Meeting Folder

Page 3 — (Sixth line) Change 5 to 6.

SITUATION #1: The following sequence of events takes place: the buzzer sounds to conclude the second period, and at that time, the two wrestlers are on their feet with Wrestler A behind Wrestler B with his hands locked around Wrestler B's waist. Wrestler A then picks Wrestler B up, brings him back over his head and slams him to the mat with unnecessary force. What is the correct procedure for the referee to follow?

RULING: In this situation where the action was clearly initiated after time had expired would either be ruled as unnecessary roughness or flagrant misconduct. If, in the referee's opinion, it was unnecessary roughness, Wrestler B would be awarded one point, and if he, were injured to the extent he was unable to continue following a maximum of two minutes recovery time, he would be awarded the match by default. If the referee ruled the action as flagrant misconduct, then Wrestler A would be disqualified and his team would receive a one point deduction.

COMMENTS: If this same situation were to occur at the end of the third period, it would be ruled as either unsportsmanlike conduct or flagrant misconduct. When the match has been stopped at the end of the first or second period or during an out-of-bounds situation, and one contestant commits a physical act against another contestant, it can only be ruled in two ways: either unnecessary roughness or flagrant misconduct. If it is ruled as unnecessary roughness then you award one match point, and if there is an injury, you would allow for two minutes recovery time. If it is ruled as flagrant misconduct, you would have a one team point deduction and the disqualification of a contestant.

SITUATION #2: Wrestler A lifts Wrestler B off the mat and, while he is in the air, the buzzer sounds to conclude any period. Wrestler A continues to lift his opponent and returns him to the mat with unnecessary force.

RULING: In this situation Wrestler A would be guilty of a slam as the action was clearly started prior to the conclusion of the period. Anytime you lift your opponent off the mat you are responsible for his safe return even though time expired prior to returning your opponent to the mat. The penalty in this situation would be: Wrestler B would receive one point for the illegal slam and if he were injured to the extent that he was unable to continue following a maximum of two minutes recovery time, he would be awarded the match by default.

SITUATION #3: A contestant shows up for weigh-in and has a mustache that is confined to the upper lip and his sideburns extend approximately one inch below the bottom of the earlobe. Would this individual be able to compete in wrestling competition following the weigh-in?

RULING: It is permissible for an individual to have a neatly trimmed mustache as long as it is confined to the upper lip. The rule does state, however, that sideburns shall not extend below earlobe level. The sideburns for this individual would have to be trimmed.

SITUATION #4: During a dual meet weigh-in the heavyweight contestants are only checked to make certain they weigh at least 184 pounds. Is this the correct procedure for weighing-in the heavyweight contestants?

RULING: Starting with the current wrestling season, the maximum weight for any contestant shall be 275 pounds. Therefore, when contestants are weighed-in for the heavyweight classification, we must check to make certain their weight exceeds 184 pounds and is also not greater than 275 pounds.

COMMENTS: It is also necessary to check the minimum and maximum weight for any contestant who wishes to wrestle in the 98-pound weight class. His weight must exceed 83 pounds and cannot exceed 98 pounds. The same circumstances are true for a 98-pound contestant who wishes to wrestle in the 105-pound weight class.

SITUATION #5: During the weigh-in period an individual scheduled to wrestle in the 138-pound weight class steps on the scales and his weight is 142 pounds. He is advised that he has the remainder of the weigh-in period to make the 138-pound weight class. He immediately puts on a rubberized suit, followed by heavy sweat clothes and begins running. What is the correct procedure for the referee to follow?

RULING: Rule 4-4-6 states that the use of sweat boxes, hot showers, whirlpools, rubber, vinyl and plastic type suits used for the purpose of weight reduction is prohibited and will disqualify an individual from competition. The individual so observed in this situation would not be allowed to compete in the competition that he was weighing-in for.

SITUATION #6: A school hosting a regular season tournament sends out an information packet and it states in the packet that the weigh-in period for the tournament will be from 9:00 a.m. until 10:00 a.m. with wrestling starting at 10:30 a.m. Is this the correct procedure to follow for weighing-in contestants for a regular season tournament?

RULING: Rule 4-5-3 states that for regular season tournaments weigh-in shall begin at the tournament site a maximum of 1½ hours and a minimum of 1 hour before the first session each day. The guidelines mentioned in the cover letter concerning the tournament do follow the procedure outlined in the rule book.

SITUATION #7: Wrestler B assumes the defensive starting position and Wrestler A decides to use the optional offensive starting position. In doing so he positions himself on the left side of his opponent, standing on both feet with one hand placed on the shoulders and the other hand on the lower back. Is this a proper optional starting position?

RULING: The new starting position requires that the hands placed on the back be touching at the thumbs. There are also several other criteria that the offensive wrestler must follow in order for the optional starting position to be legal.

SITUATION #8: Wrestler A is ahead of his opponent by a score of 14 to 0 when he is able to turn his opponent into a near fall position. When the referee begins the five second count would the match be terminated because, by starting the count, we are saying that a two point near fall has been earned, which would make the score 16 to 0.

RULING: No, the match would not be terminated at this point in time. Wrestling shall continue until the referee actually signals the points to the team bench. In a near fall situation you would not signal any points until the situation had concluded. This would mean that Wrestler B was either pinned or the near fall situation had concluded.

SITUATION #9: Wrestler A is ahead of his opponent by a score of 14 to 4 and both wrestlers are on their feet. Wrestler A is able to initiate a takedown with an upper body move that places Wrestler B on his back when he makes contact with the mat. The referee completes his five second count and shortly thereafter, Wrestler A is too high on his opponent and is reversed by Wrestler B. The reversal immediately puts Wrestler A on his back and he is pinned. Would Wrestler B be declared the winner of the match?

RULING: The match would be won by Wrestler A on a technical fall. As soon as Wrestler A takes Wrestler B to the mat he is awarded two points, which would make the score 16 to 4 and as soon as the five second count has been completed and Wrestler B reverses Wrestler A, you would award a three point near fall to Wrestler A, making the score 19 to 4. At this time Wrestler A is ahead by 15 points and would be awarded the match on a technical fall.

SITUATION #10: In a dual meet Team A was awarded 4 points for a forfeit instead of five points. Is this a clerical error that can be corrected?

RULING: This is a clerical error involving the recording of team scoring and may be corrected whenever detected. This would be true for both a dual meet or a tournament.

SITUATION #11: Wrestler A wins a dual meet by a score of 7 to 6. After the following match has been completed, the coach of School B realizes that his wrestler received only 2 points for a near fall when the referee had actually signaled a 3-point near fall. Is this a correctable error?

RULING: The above situation would be a correctable error but it can only be corrected prior to the start of a subsequent match in dual meet competition. It is not a clerical error because it involves more than just the addition of match score. This correction would involve changing a match score and this does not fall under the clerical error category.

SITUATION #12: During a tournament where two mats are being used the following occurs: on mat number 1, the assistant coach of Team A questions an official concerning the misapplication of a rule and the referee rules that no misapplication took place. Later on in that same tournament session the head coach questions the misapplication of a rule and again the referee's ruling is that there was no misapplication. Shortly thereafter on mat number 2, the assistant coach again questions the misapplication of a rule and he is wrong. What is the penalty procedure?

RULING: The first time the assistant coach questions the misapplication it is a warning. The second time when the head coach questions a misapplication it is the deduction of one team point. The third occurrence when the assistant coach questions judgment, the penalty is the removal of the head coach from the premises for the duration of that tournament session.

Case Book

Page 17 — Play 2.10B Note, 4th line change "jump ball" and 6th line change "tap" to "throw-in."

Page 38 — Play 5.2.3, 1st line change "tap" and "jump" to "throw-in."

Page 45 — Play 6.3.3B, 1st line change the 2nd "A1" to "A3."

SITUATION #1: During a jump ball to start the game after the ball is tossed (a) B1 violates, or (b) B1 fouls A1, or (c) A1 intentionally fouls B1. When is the possession arrow set?

RULING: In (a) and (b) when the ball is handed to the thrower-in of Team A, Team A has gained "control" for purposes of establishing the procedure, and the arrow is pointed in the direction of B's basket. In (c) the arrow is pointed in the direction of A's basket when B1 is handed the ball for the first of two free throws (6-2-1).

SITUATION #2: A squad member of Team B dunks the ball in pregame practice. The penalty is administered to start the game. After A1's successful free throw, Team A is awarded the ball for a throw-in at the division line. Either (a) after, or (b) before the ball is handed to A1 for the throw-in, A2 is charged with a technical foul. Is the possession arrow pointed toward A or B's basket?

RULING: In (a) the arrow is pointed in the direction of B's basket since Team A has "control" for purposes of establishing the procedure when A1 was handed the ball. In (b) "control" has not been gained for establishing the alternating procedure until a player of Team B is handed the ball for the throw-in. The arrow is then pointed in the direction of Team A's basket. When the game or an extra period is started with a technical foul(s) or flagrant personal foul, the possession arrow is set after the thrower-in is handed the ball. (6-3-1)

SITUATION #3: (a) The home management has placed the players benches on opposite ends of the court along the end lines. The court has ample space for the benches on either side of the scorers and timers table located outside the division line, or (b) the benches are located on either side of the table but are on the 4th row of the bleachers, or (c) the benches for the home team utilize some seats in each of the first three rows.

RULING: It is recommended that the benches be at the side of the court on which the table is located. Any time the benches are placed as in (a), (b) or (c) the state association should be notified. The benches should be located on the seats which are all floor level rather than in those above floor level. The seats should all be in one row unless it is not possible. Also, the benches for both teams should be located in similar relationship to the table and approximately the same distance from it. The benches must remain as placed by home management unless the officials feel that there is concern for player safety (1-13)

SITUATION #4: A1 has fouled out of the game and returns to the bench. (a) Some squad members of Team A rise to congratulate A1, or (b) some squad members of Team B rise and shake hands with A1 as A1 leaves the court. In both cases the individuals are immediately seated.

RULING: There has been no violation of the intent of the bench conduct rule. Displays of sportsmanship and fair play are to be encouraged and are clearly identifiable as such. If rising from the bench is for purposes of displaying poor sportsmanship, it should be penalized accordingly (10-4, 10-5)

SITUATION #5: The coach of Team A leaves the bench area and goes to the table to seek information other than a correctable error (a) during a time-out, or (b) during the intermission between the first and second quarters.

RULING: A technical foul carrying a 2-shot penalty is charged in both (a) and (b). This information is required; it must be secured by a manager or statistician, etc., when the clock is stopped and the ball is dead. A coach is not permitted at the table for this purpose. To allow exceptions would open the door for exploitation and would result in situations which could not be enforced consistently. (10-5)

SITUATION #6: A1 commits his or her fifth personal foul and the coach and A1 are properly notified regarding the disqualification. The coach rises from the bench to shake hands with A1 and then surveys the bench for a replacement. Is the coach allowed to talk to the other players who have congregated on the court near the bench area?

RULING: Yes. The coach may talk to these players, however, the coach must be seated as soon as the substitute reports and is beckoned on the court. The coach is allowed 90 seconds to make a replacement and is allowed to stand within the confines of the bench until the substitution is completed. (10-5-5)

SITUATION #7: While closely guarded by B1 in A's frontcourt, A1 dribbles close to and beyond A2. A1 uses A2 as a screen to legally obstruct B1. B2, who has been guarding A2, immediately switches to guard A1. The officials counted was at 2 seconds while B1 was guarding A1 and another 3 seconds are counted after B2 switches. Should a 5-second violation be called?

RULING: Yes. In a situation such as described, there has been no actual break in the closely guarded provision. The court should continue in a situation where a defensive switch is made, while the player with the ball is continually guarded and the continuity of the count is not broken. (9-11-2)

SITUATION #8: During a charged time-out, both teams go to the sideline to confer with their coaches. Is it permissible for the players to sit on the bench during this break in the action?

RULING: Yes. It is common practice for players to sit on their team bench during a charged time-out period. In some cases, when there is a delay in game action, the officials may allow players to go to the sideline area, but they must remain on the court. (10-3-5)

SITUATION #9: A1 jumps for a try for goal and is fouled in the act of shooting by B1. A1 loses control of the ball, and it pops from his or her hands(s). While still in the air, A1 regains control of the ball and scores during a charged count? Is A1 entitled to 1 or 2 free throws.

RULING: The basket does not count. The continuous motion provision allows the ball to remain alive following the foul by B1. However, the try ended and the ball became dead when the ball was touched by A1. A1 is awarded 2 free throws for being fouled in the act of shooting during an unsuccessful try. (4-1-2; 6-7 Exp. c)

SITUATION #10: A1 receives a pass in A's forecourt. A1 is closely guarded and immediately dribbles into the midcourt. The closely guarded count is at 4 when A1 ends the dribble and holds the ball for 4 more seconds before passing it to A2.

RULING: Legal. When A1, while closely guarded, started a dribble in A's forecourt the midcourt lines had no significance and A1 is entitled to a holding count anywhere in the frontcourt. (9-11)

SITUATION #11: A1 receives a pass in A's forecourt and begins a dribble there while not closely guarded. A1, while not closely guarded, dribbles into the midcourt. B1 now begins to closely guard A1. A1, while closely guarded in the midcourt, (a) dribbles for 4 seconds and then holds for 1 or more seconds, or (b) dribbles for 3 seconds, then crosses into the forecourt where he or she while still closely guarded dribbles for 4 seconds and then holds for 4 seconds.

RULING: In (a) it is a violation as soon as the official's count reaches 5, whether A1 is dribbling and/or holding. In (b) all of the action is legal since A1 receives a new dribbling count when he or she advances into the forecourt and is also entitled to a holding count. (9-11)

COMMENT: For purposes of the closely-guarded rule the dribble started when A1 first became closely guarded. Since this occurred in the midcourt, the combination count is in effect and a new dribble count is given the first time A1 advances from midcourt to forecourt.

SITUATION #12: The Team A coach is off the bench and moves within the team's bench area while talking with substitutes. The game is in progress and the clock is: (a) running, or (b) not running.

RULING: A technical foul in both (a) and (b). Whether the clock is running or whether the ball is alive or dead is immaterial. The coach may not be off the bench in this situation whether the clock is running or stopped. (10-5)

SITUATION #13: A1 is fouled in the act of shooting and is entitled to two free throws. A1's first attempt is successful. Erroneously the ball is taken out-of-bounds by Team B for a throw-in. B1 is dribbling toward B's basket and is fouled by A1. It is A1's 5th foul.

The error of failure to award A1 the 2nd free throw is then discovered. What is the proper procedure?

RULING: The error will be corrected and then play continues from the point of interruption. Since A1 is being disqualified, the substitute who replaces him or her must shoot the free throw which A1 did not attempt. (2-10-1; 4-11)

SITUATION #14: B1, while in the air, secures a rebound from a missed field-goal attempt. B1 is off balance and falls to the floor but still has control of the ball.

RULING: A traveling violation results. B1 is considered to have fallen to the floor while holding the ball. (4-29 Ques. 1)

SITUATION #15: Team A trails 60-59 with just a few seconds remaining in the 4th quarter of play. A1 is fouled in the act of shooting by B1, but time expires before the ball is in flight. A1 is awarded 2 free throws. The coach of Team B is charged with a technical foul before A1's attempts. A1 makes (a) neither throw, or (b) one throw, or (c) both throws. When does Team A shoot the free throws resulting from the technical foul?

RULING: In (a), (b) and (c) the 2 free throws for the technical foul are attempted as part of the 4th quarter. In (a) the 2 free throws for the technical foul will determine if an extra period is necessary. In (b) the one successful free throw ties the game and if either free throw for the technical is successful, no extra period is required. In (c) the two free throws insure there will be no extra period. The penalty for the technical foul is administered immediately after A1-attempts and the results will reflect the final score. A quarter or extra period does not end until all free throws and related activity has been completed. (4-1-1; 6-7-7)
