MARCH - 1960

Modern Ides of March

The gym lights gleam like a beacon beam
And a million motors hum
In a good will flight on a Friday night;
For basketball beckons, "Come!"

A sharp-shooting mite is king tonight.
The Madness of March is running.
The winged feet fly, the ball sails high
And field goal hunters are gunning.

The colors clash as silk suits flash
And race on a shimmering floor.
Repressions die, and partisans vie
In a goal acclaiming roar.

On Championship Trail toward a holy grail,
All fans are birds of a feather
It's fiesta night and cares lie light
When the air is full of leather.

Since time began, the instincts of man
Prove cave and current men kin.
On tournament night the sage and the wight
Are relative under the skin.

It's festival time.—sans reason or rhyme
But with nation-wide appeal.
In a world of hate, our ship of state
Rides high on an even keel.

With war nerves tense, the final defense
Is the courage, strength and will
In a million lives where freedom thrives
And liberty lingers still.

Let commies clash and empires crash
'Neath the wreck of a victory arch!
Let our boys tread where hate is dead,—
In this happy Madness of March!

—H. V. Porter.

Athletic Participation

The benefits from athletic participation should be enjoyable, lasting and beneficial. This activity is by far the most expensive extra-curricular activity in our schools and in order to be justified it should be conducted in such a way that our sons receive lasting benefits from it.

Athletic participation should give to our sons:

1. Physical benefits. While this is not the most important phase of the program, it is certainly an important one.

2. A pride in their physical development. Participation should teach them to work with others and to sacrifice self for the success of the team. It should teach them to work against odds; and to learn that life is not always soft and easy. Athletic participation should toughen them for the shocks that are sure to follow in the future.

3. Something wholesome and clean in which they can occupy their leisure time. "A kid with a baseball glove in his pocket never stuck up a bank." Forty-two per of our crime is committed by youths under eighteen years of age. Athletic participation is one means of combatting this evil.

4. A knowledge of how to protect themselves and an understanding of the benefits of clean living habits. Interest in one or more types of recreation that will stay with them throughout life. To many it may be the means of obtaining an education (athletic scholarships), and to some it may give training in their life's work (coaching or participating in athletics).

5. A strength of character that cannot be developed elsewhere in our school program. If this phase of the program fails, the entire program fails. "What doth it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Properly conducted the athletic program can be of lasting value to our sons. If not properly conducted, it can do lasting harm. If our sons are to receive the fine benefits outlined above the athletic program must be properly administered; otherwise, they will not receive good but evil training. If our sons are taught to violate the rules by faking injuries to stop the clock, to engage in the "sucker shift" in order to gain an advantage or if they see their coaches engage in illegal coaching from the sidelines or violate athletic association or board of education rules, they are not receiving the proper training.

Most of us can look back with deep regret upon some of the incorrect advice given us. We can remember how someone suggested or taught a "slick" way of violating and beating the rules, either of an athletic game or in human behavior. It is impossible to know the full impact upon a community when a very few are taught to disregard rules and regulations. The evil is multiplied over and over through the years.

A rule is no stronger than the man who coaches it or the official who is administering it.

If the rule is a bad one, we should go to work to change or repeal it, but so long as it is in effect it should be respected and enforced, or our influence is harmful to those we teach or influence by our example.

When a man teaches by precept or example, the violation of any rule is a harmful influence and should be corrected. His way of thinking will be most harmful to those he has entrusted to his care. It may be considered "a small thing", "good strategy", or "a winning plan", but it is causing a grow-

The Flying Dutchman

Don Davis of Bellevue and his officiating partner, Bob Miller, are high in their praise of two basketball players who won an Abou Ben Adhem Award for Erlanger-Lloyd High School. According to Don and Bob a player, who is identified only as No. 55, brought credit to Lloyd Memorial when he raised his hands for quiet and got it while a free-throw attempt was being made by a Dixie Heights shooter. No. 21 on Lloyd added credit to the actions of No. 55 when he quieted a small boy who was screaming and gesturing at the free-throw shooter.

A citation has gone to Radio Station WIEL of Elizabethtown, Kentucky for outstanding services rendered in the promotion of sportsmanship practices. Al Gustafson, Jr., first called the Dutchman's attention to this service which was sparked by Hardin McLane. Kentuckians ought to know Al Gustafson, Jr., better. The first time the Dutchman heard the name of Gustafson was when he was a youngster. Then there were two Gustafsons. Al Sr. was referred to as "Big Gus" and Al Jr. as "Little Gus." No man ever did more for young men interested in wholesome sports than "Big Gus." No father could have been more thrilled if he had been privileged to live long enough to see the fine record which "Little Gus" has racked up as a competitor and now as a sports official. Al Gustafson, Jr., "Little Gus," has been more than an outstanding basketball official. He has been a crusader for the promotion of better sports and friendlier relations, following closely in the steps of a man whose memory this Dutchman will always cherish, "Big Gus." "Little Gus," you have won a corn cob pipe of honor.

Meet Ronald Richardson, age 10. Here is a candidate for the 1960 Game-Guy Award. Already a Lionheart Lapel Button has been mailed to this young fighter who has overcome polio. In spite of three leg operations, causing one leg to be shorter than the other, he is playing basketball. Ronald, coached by Harold Sauter, plays in a basketball league sponsored by the Louisville Times and the Louisville Recreation Department. Examples, provided by game-guys like Ronald, inspire other young people to overcome their physical handicaps to engage in sports.

Kenny Arnold and Ray Winchester recommend Coach Paul Coop and his assistant, "Butch" Gilbert, for corn cob pipe awards. Kenny and Ray declare that these men have displayed outstanding sportsmanship, win or lose, and are of the highest moral character. The Dutchman would like to add "ditto" to what these gentlemen have said about Paul and "Butch." Not enough men like Paul Coop were made before the pattern was lost. "Butch" is one of Kentucky's luckiest young men to be associated with Paul. A corn cob pipe is on its way to "Butch" Gilbert. Paul Coop has had one since away back. May their tribe increase!

"Gentleman" Jim Baker, Superintendent of Monticello Schools, commends the work of the Louisville Hospitality Committee in providing additional attractions and conveniences for visiting students to the State Tournament. Jim, who will be remembered as an outstanding official at the Kentucky State High School Tournament, recommends that an Abou Ben Adhem Certificate be sent to Allen County. Jim said that he witnessed a great exhibition of sportsmanship by 200 fans who traveled over 100 miles from Scottsville to play Monticello. These kids could not have been other than sportsmanlike under the type of leadership which Tom Simmons, Principal, and Coach Jimmie Bazzell give. An Abou Ben Adhem Certificate is on its way.

About this fellow, Tom Simmons! The Dutchman will never forget Tom lining up a half dozen coaches around Fountain Run and Tompkinsville back in 1930 for a fishing trip. The Dutchman was to be the "honored guest." Tom never did tell the Dutchman that it was illegal to go "dipping" until the local lawmen took over this phase of his education. Those country boys got this city kid in the water at 7 P. M. and the Dutchman was still wading neck deep in Barren River at 4 o'clock the next morning when the game warden arrived.

A sign hanging in "Ole Ben" Edelen's tax office is very misleading. It says "This is a non profit organization. We didn't intend it to be that way but that's how it turned out." One glimpse at the referee's new suite of offices is enough to convince any skeptic that he is in the presence of one of Kentucky's wealthiest sports officials.

The five officials, elected by the "Sweet-Sixteen" Coaches to officiate the State Tournament, are hereby notified to meet the Flying Dutchman in his offices in the Armory at 3 P. M. Central Standard Time on March 16. Each year before the big classic opens the Dutchman has an orientation period with the "Happy Five."

Kentucky's basketball officials get the "Salute of 1960." They have again done themselves proud. To appreciate your home you have to go visiting. To appreciate Kentucky's officials, take your teams to play in far-away places. Kentucky's coaches indicate that they are 90% satisfied with officiating. Officials indicate that they are more than 90% satisfied with the coaches. We are just 20% above average and that's good in any league.

John Showalter, fondly known as "Beef" to his friends, has been nominated for the "Mr. Methuselah" award. One such award will go to an official in each of the 15 basketball clinics next fall. Who do you know in your region with many years behind him as a sports official?

The Dutchman's closing philosophy is for Oran Teater, George Conley and Sid Meade while they are in the big city for the "Kentucky Schoolboy Classic."

"For that rundown feeling, try jaywalking."

1960 TRACK AND FIELD RULES

RULES REVISIONS, most of which are of a minor nature, are outlined in the new edition of the Track and Field Rules Book which came from the press in January.

Rule 1-c: Lanes should be marked with a material which is not injurious to the eyes or the skin.

Rule 4-Note: A contestant should be limited to not more than four events and he should not run a distance of 440 yards or over in more than one event.

Rule 6-1: Starter is to now use the word "set" in his instruction to the competitors.

Rule 6-2: (a) Competitors must be "set" and motionless for approximately two seconds before the starter fires the pistol; (b) A contestant who leaves his mark with hand or foot at the "set" instruction before the pistol is fired or without the firing of the pistol is charged with a false start.

Rule 9-1: Trials may be conducted in flights of three or more when there is a large number of competitors in the high jump and for pole vault.

Rule 9-6 and Equipment Table, page 26: The discus throwing sector is now 60 degrees.

SITUATION RULINGS: New or revised situations include 16; 17; 18; 21; 22 and 50. These are designed to clarify such matters as when a false start is charged and the circumstances under which a vault counts as a trial if the pole falls forward and touches the ground beyond the plane of the stop-board.

The article "Mechanics and Technics of Starting" has been rewritten in view of current practices and rules coverage.

1960 BASEBALL RULES REVISIONS

These Baseball Comments apply to the 1960 rules as authorized by the National Alliance Baseball committee representing the National Federation, National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics and the National Junior College Athletic Association.

1. The Catcher must be in his box when a pitch leaves the Pitcher's hand. Neither of the Catcher's feet may be outside the limits of the box. Any infraction is considered an illegal pitch if there are no base runners and a balk if there are runners.

2. In making an appeal play, the Umpire's attention must be called to it before the time of the next pitch or, if a half-inning is ending, before the infielders leave the diamond.

3. The substitution rule requires that, in addition to giving the Chief Umpire his name and shirt number, the substitute must also name the player he is replacing in the batting order and indicate the position he will play in the field. The 1960 Code includes only one optional reentry modification. This optional provision, when used, provides that only the nine starting players may withdraw and re-enter once, provided each player occupies the same batting position whenever he is in the lineup.

4. If a Coach confers with a Pitcher or other defensive player more than once in an inning, or more than three times in a game, the Pitcher shall be replaced as Pitcher. The replaced Pitcher may participate in another position but he may not again pitch.

5. When obstruction occurs, the ball does not immediately become dead. If offended runner and each other runner reaches the base each would probably have reached except for the obstruction, the penalty is ignored. Otherwise, Umpire awards such base or bases to runner or runners. If award is to be made, ball becomes dead when time is taken to make the award.

RECOMMENDATION: Experimentation with the provision that all base runners wear a head protector which covers the top of the head, base of the skull and the temples.

RECOGNIZE YOUR CHAMPIONS

Tipp City High Schools boasts an unique and inexpensive method of stimulating physical education and intra-mural programs. A strength and efficiency chart has evolved after seven years development. It is now accepted as the ideal solution for activity recognition.

The idea of the chart is to list names of champions in various categories for public notice. The method described in the next few paragraphs requires a low investment of finances and only a small amount of effort to maintain after it is once established. About four hours work each year keep records up to date in Tipp City.

The chart itself is composed of a framework approximately twenty feet by four feet attached securely to the wall of the gymnasium. Within the framework moveable panels are inserted measuring approximately twelve inches square. The framework was grooved to allow the insertion of the one-quarter inch masonite panels. These were purchased in three sheets, four feet by eight feet long, and spray painted white for background.

Lettering on the panels has been done by a small brush with a different colored paint (poster paint, airplane dope, India ink, and enamels all work well) selected for each activity. The lettering itself was done in small block letters as is shown in the pictures.

The chart in Tipp has two length-wise units of the boys' activities and one for girls'. These male activities are boxing, wrestling, volleyball, basketball, chins, dips, jump and reach, standing broad jump, rope climb, tumbling, sit-ups, mile run, and strength and efficiency champion for the boys.

Included in the girls' chart are standing broad jump, basketball throw, soccer kick, tumbling, push-ups, sit-ups, block run, jump and reach, posture, G. A. A. outstanding girl, and strength and efficiency champion of the girls.

This chart is flexible enough to allow for approximately ten years accumulative records in all events. Each panel is large enough to record the year, name, and record of the individual event.

The idea could be adapted to a varsity program of track and field records, football, basketball, and baseball team members and records as well as a physical education program. The gymnasium in Tipp City also has a dual function of auditorium so that the chart had to meet acceptable decorative standards. This chart meets all the requirements for both taste and program stimulation.

If more specific details concerning the idea are desired, write William J. Parrish, Director of Health and Physical Education, Tipp City Schools, Tipp City, Ohio. —William Parrish in the OHIO HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETE.

ing concern nationally from grade school to college. Most of us have not looked upon the “short cuts” as an evil influence. They have been passed down from man to man, mouth to ear, boy to boy without considering the far reaching influence upon the boys of today or the men of tomorrow.

School authorities and patrons must discontinue placing too much emphasis on the score of the game. Do not force coaches to encourage or countenance willful violations. If the final score of the game is the only big reason for the contest, then we should discontinue our athletic program. We should teach proper adherence to the rules and demand that type of officiating in our games. Get rid of those who cannot or will not conform to such a philosophy.

Those of us who are interested in the future of boys and the games they play must combine our efforts to rectify these evils that have crept into our program.

We must have a goal that is greater than the one at the end of the football field, the goal that is on the backboard at the end of the basketball court, a goal that is greater than the “pot of gold” at the end of the rainbow.—S. D. Jackson (Tennessee), Member National Alliance Football Rules Committee.
