Presidential search

Screening begins

By JUDY MYNHIER
Henry Clay High School

The EKU faculty advisors to the Presidential Search Committee began initial screening of applicants yesterday; in the first step of a process of elimination, the purpose of which is to identify those candidates not meeting the set standards for the position proposed by the Faculty Advisory Committee.

When asked to describe in greater detail the set of four primary and seven secondary criteria being used to "grade" these applicants co-chairman and spokesman of the search committee, Robert B. Begley replied that the lengthy document is not open to public view at this time. According to EKU director of Public Information Charles D. Whitlock, the committee hasn't authorized release of the criteria.

Beginning July 6, the Student Advisory Committee will conduct its own independent review of all presidential applicants. The results of both groups will then be coordinated and a recommendation made as to what applicants are considered sound.

Dr. Robert R. Martin, having announced his retirement plans, effective Sept. 30 again stated at a news conference on Monday that he would have no part in the selection of his successor. "I'm not involved in the choosing of the # Schoolhouse to be dedicated at 1 p.m.

The one-room schoolhouse is staging a comeback at Eastern as an educational museum.

Today at 2 p.m. a relic of early 20th century public school facilities in Kentucky, the Granny Richardson Springs School, a one-room building moved from Estill County and reconstructed on the campus, will be dedicated.

Dedication ceremonies will be held at the building on Kit Carson Drive between the new fire station and the Law Enforcement, Fire Science and Traffic Safety Center. Dr. Ellis Hartford, professor emeritus of education, University of Kentucky, will be the main speaker. EKU president Dr. Robert R. Martin will preside.

The frame structure, donated to the University by the Eli Sparks family of Estill County, is equipped with donated furnishing and educational materials of the 1900-15 period. The building was restored by the University as a remembrance of this period around 1906 when Eastern was founded as a state normal school to prepare teachers.

president, will recognize special guests. Mrs. Rhoda Higginbotham, Model Laboratory School music teacher, will lead audience singing. The Reverend Douglas Miller, Irvine, former county school superintendent, will pronounce invocation.

The school opened in July, 1900, near a spring on land in Estill County owned by the widow Richardson early in the 19th century. The first teacher was Miss Alice Reed who enrolled 31 pupils. The school was closed at the end of the 1963-64 school year.

Bicentennial tribute

Salute to press

By BECKY DAN

Boyle County High School

"The First Printing," an original painting by midwest artist, A.P. Bennett, illustrates the role of the free press in the growth of America. The PROGRESS is pleased to present "The First Printing" as a bicentennial tribute.

The first editorial cartoon, "Unite Or Die," originated in 1754, and published by soldier-editor William Bradford in THE PENNSYLVANIA JOURNAL AND THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER September 6, 1775, appears at the top of the painting. Although this cartoon was first printed in the Pennsylvania paper it was later reproduced in several other early papers.

In the middle of the illustration is a reproduction of THE NEW ENGLAND CHRONICLE dated July 18, 1776. This historical newspaper was the last colonial publication and at the same time the first American newspaper, as Massachusetts transferred from a colony to a commonwealth.

Bennett, a specialist in landscape and rural American art, has chosen the front page of THE PENNSYLVANIA PACKET AND DAILY ADVERTISER, dated September 19, 1787, to complete the theme. Both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were printed first in the DAILY ADVERTISER.

Although these paintings reflect only commercial newspapers, the student press has played an important part in the growth of our country also. The college press is estimated at 8,800 publications with a press run of nearly 13 million and involving annual expenditures totaling $71 million.

The first known printed student publication was the STUDENT GAZETTE of the William Charter School in Philadelphia, a hand written newspaper on a single sheet of rag paper, dated 1777.

The LATIN SCHOOL REGISTER of the Boston Public Latin School, dated 1826 is known as the first printed student paper. Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire is given credit for both the first collegiate publication and the first collegiate newspaper in America. It's DARTMOUTH GAZETTE, a weekly student newspaper published 1799-1820 was chiefly devoted to literary composition.

The oldest surviving student literary magazine is THE TRANSYLVANIAN or LEXINGTON LITERARY JOURNAL, which began publication in 1829.

American high schools produce nearly 45,000 junior and senior high publications which involve almost one million students at an annual cost of $45 million.

Colleges and high schools together publish about 50,000 publications at a cost of $116 million. It is estimated by some authorities that the student press reaches 25 percent of the population of the entire United States.

The student press has played an important part in the training of our nation's leaders during the past 200 years. Some of these leaders who have served on the staffs of student publications include: Franklin D. Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy, and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Senate restructure under consideration

By AMY BROWN

Henry Clay High School

The major business of the latest Faculty Senate meetings, held May 3 and 5, considered amendments various to the Omnibus Amendment for the reorganization of the Faculty Senate.

Dr. Robert Burkhardt moved to amend the last sentence of Section VII, A 4, of the Omnibus Amendment to read "Recommendations of the Faculty Senate concerning such proposals shall be forwarded to the President of the University for transmittal to the Board of Regents."

Dr. Burkhardt's amendment was defeated by a vote of 24 to 20.

Dr. Nancy Riffe moved that Section VII, B, 1, be amended to read "The membership of the Senate shall consist of non-voting ex-officio and voting elected members." The effect of the motion would have been to strip ex-officio members of their vote.

Ex-officio members narrowly retained their vote in the Omnibus Amendment by a vote of 24 to 23.

Senators voting in support of the amendment were: Baugh; Berge; Branson; R. Burkhardt; S. Burkhardt; Cooper; Culross; Graybar; Griffith; Heberle; Hogg; Kleine; Kuhn; LeVan; Libbey; Miller; Plummer; Reedy; Riffe; Manchikes; Thurman; Webb; and Ellis.

Those voting in opposition were: Allen; Barr; Castle; Deane; Doane; Engle; Feltner; Gibson; Gilliland; Hansson; Jenkins; McChesney; Morris; Myers; Ogden; Powell; Prewitt; Rowlett; Schwendeman; Stewart; Thames; Thompson; Traw; and Walko. Nine of the 24 members voting to retain the voting rights of ex-officio members in the Omnibus Amendment were ex-officio members of the Senate.

In other Senate action, the Faculty Regent was approved, by a vote of 24 to 18, to be included in the list of ex-officio members of the Faculty Senate in the proposed Omnibus Amendment.

Other action of the May 3 Faculty Senate meeting was the approval of a Bachelor of Science Degree Program in Occupational Safety and Health Technology. The Associate of Arts Degree Program in Instruction Media was terminated, and a minor in dance in the Physical Education was approved.

An amendment concerning the number of ex-officio members was introduced by Dr. Heberle. Heberle said that since the number of ex-officio members has been increased and the general principle is that there be a ratio of 3-1 of elected members to ex-officio members. He moved that each of the numbers mentioned in section VII, part B items 2, b, and 3, be increased by 3. The amendment was adopted by voice vote.

Dr. Heberle moved to place a period after the word "Senate" in the second sentence, Section VII, part C, item 2, a. The amended sentence would then read: "In order to be eligible to serve as chairperson, a Senator shall have at least one semester's prior service in the Senate."

The amendment was defeated by a vote of 17 to 24.

Dr. Riffe made a motion to omit all of 1, c, and 2, c, in Section VII, part C, 1, c, reads like this: "The President shall cooperate with the Chairperson of the Senate in determining the agenda of the Senate."

A voice vote was taken and the amendment was defeated.

Dr. Rowlett said that it still wasn't clear to him what the purpose of the Committee on Academic Affairs would be. So he moved that Section VII, Part E, item 2, be removed from the document not because he opposed the creation of this committee but because he opposed the committee in the form listed in the document.

Dr. Myers then moved to amend Dr. Rowlett's amendment by also removing Section VII, Part E, item 4 from the Omnibus Amendment. At this point the Senate tabled further action on the Omnibus Amendment.

Dr. Heberle presented the following resolution which was approved by voice vote.

Resolved: That the Faculty Senate of Eastern Kentucky University urges the Board of Regents to include the Faculty Regent as a member of the Regents Search Committee for a new president.

Dr. Heberle added that faculty members are concerned and disturbed that the faculty member of the Board of Regents wasn't included on the Presidential Search Committee.

Following the vote, Chairman Ellis declared the resolution approved. Subsequently Ellis delivered it to Board of Regents Chairman Robert Begley.

"We just want everyone to come downtown and have a good time. That's what the whole thing is about," said Ron Wolfe, chairman of the Founder's Festival Committee, while discussing the upcoming three-day celebration.

The Jaycee-sponsored event has the theme this year of "Happy Birthday, America, Love, Richmond, Ky." The festival will focus on the history of the nation, city, and county, with activities starting early tomorrow morning and continuing until late Sunday night.

Highlights tomorrow will include a flea market (to be open for three days) with approximately 50 booths, entertainment from local talent, a historical fashion and quilt show, the presentation of Miss Bicentennial candidates, and a bluegrass music night.

Local businesses or groups who have sponsored many of the activities include the Madison County Homemakers Association, the University Shopping Centers merchants, the Farm Bureau, Southern States, The Downtown Merchants Association, the Richmond Jaycettes, The Richmond Ministerial Association, Barrie's Bait Shop, and Pronto Pup Concessions.

Apathy sweeps campus

By JUDY MYNHIER
Henry Clay High School

The National Health Services issued a press release today concerning the widespread state of indifference existing on many colleges campuses throughout the country. The release reads as follows:

WARNING: Due to overwhelming indifference and blatant insensitivity an emergency campaign is being organized to aid in the nationwide struggle against apathy

The Surgeon General has determined that this dread disease is detrimental not only to the well being of the individual but to the survival of the community.

The virus is highly contagious and spreads, often, without warning. While this condition is not as serious at EKU as at many other college campuses, judging from current trends, it is obvious that the virus is in grave danger of reaching epidemic proportions.

According to experts, one early warning sign of apathy is when only a small percentage of the student body votes in its own elections.

This situation exists at Eastern, and unless immediate measures are taken it is feared that the situation may soon be out of control.

Although there is no known cure for apathy, many doctors prescribe involvement. While quite painful to many, this therapeutic form of participation will one day be recorded in the annals of science as capable of producing effects far more significant than the so-called "wonder drugs."

"...The Surgeon General announced today that the apathy virus has reached epidemic proportions. When asked to comment he replied, "Who cares?"

The American "Buy Centennial"

By BECKY DAN
Boyle County High School

You, like most Americans, are probably aware of the fact that America will celebrate its 200th birthday July 4, 1976. But are you aware of the number of products and services being made available because of the Bicentennial?

Just take a look around. You will see buttons, coins, shirts, hats, patches, newspapers, records, displays, museums, toys, models, costumes and much, much more.

Everybody seems to be cashing in on the Bicentennial, so maybe it would be appropriate to change its spelling to 'Buy Centennial': one example of such an effort is even found at the U.S. mint. It is making gold medallions containing $1,200 worth of gold. The selling price to the public...$4,000 each.

Another company is selling bicentennial half dollars covered with gold paint for $5.95.

In most parts of the country celebration of the bicentennial began officially January 1, 1975. However in such cities as Philadelphia and Washington D.C. preparations began much earlier than this date.

Hotels and restaurants had to be expanded and tourists displays built. All were in anticipation of the number of Americans expected to visit these historical cities during the summer of '76. Since many events began so long before the actual bicentennial of America's birth, many people became bored with the whole thing.

A traveling museum called the American Freedom Train recently visited Lexington. Aboard the train is 200 years of Americana—advertised as something everyone should see. However admission to the inside of the train, where most of the displays are shown, was $2.00 per person.

This high price prevented many, who would have otherwise visited, "their" exhibit, to stay away.

A family with many children, retired persons and students with a limited budgets, and those with low incomes should all have had the opportunity to go on board to learn of "their" history.

Although many jobs were created by the need for new products, these jobs will be quickly phased out as the festivities draw to a close. America is probably the greatest nation on Earth, and certainly deserves a celebration to reflect its first 200 years as an experiment in self-government. But why make the majority of people hope to never see another red, white, and blue candle again?

If a similar emphasis on material things had been the prevailing attitude in 1776, would our forefathers even have bothered to declare their independence?

Foster concert is impressive

By LORI BUCKNAM
Madison Central High School

With only four short days of practice together, the 134 young musicians attending the 41st annual Stephen Foster Music Camp, gave an impressive performance last Thursday evening in the Gifford Theatre of the Campbell Building with their first concert of the camp.

Robert Hartwell, director of marching and symphonic bands at Eastern, conducted the group of high school students who came from such states as Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Alabama, Iowa, Maryland, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, West Virginia, and Kentucky.

Beginning the concert with an invigorating "Stars and Stripes Forever," the band showed a unity which is sometimes rare in bands that have been together much longer.

Following with such pieces as Bach's "If Thou Be Near", "Contique and Faranada" by Dr. W. Francis Macbeth, Sherman and Sherman's "It's a Small World," and Bulyar's "Battle Hymn of the Republic," the band displayed their fine talent which came through to the audience who gave the musicians a standing ovation.

The Foster Camp Orchestra, conducted by Earl Thomas, will perform again this evening at 8:15 p.m. in Van Peursem Pavilion. Music includes the 2nd Movement of Shostakovitch's Symphony No. 5, Violin Concerto by Burch with Dorthea Manning as soloist, and Wagner's Entry of the Gods into Valhalla.

Foster Camp Band, under guest conductor Dr. W. Francis MacBeth of Ouachita University, Arkadelphia, Ark., will perform tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in Van Peursem Pavilion. Music includes Festive Centennial; Capriccio Concertant; Eternal Father, Strong to Save; and God of Our Fathers.

Thursday, July 8 - Foster Camp Band at 8:15 p.m. in Van Peursem Pavilion. Conductor and music to be announced.

Sunday, July 11 - Foster Camp

Orchestra under guest conductor Dr. Guy Fraser Harrison, Music Director Emeritus of the Oklahoma City Symphony, at 8:15 p.m. in Van Peursem Pavilion. Music includes selections by Mendelssohn, Hanson, Elgar, Tchaikovsky, and Groffe's On The Trail.

Friday, July 16 - Gala Finale Concert featuring the vocal campers at 7 p.m. and the instrumental students at 8:30 p.m. Vocal selections will be announced and instrumental music will feature works by Strauss, Copland, and Prokofiev.

In the event of inclement weather, concerts will be held at announced times in Gifford Theatre, Campbell Building.

Houser on album

A professor of woodwinds at Eastern, Roy Houser, is featured as bassoonist on a new album from Redwood Records of Ithaca, N.Y.

Houser, who formerly taught at the University of Colorado, Boulder, and who was a member of the music faculty at Indiana University, Bloomington, for 20 years, plays the Franz Groffy Bassoon on the recording. Also included on the album is the artistry of two other EKU music faculty members, Richard Bromley, flutist, and Landis Baker, pianist.

Bassoon is 135 Years Old

Houser, who has played with many symphony orchestras, said the Groffy bassoon is an example of 135 years of artistic craftsmanship and is valued at more than $10,000.

The selections on the record are Bachianas Brasileiras No. 6, for Flute and Bassoon, by Heitor Villa-Lobos; Concerto in F, Carl Maria von Weber; Second Concerto in B Flat Major for Bassoon, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart; Sonata for Bassoon and Piano, Paul Hindemith, and Suite for Bassoon and Piano, Alessandro Longo.

A native of Centerville, Iowa, Houser received his schooling from the Eastman School of Music, Columbia University, and the University of Illinois. His latest honors and prizes include the International Peace Garden Festival, 1974; Stratford Music Festival, Ontario, 1973; Black Hills Music Festival, 1972-73, and Teachers Performance Institute, 1970-71.

Flood visits conference

By JUDY MYNHIER

Henry Clay High School Charles Bracelen Flood, widely acclaimed journalist and author, spoke, June 22, before a session of EKU's summer Creative Writing Conference, his first in a series of lectures and informal discussions.

The lecture, entitled "A Writer's Use of His Experience", encompassed the author's technical means of achieving plausibility through the use of the mass of potential in one's own mind, the realm of experience.

Flood, author of eight published novels, remarked upon the expectations of strangers met, say at a cocktail party, of an author to "describe in just a few words what it took him 18 months, perhaps two years of his life to write". According to the novelist though, one should realize the intended implications of his composition well enough to do just this. Flood stated, "A story ought to have a meaning, and the author ought to know just what that meaning is"

Drawing largely from his own successful experiences, and admittedly his failures, Flood advised his audience against stretching one's experience to the breaking point, concluding, "It is not living high that you need it is living deep"

WEKU-FM discovers A lost art

WEKU-FM, Eastern's radio station, broadcast a series of locally produced radio dramas between May 5-June 2.

The series was initiated by Miss Janet Kenney, project specialist for the EKU Division of Television and Radio, to give broadcasting and drama students more experience in production and performance.

Division director Fred Kolloff called radio drama "a lost art in many places." He said, "To our knowledge no one in the area is doing local radio drama."

The schedule of dramas included: May 5, "The Wife of Bath's Tale," by Chaucer; May 12, "The Odyssey of Runyon Jones;" May 19, "Old Salt"; May 26, "Dr. Faustus," by Christopher Marlowe, and June 2, "A Thurban Carnival."

The May 12 drama marked the acting debut of Mike Knipp, 9, Richmond, third-grader at Daniel Boone Elementary School.

of Clothing Textiles at Eastern, sponsored the group on a Home Economics Fashion Trip to New York, on May 20th through June 2nd.

They were part of a group of 24 students which also included 11 participants from U.K. and one student from Western Kentucky University. The trip had been in the planning since 1974 and was paid for by those who participated.

During their stay, the group toured many department stores, including Macy's, Tiffany's, and Lord and Taylor's as well as a number of companies such as The Red Eye, Jr. Sportswear Company, and E. I. Dupont Company. They also visited the J. C. Penney National Headquarters, the Vogue Butterick Pattern Company, Mademoiselle Magazine and The International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Among the highlights of the trip, according to those who went, were the visits to Halstons Boutique, the Metropolitan Museum, and to the Broadway play, "The Wiz."

"I loved the city of New York and the people were very congenial," said Ms. Richards, "I was really pleased with the way everything went." It was the first visit for most of the students and nearly everyone seemed to agree that it was an indeed an informative and fun trip.

EKU's Art Professor Carroll Hale tests a match stick tower for strength by lowering a bucket of cement until it crushes.

'Sticks and stones' crushed by Hale

BY SUSAN BECKER

A "Tower of Strength" experiment is frequently conducted in Art Professor Carroll Hale's three dimensional design class.

Students are given 100 match sticks and instructed to build the strongest tower possible. The strength of the tower is then tested by placing the tower on a bathroom scale with a piece of plywood over the top to equalize the pressure. A bucket full of cement is then hoisted into position to apply weight to the structure.

This tower finally crushed under approximately 40 pounds. The maximum weight supported is then multiplied by the height squared to give the student a score on the project.

Project completed, the towers find a final resting place in a trash barrel.

The purpose of the project according to Mr. Hale is to teach students that "the characteristics of the material and their use will condition the design of the structure."

According to Sandy Martin, EKU Woman's track coach, Miss Knudson's time was "tremendous and unexpected."

Robinson ran a :47.3 to take the 440, while EKU's winning mile relay team was clocked in 3:11.1.

Others scoring points for Eastern were Scott DeCandia with a school record toss of 56 feet 1 inch to finish third in the shot put; Frank Powers, javelin, second, 217 feet 2 1/2 inches; Mike Howell, high jump, fifth, 6 feet 6 inches; Tommy Kerns, discus, fourth, 152 feet 9 inches; Tyrone Harbut, 440-yard dash, third, :48.0; Lee Gordon, 800-yard run, fifth, 1:51.7; and Bill Catlett, 440-yard intermediate hurdles, fifth, :54.1.

Golf Places Fourth

While the tennis and track competition was held at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville, Tenn., the OVC golf tournament was held at a neutral site, the Fall Creek Falls State Park Course near Pikeville, Tenn.

The nationally-regarded East Tennessee team easily won the competition by 33 strokes over its nearest opponent, Middle Tennessee. Eastern finished fourth 42 strokes back. Senior Chuck Irons fired rounds of 77-72-76 for a final total of 225 to finish in a tie for eighth place.

Middle Tennessee took the golf title with 30 points, while Austin Peay dethroned Western Kentucky, holders of 12 consecutive titles, by scoring 119 points in the track competition.

Sports camp

A first at EKU

By ANN HEDGLIN

Madison Central High School
More than 200 high school girls participated in the first EKU Sports Camp. Twenty-two girls from Kentucky and Ohio participated in the volleyball portion of the camp with the remaining 204 girls, all from Kentucky, learning basketball skills. Judging from the feedback of some of the campers Coach Duncan feels the camp was a success.

Few of the girls were seniors, but the coach did have a chance to look over some of the talent. More importantly, it gave many girls a chance to look over the campus and the basketball program.

Coach Duncan believes there probably will be another camp next year, but possibly with some changes. One change could be in the conditioning of the girls. A conditioning program will possibly be sent to the campers a few weeks before camp begins to try to reduce the number of injuries.

The EKU men's mile relay team recently competed in the Martin Luther King International Freedom Games held in Atlanta, Ga. and in the NCAA Track and Field Championship Meet at the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field in Philadelphia.

However they were defeated by Arizona State University, Tennessee State University, Kentucky State College and Howard University in the preliminary heat, they finished only one place too late for advancement to the finals.

Joe Wiggins a junior from Brooklyn N.Y. ran the first leg of the race in a time of 47.9. The second lap was run in 46.5 by Mike Conger, a junior from Groton N.Y. Bryan Robinson completed the third portion in 46.5, a junior from Indianapolis, Ind., the final leg was run by Tyrone Harbut, a senior from Lexington, in 48 seconds. Coach Harvey said he is well pleased with the teams performance at both meets, and "although you always hope to do better," he said, "we gave a good show."

The defending Ohio Valley conference champion's, coached by Art Harvey, placed fifth in the King games with a time of 3:12. Since this is a meet of National calibre, Coach Harvey said he feels the men represented EKU well and are a tribute to the school.

With a time of 3:10.1, the runners placed tenth out of the 15 teams who qualified to compete in the NCAA meet.

EKU classed 1A

Eastern and the other seven member institutions in the Ohio Valley Conference have been classified in Division 1A in football by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The reclassification is a step upward for EKU and the OVC from Division II. By elevation to Division 1A in football, Eastern and the other OVC universities are now classified in Division I (the old University Division designation) in all men's intercollegiate sports.

A Four-Year Program

Army ROTC is generally a four-year collegiate elective course of study. It usually occupies about two hours out of your weekly class schedule. Both men and women may enroll in Army ROTC and both are eligible for the scholarships and other activities described in this pamphlet.

The Army ROTC Four-Year Program is divided into two parts: The Basic Course and the Advanced Course.

The Basic Course is normally taken in the freshman and sophomore years. During this time you're under no military obligation whatsoever. The instruction in the Basic Course introduces you to management principles, national defense, military history, and leadership development. After completing the Basic Course you are eligible to enroll in the Advanced Course provided you have demonstrated officer potential and meet Army physical standards.

The Advanced Course covers your final two years of college, and includes a six-week Advanced Camp that is held the summer between your junior and senior years.

While you're in the Advanced Course, you'll receive $100 every month you're in school—for up to 10 months of the school year. You will also be paid for attending the Advanced Camp. Your instruction will include advanced organization and management, small unit tactics and administration. Practical leadership and management experience is received by assigning students as cadet officers and NCO's.

Women In Army ROTC

Army ROTC Goes Coed—All The Way

Did you know that Army ROTC is now open to all eligible college freshman? Starting with the 1972-73 school year, EKU became one of ten ROTC units selected to host a women's ROTC. This marked the first time that women could formally enroll in an Army ROTC program which would lead to a commission in the Women's Army Corps.

Why would a woman take Army ROTC?

Basically for the same reasons that appeal to men. For the management preparation, the leadership experience, the self-confidence that ROTC develops. For the opportunity to serve as an Army officer. For a challenging, satisfying career on active duty, with exciting travel options, responsible assignments. For the authority to accomplish these functions and, of course, excellent retirement benefits.

Or, for that something extra that can be applied to a civilian career. Employers know that experience as an Army officer has proven a valuable advantage for their employees.

The U.S. Army is the biggest business in the world. And, like all large businesses it can use graduates with any baccalaureate degree. So, ROTC members are free to choose their own college curriculum.

A Military Police Program

Eastern Kentucky University's Branch Material Military Police Program is a unique program complementing Eastern's College of Law Enforcement by providing the Law Enforcement cadet additional training in military police activities and an opportunity for a commission as a second lieutenant in the Military Police Corps. The program benefits the individual by providing a job in his field of training and area of interest. The program also benefits the Army by providing better qualified Military Police officers.

A Two-Year Program

The Two-Year Program is a special option, designed primarily for community college and junior college graduates. It is also available to students in four-year colleges who weren't able to take Army ROTC during their first two years.

To enter this program you must attend a six-week Basic Camp the summer before entering the Advanced Course. To be eligible you must apply during the spring of your second year of college. And you may compete for a two-year scholarship at the Basic Camp.

A Program For Veterans

If you're a veteran returning to college, Army ROTC can be especially helpful. In most cases, your time in service will replace the Basic Course, so you'll go right into the Advanced Course regardless of your academic level. You'll not only be getting the $100 monthly subsistence allowance, but also all the benefits provided for you by the G.I. Bill.

As a veteran you'll also have the option, when Army requirements permit, of going on active duty for two years, or serving on active duty for training (ADT) for three to six months, followed by assignment to a National Guard or Army Reserve unit.

Army ROTC Scholarships

Each year the Army awards four-year, full-tuition scholarships to qualified high school graduates. Each scholarship pays full tuition, books, laboratory fees and other educational expenses. You'll also receive a $100 tax-free monthly subsistence allowance for up to 10 months each year you hold the scholarship. These scholarships can be used to pay for your education at any college or universities having ROTC. You must apply to the school of your choice and be accepted for admission. You must also take the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing Program (ACT) by the December test dates of your senior year of high school.

In addition to the four-year scholarships offered to incoming college freshmen, ROTC offers cadets already enrolled in the program the opportunity to compete for scholarships that pay expenses for the last two or three years of college. All scholarship cadets acquire a four-year active duty obligation and must accept a Regular Army commission if offered.

To apply for four-year Army ROTC Scholarships, see your high school guidance counselor in your junior year, or as early as possible in your senior year.

Dr. Robert Martin participates in the Annual President's - Deans' Review which is held in the spring of each year. Here he is presenting the "Organization of the Year Award". Accepting the award is Cadet Colonel Lee C. Redmon Jr. of Lexington and Miss Darlene Johnson of Hazard, KY.

SOMETHING for EVERYONE

A.U.S.A.

The Association of the United States Army (A.U.S.A.) is a national organization whose objective is to enhance Army professionalism and to provide communications between the Army and industry. ROTC Cadet AUSA Companies have been established on about 70 college campuses in order to introduce prospective officers to the same objectives.

At Eastern the AUSA Company is officially known as the Lt. John "Nick" Combs Memorial Company. It is a professional organization with meetings during which guest speakers present various facets of the Army. It is significant to note that for the last two years Eastern's AUSA company won the National Award for the ROTC Company with the best over all meetings.

The AUSA Company annually sponsors the Military Ball and a Dinner before the Ball. They also sponsor a homecoming queen candidate and participate in other campus activities. AUSA has no pledge period or initiation and meetings are always open to guests.

Orienteering is the sport of using a map and a compass to travel a timed course, and involves a combination of physical ability, land navigation skills, and reasoning powers.

The Eastern Kentucky University Orienteering Club provides its members a chance to learn land navigation in the field and to enter intercollegiate competition. The club activities include: land navigation courses in the Daniel Boone National Forest and related outdoor activities such as weekend backpacking trips and canoeing trips on the Rockcastle River.

The Orienteering Club has something to offer individuals interested in any of the following: wilderness survival, physical fitness, land navigation, or natural history.

Ranger Company

Ranger Company is open to ROTC students interested in ACTION. Some of the activities include mountaineering, tactical field training, rappelling and physical training.

Valianettes

The Valianettes precision drill team and coed affiliate of Pershing Rifles Company R-1 accept new members each year. While learning the fundamentals of the unique style of Vallanette Drill the girls participate in parades in the state of Kentucky. The Vallanettes compete in drill meets throughout the country and were designated top coed affiliate in the regiment during 1975-76 drill season. Their annual social functions include a Homecoming Dance, Spring Formal and other P-R related functions. This year the Val's added a sabre platoon.

EKU Sports Parachute Club

The EKU Sports Parachute Club was formed by the ROTC Department this year. All EKU Full Time students are eligible. The purpose of the club is to participate in sport parachuting for fun, and for those members who qualify, to eventually compete at the collegiate level. Being a member of the club entitles the student to use the club's equipment, save money on training and jumping, and contribute to leadership, management and fellowship training and experience.

Military Police

LAW ENFORCEMENT
with a touch of
MILITARY

Pershing Rifles

The men of Pershing Rifles of Company R-1 offer membership to all cadets in the basic and advanced corp of ROTC at EKU. Proud of their heritage of being a part of an organization that began over 75 years ago and was started by the infamous "Gen. Black Jack" Pershing the teams travel in parades primarily in the state of Kentucky and participate in Drill Meets throughout the country when time and money is available. Although Exhibition drill and drill and ceremonies is the primary function of the club, they become very active in university activities and participate in ushering football games and concerts as well as helping at registration periods. Additionally the men as well as their Coed Affiliates the Vallanettes participate in Local fund raising campaigns for charity. On the light side, the two groups conduct an annual Spring Formal and enjoy other forms of relaxation together. P-R life is a lot of hard work and a lot of fun. This organization would like to be a part of your future. This year the P-R's won over 30 trophies and were designated "honor company" at the Ohio State Invitational Drill Meet.

Scabbard & Blade

This organization is an honor society of junior and senior cadets who fully meet standards of high academic achievement, sound character, demonstrated leadership ability, and scholarship in Military Science. It provides the saber arch honor guard at Homecoming, ROTC Day, the Military Ball and military weddings.

Scabbard & Blade members form the only campus group who are trained in the traditional style of saber drill which is passed on to new pledges each year.

Rifle Team

The ROTC Rifle Team is open to all ROTC students who can qualify. Members are also eligible to compete for a position on the EKV Varsity Rifle Team and to apply for a Varsity Athletic Scholarship. If you think that you might be good enough, give the rifle team a try.

Field Trips

Flight Program

The Army ROTC Flight Instruction Program provides an opportunity for select Advanced Course cadets to learn to fly. Students who enter this program will receive basic introduction into flying light, single engine, fixed wing aircraft. The flight instruction program is conducted by a FAA approved civilian flying school which is under contract with the Army. Each student receives 35 hours of ground instruction and 36 1/2 hours of in-flight training. Satisfactory completion of the training normally results in conferment of a FAA private pilot's certificate. The Army pays for all flight instruction, textbooks, flight clothing, navigational equipment and transportation to and from the civilian flight school that has the flight contract. Up to four college credits may be earned by participants of this program by enrolling in Military Science 305 or 306 Theory and Dynamics of Aviation.

Tae kwon-do

This club—calling itself the "Chosoun Cats"—is made up of military science students who pursue skill and perfection in the Korean Martial Art of TAEKWONDO, an Oriental self-defense form similar to Chinese Kung Fu and Japanese Karate. The Military Science Department has a black belt instructor and for nominal club dues, the group meets daily for free lessons, practice and sparring. All military science students are invited to participate.

Journalists from ten foreign countries visited the Eastern campus last Saturday as part of an extensive bicentennial tour of the United States that will extend from Washington, D.C. to San Francisco.

The group, which included 27 working journalists and 14 members of their families, met on campus with participants in the High School Journalism Conference and EKU journalism majors. Upon arrival at Eastern, the group was greeted by David Graham, Richmond City Manager, who answered questions about the financing and operation of American cities. The foreign journalists were also interested in the role of partisan politics in Richmond city government.

The exchange of views between members of the foreign press and Eastern journalism students provided insights for both groups regarding the various strictures under which the press operates.

The nine Italian journalists were surprised to learn that American journalists get paid from the first day they go to work for an American newspaper. Gianni Farneti, of Panorama Magazine in Rome, observed that beginning Italian journalists do not get paid by their publications during a three month apprenticeship. He added, "Only after the new journalist has proved himself is he awarded a contract. Even then he is not considered a full-fledged journalist. After eighteen months he must take an examination which will determine whether or not he will be permitted to continue practicing journalism."

Farneti said that freedom of the press is guaranteed in the Italian Constitution, but admitted that many of his countrymen feel the apprentice and examination system somewhat restricts the full range of press freedom. He added, however, that this also provided a system for insuring minimal standards of accuracy and technical competency.

W.J. Wijesoma, editorial cartoonist for the Ceylon Observer, also made some pertinent observations about press freedom in Sri Lanka (formerly Ceylon). He said that until a few years ago the Ceylonese press was comparable to the press in the United States. During this period, he noted, he could draw whatever political cartoon he chose and it would be automatically published. He added that his work did not even have to be submitted to an editor during this period.

Wijesoma said, "Now, however, my cartoons must be submitted to the chairman for prior approval." The chairman (publisher) now is a political appointee. Wijesoma said he no longer draws political cartoons that he believes will be unfavorably reviewed by the chairman. He speculated that his counterparts in the United States had to submit their works to editors or publishers for prior approval.

and that a substantial percentage of students enrolled in journalism and broadcasting at Eastern were women.

The tour which began in Washington, D.C. on June 20, has not been uneventful for the journalists. Two of the 26 Airstream trailers provided for the foreign journalists were damaged enroute from Washington, D.C., to Kentucky.

One trailer had the roof ripped off when the driver drove into a motel with a low overhang. Another was totaled when a truck in West Virginia side-swiped an Airstream and completely peeled off the stainless steel skin of the trailer.

Major private sponsors of the bicentennial tour are the Wally Byam Foundation, through which Airstream donated travel trailers; Chrysler which made available new Chrysler Cordobas; Pan American Airlines and Trans-World Airlines which provided complimentary transportation; Discover America Travel Organization which enlisted the aid of state and private groups to provide information and hospitality; and the Society of American Travel Writers, which welcomed the guests in the name of the United States press.

The United States Information Agency (USIA) and the United States Travel Service (USTS) used their missions abroad to identify and invite appropriate journalists. The National Park Service is coordinating parking arrangements, and the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration has pinpointed various local Bicentennial activities and has assisted in organizing, along with the American Automobile Association, the group's itinerary.

Glen Kleine, assistant professor, of journalism at Eastern, arranged for the foreign journalists visit to the EKU campus.

The foreign journalists will conclude their visit to the United States on July 18 with a boat trip from Fisherman's Wharf to the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco. Included in their itinerary will be visits to: Lincoln State Park, Indiana; the St. Louis Arch, Goldenrod Showboat, and Six Flags over Mid America where the world's largest and fastest roller coaster is located; the Harry S. Truman Library and Museum in Independence, Missouri; the Agricultural Hall of Fame in Sylvania Grove, Kansas; Colorado Springs, Colorado; Colorado National Monument.

They will spend July 4th in Green River, Utah, and will later visit Bryce Canyon National Park. Finally they will visit Las Vegas in Nevada, and Knott's Berry Farm, Disneyland, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Solvang (the Danish capitol of America), and San Francisco in California.

"As one of the great free societies on earth, the United States opens its doors to the world," said one of the tour sponsors, Carolyn Bennett Patterson. "We have invited these visitors to explore our country and see us as we are in this, our Bicentennial Era. We hope to make them our friends."

High school journalists at conference produce paper

By ANN HEDGLIN

Madison Central High School

Eleven high school journalists are attending the eighth annual High School Journalism Conference. They are Becky Dan, Boyle County High School; Kim Reams, Cindy Cochran, Lori Bucknam, and Ann Hedglin of Madison Central High School; Kevin Kleine, Model High School; Teresa Rizzardi, Paul Shahan and Diane Kearney of Lexington Catholic High School; Judy Mynhier and Amy Brown of Henry Clay High School, Lexington.

The journalists have listened to lectures given by several reporters and photographers. Some of these were Ken Gullett of WVLC Radio; Don Wallbaum, photographer for the Winchester Sun; Sonya McKinney, editor of the Sunday magazine in the Danville Advocate; and Delma Francis, a reporter with the Lexington Herald.

Dr. Charles Nelson showed the group some techniques in editorial cartooning. The participants also held a press conference with President Martin on Monday.

The main project of the conference is publishing this issue of the Eastern Progress. Students sold advertising, wrote stories, did art work, wrote headlines, and pasted up the paper.

Glen Kleine, assistant professor of journalism, is the workshop director.

Martin meets student press

By PAUL SHAHAN

Lexington Catholic High School
"The real problem in higher education, said Dr. Robert R. Martin, is to see that we maintain access to higher education. We always tried to operate the institution so that we could do the most for the faculty and other employees and charge the students the least amount, and that has been our policy. The real problem in higher education will always be good teaching and good study habits and good learning on the part of the students but these are universal," said President Martin during a press conference with members of the High School Journalism conference on Monday.

When asked about his successor Dr. Martin replied, "I would hope that my successor will continue basically what we've been doing in the way of developing the property. I hope that he doesn't decide to take the university off in some new direction."

Speaking on the changes that have come about during his term as president, Dr. Martin said, "First came in the idea of nursing and also the idea of allied health. Later came the opportunity to organize the School of Law Enforcement with traffic safety and later the idea of fire science. We have grown at an amazing pace so that we could develop as far as we could with the money provided."

Referring to the ROTC program President Martin said, "When I came here in 1960 our ROTC Program was very weak. We looked at the program and we decided that we would make it a compulsory program. We did, and it became a very strong program. After Vietnam it became a volunteer program with options. We now have the largest ROTC program in the United States."

Dr. Martin said that he wants the Board to choose a new president in time for him to have a chance to have some time with him. Regarding Dr. Landrum's $1.3 million lawsuit against the university, President Martin said he would wait until he was in court before he made any statement, but did say his answer would be no to all of Dr. Landrum's allegations.

12 students go on ECU Spanish trip

By Teresa Rizzardi

Lexington Catholic High School
Two Spanish majors, Jean Schubert and Betty Myers, attended with 17 other Eastern students a four-week travel-study program in Mexico.

They found the markets in Mexico City most interesting and different from their American counterparts. They said it was exciting to bargain with the sellers, and that the people there were very friendly. They also enjoyed their visit to Chapultepec Park in Mexico City which included an amusement park, a historic castle, and various museums.

Taxaco, an old mining town was also on their agenda. The next stop was Acapulco where they visited the beach.

They felt the most fascinating event was meeting the people and learning more about their culture. They felt the Mexican culture was more relaxed and had traditional music, customs, and family life.

Deaf training

A training program for deaf children from six months to six years of age, sponsored by the ECU Department of Special Education and Rehabilitation, now has vacancies, according to Dr. Lee Waters and Ms. Allie Supplee, who direct it.

They said the purpose of the program, in addition to the education of the child, is to provide the family with guidance and insight concerning the child's hearing problem.

Persons who wish to enter a child under six years in the program or inquire about the program may contact Dr. Waters or Ms. Supplee at the Department, phone 622-4442.
