MILESTONE

EASTERN KENTUCKY STATE COLLEGE RICHMOND, KENTUCKY

MILESTONE

This is Eastern. This is a small but progressive and growing callege of seventeen hundred students. Through its gates pass men and women from every part of the state and from many miles beyond the Commonwealth. Our homes are as for apart as Staten Island to Denver and from Detrait to Pensacola; from Burning Springs and Honey Bee and Happy Valley to Richmond.

We come from large cities and small farms; from modernistic high schools and one-room schools; from little rural churches and from city congregations; from the mountains and the bluegrass; from the coal miner's family, the railroaders, the farmer's, the business executive's.

We came with the marks of our community ways upon us. We speak the soft and slow speech of our southern hills and mountains and the swift, clipped speech of northern towns. We come with ballads an our tongues and fiddle tunes at our finger tips, and with remembered symphonies in our ears.

We come believing and worshipping in our Protestant, Cotholic, Jewish, or Mormon faiths. We come with minds which have been exposed to many different views, but have not always met a view on views, but have not always met a view on life which we could accept as our own.

We come with bioses and prejudices acquired in our local communities ar perhaps we come with open minds, willing to consider new apinions.

But these differences of background lase their sharpness when we enter into our new world . . . our one world, college. Merely our presence here unites us into one . . . a person who has the love of Eastern foremost in his mind.

We came with many goals. While here our feet will pass through many doors, climb many steps that lead through halls of applied arts, science, fine arts, education, health and physical education, military science, mathematics, social science.

Our feet travel many campus miles. They run with fall, drag with winter, skip with spring, play with summer.

Daily we travel over familiar paths. Our presence creates centers of activity. Over a cup of caffee, in a history class, on the main walk, or in a crowded car, the campus furnishes activity.

Our steps will take us through beckoning doors which open into places of work and play, study and recreation. These avenues will provide to us a way of life which at first has an air of strangeness, but gradually we begin to feel that we belong.

Our campus is aur hame. Within the dormitories of Sullivan, Memarial, McCreary, Beckham, and Burnam we find a great portion of our college life. These buildings pravide us with the oppartunities to meet people who will became life-long friends.

Stately columns invite us to enter . . . to share through days and midnight hours af study and talk and carefree laughter all our hopes, all our ambitions, all our fears. Dormitary life is an unfargettable experience long to be remembered and cherished.

This is Eastern. Perhaps no campus presents a prettier scene. Beauty is radiant during each season here. Eastern is a picture of serene loveliness when fallen snow turns the campus into a white paradise.

In winter the campus is covered with a sparkling blanket that almost brings an atmosphere of majesty.

And the rains came . . . seemingly never to leave, but sprinkling the pramise of a new season.

Spring and summer bring budding trees and blossoming flowers which perfume the campus with their fragrance. Leaves, wave on wave, begin to darken the still, green grass . . . long shodows come . . . the amphitheotre is a vision of spellbinding color reflecting the gargeous multicolored pageantry of fall.

And through all the seasons, the Student Union in her nightly beouty towers over the campus. Seeing her gleaming or shadowy loveliness and hearing the ten o'clack chimes ring good night stills the restlessness of day and brings quietness and peace.

Among these fovorite buildings, on this dear compus, students grow from shy, owkward freshmen to confident, poised groduotes. Remembering at all times that knowledge is our goal, we realize also that "education is where you find it." Eastern students are alive.

The friendly, informal campus environment doesn't permit anyone to conceal his personality for long. And this quality more than any other is responsible for our institution being known hereabouts as "one of the friendliest colleges."

We are proud of EKSC's famed Southern traditions and folk-ways, but prouder still of its outstanding scholastic position in the nation. We believe that the members of our administration are among the most conscientious and understanding to be found anywhere. Our instructors unceasingly strive to stimulate our self-development, and to guide our sometimes reluctant and wayward feet along the never-ending road of learning.

Eastern is growing. It will be larger and greater tomorrow. But the most cherished memories of the class of 1955 will always center around the claseness of spirit and friendly intimacy of the "Little" Eastern we knew. May its expanding program not forget to retain these indispensable values as a part of its basic fiber and foundation.

May this 1955 MILESTONE retain, restore, and preserve in your heart and mind, the Eastern we knew for all the years to come.

Edie and Peggy

Desiring only to better our class, thinking never of personal gain, working diligently in any senior or campus activity, wanting to be an intimate friend with all students, being one of the most capable and most efficient leaders of all time, impressing all with her grace, charm, and poise . . . these are some of the limited reasons why Dean Emma Y. Case, class advisor for four years, is accorded our respect and praise.

We, the senior class, proudly dedicate our 1955 Milestone to our Deon Cose.

Senior Class president is Harry Stigall. Officers are James Winn, vice-president; Sue Appletan, secretary; and Chester Raker, treasurer. Mrs. Emma Y. Case is class advisar. Among the many senior spansored activities are the Thursday evening bunny hops where seniors gather to chat, to dance and to have fun.

ADMINISTRATION

Eastern's administration is composed of the Board of Regents, the President, heads of divisions, heads of departments, and faculty. Our college and students are guided by the many capable, excelling leaders who are lead by the college president, W. F. O'Donnell, shown with his wife, Mrs. O'Donnell.

WENDELL P. BUTLER State Superintendent of Public Instruction Chairman

W. E. BLACKBURN Vice Chairman

A. C. JONES

KEEN JOHNSON

CECIL C. SANDERS

BOARD OF REGENTS

The government of the college is vested in the Board of Regents composed of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is Chairman of the Board, and four members appointed by the Governor. The term of office is four years but the appointive members may succeed themselves. Since its founding in 1906, Eastern has had only twenty-three regents.

The present Board consists of Wendell P. Butler, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Elmer Blackburn, mayor of Pikeville, banker, and a leading citizen in his community; Keen Johnson, Richmond, former governor and lieutenant governor of Kentucky, now vice-president and a member of the Board of Directors of the Reynolds Metal Company; A. C. Jones, banker, business and civic leader of Harlan; Cecil C. Sanders, lawyer, member of the state legislature, and public spirited citizen of Lancaster.

These men are keenly interested in the college's program and in the welfare of the students and faculty.

A deeply sincere interest in anything concerned with Eastern; the drive and obility to push Eastern ahead in years to come; a genuine love for college students; a friendly smile for everyone; a concern for each minute's activity on campus; an office always open to anyone who wants to talk with him—these are the things which make President W. F. O'Donnell what he is — a man who will be remembered by each Eastern student long ofter the college years ore past.

W. J. MOORE, Dean of the College

A conscientious interest in the individual; a warm smile and a dry wit; an ability to meet any situation; an interest in all campus activity; and an able effort to aid each student — this is how Dean Moore will be remembered.

An industrious, busy air; an efficient capable manner in handling the business affairs of the college; a sincere interest in the work he is doing — these are the qualities which characterize Mr. Brock.

EMMA Y. CASE Dean of Women

Through the offices of the highly trained and efficient administration, the concerns and problems of the college are directed toward a progressive goal.

SECOND SEMESTER JUNIORS

The junior class is being recagnized on campus as a class full of zeal and beauty. Throughaut the past three years no ather group can boast of the number of queens selected from any membership as can the junior class. And with this beauty and poise comes ambitious and hard-working peaple who have made many junior sponsored activities very successful. This year they were responsible for the Sadie Hawkins Dance, the April Fool's Dance, and Junior-Senior Pram. Added to this is the class banquet which was held at Benault Inn on Saturday, April 2.

Knowing that such an active class is following, the seniors are prepared to leave the destiny of Eastern in the hands of the class of '56.

ATHLETICS

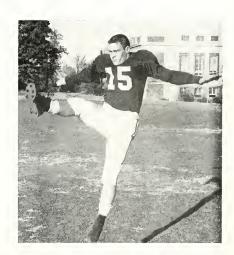

Eastern's athletic department is outstanding in the variety of sports offered. The college is fortunate in having the excellent coaches and instructors that direct our physical education program. SEASON'S

The Eastern Maroon football team enjoyed the greatest season in the history of the grid sport at the college, winning their first Ohio Valley Conference title since the league was organized, and getting their first bid to a post-season event.

The Maroons with the touchdown help of Chuck Bell and Don Daly opened the season with a 19-0 upset over highly-regarded John Carroll, then defeated, in order, conference foes Middle Tennessee 26-0, Murray 25-6, and Tennessee Tech 14-7. Two touchdowns by Jim Hanlon and one each for Jack Rodgers and Bob Muller were the spark-plugs that gave Eastern an easy victory over the Tennessee Raiders. The following game was the first time this year that an opponent scored against the Maroons. Eastern's win over Murray was gained by Ed Miracle and Daly, each counting for two touchdowns. Fred Winscher, Daly, Don Hortman, and Ernie Rigrish were key-men in the scoring department for Tennessee Tech being Eastern's fourth victim.

The fallowing week, the locals journeyed to Youngstown, Ohio, to meet the favored Penguins of that college, and, led by quarterback Hanlon, they soundly thrashed the Ohioans by a 25-7 count for their fifth straight win which snapped a seven game winning streak of the northern neighbors.

RESUME

The Morehead Eagles were the next to fall, anly after the Eagles had given the overwhelmingly favored Maroons all they could handle before Eastern won by a 12-8 count, with Hanlon and Tom Schulte scoring the TD's. Winning this permitted the Maroons to retain the "Hawg Rifle" which Eastern has won nine times to Morehead's six victories.

The University of Toledo came next and put the first blemish on the record books, holding the Maraons to a 13-13 tie at the annual Dad's Game in Hanger Stadium.

In the big game of the year, Eastern met arch rival Western before a home-coming crowd at Bowling Green and soundly trounced the Hilltoppers by a 21-0 score to cop their first conference championship. Led by Schulte, Hanlon, and "Dutch" Greene, the Eastern men handed this apponent their first setback of the season.

In the season finale, the Maroons took the University of Louisville by a 20-6 scare before the homecoming folks at Eastern to become only the second Eastern team to go undefeated. The regular season ended with eight wins, no lasses, and one tie.

"Eastern Kentucky was chosen over several other of the eligible colleges and universities because it has always been the policy of the Tangerine Bowl committee to select the two best small colleges in the section."

This selection of the Tangerine Bowl Committee turned Eastern's campus into an exciting jubilation in hanar of this year's faotball team, winner of the OVC championship and first Maroon pigskin squad ever to receive a bowl bid.

After hours of anxious waiting and hopeful dreams the student body, upon hearing the selection, was like a chain reaction, shouting their joys, farming snoke dances, and planning Christmas vacations in Florida. In less than five minutes after Caach Presnell returned from the Sunshine State with the bowl-bound news, the college and community were celebrating the Florida decision which had chosen the Eastern Maroons to meet the University of Omaha Indians in the ninth annual Elks Tangerine Bowl classic at Orlando on New Year's night.

The Maraans were destined to meet one of the two teams in the nation with nine winners and no defeats. Besides leading the country in victories, Omaha had a 13-game winning skein over the last two years. Eastern's opponents were also the leading scoring team in the nation, having scared 353 points, an average of better than 39 points per contest and their single game low was 26 points.

In preparation for the bowl game, the team started faatball practice during the second week of December. Caoch Presnell and his boys headed South on December 23 for a football bowl game, a Florida Christmas, and ten days of sunshine.

The Maroons played a great game in Orlando, although they dropped their first tilt in 15 games including a tie contest in the '54 season by Toledo.

The Indians from Omaha scored with 5:23 remaining in the opening period when toilback Bill Engelhardt, voted the game's most outstanding player, tassed to captain Rudy Rotella, who eluded three Eastern would-be tacklers and raced the remaining 20 yards for the score. Engelhardt added the extra point, which proved to be the deciding margin, and the Indians led 7-0.

The Maroons moved the ball from their awn 21 to Omaha's 44 midway in the second period, but were forced to kick, Tom Schulte boating the ball to Omaha's 8. The Indians advanced to the 41 where Emil Radik lost possession of the pigskin after a bruising tackle by a host af Maroons and Eastern quarterback Jim Hanlan pounced on the aval on Omaha's 48.

A pair of off-sides penalties against the Maroons moved the ball back to the Eastern's 42. Three rushing attempts failed to net the necessary 20 yards, but Omaha drew a 15 yard penalty for illegal substitution, placing the ball on Omaha's 43. A pair of rushing thrusts netted nine yards before Don Dally sped for 13 on a sweep to the left for a first and ten on the 21. Bobby Lenderman, playing his first game since the season opened due to an injury, tossed to Fred Winscher for eight yards and Lenderman made the first down on the nine on a sneak. The little junior signal-caller stepped back and hit "Dutch" Greene, who was waiting on the four. The speedy Greene dashed over unmolested for the score to make the scoreboard read 7-6, Omaha, with 3:19 remaining in the second quarter. Ernie Rigrish came in for the all-important extra point attempt, but the kick was wide to the right.

And as far as score was concerned, the game was over.

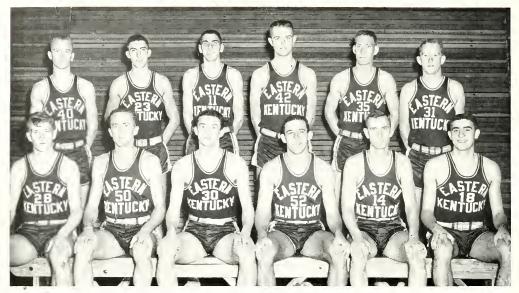

Tangerine Bowl officials soid that this year's clash was the most evenly-matched game in the nine year history of the post-season bowl game.

Eastern's Don Daly was the hardest running back on the field as he racked up 68 yards in 11 carries, outgaining Omaha's Engelhardt some 21 yards. Fullback Bob Muller played an outstanding game

BASKETBALL

Since 1946 when Paul McBrayer came to coach the Maroon Basketball team, Eastern has, in this field, made a steady climb from nowhere to national prominence. By 1949 McBrayer had built Eastern's team to the point where it entered the select group classified by the N.C.A.A. as "major" callege basketball team.

COACH MCBRAYER

Coach McBrayer is nationally known as a master strategist, a strict disciplinarian, a basketball fundamentalist with limitless knowledge of the game.

He is a native af Lawrenceburg, Kentucky, and attended the University of Kentucky where he starred in basketball and baseball and was named on the All-American basketball team in 1930. After coaching at Marton Junior High in Lexington and at Kavanaugh High in Lawrenceburg, McBrayer returned to the University as assistant coach for nine years. After serving two and a half years in the service, he came to Eastern in 1946.

RONNIE PELLEGRINON

The Eastern Kentucky Maroons, paced by their All-America candidate Jack Adams, breezed to the champianship of the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament after already exceeding all expectations during the season. Coach Paul McBrayer was still rebuilding, having started last year from scratch, but brought his squad along in magnificent fashian and the record books were rewritten.

The brilliant Adams, a 6-4 junior forward, acclaimed by sports writers in this area as the best player in Kentucky and one of the top in the nation, set nine new recards himself, and as a teom, the Maraans broke almost as many.

Adams scared a total of 533 points, an average of 23.2 a game, to rank 28th in the nation among major college players according to final N.C.A.A. statistics, the only Kentucky Callege player in the top 50.

No one player can do the job alone, hawever, and Adams had brilliant support from Dick Culbertson, Ronnie Pellegrinon, Bill Baxter, Jim Floyd, Guy Strang, Clayton Stivers, Horold Fraley, Jimmy Mitchell, and a half dozen others, all stors in their own right, and each contibuting tremendously to the team's success. An early season injury suffered by J. D. Brack, brilliant freshman of last year, sidelined him for the rest of the year and left a big gop to be filled, but he is expected to return to action next season.

The Maroons, in their 7th year of major college competition, avaraged 84 points a game, an all-time high, to rank 14th nationally; they hit 72.6% of their free thraws to rank 8th; they grabbed 58.2% of the rebaunds—averaging 55.8 a game—to rank 11th; and hit 40.3% of their shots to finish 28th in this department.

CLAYTON STIVERS

Preparation, determination, and desire poid off for the Maroons os they rocked up one of the greatest victories of the year in downing Louisville. Only Marquette and the mighty Dayton Flyers, who went on to the finals of the Notional Invitation Tournament, had been able to accomplish the feat, and N.I.T. Champion Duquesne was pressed to defeat the Cardinals by only 6 points.

Another highlight of the season was the 60-46 win over a strong Xavier University outfit, a victory accomplished after a grueling 240-mile, 8-hour bus ride through roin and fag from Bristol, Virginio, where their plane had been grounded on the return trip from North Carolina State. It was a courageous band of Maroons that took the floor just three hours after arriving on the campus and completely outplayed the Musketeers.

The best performance of the year was the 120-91 triumph over a good Loyola of the South team on February 15. The Maroons outrebounded the Wolfpack 84 to 39 in this romp, with Adoms personally grabbing 27 of them in addition to pitching in 40 points.

Other wins over Virginia, Toledo, and Murroy were impressive as they went over the century mark four times to wind up with a season record of 15 wins against eight losses.

The Maroons played brilliontly in their drive to the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament Chompionship, winning with eose over Morehead 91-76, and downing Murray for the crown, 76-59, to add a third championship cup to the four runners-up trophies already won in the seven-year history of the conference.

SECOND SEMESTER SOPHOMORES

Last fall the sophomores were still untangling themselves from the newness of the college world; this spring this same group was being cought in the spinning web of activities which are an important part of college life. This is the year of honoraries . . Cwens and Kappa lota. This is the year when thoughts turn to money-making projects in preparation for their junior year. Class activities are more regular and more active than those of the past year. Movies are spansored; parties are given. A vivid picture taken from such an activity is that of the fun had by the freshmen at the Freshman-Sophomore Party spansored by this class.

"Learn today, lead tomorrow."

The Reserve Officers Training Corps is a large division on Eastern's campus. Not only is the ROTC "big" in number of men students enrolled, but it is "big" as to the many activities into which the group enters and participates. The basic purpose of the military science department is to train young men for the armed services, and by doing this the ROTC instills leadership, craftmanship, and character into the student. Members of the color guard are Gene Bonta, Tom Schulte, George Griffin, and Rolph Consiglio.

Classroom training is an important part in the schedule of the ROTC students. Freshmen and sophomores meet twice weekly plus the corps training while junior and senior boys meet four times weekly plus the corps training.

Eastern's ROTC has been training young men for the Army since 1936 with exception only during World War II. Head-quarters for this department is located in the Weaver Health Building.

Instruction in the mechanics of the Mortar

First aid classes are a part of the ROTC pragram

At the present two hundred and forty-four students are enrolled in the ROTC. Students hold rank from the Cadet Colonel to Private which is the classification of freshmen students. Promotions are from Private to Private 1st class, Corporal, Sergeant, 2nd Lieutenant, 1st Lieutenant, Captain, Major, Lieutenant Colonel, and Cadet Colonel.

The Military Ball which has been given annually for seventeen years is perhaps one of the greatest social events on campus. The Drill and Rifle teams which give shows and represent the callege in various meets are also an important part of the corps.

Learning to handle a Browning Automatic Rifle

Many, many months aga . . . back in September, many freshmen students experienced the act of registration. And then second semester came and this was repeated, although perhaps in a different manner. Registration recalls aches, happiness, relief, jay, but the freshmen lives and college continues. Elected class president of this group was Dick Perry. Bill Hayden is vice-president; Gerry Pence, secretary; Emily Massey, treasurer, and Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Richards are class advisors.

Freshmen are encouraged to become acquainted not only with students but with their books, the use of the library, the compus, profitable study hobits, wise management of money, and the proper use of time. Freshmen are being schooled for their coming college life.

Over fifty organized clubs are offered to the various interests and abilities that students possess. Although every person is encouraged to be a member of an organization, the campus prefers that a student doesn't belong to too many clubs. The campus is proud of the national honoraries and departmental clubs which have chopters at Eastern and is equally as proud of the many fine activities and projects which result from all the college organizations.

Memories from membership in an organization are a vivid picture in our mind. Installations, first meetings, weiner roosts, banquets, elections, committee meetings, announcements, posters, officers . . . combine to make organizations a very definite part of our school life.

DAILY LIFE

From September ta June, life an Eastern's campus is seen and expressed in many varied ways. Daily life is haurs of happiness, worry, jay, sorraw, and gayness. Being a part of the campus, students find doars ta knawledge, romance, fellowship, social culture, and specialized interests opened ta them. There is an abundant amount of living at Eastern college.

College . . Eastern . . . the firs' day . . . a new way of living . . . familiar faces . . . a world of surprising activity. Students came for one semester, for two years, for four years.

The freshman enters into a thrilling life of different experiences.

"Big Sister" Mary Lake extends a helping welcome to freshman Shirley.

thoughts for new students will be an interest to meet the President and Mrs. O'Donnell. Coinciding with this desire will be the wish of being settled. Favorite photographs, tennis rackets, a tiny stuffed panda, high school annuals, a baseball glave . . . all will be unpacked to take their places in a new room.

Larry, Beth, and Babbie are greeted by President and Mrs. O'Donnell.

Freshman week is in itself a complex, thrilling adventure. With this first week comes many other "firsts". firsts that will never be erased from dear callege memories. After arriving an campus among suitcases of laneliness, strangeness, determination, and eagerness one of the initial Joe asks the assistance of his freshmen counsellar, Mr. McGlasson.

Greetings continue but classification tests, identification pictures, afternoon teas, roommales, counsellors enter into an expanding world.

Counsellors' guidance is needed to answer inquiring questions of first time bewilderment. The fear and dread of long registration line is combatted by gathering on the Ad. steps before the doors extend an open invitation. Schedules are changed; classes are closed; room assignment cards are forgotten; check books are misplaced. Registration is an emotion of confusion, satisfaction and tiredness. The first main step has been taken and college life promises each freshman an amazing year. Friendly upperclassmen are flocking back; the campus is a scene of renewed friendships; summer stories are exchanged; the contagious spirit of hospitality is breathed, even by Mo who wags his tail of friendship.

Weekly Sunday breakfast at the Christian Church is on hour of fellowship and spiritual growth.

And Sunday comes . . . the first Sunday of this college year . . . Students are anxious to become affiliated with the local church of their choice, and all of the denaminations rejaice in the contributions played by students. Church life has a wholesame part in the completeness of the freshman girl or the senior boy.

The days pass to weeks and activities begin, elections, membership campaigns, retreats, and installations. Annually in Burnam Hall is the beautiful impressive installation of the Hause Cauncil arganization demands meetings and the four classes are eager that their leaders be chosen and plans for the coming months be made. Perhaps no class is busier than the seniors . . . graduation, school gift, class ring, applications, . . . all have ta have early fall attention.

Senior class meetings present many problems to soon-to-be-graduates.

Histology labs find Vic, Raymond, and Mary Helen staining slides and cutting sections for micrascopic study.

Mr. Burns presents to his sociology class many problems concerning the influences of environment and heredity and the part each plays in society.

Labs . . . lectures . . . library . . . research . . . studious life is part of the development. Knowledge surrounds the small world of a college compus. Knowledge is ours if we are willing to search, to inquire, to work. Knowledge . . . education is our ultimate goal.

Eastern's library offers to the student a place ta study, to da research, ar ta read the current newspapers and magazines. Huda, Ann, and Jahn find this to be the place af quietness.

Ernie and Joyce take advantage of the International Center and the vast amount of material on reserve there. This is the first year the campus has had such a center,

A dial of the number . . . a telephone ring . . . Burnam Holl . . . a request for a special girl . . . and Jim is happy.

A raam buzz . . . a walk ta the main desk . . . "Back phone, Joanne" . . . a hello . . . a call fram a special boy . . . and Jo is hoppy.

Telephone calls . . . a tauch af a hand . . . walks on Saturday afternoons . . . preciaus memories to be cherished as the future af a boy and his girl is planned. This taa is a part of our education. This taa is our life.

An afternaon walk . . . a smile and a faraway laok . . . and Bill and Jenny plan far the years ahead.

A pretty day, o tree to lean against . . . and Pat and Jack suddenly find lats to smile about.

Holloween provides the students with funny looking hots, rattling noise mokers, tasty apple cider, sticky donuts, ond a marvelous evening of fun.

Polly presents her senior voice recital. Peggy is her accomponist.

Halloween . . . student recitals . . . dramatic plays . . . community concerts.

Falling leaves usher in the month of October that quickly passes into November. Now the days are not only filled with mid-semester tests, late book reports, ca'culus problems, student teaching, but they are filled with invitations to attend the "best" party of each year, to hear senior friends in their student recitals, to see a well-selected and well trained student cost perform, and to be entertained by nationally known talented persons of the stage.

"The Mole Animol," starring Roger, Joan, and Nick, was the first dramatic production of the year.

Community concerts ore scheduled throughout the yeor. Among the many students who usher regularly is Nancie.

The Grille . . . Few words in Eastern's vacabulary recall as many happy, as many varied memories as do the wards, the grille. The grille and the recreation raom provide students with enjoyment and memories in playing poal, ping pang, and cards, dancing, listening to music, chatting with friends, sipping a coke, eating a coney island, peeping one more time into an empty post office box, and mailing the weekly letter hame to the family. On special occasions the shuffling af the cords heard any daily hour resound in the musical melodies of danceland.

Marvin, Bob and William in a game of billiards.

Nick and Joyce enjoying a dance in the grille.

Glenn and the weekly mail.

Jim and Jayce select a song at the juke-box.

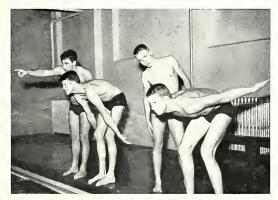

Mr. Van, Barbara, and Mr. Niles pause to fit music with dance.

Early mornings, late afternaons find the band practicing.

The third month of first semester finds many organizations preparing for coming events. The band, practicing since September, continues long hours of rehearsals for the Hamecoming presentation. Swimmers begin the daily sessions of instruction and improvement. Musical organizations and the modern dance club prepare the first stage production of John Jacob Niles' cantata, "Mary, the Rose." Each campus group chooses a float theme; finds working space in barns, dormitaries, garages; begins to hammer, to paint, to stuff napkins.

Caaches Bob and Rich instruct Dick and Johnny.

Flaat work means Hamecoming is nearing.

Weeks before the great day arrives the campus is lost in an atmosphere of Homecoming festivities. The long awaited day arrives . . . attractive candidates are queenly atop gaily decorated floots . . . and from the thirty-nine beauties, one is to be selected as Homecoming Queen. The alumni committee, judging on beauty, poise, and appearance chose Miss Betty Pack, junior from Paintsville, to reign over the annual Homecoming festivities.

Floats of various descriptions showed the onlooker that students never spend a dull moment at Eastern. An alumni committee awarded the first prize honor to the Harlon County float.

"May these join the choir invisible

Of those immortal dead who live again

In minds made better by their presence; live

In pulses stirred to generosity,

In deeds of daring rectitude, in scarn

For miserable aims that end with self,

In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars,

And with their mild persistence urge man's search

To vaster issues."
