The 1962 Cross Country

The St. Xavier High School of Louisville, paced by Blaine Vetter, won the tenth official K. H. S. A. A. Cross Country Run, which was held in Lexington on November 10. The team score was 54 with the score of second place Louisville Trinity being 104. Vetter's time was 10:33. Joe Warren of Taylor County was second with the time of 10:40, and Don Dusch of Louisville Flaget was third with 10:41.

The State Cross Country Run was held on the Picadome Golf Course, and was managed by Press Whelan, Assistant Track Coach at the University of Kentucky. Mr. Whelan was assisted by local officials and by members of the U. K. Varsity and Freshman track teams.

Eight regional runs had been held for the purpose of qualifying teams and individuals for the state event. These runs were held at Paducah, Bowling Green, Clarkson, Bardstown, Louisville, Bellevue, Lexington, and Paintsville. In addition to the teams, several individual runners qualified as entrants for the state affair.

Early Season Basketball Questions--Installment 1

EDITOR'S NOTE: These rulings do not set aside nor modify any rule. They are interpretations of some of the early season situations which have been presented.

1. Play: Following a double foul, the ball is being taken to the center circle when B1 flagrantly pushes A1.

Ruling: The 3rd foul makes this a false double foul, one element of which is a double foul. No free throws for the double foul. Two free throws are awarded team A for the flagrant technical foul by B1 and B1 is disqualified. Center jump between any two opponents follows the 2nd free throw.

2. Play: How much time does a player have to request a position between two opponents around the restraining circle during a jump ball?

Ruling: In administering a jump ball, the official should observe the position of all players around the restraining circle and, when he is satisfied the players have taken their positions, he will proceed with the toss. Once the official is ready to make the toss, the ball is about to change status and no request for a position between adjacent teammates will be honored.

3. Play: With three or four seconds remaining to be played, A1, during a jump ball, taps the ball directly out of bounds.

Ruling: Clock should be started when the ball is legally tapped. Ball is awarded to B for a throw-in. Unless there is unusual delay in making the ball available for the throw-in by B because the ball went under the bleachers or into the stands, the clock should not be stopped.

4. Play: The official indicates that the offended player is awarded two free throws. This is not a bonus situation. A1 misses his first attempt and the official inadvertently permits the ball to continue in play.

Ruling: The error is considered to have been made while the clock is running, since the official did not declare the ball dead following the first free throw attempt by A1. Therefore, if the error is recognized before the ball becomes alive the second time following the error, it should be corrected.

5. Play: A1 is in the act of trying for field goal. He is fouled simultaneously by B1, B2 and B3 and: (a) the try is successful:

or (b) the try is unsuccessful.

Ruling: This is a multiple foul. In both (a) and (b) A1 is awarded three free throws, one for each personal foul.

6. Play: At the completion of his dribble A1 jumps into the air for a try. (a) Before; or (b) after the ball leaves his hand, A1 charges B1. The try is successful.

Ruling: In (a), the goal does not count and A1 has committed a common foul while he is in control. In (b), the goal counts and A1 is charged with a foul which is penalized with a free throw which may involve a bonus. The goal can count only if the ball has left the hands of A1 before the foul occurred. The provisions of 6-7 Exception (2) apply only when the foul is made by an opponent of the player making the try.

7. Play: After a three-second violation by A, B1 is awarded the ball out of bounds behind the end line. B1 passes the ball parallel to the end line to B2, who is also out of bounds behind it. Within five seconds, B2 throws in to B3, who is on the court. B1 steps into the court immediately after his pass to B2 and before the throw-in to B3.

Ruling: Throw-in violation. Award ball to A at spot B1 was awarded the ball out of bounds for his throw-in. After a violation, unless it is basket interference by B, the ball must be thrown in from out of bounds spot designated by an official.

8. Play: A1 is dribbling ball in back court, attempting to advance to the front court, when 10 second count expires.

Ruling: Ball is awarded to team B at out-of bounds spot nearest to spot at which ball was when the 10-second count expired.

9. Play: What are the established guidelines for the administration of Rule 9, Section 10, ("A PLAYER SHALL NOT—Excessively swing his arm or elbows, even though there is no contact with an opponent")?

Ruling: To equitably interpret this provision, understanding of its purpose is necessary. To fail to understand the purpose will permit some exploitation of the rule. In applying it, judgment must be used.

The Flying Dutchman

The Christmas Season is a good time to explain to Kentuckians the meaning of the Corn Cob Pipe Awards, the Game Guy Awards, and the Abou Ben Adhem Citations. The principle supporting all of these projects is based on the philosophy of Christianity.

The Corn Cob Pipe Award is generally made through the mail, although in some cities and towns a Club or Chapel program is arranged where the award is presented. If you know a Kentuckian who has rendered unselfish service of any kind, your letter of recommendation to The Flying Dutchman means he will find a miniature statuette of a Kentucky Thoroughbred with a Corn Cob Pipe around his neck in his mail box. Both the race horse and the pipe are symbols of Kentucky.

There have been times when winners were announced that letters arrived saying, "Dutchman, that Corn Cob Pipe Winner is a stinker." Maybe he is and maybe the writers of the letters are wrong! One thing is certain, the Winner did perform an unselfish deed for somebody in order to qualify.

The following poem from A PARISH PAPER points out that we should all be objective in our evaluation of our fellowmen:

SURPRISE

I dreamed Death came the other night,
And Heaven's gate swung wide;
With kindly grace,
An angel ushered me inside.
And there to my astonishment,
Stood folks I'd known on earth;
Some I'd judged and labeled as,
"Unfit," or "Little Worth."
Indignant words rose to my lips,
But never were set free;

For every face showed stunned surprise—
NO ONE EXPECTED ME!!

The Lionheart and Game Guy Awards are sent to the Kentuckian who nominates a boy or girl who is overcoming a physical handicap to engage in sports. That individual is responsible for the proper presentation of the Lionheart Awards. As soon as you notify the Dutchman of a kid with the "heart of a lion" who is refusing to be beaten by a physical handicap, that youngster merits the miniature statuette known as "The Lionheart Award." In April, every boy or girl who has won a Lionheart Award is considered for the title of "GAME GUY OF KENTUCKY for the current year." The lionhearted boy or girl who is judged by a Committee to have overcome the greatest physical handicap receives the Games Guy

THE DUTCHMAN

Award at a State-Wide Dinner, honoring him during K. E. A. in Louisville.

The Abou Ben Adhem Award is for communities, clubs, schools, or other groups who promote good neighbor relations, attempting to replace hatred and envy between communities with brotherhood and friendship. If you know of a group promoting this principle of Christianity, recommend it for the Abou Ben Adhem Citation.

There you have the explanation of the projects of The Flying Dutchman which were initiated in 1949. There have been many Game Guy, Corn Cob Pipe, and Abou Ben Adhem Winners since then; but here are the winners for the month of December:

W. L. Gardner, Principal of Park City High School, at Park City, Kentucky, is the winner of the Corn Cob Pipe of Honor Award because of his interest in boys and girls who are physically handicapped and because of the countless hours given beyond the call of duty, trying to make lives happier for unfortunate youngsters.

David Wood of Barren County, who was a nominee for the Game Guy Award in 1961, again receives a nomination for this year. When only two (2) years of age, David burned both of his feet so badly that his fight against his handicap is outstanding.

The Pleasure Valley Optimist Club receives the Abou Ben Adhem award because of its promotion of friendly relations between communities of Jefferson County.

Wherever you live in Kentucky, look for people rendering unselfish service, encourage crippled kids, and commend groups promoting brotherhood and friendship. Follow up your work and interest with a recommendation for recognition addressed to: THE FLYING DUTCHMAN, KENTUCKY HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION, BOX 1173, LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY.
A MERRY CHRISTMAS, KENTUCKIANS!

BASKETBALL QUESTIONS

The coverage was adopted to eliminate a vicious practice which had been increasing. Its proper administration will prohibit any advantage which might be gained by a player excessively swinging his arms and/or elbows and secondly, it will prevent the possibility of serious injuries which may result from such action.

Of necessity, certain basketball rules coverage must be stated in general terms. To specify situations would usually require a long listing and this have been proven to be an unsatisfactory method of providing rules coverage. This is the reason for the general terms used in 9-10.

If a violation were called and the ball caused to become dead because a B player excessively swung his elbows while A1 was driving toward his basket with a scoring play in progress or because B so violated while the ball was in flight on a try, the defense could gain an advantage from an illegal act. Therefore, in these situations, this violation will be ignored. When team A has player or team control, only in an unusual circumstance will this violation by B be penalized. Either team guilty of the violation during a jump ball, while the ball is being rebounded or is loose on the floor, will be penalized. If

A violates when A is in control or during a try, it will be penalized.

An advantage resulting from excessive swinging of the arms and/or elbows can almost always be obtained only when it is done in congested areas, such as under a backboard or in getting into position to secure a loose ball; or when a player with the ball is attempting to keep a defensive player or players away from him and thereby avoiding a held ball.

The interpretation for 9-10 is as follows and application of the precepts will provide a basis for application to specific situations:

1. The general principle in the administration of Rule 9-10 is that the violation will be ignored if the act is ostensibly for the purpose of causing the ball to become dead at a time obviously advantageous to the offending team.

2. Excessive swinging of the arms and/or elbows is a violation and will always be penalized when:

(a) Committed by A when A has player or team control or when committed by A during a try.

(b) Committed by B when A has player or team control, unless A has a scoring play in progress or unless the general principle (1), as stated above, is violated or involved.

(c) Committed by A or B when the ball is not in player or team control, except if the violation is by B and occurs during a try.

In a rare situation, excessively swinging the arms and/or elbows without contact could be interpreted as unsportsmanlike and a technical foul result. This would, however, be a most unusual circumstance and the technical foul should be applied only after due consideration.

10. Play: A1 throws the ball at his basket in a field goal attempt. (a) A2; or (b) B2 excessively swings his elbows, intimidating his opponents for the purpose or intent of securing a favorable position in case there is a rebound.

Ruling: Violation in (a) and the ball is awarded B for a throw-in at spot nearest violation. In (b), the violation is ignored, for to penalize would cause the ball to become dead immediately, thereby depriving team A of a possible field goal because of a violation by B.

11. Play: As A1 is advancing the ball in his back court, B5, in front court of A, excessively swings his elbows and/or arms.

Ruling: Violation. Ball is awarded to A for a throw-in at spot nearest violation.

12. Play: During a jump ball or while ball is loose on the floor, A1 or B1 excessively swings his elbows and/or arms.

Ruling: Violation in both situations and opponents of the offender are awarded the ball for a throw-in from spot nearest the violation.

13. Play: While A1 has the ball in his hand, out of bounds for a throw-in, A5 fouls B2.

Ruling: Personal foul. B2 is awarded a free throw, or free throws, as the situation warrants. This is not a foul committed by a player while he or a teammate is in control.

14. Play: A6 is listed in the score book with an illegal number. Is this a technical foul?

Ruling: Wearing an illegal number applies only to a player. Therefore, it becomes a technical foul only when a player wearing such a number enters the game. The violation occurs when he has been recognized by the official.

15. Play: A1, in his front court, throws a high hard pass to A2, who is near the division line. B1 touches the pass in A's front court and it then goes across the division line to A's back court, where the ball is recovered by A2.

Ruling: No violation because a player of team A was not the last to touch the ball before it went into A's back court.

16. Play: Before a free throw has touched the ring or backboard, A2, in the second lane space; (a) breaks a vertical plane of the side edge of the area between lane space one and lane space two with his foot; or (b) steps on the floor directly behind and within two feet of the lane space mark or neutral zone mark; or (c) extends his arms over the area between the lane spaces.

Ruling: Violation in either (a) or (b). Legal in (c) if there is no contact.

STATE TOURNAMENT INFORMATION

The 1963 State High School Basketball Tournament will be held in Freedom Hall, Louisville, on March 13-16. The first session is scheduled for Wednesday night. Three sessions will be held on Thursday, two on Friday, and two on Saturday.

At some time in the month of December the Commissioner will send K.H.S.A.A. member schools forms which may be used in requesting passes to the tournament. These forms may be returned on and after January 2.

Complete sets of tickets are priced at $10.00 (end bleacher seats), $16.00 (chair back seats and end box seats), and $20.00 (box seats at the side of the floor). The general sale of tickets (not school orders) will be conducted by State Tournament Tickets Sales, P.O. Box 1173, Lexington. These orders should not be placed before February 1. The amount of 25¢ should be added to each remittance (not school orders) to pay for postage and insurance charges. Orders mailed prior to February 1 will receive lower priority than those mailed on that date.

Hotels, motels and other lodging places in the Louisville area will begin taking reservations after the first of the year. The Housing Bureau of the Louisville Chamber of Commerce, will assist in securing rooms for those who are unable to get lodging by writing directly to the places of their preference. Such requests should be addressed to Louisville Chamber of Commerce, Housing Bureau, Louisville, Kentucky.

Extra Curricular Activities

So much that is being written and heard today about "extra-curricular" activities in the schools is giving, I am afraid, an unfair evaluation of their worth. There is nothing inherently wrong with an activities program which supplements and enriches a basic scholastic program and gives added opportunities for over-all student development in accordance with the aims and objectives of the school. On the contrary, the life of the student is enriched through participation in the club program. In fact, many of the activities which were once considered "extra" are now an integral part of the course offerings. Band, orchestra, and choral work are examples.

Our concern should be that no activity should be overemphasized and that each be analyzed in terms of its contribution to the over-all objectives of the school. In measuring its educational values we should ask such questions as the following: Is it conducive to democratic citizenship? Does it provide for responsible leadership opportunities and for experiences in getting along with one another? Does it offer meaningful learning experiences? An extra-curricular program in the Louisville Public Schools should and does offer opportunities for all students to participate in the following areas: speech and drama, journalistic and creative writing, vocal and instrumental music, "subject interests" outside of the classroom period, hobbies, athletics and physical development, scholastic honor societies, student government and service clubs. Social clubs and secret societies have no place today and should not be permitted to function in a public school program.

I congratulate our faculty and administrative leadership for their successful attempts in keeping saneness and balance in all of these activities and for their constant evaluation of the contributions each is making to the total learning experiences of their students.

New Sports Guides

Three new editions of the official sports Guides published by the Division for Girls and Women's Sports of the AAHPER are now available. The 1962-64 Tennis-Badminton, the 1962-64 Archery-Riding, and the 1962-64 Bowling-Fencing-Golf Guides are the most recent editions in the popular Summer Library of DGWS.

The 1962-64 Tennis Badminton Guide (144 pages) has USLTA rules of lawn tennis and the ABA laws of badminton in addition to the techniques of officiating each sport. Teaching tips about tennis are suggested in articles about handball-tennis, teaching devices, a test for the service, and a homemade tennis ball thrower. Promoting badminton, setting up a sports day, and playing a new doubles serve are explained in the badminton section.

The 1962-64 Archery-Riding Guide (128 pages) offers much archery tournament information along with the official rules, standards, and teaching articles. Application forms are included, with future tournament announcements. Riding rating information is included, giving rules for rating basic riding on two levels, requirements for appointing qualified judges, and a directory of qualified judges.

The 1962-64 Bowling-Fencing-Golf Guide (128 pages) contains a wealth of information about the three sports in its articles, and references and visual aids lists. Tournament information is included in the bowling section, a useful glossary in the fencing section, and a golf professional's plea for a change in amateur status.

Dr. John Heldman, Jr., head of the H.P.E.R. Department at the University of Louisville, writes that he has had numerous requests for certain aids used in physical education, intramurals, and athletics from high schools, colleges and the United States Army. Dr. Heldman has sent to the K.H.S.A.A. office mimeographed sheets listing this material. It includes information about weight training, dust elimination, cotton and wool equipment, weed killers, and field marking material. Interested administrators or coaches may write to the K.H.S.A.A. office for a copy of the information.

Examining The Athlete

For a number of years medical and dental examinations have been required as a prerequisite to athletic participation in most places. They are usually necessary to qualify for insurance as well as for the protection of participants.

Most of the youths examined will be found to be in good health. Defects that are discovered can frequently be corrected or alleviated. Those defects that cannot be corrected do not necessarily bar a youth from participation in all sports.

The health examination (medical and dental) helps to guide the youth concerned into sports activities within his personal capabilities. Also, of course, it helps to eliminate the occasional youth who has a disability that might be aggravated by athletic participation. Medical and school personnel should work as a team in announcing such decisions.

Physicians agree that a careful health history is essential for effective evaluation of the athlete. Such a history includes the record of immunizations, illnesses and injuries which the athlete has experienced, as well as any other data that may have health significance. These factors, when correlated with current observations and findings, provide a sound basis for judging the capacities of the athlete.

The Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports of the American Medical Association recommends that all students taking part in vigorous athletic activities have a health examination prior to participation each year. This examination should be designed to elicit the general state of health, to disclose any defects which might contraindicate participation, and to uncover any conditions that might predispose to injury.

During a succeeding season or seasons, a limited reexamination is recommended under the following conditions: (1) if the athlete has had an injury during the preceding season; (2) if the athlete has been out of school with illness other than minor upper respiratory or gastrointestinal upset during the preceding term; (3) if an athlete has had an operation during the preceding term.

There are a number of ways in which health examinations of athletes can be administered. In some places, athletes are examined by their own family physician on an individual basis. Where a school or team physician is available, he may do the examining. In other places, the local medical society or health department has established an accepted procedure.

The most desirable plan is the one that best fits local conditions, including the school situation and medical and dental customs and practices. The A.M.A. Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports recommends that local school officials and medical and dental society representatives jointly work out mutually acceptable policies and procedures.
