Board Of Control Meeting February 23-24

R. E. Bridges, Fort Thomas

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association Board of Control suspended three schools—Mayfield, Waynesburg and Science Hill after lengthy hearings on each case.

Mayfield's suspension was made effective from February

24 to June 30, 1946, "for the use of undue influence in an effort to induce athletes of other school districts to attend the Mayfield High School and for the use in football of Marcus Walker, ineligible because of failure to comply with residence requirements."

The penalties against Waynesburg and Science Hill were "for conduct of fans and spectators during and after the Science

T. A. SANFORD, Henderson Sec.-Treas.

Hill-Waynesburg basketball game January 29 at Waynesburg."

The board issued a warning regarding the "unruly attitude on the part of fans and spectators and in some cases coaches and players" generally over the state, indicating that further suspensions may be invoked if the present trend continues.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Numerous complaints have reached the Board concerning alleged cases of violence toward officials and opposing players. Rules of the Association adopted by its members places the responsibility for such conditions squarely on the shoulders of the principals involved. However, the increasing trend toward unsportsmanlike conduct and even violence on the part of spectators can easily impose circumstances on the principals over which they have little or no control. It seems extreme to penalize schools for the conduct of fans, but the Association has no other means of even attempting to remedy situations that conceivably may destroy the whole interscholastic program of athletics in Kentucky.

BASEBALL IN 1946

There is a great revival of interest in baseball all over America, and Kentucky is no exception to the rule. In 1944 fewer than thirty K. H. S. A. A. member schools had baseball teams. In 1945 the number playing had jumped to approximately eighty. If advance reports are any indication, more than one-hundred high school teams will go into action this spring.

An improved edition of the Baseball Rules Book is now being printed and will be ready well in advance of the opening of the baseball season. It is a National Federation book, and, in order to secure assistance in publication of the book, it has been necessary for the Federation to guarantee Organized Baseball that will secure distribution of 50,000 copies. Last year, the states of Iowa, New York, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and Washington used from 1,000 to 5,000 books each. Several hundred of the books have been ordered by the K. H. S. A. A., and it is to be hoped that Kentucky schools will take advantage of the books. They will sell at a price of $1.00 for twelve copies, or $1.50 for twenty. Every young baseball player in the state, from the sandlot teams to the high school varsity players, should have a copy of the book. Orders should be sent to the secretary at once.

Attention was called in the February issue of the magazine to the film, "Inside Baseball," which has been loaned to the Department of Extension of the University of Kentucky by the K. H. S. A. A. Requests for the use of this film should be made to the University NOW.

CURRENT ATHLETIC POLICIES AND NEEDS

UNSANCTIONED MEETS: There are proven values in the requirement that all meets in which a high school student participates as a representative of his high school be sanctioned. This gives some degree of control in preventing unlimited exploitation of the name of the high school by promoters. Some states have a specific rule which deals with this sanction requirement and proper penalty provides teeth. Others have merely adopted the sanction regulation as a policy and there is no enforcement ma-chinery. This year many proposed promotional tournaments and meets have been stopped before they got well started. In some cases, however, the promoters make no attempt to secure sanction before flooding the schools with entry blanks for a proposed meet. An illustration is a "National Duck Pin Tournament for the High School Championship of the United States." Invitations and entry blanks have been sent out by Secretary A. L. Ebersole, 1420 New York Ave., N. W., Washington 5, D. C. The entry blank states that competition is in the name of the high school and it is quite evident that the prestige of the high school will be used in promoting the event. The organization has been notified that their activities will endanger the eligibility of participants. The meet is not sanctioned and it will not be sanctioned under its present method of operation. State Associations may choose to pass this information along to their member high schools and to include a reminder about checking on any such proposed meet.

CONTINUOUS HIGH SCHOOL-COL-LEGE ELIGIBILITY: To date, many state associations have been able to exercise proper controls over efforts of non-school groups to promote post-season football or basketball contests or unsanctioned meets during the school year and after the respective season has closed. However, few states have enough control when only seniors who have finished their football or basketball competition are concerned. The only penalty is that the participant becomes ineligible and if the participant can not play any more football anyway and if he is not especially interested in the sports which follow, he may be disposed to flout the eligibility rules under proper persuasion by promoters. At the last meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association a proposal to arrange for continuous eligibility regulations through high school and college was presented and discussed. Because of the widely differing views of the various collegiate conferences about solicitation and award of "gratuities," the National Collegiate did not choose to take national action on the proposal. However, one or more of the most influential college and university conferences are greatly interested in further exploring the possibilities along this line. Such conferences are being drawn into these promotions through pressures for use of their facilities. They desire to cooperate with the high school groups in the states in which the conference operates, to the end that violation of the high school eligibility rules during the senior year and after competition in a given sport has been completed, would have an influence on the college eligibility of such student. These possibilities are being further explored. The best thought of all high school men should be directed toward this important development.

RELATION OF YOUR RULES TO BASE-BALL ACTIVITIES: A brief summary for each state of those parts of its eligibility rules which apply to baseball activities of the Major and Minor Leagues is needed. The baseball solicitation and contract agreement is a long step in the right direction but it dose not specifically bind all Major and Minor League Clubs to refrain from all League activities in which boys of grade school or high school age are concerned. States such as Michigan, Alabama, Kentucky and others have been glad to co-operate with baseball clubs in certain activities in which valuable training and interesting contacts have been provided in events sponsored by the state association but managed by reputable professional clubs or held on their grounds. Most (but probably not all) of these clubs are willing to operate in accordance with the desires of state high school associations in any reasonable program and will attempt to avoid any activity which might interfere with a boy's eligibility. However, they have requested that the Federation provide them with a summary of the things they may legally do in a given state and also with the things which have caused difficulty in past years. If a reasonable attitude is taken by the state association in its statement of these relationships, a great deal of good can be accomplished. State Association officers are asked to send a brief summary of facts in this connection. These summaries will enable the Federation to further the outlined baseball program which has great possibilities for benefits to the entire high school organization.

Kentucky Stops Temple 54-43

The Kentucky Wildcats were extended to the limit to turn back Josh Cody's flashy quintette from Philadelphia, but a last half drive turned the trick, avenging early season setback at the hands of Temple. It is always difficult and dangerous to compare a great team of one season with those of preceding years. However, it seems safe to say that the 1945 - 46 Wildcat five is to be regarded as one of the best ever to represent the University of Kentucky. Temple and Notre Dame were the only foes able to tame the Wildcats in regular season play; both games were closely contested, the result being in doubt almost to the final whistle.

With the possible return of Branem and Groza the 1946-47 Kentucky representatives should be something at which to marvel.

No less an authority than Chuck Hyatt, one of the basketball's all-time greats is quoted as follows concerning Jones, Beard, Tingle and Company.

"They'll probably win the Madison Square Garden National Invitational.

"Rupp's boys shoot often and accurately—and that's the only way to make with the points.

"The game is a lot faster today," he opined, "and there's lots more shooting. Shooting is more accurate, too. Defense might not be as rugged as it was, but they don't give two points for defense," the three-time University of Pittsburgh, six-time A.A.U. All-American pointed out.

Hyatt, now on terminal leave after serving here as Special Service Officer for the Army Personnel Distribution Command, listed U.K. with the nation's top six cage crews. His "Big-Six" choices were U.K., N.Y.U., Oklahoma A. and M., DePaul, North Carolina U. and Notre Dame, although not necessarily in that order.

Basketball-Football Film Program

FOR MARCH

The motion picture activities which have been sporadically promoted since their beginning in 1933 were studied. This project began when a 400-foot, 16mm. silent film was produced as material to assist in the basketball interpretation meetings. Several interested states purchased copies of this film and it was later approved by the National Basketball Committee. Both the National Basketball Committee and most of the states which made use of the film expressed the hope that the activity could be expanded, but funds and manpower were not available and the inauguration of sound and color pictures greatly increased the cost in connection with such work. Hence, along this line progress was slow. An expansion was made possible in 1938 when the film "Precision Basketball" was made with the help of a group of sponsors who underwrote the picture costs. It was directed by A. A. Schabinger and supervising assistance was given by representatives of the Federation and of the National Basketball Committee. The coming of the war stopped these activi-They were resumed when Director A. A. Schabinger came back from military service.

Through joint efforts by Mr. Schabinger and the National Federation office, sponsors were interested in a series of sports pictures which would be suitable for use in the rules interpretation meetings, assembly programs, service club meetings and similar events. With encouragement from the National Federation administrative group a considerable sum of money was earmarked by the sponsors for the making and distribution of a basketball film and a similar football film. Since it was necessary to act before the beginning of the new calendar year and while the advertising budgets of the sponsors were being made up for 1946, and since it was necessary to lay the groundwork during December or else run the risk of having this project fail or pass under the supervision of some other group, the Executive Committee authorized tentative sanction of the program as a continuation of the entire rules program.

The terms of agreement provide that all materials which will go into the film will be subject to inspection and approval of the National Federation office. Plans for distribution will also be subject to study and approval. Under these circumstances, it was regularly moved, seconded and unanimously carried that this project be approved and that the state associations be urged to lend full co-operation in the preparation and use of these films which will be designated as the official National Federation interpretations for the playing situations which will be shown in the pictures (this project was further discussed at the National Council meeting. After discussion, the Council unanimously voted to approve the action of the Executive Committee in sanctioning the project).

Statement Concerning Scholastic Sports Institute

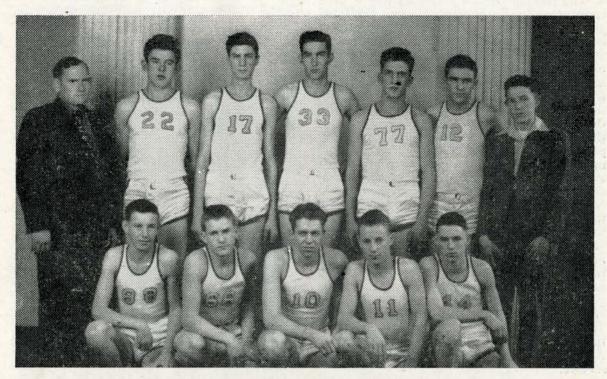

On January 10, 1946, at the annual meeting of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations the representatives of 33 state high school atheltic associations assembled in national conference and considered the proposal made to them orally and in writing by Mr. McCracken of Scholastic Publications regarding the proposed relationship of the National Federation and the various state high school athletic associations to the program of the Scholastic Sports Institute.

After very careful and thorough consideration of the plan and purpose of the Scholastic Sports Institute, it was voted that the following statement relative to the relationship of the National Federation and its member state associations with the Scholastic Sports Institute be made a matter of public record.

- 1. The National Federation and its member state associations wish to express to Mr. McCracken their appreciation of the fine services being rendered the secondary educational program by him through the Scholastic Coach and other Scholastic publications.
- 2. Since many of the objectives and purposes of the Scholastic Sports Institute are in direct conflict with the objectives and purposes of the National Federation and its member state high school athletic associations, the program of the Scholastic Sports Institute cannot be approved or endorsed.
- 3. The National Federation and its member state high school athletic associations have been established by the school administrators for the purpose of supervising and administering the high school interscholastic

The Editor Is Interviewed By John Q. Public At K.I.A.C. Tournament

J. Q. P.—What do you think of the price of admission?

Ed.—They are entirely too high except for the semi-final and final sessions.

J. Q. P.—Do you notice any new offensive or defensive maneuvers that reflect outstanding coaching?

Ed.—Yes, Lewis and several other boys repeatedly let fly from thirty feet out to increase their score by two points.

J. Q. P.—Do you detect any particular difference between the K. I.-A. C. and high school play?

Ed.—Decidedly so—the boys are bigger, older, more experienced and have been carefully culled.

J. Q. P.—Which team showed most plainly the effects of coaching?

Ed.—Wow! Well, you asked for it! Wesleyan

J. Q. P.—Forgetting size whom do you consider the most all-round players in the tournament?

Ed.—Here we go again:—Reagan of Murray and Knopf of Louisville.

J. Q. P.—What did you think of the officiating?

Ed.—They did a fine job!

J. Q. P.—How do you agree with the all-tournament selections.

Ed.—Now that's a good question—with help from my neighbors I picked nine of them, leaving out Hawhee and including DeVezzio—and I still think we were right, even though Hawhee is a great player.

J. Q. P.—Potentially who had the strongest squads?

Ed.—Murray and Morehead.

J. Q. P.—Whom do you consider the greatest nuisances at the tournament?

Ed.—The 3000 officials who didn't have whistles

J. Q. P.—Now the sixty-four dollar question—whom do you consider responsible for the fiasco before the final game:—Hickman, Rawkin, the officials, the management?

Ed.—The first four you mentioned.

STATEMENT CONCERNING SCHOLASTIC SPORTS INSTITUTE

program. It is the opinion of the representatives of these organizations that the Scholastic Sports Institute proposes to exert a control over the interscholastic sports program in a manner and to a degree which is contrary to and inconsistent with the policies and principles of the National Federation and its member state high school athletic associations. Therefore, the National Federation and its member state high school athletic associations view with great concern any attempts of the Scholastic Sports Institute to invade the secondary interscholastic athletic field with a program contrary in principle to the program of the National Federation and its member state high school athletic associations.

4. Since the National Federation and its member high school athletic associations are established for the purpose of supervising and administering the secondary interscholastic athletic program in the various states, no outside agency should undertake to provide any services in connection with the interscholastic high school athletic program in any state without first obtaining the approval and sanction of the state high school athletic association of that state.

FANS GETTING FED UP ON MESSES LIKE K.I.A.C. FINALE

By Buck Weaver, Louisville Times

Not knowing the full particulars, it is not for us to attempt to place the onus for the confusion Saturday night which delayed the K.I.A.C. finals almost an hour. We do know this, though, and definitely: Old Gus Fan, the bloke who pays the freight for such tournaments, is becoming pretty well fed up with prima donna coaches and players, uncalled for travesties on sportsmanship and the like, and unless an end is put to the whole sorry mess is sure to seek other outlets for his diversional emotions. heard several conflicting versions of the unhappy K.I.A.C. climax. Some pointed the finger at "Peck" Hickman, mentor of the U. of L. defeated Sea Cards, others at Rome Rankin, conquering Eastern coach. Both apparently were straining a point to be master strategists. And, on the other hand, the fault could have rested with the tournament management or the officials. Did the latter notify the competing teams as to the time, a duty which is specifically theirs?

Regardless of the answers, though, there was no possible excuse for keeping the fans, 4,500 strong, in a stew while the coaches parried, officials and management twiddled their collective thumbs. Oh, well, some day in the not too distance future boxing is expected to return to our winter sports agenda and hockey will have its fling. Then the hardwoodboys won't have things to themselves, may find themselves knocked from their high perch unless they change their independent ways. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Order 1946 Requirements Now

HERE IS THE REASON

To avoid disappointments we strongly urge that you place your order now for football and basketball equipment.

This statement is made after an exhaustive study of conditions today and what they are likely to be.

We have interviewed the leading manufacturers whose opinions leave us no other alternative than to sound a word of warning.

We advise that schools and colleges place orders for delivery as quickly as possible of all supplies needed for carrying out their fall and winter athletic program.

It would be wise to accept these early deliveries or delivery "when ready."

In order to be os assistance to our customers, we will, if desired, give October first dating on these early shipments.

Again, please do not delay.
