One Of The Finest Jobs

You as a coach of high school athletics have the privilege of working with the cream of the crop — the young men in your community who have the greatest stature and who greatly influence the younger generation. Coach, you have one of the finest jobs there is in America. Granted, it is a lot of work, time consuming, upsetting, and sometimes you may wonder whether or not it is worth the "blood, sweat, and tears." However, your personal rewards are more than worth it. Since World War II we have had a great increase in our school population. We are feeling this increase in the secondary schools, and any guidance you can give the students will help you as a coach and the school as a whole. I believe it is necessary that these people be subjected to the kind of conduct befitting this generation.

Participation in a high school athletic program means much more than just competition between two individuals or two teams representing two different schools. The conduct of all the members of your teams is not only a reflection of you as a coach, but are also closely observed by the people of your community, and of the visitors. It is important that their behavior be above reproach. Actually this should be true not only on the field of play but also in the class room, on the campus, on trips, and in the community.

It should be pointed out to your squads that they not only represent the team and coach but that they reflect the behaviour of the entire community. Just as important is the impression they leave with junior high school and grade school students. As we read article after article in our newspapers about the incidents involving the young people of our country, it appears to me that you have the greatest opportunity to set an example to the boys on your teams and they in turn can demonstrate to the young people how to conduct themselves.

We are all aware that boys have several reasons for competing in athletics, and all of them are not in the best interest of your program. Some of them compete in athletics because they want recognition from their fellow students, some are trying for a scholarship to aid them in receiving their college education, others are good enough in some sports to sign professional contracts, some participate just for the love of the game, and many are on the squad with a purpose of belonging to a group. These are all worthwhile objectives for them; however, I wonder if they are not missing the real reason for a high school athletic program, which should be the developing of young men that are capable of assuming their place as young leaders in our communities.

Our high school athletic program should teach all of the boys fair play and sportsmanship, understanding and appreciation of team work, and that quitting means failure while hard work and loyalty means success.

It is very interesting to read the biographies of important people and to discover how many of them took part in a high school athletic program. Certainly not all of them were stars or on championship teams but they had the beginning of the necessary training to put them where they are today. It is the guidance they received during this formative period of their lives that has aided many a successful business man today.

The athletes we have on our squads today should be the leaders of our student bodies. They should stand for the ideals of your school as other students are impressed by their actions. When it comes to status and influence the monogrammed letter of an athlete is important to the student body. I do not intend to infer that every athlete is going to be a leader.

How much emphasis should you place on an athletic program? The answer is obvious "all you can". The primary purpose of an athletic program is not the reason for attending school and I believe that everything directly or indirectly pertaining to the academic program should be emphasized for all athletes. Athletics deserve their rightful place in a school system, and the emphasis placed on the athletic teams should not be greater or less than any other extra class activity in your school district. I know that it is very difficult from an administrator's point of view to treat every extra class activity with equality. Each program has different objectives in its development, costs vary, there are different types and numbers of students, practices are held at various times, and each needs different facilities. With all these variables it is impossible to administer all activities the same. In athletics you have the great public interest and where they share a great portion of your costs. With this interest you should have a great opportunity to sell your school to the people of your community. The problem of extra class activities must be solved by each school. It is impossible for an outsider to help determine your program.

Courts have held that Boards of Education can adopt any rule or regulation it wishes when they are reasonable and proper in governing the conduct of a student or athlete. We believe that when a student's conduct is detrimental to others and the student's presence might adversely affect the morale, disrupt the orderly operation of social activities, or interfere with discipline and governing of students, then it is time for someone to make order and correct the situation.

Should athletes be distinguished from other students when it comes to conduct? High School athletes are always in the public limelight. Whatever they do good or bad is magnified 100 times by a clamoring public. They are different. They aren't looked upon in the same manner as other students, nor can they be treated under the same general rules. If a school is going to avoid trouble in its handling of these special students, it had better have special procedures prepared in advance.

Schoolmen agree that one of the best ways to manage such problems is to enforce a policy setting up standards of student conduct, and consequences for misconduct. They also agree that when decisions must be made quickly or under pressure, the best advice is to stick to the rules of conduct.

What kind of policy? You as a coach should be the most important person in establishing a set of rules or athletic code. You should also be the one to administer it, and the better job you do, the better coach you will be. A boy that breaks the rules will also miss the important play. Do not hide under the principal's coat tails; however, his are the final decisions, as he is responsible for the conduct of the entire school.

The primary long-range benefit of written rules or athletic code of conduct, or any disciplinary policy for athletics is the consistency of action on the part of the school administration, including coaches and teachers, and confidence that the community will develop in its school.

In dealing with the discipline of athletics it has always bothered me for many years and that is the publicity given by the newspapers when boys are dropped from the squad for breaking training, or for scholastic work. This is all right for the University but I do not believe it should be in high school. I know it is news for the paper and the readers would probably be interested, but it is not good publicity for the school, the athletic program, and particularly the boys involved. It would be better for you to just drop the boy from the squad without mentioning publicly the reason why.

Football Questions — Installment 2

EDITOR'S NOTE: These interpretations of the 1965 National Alliance Football rules do not set aside nor modify any rule. They are made and published by the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations in response to situations presented.

16. Play: Snapper tilts the ball to an angle of approximately 75 degrees.

Ruling: Snap infraction. The referee should use his whistle, to prevent the ball from being put into play as soon as the foul occurs, provided he can stop action before the snap. If he sounds his whistle immediately after the foul, not waiting for the ball to become dead for some other reason, the whistle causes the ball to remain dead as of the time of the foul.

Comment: In the play above, the ball does not become alive and subsequent action has no significance unless it is unsportsmanlike. As provided by 2-26, the snap begins when the snapper first moves the ball other than in adjustment. Because the adjustment is not part of the snap, it does not cause the ball to become alive and is of itself a foul between downs. (7-1-3, 2-26).

17. Play: Snapper A1 tilts the ball to an angle of about 75 degrees. Before the official can sound his whistle to prevent the ball from going into play, A1 lifts the ball and snaps it.

Ruling: Snap infraction. The ball has become alive and the offended team (B) may take the 5-yard penalty measured from the spot of the snap, or team B may refuse the penalty and take the play. (7-1-3).

18. Play: Snapper A1 uses both hands to adjust the ball. While holding it motionless with his right hand he deliberately and slowly removes his left hand so that the snap will be made with one hand only.

Ruling: There has been no infraction. (7-1-2, 7-1-3).

19. Play: Team A is granted a charged time-out. Before the ball is put in play following the time-out charged to Team A, Team B requests a charged time-out.

Ruling: The request of Team B must be denied. No time-out may be granted to either team in this situation until after the ball has become alive. (3-5-2).

20. Play: At the kick-off: (a) K1 is offside; or (b) R has only 4 players between its 45 and the 50-yard line; or (c) R4 catches the kick on his 15 and advances to his 40 where he is tackled. R3 clips on R's 35 during the runback.

Ruling: If the offended team accepts the penalty in either (a) or (b) the ball must again be free kicked after the measurement. If the penalty is accepted in (c) it will be R's ball, 1st and 10 on R's 20. If in (c) the penalty is declined, it will be R's ball, 1st and 10 on R's 40. (5-2-4, 10-3-3).

21. Play: Runner A1 fumbles when he is tackled. A2 or B1, attempting to recover the ball, uses his hand or arm on an opponent's back or other part of his body.

Ruling: Legal action. All players are privileged to attempt to recover a fumble and may legally use their hands or arms on an opponent (including his back) to push the opponent out of the way. (2-4).

22. Play: 3rd and 3 on the 50 yardline. A1 advances to B's 20 yardline where he fumbles. The fumble is recovered by B1 who advances to B's 45 yardline where his lateral pass is intercepted by A2 who returns the ball to B's 15 yardline. A2 crawls after the ball has been declared dead. B2 holds at B's 30 during the run by B1.

Ruling: Penalty for the foul by B2 is automatically declined, thereby enabling A to retain the ball. The line-to-gain is established on B's 5 yardline. The stakes are set and then the penalty for delay of game (crawling) is administered, placing the ball on B's 20 yardline. It will be A's ball, 1st down, 15 yards to go on B's 20. (10-1-2-c; 9-5-1).

23. Play: B1 intercepts a legal forward pass and during the runback, B2 holds on B's 30 yardline, after which B3 clips on B's 45 yardline. The pass was intercepted on the 20 yardline and the ball became dead on the 50 yardline. A2 piled on after the ball had become dead.

Ruling: B's ball, 1st and 10 on B's 30 yardline. Even though Team B has committed a multiple foul, the automatic provision prevails and the official will administer the penalty for the holding foul by B2 from B's 30 yardline, because the rule provides that "the penalty is automatically either accepted or declined, depending on the advantage accruing to the offended team." The greater advantage, in this case, would occur as a result of the assessment of the penalty for the holding foul from B's 30 yardline. Thereafter, the penalty for A's dead ball foul would be administered. There is no choice for Team A in this situation, since the coverage provides for automatic administration. (10-1-2-c)

24. Play: A1 advances beyond the line to B's 30, where he throws a backward pass which is caught by A2 on B's 35. A2 advances for a touchdown.

Ruling: The first run ended on B's 30. The first running play ended where A2 secured possession, i. e., B's 35. The second run ended at B's goal line where the ball became dead. If a foul occurred during the first running, the basic enforcement spot is where the first run ended. If the foul occurred during the second running play, the basic enforcement spot is where the second run ended, i. e., B's goal line. (10-3-3).

25. Play: Team A comes to the line-of-scrimmage and its members position themselves in preparation for the snap. All 11 players are stationary for more than 1 full second. Then, back A2, from a position of more than one yard behind the line-of-scrimmage, starts in motion backward. After a 2 count, he comes to a stationary stop. Immediately thereafter, back A3 starts in motion backward. The ball is snapped while A3 is in motion. A2 was stationary at the snap but he had not been stationary for 1 full second before A3 started in motion.

Ruling: Legal action. So long as A2 (who in this case was more than 1 yard behind the line-of-scrimmage when he started) is stationary when A3 starts his motion, there has been no infraction. (2-25).

26. Comment: The expression "nearly" (almost) at rest" is a descriptive way of indicating that, for the play situation related and in the opinion of the official, the residue of the original force or inertia is insufficient to carry the grounded ball across the

National Federation Basketball Test

Part II of the National Federation basketball examination will be given all over Kentucky on Monday, December 6, to officials who wish to work for the Approved and Certified ratings. Officials registered with the K.H.S.A.A. for the first time this year and who have not been registered previously in any other state association, are not eligible to take the test. Those interested should advise the State Office immediately in order that necessary arrangements can be made with the school administrators who will supervise the taking of the exam. Officials living in Kentucky need not suggest the name of an examiner. The Approved rating does not carry forward from year to year, but must be earned each year.

In Memoriam

CHARLES ELLIS NORRIS

Charles Ellis Norris, who taught and coached at the McKee High School for eighteen years, died on August 23, 1965, after a year's illness. He was 44 years of age.

Charlie Norris graduated from the McKee High School in 1940 as valedictorian of his class. During his high school years he was active in all sports. He attended Eastern Kentucky State College, where he played Freshman basketball and pitched on the baseball team. After receiving his A.B. degree from Eastern, he returned to the McKee High School as a faculty member. He was active in his work until his illness forced him to quit.

At McKee Coach Norris earned the reputation of being one of the most capable and efficient teachers who has ever been associated with the Jackson County School system. His love for sports was evident in the many years he gave to coaching. Through his dynamic personality, Charlie gained the love and respect of every boy who was associated with his teams. It had been decided that he was to use his talents and years of experience as Athletic Director of the new consolidated Jackson County High School which is to be completed for the 1966-67 school year.

Surviving Mr. Norris are his wife, Mrs. Hazel Martin Norris; and a son, Charles Michael Norris, age 16, a senior at McKee High School.

In Memoriam

GENE CATHEY

Gene Cathey, 33, one of Murray's most popular business men, died on October 15, 1965. His death was attributed to pneumonia and complications.

Mr. Cathey graduated from Murray High School in 1950. While in high school he played basketball and football, and he was active in other school activities. After attending Murray State College, he coached at the New Concord High School during the 1953-55 period, was in the armed service in 1956-57, returning to New Concord for the 1958 and 1959 seasons. His teams won the county Championship each of the five seasons when he coached at New Concord. His 1954 team won the Mayfield Invitational Tournament, and his teams were in regional tournaments two of his five coaching seasons. His teams won more than 85 percent of all the games they played.

Mr. Cathey entered the insurance business in Murray after leaving the coaching profession. However, he retained his interest in sports. He was a registered K.H.S.A.A. basketball official for ten years, and he was currently registered as a football official at the time of his death. During the 1961-64 period he was an area football representative for the Kentucky High School Athletic Association in its training program for football officials. He was willing to lend a hand in almost any venture which led young people into sports. He was director of the "Punt, Pass and Kick" contest, he had coached in the Murray Baseball Association, and had been president of that organization.

Surviving Mr. Cathey are his wife, Mrs. Marilyn Walker Cathey; his mother, Mrs. Bertie Cathey; one daughter, Mitzi Susan; and two sons, Monty and Mike. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Murray. P.H.

FOOTBALL QUESTIONS

goal line into the end zone. The term "nearly at rest" is, we believe, not used in any rule or division of rule itself. The expression is, however, commonly used to describe specific situations. It is, for example, used in Play (2) on page 41 of the Rules Book. It is also used in the Case Book, in Situation 256D. It is a manner of indicating that, as described in the Rules Book, the "force is nearly spent." This is to say that if no than the crew of field officials can be dismissed roll, across the goal line into the end zone. (8-5-1).

27. Comment: Are football game officials obligated to attend a pre-game conference? The pre-game conference has been found to be very beneficial on all levels, including interscholastic, intercollegiate and professional football. An increasing number of state associations, officials' chapters and conferences are adding the requirement of attending a pre-game conference to their standards. Where such conferences are mandatory, it is necessary that the referee report to the administrative body any official who does not attend. In many areas, the clock operator and chain crew members are also required to be there. Others than the crew of field officials can be dismissed should it be desirable to have a certain matter discussed by the crew in private.

It is customary that the conference be scheduled to start immediately after the crew is dressed for the game and approximately one hour before starting time. The referee is responsible for moderating and directing the conference. He will stress specific items and experience has indicated that most is accomplished at the meeting if a prepared agenda is followed. The agenda generally includes such matters as keeping of records, physical aspects of the field, report of the check of bandages and equipment, duties of each official before and at the toss, mechanics of covering the kick-off, running plays, fumbles, out-of-bounds, the administration of penalties, the marking of the point of furthest advance, and the administration of disqualifying penalties if there are such. Frequently, there is a brief discussion or review of unusual plays which may have occurred in previous games in the area during the season. Athletic administrators are unanimous in their belief that successful football officiating now requires the pre-game conference.

28. Comment: What is preventative officiating? Remembering at all times that every foul committed must be called, preventative officiating is the permissible action of officials which will prevent some fouls from occurring. The good officials, by his action and words, can frequently prevent certain fouls from happening. As a traffic officer at a busy intersection keeps the traffic moving without actually arrests, so does a competent official keep the game moving, using every legitimate power at his command to prevent fouls from occurring.

While there is general agreement that preventative officiating is desirable, there is difference of opinion as to "how far" it should go. Such matters as the referee discussing with the coaches before the game any unusual plays, particularly if the officials might be in the way, is always acceptable. The checking of equipment is required by rule and is, of itself, preventative officiating. A foul may be frequently prevented by the official making certain not to start with more or less than eleven men on kick-offs and free-kicks. In this situation, it is suggested that the official ask the captain to count his men, but that the official not tell him the number on the field. Cautioning the receiving team to be inside its restraining line for free-kicks, and aiding players of both teams in lining-up after a safety, are ordinarily accepted as desirable procedures for officials. These are preventative in nature. In many areas, preventative officiating includes appropriate warnings by officials. For example, on a scrimmage-kick the umpire may warn, before the snap, about the use of hands. Officials can stop derogatory talk between players and thereby prevent a later foul. The captain should be notified that he can stop and prevent resulting future problems during the game if he directs his players to abstain from baiting and similar practices.

During time-outs, the captains' attention should be called to the number of time-outs they have had and officials should make sure that the coaches know when they have used up their legal limits of time-outs. Officials should check each other regarding this matter during every time-out.

Blowing the whistle sharply contributes to a reduction of fouls, and calling to the players saying "That's all", "That's enough", or, "Don't hit him" after the ball is dead either inbounds or out-of-bounds will frequently deter a player from making late contact and thereby fouling. When a kick goes out-of-bounds, all officials can call to players to "Stand up, the ball is out-of-bounds."

More controversial is the suggestion that the referee warn a player who is standing on the end line, preparing to kick. If the ball is snapped, this would be a foul. Also the official must, of course, be particularly careful about cautioning a player or suggesting that he move to a new position at a time when the ball may become alive and, as a result, catch the player moving when it is snapped.

Thus, some areas of preventative officiating are universally accepted. Regarding others, there are differences of opinion and perhaps controversy. It is suggested, however, that the practice of preventative officiating be studied and be expanded in those areas which will serve the best interest of the game.

The Flying Dutchman

Stanley Arnzen and Bob Miller packed 327 basketball officials, coaches, timers and scorers into that Newport Gymnasium for this year's attendance record at the basketball rules clinic. This was one more than Claude Ricketts gathered together in Louisville for second place honors.

Bob, Stan and Edgar McNabb explained this huge attendance by pointing to the large numbers of Ohio officials crossing the river from Cincinnati and towns to the north and to the wonderful fellowship which always prevails at this clinic. Nick Poppas came all the way from Dayton to be there.

Northern Kentucky has a chap who has spent a couple of decades coaching at Holmes High. This chap draws crowds by himself wherever he goes. His players call him "Coach." His friends have many names for him but reference here is to Tom Ellis who is a sports legend in his own time. Tom is definitely one of the reasons for the large Newport turn-out each year. This fellow won't let any session he attends become dull. Back in 1928 when Tom captained the first state championship football team Western Kentucky State College ever produced, he was a powerful lineman and even then his colorful personality kept everybody on the team alert. You should have seen this "dynamo" run a baseball team from his catcher's box and hit a fast ball. He was a sucker for a curve. In those days Tom, or "Big Daddy" and "Lardy", as we used to call him, was the best basketball official in western Kentucky. This is the man the Dutchman salutes this month for a lifetime of service to boys—and he made men out of hundreds of them. This qualifies him for the Corn Cob Pipe of Honor. You're a great guy, Tom!

Memorandum to Commissioner Ted Sanford! Tear up all individual attendance records at the basketball clinics. Beechmont's Jerry Kimmel and Morehead's Bobby Laughlin have had their records broken by Adolph Rupp's new assistant coach, Joe Hall. Joe was on hand for roll call at fourteen of the fifteen clinics, missing only the one at Newport, and had he come "Big Tom" would have had to squeeze Jarvis Parsley a little closer to the exit to make room for him. The University of Kentucky has racked up a score in signing Joe Hall. This young man made friends by the minute with his effervescent personality. A former student of John Bunn, he is a credit to that nationally-acclaimed gentlemen who is the editor of the basketball rule book. Coach Bob Wright of Morehead State College and Bobby

Joe Hall

W. B. Jones

Laughlin were even with Joe in eastern Kentucky with their attendance of eight sessions.

There's a cheese factory in Hart County near Caverna, where Ralph Dorsey now coaches, and close to Hart Memorial High, where the Dutchman hung up a never-equalled coaching record of 3 games won and 23 lost in 1931. Ralph and Joe Billy Mansfield now assistant commissioner, played for W. B. Owen's Horse Cave team that year, which tacked on two of those losses. As a peace offering Ralph Dorsey presented the Dutchman a two pound hunk of that cheese in Elizabethtown. Now if Joe Billy will send some medication to offset an over consumption of Hart County cheese, these gentlemen will be forgiven for what they did in 1931.

V. A. Jackson, one of the best officials ever to blow a whistle in the early forties, showed up at Lexington. He's Dr. Jackson now. Old basketball officials don't fade away; they become M. D.'s. They won't get rich in that field but it's a peaceful way to spend the intervening years after a fortune has been accumulated officiating.

They've named a new auditorium in a Somerset School in honor of W. B. Jones. For thirty years this outstanding educator has given service far beyond the call of duty to the citizens of the "Briar Jumper" country, and the honor is truly deserved. W. B. served as a member of the K. H. S. A. A. Board of Control and served well. May your tribe increase, W. B. Jones! An Abou Ben Adhem citation is on its way to hang in the W. B. Jones Auditorium.

Incidentally, the best hot roll bakers in the world are Mrs. Beulah Stevens and Mrs. Jesse Keith, a couple of Somerset girls. They served them up at the honor dinner the Dutchman attended for W. B. Jones, and this gourmet was out-eaten only by Bill Clark and Coach Jim Williams.

Word has come that Coach Jack Fultz of Olive Hill is studying recreation at Morehead College. Dr. Zadia Harold, one of the best informed recreation professors in the business, is Morehead's recreation department head. When Zadia puts his stamp of approval on a student he's ready to run anybody's recreation program. Get Zadia's brand on you, Jack, and you'll have park and recreation job offers snowing you under. Dr. Zadia wrote some basketball history as a high school star in western Kentucky a few years back.

Making the nineteen hundred mile clinic tour of Kentucky this fall revealed changes since our first sashay over the state in 1942.

Women are attending the clinics in increasing numbers. They are scorers, timers, and some want to officiate.

Mountain roads were muddy messes twenty-four years ago; now they are so smooth that my 1957 "Tiger" couldn't feel a bump.

Modern schools with fine gymnasiums are springing up everywhere. That new Ohio County High School is a thing of beauty and a far cry from the old gym in Hartford where the first one was held. One thing was the same at this clinic—Elvis Hall was present at the 1942 Hartford Clinic and Elvis was on hand in 1965. Elvis and "Big Mac," Lawrence McGinnis, are like "Old Faithful," only nobody has ever seen Lawrence erupt. They do see him at the Owensboro Clinic annually.

Another thing changed in Elizabethtown. Fifteen minutes after Howard Gardner, Bo Bo Davenport, Joe Hall and the Dutchman had dinner in the Cardinal Inn, the place burned down.

Send your nominations for Game Guy and Corn Cob Pipe awards to: The Flying Dutchman, Box 36, Jeffersontown, Ky.

WHERE DOES THE SCHOLARSHIP MONEY COME FROM?

Part of it comes from the school. So Principals and Coaches who haven't enrolled their school and sponsor with K.A.P.O.S., do send your membership check for $2.00 to Mrs. Stella S. Gilb at the University of Kentucky. Make check payable to K.A.P.O.S. However, the major portion of the scholarship fund is earned by dedicated sponsors, your sponsor, your sponsor, and your sponsor. On October 15 some 44 sponsors brought 300 cheerleaders to a clinic at Bowling Green High School and K.A.P.O.S. realized over $100 from this clinic.

WHAT DID THE CHEERLEADERS TAKE AWAY FROM THE CLINIC?

Besides learning four new cheers, they had the opportunity to demonstrate one of their own cheers and have it evaluated by the clinic teacher, Mr. Merle Tyler. Mr. Tyler lectured on: sportsmanship, behavior, good grooming, crowd psychology, and pep rallies.

WHAT DID THE SPONSORS TAKE AWAY FROM THE CLINIC?

They learned about the objectives and purposes of K.A.P.O.S. They were informed about the scholarship fund and encouraged to join the association. They shared ideas on the following: approved methods of selecting cheerleaders, where to purchase cheerleader outfits and ways to make money to pay for them, homecoming programs, ways in which pep clubs earn money and how they spend their earnings, and last but probably the most pertinent of all was the pressing problem of how to get administrators to recognize in a monetary way the sponsor who spends as much as ten to fifteen hours per week in after-school hours, working with and chaperoning cheerleaders.

Mrs. Stella S. Gilb reported that she is doing some research on the paying of sponsors for extra-curricular duties. She expects to publish the data soon. On October 9 she conducted a workshop for over 200 sponsors on the Illinois State University campus, and 80% of those in attendance signified that they were paid for the time they spent coaching cheerleaders, with salaries ranging from $300 to $500.

K.A.P.O.S. wishes to thank Mrs. Janet Moore of Bowling Green High for the many hours she spent in organizing this first successful clinic to be held in the western part of the state. Present to help her were: Mrs. Julie Tesar of Ft. Knox High, President; Mrs.

Rosemary Weddington, Franklin County High, Past President; Mrs. George Spurlock, Madison High, Past President; Mrs. Gloria K. Compton, Bryan Station Sr., Bd. Member; Mrs. Sharon Tippett, Woodford Co. High, Bd. Member; Miss Linda Spaulding, Bardstown High, Bd. Member; Mrs. Stella S. Gilb, Un. of Ky., Sec. and Treasurer.

PRINCIPALS and COACHES, support and appreciate your cheerleader sponsor. Behind every good cheering squad there must be a dedicated sponsor. Thanks for letting me share the K.A.P.O.S. news with you.

—Stella S. Gilb

WE ASKED OUR FANS

Why "boo?" Somebody has said, "A 'boo' is a reverberation of air through the empty spaces of the cranium."

Why criticize your coach if the team loses? Isn't he the same fine coach that led the team through the district and regional tournaments?

Why ridicule players on the opposing team? Would you like opposing fans to ridicule yours?

Why cheer when an opposing player fouls out? Are you glad to see a player suffer misfortune?

Why gloat and act so overbearingly when your team wins? They may lose the next game.

Why desert your team when they are behind? That's when they need you the most.

Why act in such a way that everyone present gets a bad impression of the community you represent.

Why ridicule your own team when it loses? If the players give their best they can do no more.

Why give excuses and alibis when your team loses? The really big man takes defeat without a whimper.

Why ain't you refereeing if you are such a rules expert?

—TSSAA News (Tennessee)

ONE OF THE FINEST JOBS

In conclusion, I believe a coach becomes a coach when he disciplines his own players without the thought of winning, when you start coaching and quit worrying about what people say or think about you, when you stop officiating and let officials do their job.

Emotionalism, anxiety and fear invariably will hinder objective thought and action — especially when a decision under pressure must be made. Be a coach. Make that decision now!
