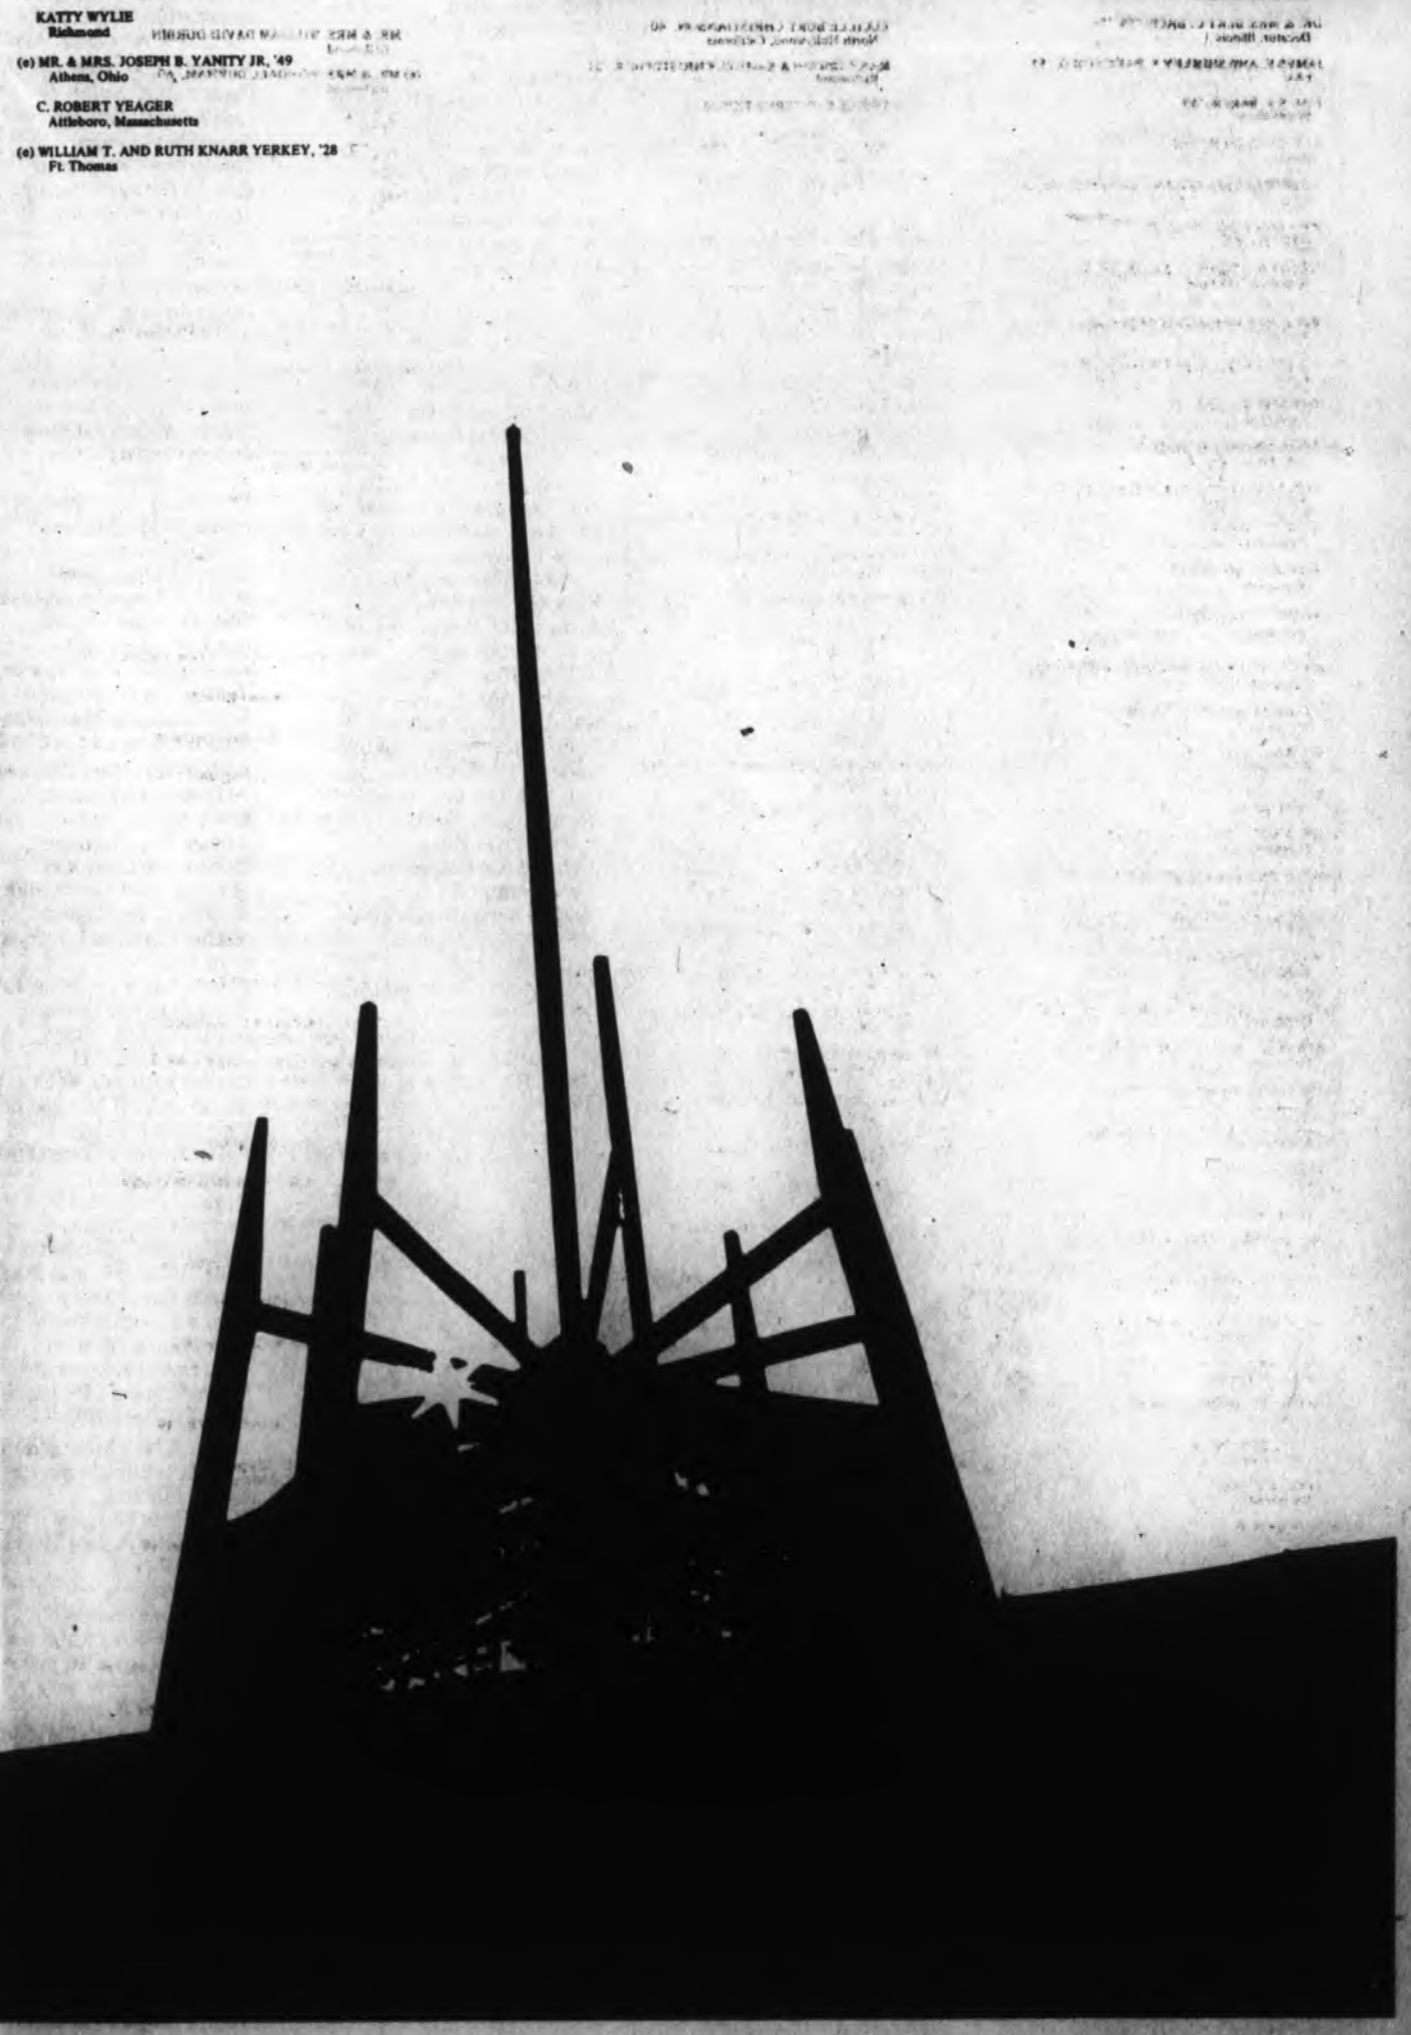

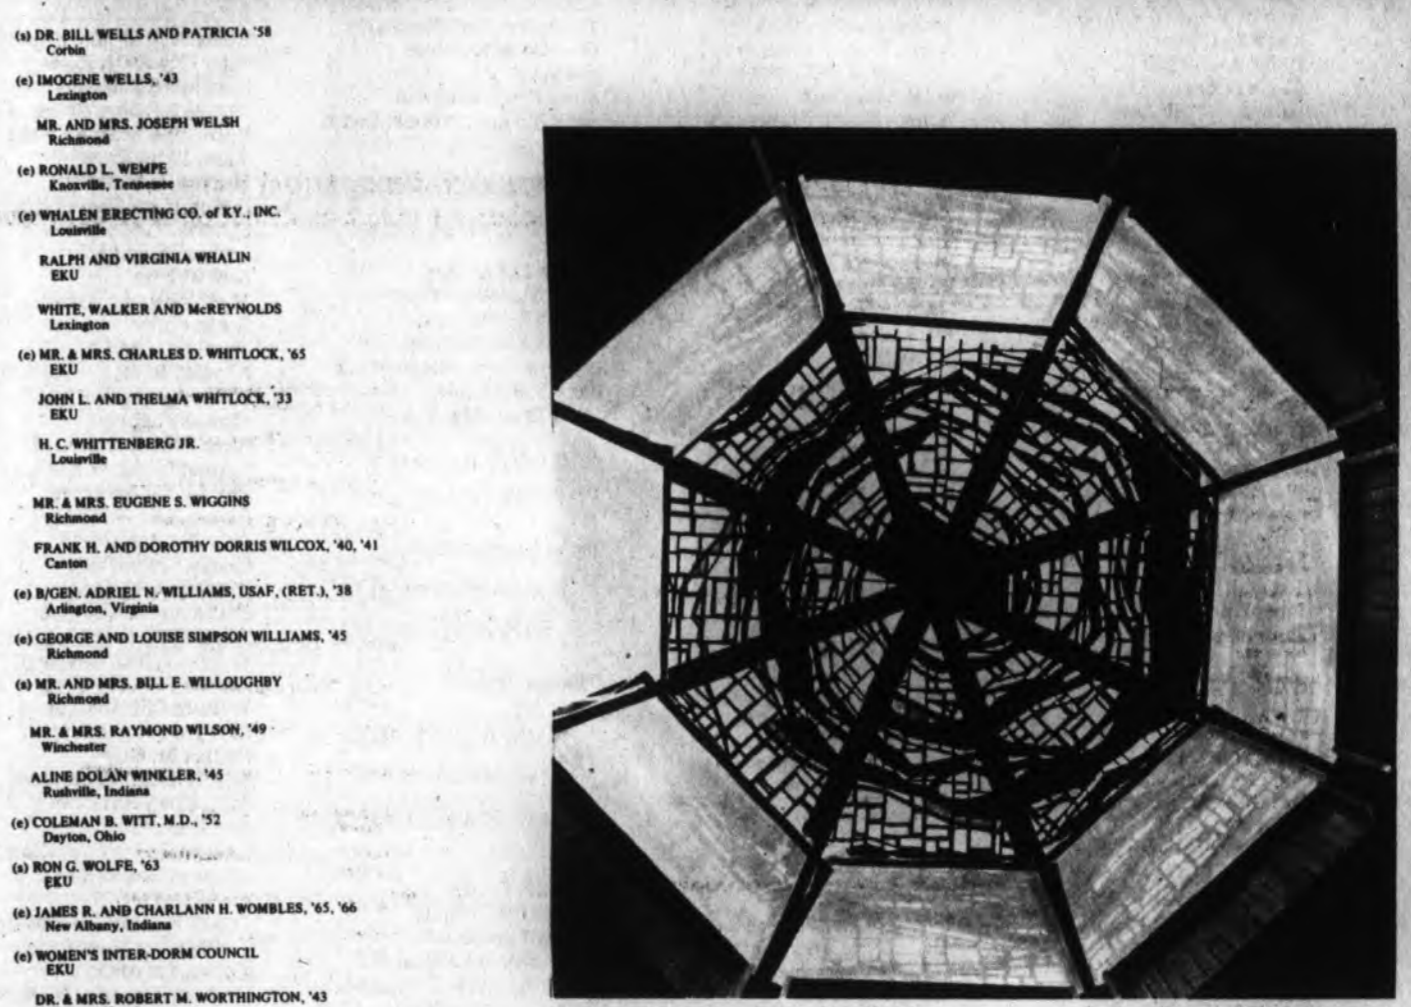

A shrine of yesterday's dream and tomorrow's vision, bequest of a century ending to a century beginning

A temple beautiful, whose message is universal, whose "door-posts are memory and hope"

Many Eastern students took pleasure in listening to the music of the Exiles last week in the ravine. Some students took advantage of the music and danced; other merely stood, while a great many chose to just sit and enjoy.

Miss Kitty Dyehouse Is 1972 Milestone Hall Of Fame Winner

Miss Kitty Bright Dyehouse, senior English major from Lancaster, has been named the 1972 Milestone Hall of Fame winner.

Miss Dyehouse is listed in the 1972 edition of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and was named to the Milestone Honor Roll for high scholarship and leadership in campus activities.

She has maintained a perfect

4.0 grade point standing for four years and has been active in CWENS, serving as president.

Miss Dyehouse has held the position of secretary in the Collegiate Pentecle, Eastern's honorary for senior women and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi. She received the Delta Psi award last year and is a past president of Alpha Phi Gamma, a journalism honorary fraternity. Miss Dyehouse has also served twice as organizations editor for The Eastern Progress.

Miss Dyehouse is featured in a separate two page spread in the 1972 Milestone, in the Honors section.

Nominations for the Hall of Fame winner come from the four colleges on campus, the Student Association, Omicron Alpha Kappa and the Collegiate Pentecle.

Oops...On Behalf Of CLU

A Progress editorial last week stated that Paul Lanter had said that 13 cases similar to the one concerning women's hours at Eastern had been brought by the American Civil Liberties Union and won in federal courts.

Lanter, whose hometown was erroneously reported as Williamsburg (he is a sophomore from Williamstown) told the Progress yesterday that the cases he was referring to were over the establishment of Civil Liberties Unions on various college campuses.

Another story stated that Lanter had sent a letter listing complaints over fire alarms in Todd and Dupree Halls to the Louisville Courier-Journal and to the ECU Maintenance Department.

Actually Lanter had sent copies of his letter to the Louisville paper and to Governor Wendell H. Ford.

The Progress regrets all three errors.

To Evaluate Teachers

ETS Develops New Program

A new program that allows students to evaluate the performance of their teachers has been developed by Educational Testing Service (ETS.)

Besides allowing students a chance to express their views anonymously about courses and teachers, it also gives instructors an objective way to monitor their own performance and progress.

Called the Student Instructional Report (SIR), the program is an effort to improve instruction based on responses to an ETS-designed questionnaire supplied to students by the colleges themselves.

The questionnaire was developed by ETS researchers with the aid of college faculty members and students. It is composed of questions about specific teaching practices and more general topics including such queries as:

-Did the instructor encourage students to think for themselves?

-Were the course objectives made clear?

-How much effort did students put into the course?

-Were students informed of how they would be evaluated?

The ETS questionnaire also includes questions about a student's reasons for taking the course and the grade he expects to receive. In addition, an instructor is free to include questions of his own to learn more about factors unique to his particular class. The questionnaire results are reported for each class as a group, not for individual students.

Student evaluation of teachers is not a new concept. The procedure has been used for some time at various institutions, but ETS says SIR should provide an instructor with information to compare his performance with others in his discipline on a national scale. The program is available to institutions throughout the United States and Canada.

More information about SIR may be obtained by contacting: Institutional Research Program for Higher Education, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. # Hancock Reviews Law Day

Kentucky Attorney General Ed Hancock was the speaker at Eastern's annual Law Day observance Monday.

Guest of the university at the program were members of the Madison County Bar Association, including Morris Floyd, president; two past presidents of the Kentucky Bar Association, George Ross and Charles Coy, and John Palmore, university counsel, all of Richmond.

Hancock reviewed the history and meaning of Law Day, USA, created by a joint resolution of Congress in 1957 and presidential and gubernatorial proclamations.

He said it is "not just a lawyers' day, but a special day of celebration by the people for their liberties" under law.

It is a day, he said, to remind all citizens of their rights under the constitution, and also a day for citizens to consider their individual duties.

Hancock emphasized "the values of a system of laws that protects individual freedom."

He called upon his audience, including about 70 persons, "to realize the contribution that the rule of law has made to the stability of the United States."

Dr. Robert R. Martin presided at the Law Day luncheon in the University Center, J.C. Powell Building.

In talking with some students one senior who was not involved with the march said, "I think the background idea of liberating this college is good, but I don't think they went about it in the right way. They should inform students as to what rights they are being denied. They should get the students more interested in student government."

One freshman who was in the march said, "I don't have that strict a curfew at home, why should I come here and have a strict one put on me. Most other colleges don't have hours."

One senior approached the security question, "I don't

One student remarked, "As much as we pay at this university we sure ought to have a say in what happens around here."

One senior said, "I think freshmen hours for first semester should be midnight on week nights and then second semester the freshmen should have open hours. I think that freshmen should have some kind of control their first semester here."

One student said that the "march was a farce. It is all talk and no show around here. I don't think it did any good."

While most of the undergrads seemed in favor of the proposal the seniors were in an agreement of "I don't care, I'm getting out."

Women's Libbers Want Own Identity

"Women's Liberation involves a lot. It is a personal thing and we feel it unites us with other women. It is not a case of similarity in the sexes, but of equality. We want our own identity; not dependence on men."

This was the opening statement of the presentation made by Susan Tomasky, a leader in UK's Council of Women's Concerns, at Eastern's first women's lib gathering. She, along with two other UK women, Kay Roberts and Katie McCarthy, spoke to over forty people, including several men, in Combs lounge.

Ms. Tomasky went on to say that it is time for women to be put in political power rather than hold the hand of the man in office. She advocated equal pay for equal work and "control over our bodies so that if we feel contraceptives or abortion are right we should have them."

The three women assert that the major step to human liberation will not exist until women are liberated and that men should not measure their masculinity by their ability to control women but by how well they communicate with women. "Liberated women and men will not be forced into social roles and can contribute much more to society as individuals," commented Ms. Tomasky.

The UK Council of Women's Concerns grew out of a committee in UK's student government. Beginning with only nine members and a pamphlet, the organization has grown to 400. Among the work the group has been involved with at UK is a law suit against the university for discrimination against women concerning dormitory hours.

The result of the suit, which was handled through HEW, is that UK will lose all federal funds if hours aren't eliminated, thus dissolving the state school. UK is currently complying with HEW's decision.

"UK has a habit of discriminating against women in certain areas of study," said Ms. Tomasky. "They feel they are real liberal if they have five women and five blacks in an area and make it compact by admitting five black women."

They have come up with some really great black women that way.

There is one woman professor in the UK law school. She graduated first in her class and teaches one course which is a legal library class. A man who ranked seventy-ninth in the same class teaches three courses and is a full professor. There is one woman dean; in nursing. Even the home economics dean is a man."

Another achievement of the organization is a children's day care center at UK which will begin next fall. "Day care centers provide a stimulating atmosphere that a mother with housework to do simply cannot," said Ms. Roberts.

"When a mother knows she is stuck with a child and can't get out she becomes frustrated. Her feelings are transmitted to the child who easily feels her hostility. When it comes to the mother coming home after work to do housework, the father should definitely help. This brings the family closer together."

Speaking on sex, Ms. Tomasky said, "We enjoy sexual liberty. If women want to have sex with men we feel this is a fine way to go about it. Homosexual relations are fine too. These are personal issues. All this stuff about perversion is not relevant today. We support any woman who wants to be gay."

When confronted with problems of discrimination against Eastern's women, Ms. Tomasky stated that the women are in a position to sue the university over the issue of hours as UK did.

Ms. McCarthy commented on the contraceptive distribution situation in Madison County saying that pressure will achieve the availability of birth control pills. "Get together and push and health officials will do something," she said.

"The key to the awakening is getting with other women and reaching out," said Ms. Tomasky. "Begin reading women's lib literature such as the Second Sex, Ms. and Bern Female. Make the people around you see how sensitive you are to these things. People who sincerely care will raise their position up to yours."

EKU Hosts Annual Craftsman's Fair

About 1,000 industrial arts students from junior and senior high schools and area vocational schools across Kentucky will come to Eastern Friday and Saturday (May 5-6) for the annual Student Craftsman's Fair.

They will display furniture, draft items, drawings and other articles from projects developed in their classes this year, according to Dr. Albert G. Spencer, assistant professor of industrial education at Eastern.

Senatorial Candidate Speaks At Eastern

Speaking before the Young Democrats at Eastern Kentucky University last Wednesday, State Senator Walter Dee Huddleston said, "It is time the average person was treated equally and given a fair shake."

He went on to say the government should be concerned about a tax reform before the people revolt against taxes.

Attempting to become the first Democratic U.S. Senator from the state in 16 years, Huddleston admitted there is no way to avoid taxes. "If elected," he said, "I will attempt to shift the burden of paying taxes from the average man." The middle class receives more of the tax burden because there is a greater percentage of them and the payment can be spread over a larger portion of society.

Huddleston stated, "It is time the government began looking after the people's interests. I want to tell it like it is, to talk with people and hear their thoughts and solutions to our problems."

Speaking of the upcoming Democratic convention in picture is not clear enough but that he could support whoever emerges as the winner. Should George Wallace become the Democratic nominee, Huddleston said "Yes, I could support Wallace."

"The objective of the United States," Huddleston said, "should be to give everyone the opportunity of employment. At present the economy and unemployment rate are intolerable to me and I feel we need to restore confidence in the American economic program." His answer to the unemployment situation would be the establishment of a massive public works programs. This would provide the needed manpower for the building of schools, hospitals, parks as well as other needed public works buildings, he said.

Much in favor of family planning, Huddleston has some reservations about the free abortion law. "Society finds it abhorrent as it runs contrary to many people's beliefs." Believing the present law needs taken before the act, not after."

"The American people have been misled," he said, "into thinking we are making the South Vietnamese self-sufficient." Huddleston does not think the South Vietnamese will ever be self-defending and that the troops should be brought home immediately.

Not A Bad Year

71-72 was another great year for sports at Eastern, probably one of the best ever. Just about all of EKU's teams posted winning records, some of them came through with championship trophies, and all of them represented Eastern well.

Probably the highlight of the sports year was the basketball Colonels coming out on top of an unbelievably close conference race to capture the OVC basketball crown, especially the last few weeks of the season when the Colonels routed Tennessee Tech and Morehead in their last two home contests, clobbered Morehead again in the league playoff at Frankfort, and nearly knocked off NCAA runner up Florida State in the Mideast Regional at Knoxville.

There were other highlights besides basketball, too. Although the football squad had what was considered by some a disappointing 6-4 record, it was still another of a string of winning seasons, and it just goes to show how good your football program is when a 6-4 season is a disappointment. The powerful Eastern Eel swimming team continued its domination of Kentucky Intercollegiate swimming, winning the Kentucky Intercollegiate Swimming Championship for the tenth time in a row.

The baseball squad under new coach Jack Hissom, has compiled a fine 29-11 record so far, including a perfect 7-0 fall season. The gymnastics team won the Kentucky Intercollegiate championship, the track team has turned in several great performances such as its big OVC win over Morehead and Tech a week ago, the wrestlers won nine of their 12 matches, the women's tennis team finished their season undefeated, the women's basketball team won the state championship, ...well, you get the picture. It was a pretty good year all around.

Since this is the last paper of the year I want to thank everybody who helped out with the sports

Sweep Western, Northern

Baseball Squad Takes Five Home Games

The Eastern baseball squad swept two home doubleheaders and split another this past week, as they blitzed Western last Wednesday, split with Morehead on Thursday, and swept Northern Kentucky last Monday afternoon. Things weren't all great for the Colonels, though, because a weekend trip to East Tennessee proved disastrous when they dropped three straight to the Buccaneers.

Right fielder Larry Kaelin's RBI single up the middle in the bottom of the seventh inning was the winning blow of the first game of the Wednesday Western twin bill which the Colonels won 5-4. Howie Roesch, with relief help from Ernie Pennington, picked up the victory in this one, improving his season mark to 2-1. Colonel senior lefthander Craig Schleigh fired a one hit shutout at the Hilltoppers in the second game as Eastern won it 1-0. The victory was Schleigh's fourth against one loss. The Colonels produced the game's only run when center fielder Dave Theiler knocked in Roger Roberts, who had singled, with a double.

Against Morehead on Thursday, the Colonels took the first one 3-2 but dropped the nightcap by the same score. Billy Wells, with ninth inning relief from Pennington, chalked up his eighth win of the year in the opener. In the second game, Ray Neumeister pitched well for the Colonels but was tagged with his third loss in nine decisions. Eastern almost managed to pull this one out in the seventh when they got two runners on, but Eagle third baseman Gary Cress made a game-saving stab of Buzz Ashby's sizzling grounder for the final out.

Neumeister Beats Northern

Neumeister went all the way for his seventh win, though, in the first game of the Monday twin bill with Northern as the Colonels took it 6-5. Both teams collected eight hits for the game. Leading the attack for the Colonels were third baseman Ken Blewitt, the squad's leading hitter, withtwo

Eastern To Host Wrestling Tryouts

Eastern will host the District Olympic Freestyle Wrestling Trials, June 2-3, in Alumni Coliseum.

This will be an open tournament to any United States citizen and amateur athlete. There will be no entry fee charged, but an AAU or federation card must be presented at weigh-in as proof of the wrestler's amateur status.

First and second place finishers in each weight division will qualify to compete in the Olympic Freestyle Wrestling Trial Finals at Anoka, Minn., June 22-25.

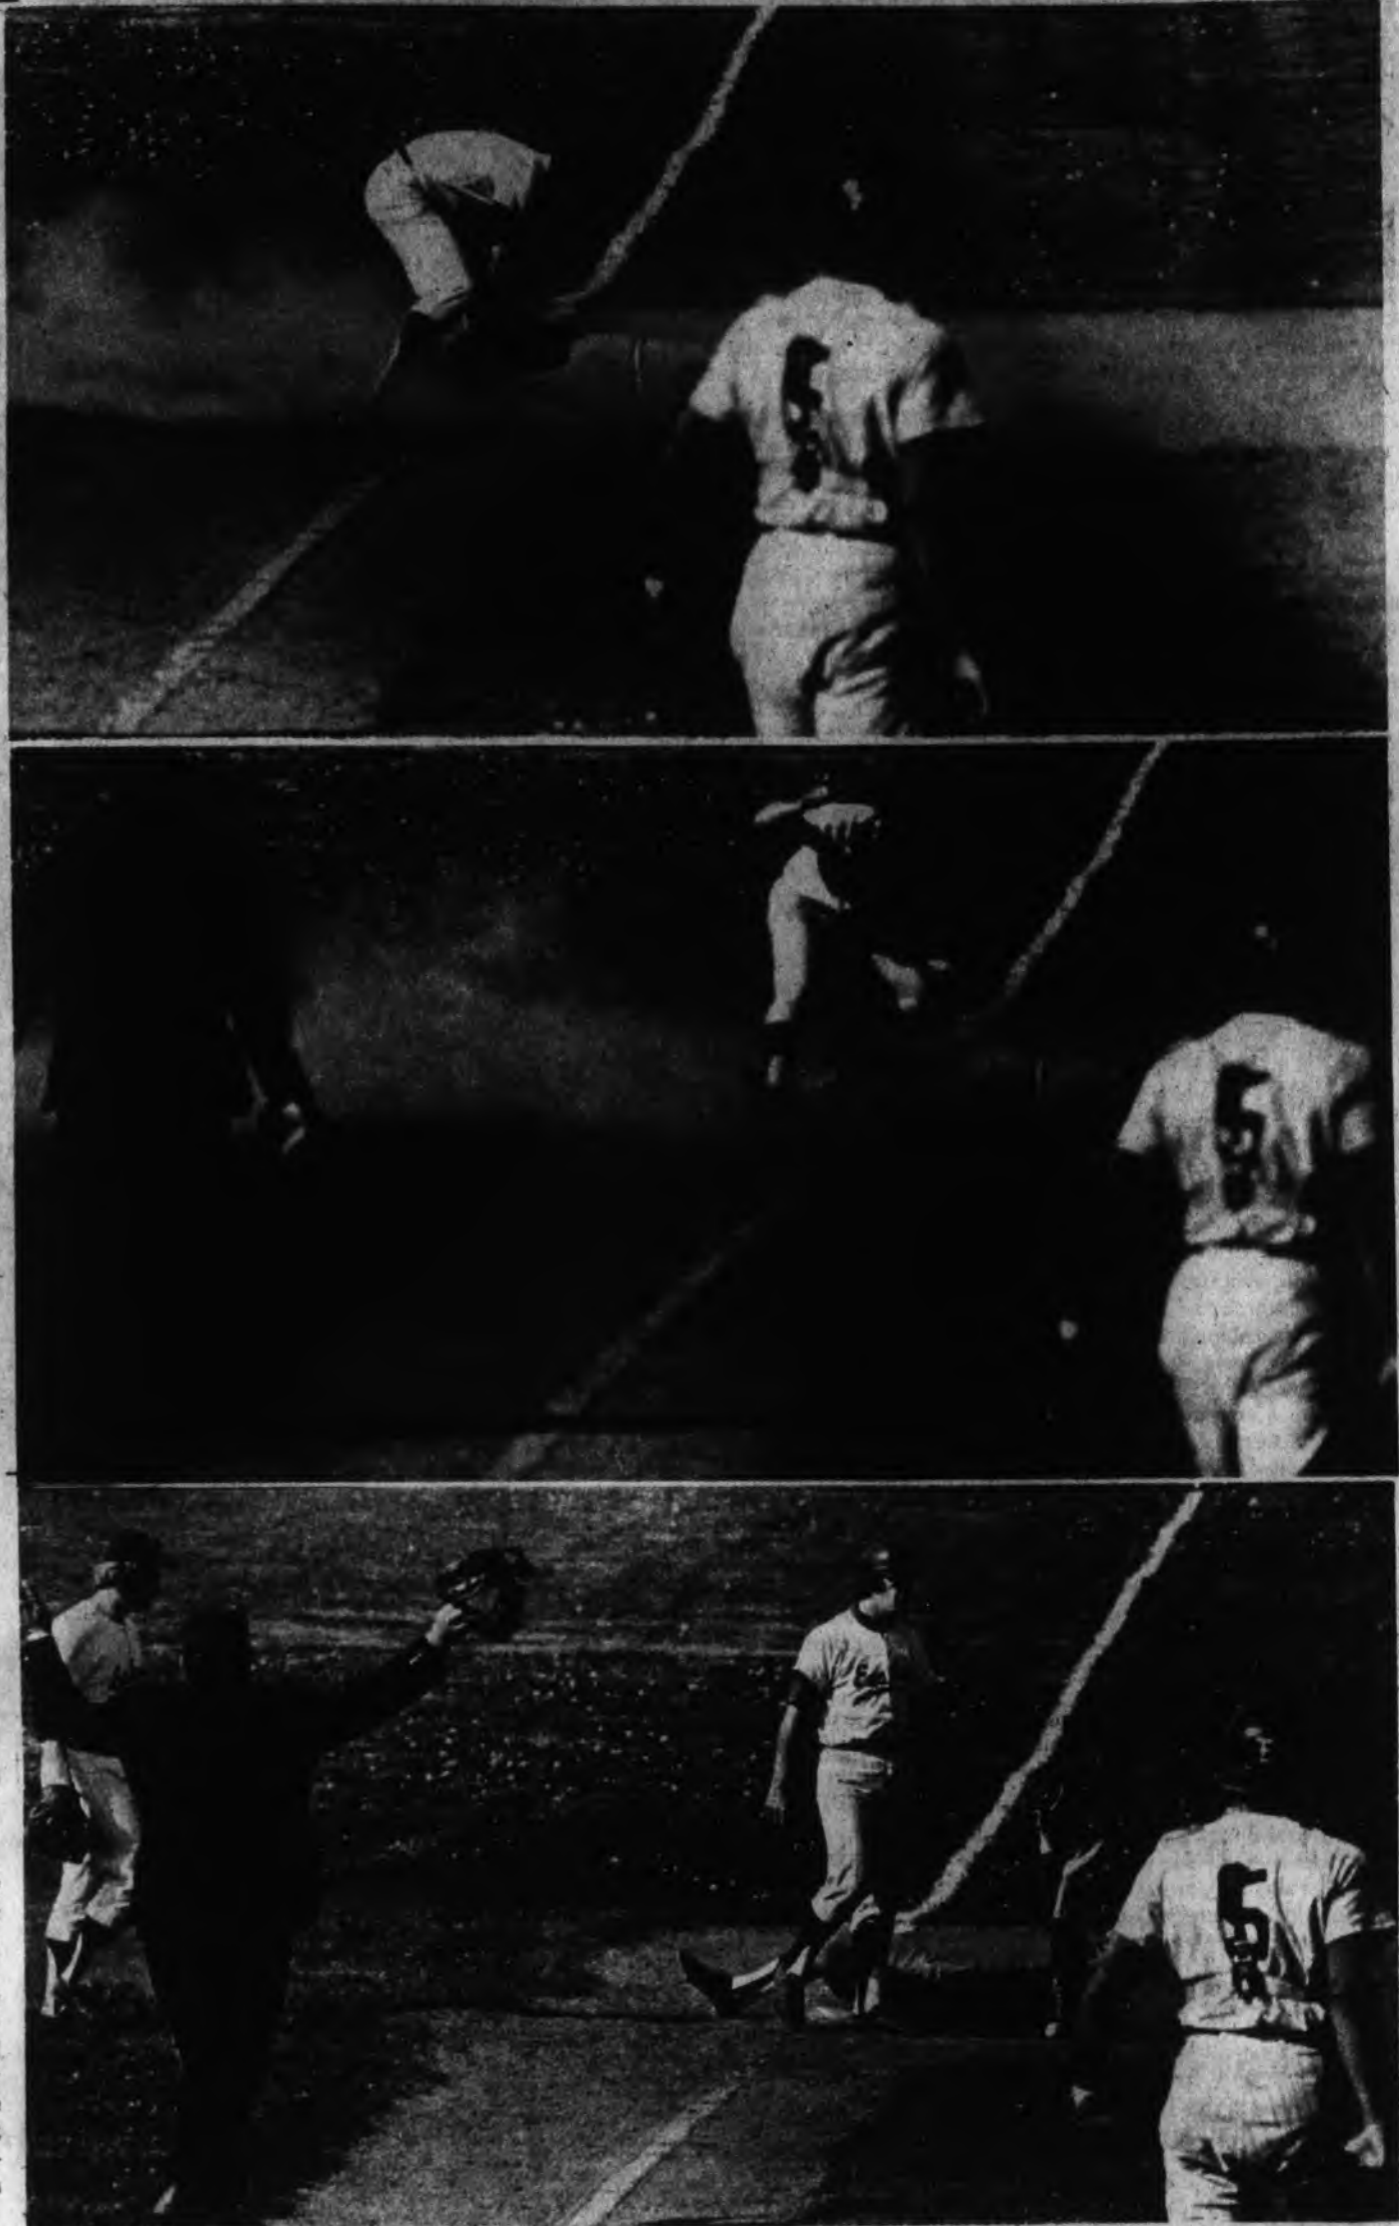

The AAU-Olympic wrestling rules will prevail for the tournament. Each match will consist of three, three-minute periods, with a one minute rest between periods.

All entry forms must be returned by May 31 to the tournament director, Richard Achtzehn, an EKU graduate assistant who coached the Eastern wrestlers this past season.

Rooms will be available to contestants in one of the men's dormitories on campus for Friday night, June 2, 1972, at $2.00 per person. If you prefer to stay in one of the local motels or plan to stay over Saturday night, June 3, 1972, you will have to make your own arrangements. There are a number of motels nearby the campus.

A cafeteria on campus will be operating for your convenience. Also there are a number of restaurants near the campus where you may eat at a reasonable cost.

Lockers will be available for wrestlers, but each wrestler must supply his own lock and towel. Eastern Kentucky University will not be responsible for any articles lost during the tournament. Applications can be picked up in the EKU athletic office.

MOREHEAD THIRD BASEMAN Gary Cress is safe as he slides into third base on this play as Colonel third baseman Ken Blewitt fails to hold onto the throw (notice ball on the ground in bottom photo). The action occurred in a twin bill at Turkey Hughes Field last Thursday which the two teams split, each taking a 3-2 victory. Watching the play in the foreground is Colonel receiver Roger Roberts (5) and backing up the play in the bottom photo is pitcher Ray Neumeister.

Gridders Close Workouts

The EKU football squad completed its spring workouts yesterday with the annual Maroon-White game at Hanger Field.

The game was played differently this year, as the Maroon squad played offense only and the White squad only defense. A different point system was also used so points could be scored by the defensive unit, for things such as recovering fumbles, interceptions, blocking kicks, and stopping the offense without a first down.

The White, or defensive, squad won the game by a score

Thinlies Host Morehead, Murray

The Eastern track team will close regular season competition Saturday when it hosts an Ohio Valley Conference triangular meet with Murray State and Morehead State.

EKU, now 4-0 on the season, will be going against one of the toughest teams in the OVC in the Murray thinclads.

"This Murray team finished fourth last year in the OVC and it has some outstanding individuals returning. MSU has good depth and an excellent mile relay squad who has gone 3:12 this season," said Eastern track coach E.G. Plummer.

Plummer was quite pleased with the results at Ball State but "very disappointed in the overall performance" at the Penn Relays, where a crowd of some 37,000 gathered for the event.

The mile relay squad of Tyrone Harbut, Tom Cahill, Mervyn Lewis and Keith Bertrand finished fourth in the consolation heat with its 3:16 time, while Eastern's sprint medley relay team was one-tenth of a second away from who ran in the 26-mile marathon qualifying with a 3:29.7 race. Findley was in 12th position for the first 23 miles before developing blisters on his feet, forcing him to slow down and a lower finish in the race.

Rounding out the EKU runners in Philadelphia was sophomore distance runner Tom Findley of Columbus, Ohio. Continued On Page 14

MERVYN LEWIS, who competes in the 440 and 880 for the EKU track squad, will be appearing in his final home meet of his career this Saturday afternoon when the Colonels thinlies take on Morehead and Murray in an OVC triangular meet.

Eastern's Dan Watson and Ron Seiter competed in the pole vault with Watson's 14'6" good enough for a tie for first place.

Eastern tuned up for the triangular meet last weekend by participating in two relays. Part of the squad traveled to Muncie, Ind., for the Ball State Relays, while other members of the team entered the Penn Relays in Philadelphia.

At the Ball State Relays, EKU's Steve Seis, a freshman from Waterloo, Ind., placed fifth in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 14.6. Sophomore Hershel Miller finished in a tie for fourth in the intermediate hurdles with his 55.4 time. Both performances were personal bests.

Auto Team Wins

An Eastern automobile mechanic "trouble shooting" team has won a Kentucky contest and will represent the state in a national contest at Los Angeles June 19-21.

The students, David McMillen, Wilmore, and Michael Smith, Raywick (Marion County), are members of Fred Weaver's power mechanics class in the EKU Industrial Education Department.

They won the state contest at Louisville by beating teams from area vocational schools. In the national contest they will be competing for more than $125,000 worth of scholarships and awards.

The contests are sponsored by Plymouth automobile dealers.

I also want to thank the guys who wrote on the staff this year—John Nelson, who covered intramurals and wrote pre-game stories; Joe Gibson, who covered cross country; Jerald (The Sow) Combs, who wrote features on the football players; Ken Gullette, and Merle Seals, and all the coaches who helped us out during the year.

hits including a first inning homer, and Theiler with a run producing double.

Gary Roe, Eastern's outfielder turned pitcher, hurled a three hitter in beating Northern 5-1 in the second contest. The Colonels batsmen also managed only three hits themselves, but they managed to get them at the right times and also took advantage of three Northern errors. Theiler cracked a home run for the Colonels in the second inning.

The trip to East Tennessee was a tough one for EKU as the Colonels took it on the chin three straight times by scores of 10-6, 5-1, and 6-5.

Eastern will close out the regular baseball season this afternoon as they take on Georgetown College in a single game at Turkey Hughes Field.

baseballers, who have compiled an excellent record this year, will close out the regular season today with a home game against Georgetown.

NORMA WRIGHT soars through the air on one of her attempts in the broad jump during last Saturday's Eastern Invitational Women's Track Meet. She finished sixth in the broad jump for Eastern, and Eku also placed sixth in the overall competition which was won by Florida State.

Golfers Win Eku Invitational

The Eastern golf team shot a four-under-par 36-hole total of 716 to capture the first Eastern Kentucky Invitational at the Arlington Golf Course last weekend.

Coach Glenn Presnell's Eku golfers finished 12 strokes in front of second place University of Kentucky who had a 728 score. Other team scores were Tennessee Tech, 740; Morehead State, 745; and Bellarmine, 797. Jack Barber, a senior from Ashland, led the Eastern golfers with a fourth place finish at 141.

Eku golfers Tim Brown, Tom Scott and Jim Moore finished fifth, sixth and seventh, respectively, with 142, 144 and 145 scores.

Roc Irely and Billy Price rounded out Eastern scores with 147 and 150 totals.

Randy Darcy of Tennessee Tech, who set a course record Friday with a 64, and Dallas McCoy of the University of Kentucky tied for medalist honors with 139 scores.

Morehead's Bill Spannuth placed third with a 140.

Eku, now 9-1 on the season after last week's triangular match win over Centre and Transylvania, hosts Western Kentucky and Morehead State Saturday in an Ohio Valley Conference triangular match.

of 16-7, as they stopped the offense cold in the second half for a come-from-behind victory. The Whites picked up ten points for stopping the offense without a first down ten times, and freshman defensive back Jay Graham provided the other six with a fumble recovery and an interception, both in the fourth quarter.

The Maroon went on top 7-0 in the first period (the quarters lasted only ten minutes each) when junior fullback Dick Straten bulled over from three yards out for the game's only touchdown. Chip Brockman booted the extra point.

From then until midway of the fourth quarter the defense continued to pile up single points for stopping the offense until with about five minutes left in the game, Graham recovered quarterback Jeff McCarthy's fumble for the points that put the defense in front for good. Graham later picked off a McCarthy aerial to insure the win.

Offensive leaders for the Maroon squad were freshman halfback Dave Freer, who picked up 33 yards in only four carries, McCarthy, who gained 27 yards on 11 carries, and Straten, who carried eight times for 22 yards. The defensive stars of the White squad were junior linebacker Rich Thomas with 10 unassisted tackles, junior linebacker Stan Roberts with nine, and senior defensive back Jackie Miller with eight.

In Year-round Tax Burden

EKU Library Benefits Local Residents

For most, tax time is a period of agitation and tension extending roughly from the middle of January through April 15. For many others, however, individuals in business, the professions, and those who have to pay estimated income tax, the burden is a year-round concern.

Residents in the Richmond area may benefit from some of the services that Eastern has available to all citizens of this region to help with tax planning.

The John Grant Crabbe Library welcomes business and professional men and women, investors, and all interested persons to sample its business books and services. These as well as other books in the library might be represented as dividends from tax dollars.

Most of the following "tools" are located in the Reference Section on the second floor of the EKU library while some, as indicated, are in Periodicals on the first floor.

The "Business Periodical Index" (in Periodicals) and "Cowman's Sources of Business Information" will introduce one to many of the business services and magazines which are available.

Tax Court decisions similar to specific situations may be located by subject or transaction in "Prentice-Hall's Tax Service". The tax subject is also covered in the "Commerce Clearing House Federal Tax Guide". "Marten's Law to Federal Income Taxation" and the "Research Institute's Tax Action Coordinator".

"Prentice-Hall's Executive Report" is a direct aid to the harassed businessman who wants to pay less in payroll taxes, to better his earnings, increase his sales, and improve his business techniques.

The tabs in "Congressional Indexes" give all bills in the 92nd Session by author and subject and lists all members of both houses and how they voted on each bill. The status on all bills is traced and committee memberships are given.

Phase I and II of the federal wage and price control program is kept up-to-date by a weekly loose-leaf service entitled "Prentice-Hall Government Control of Business". Sections include report bulletins, economic controls, Phase I Freeze, Phase II Control, pay controls, price controls, rent controls, medical cost controls, controls of state and local governments and an index.

"Accounting Research Studies and Industry Audit Guides". The "Accounting Principles loose leaf service, also on the reference shelves, might interest the bookkeeper. The four volume set of the "Encyclopedia of Accounting Systems" contains forms in use from advertising agencies to those which would be appropriate in women's coats and suits manufacturing industry. Local corporation officers and the small business entrepreneur will recognize and want to read selections from the titles in the Periodicals Section including "Advertising Age", "Barrons", "Business Week", "Forbes", "Fortune", "Harvard Business Review", "Kiplinger Washington Letter", and the "Wall Street Journal".

Investors might like to look at the aspects of favorite stocks including the number of institutions holding, price ranges, dividends, financial positions, earnings in the monthly "Standard and Poor's Security Owner's Stock Guide". A perusal of "Moody's Industrial Manual" gives the history, business, property, subsidiaries, and consolidated income and balance sheets for that to-be-chosen stock.

"Standard and Poor's Register of Corporations, Directors, and Executives" provides the names and biographies of bank and other corporation officers.

The accountant might benefit from the "American Institute of Certified Public Accountants" and publications such as the

Trouble Shooters Take Top Honors

BY JILL BARTHEN

Eastern's Trouble Shooting Team from the Industrial Education Department took first place trophies in the Kentucky post secondary Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest April 28.

The Kentucky contestants, Mike Smith of Raywick and David McMillen of Wilmore, both Industrial Education majors, will represent the state this summer to compete against other top Trouble Shooters from all parts of the country. The National Championships Finals will be held in Los Angeles, California.

According to Mr. Fred Weaver, Power Mechanics Instructor at Eastern the boys finished with zero demerits in both areas of competition.

In the contest, participants take a written exam, accounting for 50 percent of the team's final score. The last half challenges the team to locate and repair several mechanical malfunctions with an hour and half time limit.

"It took them about an hour," said Weaver. The deficiencies, deliberately placed in all new Plymouth cars, were located in the starting, fuel and electrical systems of the automobiles.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Dealers of America, the contest offers career opportunities for youth. "The competition helps to recognize students, especially from the vocational schools for the work they've done," said Weaver. Winners in the California entry will receive a team scholarship of $5,000. A total of $125,000 in scholarships and awards will be shared among all the contestants.

The Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest originated in 1949 as a local event in Los Angeles with high school students participating. Today, more than 2,000 high school and college students, representing all 50 states, compete in this nationally famous event.

Eastern contended with eight high schools in the Kentucky post secondary division. The two-member team delegation from each school were fulltime students and under the age of 25.

A practice vehicle, similar to those used in the contest, was loaned to Eastern by Lawson Chrysler -Plymouth of Richmond. "We appreciate Mr. Lawson's cooperation," said Weaver.

According to him, Eastern is hoping to host the Trouble Shooting Contest during next year's state competition. "If as planned, it will be held sometime in May," he said.
