Letter From An Official

Louisville, Kentucky,
December 20, 1947.

Mr. Ted Sanford, Commissioner
Kentucky H. S. A. A.
Henderson, Kentucky.

Dear Mr. Sanford:

IT CAN BE DONE!! Last night Ed Taylor and I had the pleasure of officiating a game between the Trimble County High and Milton High teams at Bedford. When I say pleasure, I mean just that. I don't believe that either of us have enjoyed officiating in any game at any time more than we did the one last night. During both the second and first team games I did not hear a word of profanity or an act of either team or spectators which might be called in question. Nor did I see at any time in the gymnasium hall or rest room any drinking or anyone under the influence of liquor. The booing of the spectators, which has come to be too commonplace in the last few years, was limited to a few "no's!" on decisions which were not concerned with severe infractions, and which might have gone either way.

There is, however, a reason for all of this. Before the game a Mr. McClure, who I believe is the county superintendent down that way, took the microphone and announced that the conduct of the crowds had come to be a matter of major concern with most school officials. He announced that once the game was underway there would be no questioning of officials' decisions, that the game would be entirely in the officials' hands, and he appealed to fans of both teams to be gentlemen. (I am sure that from the response of the fans this appeal was merely the climax of other things which school officials had been doing and was not the first appeal made to the fans). He also announced that a prize would be awarded to the school whose fans and teams showed the best sportsmanship. The officials were to decide this, but Ed and I couldn't make the decision. We just felt that after that game everyone deserved a prize, especially Superintendent McClure, Principal McCombs of Bedford, and Coaches Clifford of Trimble County and

The Flood Bowl Game

By Clarence Greene

The Pineville Mountain Lions, winners of the Cumberland Valley Conference football championship, were host to the Prestonsburg Black Cats, Big Sandy Conference champions, in the first annual Flood Bowl game, played on November 21st.

Prestonsburg won by a score of 28-21 and thus became the mythical champion of Eastern Kentucky.

The opposing coaches, team personnel and season performances had run a somewhat similar course. Prestonsburg's coach, John Eibner, captained the Kentucky Wildcats in 1940, played four years of pro ball with the Philadelphia Eagles, and then went to Floyd County. In beating Paintsville 46-6 for the Big Sandy title, he stopped an aggregation that had won four crowns. Pineville coach Lloyd Patterson, graduated from Union College in 1933 and coached at Russell until the war. When the war was over he came to Pineville, and this year, his third season with the Mountain Lions, he won the C. V. C. championship by edging Middlesboro, conference champ for the past four seasons, 21-19.

Pineville used the single wing formation behind a balanced line, while the Prestonsburg team ran from the T. The Lions were led by Robert Howard, 185-pound all-C.V.C. back. Howard ended the season with 136 points for a new C. V. C. record and posted a possible current state record. Prestonsburg had four backs who carried out the intricate formation well. They were Charley Porter, quarterback who did the punting and passing, Bill Goble, Henry Mayo, and Set Branham, All-Conference back who scored 88 of the Black Cats' 243 points.

The season's records of the two teams were as follows: Pineville 38, Black Star 0; Pineville 31, Benham 6; Pineville 12, Bell 6; Pineville 6, Corbin 7; Pineville 33, Lynn Camp 0; Pineville 20, Harlan 9; Pineville 35, Central 0; Pineville 32, Evarts 12; Pineville

State Tournament Tickets

At some time in the month of January the Commissioner will send to member schools of the Association forms which may be used in requesting passes to the State High School Basketball Tournament, to be held in Louisville on March 18-20. The same general plan of issuing tickets as that of last year will be used. The Commissioner will issue the passes, and will sell to each superintendent, principal, and head coach one set of tickets for a companion. Other tickets will be sold, at no expense to the Association, by the Sutcliffe Company of Louisville. This company has been taking orders since January 1st. Last year, hundreds of letters were received by the secretary concerning state tournament passes. It will be appreciated by the Commissioner if our school men will refrain from writing letters of inquiry about their passes but will instead wait for the letter of instructions from the State Office concerning the requests for passes. The best seats in the Armory will be saved for our school men as was true last year.

Olympic Stamps

In order to assist in the fund drive for the U. S. Olympic teams, the U. S. Olympic committee is issuing an Olympic Victory Stamp, which has been rated by many philatelists one of the finest sporting non-revenue stamps ever produced.

The design for this beautiful new steel-engraved stamp, which comes in four different colors, shows a dramatic moment in the 1932 Games when the United States served as host to the nations of the world.

In addition to the tension of the contending athletes, the vast crowd is shown in the background of the stadium with its flying flags. The stamp is further decorated with the shield of the U. S. Olympic association, and the Olympic torch.

A framing inscription surrounds the sheets of 40 stamps which will sell for $1.00—at the top a statement of purpose and at the bottom an engraved reproduction of the Olympic oath.

There are many ways in which the stamps can be used. They are available in blue, green, red and purple, and can be used as labels to embellish letterheads or envelopes. School students will want them for the front of their text books, like book plates.

As a special feature, a number of unperforated sheets have been prepared with a tab for the autographs of celebrities. Such sheets will be desirable to collectors, or for framing to hang on walls.

The stamps will be available early in January at the Olympic office, 10 N. LaSalle St., Chicago 2, Illinois.

BLOOMFIELD—SALT RIVER VALLEY CONFERENCE CO-CHAMPION

Six-Man Football in Kentucky

At the beginning of the 1947 football season, seven schools indicated that they would have six-man teams. They were Bloomfield, Burgin, Eminence, Lebanon Junction, Perryville, St. Joe at Bardstown, and Western at Sinai. Three of these teams were members of the Salt River Valley Conference. These teams were Bloomfield, Lebanon Junction and Western. Above is pictured the Bloomfield team, one of the conference co-champions. The picture of the Lebanon Junction team, the other co-champion, was not available.

Principal W. T. Buckles of Bloomfield, long a booster of the six-man game, writes that most of the members of the eight-school conference have been playing six-man football since the conference was organized several years ago. During the war years the game was discontinued, but Mr. Buckles believes that all conference schools will have teams next year. Principal W. O. Anderson of Mt. Washington is conference secretary.

At the annual meeting of the conference, held early in December, the following players were selected as members of the All-Conference football team: Adams, Kolb, and Monis of Bloomfield; Beeler and Doan of Lebanon Junction; and Crouch and Dun-which has just ended. Another fine team was that of Anchorage, coached by Emmett Goranflo. If the Anchorage boys had been able to make one more point in a certain game, Coach Goranflo would have had a co-champion. Such is life!

So Near and Yet So Far

The Valley Vikings of Coach Herb Lewis were football champions of the North Central Kentucky Conference in the season

It is expected that 1948 will bring an increased interest in six-man football in Kentucky. Coach Reid V. Williams of Hiseville reports that Barren County coaches are planning to introduce the game there next fall.

It's Time For Recreation

By Charlie Vettiner

Sure, I know that more than 70,000 spectators watched a football game up east last Saturday, and I know that hundreds of thousands more watched other contests all over the nation. What's more, they got a kick out of seeing outstanding players perform. But the thing a lot of us would like to know is, "Are these thousands remembering to provide the sport for the thousands of American kids, who would like a taste of sports, but are not good enough to play ball on either a high school or a college club?"

O. K.—Maybe you don't know just what we are driving at, so let's ask this simple question, "When you sat up in the stands seeing the "Cream of the Crop" perform did it occur to you that back home on that vacant lot on the corner there are kids loafing around, wishing someone would lend them a ball of some kind so they could get a game going?" Now that we've raised the question, let's raise another, "Are the people of your community interested in Future America or do you live in a place where all they do is 'cuss the kids out' for getting into trouble?" Every grown man, who was a boy once, knows that if you give those kids a chance to play the same game you paid plenty to see experts play last Saturday, they'd be O. K.

It's Time For Recreation in your community. The place you live in is either guilty or not guilty of seeing that boys, and girls too, are provided recreation facilities, which will furnish an outlet for the glorious, normal energies, which flow constantly from our youth. Don't point to the high school teams of your town and say, "We've done our part for our young people. Look at the team we have." Brother, when you do that you are hedging on your responsibility to the hundreds of other kids who want to play and are wistfully looking to you, wondering why you don't see to it that a recreation program is started for them.

Here's a picture that was painted in a small town just this week. Dusk was settling over a vacant lot where about forty boys were playing with a football in a dangerous and disorganized manner. By actual count, fourteen men passed that eager band of aspirants to future football fame. None of the fourteen seemed interested in them but then came Number Fifteen. Seeing the youngsters trying to play a game they knew nothing about, he stopped, talked to the kids for a while, and soon was a part of their game, showing them fundamentals and supervising their play.

That's what the nationally famous Jefferson County, Kentucky, recreation program does. It moves in on every vacant lot and school ground in the county, placing trained supervisors in strategic areas to conduct football clinics and other athletic clinics in their respective seasons, so kids, fourteen years of age and under, can have sports as a recreational outlet by actually engaging in them rather than wistfully watching high powered teams from grandstands and wishing they could perform, too.

Don't misunderstand and think that athletics compose the entire program of the Jefferson County Playground and Recreation Board, because they are only a small part of it, but a very popular part. Ask the parents of the boys, fourteen and under, who play in those recreation sports' clinics each Saturday morning under supervision, and they'll tell you that it's supplying a need for young people in a safe, sane, manner.

The next time you thrill to those highly skilled performers on the grid, the diamond and the hardwood, ask yourself if it isn't time your town remembered that little boys are eager to play too. Remember that those little fellows will be the stellar performers you'll be watching a decade hence. Why don't you take the lead in your town, city or county the way Max Sanders, Chester McDowell and E. P. White, Jr., did in Jefferson County, and remember that "It's Time For Recreation" for Future America?

Editor's Note: Clarence Greene of Harlan, Courier-Journal correspondent for Southeastern Kentucky, is one of the best boosters of high school athletics in the state. He covers ninety schools in the 13th, 14th, and 15th basketball regions, and is secretary of the Cumberland Valley Conference. Much credit is given to Greene for his helping to create more interest in baseball in his section of Kentucky. A baseball article by him, "The Harlan County Experiment", appeared in the April, 1945, issue of "The Kentucky High School Athlete".

Basketball in 1948

The new basketball code contains many changes. Only a few of these will affect actual play but the remainder are improvements in organization and wording. These changes add to the logical nature of the code and they eliminate imperfections of past years. Three noticeable changes are complete restatements of the dead ball rule (4), the personal and technical foul rule (4-7), and the personal foul penalty (10-7-Pen.). A brief outline of all changes is on the inside front cover of the rules book and on pages 31, 32 and 34. More details are in the Basketball Meeting Folders.

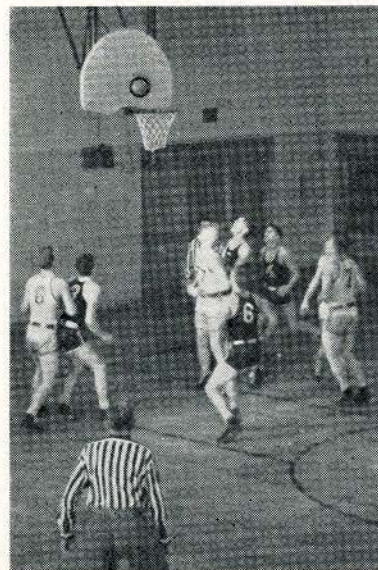

Comments On Changes

1. Equipment: The 3-foot restraining line is now mentioned in 1-2. A specific target behind the basket ring is mandatory when transparent backboards are used. This is a rectangle 24 inches by 18. For the small board, the base is not needed. Section 13 provides for a legal ball but does not require a new ball.

2. Duties of Officials: Sections 5 and 6 of Rule 2 are entirely rewritten. They replace the archaic provisions of the old sections and also include the necessary parts of old Sections 13 and 14. The requirement that Official hand (not toss) ball to a player who is to throw the ball in from his front court is now included here. Last year, it was hidden in a note which followed 7-7. Provision for a silent (instead of an audible) count is made. The statement concerning when the whistle shall be blown is more accurate than that which appeared in Section 13 in previous years. Authority to "banish" an offending spectator or coach is in Section 6. Further authority is in the last paragraph of penalty under 10-6. Specific instructions as to proper procedure in accepting a substitute are given.

3. Duties of Timer: Fourth paragraph of 2-11 is revised to provide for stopping the clock during last few minutes of a game. Also last sentence of this section now refers to an "unsportsmanlike foul" (instead of a flagrant foul). Hence, a foul which occurs after time has expired is ignored unless it is of an unsportsmanlike nature. This is on the assumption that certain fouls which do not endanger health to such an extent as to be called flagrant, might still be unsportsmanlike.

4. When Ball Becomes Dead: Section 2 of Rule 4 is entirely rewritten. The previous section had a number of inaccuracies and omitted coverage for several situations. The previous vague terms which left the reader in doubt as to exactly when ball becomes dead have been eliminated. The new section is based on the fact that Official's whistle seldom kills the ball. In most cases, the whistle is merely a method of announcing that some act has killed the ball. As an illustration, the expiration of time for a quarter or half causes ball to become dead. The time the Official blows his whistle (if he blows it) has no effect other than to call attention to the fact that the ball became dead at a certain time. Likewise, if a player steps on a sideline while holding ball and then throws for goal, ball became dead as soon as the foot touched the sideline and, even though Official's whistle may not have been blown until after the ball had left such player's hand, the goal does not count since it was made with a dead ball. When a player commits a foul, ball becomes dead immediately (with certain listed exceptions) and the time the whistle is blown is not a determining factor. In a few cases, Official may find it necessary to kill the ball. In that case, his whistle is the act which causes the ball to become dead.

As far as actual procedure is concerned, the rewritten rule does not cause any change from what has been considered good practice. Rather, it provides complete coverage for a number of situations which were not properly covered and it gives specific instructions for certain situations whose coverage was previously vague. Illustration:

During a free throw, a foul or violation occurs along the free throw line. Previously, many questions might have been raised concerning such act and its effect on whether the free throw shall be counted. The new statement gives complete coverage for either a free throw or a field goal try and both are handled the same way as far as ball becoming dead is concerned. If an opponent should commit a foul while the free thrower is in the act of throwing and if his motion continues, the free throw counts the same as a field goal would count in a similar situation.

5. When Does Dead Ball Become Alive? Section 3 of Rule 4 gives a specific statement of the exact time ball becomes alive. The relation of this to the time the clock shall be started as indicated in 5-1. A change in Section 3 provides that after a throw-in, ball becomes alive when it touches a player in the court. In past years, it became alive when it crossed the boundary plane. This led to complications in the case where the first throw-in violation (failure to throw the ball to another player within the court) was followed by the ball going out of bounds without touching anyone. This was a second violation for causing ball to go out of bounds since ball became alive when it crossed the boundary plane. Under present statement, it is not a live ball which goes out of bounds and it is not a violation for a player to cause a dead ball to go out. Hence, there is only one violation, i. e., failure to throw the ball to another player within the court. This also has a bearing on certain situations, such as where the player out of bounds throws ball against back of the backboard or against a support. The ball is still dead at the time. Consequently, it is not a violation for causing the ball to go out of bounds. The only violation is for failure to throw the ball directly to a player in the court. This has been interpreted to mean that if the player out of bounds throws the ball into the basket supports or into the basket or against the back of the backboard, he has not thrown the ball directly to a player in the court. Hence, he has violated the throw-in rule and ball is awarded to the opponent out of bounds at the spot from which it was thrown in. This affects several infrequent situations where ball might rebound from the back of the backboard into the hands of a teammate or into the hands of an opponent who may be out of bounds or inbounds. In all cases, the violation is by the player who throws the ball in.

6. Definition of Fouls: A personal foul occurs while ball is in play. Any foul (contact or non-contact) which occurs after play has been suspended is of a technical nature and penalized only in case it is of an unsportsmanlike nature. This is on the assumption that the reason for penalizing minor contact fouls, such as inadvertent holding or running into an opponent, is that the act may have prevented the offended player from trying for goal or getting into position to receive the ball. It is obvious that such an act does not adversely affect the player if it is during the period when play is suspended. Unless this interpretation is used, it would be necessary for Official to call a personal foul on a player who accidentally contacts an opponent while the ball is being taken to the free throw line for a free throw. If any such act is penalized, it is because it is of an unsportsmanlike nature. In that case, it is technical. In reality, the penalties are about balanced, since a technical foul is less severe in the sense that it is not charged but it is more severe than a personal foul in the sense that the throwing team retains possession after the throw.

Under the new definition, a personal foul always involves two opponents, i. e., the one who fouls and the one who is fouled. Contact between a player and either an official or someone on the bench is not a personal foul.

There may be some question in connection with determining when play is suspended. Most groups will choose to interpret this as meaning the same as when the ball is dead. Others may choose to interpret this as meaning the time when most of the playing activity has ceased. In actual practice, it will not make much difference. If the ball becomes dead because A1 pushes B1 and if, immediately, B1 slugs A1, all officials penalize this as a double foul since they occurred at "approximately the same time." Under such circumstances, both fouls are charged and both are personal in accordance with the definition of "double foul." On the other hand, if only one foul is involved and if such foul occurs clearly after the ball has become dead, there is no good reason why it should not be penalized as a technical foul since it could not have had any influence on keeping the opponent from trying for a goal or getting into position to receive the ball. When there is crowding on the restraining circle during a jump, such crowding is while the ball is still dead and it is penalized only in case it is of an unsportsmanlike nature. Mild cases in which a player makes contact while stepping between two opponents is ordinarily ignored.

7. When to Stop Clock: In the college game, all mid-period official's intermissions have been eliminated. For the college game, the Timer is instructed to stop the clock for each dead ball after 17 minutes of play in

Delegate Assembly Members

Under the provisions of the K.H.S.A.A. Constitution, members to the Delegate Assembly at the annual meeting were elected by the principals of each basketball district on ballots returned to the State Office before November 15. The names of the school men elected did not appear in the December issue of the magazine because of ties in a few districts. These ties were broken by the Board of Control in its December meeting, the delegate or alternate involved being determined by flipping a coin. The names of the delegates and alternates by districts are as follows:

the second half. It is not necessary to notify the teams or the coaches. The Timer is the only one who is involved. For the college extra period, the first 2 minutes are played without stopping the clock for each dead ball but during the last 3 minutes, the clock is stopped for each dead ball.

In the high school game, Official's intermission occurs at the first dead ball following 5 minutes of play. This leaves between 2 and 3 minutes of the quarter. If this is in the last quarter, the clock is stopped for each dead ball during this 2 to 3 minutes. Since the high school extra period is 3 minutes or less in length, the clock is stopped for each dead ball during the entire extra period time.

Under these circumstances, there is no incentive for a coach to make unnecessary substitutions during the last few minutes or to perform other similar acts in order to get the clock stopped. Also, Officials are relieved of much responsibility in connection with what constitutes delay of game. Since the clock is not running during held balls or similar occurrences, there is no incentive for players to delay in an attempt to consume time. Since the clock is not running, no time is consumed and each team has an equal opportunity.

8. Adjacent Positions During Jump: The rules have provided for alternate spaces on the free throw line during the free throw. The new rule extends this to cover positions on the restraining circle during a jump. A1 and A2 may not occupy adjacent positions on the circle if an opponent desires a place between. It is not necessary for the opponent to always appeal to the Official. If he attempts to crowd between two nearby teammates on the circle, one or both of these players are expected to move. If they do not, Official has authority to penalize for delay of game or for unsportsmanlike conduct. The rule also applies to jumps which are not in a restraining circle. In that case, the emergency circle (which may be less than 12 feet in diameter) is considered the same as the actual marked circle.

There will be some borderline cases in which players move from one position to another position on the circle immediately before the ball is tapped. Official has considerable authority in these cases and it is not probable that they will be any more difficult than in the past years. Several important conferences are experimenting with a modified rule which requires all jumps to be held in one of the three circles.

9. Penalty for Personal Foul: This penalty has been greatly simplified. No changes in meaning are intended but many of the old unnecessary duplications have been eliminated. The new penalty is a comparatively simple statement which covers all of the situations which were in the complicated statements of former years. The right of a Captain to decline a free throw is in Section 8, since it is a unit in itself and not a part of the penalty. When a captain chooses to retain possession at mid-court, he does not decline the penalty but only part of it. The foul is still charged. The Captain merely declines the free throw which is a part of the penalty.

10. Further Improvement: Rewording has taken care of certain omissions or misleading statements in other sections. 8-5 now contains an exception which has always existed but which was not covered. The last sentence of 7-7 gives definite coverage for restraining line situations. Heretofore, it was hidden in a note.

Allen of Milton. The thing that may surprise a lot of people was that many fans of both teams remarked as they walked out of the gym that they had never enjoyed a game more. This would seem to be logical, since the object of a game like that is supposed to be to play basketball and not to engage in a riot. The fact that the final score was 33-22, in favor of Trimble County does not for a moment mean that the game was not hard fought throughout, and in the last quarter at one time only two points separated the teams.

Well, Mr. Sanford, that is the story. I hope you can use it to help other schools which might be having the same trouble to "see the light". If I can be of assistance in any way or if you'd like to have something on this written up for the "Athlete" I'd be happy to do it for you.

With best wishes to you, I am

Sincerely,
Frank F. Norfleet,
Student Athlete Director.

HUNT'S ATHLETIC GOODS CO.

MAYFIELD, KY.

A CREED FOR ATHLETIC OFFICIALS

Believing that mine is an important part in the nationwide school athletic program, I pledge myself to act in accordance with these principles.

1. To know fully the rules and accepted officiating procedures for each sport in which I serve as arbiter.
2. To build my game schedule through my accepted worth, potential possibilities and inherent character rather than through transitory acquaintance or trading of favors or attempted pressures.
3. To honor every contract, even though this may occasionally result in financial loss or loss of opportunity to work for a larger school or one involving less travel.
4. To keep myself physically and mentally fit.
5. To be systematic, prompt, and businesslike in all my dealings with those I serve.
6. To wear the accepted Official's attire and to maintain a neat and creditable appearance.
7. To act in such a way as to be a worthy example to those under my supervision.
8. To remember that my responsibility also extends to my fellow officials and that I must work as one member of the team.
9. To make my decisions promptly but without snap judgment, firmly but without arrogance, fairly but without officiousness; and to base them on the rules regardless of the type of school, the closeness of the score or the opinions of partisan spectators.
10. To keep in mind that my first charge is the safety and general welfare of those under my supervision.
