12-3-2002

EKUpdate, December 3, 2002

Eastern Kentucky University, Public Relations

Follow this and additional works at: http://encompass.eku.edu/upubs_update

Recommended Citation

Eastern Kentucky University, Public Relations, "EKU update, December 3, 2002" (2002). EKU Update. 44.
http://encompass.eku.edu/upubs_update/44

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at Encompass. It has been accepted for inclusion in EKU Update by an authorized administrator of Encompass. For more information, please contact Linda.Sizemore@eku.edu.
In November, 2000, Gen. Colin Powell, now secretary of state, came to EKU, the Commonwealth’s first University of Promise, to urge Kentucky communities to follow suit and join the America’s Promise movement.

Now, several EKU students and staff members are playing key roles in helping to establish Madison County as a Community of Promise.

Powell founded America’s Promise-The Alliance for Youth in 1997 as an effort to mobilize Americans from every walk of life to build the character and competence of the nation’s youth by fulfilling five promises: caring adults, safe places, health start, marketable skills and opportunities to serve.

A Community of Promise is any neighborhood, town, city or county that fulfills all five of the promises. In Communities of Promise nationwide, parents, educators, public officials, business leaders and youth leaders are uniting to serve youth, especially those most at-risk.

Community partners – including businesses, schools, churches and hospitals – are becoming Sites of Promise. A growing list of local partners in Madison County includes Berea National Bank, Cumberland Valley National Bank, the Boys and Girls Club of Madison County and the Telford YMCA.

Those attending the first and/or second meeting included: Kent Clark, Madison County Judge-Executive; Connie Lawson, Richmond mayor-elect; Fred Crump, Telford YMCA; Sam Laharbera, United Way of Madison County; Mike Caudill, superintendent, Madison County Schools; Gary Conklin, superintendent, Berea Independent Schools; Matt Defendall, Jamie Dempsey, Boys and Girls Club of Madison County; Linda Jones, Special Programs, Berea College; Dale Settles, Big Brothers/Big Sisters; Lucas Hammons, EKU student regent; Jessica Brandon, Madison County Public Library; Nancy Thamres, director, AmeriCorps at EKU; Dr. Doug Whillock, vice president for administrative affairs, EKU; Phillis Adams, Kentucky River Foothills Head Start. The meetings were conducted by Amber Jones, an AmeriCorps Promise Fellow and member of the national Youth Partnership with America’s Promise. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Dec. 13.

As a Community of Promise, Madison County pledges to: engage a diverse community team of key leaders, determine the needs of youth and current community assets, set measurable goals, develop a local communications plan, develop Sites of Promise, secure local commitments from all sectors, and track the delivery of local commitments to youth.

Once Madison County becomes an official Community of Promise, the organization will be housed at EKU.

Also, a Promise Station website will be launched to give all Madison Countians access to information and resources to help youth.

Any individuals, businesses or organizations desiring to help in the effort are asked to contact Jones at 622-8472 or 606-224-0184 or amberj@americaspromise.org.

“The ultimate goal of Madison County’s Promise is to see everyone in Madison County unite through this movement by pulling our weight to better serve our children,” Jones said.

Renowned painter Mitchell Tolle of Berea will address 973 degree candidates at EKU’s winter commencement Saturday, Dec. 14.

The ceremony will begin at 1:30 p.m. in Alumni Coliseum. Each academic college will host a reception for graduates and their families at 11 a.m. in the Student Services Building.

Tolle, who also will receive an honorary doctorate of arts degree, counts former President Jimmy Carter among his portrait subjects. But he’s known more for watercolor masterpieces that capture his rural Kentucky heritage.

People from more than 70 nations have visited his Berea gallery since it opened in 1980, and avid Tolle collectors can be found in every state and from all walks of life. “I guess it was about 1987 or 1988 when I raised my sights to become the best known living artist in America,” Tolle said. “I didn’t have a plan. I had no idea how I was going to do it. I just never stopped believing that I would.”

While Tolle Gallery continues to draw a worldwide clientele, Tolle has expanded his marketplace with a separate company, Painted Treasures. “We will become an international company one neighbor at a time,” Tolle said about his new direct-marketing venture.

When former President Carter came to Appalachia in 1997 to work on a Habitat for Humanity project, he took time to pose for a portrait by Tolle. Prints from the painting commemorate the ‘97 blitz and have raised $250,000 for Habitat, Tolle’s favorite cause.

In 1997, Richmond became the first city in Central Kentucky to conduct an “Empty Bowls” project.

For a $10 donation, participants receive a handmade pottery bowl that they keep, a bowl of homemade soup, bread, a drink and the satisfaction of knowing they have helped the needy.

“Proceeds from the event go toward feeding hungry people in the area, and that’s so important,” said President Glasser, official spokesperson for the event.

Funds go to the Food Bank of the Kentucky River Foothills Development Council, Home Meals Delivery and the Salvation Army of Madison County.

Glasser is especially proud of the event because it was begun by EKU art professor Joe Molinaro, who learned of the idea from other potters who hosted similar events in their native states. EKU students have been heavily involved in producing the bowls since the inception of the project.

When Molinaro began asking Richmond churches for their support in 1997, the response was immediate and enthusiastic. Three hundred bowls were sold the first year of the event. The following year, 500 bowls were sold in less than 1½ hours, and every year since, about 600 bowls have been sold.

In past years, the demand for bowls has been greater than the supply, but this year organizers have taken steps to help ensure an adequate supply of the pottery. Julia Bucknam, associate professor of art education at EKU and president of the Kentucky Art Education Association, has been instrumental in the involving schoolchildren from Richmond and across the Commonwealth in the production of additional bowls.

“Our goal,” Bucknam said, “is to have 100 bowls that reflect the unique designs of our children.”

In addition, more bowls are being made by local church youth groups under the supervision of Diane Fredericks.

“One of the greatest and most heartwarming things about this event is that so many elements of the community work together to make it happen,” Glasser said. “When we can all come together to help those among us who are in need, that is truly what community is all about.”

Teacher Job Fair to be Held Dec. 3

EKU’s Division of Career Services will host a teacher job fair Tuesday, Dec. 3 for December 2002 graduates and others who are looking for teaching jobs.

More than 25 school systems are expected to recruit at the event, which will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. on the fourth floor of the Student Services Building. The fair is open to students and alumni from EKU and other area colleges and universities.

Up-to-date information about participating school systems and parking is available at www.career.eku.edu or by calling the Career Services office at 622-1567.
Fall 2002 Finals Schedule

Monday, Dec. 9
8:00 a.m. .............................. 8 a.m. TTh Classes
9:00 a.m. .............................. 9:00 a.m. MWF Classes
10:00 a.m. ............................ 10:00 a.m. MWF Classes
11:15 a.m. ............................ 11:15 a.m. MWF Classes
12:30 p.m. ............................ 12:30 p.m. TTh Classes
1-3 p.m. .............................. 1-3 p.m. MWF Classes
3:30-5:30 p.m. .......................... MAT 090
6-8 p.m. ............................... Monday Evening Classes

Tuesday, Dec. 10
8:00 a.m. .............................. 8 a.m. TTh Classes
9:00 a.m. .............................. 9:00 a.m. TTh Classes
10:00 a.m. ............................ 10:00 a.m. TTh Classes
11:15 a.m. ............................ 11:15 a.m. TTh Classes
12:30 p.m. ............................ 12:30 p.m. TTh Classes
1-3 p.m............................... 1-3 p.m. TTh Classes
3:30-5:30 p.m. .......................... MAT 095
6-8 p.m. ............................... Tuesday Evening Classes

Wednesday, Dec. 11
8:00 a.m. .............................. 8 a.m. TTh Classes
9:00 a.m. .............................. 9:00 a.m. TTh Classes
10:00 a.m. ............................ 10:00 a.m. TTh Classes
11:15 a.m. ............................ 11:15 a.m. TTh Classes
12:30 p.m. ............................ 12:30 p.m. TTh Classes
1-3 p.m............................... 1-3 p.m. TTh Classes
3:30-5:30 p.m. .......................... MAT 107
6-8 p.m. ............................... Wednesday Evening Classes

Thursday, Dec. 12
8:00 a.m. .............................. 8 a.m. TTh Classes
9:00 a.m. .............................. 9:00 a.m. TTh Classes
10:00 a.m. ............................ 10:00 a.m. TTh Classes
11:15 a.m. ............................ 11:15 a.m. TTh Classes
12:30 p.m. ............................ 12:30 p.m. TTh Classes
1-3 p.m............................... 1-3 p.m. TTh Classes
2-3 p.m. .............................. 2-3 p.m. TTh Classes
3:30-5:30 p.m. .......................... MAT 107
6-8 p.m. ............................... Thursday Evening Classes

Notes:
1) In the event that students are scheduled for more than three final examinations on the same day, they may request through their college dean that the examinations in excess of three be rescheduled.
2) Classes that meet for more than a single period will have the final examination at the exam time designated for the first period.
3) The final examination for an evening class meeting more than one time per week will be held on the evening of the first scheduled meeting during the Dec. 9-14 period.

Sunday, Dec. 8
Holiday Concert
3 p.m., Brock Auditorium, presented by EKU Department of Music.

Saturday, Dec. 14
Winter Commencement
1:30 p.m., Alumni Coliseum, college receptions beginning at 11 a.m. in Student Services Building.

Men's Basketball
EKU vs. Ohio Wesleyan, 8:30 p.m., McBrayer Arena.

Saturday, Dec. 21
Men's Basketball
EKU vs. Winthrop, 7:30 p.m., McBrayer Arena.

Sunday, Dec. 29
Women's Basketball
EKU vs. Samford, 4 p.m., McBrayer Arena.

Monday, Dec. 30
Women's Basketball
EKU vs. Jacksonville State, 4 p.m., McBrayer Arena.

Events

Continuing through Friday, Dec. 13
BFA Exhibit Continues
Bachelor of Fine Arts Art Exhibition, Giles Gallery, Campbell Building. For gallery hours, call 622-8135.

Monday, Dec. 2
Junior Vocal Recital
Lorin Franklin and Julie Jayne, 8 p.m., Brock Auditorium.

Tuesday, Dec. 3-Wednesday, Dec. 4
Holiday Student/Faculty Art Sale
Annual event features pottery, jewelry and prints, 9-4 p.m. daily in front of Powell Building.

Tuesday, Dec. 3-Saturday, Dec. 7
 Curtain Rises on ‘Scrooge’
“Scrooge,” presented by EKU Theatre and Department of Music, 7 p.m., Gifford Theatre. Tickets, $6, for reservations, call 622-1325 weekdays noon-4 p.m.

Wednesday, Dec. 4
 Trumpet Recital
Pat Price, 8 p.m., Brock Auditorium.

Writing History:
Editor’s Perspective
“Writing History as a Collaborative Enterprise: An Editor’s Perspective,” lecture by Dr. Nelso Dawson, noted Kentucky historian, 7:30 p.m., Perkins 212, sponsored by EKU Center for Kentucky History and Politics. Dawson also will receive the Center’s Thomas D. Clark Award for Outstanding Contributions to Kentucky History.

Thursday, Dec. 5
 Pop Music and Love
“Love’s Complexities and Their Expression in Popular Music of the 20th Century,” Chautauqua lecture by Hayward Mickens, EKU music faculty, 7:30 p.m., Student Services Building Auditorium, part of yearlong lecture series on love.

Clarinet Choir Concert
8 p.m., Brock Auditorium.

Women’s Basketball
EKU vs. Cincinnati, 7 p.m., McBrayer Arena.

Friday, Dec. 6
 Empty Bowls Luncheon
Annual event to benefit area hungry, 11 a.m.-1 p.m., St. Mark Church Parish Hall, $10 donation includes homemade bowl, sponsored by EKU and local churches.

Saturday, Dec. 7
 Men’s Basketball
EKU vs. Shepherd, 7:30 p.m., McBrayer Arena.

Three Receive Awards
Dr. Pam Collins, director of EKU’s Justice and Safety Center, and Dr. Kay Scarborough, director of research and evaluation with the Center, have been selected to receive the Contribution to Law Enforcement Award given by the Kentucky Women’s Law Enforcement Network.
Dr. Michelle McCallin, administrative assistant to the Center, was named the Network’s Member of the Year.
Three recipients were recognized at the KWEN Conference Awards Recognition Luncheon Nov. 21 in Lexington.

Hayes Receives Award
Dr. Laurence Hayes, director of EKU’s Interpreter Training Program, was named the Outstanding Educator of the Year by the Southeast Regional Institute on Deafness.
The Institute presents the award to those who exemplify the highest standard of the teaching profession, and who demonstrate extraordinary commitment to educational excellence, learning and wellness of deaf/hard of hearing students.
This is the first time the award has been given to an individual in the interpreter training field.
Interpreter training is slowly being recognized as being separate of deaf education,” said Hayes. “It is coming into its own.”

Progress Wins National Award
The Eastern Progress captured third place in the Best of Show competition at the recent College Media Advisers/Associated College Press convention in Florida.
Also, Progress staffer Eun-Young You took second place for an editorial graphic.

Three Receive Awards
Dr. Pat Rice, director of EKU’s Justice and Safety Center, and Dr. Kay Scarborough, director of research and evaluation with the Center, have been selected to receive the Contribution to Law Enforcement Award given by the Kentucky Women’s Law Enforcement Network.
Dr. Michelle McCallin, administrative assistant to the Center, was named the Network’s Member of the Year.
Three recipients were recognized at the KWEN Conference Awards Recognition Luncheon Nov. 21 in Lexington.

Hayes Receives Award
Dr. Laurence Hayes, director of EKU’s Interpreter Training Program, was named the Outstanding Educator of the Year by the Southeast Regional Institute on Deafness.
The Institute presents the award to those who exemplify the highest standard of the teaching profession, and who demonstrate extraordinary commitment to educational excellence, learning and wellness of deaf/hard of hearing students.
This is the first time the award has been given to an individual in the interpreter training field.
Interpreter training is slowly being recognized as being separate of deaf education,” said Hayes. “It is coming into its own.”

Progress Wins National Award
The Eastern Progress captured third place in the Best of Show competition at the recent College Media Advisers/Associated College Press convention in Florida.
Also, Progress staffer Eun-Young You took second place for an editorial graphic.

Three Receive Awards
Dr. Pat Rice, director of EKU’s Justice and Safety Center, and Dr. Kay Scarborough, director of research and evaluation with the Center, have been selected to receive the Contribution to Law Enforcement Award given by the Kentucky Women’s Law Enforcement Network.
Dr. Michelle McCallin, administrative assistant to the Center, was named the Network’s Member of the Year.
Three recipients were recognized at the KWEN Conference Awards Recognition Luncheon Nov. 21 in Lexington.

Hayes Receives Award
Dr. Laurence Hayes, director of EKU’s Interpreter Training Program, was named the Outstanding Educator of the Year by the Southeast Regional Institute on Deafness.
The Institute presents the award to those who exemplify the highest standard of the teaching profession, and who demonstrate extraordinary commitment to educational excellence, learning and wellness of deaf/hard of hearing students.
This is the first time the award has been given to an individual in the interpreter training field.
Interpreter training is slowly being recognized as being separate of deaf education,” said Hayes. “It is coming into its own.”

Progress Wins National Award
The Eastern Progress captured third place in the Best of Show competition at the recent College Media Advisers/Associated College Press convention in Florida.
Also, Progress staffer Eun-Young You took second place for an editorial graphic.

STLP Displays Student Projects
The Student Technology Leadership Program’s recent showcase at EKU offered education students and professors an opportunity to see firsthand how technology in the school systems is impacting schools and communities today. More than 500 students from grades 4-12 presented instructional, community and technical activities and projects that reflect the work of schools across the state.
The goal is to make the showcase an annual event. Anyone interested in learning more about the program can contact Ed Richard at 622-1130 or ed.richard@eku.edu.

Otieno, Students Honored by KAS
Three EKU students and a faculty member were recognized at the Kentucky Academy of Sciences’ annual meeting Nov. 8.
Dr. Tom Otieno, associate professor of chemistry, received the KAS Distinguished College/University Scientist Award. Dr. Otieno, a member of the EKU faculty for seven years, “has a remarkable impact on the Chemistry Department,” said Dr. Frank Shaw, chairman of the department. “We are very proud of his accomplishments.”

Also at the meeting, award-winners in the undergraduate research competitions included Eastern students Zachary Demian, who won first place in chemistry; John Clemmons, second place, chemistry; and Jessica Duty, first place, zoology.
Honors Program Sends 40 Students, 13 Faculty to National Conference

Once again, EKU’s Honors Program led the nation in the number of student and faculty panelists and presentations at the annual conference of the National Collegiate Honors Council.

Forty EKU students and 15 faculty members participated in 15 panel presentations at the event, which was held Oct. 30-Nov. 2 in Salt Lake City. They also enjoyed cultural and sightseeing activities, including visits to the Temple Square and Park City, and a performance by the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

Student participants were: Brittany Amberg, Adam Curry, Jesse Galliers, Rob White, Richmond; Regina Anderkin, Reid Connelly, Luke Ramsay, Berea; Krista Baldwin, London; Jessica Bechtold, Nicholasville; Jacinda Bertie, Mount Vernon; Aaron Burkholder, Covington; Nikki Carter, Elizabethstown; Stovic Crisma, Kettering; Ohio; Toby Daniel, Corbin; Rob Elliott, Jessica Kellough, Rachel Stewart, Ashland; Amanda Farmer, LaGrange; Mindy Folsom, Finchville; Derek Fraser, Hager Hills; Amy Fugate, Winchester; Chantilly Isson, East Point; Kena Lanham, Owensboro; Mellani Lefa, McKee; Jennifer Lovelace, Oneida; Ruslada Majeed, Danville; Lance Melching, Edgewood; Jessica Newman, Crystal Sparks, Irvine; Jennifer Rogers, Lancaster; Jacqueline Schulz, Steve Troncone, Louisville; Nick Smallwood, Mount Sterling; Amy Jo Smith, Manchester; Matt Turner, Monticello; Paige Tissus, Prestonsburg; and Millicent Wells, Lexington.

Faculty participants were: EKU Honors Program Director Dr. Bonnie Gray, Dr. Harry Brown, Dr. Martin Brock, Dr. David Coleman, Dr. Richard Freed, Dr. Andy Hurnack, Dr. Barbara Hussey, Dr. Gene Kleppinger, Dr. Mick Lewis, Dr. Bruce MacLaren, Dr. Michael Marsden, Dr. Charlotte Rich, Dr. Isabelle White, Dr. Susan Willis and Dr. Steffen Wilson.

WEKU/WEKH Presents Special Holiday Programming

WEKU/WEKH, the public radio service of EKU, will present numerous special holiday programs through New Year’s Day.

The special programs can be heard on WEKU, at 88.9 FM in central Kentucky, and WEKH, at 90.9 FM in southeastern Kentucky, and online at www.weku.fm.

The complete holiday programming schedule:

Wednesday, Dec. 5, 7 p.m. “Chanukah – Its Story in Words and Song.” Leonard Nimoy hosts this telling of the Chanukah story scored with music from medieval to modern times performed by the Western Wind ensemble.

Thursday, Dec. 19, 7 p.m. “Christmas with the Philadelphia Singers.” Celebrate the holiday with hymns, traditional carols, and music by Britten, Rimsky-Korsakov, and Morten Lauridsen.

Friday, Dec. 20, 7 p.m. “New York Pops Christmas.” Skitch Henderson leads the Pops in a concert of perennial holiday favorites.

Friday, Dec. 20, 8 p.m. “Messiah.” Lexington Christ Church Cathedral choirs and baroque ensemble offer the region’s only presentation of the Handel classic faithful to 18th-century performance practices. (Rebroadcast Dec. 24 at 8 p.m.)

Saturday, Dec. 21, 3 p.m. “SymphonyCast — A Robert Shaw Christmas.” Remember the late Robert Shaw with excerpts from some of his best holiday concerts with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra and Chorus.

Sunday, Dec. 22, 2 p.m. “Messiah.” The Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra and Lexington Singers offer their annual performance of the Handel classic. (Rebroadcast Dec. 25 at 10 a.m.)

Sunday, Dec. 22, 7 p.m. “A Winter’s Night.” A program of classical and Celtic favorites for the coming of the winter solstice.

Monday, Dec. 23, 7 p.m. “Carols for Christmas.” A journey through the lessons and carols of the season from Washington’s National Cathedral.

Tuesday, Dec. 24, Live at 10 a.m. “Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols.” From King’s College Chapel in England, the Christmas Eve tradition continues with the Old Testament foretelling of the birthday celebration.

Tuesday, Dec. 24, 2 p.m. “SymphonyCast Special with the Boston Pops.” From Boston’s Symphony Hall, Keith Lockhart leads the Pops in many traditional holiday favorites.

Tuesday, Dec. 24, 7 p.m. “Echoes of Christmas.” The Dale Warland Singers perform the Coventry Carol and other traditional works, as well as new pieces by Dave Brubeck and Alice Parker.

Tuesday, Dec. 24, 8 p.m. “Messiah.” Lexington Christ Church Cathedral choirs and baroque ensemble offer the region’s only presentation of the Handel classic faithful to 18th-century performance practices.

Wednesday, Dec. 25, 10 a.m. “Messiah.” The Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra and Lexington Singers offer their annual performance of the Handel classic.

Wednesday, Dec. 25, 11 a.m. “Performance Today’s Christmas Around the Country.” Fred Gulid hosts selections from holiday concerts from coast to coast.

Thursday, Dec. 26, 7 p.m. “Season’s Greet.” Music and stories from two world-renowned storytellers celebrate African-American traditions.

Wednesday, Jan. 1, 2003, 11 a.m. “New Year’s Day from Vienna.” Nikolaus Harnoncourt conducts the Vienna Philharmonic’s annual concert of waltzes, polkas, and marches.

Four EKU Grads Selected for Leadership Program

Four of the 23 individuals chosen for the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) Southeast Region Leadership Development Program are EKU graduates.

The NRCS Southeast Region comprises the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi as well as Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The EKU alumni and NRCS employees chosen are Tim Hafner, a natural resource specialist in Florida; Rodney Hendrickson, a resource conservation and development coordinator in Kentucky; Gregory Kist, a resource conservation and development coordinator in Georgia; and David Stipes, a state agricultonomist in Kentucky.

The purpose of the 12-month program, in its first year in the region, is to enhance employees’ leadership and management skills.

Stipes, who earned a bachelor’s degree in technical agriculture in 1980 and a master’s of public administration from EKU in 1999, credited the heavy emphasis at Eastern on hands-on agriculture education and leadership training.

“Those skills go into the workplace and stay with you the rest of your career,” Stipes said. “We were taught at Eastern that the learning process never ends.”

A member of the EKU Department of Agriculture Advisory Board since 1995, Stipes said the leadership program will prove to be valuable to all the participants because of the rapid pace of change in the workplace.

“Employees have got to change along with it and learn to operate with less and less supervision,” Stipes said.

Hafner, Kist and Hendrickson all earned bachelor’s degrees in agriculture business from EKU, in 1986, 1985 and 1980 respectively.

SYMPOSIUM ON EDUCATOR DISPOSITIONS – EKU’s College of Education recently hosted a two-day symposium on educator dispositions. The event drew more than 130 registrants from 23 states.
The 32nd annual Madrigal Feastes, a traditional holiday favorite jointly produced by the Department of Music and Aramark Food Service, transformed the Keen Johnson Ballroom into a 16th century castle hall Nov. 21-23 complete with, clockwise from above, “King” Derek Hamblin and “Queen” Kata Rhee Gillispie; “Jester” Brandon Rose; and dancers Jacinda Bertie, front, and Kista Catron. In addition to the entertainment, guests enjoyed an elegant seven-course meal served by Aramark.

Publications & Presentations

Inclement Weather Class/Event Cancellation Information

All EKU class/club cancellations and delay announcements are posted on EKU’s home page (http://www.eku.edu), broadcast on WEKU-FM (88.9 FM) and Lexington television stations WLEX-TV (channel 18), WYFY-TV (channel 25), and WKYT-TW (channel 46), and given to other regional media outlets. Generally, the information is available to listeners/viewers by 6 a.m.

Call 622-2239 for Up-To-Date Announcements

On some occasions, the University will be open but all/tail to its Inclement Weather (Two-Hour Delay) Plan. In that event, see the following schedule for class times.

Inclement Weather Plan (Two-Hour Delay)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Monday/Wednesday/Friday</th>
<th>Tuesday/Thursday</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Regular Class Period</td>
<td>Delay (Two Hours)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8:00-8:50</td>
<td>10:00-10:40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9:05-9:55</td>
<td>10:50-11:30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:10-11:00</td>
<td>11:40-12:20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11:15-12:05</td>
<td>12:30-1:10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12:20-1:10</td>
<td>1:20-2:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1:25-2:15</td>
<td>2:10-2:50</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2:30-3:20</td>
<td>3:20-3:40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3:35-4:25</td>
<td>4:30-5:00</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4:40-5:30</td>
<td>5:40-6:20</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6:00</td>
<td>6:00</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Class periods for snow days will be 60 minutes with a 10-minute break.

Normal class periods for Tuesday/Thursday allow for a 75-minute class period and a 15-minute break.

Normal class periods for Tuesday/Thursday allow for a 75-minute class period and a 15-minute break.

Class periods for snow days will be 60 minutes with a 10-minute break.

Normal class periods for Tuesday/Thursday allow for a 75-minute class period and a 15-minute break.

Normal class periods for Tuesday/Thursday allow for a 75-minute class period and a 15-minute break.