CHEMICAL HEALTH

TIP-AAIDS

Project goal: healthy lifestyle

TARGET's second interactive program, TIP-AAIDS, an acronym for TARGET Interactive Project — An AIDS Interactive Disc for Students, deals with the numerous problems encountered by sexually active teenagers.

Using a scenario-based format similar to TIP-DART (Drug and Alcohol Responsibility for Teens), TIP-AAIDS uses prime-time TV quality and realism in presenting typical teenage situations including humor with sexual overtones. TIP-AAIDS addresses critical societal issues realistically, honestly and believably.

TIP-AAIDS is specifically designed to help promote a healthy lifestyle. Abstinence is the safest choice for young people and is the preferred and recommended practice. However, recognizing that many teenagers are sexually active, the risks of unintended pregnancy, HIV/AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases are quite real. TIP-AAIDS also addresses skill development which will enable teenagers to choose and practice safe behavior and will reinforce these behaviors.

"The focus is on open communication and discussion of information which will assist teens in making informed decisions," said Paul Palmer, TARGET Interactive Project Director. "Skill development in decision making, assertiveness, resisting peer pressure, negotiating and building self-esteem are stressed as TIP-AAIDS addresses its objectives."

The objectives of TIP-AAIDS are to:

- Empower teenagers to choose and practice behaviors related to sex, alcohol and other drugs that are healthy and reasonable in order to avoid HIV infection.
- Describe how HIV is and is not contracted, its relationship to AIDS and the lifelong socio-medical consequences of contracting AIDS.
- Relate rationally and compassionately to persons who are presumed HIV+ and/or have AIDS.
- Identify sources of reliable, effective information.
- Promote dialogue between parents and their teen-aged children about HIV, AIDS and related sexual practices.

Support and input from renowned and varied sources were used in the development of TIP-AAIDS. Planning, materials, ideas and reviews were provided by the American Medical Association, the National School Boards Association, the National Leadership Coalition of AIDS, the Minnesota Institute of Public Health, Conant-Sloane Associates from the Department of Health at Dartmouth College, Sex Information Education Council of the U.S. (SIECUS), the Indiana Department of Health and the New York City Commissioner of Health to name a few.

How can your school obtain this latest technology — a definite "hands-on" teaching tool that is a natural fit for today's computer-oriented youth? Many schools already have all or a portion of the hardware necessary to operate either or both programs of the TARGET Interactive Project. Schools which have PALS LABS, run the TLTG Physical Science Course, or provide Linkway, which is part of an IBM computer configuration, are ready to go!

Over 200 TIP programs are currently being used nationwide and elsewhere in North America. Funds were provided by various methods, including Drug Free Schools and Communities monies; various chapter program funds; local school funds, both capital outlay and instruction supplies; corporate gifts and donations; a local post of The American Legion, and cooperative agreements within the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES), education service centers, area education agencies, etc., to share the equipment and the programs with participating school districts.

Both TIP programs have received national recognition for the quality, realism and educational value of the interactive programming.

The TIP-AAIDS program is the 1991 winner of the Nebbie Award for best educational program at the Nebraska Interactive Media Awards to be awarded this summer; winner of a Silver CINDY Award by Audio-Visual Communications and runnerup for the Mark of Excellence Award presented by the International Interactive Communication Society (IICS).

The TIP-DART program was the 1989 winner of Gold CINDY Awards in the K-12 education division and Best of Show by the Association of Visual Communicators; the 1990 Gold Camera First Place Award from the U.S. Industrial Film and Video Festival; winner of the 1991 Mark of Excellence Award from the International Interactive Communications Society and the 1991 winner of the Silver Award from the New York Film and Video Festival.

To assist schools in meeting the challenge of how best to obtain the required equipment configuration, several versions of TIP-DART and TIP-AAIDS are available. TARGET no longer serves as the sole source provider for the unique equipment configuration. Schools now have the option to run either program on existing equipment such as InfoWindow, M-Motion and Linkway.

Thirty-three states have mandated AIDS education and sex education while the remaining states recommend sex education. All states now require some type of alcohol and other drugs education programs. Is your school prepared? To obtain these TIP programs — which will complement current efforts — and for more information on specific hardware requirements and prices, call or write Palmer, TARGET, P.O. $10.00 PER YEAR

Mills Ends 19 Years of Service to K.H.S.A.A., 38 to Kentucky Schools

by Julian Tackett

It was in the middle of the most hectic time of year for the staff and Board of Control of the K.H.S.A.A. The Board was meeting in conjunction with the Girls' State Basketball Tournament in Frankfort, following another successful Boys' tournament, and Commissioner Tom Mills called upon the Board and Staff for a special announcement. "I've been pondering this decision for a long time," Mills began. "I think it's time for a change, both for me and for the Association." "I am announcing today that I will retire as Commissioner of the K.H.S.A.A. effective June 30, 1991."

With that announcement, Mills said what many had anticipated for much of the last year. He had spent much of that time involved deeply with the building of the Association's new headquarters as well as his duties as Commissioner, and had questioned his ability to do justice to both positions. "I feel that I can better serve the Association by devoting my time and energies to the completion of the building project," Mills said. "This project is important enough to me to concentrate solely on its completion, and leave the daily affairs of the Association to my successor."

At its April meeting, the Board agreed to employ Mills as a Consultant for the Building project, to supervise the construction of the Association's new office building and Hall of Fame/Museum. The building project is now well underway, and is located at 2280 Executive Drive, off Winchester Road near the junctions of Interstates 75 and 64. It is ironic that he was on the Board of Control, in fact serving as Building Committee Chairman, when the Association's current office was constructed.

"Building a new office today is much more involved, and much more costly," he stated. "But we have outgrown our current space and don't have the room or the traffic flow to handle expanding our office. In addition, we want to be able to showcase the Hall of Fame and Museum and make it accessible to all people who live in Kentucky, or even pass through Kentucky."

Tom Mills came to the K.H.S.A.A. as a member of the Board of Control in July of 1969 while serving as Superintendent of the Frankfort City Schools. He began his career in public education at Perryville High School in 1958, taking a position as a teacher and coach. He remained there until moving to Stanford High School as Principal in 1960. In 1964, Mills took the Principal's job at Harlan High School before moving to Frankfort High School as Principal in 1965. He held the Principal's position at that school until taking the position of Superintendent in 1968.

He remained on the Board of Control from 1969 until he was hired as an Assistant Commissioner for the Association in 1972. While on the Board, he served as a member of the Board of Control Building Committee which supervised the building of the current Association headquarters on Cooper Drive. In 1975, Mills was named Commissioner of the Association, the third person to hold the position. Ted Sanford was the Association's first Commissioner, serving from 1947 through 1972 while J.B. Mansfield served from 1972 to 1975.

Mills' tenure at the helm of the Association has seen an era of tremendous growth. Girls' sports offerings have increased both in number of sports and in number of participants. The Girls' State Basketball Tournament now is the second leading source of funds for the operation of the Association. "When I came on board, there wasn't a lot of interest in girls' sports, at least at the Association level," Mills commented. "One of the first things we addressed was to offer more sports opportunities for girls. This was also aided by the addition of a female Assistant Commissioner with Dianne Caines' hiring in 1976. This also showed females that there were advanced career opportunities for them in sports."

Many other sport offerings have been added, as well as the increases in attendance, and therefore, financial assistance, from the Boys' and Girls' Basketball tournaments, and State Football and Soccer championships. Soccer now ranks as the Associations' fastest growing sport as well as softball, both added during Mills' tenure. In 1988, with the help of retired Courier-Journal columnist Earl Cox, Mills was instrumental in the forming of the Dawahares-Kentucky High School Athletic Association Hall of Fame, which now has 87 members and has 21 more scheduled for induction next March.

The list of accomplishments is long, but can be summed in four basic areas. "I am very proud of the expanded services and offerings for our member schools. These changes are not inexpensive, and have forced us to hire additional staff as well as invest in the technology of today and tomorrow," Mills noted. "Our revenue producing programs have grown and have allowed us to continue to provide our championships and their competitors with a first-class operation." "We have expanded to a total of three Assistant Commissioners, added a Sports Information Director to handle the news media and public relations, and retained a Consultant to help in the solicitation of corporate sponsors."

But he is easily proudest of one thing -- "When I came to the Association, we had $10,000 on account with a local insurance agent. If we had a claim, we simply told them to pay it from this fund, and we would try to reimburse the fund at the end of the year. Today, we insure every student athlete, coach, band member, cheerleader, or any other person associated with the team traveling to or from, or practicing for a sanctioned contest. The coverage has limits of a $10,000 deductible, a settlement option, and contains a $1,000,000 liability policy, all at no charge to the schools," he continued. "The certainly gives me peace of mind and should make all of our parents, coaches, participants and administrators rest easier."

A graduate of Pineville High School, Mills attended Eastern Kentucky University where he received his B.A., M.A.

and Rank I Certification. He has served on many community and civic clubs and activities including the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival, the National Federation Executive Committee including a year as Vice-President, as Chairman of the National Federation Fund Administrators Association Insurance Committee, the National Federation Football Rules Committee, and as Vice President and National President of the EKU Alumni Association.

Commissioner Mills is married to the former Betty Howard of Pineville, a retired school teacher. The Millses have four children - Tommy, currently the Principal at Boyle County High School; Randy, Associate Director of Admissions at the University of Kentucky; Jennifer Mills Andes, a teacher in the Scott County School System, and David, a senior at Eastern Kentucky University.

"I think the one thing I won't miss is the telephone," he remarked. "I don't mean the caller who sincerely had a legitimate question. I am talking about the person who called wanting his or her student to be the exception to the rule, always looking for a loophole. In my years of service, I never made a rule. The Delegate Assembly does that. I was only charged with enforcing them. But one thing I will definitely miss is the people. The staff people I have had the pleasure of working with, the school people in Kentucky and in other states, and my many friends and acquaintances I have made through the National Federation. Those I will indeed miss."

He will miss the people, but not the Board meetings. He will miss the hoopla around the basketball tournaments, but not the last-minute hounding for tickets. But as he said upon retirement, there is still the matter of a farm to care for, and many grandchildren to watch grow and change. And the Hall of Fame and Museum project is still in its infant stages. So Mills will remain busy, and ready to serve the students and school people of Kentucky.

STATE VOLLEYBALL COMMITTEE MEETING

April 23, 1991

The Volleyball Committee met at the Kentucky High School Athletic Association Office in Lexington, Kentucky, on Tuesday, April 23, 1991. The meeting was called to order at 1:30 p.m. by Brigid L. DeVries, Assistant Commissioner. Committee members present included Margi McKenna, Joan Mitchell, Sally Meng, John Bancroft, Ron Kordes, Katie Wesseling. Other present included Nick Bettis from Mikasa and Mary Jones from the University of Kentucky.

The first item on the agenda was a presentation from Nick Bettis of Mikasa, regarding the use of the VFC200 Mikasa Volleyball as the official ball for the 1992 State Volleyball Tournament. The committee was unanimous in its approval for the Mikasa ball. The VFC200 will be the official ball for the 1992 State Volleyball Tournament.

The next item on the agenda was the site for the 1991 State Volleyball Tournament, scheduled on November 1 and 2, 1991. The University of Kentucky Assistant Volleyball Coach Mary Jones presented a proposal to host the 1991 state tournament at Memorial Coliseum. There were some scheduling conflicts this year at U.K. due to a pre-arranged Southeastern Conference match, which would necessitate a change in the current tournament schedule. It was the general consensus that the 1991 Tournament be played in Louisville, and that U.K. be considered the following year when the schedule is clear. Possible sites in Louisville include Butler High School, Fairdale, Seneca and the Commonwealth Convention Center. Brigid DeVries will meet with representatives from these locations and determine the site sometime in the near future.

Katie Wesseling brought up the State Tournament officials evaluation process. Committee members agreed that it was an excellent idea. Several members had good suggestions for the improvement of the system for the 1991 State Tournament.

It was also suggested that the rules clinic held in Lexington be scheduled first, so that officials from Louisville and Northern Kentucky could come together for some in-depth explanation on some of the rule interpretations.

Ron Kordes recommended that the final match of the 1991 State Tournament be scheduled in the evening instead of early afternoon. The committee agreed, and pending any scheduling conflicts, the finals will be later this year.

The next item of the agenda was a discussion of regional tournaments and sites. Ms. DeVries advised the Committee of a few possible additions and sites. Ms. DeVries advised the Committee of a few possible additions to the teams in each region. The 1991 Regional sites were discussed and committee members will check their availability for the 1991 tournaments. Regional tournaments will be double elimination again this year. The Committee then discussed the items on the regional and state information sheets and made some corrections for the coming year.

John Bancroft made a motion, seconded by Joan Mitchell, that the teams change benches for the 1991 season including regional and state tournament play. The motion carried.

The next item on the agenda was the officials fees. There is no change in officials fees for the 1991 season. However, all officials will receive a mileage fee of .15 per mile, for all miles traveled.

A brief discussion followed regarding the 1991-92 National Federation Volleyball rules. Beginning with the 1991-92 season, a specific yellow and red card procedure will be included in the National Federation Rule Book. A survey will be conducted by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association to determine whether Kentucky wants to adopt this procedure for the 1992 season.

The next topic was the Constitution and By-laws. The Delegate Assembly recently approved a change for Volleyball on the Limitation of Seasons. "Regular season play ends at the conclusion of the varsity team's last regular season match, with the exception that the varsity team may play until its elimination from Kentucky High School Athletic Association sanctioned tournament play." Previously varsity play ended on Saturday preceding the first Kentucky High School Athletic Association tournament.

Other tournament reports included a brief report by Ron Kordes on the Mizuno All Star match scheduled in Louisville on July 19, 1991. The players are graduating seniors who have completed their high school eligibility. There will be a clinic for high school coaches the afternoon of the tournament. People wanting further information regarding the match can contact Ron Kordes, at Assumption High School.

John Bancroft encouraged everyone to get involved in the Blue Grass State Games the last weekend in July. A mailing will be sent to all the high schools to encourage play in the junior division.

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

REMINDER TO SCHOOLS CONCERNING LIMITATION OF SEASONS

All schools are reminded of the Limitation of Seasons Rules, K.H.S.A.A. By-Law 27, as it applies to competition after the conclusion of the regular season. ALL SPORTS are affected by this rule, which states that following the teams' last regular season match, there shall be no further practice or play as a team for the remainder of the school year, with the exception of the K.H.S.A.A. tournament. Please be sure your coaches are aware of this important rule, and that they are not involved in coaching the team in an outside league, or other competition. For the high school coach, be they the Head Coach or an assistant coach, to coach members of the high school team in a league outside of the school's legal regular season competition, regardless of the type of league, would be a violation of the rules governing the Limitation of Seasons.

NEWS RELEASE

1990-1991 BASKETBALL RULE CHANGES

In a move to improve sportsmanship in high school basketball, technical fouls will be combined with personal fouls for player disqualification. In its April 7-9 meeting in Kansas City, the National Federation Basketball Rules Committee made the change based on positive experiences from two states this past season. Beginning with the 1991-92 season, any combination of five personal or technical fouls will disqualify a player from a game.

"The rules committee has a big concern about improving sportsmanship and behavior in high school basketball," said Dick Schindler, assistant director of the National Federation and editor of the high school basketball rules. "The committee believed that technical fouls should count toward disqualifying a player from the game. We are hopeful that this change will reduce the number of technical fouls."

In concert with this change, the committee voted to add all technical fouls to personal fouls to reach the bonus situation. Since all fouls will be counted, the bonus situation will start now on the seventh team foul in each half instead of the fifth personal foul. All fouls — personal and technical — on a team, including the coach, will count toward the seven in each half.

"This change was made for two purposes — from a sportsmanship perspective and to reduce the number of trips to the free-throw line," Schindler said. "We won't be shooting free throws on the fifth and sixth fouls of a half anymore, which means fewer free throws and more action."

The committee also voted to reduce from three to two the number of technical fouls for disqualification of a player or bench personnel. Three technical fouls still are necessary to disqualify a head coach.

Two changes were made relative to the three-point field goal. Beginning next season, three free throws will be awarded a player who is fouled in the act of shooting an unsuccessful three-point field goal. In the same scenario with an intentional personal foul, the fouled player would receive three free throws and the team would also get the ball out-of-bounds for a throw-in at the spot nearest the foul.

"This was discussed when the three-point field goal was first used experimentally nine years ago, but we elected to stay with two free throws," Schindler said. "Now that the three-point basket has become so much a part of the game and is defended so aggressively, the committee felt it was time to make the change."

In another major change, lack of action has been deleted from high school basketball. Schindler said that many coaches and players, and even some officials, did not really understand lack of action and that the game will not change by deleting the rule.

"High school basketball is a game of action, so this change will not affect the game," Schindler said. "We are starting the next 100 years with an action game. We don't have a shot clock, and we shouldn't dictate that teams may not hold the ball — that's a part of game strategy. We don't want to force kids to shoot within a specified time; that's a part of strategy. The change will simply not affect the game that much because teams could stall even within the lack-of-action restrictions. High school basketball has great appeal at this time because there is very little lack of action."

In other changes, the rules committee voted to allow compression shorts which extend below the game pants. The shorts must be similar in color to the predominate color of the game pants and must be unadorned and of a single, solid color.

A rule adopted for high school football this past season also was approved by the basketball rules committee. For safety reasons, an unconscious or apparently unconscious athlete will not be allowed to re-enter the game without written authorization by a physician. In the event a physician is not present or does not authorize re-entry, the athlete may not return to participate.

The game officials are responsible for determining if a player has been rendered unconscious or is apparently unconscious.

In another safety move, the rules committee voted to require each basket ring to be attached securely to the backboard/support system with a ring-restraining device. Schindler said this device will prevent the ring from falling if the backboard is shattered.

In other changes, the committee deleted the gray color requirement for backboard padding. This will allow teams to use their school colors on the backboard padding.

Beginning next season, manufacturer's logos on uniforms, where permitted, shall be limited to a 1½ x 1½-inch square. The committee also adopted another football rules change: if a game is interrupted, it must be continued from the point of interruption. If it is not continued, the final score stands unless there are conference, league or state association rules that apply.

Following are other changes approved by the National Federation Basketball Rules Committee:

- No logos, marking or lettering are permitted on the face of the backboard or anywhere on the backboard that is visible from the playing court.
- The black rubber rib separating the panels on the ball shall not exceed one-fourth inch in width.
- A visible game clock and scoreboard are mandatory. An alternate timing device and scoring information system shall be available in the event of clock/scoreboard malfunction.
- A visible device shall be located at the scorer's and timer's table to indicate the direction of a team's basket for the alternating-possession procedure.
- The requirement that teams must agree mutually to use the three-official crew was deleted.
- Added to the rules that a "team may not use electronic voice communication with players during the game for coaching purposes."
- A player will be allowed to grasp the ring at any time to avoid injury.
- A technical foul will be assessed a player for basketball interference on a free throw.

Basketball is the second-most popular sport in high school for boys with 517,271 participants. It is first in terms of schools sponsoring the sport with 16,710. For girls, the sport is No. 1 in school sponsorship (16,188) and participants (389,668).
